BERLIN, April 3.

Informed quarters declare that Mr Chamberlain's pledge to Poland will not have the slightest effect on Herr Hitler's policies, but "his manoeuvres to establish an encircling bloc are bound to have repercussions in all parts of the Empire.

"Now England has chosen to nominate herself as the policeman of Europe, in addition to keeping a wobbly Empire from falling apart. It is expected that relations between England and Germany will rapidly become worse.

NEW YORK, April 3. A radically new high explosive which can be manufactured cheaply in unlimited quantities from air, steam and natural gas is announced by the American Chemical Society, says a Baltimore message.

The new super explosive, called nybglycerol trinate, may free the munitions industry from dependence on glycerine, which is costly and limited.

Russia and Japan have signed a fisheries agreement, which will operate for a year.

The chemical is produced by a nitration process discovered as a result of a laboratory accident.

"The company is waiting for Govintend to do anything ourselves. Initiative must now come from outside; then the tunnel will become a certainty.

"It is not generally known, however, that this company is ready to start work on the tunnel at a moment's notice."

How It Would Be Done. The Channel Tunnel Company's plan is to drive a pilot tunnel through the sea bed first, to prove that there is no flaw in the impervious clay bed, and then to build a dual track, "subway-sized" railway tunnel which would come to the surface several miles inland on each side of the English Channel and thus be more easily safeguarded in time of emergency.

B. Boucher has put forward a slightly more ambitious programme. He anticipates the construction of a similar pilot tunnel, followed by two full-size railroad tunnels, 32 miles long, plus a road turnel, which would emerge several mies inland, on either side of La Manche. His 3YA Christchurch .- 7.0: Physical exscheme, he declares would take five years to complete and cost £22,000,-

M. Boucher's plan is being sup-ported on both sides of the chan-nel on the grounds of mintary ex-

Protection or Menuce? Curiously enough, "military expediency" which is now thought by some to make the tunnel necessary has been the very reason for passing up the scheme for the past century. "For defence purposes the tunnel would be very important,"

D'Brien escaping from gaol to prove the U.S. Commissioner, appointed to nvestigate his conduct, to be the eader of the bandit gang.

"The Affairs of Annabel" revolves around the unexpected results of a series of imaginative exploits con trived by Oakie in his role of a rash press agent to publicise the studio's oremost star, played by Miss Ball Unfortunately these stunts have a habit of backfiring. To attract attention to a prison picture, Oakie has Lucille gaoled under an alias, promising reams of publicity upon her release a few days later. But real prison terms loom for the pair if the scheme is learned; and Lucille

Although enraged, Lucille again falls for Oakie's persuasive tongue and goes to work as a housemaid, as a publicity build-up for her new picture, "A Maid and a Man." However, two kidnappers fleeing the Gmen involve the principals in a fast involve the principals in a fast and furious mix-up.

An enchanting glimpse of the world's most popular grand opera s given in Universal's "The Road o Reno," which concludes at the Cosy Theatre, Hastings.

Cosy Theatre, Hastings.

Starring Randolf Scott and Hope Hampton, and featuring Glenda Farrell, Helen Broderick, Alan Marshal and David Oliver, the film depicts in a gay manner the story of a tempermental grand opera diva who leaves for "the city of broken hearts" to obtain a divorce and goes through a series of tempestuous exploits which wind up with a happy ending in a Reno divorce court.

The film opens with Miss Hampton, as "Linda Halliday," grand opera star, making her farewell performance before going to Reno for the severance of her matrimonial knot. For this performance Miss Hampton, who has been singing opera both in America and aboard for the last few years, chose the famous Musette waltz from the opera "La Boheme."

These have been composed by the famous writing team of hit-songs, Jimmy McHugh and Harold Adamson. They are "Ridin' Home," "I Gave My Heart Away" and "Tonight is the Night."

Commencing to-day at the May-fair Theatre, Napier, a high class guest night programme will be pre-sented. Action, international intrigue and romance in generous portions keep Paramount's "The Girl From Scotland Yard" moving at a swift pace. The picture has plenty of thrills and chills, some excellen comedy and a flavouring of music. The story presents Karen Morley in the title role as an agent who uses her beauty and wit to trap the inventor of a death ray who threatens to destroy England's air force with his invention. Since the ray is openis invention. Since the ray is open ted at a distance and is invisibl is not an easy job that confronts her Miss Morley is assisted in tracking down the inventor by Robert Baldwin, an American newspaper who gets involved in the int when he falls in love with the beau iful secret agent. "Mountain Music," a riotous com edy, set against a background of mountain, hill-billy music is the second attraction of the evening. It is the story of Bob Burns, who meets Martha in a strange city. Both Bob and Martha think he is rich and it is a shock for both of the to discover that he is only a hil billy who ran away from marriage to a girl he did not love.

Terry Walker is the girl Bob left behind him. She is looking for him to take him home, so that his brother, John Howard, whom she loves, may be freed from a charge of having murdered Bob.

The three of them reach home as Howard is about to be convicted. The judge, though recognising Bob refuses to see the argument. But here is a happy ending in spite of ll, and the two couples, Bob and Martha, Howard and Terry, go down the road, singing a mountain ballad

> Tyrone Power In "Suez"

The conflict of a man with the ements around him is the theme "Suez," which is now showing at of Suez, which is now showing at the State Theatre, Napier. "Suez" is the story of Ferdinand de Lesseps, who, in the political turmoil of the mid-nineteenth century, conceived the idea of tearing two continents apart, that the Mediterranean and short route cut to the East.

The film presents the struggle of de Lesseps to cut the Suez Canal. The ferocious wind was Nature's greatest weapon of defence in the pattle waged upon her by de Lesseps. It was known as the "devilseps. It was known as the devi-wind" in its ragings across tracks of sand, leaving mountains where once were valleys, obliterating the caravan routes, the all too few caravan routes, the all too few oases and almost blinding the sight. These elements de Lesseps fought, as he fought political and financial discouragement, and attacks from

HEATH-SPEDDING

Otago Ceremony Of Hawke's Bay Interest

The marriage of Allan Alexander elder son of Mr and Mrs T. A. Heath, of Taupo, and Evelyn Norma, only daughter of Dr and Mrs I. N. Spedding, of Mosgiel, took place on Thursday afternoon at St. Paul's Cathedral, the ceremony being performed by the bride's uncle, Archideacon Button, and the organ being played by Mr E. Heyward.

Deep magnolia embossed satin was worn by the bride, who was escorted up the aisle by her father. The short sleeves, V-shaped neckline, and hem were trimmed with lattice-work, the hemline also being finished with sprays of orange blossom that had been worn by the bride's mother at her own wedding. A sash of the same material tied at the back and hung in soft folds to the foot of the gown, over which fell a flimsy tulle veil, held in place by ostrich tips, becomingly arranged as a coronet. A shower bouquet of lilium afuratum, gladioli, freesias and roses was carried.

A gown of maize-coloured georgette, made with a very full skirt, was worn by the bridesmaid, Miss Joyce Throp (a cousin of the bride). The bodice was draped in Grecian style and where it met the skirt there was a girdle of maize and flame georgette. Ostrich tips, dyed to match the frocks, were worn in the hair, and a bouquet of yellow abutilons was carried. abutilons was carried. Mr W. Robertson acted as best man.

Relatives, numbering 22, were received later at the Somerset Lounge, where the wedding breakfast was held. Mrs I. N. Spedding wore a frock of brown brocaded marocain frock of brown brocaded marocain ornamented with gold clips down the centre front. Her brown velour hat was trimmed with an ostrich feather and the touches of gold in the frock were accentuated by a bouquet of French marigolds and coreopsis. Mrs T. A. Heath, who assisted in receiving the guests, was attired in an ensemble of light navy silk, and a navy velvet toque with eye veil. Her bouquet was composed of red roses.

A bridal gown of unusual beauty, which had been worn by her mother, was again worn by Moreen Bertha, second daughter of Mr and Mrs E. Martin, Papatawa, at her marriage to John Joel, Napier, eldest son of Mr and Mrs J. Orme, Woodville. The ceremony which took place at the Woodville Methodist Church last Saturday. ## Reports Of Institute Meetings Held During The Past Month

HAVELOCK NORTH

The Garden Circle of the Have-lock North Women's Institute always decorates the Village Hall for the monthly meetings, and the members certainly surpassed themselves on the occasion of the annual meeting last week. A low, green bowl of exquisite late roses stood on the president's table, another of glowing dahlias on the piano, and all along the stage were placed tall vases of cannas, dahlias, golden-rod, French marigolds, and by way of contrast, blue agaphanthus.

A good attendance of members was present at the annual meeting of the Porangahau Women's Institute was held in the Masonic Hall. Mrs T. In welcoming all present, Mrs Ellis and hoped that she was well on the way to complete recovery.

It was decided to donate £1 to the school funds.

The agenda of the deferation annual meeting of the Porangahau Women's Institute was held in the Masonic Hall. Mrs T. Hobson presided over a fair number of members. The report and balance-sheet were read and adopted.

The following officers were elected:—President, Mrs Hawthorne; vice-presidents, Mesdames R. Ropina, Forrest, and T. Hobson; secretary, Mrs Somerville. The members were elected as a committee.

HOW WILL IT END?

The Sun is shining brightly as we set out for a day in the Country, but How will the day end? The game is going right, for we are winning, but How will it end? The Story received as a Prize, begun well, has charmed us so far, but How will it end?

So with the lives of young folks. So many begin well, go on well, but the vital question is How do they end? Now, if you want to begin well, go on well, and, above all, end well, here is the secret. Begin well by Coming to Christ, just as you are, where you are, at what age you are, and COME NOW! Rest assured you need a Saviour, you can find a Saviour, He will save you now, His promise is "Him that cometh to ME I will in no wise cast out" (John 6:37). Go on well by "looking unto Jesus" (Heb. 12:2), "keeping yourself in the Love of God" (Jude 21). Keep busy, keep in fellowship with God and His Children, keep "looking for that Blessed Hope" (Titus 2:13), the Coming of the Lord. End well hy hearing His Voice saying at the end of a busy, happy life: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant . . . enter thou into the joy of thy Lord" (Matt. 25:21). It is possible for you, by His Grace and Love. TRUST HIM NOW. But begin badly by neglecting or rejecting Christ; live a careless life; die a Christless death; and you will be lost Eternally. HOW WILL IT END?

EDUCATION AND HEALTH

When the most valuable contributions of the present generation in New Zealand are summed up by future historians, what will their nature be?

The past decade has seen adventurous and expensive social experiments. Roads, railways, and the vehicles and machinery employed on them have multiplied and improved. Time, money, and energy have been expended on the speeding up of transport methods by land, sea, and air. Defence measures have been pushed ahead.

Yet it is doubtful, from the point of view of human values, if these will be the aspects of progress that will meet with the greatest commendation from the men and women who will come after us. When Ruskin said, "The true veins of wealth are purple," he meant that the good, strong, pulsing blood of a virile race was the surest guarantee of its survival and advancement. And it is not impossible that the work done in New Zealand on behalf of the children will rank highest in the estimation of those who, in later days, will sit in judgment on the progress of the present time. The Minister of Education (the Hon. P. Fraser) during his visit to Hawke's Bay yesterday, formally opened a new school in Hastings which represents in tangible form the principles of progress so far as the children are concerned. With all their indomitable determination in their gallant battle against natural odds, the pioneers of the country did not, and could not, apply their energies in every direction related to the general common good, and in the sphere of education their work cannot be favourably compared with what is being done under the guidance of more enlightened ideals. Their love of home and children were no less strong than ours to-day, but the claims of their strenuous occupations precluded them from making adequate provision for the comfort and health of the children in the schools. Such of the primitive schools as are left in the Dominion stand as mute witnesses of the inevitable drawbacks which accompany hard times of absorption in heavy toil. In other words, the schools were unhealthy and in many ways unsuited for their great purpose.

Modern educationists, learning from the past and with the experience listed in actual figures which the old days have handed on, have put their energies to the construction of buildings characterised by their capacity to take in as much fresh air and sunshine as possible, and to keep out the dangerous cold currents that have been the cause of so much trouble amongst children in the days gone by. Scientific ventilation is the sound basis of modern educational systems in our schools. The best teacher in the world, it is realised, cannot do his own best work and cannot get the best work from his scholars if he and they are working in conditions which do not allow of the possibility of healthy physical life.

The relationship between the sound mind and the healthy body has never been more clearly realised than to-day, but modern authorities have gone further, to realise that the healthy body can be reared only in a healthy environment. The real problem confronting educational endeavour in these days is to maintain the balance between brain and brawn. In no country more than in New Zealand should that attainment be more easily possible. We have the splendid Plunket Society to safeguard the well-being of the very young and to give aid to mothers, fresh-air schools to give the growing youngsters their full chance of an inheritance of happy youth, and after school is over there is work, also hygienically controlled, and an abundant opportunity for play and sporting exercises, plus the leisure time in which to engage in them.

It can thus be seen that on the physical side of education New Zealand has nothing to learn from any other country. But on the other side of the balance there still remains the problem as to what to do with our trained and healthy men and women when we have them. On the intellectual side of the ledger it is being too often found that the supply exceeds the demand in the Dominion, with the result that many of the brightest and best and healthiest sons and daughters of New Zealand migrate to other lands to find fuller scope for tive consciousness in humanity, a collective will, and a collective mind." Just how big a change does he require? If he merely pictures the emergence of a spirit of co-operation and of a readiness, in at least the majority of the people, to use the goods they own in such a way as to further the common weal, I think it is possible, and I am with him thus far. But there can be such a "collective consciousness" without collective consciousness" without collective ownership. If all owners were workers—either by hand or brain—and not parasites, and if they realised that ownership entailed duties as well as rights, we would have such a "collective consciousness"

To conserve the health of the child is good. To train our growing youth is good. But to utilise the results of the training in adult life and to stop the leakages of talent from the Dominion would be better.

Does Mr Dalley envisage the disappearance of all Governmental authority? Will every single person be a "greater individuality"? Will there be none who need to be roused to pull in with the community? It so, he is very Utoplan indeed. I prefer to stick to what we know of human nature. I think we could with more authority and less totalitarianism; with more State control even, and less State ownership. The State's job is not to help the people by doles, save in exceptional cases; it is to help them to help themselves, to see that conditions are such that they can use their own initiative and energy, restricting those whose actions tend to harm the common good. To do this it has to do what modern Governments have consistently dodged doing—to enter the ring and throw out the exploiters.

I we could build a modern city in the produce off the land, so why is "Looker-on," and it would not last one month, because there is no farming land and no farmer? We could build a modern city in the produce off the land, so why is "Looker-on," and it would not last one month, because there is no farming land and no farmer?

We could build a modern city in the produce of hand produce for the "Lookers-on," to handling the produce.

The Romans tried that game over 2000 years ago, and what happended? I suppose a few people can make a living, digging up the remains of these ancient ing—to enter the ring and throw out the exploiters.

I want to see re-united ownership and work, to see the end of absentee and work, to see the end of absentee landlordism, for example, and to see destroyed for ever that nauseating alternative, "A man can either work or own." All must work, and, if they want the added responsibility, they must get a chance to become owners. Mr Dalley pointedly notes that giving property to the propertyless would create "a middle class state of society." Yes, it would do away with classes. It would be a levelling-up with a vengeance. Men would be grouped, no longer by the amount of wealth they possessed, but by their function in the community, by the work they performed.

formed. "It would perpetuate the competi-tive system," retorts Mr Dalley. It would do so, were the Government and especially the trade organisa and especially the trade organisations, to refuse to do their jobs by restraining unfair and anti-social competition. Competition is a good thing—like beer; but we can have too much of a good thing—though many will query my example. Anyhow, we have had far too much

Status of the Farmer

Sir,—Mr Dalley's letter of March 29 is revealing as to what he understands by socialism. I, for one, am glad to have a clearer knowledge of his viewpoint, though I do not share it; nor do I fancy his "collective control" any more than I fancy State control—in the sense of State comership.

Indeed, he admits that this "collective control" will be based on a future change in people's outlook, namely, "the awakening of a collective will, and a collective mind." Just how big a change does he require? If he merely pictures its complete destruction through State or private monopolies, but prudent regulation. That is what we are given judgments for.

As for Marx, I simply noted that even he knew of another form of private property different from the "capitalist property" characteristic of our age, and that it was to that form that I desired to draw Mr Dalley's attention. The alternative that faces the present-day wage-earners is widely distributed ownership on the one hand, and our continued proletarian status under State or private monopolies on the other. I repeat, there is no third issue—not as a matter of practical politics, taking men as they are, as we know

This is Joey, the menace of Cascade Creek, who lurks among the tents and hutments of this little settlement. Motorists who stopped there and left their cars for any length of time frequently returned to find a tyre flat but no sign of a puncture. The setting of a watch dis-covered Joey. He is a large white cockatoo with a highly developed sense of humour. When unobserved he sidles nonchalantly up to a motor-car, grabs the valve of the tyre in his powerful beak, and pulls. ## ASSAULT BY CONSTABLE

The Police Are Discharged: Weight Of Evidence

By Telegraph-Press Association. DUNEDIN, April 3.

"I regret that I am far from satisfied that the injuries received by Tobin, and in a less degree by Whitty, were received while they were resisting arrest," said Mr H. W. Bundle, S.M., in the Dunedin Magistrate's Court to-day, when dismissing charges of disorderly conduct while drunk and resisting the police which were brought against two young men, Leonard John Tobin and William James Whitty.

His Worship added that the Police Department would no doubt take such action as it might think fit Senior-Sergeant doubt take such action as it might think fit, Senior-Sergeant Claasen giving an assurance that the department would take steps in the matter.

The hearing was begun on Friday, when, during the course of the evidence for the defence, it was alleged that the two men had been assaulted by the constable who arrested them.

Mr. O. J. Stevens appeared for both of the accused, who pleaded not guilty.

Tobin, in evidence, said that on the Wednesday evening 10 days prior to when the present offence was alleged to have been committed he was at a pie-cart at the Exchange with Miss Stewart.

McCalman asked witness to go to the police station with him and say that he had not heard the language complained of, and stated that if he would do so his word would be as good as that of the next man and that if witness should at any time get into trouble he (McCalman) would see that he was not arrested.

Coming to the night of the alleged offences, witness denied any rowdy offences, witness denied any rowdy behaviour. It was Constable Mc-Calman who arrested Whitty and as he did so he told Constable Blake to "Grab Tobin quick."

Arm Twisted.

Constable Blake seized witness and twisted his arm behind his back before taking him over to where Whitty and Constable McCalman were, and when witness asked why he had been arrested Constable McCalman struck him on the face later "putting the best is."

Constable McCalman struck him on the face, later "putting the boot in" and using his elbow freely.

From the time witness was arrested, however, Constable Blake did not assault him in any way. The morning after his arrest his back was very sore. At no time, witness maintained, was he offensive to Constable McCalman, and if he had struck the latter in the eye with his elbow it was accidentally done while he was warding off a blow. ## Children's Health Prime Factor

After 20 years of agitation by numerous school committees, during which time the school was inspected and condemned by seven Ministers of Education, the Hastings Central School has a new building.

It was officially opened yesterday by the Minister of Education (the Hon. P. Fraser).

The health of the children has been a prime consideration in the design of the new school. Spacious rooms, numerous windows, and modern ventilation methods have been included in a pavilion type of building which represents the last word in State educational facilities.

The flag-bedecked cream and red building and the large assemblage of children and parents made a colourful picture in yesterday's brilliant weather when the school was declared

"We hope that the health of the children will improve," said Mr Bennett. "There is now no reason why we should not have a school that is absolutely fit."

Tribute to Committees

"We are proud and justifiably so, of the great and faithful service which the school committees have rendered in this district," said Mr G. A. Maddison, Chairman of the Hawke's Bay Education Board.

"They have done a wonderful work and have been splendidly supported by the parents.

"I want to pay my meed of praise to the Central School Committee for the enthusiastic and unstinted service they have given in the development of these grounds and in providing a good environment for the education of our children. When they are completed they will content to the respect to the content and the people of Hastings have every the service they have given in the development of these grounds and in providing a good environment for the education of our children. When they are completed they will content and the people of Hastings have every the service they served the service they have given in the development of these grounds and in providing a good environment for the education Board's workmen, and I must praise the work of Mr. Fleming, the architect who designed the job, and which has given the utmost satisfaction in that respect. It is on this co-operation and goodwill that our educational system is built."

School Officially Opened.

Congratulating the old pupils on the idea of providing remorial gates at the main entrance to the school, the Minister said that when the people of Hastings have every reason to be proud of this magnificance.

"And So, it gives me great pleasure the school of their time serving the children. It is on this co-operation and goodwill that our educational system is built."

Appeal to Children.

"May I appeal to the girls and boys present here to-day to safe-guard this property, which, after all is theirs, and to build higher and higher their own character and strengthen their education day by day, and to pass down unsullied to the children of to-morrow the great the children of to-morrow the great heritage of the Hastings Central School.

"This occasion is indeed an outstanding one for me, because it was in the old school I spent my earliest school days, and received many 'hidings' for my class-room omissions. Further, it marks the consummation of the Education Board's and the School Committee's representations for new accommodation urged and commenced in 1922. In the intervening years no less than seven Ministers of Education have inspected the old buildings and each one read's agreed they should be.

Past Buildings Recalled.

"The only previous time I have visited Central School was when the old building was here, and I could not help feeling then that it was more than time that it was removed and replaced by a new structure," said the Director of Education (Mr. N. T. Lambourne). "Such a new building as this means much to both children and parents." Speaking of past years in New Zealand, Mr. Lambourne recalled with dark walls and bad ventilation. Even to-day in some places in New and the School Committee's representations for new accommodation urged and commenced in 1922. In the intervening years no less than seven Ministers of Education have inspected the old buildings and each one readi' - agreed they should be, and in fact, would be replaced, but it remained for the Minister present with us to-day to fulfil that promise, and to him the credit is due for the opening of thise handsome building and they practical recognition of our school needs here.

benefit inestimably, said Mr. Lambourne. "I am glad that Hastings Central is one of these new-type schools, and I am sure that parents will notice an improvement in the health of their children," he said. "I would like to associate myself most cordially with the gratification that you must feel with this, one of the finest and most up-to-date buildings in New Zealand," concluded Mr. Lambourne.

Architect Complimented.

Mr Fraser said that it was only fitting that a building such as the new Central School should be in seeping with the new structures which surrounded it in Hastings. which surrounded it in Hastings. He joined with previous speakers in extending congratulations to the architect (Mr Fleming) on the splendid work he had done, and to the board's workmen and tradesmen who had played their parts in erecting this important building. "I cannot say better of any set of individuals, than that they have done their work well and conscientiously," said the Minister.

While a new building such as this ly," said the Minister.

While a new building such as this predominantly was for educational purposes, the health of the children must be considered, and a school must be constructed toward this end, said the Minister. "We do not wish to speak derogatively of the work of the pioneers," said Mr Fraser, when recalling early schools. "In those days they were set on getting some kind of an educational home for the children, and to-day we are building on the mistakes of the past."

Bad Ventilation.

It had been amply demonstrated that bad ventilation in schools was detrimental to the health of the child, said Mr Fraser, and accordingly modern schools were being designed to provide the maximum of fresh air for the occupants.

Unfortunately in the past the construction of schools had been such as to allow tuberculosis germs to obtain a hold, but open-air schools of to-day were being designed to combat this dread disease. Open-air schools were better for all concerned as at the Minister of Education (the Hon. P. Fraser) yesters and the Minister. The children the Minister of the Minister of Education (the Hon. P. Fraser) yesters and the Minister of Education (the Hon. P. Fr schools were better for all concerned said the Minister. The children Hawke's Bay.

said the chairman of the Central School Committee (Mr W. S. Bennett). "An active effort has been waged over a period of 20 years, and no fewer than seven Ministers have inspected and condemned the school. It was not until the present Minister of Education came to Hastings that it was decided to provide a new building.

"Before that time many promises were made, but nothing had been done." Said Mr Bennett. "When Mr Fraser placed his foot on the doorstep he said, "What you need is a new school', and it was forthcoming."

Efforts of the Past

While the present committee "stood in the limelight" it must not be forgotten that the new building was the culmination of the efforts of many who had gone before, said Mr Bennett. While paying tribute to "the men at the top", they were liable to forget those who really erected the building, said Mr Bennett, and on behalf of the headmaster and staff he wished to thank those who had laboured to build the school.

"We hope that the health of the said the chart and said the mass arisen the urgency of reconstructing our education systems and the unending call for new schools, additions to and remodelling said the winsted the unending call for new schools, additions to and remodelling said the Minister. The children on the fluetaction Board, has done as much to repair the past and provide to the future as he has, and he again recognises, I feel sure, that much more yet remains to be done.

On his visit the Minister was accompanied by the chairman of the Hawke's Bay Education Board (Mr G. A. Maddison) and the member for the district (Mr E. L. Cullen).
Representations were made to Mr Fraser for temporary improved accommodation at Pakvale School, the roll number at present being such that over-crowding was occurring in most of the rooms.

In the morning he visited the Boys' and Girls' High Schools in Napier. The official opening of the Central School occupied him in the afternoon, and he later visited Mahorn and Palaula School Mahorn a that over-crowding was occurring in most of the rooms.

Replying, the Minister said that he could hold out no hope for making temporary additions to primary schools in Hastings while the department was pursuing its policy of establishing intermediate schools. It was pointed out that the institution of an intermediate school at Hastings would relieve the primary schools of four or five hundred children. A deputation from the Hastings High School Board of Governors was received, and the Minister then travelled to Clive, where he in-spected the school building.

At Mahora School Mr Fraser inspected temporary rooms which the school authorities sought to replace. school authorities sought to replace. Accompanied by members of the school committee, the Minister inspected the Clive School, with a view to replacing it with a modern structure. Apart from the actual classrooms the school has the maximum of auxiliary accommodation — headmaster's room, staff rooms, library, milk servery and storerooms are provided.

The approximate cost of the building is £12,000.

The ground improvement works at the school were undertaken by the Public Works Department, the labour being found out of the Employment Promotion Fund. The cost of materials, however, was provided by the Education Department.

There was then, and still was now, a considerable demand for instruction in arts and crafts, continued the chairman. Since the earthquake and the subsequent amalgamation of schools, there had been a lack of suitable accommodation and practically no provision at all for instruction in these subjects, especially for adults.

There was an art mistress at the girls' school and the pupils there received adequate instruction. At the boys' school, however, no facilities existed for this work. The department had been anxious that these classes should be re-established, and, from the beginning of the year, the board had appointed an instructor to the staff of the boys' school. He would not only teach day school pupils but the intention was to develop classes for adults to the number and standard that existed prior to the earthquake.

Temporary Building.

Temporary Building. Instruction was being carried on at present in a temporary building which was totally inadequate for the purpose. The board was now considering plans of a new arts and crafts block, which would make provision, not only for the day classes but for adult groups as well.

An application for a grant would be made at an early date, when the plans were completed and the estimates of costs prepared, added Mr. Edmundson.

"I feel that we owe something to the Napier Arts Society," said the Minister, after hearing the board's request. "They appear quite prepared to travel to the school for lessons and good facilities should be provided. I think it will be possible to reach some decision in regard to this question at an early date. I have asked Mr. Fleming to report to me on the amount of accommodation necessary."

The headmaster of the school (Mr. W. T. Foster) informed Mr. Fraser that there were already 51 adults enrolled for the classes.

chased, and they wished to secure a grant to enable them to provide accommodation for it.

To extend the school's activities and to provide for future expansion, the board wished to purchase an adjoining eight-acre block of land. When this proposal was placed before the Minister he was in favour of the scheme.

A desire to extend the use of the school library was spoken of by the principal (Mr W. A. G. Penlington) when board members asked for a grant of f140 to provide more complete furnishings. This matter had been previously discussed by the board and the department, but the question lapsed last year. The deputation also asked for a grant of spoken of by the Minister when the proposal for the purchase of a projecting picture apparatus for the teaching of geography and science was raised. The board strongly urged, therefore, that the proper course was to erect a complete hostel which would make provision for 70 boarders. # Only Good Wool in Demand at Napier Sale

DROP IN PRICE FOR INFERIOR SORTS

Top Lines Fair To Firm DANNEVIRKE CLIP MAKES TO $13\frac{1}{2}$ d.

Coarse Types Again Sell Well

The fourth wool sale held at Napier yesterday was devoid of any highlight as far as prices were concerned. Competition throughout the sale was fairly animated, with buyers operating on rigid limits.

The bidding was general, with Bradford, Belgium, and France doing the most buying. Canada and America were operating mostly for the super quality wools and also bought a fair quantity of the quality lines of coarse wools.

The catalogue consisted of approximately 24,200 bales, made up of some good station clips, the rest being just average sorts with a fair majority showing a good amount

The top price on the day was  $13\frac{1}{2}d$  for four bales of good super wool on account of Mr A. Patterson, Dannevirke. The average price paid for good wools was from  $10\frac{1}{2}d$  to  $11\frac{3}{4}d$ . while a line on account of "Roydon" and branded "B" realised

Coarse wools having good lengthy staple again brought better money than the finer sorts.

Average to super wools showed little change, with shabby and seedy types showing a drop of from  $\frac{1}{2}d$  to 1d. The drop for inferior was not surprising, as this class of wool has been

The sale followed much the same procedure as was experienced at the Wanganui sale, when inferior and seedy wools showed a decided drop in price.

Vendors of this class of wool were not prepared for the fall in prices and consequently passings were more numerous than they had been at the previous three sales.

The sale was followed by a good attendance of farmers and although the actual result of the sale was inclined to be a bit disappointing farmers met the market for the most part and a good percentage of the offering was sold under the hammer.

As can be seen by the range of prices little difference was shown in the prices for the tops, the fall in the market being confined to the poorer sorts of wool.

There was little hogget wool on some time.

Coarse quality fleece wools, provided they were good length, again made more money than finer grades of similar condition.

We offered some ver nice lines in our interlotts and these sold remarkably well, several lots making from 10d to 11\(^1\)d.

The following are some of the realisations in our catalogue:

Wairoaiti A 9\(^1\)d B 8\(^1\)d C 8d. Cot

There was little hogget wool on offer, that which came forward being chiefly made up of oddment lines.

Buyers took little interest in the poor lots and in some cases no opening bid was offered. The sale was carried along at a good speed; the sale opened at 9 a.m. and was finished at a little after 1.30 p.m.

On a straight out basis the market showed little change on that of Wanganui last week. The better quality of the wool that was offering to-day realising a little more per pound.

A full bench of buyers operated and the best style lots brought satisfactory prices. The demand for these no doubt was accentuated by the fact that only a limited selection of superior style crossbreds has been offered in New Zealand during the last month. Necks, pieces, bellies and locks which as usual at this sale accounted for 25 per cent. of our catalogue were in rather weak demand and formed a considerable proportion of lots passed in.

Continental orders which usually support values of these descriptions were very much restricted and the best style lots brought satisfactory prices. The demand for the hammer and have since disposed of a fair quantity of passed in lots.

THE NEW MORRIS

The first thing that strikes one it that a complete breakaway has been achieved in outward appearance. The whole shape of the car is different, with smooth-flowing lines which give it a beauty rarely seen in cars of its price and class.

A closer examination reveals many other important features— and as one enters the driving seat the first impression is the consider-modation—in fact, it would be no exaggeration to say that this new Morris Eight is as spacious inside as an ordinary ten.

New Boot.

New Boot.

An interesting innovation is the exterior luggage boot at the back, which, apart from its great utility value, considerably improves the streamlined appearance. Other noteworthy external features are the new curved radiator shell and headlamps recessed in the fenders. A new departure for driving comfort is the easy chair front seats with tubular steel frame and floating steel springs. They are instantly adjustable and include a self. Allotine lattiv, and they may be regarded as certain. Germany will not make the mistake, as the Allies after the Great War made the mistake, of allowing her vanquished foes to re-arm so that they may be able to challenge her mandates.

The International position to day is such that the people of New Zealand must face them now. They cannot afford to do otherwise. Too much is at stake.

NEW ZEALAND'S POSITION SHOULD WAR BREAK OUT

Defence League's Seven Points To Ensure The Safety Of The Country

In the event of a major war breaking out in the immediate future in which Great Britain and France become involved, it is essential that we should ask ourselves what will be New Zealand's position, writes the New Zealand Defence

It is beyond dispute that when Great Britain is at war we are at war, and our ultimate fate depends upon whether the British Empire and France, with the probable help of the United States, emerge the victors or the vanquished. If Great Britain and her Allies are beaten, the issue will then arise as to whether Germany and her Allies are likely to impose milder terms than were inflicted on Germany by the Treaty

Germany was not only disarmed and dismembered, but she was required to pay enormous sums in reparations and lost all her overseas possessions. Germany is not likely to forget that. Another factor, and a very vital one in this case, may he wearded as earlier. Correctly her was all processory.

Very Unlucky At Hastings

NORA GREGOR IS READY FOR AUCKLAND

Comment On Hawke's Bay Form Form is Good.

(By MOTUROA).

Ivar's defeat in the Hawke's Bay Cup was a body-blow for his admirers, but Mr Frank Ormond's three-year-old did not lose caste, for he was undoubtedly one of the unluckiest runners in the race. To take the far bend out of the straight at least five horses out must have cost him a dozen lengths, yet it was not until the last furlong that he was beaten, and he was little more than two lengths away from Dainty Sue at the finish.

With the race over, it is easy to criticise the riding of Ivar, but one should not be too hard on the apprentice who had the mount. A more experienced rider, when he found the leaders setting a hot pace and being four abreast, would have dropped in behind and not attempted to go to the front until the back stretch was reached.

However, even the best riders err at times, and the experience is not likely to be forgotten by young Campbell.

Ivar will have his opportunity to make amends on Saturday, when it is likely that he will contest the A.R.C. Easter Handicap. In this race he is well in, being on the minimum, for he has the brilliance to go with the leaders from the barrier-rise and he should run out every inch of

The Easter Handicap should shed further light on Ivar's prospects of making a race of the St. Leger with Beaupartir, but there is a feeling that the longer race, with 8.10 in the saddle, will be against the Napier Cup winner.

A JUDGE'S NIGHTMARE.—The finish of the Twyford Handicap at Hastings on Saturday. Royal Spades (the winner) is nearest the camera, and separated by half heads are Mimicry, Lucullus Boy and Quilp. The fifth horse, Blonde Princess was only half a length further back, followed by Bold Step and Screen Lord.

NORA GREGOR created a profound impression when she won the Juvenile Handicap at Hastings on Saturday, for her 9.12 was a huge impost for a two-year-old filly. On top of that she tore away at the start to make all the running and then had sufficient in hand to hold off the stout-finishing effort of Endorsement.

Nora Gregor was a close third to Winning Rival and Beaulivre in the spring and she proved herself a high-class filly at the Waikato summer meeting, winning under 8.9 and 9.4. She then ran a great race with 9.11 at Te Aroha.

Saturday's race should bring this Bulandshar filly right up to her best for the Great Northern Champagne Stakes on Easter Saturday and she Spade Guinea.

To Lutanist at Hastings and is sure to be found much more forward next time out. He has grown into a nice toolt and may be up to the best class later on.

Tashi Lama is by Bulandshar and the server of the Great Northern Steeplechase last Easter.

The novice event at Feliding on Monday is run over seven furlongs and that should give Yed Prior a chance to break her duck. This surely who was by Musket from The Trabulandshar filly right up to her best for the Great Northern Champagne Stakes on Easter Saturday and she Spade Guinea.

nick just now and she was impressive in her victory at the Manawatu meeting. Ecstatic is not overburdened with weight in the Ongo Hack Handicap on Saturday.

Meamea is reported to have freshened up nicely since he upended Haughty Winner at Trentham and there will be plenty of money for this solid Lackham gelding in the Feilding Cup on Saturday. Meamea should have no difficulty in running out a mile and a quarter.

Laughing Lass has much to recommend her in the A.R.C. Easter Handicap, for her recent form has been very solid. She looked unlucky to lose the Thompson and was a good thing beaten at the Manawatu meeting. With 7.10 the hig roan mare must be considered well treated.

Aurora's Star finished like a train in her one race at the Manawatu meeting for third and, as she has done well since then, she is not likely to be neglected this weekend at Feilding. end at Feilding.

Tangled has made another trip south for the Riverton meeting and he leaves the impression that he is more forward this year than he

ACCEPTANCES FOR WAIPUKURAU

HAWKE'S BAY owners and trainers are given a final reminder that acceptances for all events at the Waipukurau Jockey Club's autumn meeting at Waipukurau on Easter Mon-day, close with the secretary (Mr F. A. G. Dunn, Waipuku-rau) at eight o'clock to-night (Tuesday).

Rarotonga has won three of his four races at Feilding and his penchant for this track will not be overlooked by backers this week. Several good races have been credited to Rarotonga in the past month or so, and he will be found in great heart for the fray. He is now trained by Ashley Jenkins, at Opaki.

His Lucky Track.

His Lucky Track.

Alf Neale seldom fails to win a race at Feilding and the Bulls mentor will have Play On and Aureus at their best this week-end. Play On has a host of admirers for the Feilding Cup, while it will not be overlooked that Aureus won the Mangaone Handicap 12 months ago. She is back to winning form again, and is on a handy mark on Saturday.

Smart Maiden.

Parian impressed at Woodville and he loo!... as if he has improved since then. This Auckland-bred gelding figures in the Maiden Stakes at Feilding on Saturday and, being such a smart beginner, he will be suited by the turning nature loff the track should give a good account of herself against Baran, Gayest Son, Konneta and Submission.

Bred as he is, Tashi Lama may be a good three-year-old winner for Mr Frank Ormond.

Endorsement also pleased her admirers for the Onslow Stakes at Ellerslie on Saturday, for she was kept a long way back the second day at Hastings. She has a big weight, but the six furlongs will suit her.

Better For Racing.

There is little doubt that racing is improving Kalika, for the half-sister to Gold Mag seems to be at last coming right. Her effort in finishing fourth on Saturday was a really good one, for she was lengths behind the field three furlongs from

The hard tracks are worrying Classical, but, despite the adverse conditions under which she is racing, being such a smart beginner, he will be suited by the turning nature of the track.

really good races at Hastings last week, and it is probable that she will be on hand to contest the Waipukurau Cup on Monday. The Gisborne mare won this race 12 months ago, and, in her present form, it looks as if she will make a bold bid to repeat the feat.

Tashi Lama Due Soon.

Tashi Lama, having his first race since the spring, ran a good fourth the handicaps, but she is in splendid in the Hastings district*

The most improved gelding at Hastings is undoubtedly Royal Spades and one could not be other than impressed by the brilliance of his finishing efforts both days during the Hawke's Bay meeting. He showed great gameness and indicated good staying possibilities.

Early in his career Royal Spades was very light in condition and could not stand much racing, but he stood up to it well last week and a good middle-distance race may not be beyond him.

Royal Spades is by the Bayardo horse The Ace (sire of that great staying mare Fast Passage) from Bethia (dam of the useful Ismas), by the Polymelus horse Polydamon from Multivious, by Multifid from the imported Simonian mare Simonias.

This half-sister to Gay Court and and the Taonui Nursery Handicap on Saturday looks made to order for her. La Bru beat all but Pearl of Asia at Awapuni and the shorter distance this week will suit her embed the suggest that she has been entered freely for the classics next season.

Worth Watching.

Copy Cat has not been on the winning list for a while, but she ran such a good fourth at the Manawatu meeting that she is sure to find support this week at Feild.

Cuisinier broke a long list of minor placings when he won at the Manawatu meeting, and, while he may never rise to any great heights, this Peach Brandy gelding is so well that he must be given a chance this week-end to add to his winning account.

Chevrolet trucks for 1939 save you money on low first cost, then again on body types which fit your job exactly and allow maximum payloads. And when you operate with Chevrolet you'll find that your maintenance costs are cut to the minimum ... that hauling is faster ... that handling is easier and that the long-life and durability of Chevrolet trucks mean added economy for every day of operation.

DISTINCTIVE ENGINE and CHASSIS FEATURES

This year's Chevrolet trucks are powered with high compression Valve-in-head engines - famous for their economy and dependability. Their smoother clutch and synchro-mesh transmission assure smooth, silent shifting. Four-way lubrication, efficient cooling, four-bearing fully counterweighted crankshaft are other important engine features in Chevrolet for 1939. Then you have Chevrolet's allsteel cab welded into one complete unit for greater safety and greater strength. Perfected hydraulic brakes provide quick stopping in any emergency. Stabilised front - end mounting with its rigid strength gives easier, safer driving on rough roads.

ALTERNATIVE BODY TYPES for EVERY CHASSIS

Chevrolet goes further than providing a model for every trucking job. It has, this year, three or more body types for each model. Simply state your required body size and there's a Chevrolet to match it.

THE G.M.A.C. PLAN. General Motors provides through General Motors Acceptance Corporation, plans of convenient payments for trucks. Any bona fide operator who has sufficient work at a payable price may, through the G.M.A.C. plan, gain assistance to buy a truck out of its own earnings, and be assured of a low cost service combined with helpful, friendly treatment. G.M.A.C. is an integral part of General Motors and aims at keeping trucks sold whilst retaining the customer's goodwill.
