Japanese Army Leaders' Views

RUSSIA CONCENTRATING TROOPS, TANKS AND 'PLANES

Battle Along A Four-Mile Front

United Press Association—Copyright. (Received August 10, 1.15 a.m.)

TOKYO, August 9.

The Tokyo correspondent of "The Times" says that Japanese army leaders declare that the situation on the Manchukuan border now resembles a full-dress war on a four-mile front, except that since July 31 the Japanese forces have been fighting purely defensively.

Tokyo reports that 14 bombers have attacked the Japanese lines at Changkufeng and Shatsaoping three times since dawn.

The Japanese are manning trenches in both areas, grimly awaiting a new Russian onslaught. Only a few hundred yards separate the forces. No Man's Land is strewn with bodies, rifles, machine-guns and derelict tanks.

Fresh Russian troops are replacing the main body in the front line at Changkufeng.

Marshal Bluecher has arrived at Novokievsk in order personally to direct operations.

The Russian forces operating are now believed to number at least one division, including artillery, tanks, and aeroplanes, compared with the original strength of four battalions.

The Japanese claim to have destroyed 70 tanks since the conflict began, and to have brought down certainly five, and possibly seven, Soviet aeroplanes by gunfire.

"The Times" correspondent adds that, despite the fact that the Japanese Government is clearly making an effort for a peaceful frontier settlement, Japanese army leaders are not hopeful of an early cessation of hostilities

They point out that since July 29 there has been no contact between the commanders on the spot. Any person approaching the Soviet line is being fired on.

A message from Yuki (Korea) states that to-day's fighting in Manchukuo far exceeded the scope Chinese Launch of a frontier incident inasmuch as

Over 100 Soviet tanks are now in position facing the Japanese.

The total Japanese casualties at Changkufeng since the outbreak are 120 killed and 330 wounded.

STORMS THE CAUSE

WELLINGTON, August 9. Storms in various parts of the Dominion resulted in a serious holdup to-day in the distribution of telegraph traffic.

The Telegraph Department advised at 12.50 p.m. that all telegraph and telephone circuits between Wellington and Christchurch were interrupted, due to a fault north of Kaikoura. It was later ascertained that the trouble was caused by a pole falling down one mile north of Kaikoura.

An endeavour was made to obtain outlets via Greymouth, but this was not possible because a tree had fallen across the lines near Reefton. Greymouth reports a violent northerly gale, with heavy rain raging in that district.

The serious interruption to telegraph services caused by yesterday's gale throughout the Dominion has necessitated a curtailment of the reports of the Grand National race meeting at Christchurch yesterday in this province's issue of the in this morning's issue of the "Daily Mail."

GALE-FORCE WINDS SWEEP HAWKE'S BAY

Communications Interrupted And Many Power Lines Broken

After the short spell of fine weather, Hawke's Bay again experienced stormy conditions yesterday. Throughout the day, high winds, often approaching gale force, were experienced in most districts, and reports last night indicated that they had done considerable damage.

It was not possible last night to ascertain the exact extent of the damage, but it is believed to be very extensive. Power lines are down in many cases, telegraph and telephone communication is interrupted. It will be some time before repairs can be carried out.

Hastings felt the full force of the gale, but no serious damage has been reported. The wind was not unusually

Last night heavy rain commenced to fall, but there was insufficient to cause flooding.

In the Hastings area, the most made working dangerous at night, serious damage was at Fernhill, and with the gale increasing in where a break-down resulted in a large part of the district's power supply being cut off for more than an hour.

It was found that blue gum trees had blown across the line, as the result of the strong winds. The area affected covered part of Havelock North, Middle Road, Pukahu, Paki, Paki, Te Aute, Maraekakaho, Okawa and other country centres.

Considerable trouble was experienced in locating the fault and it was only by testing each section separately that this was done.

Supply was then restored to all sections with the exception of the Okawa line. It was necessary to call out the Board's linesman, who had to clear away the trees and effect repairs.

Unenviable Task.

Clearing the line was an unenviable job in the cold, wet and windy conditions, said the chief engineer of the Hawke's Bay Power Board (Mr L. Benjamin) last night. The men deserved great credit for their work in restoring the power under adverse conditions.

Mr Benjamin pointed out that this trouble again illustrates the danger and inconvenience to the public caused by trees overhanging the power lines.

DRAMATIC ESPIONAGE STORY

> Fine Portrayals In Thrilling Film

A film likely to prove agreeable to all tastes is now showing at the State Theatre, Napier. This is "Mademoiselle Docteur," an exciting drama which is based on the real-tife adventures of a woman spy. There will be a matinee at 2.15 to-

In the title role is Dita Parlo, a glamorous star new to the British screen, who gives a performance worthy of the high reputation she holds on the Continent. Opposite her are Erich von Stroheim, renowned a few years ago as "the man you love to hate," and John Loder, the popular British actor.

The three stars are given every opportunity, in a colourful, thrilling story which shows how Anne Marie Lesser becomes an espionage agent to avenge the death of her fiance. In Salonika she meets and is immediately attracted to Lieutenant Peter Carr, of the British Intelligence Service. The pair fall in love and Anne Marie finds that she can be loved a carry on with her spying no longer carry on with her spying

The principal dramatic roles beong to Joe Morrison, Paul Kelly, Rosalind Keith and William Fraw ley, but the picture acquires balance through the work of Charles (Chic) Sale and of three juvenile stars, Baby Le Roy, David Holt and Gloria Ann White.

"It's a Great Life" is the story of two young men-Morrison and Paul Kelly-who enroll in a forest camp, become warm friends and fall in love with the same girl, Rosalind

"Toll of the road," the second big feature, is a skilful blend of romance and thrills. The story tells of a young woman who drives her auto with the ac elerator against the floor-boards. When the girl, Frances Drake, is unimpressed by her fourth citation for speeding, Randolph Scott, police lieutenant, undertakes to change her point of view. Scott and Miss Drake are drawn closer daily until an incident tears them apart with dramatic suddenness. The girl's brother, played by Tom The girr's brother, played by Tom Brown, smashes his auto into a school bus, killing a child, while Frances is seated beside him. She assumes blame for the accident be-cause of his intoxicated condition, and is charged with manslaughter. She is freed only after a second smash-up brings her brother's death.

BIG DOUBLE FEATURE PROGRAMME

'Dance, Charlie, Dance' and "Prairie Thunder"

Comedian Stuart Erwin, wiseeracking Glenda Farrell, Allen Jenkins, and tall and lovely Jean Muir head the fine cast of the Warner Bros. farce "Dance, Charlie, Dance," which will screen at the Gaiety Theatre, Napier, to-day as the first eature on the programme.

The story concerns a boob from the country (Stuart Erwin) who is induced by a couple of shady Broad way theatrical producers to put his 20,000 dollars inheritance into a show they want to back. The comhow they want to back. The com-lications deal with how they tried to trick the chump—and how, in the end, he gave them the taking-down of their lives.

Worked in with the comedy are a group of musical numbers with many elaborate settings. The pre-sence of Collette Lyons and Olive Olson, newcomers to the screen, and a well trained chorus all combine to make the picture not only a delight-ful laugh film but a musical of the "Prairie Thunder," an exciting elodrama of the days when hostile Indians tried to prevent the white man from linking coast and coast with his railroads and telegraph lines, will be also shown, with the handsome, hard-riding Dick Foran as its hero.

He plays the part of a cavalryman whose assignment is to keep the rails and the wires intact and aid the progress of civilisation across the wild places.

YOUR CHILDREN'S EDUCATION

Encourage Them to Ask Questions

One way in which you may play a part in the education of your chil-Theodore Roosevelt without noticing the part that this principle played in the education of his family. Mr Roosevelt says that it was the common practice of his father to bring noted men and women, visitors from foreign countries, to their home for meals. The children were encouraged to ask questions and these were afterward followed up by serious investigation.

In contrast is the story of the manufacturer in a western city whose son was soon to be graduated from high school. This boy had often helped his father in the business and knew quite a bit about the work. He shocked his father by informing him that he would not follow that vocation for his life work. The father argued to no avail, reminding the boy that the grandfather had had the business before him and that he was depending upon the boy to follow him. When the man took his problem to a friend who was a vocational guidance counsellor, the friend remarked that it was entirely the father's In contrast is the story of the ed that it was entirely the father's boiled rice.

Neck of a guest in the home on numerous occasions and that to the best of his knowledge, he had never been there when the subject of conversation at the table had not been "What went wrong at the mill to-day?"

The counsellor pointed out to the father that his bright boy had had to listen to this talk for years, and that he would be subnormal if he had not arrived at the conclusion he had. The father had made the mistake that hundreds of us make—talking about the right thing in the wrong place.

This is one more of the complaints that they bring against their Jewish neighbours. The reasoning is that Arabs who sold land to Jews had enough money to buy six, seven and in some cases a dozen wives. This left the landless Arabs with only about one woman to each two men. The price of a wife has mounted from 150 dollars to 500 dollars. Some bring as much as 1250 dollars.

There are too many of us who suffer from the corset jitters. We put on our corset in the morning, ride up, however much you bend. Don't try to wear a foundation that is too small, because it will certainly force the poor unwanted flesh that has nowhere else to go into unsightly bulges at the thighs, and, in the case of a girdle, a spare tyre will appear. The time to make sure any bones are comfortably situated is when you're choosing your corset. The bones at the waist are usually the most troublesome, so be sure to check up on these. Shoulder straps should be exactly the right length and should neither slip nor cut into the flesh. And ith, Alison Douglas, Ruth Tocker, M. Hole, J. La Roche, N. Sinclair,

It seems a strange fact that curried dishes originated in India where the climate is so warm, but they have become much favoured on the winter menu in European countries.

Two main reasons suggest themselves to explain this change. Firstly, curried dishes are enjoyed much more when they supply additional warmth on cold days, and secondly, cold meat is eaten more frequently in the summer, but the remains of joints can be made appetising in the winter time by making them into a curry.

Once again curry provides variety on the menu, curried

OXFORD GROUP HOUSE PARTY

Interesting Description

The monthly meeting of the Ladies' Guild of the Hastings Methodist Church was well attended, when over 40 gathered in the classroom. Mrs C. H. Olds presided, and conducted devotions, and also welcomed Mrs Maclean, wife of MRS HAROLD BEAMISH Archdeacon Maclean, who was the speaker for the afternoon and the recipient of a lovely shoulder spray of spring flowers.

Mrs Maclean came to tell those present about the house party she and Archdeacon Maclean attended in connection with the Oxford Group The Sherenden Women's Division of the Farmers' Union held their August meeting at Mrs G. Mason's home, Crownthorpe, on Thursday afternoon. Despite the very wet day there was a good attendance of members. Mrs H. Beamish presided movement while on their recent visit to England.

The house party, which was an international one, said Mrs Maclean, was held at Oxford, in the University buildings. The college hall served as a dining-room, and meetngs were held in the lecture rooms. ted by members were handed in for St. Mary's Home, and a patchwork quilt which Mrs Mason had made is to be sent to the Children's Home. There were present visitors from all parts of the world, and Mrs Mac-lean said it was most interesting to meet the men and women of the different nationalities. The party Mrs Ensor was prevented by the weather from attending the meeting and giving her report as delegate to the annual conference, so this will be given next month. lasted three weeks, and they stayed the whole time, though at first they only booked for the first four days. people FEAR the I Because they do NOT Understand it

YOU FEAR WHAT YOU DO NOT UNDERSTAND! Medical opinion expresses the view that fear of the 'Flu creates as much havoc as the 'Flu itself. It is a scientific fact that fear lays you open to a 'Flu attack and renders it more serious. Telling someone not to fear does not remove the fear. Once you understand what the 'Flu is you will see your fear is half illusion. The general conditions of Influenza are aches, pains, feverishness, weakness, sniffling and sneezing accompanied with sore throat. These symptoms yield quickly to the simple process of promoting action to the skin. 'ASPRO' promotes free skin action by opening the pores and allowing the impurities to be eliminated from the system. After ingestion in the system 'ASPRO' is an anti-pyretic or a fever reducer. Take 3 'ASPRO' tablets at the first signs of a Cold or 'Flu attack and 2 tablets every 3 hours until symptoms disappear - a hot stimulating drink to be taken with the last dose when going to bed—some people use lemon for the hot drink, some prefer whisky, others mix the two. Don't confuse 'ASPRO' with other tablets for the treatment of Influenza. Demand 'ASPRO' and avoid substitutes.

In the Press

Sir,-Those of your readers who this week the insteading trend prosperity and commercial broad-the Press reports. I will deal with prosperity and commercial broad-casting. Our grandfathers had none Thursday evening's Budget debate Thursday evening's Budget debate of these wonderful inventions in as an example. The speakers were their early days, and so to say that Mr Dickie, Mr Schramm, the Minister of Labour and Mr J. A. Lee. Friday's issue of the "Daily Mail" published a mutilated account of Mr Armstrong's speech, but did not hear the man and the man and the modern things and it will be readily seen the man and revived memories of the Eighteenth Royal Irish Regiment, which was first in Wanganui in 1863. The button was in restrenge ment, which was in restrenge ment, which was first in Wanganui in 1863. The button was in restrenge ment, which was first in Wanganui in 1863. Friday's issue of the "Daily Mail" To prove my argument I will explain some of the wonderful modern things and it will be readily seen that the old order of things has been eclipsed.

Mr Schramm exposed some of the reprehensible methods used by organisers of the National Party to discredit the present Government and Mr Lee opened on similar lines, and the only inference one can draw them the suppression of these them. from the suppression of these speeches is that the interests of the National Party demand that no publicity be given to the charges made. The leader in Friday's issue concluded with this sentence: "The future of youth is influenced by our every action to-day. Let us never forget that." The Press and others would be well advised to remember this — I am etc. this.—I am, etc., RADIO.

IA careful perusal of the "Daily Mail" will provide an adequate answer to the correspondent's allegation of bias. The "Daily Mail" takes pride in the fact that it has been congratulated on its political fairness by members of both the Government, however, is intending to apply it to depressions, and it must be admitted that this is a very difficult and inernment and the Opposition.—Ed.]

Our radio entertainment is a service run and controlled by the Gov ernment for the benefit of the people By this service we get everyday weather reports, music (censored by the Government) and news from the Prime Minister's Department (also censored). Then we get debates from Parliament. These, I think, are the original—uncensored and unspoiled.

Electric fences were almost unheard of a few years ago. Their chief attraction is that they require only one wire, and unlike political fences they cannot be sat on for long. The latter, by the way, seems to be almost out of use now, and one wonders if the new have been substituted for the old.

Discovery Made In Wanganui

A small boy took a brass button to the Alexander Museum, Wanga markably good condition, and, apart from slight discolouration, it was unmarked.

Within a circle of clover leaves here was a crown and the harp of trin. Beneath this design there was "18," the number of the regiment. On the back, quite clearly marked, appeared "P. Tait and Co., Limerick," the name and address of the makers.

Mr J. H. Burnett, of the museum, staff, said that the button was from a tunic and that it was discovered when the foundations for the alterations to the Wanganui' Jockey Club's buildings at the racecourse were being constructed.

Many of these buttons have been unearthed in and about Wanganui, but the richest hunting ground was the hill behind the museum itself. This area was once the military parade ground, and the site of the Rut and stockade.

The button found on the race-course was probably the best specithe modern mind. Therefore if a man gets £3 10/- a week and can live comfortably on it and save 2/6 a week he is not prosperous; but if his wages are raised to £6 10/- a week and to live he spends it all plus 2/6 of next week's wages, then year.

Now, however, thanks to modern advancement, one can by the use of commercial broadcasting, tell a chap, per the "Man in the Street" session, exactly what one thinks, and the other man can't even utter one rude word of protest—which reminds me that there is a man in Whangarei, and if I could have the use of 2ZB some Sunday night for half an hour, I'd tell him something which he would not let me say last time we met. — I am, etc.,

There was a still further increase in the attendance at the fortnightly meeting of the Napier Debating Society held on Monday night in the Cafeteria Tea Rooms, Hastings Street.

The subject for discussion was "That the U.S.S.R. under its present regime is a force for world peace."

Mr H. W. Youren, opening for the affirmative maintained that Russia's object was solely to preserve the economic machine that she had built up. World revolution was not now part of the Soviet programme and her military machine was designed for defence only.

Supporting him, Mr F. Thorp gave various instances in Central Europe and quoted Abyssinia to show that Russia had no desire to venture beyond her own borders.

Headmaster Concerned at Effect on the Schooling

The prevalence of measles is again causing concern in Hastings. Recently, attendances at schools suffered considerably because of an epidemic of the disease, but it was believed to have passed.

The headmaster of the Mahora School (Mr E. Bissell) said, however, that it appeared that it was becoming worse. He had a large number of children away from school, and every day he was receiving rose. and every day he was receiving mes-sages saying that more of his pupils had contracted it.

He expected to have his roll number temporarily decreased by at least 100 before the epidemic passed.

At present, it was impossible to tell exactly how many children were actually down with the measles, Mr Bissell said. The regulations provided that all those who were in contact with actual cases had to be issued. tact with actual cases had to be iso-lated unless they had already had the disease themselves.
Children who actually had the measles, could not return to school for at least a fortnight after the first signs were noticed.

Other Schools Affected. Other schools in the Hawke's Bay district have been affected. Mr Bis-sell said yesterday that he had been fortunate as he had been able to get all his examinations over before the attendances were affected. the efforts of all speakers and control plimented the winning side on the logical presentation of the facts and logical presentation of the facts and people with high ideals and high people with high philosophy always just failing to achieve their destiny by peaceful democratic methods, and being forced by circumstances to achieve it by other means.

Continuing, the speaker traced the steps by which Bismarck achieved German unity in 1871, the development of the Prussian spirit the change from German national ism to German imperialism, and the steps which led up to the clash of world imperialistic interests and the World War of 1914.

The setting up of the Weimar Republic and the efforts of the German people to settle their problems in a democratic way, their disilusionment with the peace treaty, their growing belief that concessions could be gained only by force, the natural rise of the Nazi Party and Hitler to power, and the return of Germany to the policy of brute force were traced in detail.

The speaker concluded by an outline of Germany's racial policy—the policy of including all the Germans in Europe into the one Reich and the expansion policy which is summed up in the term "Drang nach Osten" (The Drive to the East).

AN INTOLERABLE SITUATION

has arisen as a result of the violent and abusive attack upon certain individuals, including members of Parliament, launched on Sunday evening by the Director of Commercial Broadcasting from the Wellington commercial radio station.

liars," "the gang who employ you," by an employee of the State through the medium of a public broadcasting system should not be tolerated for one instant. If the air is to be made free for abusive terms of this nature to an official with a grievance-imaginary or real-then the people of this country should be adequately warned so that they might take to observe a meticulous suppression of his emotions in his taking rather an extraordinary attitude on the question. If the terms used had been applied to Mr Savage or his supporters, possibly the position would have been very different. But we are assured by the Prime Minister that Mr Scrimgeour is a personal friend and that he intends to retain his services if possible, and by Mr A. S. Richards (Government member for Roskill) that Mr Scrimgeour "has for years been educating the public to the 'viciousness' of the present system which the Opposition was seeking to perpetuate."

What is the public to take out of this? Is this not a frank admission that there is a political flavour in the whole business? If Mr Scrimgeour has been "educating the public," then the Government should be told quite frankly that we do not want a Dr. Goebbels—a sort of Nazi Minister of Propaganda—in this country.

The radio services are a public utility, owned by the community, and not by any political party, and they must be free of the slightest suspicion of misuse for political purposes.

been ventilated as a private citizen through the normal channels open to a private citizen, no objection could have been raised. But to usurp a national service for the purpose calls for the strongest possible condemnation.

tives at the Minister in charge of the service. From the public point of view the only matter of interest arising is the system which would make it possible for the Director of Commercial Broadcasting to make an obviously uncensored speech over the air. It may be asked if this is an isolated case, or if, as a general practice, such speeches have not been subjected to the usual supervision. Complaints have been made of veiled political propaganda over the air, a matter of which the public by now should be competent judges.

It is emphasised that this matter should be viewed from the point of view of the principle involved. Mr Scrimgeour had courses of action open to him, in common with every other citizen of this country, and his choice of the national radio service in their stead must be condemned.

ter, the solution seems obvious. It is nonsense to say that any man is irreplaceable. If the people of this country are to be satisfied that their rights and their national services are to be safeguarded, and that principles count more than men, then the Government must take the clear course of action which is indicated.

RADIO SPEECH ATTACKED

Mr. Scrimgeour's Sunday Broadcast

Debate In House

Will Resignation Be Accepted?

By Telegraph-Press Association. PARLT. BLDGS., August 9.

When the House of Representatives met at 2.30 p.m. the Rt. Hon. G. W. Forbes (Nat., Hurunui) moved an adjournment of the House for discussion of a matter of urgent public importance, namely, the misuse and abuse of the National Broadcasting Service on Sunday evening last by the Controller of Commercial Broadcasting (Mr C. G. Scrimgeour).

The Speaker (the Hon. W. E. Barnard) stated that he had been consulted on Mr Forbes's motion before the commencement of the sitting, and as the motion appeared to comply with the Standing Orders, he would allow it, in accordance with the standing practice of the House.

Mr Forbes, moving the motion in the absence of the Leader of the Opposition (the Hon. Adam Hamilton), who has not yet returned from his southern visit, said he regretted the necessity for it. The attitude of the Opposition in connection with the matter, he said, was in no sense an attitude of personal attack, and as far as he was concerned he had no personal feelings on the question with the Government's friends perhaps thought they were assisting it when they put their political views over the control with the control was a single political views over the control was a single po tion, but the Opposition did feel that the Controller of Commercial Broadcasting had been guilty of a breach of the privileges which he enjoyed.

Mr Forbes went on to state that In the past they had often listened to attacks in the House on the heads of different Government departments, and in these cases it was customary that the Minister in charge of the department should defend them. This duty had always been the concern of the Minister, and the member of the Public Service was not at liberty to go to the public Press or use other means unless he had the approval of his Minister.

He stressed the necessity for public servants being strictly imin the past they had often listened to attacks in the House on the heads of different Government departments, and in these cases it was customary that the Minister in the heads of departments whose hands were tied and whose tongues were tied as far as defending themselves was concerned, but at last they had come to someone who would not stand it.

Mr Savage added that one of his best friends was implicated in the public servants being strictly impublic servants being strictly impublicated in the discussion would be service that tacks that had stated that whose t

Mr Kyle added that he strongly objected to the broadcast for many objected to the broadcast for many objected to the least of these was the damaging effect upon children of the language used. He added used during Sunday night's broad-cast should be put over the air.

The commercial radio service, said
Mr Forbes, was a new one, and it

A CHARGE OF UNSEEMLY LANGUAGE

Mr Forbes continued to quote passages of Mr Scrimgeour's speech and expressed concern that an officer of a Government service should use that class of language over the air. He would have had no objection, said Mr Forbes, if Mr Scrimgeour's resignation was in the hands of the acting-ment. If anyone doubted it—, "No one is doubting it," said Mr polson (Nat., Stratford).

The Rev. C. L. Carr (Govt., Timaru), said the Controller of Commercial Broadcasting had two alternatives and had to make a choice. Because he had been attacked he had either to defend himself or be defended.

Mr Carr referred to the remarks of one member of the Opposition as malicious malignment, but withdrew the words when the Speaker intervened.

The language used on Sunday night, said Mr Carr, was good old-fashioned Anglo-Saxon.

A very full report giving a survey of the sewerage and drainage problems of Hastings was presented to a meeting of the Hastings Borough Council last night by the Borough Engineer (Mr C. E. Evans).

Commenting on the report, the Mayor (Mr G. A. Maddison) said that so far the borough had not suffered any material damage, which was rather surprising when it was considered that the rainfall for the first five months of the year had amounted to about four feet. This was a condition over which the borough had no control, but it was the duty of the council to do what it could to relieve the position.

Mr Maddison said that he had received plenty of complaints concerning the drainage facilities of the borough, but in nearly all cases they were from landowners whose properties were below the level of the borough. Hastings was a flat town, and it was suffering for it.

Improvements Suggested.

"In addition to the water chan-nels in Karamu Road, there is also a line of storm-water pipes on the east side, commencing at Collinge Road, where they are 15-inch diameter and gradually reducing in size to six-inch diameter at Victoria Street, where they finish," said Mr Evans.

"Calculations of rainfall over the area give a total quantity of 7400 gallons a minute to be dealt with, of which the present pipes would take 950 gallons a minute, leaving 6300 gallons a minute to be provided for and a 30-inch diameter pipe line. for, and a 30-inch diameter pipe-line would be required to take this quan-

RESTRICTION ON TURNING CARS

COUNCIL DECIDES

Flow Of Traffic Is Interrupted

The suggestion of Cr. G. W. Mc-Cormick that motor cars should be prohibited from turning in Heretaunga Street, Hastings, between the Hastings Street and Nelson Street, was favourably received at a meeting of the council last night. Councillors agreed that it was be-coming necessary to make some restriction on traffic in Heretaunga

"I have been trying to find the reason for the frequent hold-ups of traffic in the main street," said Cr. McCormick, introducing a motion to restrict the turning of cars. "It seems that some motorists fail to make the turn in one sweet and make the turn in one sweep, and then traffic is delayed while they should be included in the restriction.

The delay was often very bad, especially when the streets were busy, said Cr. A. D. Ross. People came into town and drove up and down the street speing the sights. weather conditions.

A Comparison.

Mr Mann also compared the two towns as follows:

Number of vehicles registered in whole of Gisborne postal district 5678, injured persons 60, rate per 1000 vehicles 10.5. The corresponding figures are for Hastings Post Office, 5178, 42, 8.1, and for the whole of New Zealand 280,327, 5334, 19.

Defendant was a driver of some 30 years' experience, and had never had an accident to his being dazzled by the glare from the headlights of an approaching at a speed dangerous to traffic.

Menzies attributed the accident to his being dazzled by the glare from the headlights of an approaching at a speed dangerous to traffic.

The police submitted that investigation had proved the approaching at a speed dangerous to traffic.

The council agreed to an amendment in the by-law to prohibit turning in the case of the turning. There was an added difficulty. Some people were in the habit of driving along Heretaunga Street at 5 miles an hour. They did not realise that they were breaking a law. They were driving at a speed dangerous to traffic.

Patangata County Council Comes Into Line With National Scheme

WAIPUKURAU.

The proposed allocation of the cost of the Centennial celebrations was approved by the Patangata County Council at its monthly meeting held yesterday. The county's share of about £125 seemed very reasonable, said the chairman (Mr C. Pattison). In reply to a question from Cr. C. R. Edgecombe as to whether the county would receive any benefit from the expenditure, he remarked that directly they might not, but that the occasion was a national celebration.

"If we follow Australia's lead we property by the overflow from a company of the damped and the country would receive any benefit as well-attended dance held in the De Hawke's Bay as a young man. Many of those present at a Wellington picture theatre were surprised and then amused at the behaviour of women in one part of the theatre. They appeared to stand up in rows, one after the other, and then sit down again with something of the same precision. The cause of this was the appearance of a rat, which came from the side of the theatre by the proscenium and made its way up one of the aisles toward the back of the theatre. As the in-nocent rat advanced in the semigloom, he caused a certain amount of consternation.

tractor. On the Hills.

Another point open to dispute is whether a horse is a better worker on the hills than the tractor. The writer has seen a tractor working on the side of a steep hill where it would be almost impossible for a horse to stand, but on the other hand he has also seen horses working where it would be impossible for a tractor to go.

Then again one will hear that a tractor is too dangerous to use in steep places because it is liable to tip over. Cannot the same be said of the horse? It has been known where horse and implements have turned over on a steep siding. so it seems that in this respect points are even also.

Financial Aspects.

When we come to the financial aspect, it is the writer's opinion that the horse shows a slight advantage, especially if we take the price of norses as indicated at the recent

The average price of tractors is in the vicinity of £200, and taking the price of a team of, say six horses, at the present ruling rates, each horse would average out at approximately £40, making a total of £240.

Then take the difference between prices for tractor implements, and those used for horses. Prices are those used for horses. Prices are in favour of horse drawn implements, by quite a big margin. The price of the upkeep of each may balance the argument, but taking everything into consideration, the horses work out cheapest.

The continuous wet weather which has been experienced re-cently brings out another point in cently brings out another point in favour of the horse, and that is, can one use a tractor in paddocks which are in a very wet and soft state? The answer is definitely, no, as the tractor would cut the paddock up too much. Also, on ground which has been ploughed, the trouble would not be the cutting up but the danger of packing the soil down too hard, making it impossible for air to get at the roots of the crop.

This is where the horse has the advantage. It can go reasonably well either in soft or hard going, and will not tend to cut up, or pack the ground.

Taking everything into consideration, the honours are about even.

Some great horses have won the Grand National Steeplechase, but Fortune has turned the table on Fortune has turned the table on others on divers occasions and their tales of hard luck make just as interesting reading as the history of some of the great triumphs.

A letter was received from the New Zealand Racing Conference, forwarding a list advising the licences granted to various persons in the Hawke's Bay metropolitan district for the year 1938-39.

Lowry.

The date and programme for the annual parade to be held at Hastings were left in the hands of the president and secretary to finalise.

Permission was granted to the Hastings West School to hold classes in the main stand whilst their build.

The Hawke's Bay Jockey Club raced on seven days and for the 49 contests, the aggregate stakes were £7175 and the aggregate betting £82,016. This gives an average stake for races of all kinds of £146, and a mean pool of £1674, which are the main stand whilst their buildings are in the course of repair.

It was resolved to call tenders for privileges for the 1938-39 season, to close with the secretary on Wednesday Apparet 21 and a mean pool of £1674, which are considerably in excess of the mean for the district.

Napier's Effort.

The Napier Park Racing Club flew its flags on five days and arranged 35 races, for which the prizes totalled £4036 and the betting, £39,284/10/. The average stake was £115 and the investments a race, £1122. The Poverty Bay Turf Club ran 42 races on six days, averaging £110 in stakes and £1094 in betting, the respective totals being £4640 and £45,947. and £45.947.

In the Grand National Steeples in 1902 Pipi chased home that good Auckland horse Haydn.

Pipi lined up again in 1903 only to find the Hawke's Bay jumper Awahuri, raced by Mr G. P. Donnelly, just too good and his third consecutive second came when Slow Tom robbed him of the honour.

Lining up for his fourth Grand National in 1905 Pipi t5560; Poverty Bay Hunt Club, stakes £440 and investments £5356 10/-; and the Tolaga Bay Jockey Club, £499/10/- and £4308.

Good Showing Made.

Excluding these purely sporting ventures, the four other racing bodies together made a very good showing on the financial side and the progress will be reflected during the part three years in increased next three years in increased

Under the Rules of Racing, clubs are required, unless specially ex-empted, to give in stakes in any one vear a sum not less than 90 per cent. of the net totalisator return for the preceding three years.
