SERIOUS APPREHENSION FELT IN GREAT BRITAIN

Grave Significance Of Manoeuvres

United Press Association-Copyright. (Received August 15, 10.30 p.m.)

LONDON, August 15.

With the calling up of 750,000 reservists, while soldiers who have completed two years' service have been informed that their discharge is postponed indefinitely, Germany (according to an estimate of the Berlin correspondent of the British United Press) will have more than a million men in the manoeuvres.

The Berlin correspondent of the London "Daily Telegraph" says that the manoeuvres will last ten weeks, during which time the areas affected will be virtually under martial law.

The belief is growing in Bavaria that the preparations are preliminary to a general mobilis-

Owing to the far-reaching military measures, all ex-Army officers under the age of 65 have been ordered to report to the Army for registration. All men under the age of 65 have been forbidden to leave Germany.

All able-bodied ex-servicemen who served as technicians in the Air Force have been enlisted as reservists regardless of age. Railway services and excursions have been curtailed in many parts of Germany, and railwaymen's holidays have been Suburban motor buses have been reduced and the drivers requisitioned for the Army. Owners of lorries and cars have been ordered to keep their machines in good running order.

One thousand young women have been ordered to register at labour offices, where they were warned to hold themselves ready for duty if

Several hundred Munich doctors and nurses have been ordered to report to the military.

The London "News Chronicle" says that the real feeling in British official circles is one of serious apprehension. It is considered that the German mobilisation is out of all proportion if she merely wished to attempt an intimidation of London, Paris, and Prague. The Rome correspondent of the "News Chronicle" says that the Italian newspaper "Populo d'Italia" states that preparations have been completed for the immediate closing of Alpine passes in the event of an emergency. The Prague correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph," after a visit to the frontier, says that there are no signs of mobilisation, but every bridge has been newly mined for half the width of the roadway and rendered impassable.

Tank traps and land mines have been prepared at strategic points.

Czechoslovakia is clearly taking every precaution against a surprise.

The Warsaw correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph" says that 500 German workers are reported to have been arrested in German Upper Silesia after a clash with the Gestapo following the distribution of anti-Nazi leaflets.

The leaflets denounced the new fortification activities occurring there, and hardships imposed on the local population, peasant and worker alike, by forced labour in warlike conditions. One worker is reported to have been killed. Most of those arrested are already in German concentration camps and prisons on charges of sabotage.

Thousands of people listening to the broadcast of a police memorial service in Central Park were startled to hear shots and screams when the programme was broken off and a voice shouted into the microphone: "My God, get an ambulance quick!

Charles Sanfillipi, infuriated by two summonses for traffic offences, had armed himself with two shotguns, filled his pockets with cartridges, and opened fire during the reading of the list of honoured police dead.

He wounded three police and three civilians before being killed by volleys from police revolvers. It was discovered that he was wearing metal plates on breast and back. Hundreds were endangered during the wild battle which lasted eight minutes. Writhing on the ground, the dying man muttered: "I intended firing until I had killed as many police as I could,

Protest By Russia Rejected

United Press Association-Copyright. (Received August 15, 10 p.m.). LONDON, August 15.

The Moscow correspondent of the London "Daily Telegraph" says that M. Litvinov summoned Mr Shege mitsu, Japanese Ambassador at Moscow, and protested against a viola tion of the Changkufeng sector by the Japanese last Saturday, the 'de tails of which have not been dis-

Mr Shigemitsu rejected the protest, disclaiming knowledge of the incident. On the contrary, his infor-mation was that the frontier was quiet, and he expressed astonish ment that the incident could have occurred on the same day as the Russian and Japanese representatives had agreed on the line under the truce.

Russian Casualties

An official communique from Mos cow estimates that the Soviet casu alties during the twelve days fighting on the Manchukuo border were 236 killed and 611 wounded.

A Tokyo message says that in ful-filment of Friday's agreement, the Russian and Japanese troops have withdrawn a distance of 90 yards from Changkufeng Hill.

The armistice agreement was completed by the signature of maps specifying the positions respectively held when hostilities ceased. The Japanese handed over to the Soviet representatives 40 Soviet corpses from the battlefields of July 31.

Activities Of Radical Groups In U.S.A.: Film Stars Involved?

United Press Association-Copyright. (Received August 15, 5.5 p.m.)

WASHINGTON, August 14.

"Sixty per cent. of labour unrest and violence on the Pacific Coast is due to Harry Bridges," said Edward Sullivan, the American House of Representatives Inquiry's ace investigator, in a report filed to-night.

Sullivan alleged that Bridges's subversive activities were encouraged by high Federal officials.

"Bridges received advice from Labour Department officials, while patriotic citizens were endeavouring to have the Australian deported," said the witness. "I can name the day when an immigration officer read Bridges a confidential letter -instructions on his future behaviour-written by an outstanding Labour Department official.

"It is also possible to obtain witnesses who know of cases of attempted murder and kidnapping carried out by those surrounding Bridges. Many men who have opposed Bridges's policies are among those missing. They were called out from their hotels at midnight and have not been seen since,'

Unbridled Communistic activities were alleged to be directed from within the movie industry.

"The movie moguls desire to keep the matter from the

The fact that the public continues to place Morris Eight first in the light-car field for the fourth successive year is unanswerable proof that Morris gives extra value too important to be overlooked.

Safety features like Lockheed hydraulic brakes, safety glass in every window, no-sway springing and light accurate steering, are certainly important - more so now than ever before.

And comfort being one of the first factors in motoring, it is natural that the extra roominess of the Morris Eight, big low-pressure tyres, the easy driving position and effortless control should continue to win owners' enthusiasm. On sheer performance ability — the ability to go far and fast and skim over the rough going like a bird - this "pocket dreadnought" wins the admiration of owners and the wholesome respect of other road-users.

who leaped to popular favour through her work in "Peter Ibbetson" and other films.

Set in the little town of Mill Stream, deep in the Ozark country, the picture tells of the difficulties of Virginia as an underprivileged mountain girl whose buoyant spirits seem to keep her in difficulties. She is constantly the centre of disturbance in schools, in spite of her efforts to behave. Outside, among the villagers, she is considered a good-for-nothing.

Behind the tale of Virginia's life runs a love story with Leif Erikson, publisher of the "Mill Stream" through the first time.

Hilarious Story In "For Valour"

"For Valour," which will open to-morrow at the Cosy Theatre, Hast-ings, embraces a variety of scenes, passing from the Boer War in 1899 to a 1937 milk bar on the Brighton front, and the interior of one of His Majesty's prisons.
The story tells of Doubleday (Tom Walls), an ex-convict, who saves the life of Major Hilary Pyke (Ralph Lynn) in the South African war, but instead of being honoured, he is sent back to prison. The Great War starts, and the Major, touring the prisons for suitable recenits again prisons for suitable recruits, again meets the man who saved his life meets the man who saved his life years before. As a reward, the Major brings up the convict's son, Charlie, with his own grandson, Willie, who is so influenced by his childhood companion that he, on growing up, enters the "trade," and—owing to a trifling error—enters prison for a quiet sojourn. The story ends after indescribably hilarious adventures, on the crest of a wave of virtures. tures, on the crest of a wave of virtue, with Willie finally becoming a remote districts. They realised the necessity of the unlimited scope and sympathetic material assistance to these deserving cases. The offer of the Girls' Flock House to the W.D.F.U. as a rest home for women during convalescence was discussed and also the Fairbridge scheme of training the orphans at Home to eventually come out to New Zealand as immigrants. These subjects and many others were discussed by Mrs Wickham and listened to with absorbing interest by all present. At the conclusion of her speech, the Onga Onga president thanked Mrs Mrs Mrs Wickham for her inspiring address, which was much appreciated. A very dainty afternoon tea was then dispensed by the hostesses and conversation became general and animated.

Young shoulders will always prevent your growing old before your time—that is why shoulder beauty is so important.

Mrs F. C. Daniels welcomed the visitors and said how very proud shoulders can give rise to many chest complaints.

The first thing to do is to stand quite still, allowing the arms to hang loosely at the sides. Then raise the right shoulder towards the right shoulder towards the right fern. After the Creed had been repeated by all members, Mrs Honeybun spoke on the aims and objects of the division, which had such farreaching humanitarian activities.

Mrs Joll explained the origin and history of the Creed. This was first the care that a weak back and shoulders can give rise to many chest complaints.

Wery thin shoulders will always detract from your attractiveness, as well as adding years to your age. Very often, the shoulders are so sharp, thin, and angular that even the right shoulder towards the right collarbone is prominently displayed. When this is the case there is not the slightest need to be discouraged, as the following treatment will soon help you to fill out the hollows at the base of your neck.

Mrs Thompson outlined the house keeper's business, the various demands on women sent out in the backblocks to assist in the homes of the settlers and the many disadvantages through lack of modern conveniences in some of these homes, the demands for these women being greater than the supply. Mrs Wickham also spoke on the housekeepers, the wonderful help they were to the sick country women. Sending this help to settlers originated with a few ladies who went out with the pioneer members of the Farmers' Union to visit and form branches in remote districts. They realised the necessity of the unlimited scope and sympathetic material assistance to the seed deconving greater. The offer of

Exercises are Helpful to Develop a Beautiful Back

Nowadays there is so much of the back exposed that very few women can afford to neglect this part of the body. One only has to glance at the back and shoulders of any woman to guess her age fairly accurately. The reason for this is that after the first flush of youth the skin begins to sag and if it is neglected it very soon will give away your age.

Mrs Wickham came to talk to and advise the newly-formed local branch. Visiting members arrived from Tikokino, Takapau and as far afield as Hamilton to help welcome the new Dominion president, and there was a record of nearly 40 members.

Mrs Wickham came to talk to and the shoulders give away our age.

This rigidity can be "ironed out," and the muscles loosened, by carrying out a very simple exercise. This exercise will not only beautify your back, but at the same time it will improve your health, as it is a well-known fact that a weak back and shoulders can give rise to many chest complaints.

The Barrie Studio, Hastings, was PIANOFORTE ITEMS

An intensely interesting talk, illustrated with gramophone and piano music, was thoroughly enjoyed last evening by members of the music circle of the Hastings Townswomen's Guild.

The speaker was Miss E. Hoby, of Havelock North, who discussed dividing music into two sections, the first pattern music, and the second.

The Barrie Studio, Hastings, was the scene of a particularly cheery dance on Saturday evening, organised by the Hastings High School Old Boys' Football Club, and well attended by many young folk.

Music for the dancing was played by Miss Betty Couper and Mr B. Brown, who responded to numerous encores. The duties of M.C. were capably carried out by Mr O. Jonson.

A tempting supper served during the evening was thoroughly enjoyed. Among those present were:-Miss N. Angove (Napier), flame uilted crepe with navy and white hecked evening wrap.

Miss J. Renouf, floral satin with coatie to match.

Miss J. Apsey, black mirror velvet with a light floral spray.

Miss I. Parkinson, white floral ninnon worn with pink taffeta

Miss Hoby said that some moding composers gave actual imitations of factories or foundry works, is being typical of the machine in which we live. She menned one recent composition, read of Steel," from which one imagine the life and business in factory.

Fish have been caught in the Sahara Desert. Water from wells 300 feet deep brought them to the surface.

Here are some of the questions by Peter Dawson, the accompaniment suggesting guitars. A second record was Debussy's "Goldfish," written for the piano.

The programme concluded with a rhumba played by Miss Currey, who again repeated the piece in response to the very hearty encore.

Mrs A. F. Glenny, president of the Townswomen's Guild, who thanked Miss Hoby and Miss Currey, said that she hoped they would realise how grateful the members were for such a musical treat. Britain was concerned, its seaside was left practically alone till the middle of the eighteenth century, writes Flinders Barr in the "Sydners" was presented with a lovely spray made by Mrs Younge.

Butter-Wrapping NATIONAL PARTY VIEWS

REPORT BY NAPIER DELEGATES

At a largely attended meeting of the Napier branch of the New Zea-land National Party, held in Napier recently, a report of the delegates sent to the third annual conference of the party, held at Wellington on August 5, was as follows: the latest type has been installed at the factory of the Heretaunga Dairy

The machine, known technically as the "Benhill Verticle 105," is the fourth of this model to be installed in New Zealand, two being in operation at the Government factory in Wellington, and one at the Co-oper.

"The conference was attended by 400 members from every electorate in New Zealand, and the confidence displayed as to the elections in November was a noticeable part of the ative Dairy Company's factory in ative Dairy Company's factory in Auckland.

Built in Germany, and costing about £1100, this machine is capable of wrapping 55 packets of butter a minute in either pounds or half-pounds, and in the hands of an experienced operator effects a great saving of time and ensures accuracy in weight.

Although it is some thirteen years since the first butter-wrapping machine was installed in New Zealand, the original model has been greatly improved since that time.

The eelegates were struck by the personality of the Hon. Adam Hamilton. Although most people have heard Mr Hamilton over the air and heave been impressed by his clear and lucid style, and more especially by his sincerity, comparatively few people have had the privilege of meeting Mr Hamilton personally.

Body Recovered From Harbour

TIMARU DISCOVERY

By Telegraph—Press Association.
TIMARU, August 15.
A body in advanced stages of decomposition was recovered from the Timaru Harbour this morning. It is thought to be the body of Tertius Munro McKinnon, of Kurow, who was married at Oamaru on June 28 and left a Timaru hotel on July 2 to visit a doctor and did not return.
An extensive search has been pur-An extensive search has been pursued since the mysterious disappearance of the missing bridegroom was announced by the bride, but apart from the discovery of an unidenti-fied hat in Caroline Bay a few days after his disappearance, no trace has been discovered of Mr McKin non in spite of broadcast descrip-tions over the commercial and na

TRAINED STAFF NURSES

BOARD DISCUSSION

Viewpoint Of The Department

Whether members of the trained nursing staff should be allowed to live out of the hospitals caused a long debate at yesterday's meeting of the Hawke's Bay Hospital Board, which was held in Napier. The discussion arose out of a communica tion from the Medical Officer of the Memorial Home advising that the this is offered as an attraction to young women to adopt the profession," said Dr. H. M. Wilson.

Mr R. Harding said that he was under the impression that permission was granted for nurses to live out only until the nurses' homes could house all nurses, this contention being affirmed by the chairman, the later adding that it appeared as if the Department had now changed

THE FUTURE OF DICTATORSHIPS

Nazism and Fascism (for the time being Russian Communism is regarded as being almost respectable, Russia being a formidable bulwark against the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo bloc) are essentially beliefs founded on an emotionalism which in turn has its roots in a certain aspect of the inferiority complex. They are to a large extent creeds of youth, for they offer all the glamour of military pomp and pageantry, together with the same old flaunting of alleged national superiority which brought Imperial Germany to the height of her power and then to her downfall. These "isms" do not offer the same consciousness of innate power which has carried Great Britain through innumerable crises that would have ruined any other nation; they give their followers a combination of superficial displays of military strength and unlimited quantities of unashamed propaganda. A dictator is a personality sufficiently strong to capture the imagination of the bulk of a nation, a brilliant organiser, and perhaps very little more. When one man with these qualifications becomes the ruler of a nation whose people are temperamentally suited to such a form of government, all goes well so long as the dictator can keep up appearances; but if he makes one slip—what? It is an interesting question of the present day whether the two dictators who occupy the centre of the European stage have not already over-reached themselves. Whatever the cause, there is a curious indication of unsureness in the actions of both the Fuehrer and the Duce. A tactical combination of surprise and bullying carried Italy into Ethiopia and Germany into Austria. Both coups were successful, but evidence is not lacking that it is one thing for one nation to swallow another, but quite a different matter to attempt to digest the meal. If this is not the case, why has Hitler paused on the brink of a "crusade" against Czechoslovakia? Such a pause and its implied background of hesitation is serious for a dictator, much of whose strength depends on his ability to provide his people with dramatic (and successful) escapades.

The truth of the matter, of course, is that for the first time Hitler has been compelled to admit a diplomatic defeat. The entirely unexpected firmness of Great Britain and France on the subject of Czechoslovakia caught him unawares and he was unable to face the prospect of an attempt to coerce a small country when behind that country loomed the power of the great democracies. Hitler has not retreated, but he has hesitated, and the German people must be wonderingeven if they are afraid to voice their wonder-why?

The position of Italy is even more difficult. It is now sixteen years since Mussolini completed his "March on Rome" and King Victor Emmanuel preserved his throne by virtually surrendering it, and sixteen years is a long time for one man to hold the imagination of an entire people. Mussolini is no longer a young man, and he cannot go on indefinitely posturing in the fashion made famous by the ex-Kaiser of Germany. But apart from this, Italy cannot conceal the fact that she is frightened. When British naval strength was at its lowest ebb it was easy enough to talk about a new Roman Empire which would make the Mediterranean an Italian lake, but to-day Italy has the uncomfortable feeling that if ever a "war of ideas" developed between the dictatorships and the democracies, Italy would be caught in her own trap, with the British Navy effectively blocking the Mediterranean at Gibraltar and Suez and very possibly with Russia patrolling the Black Sea. It is not too far-fetched to ascribe this thought as the reason for the recent Italian warning to Germany with regard to any Czechoslovakian adventures which Hitler may contemplate.

It is a troublous time for the dictatorships. They have recently been faced with the spectacle of the British King and Queen welcomed to France with such a demonstration of friendship and affection as has seldom been given by the people of one nation to the rulers of another; they look at the United States, swept by a wave of anti-Nazi feeling caused by the sensational espionage cases; they see Japan trembling before the possibility of a war with Russia while the outcome of the invasion of China is still more than doubtful-and, in spite of all this, they know that if they are to survive they must do something to preserve the enthusiasm of their own peoples. The question is-what?

On the answer will depend the future not only of the dictatorships, but of the world.

Watersider Injured Severe leg injuries were suffered Severe leg injuries were suffered by a middle-aged Napier resident, Mr E. O'Brien, on Saturday last when he met with an accident while assisting in the discharge of coal from the steamer Poolta at Port Ahuriri. When the grab was being lowered into the hold Mr O'Brien slipped, the grab coming to rest with the iron jaws open, one jaw pinning Mr O'Brien's leg to the coal. His position was a precarious one as the closing of the grab to lift coal would probably result in his leg being smashed. His plight was noticed and it was necessary to dig away the coal from him before he could be lifted from the hold. He was removed to the Napier Hospital where his condition last night was reported to be comfortable.

DEPARTMENT WILL NOT ENTER TAXI BUSINESS

Mr Sullivan's Explanation Of Auckland Licences: Service To Tourist Traffic

By Telegraph-Press Association.

WELLINGTON, August 15.

The Railway Department has not entered, nor has it any intention of entering the taxi business," said the Minister of Railways (the Hon. D. G. Sullivan), when statements of Mr A. Sinclair, chairing of the New Zealand Taxi Proprietors' Federation, and of other Auckland operators, alleging that the N.Z.R. Road Services were entering on this field, were referred to him.

"Although the department obtained three taxi licences at Auckland, these were restricted purely to transport between the wharf and the hotel of tourists under the care of a Tourist Agency, each of which is licensed to arrange such tours. The £2 fee is paid by the department merely to remove any doubt as to its right to render this service to tourists, and it places the Railways Department on exactly the same basis as other operators holding tourist licences. It is desirable as a means to assist in securing that continuity of transport service so much desired by visitors to New Zealand.

"I can say definitely," continued Mr Sullivan, "that no general taxi business is to be catered for by the department. Reference has been made to the Monterey's last visit to Auckland. On that occasion the Railway Department's cars which met the vessel were all ordered before its arrival by the Tourist Department for tourists making sight seeing and other tours.

"The Department has never done taxi business in connection with weddings and funerals, and has no intention of catering for such purposes.

HAWKE'S BAY WISH FOR AN OUTSIDE REFEREE

By Telegraph—ress Association

DUNEDIN, August 15. A communication was received from the Hawke's Bay Rugby Union at the weekly meeting of the management committee of the Otago Rugby Union to-night, asking the union to submit the names of five outside referees for its Ranfurly Shield match with Otago on August 31.

It was pointed out during the discussion on the request that as the match was not a special challenge, Hawke's Bay had no right to ask for an outside referee, much less a list from which to make a choice. It was decided to inform Hawke's Bay that it should communicate its request for an outside referee to the New Zealand Union.

Mr Douglas Spedding said that the Hawke's Bay Union did not apparently realise that it had no right to ask for an outside referee, but if the Otago Union agreed to the request the appointment would have to be made by the New Zealand Referees' Appointment Board. It was only in special challenge Shield matches, as against ordinary Shield games, that outside referees could test between the two provinces. As it was Hawke's Bay's turn to meet Otago, the practice was that under these circumstances names of referees in the province where the game was to be played were submitted to the visiting team for it to make a selection.

The position really was that an ordinary inter-provincial game had been turned into a Shield game through Otago holding the Shield. games, that outside referees could be asked for.

Mr H. Harris said that if Hawke's Bay asked for an outside referee he thought that their request should be granted. They should, however, inform the Hawke's Bay Union that the match was only an ordinary Shield game, not a special challenge match. If

LOCKHEED ELECTRAS

By Telegraph—Press Association. WELLINGTON, August 15. WELLINGTON, August 15.
The first of two new Lockheed Electra monoplanes ordered by Union Airways is to be assembled at Rongotai aerodrome, whence it will be towed after being landed at Wellington from the Union Company's freighter, Hauraki, due on August 22 from Los Angeles, via Auckland. This will be the first occasion on which a large commercial aeroplane has been assembled at Rongotai.

Rongotai.

The new monoplanes are of the same model as the Lockheeds at present operating on the daily mail and passenger service between Wellington and Auckland and are to be named Kahu (hawk) and Kopara (bellbird), but it is not yet known when the second will arrive. In all probability this machine will also be assembled at Rongotai.

Past airliners for operation on New Zealand routes have been landed at Auckland and assembled at Hobsonville, where the fitting out base for the Royal New Zealand Air Force is located.

PARLT BLDGS, August 15.
The final points in the agreement between the British, Australian and New Zealand Governments for the operation of the Tasman air mail service are expected to be completed in the very near future. No official pronouncement has been made, but it is understood that as a result of constant interchange of views the difficulties have been overcome and that complete plans for the conduct of the service will be arranged some time before there are flying boats available to undertake the regular Tasman crossing.

The assembling of the Lockheed will be carried out by the Union Airways ground staff and under the supervision of the company's chief engineer, Mr L. Mangham, after which the machine will be tested by the company's pilots. It is anticipated that within 10 days of delivery at Wellington the latest addition to Union Airways' fleet of airliners will be flown to Palmerston North, where it will enter the regular mail and passenger services.

There will also be formal agreement between the three Governments concerned, but it is not yet known whether New Zealand's participation in the scheme will require validating legislation. If Parliamentary sanction is required it will undoubtedly be given this session, as the general anticipation, backed by a statement from the Prime Minister (the Rt. Hon. M. J. Mrs Perrin was married at Wanganui and later lived in Auckland, Wellington and Dunedin, before taking up residence in Hastings.

In each centre she took an active part in amateur stage activities.

Mrs Perrin arrived with Mr Perrin in Hastings in 1914. In addition to being a keen amateur actress, Mrs Perrin was a great gardener and an assiduous reader.

During the war she did active work in the organisation of Red Cross work, in providing various entertainments and in assembling comforts and extras for the soldiers.

Her keen interest in music and drama made it only natural that she should assist in fostering these arts. It was largely due to her energies that the Hastings Community Club was formed.

Mr J. R. Gillespie said that further arbitration was necessary to fix a reasonable offer.

Mr Glendinning: I don't see that. It is no use going to the extent of arbitration out of court to settle it.

Need for Haste. "I propose we get this matter cleared up," stated Mr Davey. "There has been too much delay already, and if we go on any longer in this manner we will get no further. I propose a letter be written to our solicitors at once.

The Borough Council's proposal also interpolated that if the board declined the offer, it should be prepared to meet the council officers before an unbiased committee chosen from the Joint Electric Supply Association in Wellington and discuss the matter.

Mr E. H. Glendinning moved that the offer be declined.

Mr Harker: May I ask if the board is afraid to place the matter before an unbiased committee?

councillor.

The difference seemed rather unreasonable, said Cr. J. McCarthy. However, they had not all the figures on the subject, so they could not very well dispute it.

The Clerk-Engineer remarked that a number of new poles had had to be erected in Dannevirke to carry the lamps, and he was doubtful if the poles in Waipukurau were of sufficient height to obtain the maximum benefit from this type of lighting.

The engineer was asked to present a report on the subject for the next meeting of the council, and it was also decided to ask the Power Board to explain the difference between their charges and those of Dannevirke.

The Town Clerk-Engineer's report stated that owing to the continued wet weather and the consequent high level of the river during the period, the outfall of the septic tank had been several feet under water, resulting in the backing up of the sewer in the low-lying areas. Every effort was made to improve the position, but as the whole situation was governed by the level of the river, very little could be accomplished.

STOCK MARKETS

Some Predictable Causes

RELATIONS OF COMMODITIES ARE EXPLAINED

Mistakes Which Farmers Make

In view of the fact that prices in the stock sales seem to have been behaving in an uncertain way lately, a few remarks as published by the Agricultural Bulletin, issued by the Canterbury Agricultural College, are of special interest.

These remarks go to show that in many ways the farmer himself controls the prices by allowing himself to be ruled by the fact that the market as it stands will remain so for some time, and by immediately rushing to sell or hold, as the case may be.

The following statements cover fairly well all the different classes of markets which affect the farmer, and also some of the predictable causes for the changes that occur in prices.

By recognising that certain changes tend to recur, a farmer can act in advance of market changes, or at least refuse to follow these changes and by this means the fluctuations in prices to some extent can be flattened out and the tendency to over-accent booms and slumps can be reduced.

Facts of Production.

Nevertheless with all these uncertainties a farmer's production is in advance of and in anticipation of future unknown market prices.

For example, in deciding on dairy roduction a farmer breeds or purhases his calves three years before any roduction a farmer breeds or purhases his calves three years before any farm activities, are in effect favouring the view that money is likely to be low in value and that prices are likely to be high.

It is of course realised that many therefore should adopt a solong run policy e of land.

Now they shall individuals have little of the produce from them.

He certainly should not make hasty changes in his policy in an attempt to follow the market.

In the past farming has tended to be more profitable in one genera-tion and less profitable in the next generation, these variations corresponding to long run periods of falling and of rising values for money. These variations in profits were due to changes in the value of money quite apart from any other factors.

Individual Commodities. Just as production for all farm

Just as production for all farm commodities may exhibit a cyclic tendency, so the production of each individual commodity tends to go through periods of apparent over and under stimulation, these periods varying in length with the type of commodity.

Prices for wool appear to follow directly and to accentuate the changes that occur in the general level of prices of all export commodincluding some industrial as well as farm goods.

The explanation is probably that, wool being storable, buying is affected more directly and quickly by changes in credit conditions and wage levels than are most other farm commodities.

Prices for work horses appear to vary inversely with the average of prices for all commodities. The explanation since the advent of the tractors is probably that when Although all farmers realise that prices change and that the direction of these changes is not definitely should adjust it after considering further, the land previously required

The length of the complete cycle is approximately ten to fifteen years. The explanation is probably that it takes two to three years to keep an extra calf to breeding age, and three to four years before the program of that extra calf comes.

He therefore should adopt a more less long run policy suited to his type of land and to the long run trends of the markets available.

Normally, in slump periods, too many take the view that money will continue to be high, or in other words that prices will be low, and they prefer a fixed money return the peak months of harvest delivery and to rise gradually as the season progresses. they prefer a fixed money return even though this is small.

Those, however, who take the long view and buy in the slump period normally secure an appreciation in control values.

This is due to the fact that these products are used all the year round, whereas production is seasonal. This is due to the fact that these

NEARCO'S DEFEAT OF TWO DERBY WINNERS

Invincible Italian Colt Downs Canot and Bois Roussel In The Grand Prix

Nearco, the unbeaten Italian colt, demonstrated his invincibility by winning a magnificent Grand Prix at Longchamp on June 26, his 14th victory.

He triumphed in an international finish, with a French horse, Canot, second, a horse from England, Bois Roussel, third, and an American-owned animal, Castel Fusano, fourth. The Grand Prix was international from every aspect, thousands of British, American, Italian and other visitors forming half the throng in the packed pesage.

The question now arises: Is Nearco—a son, by the way, of Lord Derby's English stallion Pharos—the horse of the century, or was his victory easy just because the champions of England and France are this year so moderate? writes "Lutetius" in the London "Daily Mail."

ONE man above all must be happy over the afternoon at Long-champ. It is P. Gubellini, the Italian jockey, who had a sad memory to efface, for last year, when he rode Donatello the defeat of the Italian colt was largely due to his error of jockeyship in letting him-

This time he showed himself to Prix Gubellini showed us riding at its best. He came just at the right moment with Nearco, got his lead, and staved off desperate attacks first from Canot and then from Bois Roussel, magnificently ridden by Gordon Richards, on the rails. No wonder he was all smiles as he returned to the enclosure amid a cheering throng, carrying a bunch of red, white and blue field flowers that some admirer had pressed on Signor Tesio, who also owned last year's runner-up Donatello, later made his way through a lane ring-ing with cheers to the President's stand, where he was congratulated by M. Albert Lebrun.

The prospects of an epoch-making race had attracted a huge crowd. They were not disappointed. It was magnificent.

Three Derby Winners.

Three Derby winners—Nearco of Italy, Bois Roussel of England and Cillas of France—were taking part, and each gave his partisans a hope when the vital stage was reached. Even before the Pavilion was

But even then all was not over. As the horses reached the Pesage stand Johnstone was seen rushing up his Canot, who for most of the while had been kept in the very rear. Horse after horse he passed, eating up the distance, but, alas, Canot's powers are limited to a 50-metre hurst at the order of a law and the control of the law and the control of the law and the control of the law and the metre burst at the end of a long and trying race, and there were still 60 or 470 metres to go.

Even after Canot's effort there was another thrill. PAKURANGA HOPES

Kilonsa and Valmint in Form

"Daily Mail" Special Service. AUCKLAND, Saturday.

Among the gallopers at Ellerslie vho have been moving attractively n work this week are Valmint and Kilonsa, both of whom were nom inated for the Jellicoe Handicap a the Pakuranga Hunt meeting to be held on August 20. El Meynell and Captain Bruce are also in good shape.

The other morning, the stable-mates, Kilonsa and Land Girl went six furlongs in 1.21 1.5, after running the first section in 39 2.5. Kilonsa and Consistent proonsa ran a most consistent programme last season, being three times a winner and altogether twelve times in the money in 21 starts. She will not require much racing to be at her best this spring.

In another six-furlong trial, Val-mint beat Armacourt by a length in 1.21, the first three in 39s. Valmint was more than once unlucky last term, and he is expected to make a bold showing at the beginning of the new racing year.

Amigo is not eligible for the Australian Derbies, but, if he shows the form expected of his next month he may continue his proposed spring itinerary, which includes the Caulfield and Melbourne Cups.

BREEDING OF THE UTILITY TYPE PROFITABLE

Good Market To Be Found In India

(By MOTUROA)

These are the days of the motor-tractor, tank, and car —and the horse, once the mainstay of the army, is gradually slipping into the background. But the horse is not the useless nonentity some people think.

Cars require passable roads: tractors need reasonably level ground; and the tank, in war, has its limitations also. But, as a general servant of man, the horse is greater than all, and it is for that reason that the breed should be kept up, and improved if possible, to maintain a steady supply of horses suited for cavalry duties.

Until this year nothing had been done in New Zealand by this or preceding Governments to assure this supply being kept up, and all had previously been content to leave the perpetuation of the equine to independent breeders. Fortunately, with the drums of war sounding louder every day, the Government has heeded the appeal of long-sighted people who have watched with alarm the decline of the utility horse, and this season it has subsidised selected stallions which will be available to breeders at a price the farming com-

Wanganui hopes for the race include Amigo, Rehearsal and Minga;
Woodville candidates engaged include Coronation and Homily; Awapuni puts forth Surmount, Pre-diction, Rarotonga, Great Legion, Sudan, Ecstatic and others; and there are sure to be good class horses from other centres.

There will be class as well as quantity and the race should be the of the Wanganui Jockey Club's spring programme.

Ellerslie Two-Year-Olds.

To be considered and the turning course will favour this handsome son of Surveyor and Cometary. Surmount has grown into a fine colt and looks more solid now than at the fullest extent. There is money in it and its wide any other stage of his career, and adoption would relieve our race-course of a congestion of hacks that be questioned.

He will be suited by the turning nature of the track, as he was last year when he won the season's first two-year-old race, the Debutante Stakes, after being left a street and he won at Wanganui in his only other start on the course, later in the season. Surmount looks like being a good three-year-old and it will surprise if he does not render a good account of himself next month

Great Legion is another of the Awapuni juveniles who has more speed than the average. He paralysed the opposition when he won at Woodville in the autumn, but he was beaten by the going at Trentham last month, when all two-year-olds failed signally.

It would, indeed, be unwise to condemn the Fernkloof gelding for this defeat, and it is safe to say that he has not lost any of his close admirers, for he has grown into a fine three-year-old and is none the vorse for his hard race at the Wellington meeting.

With horses like Surmount and Great Legion engaged, the pace should be a cracker in the Wanganui Guineas and, on a reasonably good track, it looks as if new times figures will be hoisted.
