Computers at Waiwhare.

By Room's 1 & 2 children.
Staff Reporters, Waiwhare.

The computers at Waiwhare have really turned the pupils on, pressing buttons, typing, reading screens, searching and most of all thinking.

While our parents raised money crutching sheep, Mrs Ward was busy making recipe books, to give our children a wider education.

We have put a computer into each classroom, to give each class more experience using computers. By the time we reach Form 2 we will be whizz kids with computers.

Computers are used all the school week. On the wall we have a chart to tell us our computer time.

We write our stories on the computer so we can print them. We can save them on our discs too. Great fun is had by the children with the educational games [interactive fiction].

We appreciate the computers and the opportunities they give us.

RUNNING THE RIVERS.

By Nathan Cross.
Staff Reporter, Waiwhare.
Rayner Broad is a good jet boat driver but once he went on to a branch beside the bank. The jet unit is a Leyland P76. He has driven up one canal, one river and has been out to sea a few times. There is a lot of skill in jet boating up rivers. When jet boating up the rivers you have to be looking for the deepest water and the right channel to take the boat into. The rivers have to be quite full before a jet boat can get up the rivers.

Of all the letters received by the editors it was nice to receive this positive letter.

Mr Editor,
I would like to thank Christine Goulding most sincerely for taking Pony Club, driving the buses and for being a nice person.
We hope you appreciate these words of thanks.

Yours faithfully,
Thankful.

Mr Editor,
Mrs Barnett and Mrs Goulding have a complaint about a certain Headmaster-sorry principal-who has not presented them with their well earned and deserved box of chocolates.
Chocolate Craving Bus Drivers.

Sir,
In relation to the letter concerning the well earned box of chocolates.

I would like to point out that the chocolates were purchased and were being prepared for presentation at the major school function. But then the bus arrived late one afternoon to pick up the kids, and while waiting, I snuck a chocolate.

Then I was given some cheek, so I had to have another. The slowness of the buses departing the school because of inter-driver matter sessions, caused a number of goodies to be consumed. Before I knew it, the whole of the top tray had disappeared. By this time I was in such a state that I ate the whole bottom tray before I felt better.

I was actually going to present these dear ladies with the empty box, but I felt sorry for them and decided to use it to store my bus complaint letters instead.

Yours Faithfully,

A very worried (but full) Principal.

In reply to The Worried & Full Head-person,
See to the equity policy the editors object to being referred to as "Sir."

Mr. Editor,
I have a complaint about Fathers coming home late, because they have been up at the club. I have heard about the teacher coming home late and falling asleep in class, ect.
We wait for the father to come home with the pies for tea, then we look at the clock. Oh its only seven o'clock we say. Then when we look again and its nine o'clock.
Waiting. Waiting. Waiting.

Your's Faithfully,
Mad

V M Barnett.

To The Editor,
I would like to complain about the unruly behaviour of locals. I was having a meal with my family, entertaining guests, when two gatecrashers walked in. These gatecrashers were locals by the name of Martin Jones and Andrew Ward. The formal meal was then turned into a party, with John Weir and Chris Ward arriving later. I went to bed at eleven, but the music that they had on kept me awake till about three o'clock in the morning.

Yours Sincerely,
Tired

BY AMANDA McCASLIN,

Orchard owner, Kirsty Hill has an orchard down River Road. The farm and orchard is called Waiwhenua. Mr Lindsay Smith [Kirsty's father] started the orchard in the 70's and it was only 2 acres now the orchard is 37 acres. Mr Smith was bored with farming, decided that he might change his career and become an orchardist. The orchard now has a packing shed and their own truck to carry the fruit. Kirsty took over the orchard in 1984. Kirsty grew to like horticulture and that is how she finally got to own the orchard. In the orchard there are apricots, Fuji apples, red chief apples, royal gala apples and braeburn apples, kiwifruit and shinseki, housui and kousui nashi pears. They chose these fruits because they have good markets overseas and they are nice to eat. Big apples go to America, nashi pears, apples and kiwifruit go to Europe, small nashi and apples go to Asia.

Old Boy Of Glencairn

Sophie Lawrence
Staff Reporter Waiwhare

One of Waiwhare Schools oldest members is talking about his life when he was a young boy, his name is Graham Allister Lawrence. His house was very very small and it took an hour and a half to drive into town. The house was down the bottom of the driveway. To get to School he had to walk to Redmans then the bus would pick him and his one brother and two sisters Ross, Jill, and Kay Lawrence up but sometimes the bus would come to the gate if they were early, but that was not often. One year after living there his parents built a new house, they also built a shearers quarters and a woolshed. After that Graham went to Napier Boys high school. After high school Graham went and worked on his father's farm and went around the district cutting scrub in 1963. One year after Graham and his sisters, brother and parents pulled the Army huts down. After twelve years working on the farm Graham got married to Nataile Anne Sudfelt. In 1975 when they got married his father and mother moved into town and Graham and his wife Nataile shifed into the house and as the family grew they made the house bigger.

SCHOOL IN SAM'S DAD'S DAY.

WHAT SCHOOL DID YOU GO TO DAD?

To Hastings Boy's High.

WHEN DID YOU START?

In 1970, way back two decades ago Sam.

WHERE IS SCHOOL DAD?

It is on the southern outskirts of Hastings in a semi-rural location. It had lots of lovely big playing fields which my buddies and I used to kick a ball about on and play bullrush.

WHO WENT THERE?

Most of the boys came from Hastings and some came from Havelock North as there was no High School in the village then. We biked each day there and back, a ride of about four miles per day.

WHY DID YOU GO THERE DAD?

To learn lots of things and play sport. I think the teachers thought I played too much sport but I did really enjoyed that aspect of school. I found High School a fun place to be at.

HOW DID YOU GET ON THERE?

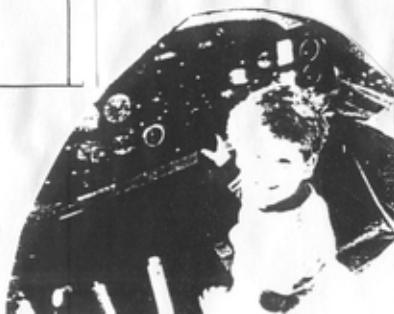

I enjoyed my time at High School. I still have close friendships with lots of the blokes I was there with. Remember Dave who came up the other day? We were in the same class from Form three to Form seven. You'll enjoy it too Sam, I'm sure of that.

ANTARCTICA: rubbishing the last continent

*Just the presence of man is having a disastrous effect
on this fragile land*

HOW CAN WE STOP THIS?

The drift-nets are one of the enemies to the seal, squid, penguins and Baleen whales. The drift-nets are a mean way to kill fish.

I think drift-nets should be banned. I don't like the seals being killed and all the other fish.

The seals are beautiful animals and we don't want them to disappear from our planet.
Reporter Emily Wood.

Antarctica's Problems

Antarctica's seals, penguins, whales and other creatures are being killed because of drift nets, trawl nets, gill nets and packing materials. The Japanese and Taiwanese are blamed for the nets because of using them when it's against the law and they are leaving them floating around in the sea. These get tangled around their necks and strangles them and it can trap them. Another problem is feral cats killing the penguins and seals. Whales are getting trapped under the ice. The hole in the ozone layer is growing larger and melting the ice. People who travel to Antarctica leave their rubbish there and don't take it home, but what they do take home is rocks and moss and they're not meant to. Antarctica should be left how it was found because then it wasn't polluted and there wasn't a hole in the ozone layer.

By Amanda McCaslin.

PROTECT

ENVIRONMENT

PENGUIN ON ICE

Penguin are quickly dying on the ice because they are getting hooked up in things like tabs from beer cans, which choke them and they die. Penguins get their food from the sea. They live on the ice. People who visit the Antarctica should not litter. They should not pollute Antarctica with oil because it doesn't go away and it gets stuck on the animals and they die.

Reporter Nathan Croad.

DRIFT NET FISHING

CAN IT BE STOPPED?

Drift net fishing is dangerous because it is catching and killing the seals, dolphins and whales.

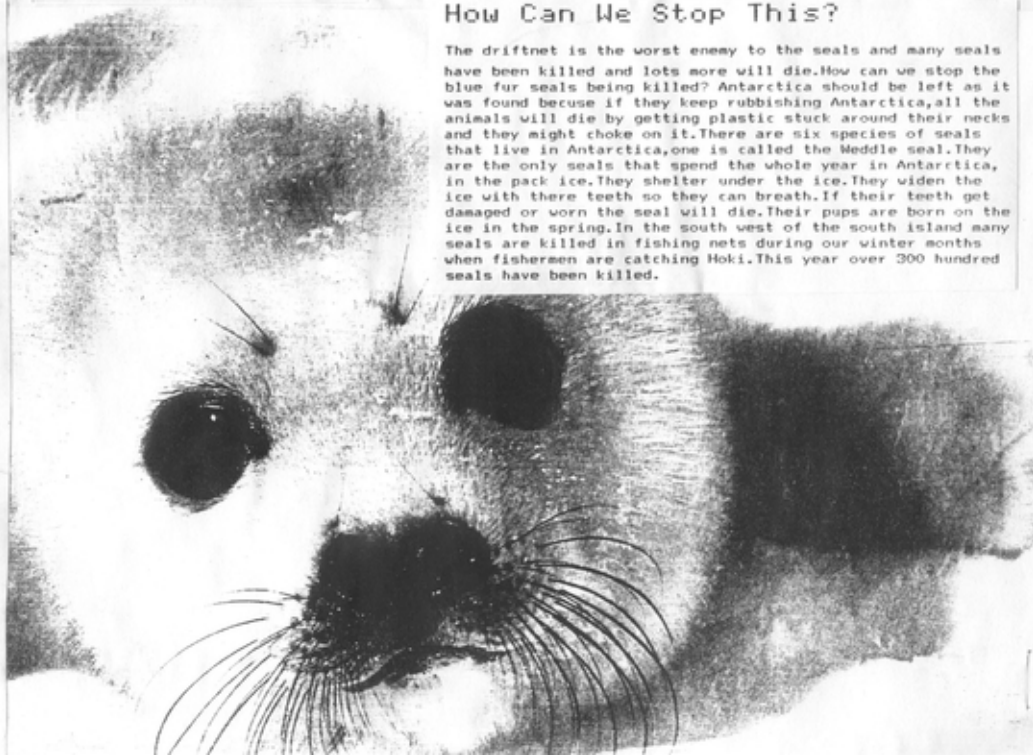

It is dangerous because these mammals can't see the nets and when they are in the the nets they can not get out, they are unable to breathe and they drown.

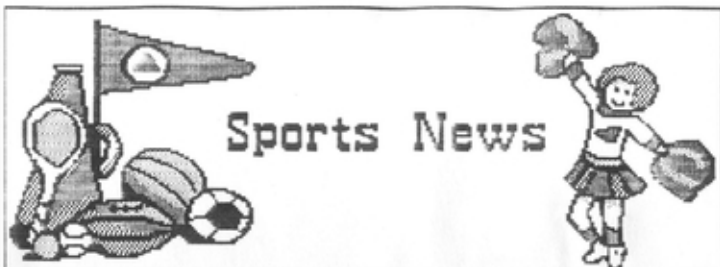

The people who are doing it are the Japanese and the Taiwanese. They are doing it because they need the fish for the people of their countries. It is happening in the oceans of the world. The drift-net fishing is a continuing problem in the sea.

HOW CAN WE STOP DRIFT-NET FISHING?
Reporters Callum McRae & Andrew Clarke.

How Can We Stop This?

The driftnet is the worst enemy to the seals and many seals have been killed and lots more will die. How can we stop the blue fur seals being killed? Antarctica should be left as it was found because if they keep rubbishing Antarctica, all the animals will die by getting plastic stuck around their necks and they might choke on it. There are six species of seals that live in Antarctica, one is called the Weddell seal. They are the only seals that spend the whole year in Antarctica, in the pack ice. They shelter under the ice. They widen the ice with their teeth so they can breathe. If their teeth get damaged or worn the seal will die. Their pups are born on the ice in the spring. In the south west of the south island many seals are killed in fishing nets during our winter months when fishermen are catching Hoki. This year over 300 hundred seals have been killed.

Review: On Centurions

The Centurions are a television programme on at 4:00 in the afternoon. The main characters are: Ace McCloud, air operations expert, Jake Rockwell, land operations expert and Max Ray, sea operations expert.

I like it because there is lots of fighting action in it. The character that I like best is Jake Rockwell because I used to have him as a toy and I think he is involved in most of the fighting. The enemy is Dr. Terror and his Henchman, Hacker. The Centurions have weapon systems that can be beamed down from the space station Sky Volt. The Centurions fight Dr. Terror and Hacker. Dr. Terror and Hacker try to take over the world by thinking up ideas to do this.

The Summer I Was Twelve.

By

Ann M. Martin.

This story is excellent and there are some fine moments of humour in this book with the characters, Kamilla [kammy] Whitlock, Robert Whitlock, Kate Whitlock, Melissa [Muffin] Whitlock and baby boy. Summer is supposed to be the best time of the year. But this summer looks like a total loss to Kammy. First her dad [Robert] gets married [again] to Kate. Then Kate's two children won't leave her alone! Three-year-old Muffin flushes Kammy's best paints down the toilet, almost strangles her cat. Baby boy has colic. Kammy is in despair! Camp has always sounded dreadful. But when Dad and Kate suggest that Kammy go away to camp she decided that camp would be better than staying at home. This is an exciting book full of fun.
