Madame Tabouis (the well-known international commentator), in the Paris newspaper "L'Oeuvre," predicts that Germany will invade Poland and Holland on April 15.

Herr Hitler and Signor Mussolini have been in continual telephone touch during the past few

"Herr Hitler has advised Signor Mussolini to make all the promises necessary to keep Britain quiet while preparing a move against Greece.

"Berlin is convinced that Britain and France will not defend Poland, and the Reichswehr (German Army) has been ordered to march on Saturday if Colonel Beck cannot be brought to reason," says Madame Tabouis.

"At the same time, Holland will be invaded in order to menace Britain.

"One-third of the German Fleet will leave for the Mediterranean on April 14 from Kiel and Wilhelmshaven."

A later message from Warsaw officially states that 20 German Nazis have been arrested in different places in Western Poland for subversive activities.

To Remain

The Hendaye correspondent of "The Times" says that it is reported from Madrid that all the Moors in Spain, totalling 50,000 are going to Morocco next week.

The militia is being disbanded.
An official statement issued at Burgos, General Franco's headquarters, says: "The repatriation of foreign forces takes time. The Allied forces remained in France for several months after the Great War. "Foreign volunteers will have to participate in the victory march, "Foreign volunteers will have to participate in the victory march, probably on May 2. For this reason they are remaining in Spain until a date to be announced later, when they will retire in accordance with their repeated promise."

The Basque Government agent in a statement said that they would reject any pact that General Franco might conclude with Rome and Berlin.

State

'The Young In Heart' To-day

The most fascinating family that ever menaced a heart—or a bankroll—is appearing at the State Theatre, —is appearing at the State Theatre, Hastings, to-day.

They are the charming Carletons in David O. Selznick's comedy romance "The Young in Heart," starring Janet Gaynor, Douglas Fairbank's, jun., and Paulette Goddard, who makes her talking debut following her discovery in Charlie Chaplin's "Modern Times."

Prominently featured in the supporting cast of this film based on the I. A. R. Wylie Saturday Evening Post serial, "The Gay Banditti," are Roland "Topper" Young, Billie "Mrs. Topper" Burke, Henry Stephenson, popular character actor, Richard Carlson, romantic newcomer from the New York stage, and Minnie the New York stage, and Minnie Dupree, for more than four decades

Janet Gaynor has a new type of role in "The Young in Heart" as the daughter who helps her adventurous family chies their way from the fun-loving Riviera to London, and whose loyalty to them almost costs her the love of her highly-prin-cipled young millionaire fiance (Richard Carlson).

Her brother (Fairbanks, jun.,) also assists in the game of charming fakery until he meets a beautiful fairbanks and the fairbanks and the fairbanks. ful secretary, in the person of Paul-ette Goddard, and completely forgets ette Goddard, and completely forgets his frantic search for an heiress. Father "Sahib" Carleton (Roland Young) does his part by carrying a spare ace up his sleeve, while "Marmy" (Billie Burke) twitters along in her charming fashion helping wherever she can.

The Carletons get kicked out of only the best vlaces. Their charm can carry them everywhere for a time. They are guests of the world, these engaging phonies, until at last they match their wits against a lonely old lady's heart. Then things begin to happen that surprise even these blithe and blase spirits. For one thing, they discover that they have hearts and that hearts have a habit of getting in the way of habit of getting in the way of

SHIPS THAT BATTLE WITH THE SEA

Charles Bickford In "The Storm"

Revealing for the first time the untold drama of wireless operators on merchant ships, Universal's big-scale production of "The Storm" ences to-morrow at the Cosy Theatre, Hastings.

Graphic action and realism are indicated through an all-star cast, which includes such rugged perormers as Charles Bickford, Barton MacLane, Preston Foster, Andy in the story is carried by Tom Brown as the young brother, and Nan Grey as his sweetheart, the pretty nurse.

Impressive scenes in the screen-play by Daniel Moore, Hugh King and Theodore Reeves show the crashing of a ship into an iceberg, the explosion of an oil tanker as it sails from port, and several rousing hand-to-hand battles between rival ships' crews when they meet in waterfront cafes.

Logical motivation of the story is provided by Bickford, as a reckless wireless operator, who loves the ad-venture of his profession but seeks o prevent his brother, Brown, from following the same career. Nan Grey, cast as the ship's nurse, has her most important opportunity since she scored with Deanna Durban in "Three Smart Girls."

Director Harold Young and Ken Goldsmith, the producer, may again take bows for producing a picture which should win even more favour than their recent success, "Little

"The Lady Vanishes," directed by Alfred Hitchcock and starring Mich-ael Redgrave, Margaret Lockwood, Paul Lukas and Dame May Whitty, omes to the State Theatre, Napier suspense, it tells of a woman who disappears from a Continental train. Iris Henderson (Margaret Lockwood) and Gilbert, a collector of forgotten dances (Michael Redgrave) have met her the previous evening at a Bandrikan inn. Iris, in fact, has had tea with the woman, in fact, has had tea with the woman, Miss Froy, on the train. The people on the train deny the existence of Miss Froy. The dining car attendant produces a bill to prove that Iris had tea on her own. Dr. Hary, a brain specialist, tells Iris that she is suffering from delusions. Iris is almost frantic and seeks the help of Gilbert. She explains the situation to Gilbert, who light the situation to Gilbert, who lightheartedly joins in the search. It is fortunate that she goes to Gilbert, who finds a piece of evidence that proves Miss Froy's existence. He also finds Miss Froy's pince-nez in the luggage van, and that Dr. Hary has the body of an unknown patient with him. There is a woman, too, on the train who wears clothes exactly like Miss Froy's.

Where and whose the body is and Where and whose the body is, and how it is found, form the substance of this excellent film. As well, there is a fight between the travellers on the train and a group of military who emerge from the centre of a forest. Iris falls in love with Gilbert and there is a happy ending after all. After so much suspense and excitement it is well that there should be.

The acting of all the stars is excellent, and there is good supporting cast. Michael Redgrave takes full advantage of all his natural qualities, his handsomeness, charm nd virility, and his deeply resonant oice. Margaret Lockwood is oice. Margaret Lockwood as harming always, and an accom

BRILLIANT COMEDY TRIUMPH

"Mr. Chedworth Steps Out" Coming

Mr Chedworth, or to give him his Mr Chedworth, or to give him his full title, George Chedworth, is already a great favourite with Australasians everywhere he has visited to date. And this big-hearted lovable head of the Chedworth family, made famous by Cinesound's current screen production, "Mr Chedworth Steps Out," which comes to the Plaza Theatre, Napier, on Saturday is destined to find a permanent place in the affections of audiences everywhere. ences everywhere.

In real life, he is none other than Cecil Kellaway back to delight again in an even more human characterisation. Since his previous Cinesound production, Mr Kellaway has been to Hollywood, where he made six films under his long-term contract with R.K.O.-Radio, which he won by his sterling performance in "It Isn't Done."

Kellaway makes George Chedworth "live" on the screen. He makes this lonely, down-trodden little man who is fighting to uphold his inner better self, a real-life character, who wins our sympathies. And when the same George Chedworth, reclaiming himself as a man becomes at last the real head of his house, and . . . steps out, you'll want to pat him on the back and enthus

"Mrs Chedworth," George's nagging and socially ambitious wife, is cleverly portrayed by Rita Pauncefort. Gwen, the eldest daughter, is charmingly played by Joan Deering. Australia's talented and popular young song-bird, Jean Hatton, is the younger daughter—"Susie." Peter Finch, of radio fame, is the eldest son, Arthur—and little Rodney Jacobs is "Freddie." Others in the specially selected cast include James Raglan, Sidney Wheeler, Ronald Whelan, Charmaine Ross and Harvey Adams.

"Mr Chedworth Steps Out" was produced and directed for Cinesound by that brilliant Australian, Ken G. Hall, who has already given us such entertainment treats as "The Silence of Dean Maitland," "It Isn't Done," "Lovers and Luggers", "Let George To It" and "Dad and Dave Come to Town" and many other Australian screen successes.

A story of everyday family life, "Mr Chedworth Steps Out" is ideal entertainment for your whole family.

WHAT GOD HAS DONE

Perhaps you would like us to tell what God is willing to do for the sinner. But we have something far better than that to tell you. We rejoice to be able to declare what God has already done for the sinner. He has already made provision for your salvation. Yea, in order that you and every lost sinner might be saved He has given up His Son to death. Christ has died for the ungodly. Perfect atonement has been made for sin. The work is finished. (John 19: 30). And now the tidings have gone forth that whosoever believeth on Christ shall there and then he justified from all things, and saved for eternity.

Dannevirke Stock Sale

BUYERS ARE CAUTIOUS

"Daily Mail" Special Service DANNEVIRKE.

There was a small yarding of sheep but a comparatively large yarding of cattle at yesterday's stock sale in Dannevirke.

The usual good attendance of buyers was present, but although the continued dry weather made buyers cautious and passings in the cattle section were frequent.

Prices were as follows: Sheep: Fat wethers, 19/3 to £1; fat lambs, 18/-; good fat ewes, 12/7 to 14/6; light fat ewes, 8/9; small ewe lambs, 7/-; medium quality, growth is being maintained, the countryside has become bare, and Hawke's Bay is undoubtedly short of feed.

64/15/-; Holstein heifers, r.w.b., £4/12/6; Jersey heifers, calved, £4/12/6; good P.A. breeding cows, to £3/15/-; 2½-year steers, to £5; good class 18-month steers, £3/5/- to £3.

Mart Report.

The pigs and poultry market at Messrs. R. Roake and Son's yards yesterday was well supplied and prices for pigs, like prices for poultry, showed some improvement on the last sale.

to 3/-; turkey hens, 6/- to 7/6; late pullets, 4/- to 5/-.

body any good." The dry summer has provided excellent conditions for harvesting cereal crops. Maize crops have made good growth, and the yield will probably be greater than was at first expected.

The extra dry weather has also kept down to a large extent the ravages of foot rot in Hawke's Bay.

This disease, which is caused by a germ, does not as a rule cause much trouble during dry weather.

WELLINGTON, April 13.

The following have been appointed members of the Local Government Loans Board, according to a notice appearing in to-night's Gazette: G. A. Lewin (Dunedin), J. W. Heenan (Wellington), C. L. (Grange (Auckland), H. M. Christie (Waipukurau) and E. Hitchcock (Christchurch).

A Gazette notice announces the following reappointments to the council of the Royal Society of New Zealand: E. R. Hudson and E. Marsden.

A number of technical amendments contained in the dairy industry account regulations for 1939 are issued with to-night's Gazette. These regulations are a revision of the 1936 regulations, which were designed to standardise the form of the annual accounts and balancesheets required to be submitted by dairy companies.

EUROPE AT THE CROSS-ROADS

World interest centres at the moment on the action to be taken by Britain and France in reply to the recent actions of Italy in Albania, and also regarding the position of foreign troops in Spain. No doubt an opportunity will also be taken to state the attitude of the democracies towards the German annexation of the Czech State, and toward the general aggressive and expansionist trend of their policies.

Some hours after this is written, Mr Chamberlain and M. Daladier will state the viewpoints of their countries tothese issues. And it may be truly said that the fate of the upon the reactions of the dictators to them.

Examining the situation dispassionately, there does not appear to be any likelihood of the Anglo-French statements taking the form of an ultimatum. It is, however, highly probable that a warning will be given that any further acts of aggression will be regarded as hostile, and that, in such an event, Britain and France will be compelled to take whatever steps they may deem necessary for their own security.

With regard to Albania, the position is a little more obscure. It will probably be made plain to Italy that the occupation is regarded as a breach of the Anglo-Italian Agreement, and while Britain may go to the length of denouncing the Agreement, it is not impossible that she may give Italy the opportunity first of withdrawing her troops and allowing the Albanians a free choice in determining their own future.

If Italy is satisfied that her influence is now sufficiently strong to ensure an Albanian acquiescence to a close tie with Italy, then she may be inclined to follow a British suggestion and make a gesture of withdrawal. In such circumstances, the "face" of both Britain and Italy would be saved, although Albania would probably find little change from her present position.

The next question is that of Spain, and here opposition to a continued retention of foreign troops is likely to be determined. There is no doubt that Britain and France must consider the presence of these troops, the new fortifications being constructed, and the reported military pact between Italy, Germany, and Spain, as a potential menace, and they may ask not only for assurances in this respect, but also for proof that this danger is removed.

It may therefore be asked that all foreign troops be withdrawn by the middle of next month, and that no new fortifications be constructed in Spain or Spanish Morocco which are inconsistent with Spain's needs, or which could be inimical to Anglo-French interests, or which could be used by another Power against the democracies.

It may even be suggested that Spain should become a party to the existing Anglo-Italian Agreement, with a view to placing on General Franco the restrictions which apply, by treaty at least, to both Britain and Italy in the Mediterranean. The German occupation of the Czech State offers a more difficult problem. It will be remembered that neither Britain nor France has officially recognised the annexation, and this matter must be cleared up before very long. A solution may be the following of a course such as that suggested above for Albania. There would again be a "saving of face," though probably the Czechs would not appreciate it.

Finally, it is likely that there will be a joint declaration concerning the territorial claims of the dictatorships. It may be suggested that these be discussed at a conference called in the near future for this express purpose. At the same time, a warning may be given that any aggressive act in this connection will meet with stern and instant resistance.

If such a general policy were followed, the immediate danger of war would be removed. It is true that Italy and Germany would have "got away" with their latest aggressions. But at the same time the giving of concessions from all sides would achieve the necessary "saving of face" which would prevent sheer nationalism and pride from becomingas it now is-one of the possible causes of war.

Both Mr Chamberlain and M. Daladier are likely to take a firm stand on these matters. But, at the same time, they may, as suggested, leave the necessary loopholes to allow of a graceful retreat from the existing deadlock.

The crux of the whole situation rests on the reaction of Germany, and more particularly Italy, to the views which will be put forward. If they do not want war, they will be inclined to reason. But if they are determined to attain their objectives at all costs, nothing in the world will prevent a general conflict in the immediate future.

Sir,—Mr Dalley's promptness in replying to my last letter is very commendable—I am sorry for my own tardiness—but it would have been better had he read that letter more attentively.

Did I say anywhere that Marx supported private ownership? If so, I would be obliged if your correspondent would quote the words as printed. Nor have I said that I wanted a limited number of private owners. That is exactly what I am owners. That is exactly what I am opposing. That is what we have got now. That is what we want to change.

I am grateful to Mr Dalley for offering me "an amended form of capitalism." I decline it politely, but forcefully. It may suit him bet-

Is it too much to ask of men and women to-day.

It seems that our respective standpoints are now clearly enough defined, though Mr Dalley can still see no alternative for us but to be swallowed up by the two-headed monster— capitalism-cum-socialism. As he began this discussion, and I so rudely interrupted him, he has the right to the last word. I would not object, and hie foloa?

Drought and Milk

Drought and Milk

The dry conditions in the Manawatu are daily becoming more serious, and the question of maintaining the winter milk supply is causing a great deal of worry, states a Palmerston North correspondent. According to milk vendors, the position definitely suggests that a rationing system offers the only method by which the limited supplies can be made to meet household requirements. Supplementary fodder generally fed in the winter months is now being used in an endeavour to hold the milk supply, but without moisture the cows are failing to respond as it was hoped. failing to respond as it was hoped.

Dunedin cycle dealers do not fear a serious shortage of bicycles in the near future. A claim that the Whiterei House at Whangara on the East Coast represented the finest example of the modern school of Maori carving was made by Sir Apirana Ngata, M.P., who presided at the official opening ceremonies to-day. Modelled on the carved house in the Dominion Museum, the new building created a striking impression. It has taken two years to complete.

Sir Apirana Ngata said that the school of carving at Rotorua had produced its best work in this house.

The fact that dealers were in a position to cope with orders for standard models, he said, was due to their having carried good stocks. # What Would Hastings Do?

OBVIOUS NEED FOR CIVIC PLAN OF ACTION

Responsibility On Council

What would happen in Hastings if war broke out involving the British Empire, and if it was feared that an enemy transport was in the vicinity of the East Coast?

While overseas news indicates that there is a strong possibility of war, this question is one that is being expressed on every side. There was a time when New Zealand's so-called isolation was regarded as an effective first line of defence, but with the advent of long-range aeroplanes and fast battlecruisers the distance between the Dominion and the centre of world affairs has shrunk appreciably.

On inquiry, a "Daily Mail" reporter learned that the defence authorities have made complete preparations for rapid mobilisation in the event of the Dominion being menaced by a foreign force. Although it is not anticipated that such an occasion may arise in the near future, it has been indicated that in the event of hostilities occurring the Dominion would need to be prepared to defend itself.

Plans of the military authorities are confidential, and accordingly cannot be published.

Essential Industries.

Certain industries no doubt would

Although it is not possible to that a safer precaution in the event disclose these plans, it is obvious that the first step to be taken in the the first step to be taken in the highway thoroughfares. such an emergency would be general mobilisation and the placing of the country's defences on a wartime basis. So far as this province is concerned, it would involve bringing the Hawke's Bay Regiment and the Wellington-East Coast Mounted Rifles up to full strength. There would therefore be rapid recruiting and the concentrating of men in training centres.

Manifold duties would fall on the Hastings Borough Council. As the civic authority, it would be responsible for the evacuation of the more thickly populated area—"decentralising," as expressed in the military vocabulary.

Essential Industries no doubt would be classed as more essential than others, and the task would arise of determining which of these should be maintained and extended, and of drafting workers from non-essential to essential industries no doubt would be classed as more essential than others, and the task would arise of determining which of these should be maintained and extended, and of drafting workers from non-essential to essential industries. eral mobilisation and the placing of

It was suggested to the reporter that some effort should be made to inform the people as to what would be required of them in the case of national emergency. The "scare" possibility that would be coupled with such an action would be offset by the advantages which would be required to the reporter lance Association. Reviewing the entire position, the question asserts itself: "Has the Hastings Borough Council any definite plan to be set in motion in the event of an emergency arising?"

WIN FOR HASTINGS

Napier Beaten For The Gideon Cup

The annual cricket match for the Gideon Cup, played for between representative teams of Hastings and Napier primary schools, took place yesterday at Cornwall Park, Hastings. The Hastings side were victorious and won the cup from Namer pier.

The standard of cricket was good and many of the players, if they continue as they are doing, should soon be beyond juvenile standard.

The Hastings team won the toss and batted first, putting up the good score of 120 (Pierce 29, Jamieson 29, Hensman 16, Keenan 13).

Napier did not do too well at the wicket and could compile only 56 runs, the sole double figure scorer being Joseph (27 not out).

Keenan and Sullivan secured three wickets each at a cost of 10 and 12 runs respectively.

Hastings in their second innings made 64 runs for two wickets and then declared their innings closed. (Fulford 30, not out, Pierce, 29, not out).

On their second visit to the wicket Napier improved, making 75 (Banks 26, Joseph 15, Mansen and Black 10 each).

With this score on the board, Napier lost the Gideon Cup by eight wickets and 53 runs.

FLOURISHING NEW MACHINERY TO HARVEST CLUB SUBTERRANEAN CLOVER

YOUNG FARMERS AT Hawke's Bay Crop Is Of High Class But Modern Methods Are Needed

> "Daily Mail" Special Service WAIPUKURAU.

Expressing the hope that subterranean clover seed would soon be satisfactorily harvested in Hawke's Bay, Mr J. W. Palmer, Agricultural Instructor in Hawke's Bay, in an address to members of the Young Farmers' Club at Waipukurau on Wednesday night, mentioned that he intended to endeavour to obtain from Australia some of the necessary equipment for handling this crop.

At present, he said, high-grade seed had to be obtained from Australia, but he considered that Hawke's Bay could produce seed in every way equal in quality to the Australian if given the machinery to harvest it properly.

An interesting proposal was outlined by Mr Palmer, when he mentioned a plan he had formed by which every Young Farmer in the Dominion would take part in a national tree-planting day.

Stressing the value of trees and shelter-belts to the farmer, Mr Palmer added that he hoped the scheme would commence this year.

A verbal message of congratulation from the Dominion secretary of the organisation was conveyed to the meeting by Mr J. W. Palmer, of the Department of Agriculture, Hastings, who added that the secretary would shortly be visiting the district.

A vote of thanks was passed to Paimer added that he hoped the scheme would commence this year. There could be no doubt, he said, of the value of such a day. It would be more useful, from the farmers' point of view, than Arbor Day, now observed in New Zealand, as the provision of adequate shelter belts was a matter of great interest to every man on the land. A vote of thanks was passed to Mr J. D. Ormond for the assist-ance he has given the club since

SCOTTISH TRAVEL TALK GIVEN YESTERDAY

Mrs. H. W. C. Baird Speaks To The Hastings Townswomen's Guild Members

Large bowls of gaily coloured dahlias decorated the Oddfellows' Hall where the members of the Townswomen's Guild met yesterday afternoon for their main monthly meeting. Mrs. A. C. A. Hyde, president, welcomed the large gathering and said that it gave her great pleasure to welcome the many new members enrolled this year. Of the doings in the past month she wished to point out in particular the success of a flower show organised in March and to show her appreciation of the splendid work done for this by Mrs L. W. Goldfinch. Business was dealt with, the leaders of each circle giving a brief report on their circle's activities. Two songs were charmingly given by Mrs Richardson, one being the beautiful song, "Trees," and the other, "Country Folk." The accompaniments were played by Mrs shoulder spray in thistle mauve colourings.

"Although my talk is to be of Scotland, I will speak first of a much less important place, London, during the crisis," said the speaker among much laughter. In the course of her visit there she visited a beautiful old church near the Guild Hall.

"As we went in," continued the speaker, "the director came up to us and asked us if we were from a Dominion. We said 'Yes,' we were from New Zealand and then the director explained to us that this church was especially for travellers from the Dominions, and pointed out the different pews which were overhung with the flag of each separate country. The New Zealand pews were full but he found us a very good seat elsewhere." Mrs Baird said how impressed she was with the beauty of this church, all the woodwork being magnificently carved, including the pulpit, ceiling, doors, walls, and in particular the vestry. She also said how pleasant it had been to meet the verger who had such an obvious love of his it had been to meet the verger who had such an obvious love of his ohurch and pointed out its beauties with the air of 'in no part of the world will you find such a church as this of St. Lawrence'.

Scarlet Robes

The speaker said that later they attended a service there, and described the installing of a new Lord Mayor of London. The presiding lord mayor, the new lord mayor, and followers, dressed in scarlet robes proceeded from the Guild Hall to St. Lawrence's Church, where a service took place, and then back to the Guild Hall for the completion of the ceremony. A quaint custom of the procession was that each member of it carried a bunch of flowers, although at one time the bunch was of herbs to counteract the odours the lack of sanitation at the odours the lack of sanitation at the church caused.

Mrs Baird, who was fortunate in seeing this service, said that it was very simple, but very colourful, and that in the busy streets of London processions took place as calmly as

The rectory was a beautiful old place some 400 years old, said the speaker, and approached by a beautiful avenue of trees. Here she slept in the room where Tennyson had once slept and later went to see Tennyson's birthplace and crossed the bridge over his "Brook".

They travelled still north along Hadrian's Wall and crossed into Scotland through Carter Bar.

beauty at our feet."

Travelling along the Tweed they came upon Berwick-on-Tweed, a town neither wholly Scottish nor wholly English. There they found three famous bridges, the oldest having been built at the order of James VI. of Scotland, who found the bridge then in existence too disreputable to cross, and another being built in Queen Elizabeth's time.

Much Talent Displayed

The Municipal Theatre, Napier, was filled to capacity last evening, when a highly successful concert was given by all the winners at the recent competition Festival held at Napier.

Visit To Holy Isle

An amusing incident in this town said Mrs Baird, was that any proclamation had to read, "England, Scotland and Berwick-on-Tweed" once when the last name had been missed out a proclamation had to read, "England, Scotland and Berwick-on-Tweed" once when the last name had been missed out a proclamation had to be all re-read. The speaker then took her listeners to Holy Isle, on the test coast and described the old monastery and Cathedral built there by the monks on their way from the island of Iona in their spreading of Christianity.

Many places of interest were described in vivid detail by Mrs Baird, a wonderful day spent sailing the Clyde, a trip which took from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and explored all the five lochs and passed old castles, on a river which, said Mrs Baird was in her opinion the finest in the world. She told of a visit to Abbotsford, the beautiful home and half museum of Sir Walter Scott, the old glories and renewed splendour of Holyrood, of Kirriemuir, the birthplace of Barrie, Aberdeen, and St. Andrews, the old capital of Scotland.

Drawing her talk to a close, Mrs Baird quoted those lines of Sir Walter Scott, the Saird quoted those lines of Sir Walter Scott, the Saird quoted those lines of Sir Walter Scott, the Saird quoted those lines of Sir Walter Scott, the Saird quoted those lines of Sir Walter Scott, the Saird quoted those lines of Sir Walter Scott, the Saird quoted those lines of Sir Walter Scott, the Saird quoted those lines of Sir Walter Scott, the Saird quoted those lines of Sir Walter Scott, the Saird quoted those lines of Sir Walter Scott.

EGMONT RACING CLUB SHORTAGE OF JUMPERS AT EASTER

Tracks Are Blamed ARCTIC KING AT HIS BEST AT RICCARTON

Dainty Sue's Stratford Chance

(By MOTUROA.)

The task of training horses is a difficult one under the best of conditions, but the abnormalities of the present season have given trainers throughout New Zealand plenty of grey hairs. It is a tribute to their care and knowledge that the Easter fields were not depleted more than they were and racegoers owe a debt to these patient men behind the scenes who get all the abuse and little recompense for their hard

That so many of our horses have come through their racing on flint-like tracks leaves the impression that we are still breeding a hardy type of thoroughbred and that is a matter for congratulation in this age which demands speed at the sacrifice of all else.

As far as racing is concerned, the summer and autumn months have provided racing enthusiasts with sport of the highest order, and, in keeping with the hard, fast tracks, times have been close to the records in most important events. The quality of our best horses does not seem to have deteriorated and now, on the close of the flat-racing season, we can look hopefully towards a continuation of racing of a high standard next season.

But, what of the jumping season now at hand? Not for many years have there been so few hurdlers and steeple-chasers about. Not even the big prizes at Ellerslie, Riccarton and Riverton were able to tempt the jumpers out and prospects are not bright for the clubs who usher in the winter season proper.

Our supply of jumpers has not run out, but the trainers do not dare to put the hard work into their charges under the present track conditions. Schooling new recruits is courting trouble for horses and riders.

Only a good fall of rain in the next week or two can save the early winter racing.

ARCTIC KING, the little bull-dog and breeding curiosity, can win on most courses, but at Riccarton it is seldom that a bad race has been recorded against him.

During the past three seasons the Rabbi gelding has contested eight races at Riccarton, scoring three firsts and three seconds for £3240 in stakes and in all cases he has returned his admirers great prices.

His Riccarton record in that period is as follows:—

Rabbi, the sire of Arctic King, was a high-class galloper, including among his successes the Feilding Cup and the C.J.C. Metropolitan Handicap. At the Stud he was very little used the few seasons he was in New Zealand, but he sired a number of useful horses and has since done well in Western Australia.

He was by the Polymelus horse Paladin (sire of a number of high-class stayers) from Rachel, a No. 14 family maye by Killproney (a son

Paladin (sire of a number of high-class stayers) from Rachel, a No. 14 family mare by Kilbroney (a son of The Wag) from Rebekah, by the Velasquez horse Bezonian from Snowstell, a daughter of Clanranald.

There is certainly no weakness in the make up of Arctic King, for he races solidly season after season in the best of company and has won over £6000 in stakes.

Engaged in the Budge Memorial tic King a very interesting subject for there are few more closely inbred horses than this seven-year-old son of Rabbi and Snowland.

In the first place, one could not be other than impressed by the way the filly finished from a long way back to beat the brilliant Ecstatic over to beat the brilliant Ecstatic over six furlongs at Feilding. After anything but a good run the second day, she was flying into third place behind Lucullus Boy and Pretty Lass. Fiancee, who carries the colours made famous by the New Zealand Cup and Canterbury Cup winner, The Banker, is a daughter of Siegfried, all of whose stock can stay. Her dam is Betroth, by Grand Knight from Diamond Ring, by Kilboy from Hope Diamond, by Royal Artillery from Blue Fire, by Maxim. Blue Fire won the Derby and Oaks and was the dam of Cuneiform (unbeaten in New Zealand). From the same family come Cupidon, Mannlicher, Peirene, Little River, Peneus, Subterranean and other good class performers.

VASCONES, Mountain Fox and Pas de Cheval ran first, third and fourth both days at Feilding, and the trio are to meet again to-morrow at Stratford.

FOOTLOOSE, the good Taranaki three-year-old, is booked to make his debut in open company tomorrow at Stratford and this colt is sure to make things interesting under his handy weight of 7.9.

Footloose is a model of three-year old it would occasion little surprise if, later on, he developed good handicap form.

Highweights Snould Suit.

CHERRY PICKER could do no better than run fourth in the weak maiden field at Waipukurau on Monday, but it would be unwise to condemn this big gelding yet, as he is not a boy's horse and is still racing very greenly.

Cherry Picker shows speed—he made all the running with Defray—and he is bred to stick on, as he is by Chief Ruler from Cherry Pie and therefore an own brother to that good handicap horse Cherry King.

SUBMISSION, who is highly rated by the "Daily Mail's" Auckland racing correspondent. She stamped herself at Ellerslie as the best of her sex among the two-year-olds this season.

CHARADE was in prize-ring condition when she raced at Waipukurau, having not long come in from her owner's farm, and it was not surprising that she should stop to a walk after making the pace to the straight for the Waipukurau Cup to be won in course record time.

Charade, who is a six-year-old sister to the Auckland winner, Charing Cross, is by that remarkably versatile sire Lord Quex from Charlady, a smart mare by Absurd from Lady D, an imported mare who was second dam of High Comedy and Star Artist, and the dam of Chignon.

Charade is a brilliant jumper and carried 11.1 to victory from Pyrenees and Mio Lume (winner of the Brighton Hurdles) at Ellerslie last Christmas and she should be a good winner over the battens this winter.

Red Chief opened his winning account at Feilding and Harold Batten's three-year-old did the job so nicely in the Waiata Stakes that nicely in the Waiata Stakes that there is sure to be a following for him if he goes to Waverley. This full-brother to Colincamps has always been running on at the end of his races and the extra furlong and a quarter at that meeting should not be beyond him.

One to Watch.

Diamond Cutter is a greatly improved horse and his second to Notium at Feilding is well worth considering for the soming meetings. He had to make all the running in that event, but he looks more solid roow than in the early part of his

Nearing Top Form.

Old Surrey's fourth the first day at Feilding was accomplished after anything but a good run and so his improvement to finish second in the big race on Monday to Wildflower came as no surprise. This Hunting Song gelding should be seen to better advantage when the tracks become easier and there should be a good winter ahead of him.

In matching the pace of Maori Song for the middle half-mile of the Easter Handicap, Suleiman was set a formidable task and he so Charlady won a number of good races up to a mile at Ellerslie and at meetings in the Auckland district and all her progeny—Cleaner, Charade, Father's Choice and Charing Cross have been winners. place. He was still a likely win-ner 50 or 60 yards from the post, but he had spent his forces, and the distance was just too far. He is not a stayer but the writer still contends that a mile is within his effective range

The first time Royevrus strikes a soft track, he will be very hard to beat. He is in excellent trim and showed all his old pace at Ellers-

Olympus made the rest of the Huia Handicap field look moderate on Monday. Kathbella is a good measuring standard in any sprint race and he gave her pretensions short shrift short shrift.

The Gisborne trainer, A. McIntosh, produced Blonde Princess and Hunting Squire in the Nelson Handicap on Monday. The former finished seventh, well up and the other was seen doing good work on the was seen doing good work on the outside of the middle bunch. He appeals as being promising.
