DOUBT AND UNCERTAINTY IN EUROPE

Czech Crisis Approaching?

RUNCIMAN ENDEAVOURING TO PLACATE SUDETENS

Germans Beheaded For High Treason

United Press Association—Copyright. (Received August 20, 1.30 a.m.)

BERLIN, August 19.

Pink posters attached to advertising pillars announced the decapitation of three Germans convicted of high treason by espionage, and the reception of money from a foreign intelligence service for "information liable to endanger the Reich."

The British Government has instructed the British Ambassador in Berlin (Sir N. M. Henderson) to inform the German Government that Britain views most seriously the arrest of Captain Kendrick (see below) and that a speedy and full explanation is expected.

An earlier message from Prague said that Lord Runciman, accompanied by his advisers, motored to the castle of Rotheau, near Kamatau, the property of a German prince, where he met the Sudeten leaders, Herren, Henlein, Kundt, and Frank.

The impression is that the meeting was not a formal contact but an effort to prevent a complete breakdown in the Czech-Sudeten negotiations.

British Official Arrested.

From Vienna it is reported that on the orders of the Gestapo (Nazi Secret Police) Captain Thomas Kendrick, British passport control officer in Vienna, was arrested on entering the old Reich on his way to England on furlough.

Captain Kendrick, a British subject, has occupied his present position for 3 years. The charge against him is not revealed.

The British Ambassador to Berlin, Sir Neville Henderson, has asked the Foreign Ministry for an explanation.

Captain Kendrick was driving with his wife when he was stopped by members of the Gestapo. Captain Kendrick's wife was not arrested but accompanied the party to Vienna.

The arrest may be merely technical. Captain Kendrick was crossing an area prohibited to foreigners. The authorities were possibly not aware that, though Captain Kendrick held the rank of captain, he was no longer serving.

Stock Slump.

The London "News Chronicle's" Berlin correspondent says that Herr Hitler conferred with Dr. Funk, Minister of Economics, Herr Darre, Minister of Agriculture, and Dr. Schacht, President of the Reichsbank, and decided on drastic measures to end the slump, ordering the banks to intervene and buy up shares flung on to the market.

Contrary to expectations, industrial shares rose slightly on the opening of the Bourse to-day and a general improvement continued throughout the day.

The London "Daily Telegraph's" Berlin correspondent says that financial circles are not inclined to regard to-day's slight recovery on the Bourse as the turn of the tide.

Company Reports.

Company reports in the past few days help to explain the slump. For instance, the Friedrichshafen Cogwheel Co., which last year paid 8 per cent. on smaller profits announces that it will pay no dividends this year.

All its available cash has been swallowed up. The demands of the four year plan and the needs of private investors must yield to those of the State.

The slump on the Berlin Bourse has had little effect on the London Stock Exchange.

APPEAL MADE FOR PEACE

EDITOR OF VATICAN NEWSPAPER

POPE'S APPROVAL

"Feeling Of Impending Catastrophe"

United Press Association—Copyright. VATICAN CITY, August 18.

Count Torre, chief editor of the Vatican newspaper "Osservatore Romano," appeals to Governments to avert war and repeats the Pope's appeal for peace.

He says that a feeling of "impending catastrophe" is widespread throughout Europe and that it has been created by many evils, in which he includes the German manoeuvres, the Sudeten crisis, the war in China and general friction between many countries.

He declares that nothing could be more disastrous than the terrible delusion that war is a liberating force.

The signing of the article indicates that it was read and approved by the Pope.

DAZZLING GOLF BY FERRIER

LEADS THE FIELD AGAIN

A GREAT 68

Australian Open Championship

United Press Association—Copyright. (Received August 19, 11.25 p.m.)

ADELAIDE, August 19.

Ferrier played dazzling golf to return a 68, again leading the field in the second round of the Australian open championship at Seaton to-day.

He started off with three 3's—a birdie, an eagle and a birdie—then with three par 4's he was out in 32 and home in 36.

His aggregate is thus 139.

The title-holder, G. Naismith, followed his 76 yesterday with a 71 to-day.

Ferrier's hottest opponent is E. Cramin, who had a 72 yesterday and a 73 to-day.

Von Nida, with a 75 yesterday, dropped further back to-day with a 77 and an aggregate of 152.

Rufus Stewart is still well in the picture with an aggregate of 148.

An earlier message stated that Jim Ferrier, with 71, led the field in the first round of the Australian open golf championship at the Seaton course. Ferrier went out in 37 and was home in 34.

Ferrier's most serious rival, N. von Nida, scored a 75. G. Naismith, the defending champion, returned a score of 76; Fergus McMahon, former champion, 78; H. L. Williams, Australian amateur champion, 80.

The three professionals, J. Petterson, of Canberra, E. Anderson, of Queensland, W. Robertson, of South Australia, and E. Cremin had cards of 72.

On Saturday 36 holes will be played, making a total of 72 holes, after which the 16 leading professionals and the 16 leading amateurs will comprise the field for match play next week.

PROTEST AGAINST RATE INCREASE

NAPIER RETAILERS MEET

SERIOUS HANDICAP Letter Written To Council

Following a meeting held in Napier yesterday to consider the recent announcement of an increase in the rates for the forthcoming year, the executive of the Napier Retailers' Association decided to draw the attention of the Napier Borough Council to the position of the ratepayers in the district. After discussion it was decided to forward the following letter to the Town Clerk (Mr F. E. Watters) for consideration by the council:—"In view of the increased overhead costs with which the retailers are confronted to-day, plus the payment of rehabilitation loans, we view with great apprehension the suggestion of an increase in rates. At a meeting of the Retailers' Association it was unanimously agreed that there should be no in-

TASMAN CUP RETAINED BY NEW ZEALANDERS

Women Golfers Win The Annual International Match By Four Points To Two

United Press Association—Copyright. (Received August 19, 11 p.m.)

SYDNEY, August 19.

The New Zealand women golfers retained the Tasman Cup by defeating Australia to-day in the annual international match by four points to two. Results, in order of ranking, are as follows:—

Foursomes: Mrs Fullerton-Smith and Miss Helean defeated Miss Kernot and Miss Evans, 1 up; Mrs Clements and Mrs Hore defeated Miss Fleming and Miss Horwell, 3 and 1.

Singles: Miss Kernot defeated Mrs Fullerton-Smith, 5 and 4; Miss Helean defeated Miss Gardiner (Queensland), 4 and 3; Miss Horwell defeated Mrs Hore, 5 and 3; Miss Fleming defeated Mrs Clements, 4 and 3.

In the first foursome, match play was very even to the 13th hole, where Australia took the lead, but Mrs Fullerton-Smith promptly squared the match with a 15ft. uphill putt at the next hole. New Zealand won the match with par four at the last hole.

Miss Kernot was the outstanding player; Miss Evans gave poor support.

In the other foursomes Mrs Hore's putting was the winning factor, while Miss Fleming's putting was weak.

In the chief singles match Miss Kernot completely outplayed Mrs Fullerton-Smith, who was inclined to bluff her shots. Miss Kernot gave a masterly exhibition of bunker play, every one of which she played to within two feet of the flag. She also putted consistently, while Mrs Fullerton-Smith on several occasions took three from the edge of the green.

Miss Helean got extraordinary length from the tees, and was rarely in trouble. Her approach putting left nothing to be desired. In all, she gave her best performance in Australia.

Basketball Team Wins

N.S.W. DEFEATED New Zealand Players Have Better of Game SCORE 21 TO 18

United Press Association—Copyright. (Received August 19, 11.30 p.m.)

MELBOURNE, Aug. 19.

The New Zealand basketball team defeated New South Wales by 21 to 18. The visitors had slightly the better of the game, although the New South Wales forwards gave a good clean exhibition.

The New Zealand team was: M. Tangye, E. Neame, J. Wilson, M. Howe, M. Martin, M. Matangi, and J. Mitchell.

By advertisement in this issue, tenders are invited for privileges in connection with the Hawke's Bay Agricultural and Pastoral Society's 1938 and 1939 fixtures.

INNINGS WIN FOR AUSTRALIA

COLLAPSE OF ARMY TEAM O'REILLY DEADLY Seven Wickets For 34 Runs

United Press Association—Copyright. LONDON, August 18.

The Australian cricketers defeated the Army by an innings and 67 runs.

After Harbottle and Grove had added 41 runs for the second wicket, the Army collapsed again in their second innings. O'Reilly's spin, flight and length proved too much for the batsmen. They were almost equally futile against Fleetwood-Smith, playing vaguely hopeful strokes. The innings lasted only 105 minutes.

NAPIER AIRPORT BILL AMENDMENT

Notice To Introduce Given

By Telegraph—Press Association. PARLT. BLDGS., Aug. 19.

Mr E. J. Howard (Government, Christchurch South) on behalf of the Speaker of the House of Representatives (the Hon. W. E. Barnard) gave notice to introduce the Napier Airport Amendment Bill in the House this morning.

It is a short measure making provision for two or more members on the controlling body, one representing the Hawke's Bay County Council and the other the Napier Harbour Board.

WESTFIELD EMPLOYEES REFUSE TO START WORK

Calves May Die Of Hunger: Hold-up Creates Very Serious Problem

By Telegraph—Press Association.

AUCKLAND, August 19.

More than 600 workers, including girls, employed at the Westfield Freezing Works, refused to start work this morning because they objected to the dressing-room accommodation, which they considered was not in the terms of the award. No work was done by them to-day, part of the day being occupied by meetings, which were adjourned until to-morrow.

The failure to start work, which is believed to have been the result of a decision made on Wednesday, came at a time when 4000 bobby calves were awaiting slaughter, and as they cannot be fed, an unfortunate situation has been created.

With a scratch gang consisting of foremen and other permanent employees, the company is endeavouring to kill as many as possible. The work is proceeding, but it is stated that some of the bobby calves will undoubtedly die from hunger and privation.

The company made an appeal to the slaughtermen to resume work until they had killed the bobby calves, but without result.

It is also understood that the Minister of Labour (the Hon. H. T. Armstrong) made an appeal in a telegram to the men not only to resume work until their complaint could be investigated, but in any case to kill the bobby calves. Mr Armstrong, who pointed out that the action of the men was embarrassing the Government, stated that the losses caused by the failure to slaughter the calves, would fall, not upon the Westfield Freezing Company Limited, but upon the farmers who had consigned the calves to the works.

Rides of trucks, closely packed with bobby calves, stood at the sidings at the works throughout the day. The bleating of the calves was loud and continuous.

Another problem then facing the company was the disposal of large numbers of carcasses of calves and cats killed on the previous day, which were awaiting boning.

Meeting of the workers was addressed by an Inspector of the Labour Department and also by Mr W. S. Sill, secretary of the Auckland Freezing Workers' Union.

If workers employed in the Auckland Farmers' Freezing Company Limited's Southdown works, and also at the works at Westfield of and W. Hellaby, Limited, decided meetings to-day that they would refuse to kill any of the bobby calves consigned to the Westfield Freezing Company's works.

Wairoa School Attendances

DECIDED INCREASES

Faulty Heating Systems

REMEDY SUGGESTED

"The attendances at the Wairoa schools are showing decided increases," said Mr W. L. Dunn, secretary, at yesterday's monthly meeting of the Hawke's Bay Education Board, held in Napier.

The population had shown a steady increase, and the attendances at the various schools had risen in such a way that a special class had to be held in the Presbyterian Sunday School.

Heating.

"The heating facilities in the Wairoa schools are not satisfactory," said Mr C. R. Sainsbury, "and they should be remedied. It is supposed to be central heating, and it is, in that only the centre of the building is being heated."

It was stated by Mr Dunn that the present facilities are only of a temporary nature.

Banishing the Terrors of Disease
New Discoveries Add Ten Years to One's Life

How old are you? Well, take ten years off and that is more nearly your real age, says H. H. Johnston, writing in "To-day."
From eight to eleven years have been added to everybody's life during this century. Is not that the grandest news you have heard for many a day? And it is not empty optimism; I am going to give you the facts.
One of the most significant statements ever made, though it received scant notice, was uttered a few months ago by the famous pathologist, Sir Robert Muir: "The numbers of people who die of old age are increasing."
Our new sensible life of sun, fresh air and good food is partly responsible. That prevents illness. And at the same time, illness is defeated all along the line.

A few weeks ago, Mrs Barbara Ayrton Gould, a member of the London County Council, was able to announce: "Two cases of galloping consumption have been cured at an L.C.C. hospital."
"We have done what has never been done in the world before. Galloping consumption is supposed to be an incurable disease. . . The cures are wonderful."

Those two cures were made possible by a gold salt treatment at Highwood, Brentwood, Essex. The patients, two young boys, were called hopeless cases after the X-ray photographs. But now one has been discharged as cured, and the other is safely on the road to complete and miraculous recovery.

In Britain we are spending £20,000,000 a year to give us longer life! all over the country, as in Europe and America, silent armies of miracle-workers are carrying on their fight against pain and disease.

At Oxford, thanks to Lord Nuffield's magnificent gift of £2,000,000 a great new bank of medical research is being created. We and our children are the beneficiaries.

ROCKEFELLER EXPERIMENTS
From another country comes the news that the Rockefeller Foundation, created out of the Rockefeller millions "to promote the general welfare," has succeeded after years of experiment and costly trial in discovering a vaccine that makes 99 people out of 100 immune from yellow fever.
So another terror is banished. Once we in Britain were immune from "Yellow Jack," the most highly infectious tropical fever with perhaps the highest mortality rate. But the development of rapid air travel brought us within reach of the scourge, which is carried by mosquitoes.

Now the immunisation of pilots and crew and passengers, and the decontamination of the machines which can reach us from India and Africa within a matter of hours, can be undertaken. Thanks to this new vaccine, the deadly germs have virtually had their fangs drawn.

The Rockefeller Foundation spends millions of pounds from its vast pool of resources to make the lives of millions of people healthier and happier. It has waged a successful war on hookworm, malaria and other diseases. Many thousands of children would die each year but for the anti-spinal meningitis serum developed by the Rockefeller Institute.

We must not forget the splendid humane work of the Carnegie Corporation and its £25,000,000 endowment. Once it gave a few thousand dollars to help an obscure experiment which resulted in the perfection of a system of insulin injection for the relief of diabetes, one of the greatest of modern medical discoveries.

SHE REFUSED A FORTUNE
Among the names of great donors, we must mention the name of Sister Elizabeth Kenny, Australian nurse who has recently been conducting a most remarkable demonstration at Queen Mary's Hospital, Carshalton, Surrey. Rather than accept an offer from a commercial firm of £20,000 for the secret of her treatment for infantile paralysis, she presented it to the Commonwealth of Australia, and then came to England to demonstrate it.
This great-hearted woman has worked living miracles. Children who might never have walked again, who might have been condemned to life imprisonment in an iron-lung, are now toddling happily, and "hope-

WE LIVE LONGER

In 1881 the average man and woman lived to 57
1911 . . . . . 62
1931 . . . . . 65
1938 . . . . . 67

less cases" are daily improving. It takes years to effect a permanent cure, but the treatment which Sister Kenny has devised can be carried on in the home after leaving hospital.
Measles are still a widespread childish complaint with dangerous complications. But Dr. Jean Broadhurst and a band of colleagues were able recently, for the first time, to make the virus visible by means of a special stain, so that cases may now be diagnosed three days before the tell-tale rash shows.
To gain time against the enemy, or take it by surprise, is half the battle. Now medical researchers, impressed by Dr. Broadhurst's work, are hopeful of continuing her system in order to detect the virus of other diseases like smallpox, meningitis and infantile paralysis, thus leading to quicker identification and more successful treatment of them.
There are still great victories to be won. But the fight is ceaseless and world-wide. From the Chief Medical Officer of the Ministry of Health, we learn that the most stubborn enemies, in the order of their deadliness, are diseases of the heart, cancer, bronchitis, pneumonia and other respiratory diseases, nervous illnesses and tuberculosis.

The Charm Of Periwinkles
The coloured primroses associate perfectly with the tiny flowers of the small periwinkle. These are little like drops and smoky, and from a little distance they look like violets, the double blue and white varieties being particularly attractive. Unlike violets, periwinkles last well in water, especially if picked on stems with leaves and not merely with the flower stems. The tiny long leaves add to the charm of the mixture of primroses and periwinkles. On the surrounds of medieval books of hours, which were so commonly adorned with flower paintings, primroses and periwinkles are frequently depicted on the same page, and their association is happy.

Miss Catherine Cockerell is the only woman whose work was accepted for the Exhibition of Mod Art by Earl Baldwin recently. She specialises in delicate work, and at the exhibition she is showing a beautifully inlaid ivory dressing table set.

Miss Anna Zinkeison, who had been exhibiting at the Royal Academy since she was 18, sold three of her pictures at this year's exhibition. All three of them were claimed by buyers at the private view.

used here and in America, broken backs and broken necks are now being repaired.
Exactly twenty years ago, we in England were attacked by the greatest and deadliest pestilence of modern times—flu. The death-rate was appalling, and victims were swept away by the epidemic within a few hours.

NEW LIFE FOR THOUSANDS
Within recent months miraculous operations have been performed on the human heart. New muscles, new blood-streams and new life have been given—as well as great new hope—to thousands of sufferers.
In Louisiana, a Dr. Brooks has found a cure for pneumonia by using the injections of blood from a newly killed ox. The pneumonic fever—if not long established—is quickly reduced. And thanks to the wonderful discovery of Dr. R. Watson-Jones, which was first tried in Liverpool and is now successfully

FOR SPORTS WEAR.—This smart cream woolly three-quarter coat, is worn over a frock of maize sand crepe with pleated skirt and scalloped cuffs by a mannequin at the spring parade held at Blythes Ltd.

PRIMROSES ARE HERE
WHEN ARRANGING, FEWER FLOWERS GIVE BETTER EFFECT

Primroses are not always easy to arrange for indoor decoration. Their simple beauty does not lend itself to sophisticated methods, and in mass they are apt to look heavy; a better effect can sometimes be got with fewer flowers (says an English writer).

Again, primroses look delightful in low shallow bowls of moss with other diminutive simple flowers such as double daisies, aubretia, sprigs of that charming miniature wall-flower, Harpur new, and cyclamen flowers. If the coloured primroses are included, they should be used with discretion or they will dominate the effect.

Arrange With White Flowers
Primroses shine with an almost luminous beauty, and this should be borne in mind when using them for indoor decoration. Their luminous beauty is enhanced by skilful association with white flowers such as white anemones. The primroses should form the carpet, and if they are stuck in moss in a wide shallow bowl the violets, indeed, from many can be avoided. The taller growing anemones with their striking black central bosses give character to the arrangement. The pale colour of primroses also associates well with mauve flowers. Sprigs of rhododendrons give the necessary support to long-flowered primroses.

Since then our medical scientists have been labouring to find out three things: what causes flu, where it comes from, and how it can be defeated. To-day, the researches of our National Institute of Medical Research have nailed it down. Doctors now know precisely what the hitherto mysterious influenza is.

That is a partial victory, but the fight goes on and on. Each victory gives you a year or more extra life. And science is not just tacking years on to the end of your life; it is in fact making you younger, giving you extra years when you can enjoy them.

Since then our medical scientists have been labouring to find out three things: what causes flu, where it comes from, and how it can be defeated. To-day, the researches of our National Institute of Medical Research have nailed it down. Doctors now know precisely what the hitherto mysterious influenza is.

That is a partial victory, but the fight goes on and on. Each victory gives you a year or more extra life. And science is not just tacking years on to the end of your life; it is in fact making you younger, giving you extra years when you can enjoy them.

COCOA GIVES THEM ENERGY TO BURN!
A cup of Bournville every night

It isn't everybody who can smile when this happens! But old George Parker can bicycle twenty miles and then mend a puncture, and still keep smiling. That's energy for you. He's another cocoa-drinker, old George. Wouldn't miss it at supper any night. His wife wouldn't let him either!

A great youngster is Joan Hardy—just full of fun and mischief every minute of the day. Good at school, good at play. "She's a real cocoa fan," her mother says. Has a big hot cupful by the fire every night before bedtime. Jack looks envious—he loves Cocoa too!

Arno lives away out in the suburbs and arrives at her job in the City, punctual, smiling and full of energy at 8.30. It's fun, and her life's her own. She has a cup of Cocoa every night before going to bed. No wonder her boss is pleased with her energy next day and with her cheerful efficiency.

Use your old wire electric-light shade in the following way. Remove silk and binding, and after painting any desired shade, cover with green net. Crochet a handle for the top, and you have a very useful food cover.

Bride Wears Navy Blue Ensemble
HASTINGS CEREMONY

The wedding was very quietly solemnised at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Hastings, last evening of Peggy, only daughter of Mr and Mrs James Agnew, of Crownthorpe, and Charles Redgill, eldest son of Mr and Mrs Reginald Gardner, of Waipukurau. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. D. J. A. Shaw.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a model frock of navy marieette with beautiful braided trimming on the bodice and skirt and finishing the long sleeves at the shoulders. The neckline was cut high at the back and was slightly folded back in the front. She wore a smart navy hat and her only ornament was a string of pearls.

Following the ceremony a quiet reception was held. Mr and Mrs Agnew receiving the guests. Mrs Agnew wore a tailored costume of fine English tweed faintly checked. Her hat was navy blue and she wore a fur coat. Mr and Mrs R. Gardner, parents of the bridegroom were also present.

Later when Mr and Mrs C. R. Gardner left for their honeymoon, Mrs Gardner wore a marmot fur coat over her navy ensemble.

LITTLE PUPILS SEEN AT WORK
September Activities

The mothers of the children attending the Hastings Free Kindergarten were given the opportunity of seeing the kindergarten pupils at work on Wednesday morning and a good number of adults and tiny ones watched the children in their musical games, stories, and songs. They saw how clever they could be with scissors, paint brush and needles.

Morning tea was served by members of the Kindergarten Club and all were told of the club activities for September—a social afternoon on September 14 and an address on September 28.

The women spent a pleasant time in conversation while they watched the children.

The Kindergarten will reopen for the third term on September 6.

PLUNKET SOCIETY MEETING

The monthly meeting of the Waipawa branch of the Plunket Society was held on Tuesday afternoon.

Those present were: Mesdames Furnishing (president), Edwards, Gamby, Strang, McIntosh, Eagle, Chisholm, Allan, Towers, H. Rathbone, and the secretary (Mrs Mason).

The nurse's report was read and adopted. Miss Signal, the relieving nurse, was welcomed.

A motion was passed that the society stand aside in favour of the baths committee for the production of the "Reveille".

The president referred to the impending departure of Mrs Pepperell, who had been a very active member of the committee, and who would be greatly missed. On behalf of the members she wished Mrs Pepperell much happiness in her new home at Port Ahuriri.

A happy little party was held on Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mrs T. Carson, Victoria Street, Waipawa, when members of the Waipawa branch of the Women's Christian Temperance Union and their friends gathered, at the invitation of Mrs Carson, to bid farewell to Mrs R. Pepperell, who leaves shortly to reside at Port Ahuriri.

The afternoon was spent in competitions and items—piano solos by Mrs Walker, and songs by Mrs Pepperell.

Competitions were won by Mesdames Robertson, Vaughan, Hawke, and Pepperell.

A delicious afternoon tea was served, and afterwards Mrs Keen, president of the W.C.T.U., asked the guest of honour to accept a gift of Pyrex ware, and expressed regret at the loss of such an active member of the union. Mrs Pepperell suitably responded.

At the close of the afternoon Mrs Robertson moved a hearty vote of thanks to the hostess.

Is It Wise For Cousins To Marry?

A Sound Ancestry Should Silence Critics

When two cousins fall in love and the question of their marriage is referred to their elders, the usual reply is "Surely you don't want to run the risk of defective children?" Perhaps they are perfectly ready to take the risk. In due time the babies appear, all the relatives pronounce them satisfactory, and everyone is satisfied.

In a large proportion of cases, however, the confidence of the cousins is sufficiently shaken to make them seek advice (writes Paul Poponoe). Clearly the public still lacks that understanding which biologists have of the results of cousin-marriage. It is still largely dominated by the ignorant, if not superstitious, views of the past.

In the past marriage between closely related persons has been regarded as undesirable, if not immoral. From blood relationships the tabu was often extended to other relationships. A step-child, adopted child or godchild might be regarded as kin.

Sometimes, as in China, merely possessing the same name acted as a barrier, a serious circumstance in China, where most of the population shares about 100 common surnames.

Christian civilisation tended to make the bars even higher than among many primitive peoples. In England the law which prohibited a man from marrying his deceased wife's sister was not repealed until 1907 after a bitter controversy. Many American states still forbid by law the marriage of first cousins; Oklahoma extends the prohibition to second cousins.

On the other hand, in many instances much closer marriages than those of first cousins have been entered or approved. Among the ancient Hebrews, Sarah was Abraham's half-sister, and Moses sprang from the union of a nephew and his paternal aunt.

Neither Moses nor Isaac, products as they were, of such unions, are now described as incestuous, can be described as a bad recommendation for the system. They were vigorous and able men.

THE PHARAOHS' BRIDES

But the most extraordinary evidence as to the biologic effect of close matings is to be found in ancient Egypt. It was long the custom for the pharaoh to marry his sister, or at least his half-sister, in order to safeguard the royal descent.

The eighteenth dynasty, which ruled Egypt in the sixteenth, fifteenth and fourteenth centuries before Christ, represents as high a point as the power of the country ever reached. Almost a founder of this dynasty, liberated his country, made it secure from future invasion and began the restoration of the great architectural monuments of Upper Egypt.

He married his sister. Their son, Amenhotep I, extended the empire. He, too, married his sister. Their daughter Aahmes married her half-brother Thutmose I, a great builder.

The daughter of these two, Queen Hatshepsut I, married her half-brother Thutmose II. She overshadowed her husband and was the actual sovereign, the greatest queen of Egypt.

She was succeeded by her nephew and stepson, Thutmose III. This monarch "was a man of a tireless energy unknown in any Pharaoh before or since. He built the first real empire, and is thus the first character possessed of universal aspects, the first world hero." And he was the product of five unbroken generations of brother-sister marriage.

This great man married his half-sister. Their son, Amenhotep II, was a man of extraordinary physical strength, who claimed that none of his subjects could bend his bow.

In nine generations, characterised by close inbreeding, there was no diminution of physical or mental vigour.

Biologically, cousin marriages differ from others only because the husband and wife have the same ancestry to the extent of 50 per cent. If this ancestry contains good traits, the offspring will benefit by getting a double dose of them; they may excel their parents. If this ancestry contains bad traits, the offspring likewise get a double dose of these and are handicapped accordingly.

MRS FENG WANG TO SPEAK
All Women Invited

Members of the Hastings Townswomen's Guild met in the Guild room yesterday afternoon to complete the arrangements for the meeting to be held in the Oddfellows' Hall, Hastings, on Wednesday, August 24, at 10.30 a.m. when Mrs Feng Wang, wife of the Consul for China, and Mrs W. E. Barnard will speak on the "adoption" of Chinese refugee children.

The guild members have organised the meeting but it is open to all women and all interested are cordially invited to attend.

At the preliminary meeting yesterday Mrs A. F. Glenn, the guild president, was in the chair, and with her was the secretary, Mrs F. Deans.

Mrs Glenn spoke of the wonderful work which Mrs Deans had done in organising the meeting. She had been in touch with every possible women's organisation to enable them to tell their members, and the representatives of about 80 organisations had been able to do so.

Mrs C. Clark had kindly offered to do the flowers for the stage and several guild members volunteered to act as ushers.

The generosity of guild members in organising contributions which would cover all the expenses of the meeting was much appreciated. This has made it possible to donate all the collections at the meeting to the fund.

A vote of thanks to Mrs Glenn and Mrs Deans for all their work was proposed by Mrs Low and carried with acclamation.

THE PERFECT WIFE OF 1795
Qualities Desired by the Would-Be Husband

In 1795 a would-be husband advertised for a wife. He wrote: "Wanted immediately, a woman who would be pleased with a husband; she must be sound of mind and limb, of a moderate fortune, tolerably handsome and not subject to drunkenness. She must not scold but once a month, must comb her hair at least once a week and, above all, she must neither chew tobacco nor take snuff. The copper will polish more quickly, and the lustre will remain longer than otherwise."

If powder puffs are washed in warm water to which a teaspoon of olive oil has been added, they will become softer than when new, also improving the application of powder.

To boil milk without burning, before putting milk in the saucepan boil a tablespoonful of water rapidly for a few minutes. Then pour out the water and put in the milk. It will never burn.

A Busy Production Period At Studios

THREE of the foremost attractions on the studio's programme for the current production season are under way at the Paramount studios. The group, which will create more activity on the various stages than has been experienced in many weeks, comprises the Frank Lloyd production, "If I were King," starring Ronald Colman; "Artists and Models Abroad" and the technical air epic "Men With Wings," for which air sequences will soon commence.

"If I were King" with Colman starring in the role of rascally Francois Villon, 15th century poet, and Frances Dee, Basil Rathbone, Ellen Drew, C. V. France, Alma Lloyd and Colin Tapley as principal supporting players, will get under way immediately. The picture will require approximately three months' actual photography.

More Films. "Artists and Models Abroad" will be made under the direction of Mitchell Leisen and will star Jack Benny and Joan Bennett with the Yacht Club Boys.

"Men With Wings," the cast of which is headed by Fred MacMurray, Ray Milland and Louise Campbell, is in the early stage of studio photography and then it will take to the outdoors for the spectacular air sequences.

Paramount has six pictures scheduled to go into production within a month. "Beauty and the Beast" with comedian Ben Blue, "Paris Honey-moon," with Big Crosby, "Arkansas Traveller," with Bob Burns, "Bulldog Drummond in Africa," with John Barrymore, and the Harry Sherman production "The Mysterious Rider" and "The Return of the Fox."

Comment On The Films

FILMS AT HASTINGS.

"Big City" is the unique story of a single slice of life in a great city and the adventures of a taxi driver in a struggle to survive.

Young love has its heartaches—and the whole Jones family headaches when Bonnie and her bridegroom come home from their honeymoon to "Love on a Budget."

"Good-bye Broadway" concerns two former Broadway vaudevillians who buy a small hotel.

Music, romance and comedy are combined in "Romance in the Dark," which tells of a country servant girl who is turned into a Persian princess.

"Penrod and Sam" is Booth Tarkington's famous comedy-drama of a group of adventurous small-town boys.

An absorbed diplomat who gives all his time and attention to political problems and neglects his wife is the central figure in "Angel."

"The Baroness and the Butler" provides a gay situation when a serious butler outrages a count's family and friends by a surprising breach of conduct.

The dreaded Devil's Island, painted in fact and fiction as the hell of the tropics, serves as the locale for a highly exciting and powerful drama, "Escape From Devil's Island."

"They Met in a Taxi," a gay comedy romance, revolves round a charming dress model who is accused of stealing a pearl necklace from an heiress' bide while modeling the wedding dress in a wealthy girl's apartment.

"Law of the Underworld" deals with gangster activities in a large city where a modern Jekyll and Hyde leads a double life as a society man and as the head of a local crime ring.

One of Selznick International's publicists, on a special magazine assignment, approached Roland Young the other day with a request: "Do you have anything unusual around your home we might photograph?" Mr Young was asked: "You know, any bric-a-brac, oddities or museum pieces?" "Only Gene Fowler, he's living there," replied Young.

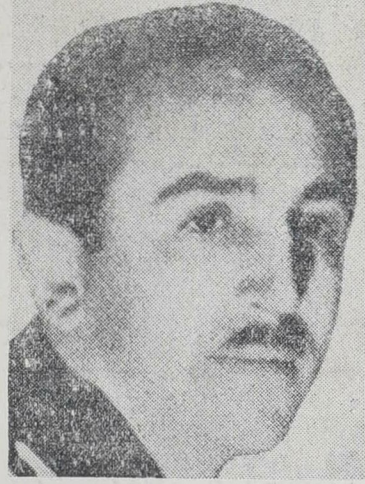

Bette Davis in a scene from "That Certain Woman," which is regarded as one of the best dramas ever screened. The Gaiety De Luxe will feature the film to-day. Ian Hunter plays the leading male role.

Walt Disney's Aim Is To Amuse His Audiences

TEN years ago an unknown young man who had been making animated cartoons of Oswald the Rabbit went to New York from Hollywood to persuade his business associates in that city to help him enlarge his small studio so that he might develop some new ideas. He had no success, and, although his resources were limited, he then and there decided to sever his connections with them and do it alone.

Young Man. This young man (for he is still young) has just been East again. This time he made the trip to receive honours from two of the nation's most famous institutions of learning for doing what he set out to do a decade ago.

But when Yale and Harvard hung their masters' hoods on the shoulders of Walt Disney they were only confirming the judgment of the entire world as to the importance of his work. Academic degrees add nothing to the charm of the ridiculous rodents, the wily wolf, the playful pup or the diverting dwarfs which rival living actors and actresses in popularity on the screen.

Understood Everywhere. Their language is understood everywhere. They are universal, as Tolstoy said true art must be. Yet the man who has instilled new life into the folklore of the world says he knows nothing about art.

"What is art?" said Walt Disney, repeating the question. "How should I know? We are just moving picture producers." (He always uses "we" in speaking of himself where his work is concerned; he refuses to take all the credit for himself.)

Aim to Amuse. "Our aim is to amuse; if we do that we feel that we have accomplished our purpose and if the public likes what we turn out we just hold our thumbs and consider ourselves lucky."

Disney is bigger and huskier than he seems at first impression. He wears his straight, dark hair fairly long and one rebellious lock has a habit of drooping over his right eye. His heavy eyebrows almost meet above a thin, high-bridged nose, and a short-cropped moustache, markedly lighter than his hair, does not hide his small but full-lipped mouth.

Serious Outlook. There is the same serious outlook on the world in the creator of Mickey Mouse as there was about the man who breathed life into Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn. Both men were first looked upon as entertainers of children, but what was originally thought to be fare for juveniles was soon seen to appeal to grown-ups as much as it did to youngsters. The bushy-haired Mark Twain was as typical of his time as Disney is of his.

"To begin," said Disney, "how can anyone say what art is? You see a painting, which may mean nothing at all to you; I may look at it and be stirred. To you it is a dabb, to me it is art. One man covers a canvas with paint, picturing perhaps a bunch of blocks and keyholes, and another spoils a perfectly good piece of marble by hewing out a monstrosity.

Both Artists. "Both men say they are artists and a lot of people agree with them. Another chap makes a piece of furniture with graceful lines, a piece of furniture that serves its purpose and is beautiful, and he is considered a cabinet-maker. I think some one who makes a bed with good lines, in which you can sleep comfortably, is more of an artist than the one who paints a picture which gives you a nightmare.

A Masterpiece. "Have you ever looked at a masterpiece," he asked, "and wondered which was crazy—you or the man who painted it? I think it is impossible to say what art is—for often what is art for the goose is not art for the gander. We can only paint things as we see them, and few people see things alike.

"I have no favourite painters," he replied to a question. "I don't know anything about painting. Oh yes, I go to exhibitions and I envy the men who can paint a figure or a landscape. But for me there must be something more in a picture than the literal rendering of an object. If that were all that is necessary a camera would be a better artist than Rembrandt.

Art Exaggerated. Disney believes that, after all, art must contain some exaggeration. It may be an exaggeration toward the beautiful, toward the ugly or toward the humorous. "Every portraiture painter," he said, "unless he is one of those buck-eye painters who copy photographs, exaggerates some of his sitter's characteristics. But you are careful and don't give me 'Mickey Mouse' ears!"

Paramount studios have acquired the film rights to the popular R. C. Fetherstonhaugh book, "Royal Canadian Mounted Police," and will bring it to the screen as an outstanding Technicolour production with Dorothy Lamour, Ray Milland and Akim Tamiroff heading the cast.

Marlene Dietrich and Herbert Marshall in "Angel," a new comedy romance of unusual appeal. Melvyn Douglas plays an almost equally important part in the film, which comes to-day to the Regent, Hastings.

Merle Oberon and Binnie Barnes play the leading feminine roles in "The Divorce of Lady X," an outstanding comedy drama filmed in effective technicolour. The picture opened its Napier season at the State Theatre yesterday.

Harold Lloyd Talks Of Favourite Sequences In His Numerous Films

THE productions made by Harold Lloyd have always been rich in memorable comedy scenes and the comedian, now at Kernville, California, on location for Paramount's "Professor Beware," was reminiscing with some of his staff recently on favourite shots in his past productions.

From "Grandma's Boy" he chose that never-to-be-forgotten moment when the cat began licking the grease from his shoes while he was courting his best girl. He had another very funny scene in that same production, the one in which he ate mothballs, thinking they were candy.

"A Sailor Made Man" brought forth convulsions from the audience when they witnessed Lloyd in the act of devouring a cake sailor's hat.

Party Sequence. Lloyd's favourite shot in "The Freshman" occurred during the party sequence when his evening clothes, hastily basted together by a tailor, began to fall off, piece by piece. The football shots were included in his list, one in particular being the scene in which the "Freshman," trying so hard to make the college team, was used by the "Varsity" as a tackling dummy.

In "Haunted Spooks" the comedian was shown trying to pass a parked automobile in which two Hebraic characters were carrying on a conversation. Arms shot out of both sides of the car and Lloyd never was able to get by.

Almost every inventive moviegoer will remember the scene in "Safety Last," in which the comedian climbed up the side of a building and hung from the hands of a clock.

Magician's Coat. In the ballroom sequence of "Movie Crazy" was a scene which will be long remembered by those who saw it. It showed Harold with a magician's coat, prepared in advance and containing almost anything.

Lloyd's last picture, "The Milky Way," had a particularly outstanding scene in which he took a newborn colt on a taxi ride through New York City. Every time the colt whinnied, Lloyd burst into a long horse-like laugh in order to convince the taxi-driver that he was not carrying an animal in the car. The driver was convinced, but his expressions left no doubt as to his opinion on his passenger's sanity.

Dick Powell, who is starred with Fred Waring in "Varsity Show," a new musical production.

Greta Garbo and Her Habits

Greta Garbo's lack of interest in clothes is not so complete as you might think. She has an extensive and frequently replenished wardrobe of sports clothes. For her favourite severely tailored suits she has tried tailors in all the great capitals of culture and couture.

She likes wearing what she likes, but she does care about what she wears—and loves changing several times a day.

She has never eaten a meal in her own dining-room. She either eats in bed or on the porch of her Californian home.

Her kitchen is the last word in modernity and efficiency. Refrigerators are a hobby with her. She has the latest model which lights up inside when you open the door, and a set of revolving hors d'oeuvres dishes.

She has had the same negro chauffeur-butler for eight years.

Her latest purchase is a caravan trailer, which she drives herself. She hates to hear the call boy at the studio yelling "Miss Garbo, please," so she has given him an old motor horn. When he honks she knows she's wanted on the set.

How You Can Tell What Is Coming

MOVIES are a lot more subtle in their approach to certain situations these days than a few years back, but the signs are still there for the enlightened fan to read if he knows his technique.

There are certain "standard" situations which, if you know your cinema, will tell you exactly what is coming.

When you see a cafe setting with checkered cloths on the tables, and half a dozen bartenders in their shirtsleeves busily dishing out schooners of beer while a marimba band whines out a throbbing rumba, you are safe in laying two to one that it is a favourite resort in some hot country of sailors, marines and soldiers.

And when the place rejoices in the euphonious name of Nigger Jake's or Pete's Place, you can almost name the second when a fight will start that will develop into a free-for-all brawl by the time the funny native gendarmes come storming in.

It is effective and when such a scene, which highlights Warner Bros.' "Submarine D.1." flashes on the screen audiences usually enter into the spirit of it as enthusiastically as the players.

The only difference between the fight in this picture, which is staged in the sort of a setting just described, and many another one is that this comes as close to being the real thing as anything ever filmed.

Heads were actually cracked, one extra player suffered a broken leg. Pat O'Brien, who shares starring honours with George Brent, sported a black eye, and Wayne Morris, juvenile lead, wrenched his right arm severely.

Director Lloyd Bacon is a realist. When he called upon a large group of huskies to stage a real battle for the benefit of the cameras, they went to it with a right good will and wrecked the set in little more than two minutes flat.

Proving that it is possible, even in a "standard" situation, to get something new and satisfying for fans whose constant demand is for novelty.

"Submarine D.1." as its title indicates, is a story of the undersea navy, one into which a great number of thrills have been injected by the astute Bacon and his aids.

William Powell and Annabella are co-starred in "The Baroness and the Butler," a successful comedy romance which is the present attraction at the State, Hastings.

COMMENT ON THE FILMS

FILMS AT NAPIER.

"The Divorce of Lady X" is an outstanding comedy, filmed in the very latest technicolour, and features Merle Oberon.

Primitive life of the "hill folk" of the Ozark mountain region is depicted in Paramount's outdoor picture, "Girl of the Ozarks," which stars Virginia Weidler, Paramount child actress.

One of the best dramas ever screened, "That Certain Woman," is a film which will be long remembered. Bette Davis and Ian Hunter play the leading roles.

The home-life of children in the poorer districts in American cities is excellently portrayed in "Boy of the Street," by Jackie Cooper, who is responsible for some excellent acting.

Glenn Morris and Eleanor Holm are the stars in the latest and best of the Tarzan jungle films, "Tarzan's Revenge."

Navy in action . . . 2000 cadets on parade, all the gallant, glamorous, glittering pageant of the grand old school which breeds sea dogs, is depicted in "Gentlemen of the Navy."

"Red River Valley" is a stirring action drama of the West, with Gene Autry as the singing, dare-devil cowboy.

Olympe Bradna, the sensational new Continental actress, proves an unqualified success in "Stolen Love," a bright romantic film.

Love, loyalty and larceny go haywire in "State Police," a roaring, raging romance of mad excitement, frenzied speed and thrilling battles.

A hilarious comedy, "Everybody's Doing It," has a fine cast which is headed by Sally Eilers and Cecil Kellaway.

NATIONAL HEALTH SCHEME REVIEWED

HON. P. FRASER REPLIES TO B.M.A.

Letter Sent To Dr. Jamieson POINTS OF HEALTH SCHEME OUTLINED

Position Of Medical Profession

"Daily Mail" Special Service.
WELLINGTON, August 19.

The accompanying letter is a copy of one addressed to the president of the New Zealand branch of the British Medical Association by the Minister of Health, and referred to in the letter from the president dated August 13, 1938, informing the Minister that the association was not prepared to offer further co-operation in regard to the National Health section of the Social Security proposals.

OFFICE OF MINISTER OF HEALTH, WELLINGTON.
11th August, 1938.

Dear Dr. Jamieson:
ADMINISTRATION OF MEDICAL BENEFITS UNDER THE SOCIAL SECURITY LEGISLATION.

As promised I am sending this letter by way of formal confirmation of the statement made by the Honourable Mr. Nash at our meeting last evening with Mr. T. D. M. Stout, Dr. P. Lynch and yourself. Our object is to inform your Association not only of the principal features of the Bill affecting the profession, but of those details of the proposed administrative arrangements that have been the subject of representations by the Association.

1. MEDICAL BENEFITS.—This is to comprise General Practitioner Services. The range of service is intended to be somewhat similar to that of the British scheme, i.e., set out those involving the application of special skill and experience of degree or kind that general practitioners as a class cannot reasonably be expected to possess. Medical attendance is included under Maternity Benefits.

2. REMUNERATION.—This is a matter upon which the Government is willing to enter into immediate discussion.

It is recognised that in the interests of the service the aggregate professional remuneration of practitioners as a whole should under the scheme be something better than it is under present conditions. The proposal is to determine "a basic capitation fee" i.e. the average amount per person that is represented by the aggregate remuneration (including mileage) of the doctors for (a) general practitioner services and (b) for attendance on maternity cases.

Subject to a reasonably equitable distribution and practicability from an administrative viewpoint it is proposed to allow the profession itself to decide the methods of distributing the remuneration.

3. ADMINISTRATION.—In the course of preparing the present legislation careful regard has been given to the various conditions put forward by the profession and it is now possible as regards some of these conditions, to give a definite indication as to the extent to which the legislation and the arrangements generally are likely to give them practical recognition.

The following principles have been put forward in the course of discussions with representatives of the profession.

(1) That medical practitioners should have the right to be consulted by the Government or its nominees before any regulations are promulgated that can in any way affect them.

The Government proposes to take every possible step to ensure the fullest consultation with the profession before any regulations affecting it are gazetted.

The Bill provides for the appointment of consultative bodies and the formal recognition for consultation purposes of, to quote the Bill "any Committee or other representative body for the time being constituted to promote or safeguard the interests of the members of any profession affected by the operation of this part of the Act."

Particular reference is made to the constitution and functions of these advisory bodies later.

(3) The statutory right of every registered medical practitioner to undertake National Health Insurance Service.

This right is provided for in the Bill.

(4) Free advice as between doctor and patient subject to the right of the doctor to refuse to accept a particular patient. (Any regulations affecting this must be most carefully drawn. The present British regulations seem quite fair to all parties and work well.)

Specific provision to give effect to this principle is made in the Bill. The procedure and arrangements generally for the exercise of the right of selection and also for the assignment of patients who have failed to make a selection or who have been refused by the doctor they have selected will be very similar to the provisions under the British scheme.

(5) Administration of medical benefit to be separated from the administration of the cash benefits, and to be through a body having effective representation of the practising profession.

The Bill provides for medical and other treatment benefits to be placed under the Minister of Health and the Health Department. Administration on the technical side will be by the Director-General of Health and District medical officers under his control.

The general administration, apart from the technical and professional side will, as already indicated, be in the hands of three commissioners, one of whom will be the Director-General of Health.

(6) Professional discipline to be maintained by tribunals mainly professional in constitution as in the British system. This principle is recognised in the Bill.

(7) The relations between specialists and general practitioners to be adjusted by a Central Medical Authority set up by the profession.

This is understood to mean the determination of questions whether a particular professional service rendered or to be rendered by a particular practitioner falls within or outside the scope of general practitioner services.

This procedure will be determined on the recommendation of the Central Medical Committee or a committee nominated by it.

ADVISORY BODIES.
The following is a brief description of the constitution and functions of advisory bodies on which representation will be given.

CENTRAL COMMITTEES.
(1) Central Medical Committee.

This is a body representative of the profession that is to form the means of consultation by the Minister on matters affecting medical service under the scheme. It would correspond with the Insurance Acts Committee of the British Medical Association under the British scheme. It is proposed that the committee consist of seven members appointed by the Minister on the nomination of the Council of the New Zealand branch of the British Medical Association with special representation from the Faculty of Medicine of the Otago University, the Australasian College of Surgeons and the Australasian College of Physicians.

Of the seven members, four would be general practitioners, one a member of the Faculty of Medicine, one a member of the College of Surgeons and one a member of the College of Physicians.

(2) Central Pharmaceutical Committee.
This committee would be appointed to advise in reference to the preparation of—

(a) A national pharmacopoeia orulary.
(b) A drug tariff which includes:

(i) The prices on the basis of which the payment for drugs and appliances ordinarily supplied is to be calculated.

(ii) The method for calculating the payment for drugs not mentioned in the drug tariff.

(iii) Dispensing and other fees payable in respect of the supply of drugs and appliances.

(iv) Standards of quality for drugs and appliances ordinarily supplied.

(c) Terms and conditions of service for chemists and others supplying drugs, etc.

(d) Conditions under which medical practitioners in rural areas are to be allowed or required to supply drugs, etc.

(ii) The assignment to insurance practitioners' lists of persons unable to secure their own selection, etc., and related duties in connection with doctors' lists.

(3) District Health Committee:
This is the suggested title of the principal district committee in each area representative of the public and of bodies and persons peculiarly interested in the administration of the scheme. Except that it would not be entrusted with executive functions, it corresponds with an Insurance Committee under the British scheme.

Its functions here, it is agreed would include:—

(a) Assistance in such manner as may be prescribed in the local administration of the Medical Pharmaceutical and hospital benefits.

(b) Receipt and reports on investigation into complaints arising from the provision of the aforesaid benefits.

(c) Assistance in taking such steps as may be necessary to acquaint persons with the procedure for obtaining benefits.

(d) Assistance in general health propaganda.

The suggested personnel of the District Health Committee which would be appointed by the Minister is as follows:—

(a) The Medical Officer of Health or his deputy (chairman).
(b) One nominee of the Hospital Boards of the district.
(c) One nominee of the pharmacists of the district working under the Act.

(d) One representative for every 50 or part of 50 (but not more than three) medical practitioners of the district. Representatives to be nominated by the medical practitioners of the district working under the Act.

(e) One representative for every 30,000 persons in the district but not more than 3, one of whom is to be the representative of the Friendly Society.

Heavy Rain At Wellington

SLIPS AND WASHOUTS

Houses Silted Up In Lyall Bay

MUD SPREAD THICKLY

By Telegraph—Press Association.
WELLINGTON, Aug. 19.
Heavy rain was experienced in Wellington last night, the total being 2.41 inches, most of it between 11 p.m. and 1.30 a.m.

Coming on top of the soaking the hills have received for some weeks past, the downpour resulted in slips, wash-outs, flooding and silting to an extent beyond the experience of the younger generation of Wellington citizens.

Slips occurred in nearly every part of the city and suburbs, some of them across the tramlines. One in the Ngalo Gorge stopped early morning motor traffic.

Houses in Sutherland Road, Lyall Bay, were inundated and the floors covered with silt to a depth of more than 18 inches. One of them had the ground washed from the piles, which are hanging on the jobs.

Silt, leaves and brushwood covered the road to a depth of many feet, and in places motor-cars are silted in more than axle-deep. Houses below were also affected, not so badly, however, but water from a different source silted up a residence in Queen's Drive.

A big slip came down the southern corner of Wakefield Park, and another on Erskine Road made it difficult for cars to get through. There was a large slip on a high bank in Adelaide Road, and a house in Wallace Street has been left just on the edge of a slip there.

The blocking of culverts and drains, or their inability to carry the great flood of water, was responsible for many wash-outs and some of the slips, and great accumulations of mud are spread inches deep over large areas of streets all round and about the city.

ties of the district and one woman.

In forwarding this confirmatory letter I am glad to take the opportunity of expressing appreciation of the constructive criticism and the able and ready assistance afforded by your Association's representatives in formulating a suitable system of administration.

It is recognised that agreement has not so far been reached with the Association on the important matter of the qualification of persons entitled to claim medical and other treatment benefits to be provided under the legislation.

However, from the recent discussion I formed the impression, which I gathered was shared by your two colleagues and yourself, that apart from the matter just mentioned, there is nothing of importance that is likely to be an issue of any difficulty with your Association.

Yours faithfully,
(Sgd.) P. FRASER,
Minister of Health.

PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

In past years the report of the Controller and Auditor-General on the Public Accounts has frequently drawn attention to the unsatisfactory methods used in the presentation of departmental and other accounts and balance-sheets.

It is pointed out that it should not be presumed that the accounts are false, but to use the words of a previous report, often they are "inaccurate and misleading."

Of course, the ultimate result is not affected by the method of the presentation of accounts, but the individual items may be misleading.

The chief causes of complaint are:—(1) The treatment of exchange costs; (2) the method of allocating interest receipts; (3) the transfer of sums from one account to another; (4) the tendency to alter the form in which accounts are presented, so that continuity is destroyed, or comparison with previous years is difficult; (5) the reducing of Parliamentary control over expenditure by legislation which gives normal Parliamentary control over to departments, Ministers, or even single officials.

From the public point of view much of this may be regarded as of interest only to accountants or to sticklers for routine. Actually it goes for deeper than this, for the reason that Parliament itself may be misinformed on points such as those mentioned.

It is fair to say that although in the main the accounts as presented give full and adequate information on points of public interest, there are several important accounts from which it is difficult to extract essential facts.

For instance, in the annual report of the broadcasting services, the trading accounts of the individual commercial stations are not revealed. As a result, the public learn that there has been a loss, without information as to how the loss occurred, or whether establishment charges were brought into the trading accounts and to what extent.

It should be remembered that many statements have been made concerning these services, added to which there was the recent incident over a broadcast speech by the man in control, and if the Prime Minister's view that the present Controller is the best man for the position is not to be open to doubt, some explanation of the account is clearly opportune.

SOME RARE NOTES ABOUT HOBBIES WHETHER FAMOUS OR OTHERWISE YOU CAN STILL FIND ENTERTAINMENT IN COLLECTING.

We started talking about hobbies, and of how the curious thing to look for nowadays is not people who have hobbies, but people who haven't (writes Evelyn Roe in the "Christian Science Monitor").

Henry Ford has his Greenfield Village at Dearborn, Michigan, with Wayside Inn in Massachusetts for an appetiser. Einstein has his violin playing. Colleen Moore sailed away to Europe the other day with her fabulous doll's house—and it probably started as the hobby of any child, for dressing small dolls, and making small furnishings with which to surround their doll life.

There is a woman in Massachusetts who grew up with a liking for tinkering over old, broken-down bicycles. Her hobby has turned into her business—though it remains as much of a hobby as a business—perhaps even more so.

Not long ago, people pushed money through the ticket seller's wicket at a Chicago movie palace all most faster than she could gather it in, to see a Hollywood movie star "in person."

Many chemists have music for a hobby, but Dr. Frank Black, musical director of the National Broadcasting Company is a musician who has chemistry for a hobby.

In New York, right in Radio City—it could hardly be more convenient for a lot of the people who patronise it—there is an institution called the Universal School of Handicrafts.

Jane Pickens likes to weave rugs and make bobbin lace. She says it gives her time to think. Reed Kennedy believes in beginning at the bottom. He passes up all the trappings of fancy cutlery used in advanced woodworking and sticks to a plain, ordinary jackknife—the kind that, arranged in wonderful, shining wheels in hardware store windows, always collect a crowd.

Local Body Amalgamation. On August 30, evidence from the Rabbit Boards of New Zealand will be heard by the Parliamentary committee investigating Local Body Amalgamation.

Deputation to Minister. The Hon. F. Langstone, Minister of Lands, is to receive a deputation at Wellington on August 29 regarding the difficulty experienced in rabbiting in the State Forest Reserves.

Old-time Dance. An old time dance will be held this evening by the British Legion at the United Hall, Lyndon Road, commencing at 8 p.m.

Washday Worries. Owing to the bad weather in Hastings up till last week many housewives had to delay their family washing, and in consequence clothes lines were taxed to capacity.

Address on China. To enlist the sympathy of the women of the Dominion in the work of succouring the children of war-stricken China, Madame Feng Wang, wife of the Consul for China, is at present carrying out a lecture tour of the Dominion.

Art Exhibition. The work of hanging the Canadian Art Exhibition in the Hawke's Bay Art Gallery at Napier is proceeding smoothly.

War Affects Exports. A drop of nearly a thousand tons in the quantity of caseln exported from New Zealand was recorded last year, probably due to unsettled conditions in Japan.

Asparagus and Peas for London. If wrapped in cellophane and stood upon damp sphagnum moss, bundles of good quality asparagus may be kept at 33 degrees Fahrenheit for about six weeks.

Building of Canoes. Two more of the fleet of seven war canoes which Princess Te Puea Herangi, of Ngaruawahia, is having built for the New Zealand Centenary celebrations in 1940, have reached a stage where they are ready to be transported to Ngaruawahia.

Historic Communion Cup. A clear glass Communion cup, used by the Rev. Samuel Inneside when administering the Sacrament at Nelson on his first visit in June, 1842, has been presented to the museum at the Methodist Congregational Office in Christchurch.

Fire Destroys Convent. The Northcote Convent of the St. Dominic Sisters, on the northern side of the city, has been almost entirely destroyed as a result of a fire shortly before noon.

Hurried Escape Made By Two Nuns. The Northcote Convent of the St. Dominic Sisters, on the northern side of the city, has been almost entirely destroyed as a result of a fire shortly before noon.

Mr. J. J. Hall, East Coast manager for International Correspondence school, leaves to-day by car for Auckland where he intends to stay for a few days.

Mr. Donald Gray, the young New Zealand author of "Poetry and Prose," which has received excellent notices from critics in New Zealand papers is on holiday and is staying with relations in Hastings.

Mr. Alan Grant has returned to Hastings after visiting Wellington.

lected playing cards for years. He said that he ought to be getting together for his hobby is the same. They could probably show each other a thing or two.

There's a man who lives near the Canadian border in Vermont who began, years ago, cutting pieces of tin into the shape of snowflakes. He sheathes his house with them. Thousands of people have gone to see him; thousands more have written to him. Ask him why he chose that for a hobby and he would say, like Frank Black, "Dunno; guess I just like the idea of 'snowflakes'."

That's about all there is to having a hobby. An idea, and liking something. It isn't what your hobby is that's important, it's that you have a hobby.

A woman wrote to Dave Elman, who has the programme on the air known throughout America as Hobby Lobby, and she said, "Perhaps you would like to hear about my hobby. It is reading logbooks of old whaling vessels."

Rolland Young's PENGUINS. Rolland Young, whose brand of dry comicality saves him from ever being out of favour at the theatre, collects penguins—not live ones, penguin models. Why? "Oh, I like the looks of them. They're deuced dignified."

Someone else, sitting in when we were talking about hobbies, said, "The thing to look out for is not to be too strict about a hobby. If you tie yourself all up with a lot of restrictions, the whole thing is apt to become a chore."

That struck a reasonable sound in the ear of your correspondent, who hesitated to call a small, if growing collection of bottles a real hobby, and yet sees no particular reason for not doing so.

But those who have gone through the process of acquiring a hobby and learning to live with it have, for the most part, eventually found out the truth of what the man said about the virtues of moderation in all things.

Stages. Hobbying is apt to be pretty acute in its early stages, producing many a tussle with one's better self when there is something to be done on the more serious side of life.

Personal. Mr. J. J. Hall, East Coast manager for International Correspondence school, leaves to-day by car for Auckland where he intends to stay for a few days.

Breakfast Table

"How did you enjoy watching the football match?" asked Flo's elder brother.

"Oh, they didn't play after all," said Flo. "Just as they were beginning, one man got hold of the ball and started running away with it, so they all jumped on him, and they had a fight instead."

"What was your plum crop like this season?" asked a visitor.

"Well, we had a heavy storm that blew down 50 per cent. of it. And we'd hardly gathered that when another wind came along and blew down the remaining 50 per cent."

"Oh, rotten luck! Could you do anything with them?"

"Well, my wife ate one, and I ate the other."

For every ill beneath the sun There is some remedy or none. Should there be one, resolve to find it. If not, submit, and never mind it.

"Ha," cried the doctor, on seeing his patient, "you're looking much better. Have you been following my instructions and eating on a three-year-old-child would eat?"

"Yes, doctor," was the sad reply. "I've eaten mud and coal-dust, a button-hook, and heaps of matches."

"What do you recommend for my wife's fallen arches?"

"Rubber heels."

"What shall I rub 'em with?"

NATIONAL BROADCASTING SERVICES ARE REVIEWED

Commercial Stations Show Loss Of £12,000: Details Of Report

"Daily Mail" Special Service. WELLINGTON, August 19.

A loss of almost £12,000 for the first two years' working of the Commercial Broadcasting Service is disclosed in the annual report of the National Broadcasting Services for the year ended March 31, 1938.

The revenue account of the National Broadcasting Service, on the other hand, shows a surplus of almost £100,000. The loss in the Commercial Service is made up as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Year, Amount. 1937: £4566/13/9, 1938: £7386/17/5

Total for two years ... £11,953/11/2

The account shows that the expenditure incurred by the National Broadcasting Service amounted to £12,435 1/2. The largest individual item of expenditure was one of £109,525 16/8 on programmes including salaries of the programme staff.

Revenue of the service amounted to £311,817 2/1. Of this sum £308,022 17/- was provided by the licence fees paid by listeners.

The report states that, partly because of increased transmitting hours and partly because of the operation of additional stations, programme expenditure increased at the rate of £34,000 per annum, and maintenance costs at the rate of £14,000 per annum.

Commercial Service. The section of the report dealing with the commercial service states that the year's work was necessarily regarded as one largely of establishment, for at the beginning of the year only one station of the proposed network was actually in operation.

The last station of the network, 4ZB, Dunedin, was not opened until as late as October 12, 1937. Preliminary organisation involved the service in a comparatively heavy expenditure for establishment costs and other non-recurring items.

The report states that it was estimated that advertisers alone had spent during the year over £25,000 on feature programmes from the best studios in England, Australia, America and New Zealand.

In addition to the amount spent by advertisers, a further amount of £17,000 was spent directly by the service in the provision of programmes. Of this sum £5457 was paid in fees to artists.

A table in the report shows that advertising revenue for the year ended March 31 amounted to £98,407, made up as follows: 1ZB, £39,055; 2ZB, £33,663; 3ZB, £15,524; 4ZB, £10,165. Advertising rates were based on the difference in population and coverage.

The section of the report dealing with the National Broadcasting Service states that during the year £98,975 4/10 was advanced to the Commercial Broadcasting Service, and £29,375 19/7 was deposited by that service to the broadcasting account.

The net advances to the commercial service at March 31, 1938, amounted to £80,269 19/6, which included £11,270 14/3 net advances prior to March 31, 1937.

HOME LIFE SAID TO BE RESPONSIBLE

THE CRIMES ACT

Criticisms By Sydney Judge

The failure of the community to provide a good environment for young people who come before the criminal courts was trenchantly criticised by Mr Justice Foster, of the County Court Bench, in an address to the Constitutional Club, Sydney.

"To my mind," he said, "it is who should be sent to gaol, not they. We have failed to provide adequate or decent surroundings for the young mind."

In his experience, said the Judge, most criminals came from suburbs where home life was bad or non-existent. That must mean that the moral blameworthiness of young delinquents must be very much less than was generally believed.

Punishment could be more effective if more care and intelligence were used in framing legislation and dealing with delinquents. Judges had not yet adequate provisions for dealing with cases that came before them, and there were still great possibilities for reforming the legislation governing Judges' Courts in the reclamation or punishment of young criminals.

Speaking of judges' problems, Mr Justice Foster said that theories of punishment were both incoherent and vague. Each judge must adopt for himself principles upon which to proceed. But where were judges to draw the line when the issue seemed to be between the community as a whole and the criminal's claim as an individual?

The idea of public retribution was also a factor in a judge's decision. There was in the minds of all a feeling that the community must get retribution for crime. It could not be left out of consideration in assessing punishment.

Should a judge try to sense the will of the publishing public, should he indicate that people should have better views and try to lead public opinion? Mr Justice Foster said he had tried once to sense the will of the publishing public in sentencing a sexual offender to 10 years' imprisonment and telling the prisoner that it was a ridiculous sentence.

Another problem for the judge was the sentencing of a man whom he knew was innocent, although he had been convicted. In one such case, said his Honour, he had allowed a man with a bad record to go on bond. Five years later he had seen that man in honest employment and happily married.

"Of course, I should have given him five years," said the judge, "but did I do the community more service by saving him than I would have done by using him as a deterrent to others by imprisoning him? It is impossible to say."

OMARANUI CLUB MEETING

SUCCESSFUL YEAR

"Two-Life" System Opposed

During the annual meeting of the Oamaru Bowling Club last evening, presided over by Mr T. B. McDonald, objection was voiced against the principle adopted by the Hawke's Bay bowling centre of allowing a two-life system in tournaments.

After discussion it was decided to instruct the delegate to support the old system. Reference was made during the evening to the loss to the club of two members who had died, of Messrs E. P. Smyrk and J. A. Wilkinson. Messages of sympathy were sent to their relatives.

The finances of the club are in a healthy state and those responsible for the management of affairs were complimented.

The Kelly Buttons played for eight times during the season, were won by the present holders, Messrs Wainwright and Oliver.

This year the R.S.A. conducted a tournament for returned men at Waipawa. The Oamaru Club represented by Messrs Gallagher, Golding, Blair, and Oliver were beaten in the final.

The local R.S.A. and the Club played a match this year for a cup presented by Messrs Henry Williams and Son. The club won the green; and it is hoped that this match will become an annual fixture.

Acknowledgement. Thanks were extended to all those who helped during the season; to Mrs Neilson, to Messrs Pain, King, and Williamson, and to Messrs Henry Williams and Son for the donation of trophies; to the ladies of the Croquet Club who have provided the afternoon teas and for their generous donation of £31 towards the funds of the club; to Mr W. H. Brown for his work on the green; to Mr Oliver for the very complete record he kept of all matches played; to Mr Langley for acting as hon. auditor to the club; and to the Press for publishing reports of the activities of the club.

HERETAUNGA MAORI CHOIR BACK AGAIN

Successful Visit To Australia For Samuel Marsden Centennial

THE CRIMES ACT

Criticisms By Sydney Judge

The tour of the Heretaunga Maori Choir, which visited Sydney to take part in the Samuel Marsden centennial celebrations, concluded with the choir's return to Hastings yesterday. The choir was conducted by Miss B. McHutchon.

The Bishop of Aotearoa (the Rt. Rev. F. A. Bennett), who accompanied the choir, also returned yesterday.

Commenting on the anniversary celebrations to the "Daily Mail" last night, Bishop Bennett said that they had been an unqualified success. This could largely be attributed to the visit of the New Zealand choir.

No attempt had been made to commercialise the visit to Sydney. All expenses had been met by the Australasian Church Missionary Society. It was very fitting that this should have been done as the society was responsible for sending Samuel Marsden to New Zealand. It had financed the Maori Mission until 25 years ago.

The visit of the choir had successfully put the Anglican Maori Mission of New Zealand on the map as far as Australia was concerned. It was the first time in history that a party of Maoris from the Anglican Church had visited Australia.

The choir had played a leading part in the anniversary services. They had visited all the suburbs of Sydney and had sung in the parishes. One of the most impressive services of the tour had been held in Samuel Marsden's own house, said the Bishop.

Marsden's house was in the suburb of Windsor, and it had been carefully preserved. The choir had sung a special native lament, the words of which had been suitably altered to fit in with the occasion. The conductor of the choir, Miss B. McHutchon also expressed herself so pleased with the success of the tour.

All concerts had been arranged in two sections, the first being taken up with choral items, and the second with traditional Maori music and action songs. Practically every parish in Sydney and its suburbs had been visited, and a big public concert had been given in the Chapter of St. Andrew's Cathedral. I all cases the reception given the choir had been most enthusiastic and most appreciative.

The Maori music had been a new experience for Sydney audiences. Miss McHutchon said last night. So successful had been its appeal that the party was offered engagements to undertake an extensive tour of Australia, and an offer was even made for the choir to tour America. Requests were also made for the choir to make recordings, but owing to the limited time which the choir had, it was necessary to refuse all these offers.

Miss McHutchon expressed pleasure at the support which had been given the choir from New Zealand friends. She made special mention of the support given by the "Daily Mail."

HISTORIC OCCASION

By Telegraph—Press Association. WELLINGTON, August 19. The secondary schools' Soccer team which will leave for Sydney this afternoon was entertained by the Minister of Internal Affairs (Mr W. E. Parry) at the Houses of Parliament.

Present were the Hon. P. Fraser, F. Jones, and H. T. Armstrong, members of the New Zealand and Wellington Football Association, and people interested in the National Council of Physical Welfare and Recreation.

Commenting on the fact that it was the first New Zealand boys' team to go overseas, Mr Parry said that the occasion would be an historic one.

He congratulated those responsible for organising the tour, and said that the team would be a credit to New Zealand. On behalf of the Prime Minister, the Government, and the people, he wished the team every success.

Messrs Fraser, Jones, and Armstrong added their congratulations and good wishes.

Mr J. A. Milburn, chairman of the council of the New Zealand Football Association, said that the gathering augured well for the success of the tour.

The two managers, Messrs J. Y. Walls, of Wellington, and W. R. Martin, of Auckland, also spoke.

Mr C. R. Bach, Physical Welfare Officer, advised the boys to make friends in Australia with whom they could maintain a regular correspondence.

CLOSING DATE OF THE SESSION IS NOT KNOWN

Mr E. L. Cullen, M.P., Says Rumour Has No Official Foundation

"I would like to emphasise that a report appearing in certain newspapers regarding the closing of Parliament is quite without official foundation," said Mr E. L. Cullen, M.P., in his address at the opening of the bazaar organised by the Hawke's Bay Trades Council and General Labourers' Union at Hastings last night.

"It is not known officially when Parliament will close," he said, "and conjecture such as this should not be published."

In the course of his address, Mr Cullen referred to the Prime Minister's speech in the House on Thursday evening, with particular reference to the Government's Social Security Bill.

This speech, said Mr Cullen, must have appealed to all interested in the welfare of the country. It was worthy of a Prime Minister of New Zealand.

Mr Cullen congratulated the organisers of the bazaar and referred briefly to the coming election campaign.

It was gratifying to learn, he said, that the Labour Party was being supported so wholeheartedly throughout the country. The proceeds from the bazaar would be a welcome contribution to the funds of the party.

It showed considerable initiative on the part of the Trades' Council and Labourers' Union to organise a gathering of this nature and he hoped that the union's efforts would meet with success.

The ladies' committee had earned particular mention for their efforts to make the bazaar a success. He had no doubt that a great deal of good was entailed in the organising and superintending of such a bazaar.

Extradition Of Suspect

AUCKLAND ROBBERY

Arrangements have now been made for the extradition from Australia to Auckland of Arthur Stickings, otherwise known as Peter Fisher, aged 31, who was arrested at Sydney last week-end and charged with robbing Frank Pickering of £219/9/-, the property of the Atta Taxi Company, Ltd., at Auckland, on August 8.

One of the Auckland detectives who made inquiries after the hold-up, Detective Wilson, will leave for Sydney by the Wanganele to-morrow to conduct Stickings back to Auckland. It is not yet certain when he will return.

Another man, who has been arrested on the allegation of being connected with the robbery, Harold Last Gray, ship's fireman, has been removed from Christchurch to Auckland. He will appear in the Magistrate's Court on Monday.

The Health Insurance system involves a complicated administration of its own; and if we superimpose upon our own health administration this borrowed system, a cumbersome structure will result. We consider that it would be wiser before introducing National Health Insurance to review and amend the existing administrative machinery which has developed in an irregular manner during the rapid changes of a century's growth and settlement.

Responsibilities Scattered. "An important point is that present health responsibilities are scattered amongst so many departments and unrelated bodies that departmental control must be exceedingly difficult.

There are also too few health districts, and too many hospital districts. For thirty years this association has supported proposals for the reform of hospitals and health administration. Hospital districts could be large enough to enable all hospital and health activities to be co-ordinated in a district relationship, so that the local health interests should be related to the department through its district health officer.

There is urgent need for provision of satisfactory central control of all hospital activities throughout the country. This control is desirable and necessary in the matter of new hospital buildings; in deciding on different types of hospital accommodation; in the training of administrative and professional officers; in the method of appointment of professional staffs so as to ensure that the best medical talent in the district may be available in the hospital; in the provision of special institutions such as, say, cancer hospitals and tuberculosis sanatoria.

It is necessary in such system of control to understand the special position of the metropolitan hospitals on account of their geographical position and the additional duty of medical education with which they are now charged. In such an organisation the administration of an insurance system, if and when adopted, would naturally fall. We are aware of the great difficulties surrounding such reform, but think it a necessary prelude to any further addition to our system if complication and even confusion are to be avoided.

"Representations Ignored." "These are matters which require extensive inquiry and discussion. They have been represented to the Government by the association as being urgently necessary, but, so far from having taken any notice, the Government has completely ignored them.

"Instead it has preferred to go ahead with its own proposals, which, though involving vast cost and possible disruption of the economic structure of the country, cannot effect any improvement in the general health of the people. This, at first blush, may appear to be a startling statement to make.

"It is, however, based on the irrefutable fact that the Government does not propose to provide any more for the health of the people than is provided at present, and has preferred to elect the association's proposals which would have effected a substantial improvement."

AIR DEFENCE OF AUSTRALIA

AEROPLANES MAY BE BORROWED

ORDERS PLACED

Industrial Resources To Be Mobilised

The Commonwealth, as a temporary measure in the acceleration of plans for the air defence of Australia, may arrange to borrow twin-engine aircraft from the British Government.

This proposal, which is believed to be an outcome of the visit to Australia of the Inspector-General of the Royal Air Force, Sir Edward Ellington, would overcome the difficulty Australia has experienced in procuring the delivery of orders for new twin-engine planes placed in England last year.

Other important proposals for improving the defences of Australia were reviewed at a meeting of the Defence Council. These included an elaborate national plan for mobilising industrial and commercial resources in any grave emergency.

After the meeting of the council, the Prime Minister (Mr Lyons) who presided, said that satisfaction had been expressed at the manner in which defence plans were proceeding. A steady improvement in the defence preparation of Australia could be discerned.

Sir Edward Ellington, who, at the request of the Commonwealth Government, was conducting an investigation into the R.A.A.F., attended the meeting in an advisory capacity. He explained the defence programme of Great Britain, and it is understood that he also referred to several aspects of air defence in Australia.

Air Force Progress.

The council also received a report of the progress made in the three-year programme of expansion of the R.A.A.F. These plans include the establishment of new air stations at Darwin and Brisbane; and the stationing of a second squadron at Pearce, Western Australia.

A tentative programme provides that the Darwin air station will be ready early next year, and that Brisbane will follow soon afterwards.

It is known that the opening of new air stations and the establishment of new squadrons will severely tax the present aircraft reserve, and that, unless more planes are obtained, existing squadrons will have to be weakened to provide aircraft for the new establishments.

Uncertainty prevails about the twin-engine aircraft on order in England, the delivery of which is not likely for at least another 12 months. The Federal Ministry is considering a plan by which twin-engine machines from England would be at the end of 1937. These were Avro Anson bombers.

To obviate any delay in establishing new air stations, it is believed that the Federal Ministry is considering a plan by which twin-engine machines which have seen some service can be obtained on loan from the Royal Air Force.

Some of these machines would probably be of the Avro Anson type now in use in the R.A.A.F. The addition of more planes from Great Britain under such an arrangement would permit Australia's defence plans to proceed without an embarrassing hitch.

The mildest form of "common cold," if left untreated gains firm hold; but checked right without delay it soon subsides and fades away. Waste not an hour in careless doubt. One strong dose will drive it out.

The dose with such unflinching force. Means Woods' Great Peppermint Cure, of course.

CONSIDERATION OF THE ESTIMATES House Of Representatives ATTITUDE OF NEW ZEALAND AT GENEVA

Seasonal Farm Labour

By Telegraph-Press Association. PARLT. BLDGS., August 19. Consideration on items of the Estimates occupied the House of Representatives during most of to-day's sitting. Nine clauses, providing for a total of £775,153, were passed, bringing the total Estimates sanctioned so far this session to £877,503.

Answering an urgent question by Mr T. D. Burnett (Nat., Temuka) in regard to labour for the period of seasonal work now approaching, the Minister of Labour (the Hon. H. T. Armstrong) stated that work connected with the lambing season, haymaking and harvesting was treated as short-time work and that no stand-down period whatever was imposed on men who left subsidised work to accept such engagements.

New Zealand's representation at Geneva was discussed, the Rt. Hon. G. W. Forbes (Nat., Hurunui) urging that unanimity should be preserved among Empire delegates at League of Nations discussions.

The House of Representatives was occupied this morning with the consideration of the Estimates. In the course of an urgent question Mr T. D. Burnett (Nat., Temuka) asked that in view of the period of seasonal work throughout the Dominion now opening, would the Minister of Labour definitely state if the stand-down period in Europe that the British Commonwealth should speak with a united voice.

PRIME MINISTER'S BROADCAST

Discussing the vote of £24,395 for the Prime Minister's Department, Mr Mackenzie King, in a broadcast from Ottawa, said that the information given out from the Prime Minister's Department over the radio had a fair amount of party twist in it.

REPRESENTATION AT GENEVA

The question of representation at Geneva was raised by Mr J. Hargest (Nat., Awarua) who suggested that all items relating to New Zealand's share in the League of Nations should be shown under one heading, so that it could be seen what the total cost was to the Dominion.

IMMIGRATION POLICY

Speaking on the Department of Labour vote of £103,330, Col. Hargest (Nat., Awarua), asked if the Government was beginning to extend its immigration policy. He said that he was referring to the item of £780 for passage money for immigrants, and asked if the amount referred to the 10 carpenters recently brought to Auckland.

NEED FOR MORE PEOPLE

"We want a larger market for our own manufactures, and that can only happen in the main by more people," said Mr Broadfoot. He agreed that in the past New Zealand had had excellent settlers from northern Europe, and if the

Another Country could not spare the type of people New Zealand wanted to fill its spaces, the Government should make the opportunity of immigration available for the people of those other nations.

Mr Broadfoot also stressed the importance of child migration schemes. Replying, the Minister of Labour said that there had been no change in the immigration policy since last year.

The item referred to by Col. Hargest covered the gross payment of passage money to the shipping companies. Approximately two-thirds was recoverable from the immigrants and the Imperial Government in equal shares. The vote was passed.

FUTURE INDUSTRY FOR HAWKE'S BAY?

New Rice-growing Plots Are To Be Cultivated In Hastings

Hopes of establishing rice-growing as a future industry in Hawke's Bay are still entertained. A preliminary step towards the project was made last season with the cultivation of two experimental plots in Hastings, but this year it is proposed to carry the scheme further forward.

Two plots, one in Cornwall Park and one tended privately by Mr J. Wattie (who introduced the experiment to the province), showed gratifying results, though the ears of rice did not swell sufficiently for harvesting.

The experiments will be repeated this year, but on a larger scale. Last season the rice plots were both small, the larger in Cornwall Park being about 8ft. by 6ft.

This season it is proposed to extend the plots to, at least double this size, the Superintendent of Reserves (Mr J. G. C. Mackenzie) told a "Daily Mail" reporter yesterday.

The seed for this season's experiment has already been purchased, and the plots will be prepared at an early date.

Confidence in Prospects. Provided normal weather was experienced, there was confidence that the experiment for rice-growing in Hawke's Bay were particularly good, said Mr Wattie last night.

There was no question, Mr Wattie said, that commercial rice-growing opened up quite an avenue of possibilities. For one thing, a polishing mill would have to be established and there would be other subsidiary industries.

Boxing In Hastings

Tiger Parks To Meet Jack Davis

FINE AMATEURS

The stage is all set for the big contest which will take place in the Municipal Theatre, Hastings, on Wednesday, August 24, when Tiger Parks will meet Jack Davis in a professional boxing match.

Tiger Parks, the negro welterweight, defeated W. Parris in the Wellington Town Hall on Thursday night in one of the best contests ever seen in Wellington. Parris, ex-welterweight champion of New Zealand (amateur) found the Tiger too hard, but in Jack Davis the Tiger will meet a different boxer. A thrilling fight can confidently be expected.

A team of Wellington amateurs is to appear in the preliminary bouts, which will provide splendid entertainment. The Wellington team is reported to be fit, and a good night's boxing is assured.

The amateur bouts are as follows, the Wellington names being mentioned first:— P. McPherson v. T. Crowcutt, L. Mulholland v. R. McIvor, R. Hutchinson v. B. Sparling, G. Imlack v. H. McIvor, R. Bottie v. A. Purcell, D. Mullitt v. A. Lucas, R. Gregory v. J. McIvor, C. McCann v. A. Kitt, E. Poote v. R. Davis.

Mr George Deakin has presented a cup on behalf of the Waitemata Brewery to be presented to the winning team on Wednesday.

The box plans are at Donovan's and patrons are advised to book early.

Football Match At Wellington Representative Rugby Match A Topic Of General Discussion

The main interest in the sporting world of Hawke's Bay to-day is in the coming representative football match, Hawke's Bay v. Wellington, which is to be played at Athletic Park, in Wellington.

Ever since the departure of the Hawke's Bay team for the capital city yesterday morning, local interest has been centred on the prospects of this long awaited match and on the chances of the team returning with the coveted Ranfurly Shield after the southern tour.

The Sub-Union Rugby representative match, Hastings v. Southern Hawke's Bay, will attract a lot of attention at Nelson Park in Hastings this afternoon. Football fans will be interested to watch the Hawke's Bay players in action without some of the star players, who are at present in Wellington.

Today marks the opening of both the Lane and Swain Cup competitions. Pirates meet Celtic on No. 1 ground, McLean Park, Napier. The last meeting of these old rivals, which took place a fortnight ago, resulted in a narrow win for Celtic, the match being somewhat spoilt from a spectators' point of view by the condition of the ground.

At present the ground is firm and today's game promises to provide a good exhibition of Rugby. On No. 2 ground Pirates juniors meet Te Maori at 2.45 p.m. in the opening game for the Swain Cup knock-out competition.

The completion of the Napier section of the fourth grade competition will be between Pirates and M.B.O.B. This match will be played at 1.30 p.m. on No. 1 ground.

In the hockey field, following Pirates' surprise victory last Saturday, there is every prospect of Karori defeating the championship leaders, United, as the leaders have a depleted side and Karori are fielding one of their strongest teams to date.

Sub-union representative match, Hastings v. Southern Hawke's Bay, at Nelson Park, Hastings, 3 p.m.; juniors at 1.30 o'clock. At McLean Park, Napier: First round Lane Cup knock-out competition, Pirates v. Celtic; junior grade championship final.

MINIATURE RIFLE SHOOTING HASTINGS CLUB'S RESULTS

Teams Are To Be Selected. About 50 enthusiastic members of the Hastings Rifle Club met on Wednesday evening for the final of the trophy shoot. J. A. Hogg won the B grade and J. Golds the A grade, both with a fair margin.

On Tuesday evening the third association shoot will be held on the Hastings range, and the following members are asked to attend as the teams will be selected from them. The Hastings A team and the B team are both at present in the lead by small margins, so it is expected that a keen competition will result on Tuesday evening.

Mr G. A. Maddison, was unanimously re-elected chairman of the Hawke's Bay Education Board at yesterday's monthly meeting in Napier.

Mr J. S. Wauchop, who was later elected deputy-chairman, said that Mr Maddison was one of the oldest members of the board, and in the previous years he had spent in the chair he had always controlled the board's affairs in an admirable manner.

It was to be remembered, said Mr H. S. M. Quigley, that the chairman's honorarium was not sufficient when compared with the honorariums granted in the case of other local bodies. He wished to support the selection of Mr Maddison as chairman of the board.

Those present were Mr J. S. Wauchop (deputy-chairman), and Messrs C. C. Lawson, H. S. M. Quigley, C. R. Sainsbury, C. H. Critchley, E. H. Baker, G. H. Cooke, the Rev. R. B. Waugh, W. L. Dunn (secretary), J. A. Henry (senior inspector), F. Melhuish (assistant secretary), A. Fleming (architect).

Department's Grant. A letter was received from the Education Department advising that the sum of £9,561 had been approved for payment to the board for the maintenance of school buildings for the year ending March 31, 1939.

The grant made in 1937-38 was £9,225, and in 1936-37, £7,688. A request that the transport of children to the Opapa school should be arranged was received. The chairman said that no action could be taken until the erection of a native school in the area had been completed.

Chinese Refugee Children. Hastings Contributions For Fund. A total of £38/10/ has been received in contributions at Hastings for the Adoption of Chinese Refugee Children Fund. PUBLIC SCHOOLS' APPEAL REQUEST GRANTED Education Board's Discussion

A letter from the New Zealand Educational Institute asking for permission to make a general appeal to public schools in the Hawke's Bay Education Board's district for contributions to assist in the support of Chinese war orphans was received at yesterday's meeting in Napier of the board. The request was granted.

Mr E. H. Baker (Gisborne) referred to an article published in yesterday's issue of the "Daily Mail" and stated that such a terrible position, as found in China to-day, is worthy of support.

Too Many Appeals? That too many appeals are being made on schools was the opinion of Mr W. A. Cuthbertson, who said that if this appeal was allowed, it would be only natural to expect a similar request for the Spanish destitute children.

"That is a different situation," said Mr Baker. "The situation in Spain is very different," Mr T. Rowe said, "for in that country the people are fighting among themselves, whereas the war in China is one of invasion."

MINIATURE "MINX" EXHIBITED Motor Cavalcade Projected

Perfect in every detail and a veritable triumph of the model maker's craft, a model of a 1938 Hillman Minx Saloon, built to a scale of one-twelfth actual size, has been specially constructed for inclusion in the S.M.M. and T. exhibit in the British Pavilion at the Canadian National Exhibition, which is being held at Toronto from August 26 to September 6.

"Motor Cavalcade—1926 to 1938" is the official description given to this exhibit and, as its name implies, it will comprise models of representative types of British motor-cars from the earliest steam driven vehicles to the present day Minx, covering a period of more than a century.

THE DEFINITION OF AN ELECTRICAL UNIT

Central Hawke's Bay Power Board Divided In Opinion

WAIPIKURAU.

A refund on the Waipukurau Borough Council's account for power used in water pumping was granted by the Central Hawke's Bay Electric Power Board yesterday, after a protracted, and at times rather animated, discussion. The principal point of difference was the definition of a unit.

An agreement between the Borough Council and the Power Board stated, subject to certain other provisions, that power used for water pumping should be paid for at a rate of 3d per unit. A short time ago the board replaced the kilowatt meter with one registering in k.v.a., resulting in an increase in the council's account estimated by the board's engineer (Mr G. L. Beer), at about 20 per cent.

At yesterday's meeting of the Power Board Mr J. McCarthy contended that there could be only one definition of a unit. The British Board of Trade schedule defined it as a kilowatt hour.

There was also the k.v.a. hour unit, said Mr Beer. Regarding a clause dealing with pumping in daylight hours he said that this had at no time caused a peak in the board's demand for Government supply.

Mr McCarthy eventually moved that a rebate according to the test-power factor should be granted, and a new meter registering kilowatt hours installed.

Mr Beer: Then the k.v.a. meter, which cost about £100, will be of use only if the borough should happen to come on to the peak load.

"It must be obvious to every member of the board that our charge is too high," said Mr R. A. Fraser in seconding the motion.

An amendment moved by Mr F. J. Witherow that the board obtain an interpretation of the agreement was lost by four votes to three. The motion was carried with three dissentients, terminating a discussion lasting fully an hour.

Borough Fire Alarm. A further disputed account concerned the payment for work carried out on the pilot line to the Waipukurau Fire Alarm. The secretary of the Fire Board, Mr H. B. Smart, denied responsibility on the grounds that the work in question was maintenance, and there was no fund for this purpose. It was agreed to reply in these terms.

The Director of Housing Construction wrote expressing astonishment at the board's minimum rate of 6p per annum for a water-heater up to 1000 watts. If some reduction were made the department would have to consider seriously the installing of some alternative form of water heating in other State houses that were to be erected.

Mr Holms remarked that in comparison with other boards their charges were very reasonable. There was little profit on water-heaters, and they "had never been keen on them."

The usual practice was to install a range and water-heater together, said Mr G. L. Beer, engineer. The rate for the latter was kept low in order to encourage range purchasers.

It was decided to reply in these terms.

Those present at the meeting were Messrs A. C. Russell (chairman), J. McCarthy, A. W. S. Longley, M. Ryan, A. C. Holms, W. H. Rathbone, L. W. Simpson, R. A. Fraser, F. J. Witherow and C. Pattison.

TOO MANY STAFF CHANGES?

DANNEVIRKE SOUTH SCHOOL COMPLAINT MADE

Education Board's Motion

Moving a motion that the Hawke's Bay Education Board should stand by a resolution recently passed by the committee of the Dannevirke South School, Mr H. S. M. Quigley stated, at yesterday's meeting of the board in Napier, that the school pupils had been greatly handicapped by the large number of staff changes during this year.

The resolution read:

"That this committee is satisfied that the Board has done its best but emphatically wishes to state that the work of the school has been seriously handicapped by the many changes in the staff this year. Feeling that this school has had more changes than other schools of similar grade, the committee respectfully asks the Board to do its utmost to maintain a permanent staff for the remainder of this year and to do the utmost in its power towards maintaining the permanency of the staff in the future."

Other members said that in their schools they had had as many, if not more changes, and pointed out that no teachers were transferred unless it was absolutely necessary.

The motion was then put to the meeting and carried.

Mercury Vapour Lamps

MODERN LIGHTING Engineer Gives Details Of Cost GREATER EFFICIENCY

WAIPIKURAU.

The method of fixing the charge for mercury vapour street lights was explained by the inspector-engineer, Mr G. L. Beer, to the Central Hawke's Bay Electric Power Board at its meeting yesterday.

The subject arose when the board was considering letters from the Waipukurau and Waipawa Borough Councils, in which both considered the charge of £13 per lamp excessive. The former council pointed out that the charge in Dannevirke was only £11 and inquired the reason for the difference.

The figure of £13 had been arrived at as follows, stated Mr Beer: Depreciation on fittings £9 3/6, energy £4, lamp replacements £6 10/6, interest and sinking fund £1 8/6, total £13 7/3.

Mr F. J. Witherow considered that the boroughs had no right to dictate the price of the lamps. The board knew nothing about Dannevirke, or whether their lighting was a paying proposition or not.

The boroughs were not trying to dictate, said Mr A. C. Holms. There might be some special reason for Dannevirke's rate of charge, but they naturally wondered at the difference.

In reply to Mr Simpson, the engineer said that his estimate of £5 for erection included the cost of new poles, as had been erected in Dannevirke. These were necessary in order to obtain the required height.

"Is there any special reason for pushing the sale of mercury vapour lamps instead of the ordinary type?" asked Mr Holms.

The light efficiency of the gaseous discharge lamps was about 6 1/2 times greater than that of the incandescent lamp, and for that reason they were being widely used all over New Zealand, Mr Beer replied.

On the figures supplied, the boards only profit would be £1 7/6 per k.v.a., said the chairman.

No action was taken, but a request from the Waipawa Borough Council to confer with the engineer and secretary-manager was granted.

Two Women Return The Best Cards Of The Day

TOLAGA BAY. Owing to the great amount of water lying over the golf links it has been impossible to play a medal match for over ten weeks. However, on Wednesday several members made a start and by making wide detours and removing shoes and stockings, about half were able to return cards. The best were those of Miss Weeks and Mrs A. J. Reid in the A. and B. sections respectively.

Members of the committee have been working on the links during the past few days making a drain with the view of having the water run off, but it appears to be an almost hopeless task for after-work labour.

Old residents say that it is over thirty years since such an expanse of water has been in the area and with the heavy rain on Wednesday and Thursday it is expected that the amount will be considerably increased.

RUGBY SUPPORTER DEPARTS

MR C. A. GALLAGHER FAREWELLED

TRIBUTE BY CLUB Loss To Central District

WAIPIKURAU. An enthusiastic supporter of the Waipukurau Football Club, Mr C. A. Gallagher was farewelled at a gathering of members and supporters of the club on Thursday evening. Mr V. L. King presided. Apologies for absence were received from Messrs J. D. Ormond jun., and A. W. Parsons, vice presidents of the club.

Proposing the toast of the guest of honour, Mr T. J. Hayes said that Mr Gallagher had been a very able delegate from the club on the executive of the sub-union. He had also been coach for a period, with most successful results, and had put the Waipukurau team in the place it occupied to-day.

In reply Mr Gallagher remarked on the good spirit existing in the club. He hoped they would always prosper, but not at the expense of any other club. There was room for two in Waipukurau.

"When I first arrived in Waipukurau I saw that the club had a team, and did not know if they had a team. I offered my assistance and from that time I continued to take an interest in the club."

They had made mistakes in the past season, he said, but they had been misinformed over certain matters and were perhaps more sinned against than sinning.

A presentation was made by the chairman, who wished Mr Gallagher every success in his future career.

Value of Tour. Replying to the toast of the sub-union, Mr A. L. McCormick referred to the value of the recent tour.

"Living in the country you are sure to be more or less cut off from football," he said, "and it is in such ways that you can gain recognition."

During the evening musical items were given by Messrs R. Neal and P. Smith. Other toasts honoured were as follows:

"Waipukurau Football Club" (Mr F. Gay—Mr V. L. King); "Kindred Clubs" (Mr Hayes—Mr D. Reid); "The Referees Association" (Mr M. Lane—Mr T. Spencer); "Ex-Players and Absent Players" (Mr R. Spotswood—Mr T. Spencer); "The Secretary of the sub-union" (Mr Hayes—Mr C. M. Williamson); The Press and the musicians (Mr K. Higgins).

Farewell by Staff. At a gathering of the Waipukurau railway staff on Wednesday, Mr Gallagher was presented with a crystal water jug and set of glasses. Mr F. P. Townsend, who presided, congratulated Mr Gallagher on being promoted to the position of assistant stationmaster at Danedin, and wished him every success in the future.

Other speakers were Mr T. J. Hayes, on behalf of the first division; Miss M. Phillips (refreshment room staff); Messrs F. Steel and J. Seabrook (second division); Constable W. R. Thomas (police), and Mr A. P. Green (carriers).

Mr T. Martin, the newly appointed stationmaster, also spoke. Mr Gallagher suitably replied.

ASSISTANCE IS DELAYED

OPOUTAMA FLOOD VICTIMS

REQUEST MADE Appeal By Farmers' Union

WAIROA. "That this Union strongly objects to the delay on the part of the Government in giving assistance to those farmers in the Oputama district who suffering heavily in the floods, in failing to open up the drains, and requests that immediate assistance should be given to all those in the affected area," was the text of a resolution carried at the monthly meeting of the Wairoa branch of the New Zealand Farmers' Union on Thursday.

The question was raised by the secretary (Mr D. H. Withers) who stated that when he learned the other day that nothing had been done he sent a telegram to Mr E. L. Cullen, M.P., requesting him to take the matter up with the Minister of Public Works (the Hon. R. Semple). Mr Cullen replied by telegram that he would carry out the request.

Undue Delay. Mr Withers stated that many engineers had visited the district but nothing had been done. In his opinion the time had arrived when the union should make a strong protest. It was not fair to the farmers out there. Other works were going on and they had been left.

The president (Mr A. T. Carroll) stated that he heartily endorsed the action of the secretary. It was the only thing to do. In his opinion they should keep drawing the attention of the Minister to the state of affairs existing there. He hoped that something would be done in the near future.

Mr P. J. O'Kane said he knew of the position at Oputama, and he felt sure that Mr Cullen would do his best.

Mr O'Kane then moved that a letter be forwarded to the Government protesting at the delay and asking that something be done immediately, the motion being seconded by Mr H. B. Taylor and carried.

"I think we should push this for all we can," said Mr Taylor. "The settlers out there are becoming very disheartened."

It was agreed that a copy of the resolution be forwarded to Mr D. W. Coleman, M.P.

Colourful Scenes by a "Daily Mail" Photographer

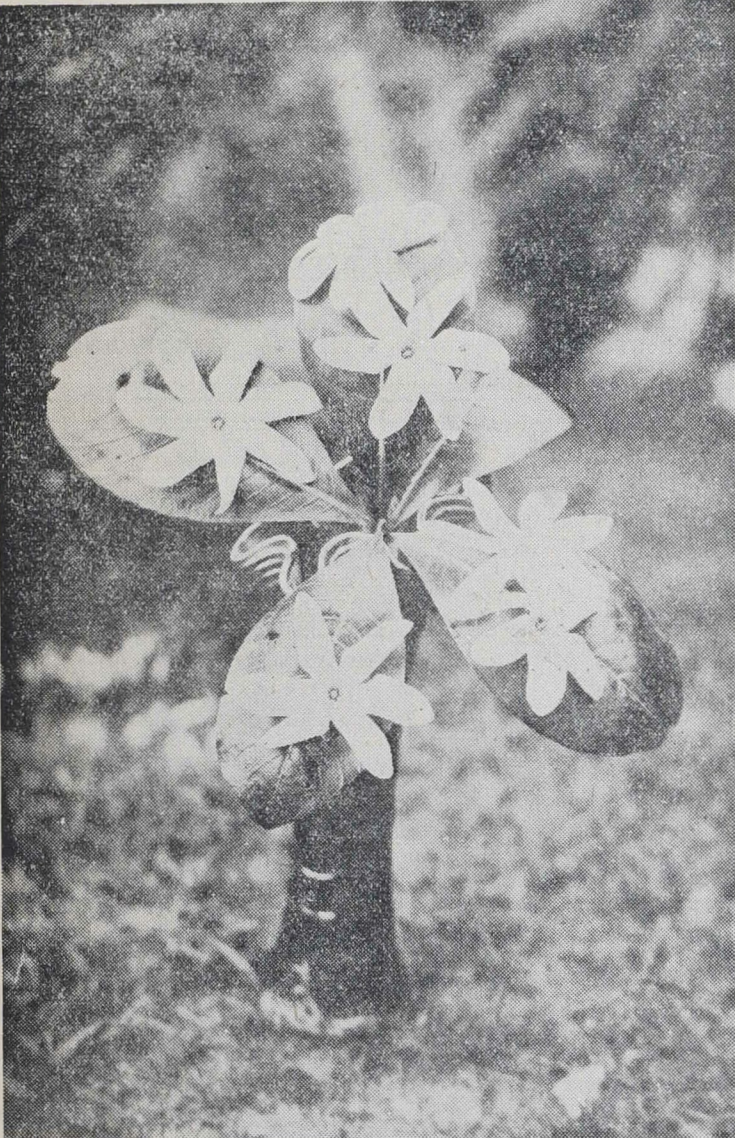

SUNSET AT NIUE.—The lonely little island of Niue was named Savage Island by Captain Cook—a fact which the islanders to-day are always eager to explain away. This picture, taken at sunset, gives a vivid impression of the clearness of the "blue-crystal" water of the open sea outside the coral reef.

A FRENCH-TAHITIAN HOME.—A modified form of the traditional native style of building is widely adopted by the French in Tahiti. This cottage stands at the edge of the beach at Paeu in the Presqu'île of Taiarapu.

WHISPERING PALMS.—Symbolic of the Islands, the coco-palm is one of the most graceful of tropical trees. This photograph was taken on a beach in Moorea, an island some twelve miles from Tahiti.

TIARE TAHITI.—The most fragrant of all island flowers; many legends are told in Tahiti about this starlike gardenia. The blooms in this picture were gathered in Moorea.

All the pictures on this page are the work of a member of the editorial staff of the "Daily Mail" who has travelled extensively in the South Seas, and has spent many weeks in places seldom visited by the average tourist. An illustrated series of articles on life and travel in the Polynesian Islands will be published in the "Daily Mail" shortly.

AT PAPETOAI, MOOREA.—Papetoai was the scene of a large portion of Hermann Melville's book "Omoo." The fantastic mountain skyline is characteristic of Moorea.

BEFORE SUNRISE AT PAPEETE.—South Sea Island schooners have for many years been a hunting ground for the romantic novelists, and the lagoon at Papeete, the little capital of Tahiti, is one of the few places left where these picturesque craft gather. The schooner in the distance is L'Oiseau des Isles, from Makatea.

Longburn Level Crossing MAY BE ELIMINATED

Indication by Public Works Department REPAIRS TO ROAD

An indication that the elimination of the railway level crossing at Longburn would be undertaken in the near future was given in a letter from the district engineer of the Public Works Department (Mr. A. R. Acheson), read at a meeting of the Manawatu Automobile Association.

The communication was in reply to the association's request in reference to the rough state of the road approaching the crossing from the south side. "I have made a further inspection of this section," Mr. Acheson said, "and am of the opinion that the condition of the road at this point is not sufficiently bad to warrant any considerable expenditure, in view of the fact that we anticipate making a commencement with the elimination of the level crossing as soon as the steel for the overbridge comes to hand."

"This section of road is certainly uneven, but it is really no worse than the section between Longburn and Palmerston North."

"It is only the effect of traffic coming off a much better section on the southern end that gives the impression of this particular section being particularly uneven. Actually, with the crossing so close the traffic should be starting to slow

Victorian Athletes OTAGO CENTRE TO ARRANGE VISIT Prominent Runners

By Telegraph—Press Association. DUNEDIN, August 19.

The Otago Centre of the New Zealand Amateur Athletic Association has decided to make arrangements for a tour next summer by a team of Victorian athletes.

Already Gerald Backhouse, who was so prominent in middle-distance races at the Empire Games, and was second in the record-breaking mile, and Ted Best, who represented Australia in the sprints, have signified their willingness to accept an invitation to visit New Zealand.

Backhouse, in a letter to the centre, said that the desirability of sponsoring meetings between Australian and New Zealand athletes had been felt in Australia for a long time. He added that it was likely that Fred Woodhouse would also be available.

If you have built castles in the air, your work need not be lost. That is where they should be. Now put the foundations under.—Thorau.

RECORD OF SERVICE Auckland Resident Celebrates NINETY YEARS OLD

Few people can claim to have lived a more useful life than Mr. George Knight, of Mount Albert, Auckland, who has just celebrated his 90th birthday.

A resident of Auckland for 55 years, Mr. Knight was closely and actively identified with the city's civic life for over three decades.

Mr. Knight was born in England in 1848 and, after his arrival in Auckland he established a butchery business in Karangahape Road in that city.

Among his many interests has been a keen interest in astronomy, and, as a young man, he was prominent as a preacher of religion.

He was one of the first members of the old Knights of Labour and, as a staunch Liberal, he was more than once pressed to stand for Parliament.

Among other public duties he has been chairman of the Hospital Board and of every committee, and chairman of the parks committee for the City Council.

He retired from public life at 80 years of age, and still retains excellent health. "Hey, waiter!" shouted the impatient diner. "Sorry, Sir, we don't serve it," was the waiter's reply.

THE TAHAROA MYSTERY

No Trace Of Indian SECOND VISIT BY COMMISSIONER Search Continued

By Telegraph—Press Association. AUCKLAND, August 19.

No trace of the body of the Indian store-assistant, Dalu Desai, who has been missing from Taharoa since May 7, has been found by the party of 17 men who are searching the district.

Several important discoveries have been made by the searchers, who have operated over a wide stretch of remote and difficult country, but no trace of the body has been found.

For the second time since the police camp was established at Taharoa a visit to the scene will be paid this week by the Commissioner of Police, Mr. D. J. Cummings, who arrived from Wellington by the Limited express yesterday.

"Lighthouse no good for flog," said the Chinese newcomer. "Lighthouse he shine, whistle he blow, flog bell he ring—and flog he come just the same. No good!"

THE WEEK'S MARKETS REVIEWED

Better Yardings Are Noticed
SALES ARE IMPROVED THROUGH FINER WEATHER

Buyers In More Generous Mood
(BY AGRICOLA)

Probably the improvement in the weather during the last week played its part in the better yardings which have been noticed. The yardings were better in two ways: the quality was higher than it has been for some time, and the number yarded was also higher. A much brighter tone was evident in all sections. This gives one the impression that farmers are still hoping that the spring will be early and that feed will not be short.

This is in direct opposition to the attitude a week ago, when the tone of the market suggested that farmers did not have a very high opinion of the coming spring season. The improvement in prices goes to show what a difference a few fine days will make to a stock market.

At the weekly sale at Stortford Lodge, the buyers were in a more generous mood than has been the case for the last few weeks. This attitude was also noticeable at Norsewood, Waipukurau, and Dannevirke.

From the vendors' point of view, it is to be hoped that even better values will be forthcoming. It was noticed that very few pens of breeding ewes were on offer at any of the sales. The season is getting late for this class, and vendors evidently think that the margin between profit and loss is too small, and prefer to hold on to them and breed the lambs themselves.

Quality was well featured in the fat cattle section, when some excellent pens were offered. Ox beef was not on offer, but nevertheless butchers were afforded a good selection in the rest of the section. At all sales markets finished firmly for fat cattle, but still prices are not up fully to vendors' expectations. An aspect of the sales this week was the very few passings that were noticed.

Some outstanding pens of female beef were offered at Stortford Lodge, one pen in particular coming forward in excellent condition. These consisted of a line of four solidly built Aberdeen Angus heifers, the heaviest of which would kill out at over 800lb., this line selling at 10/8/.

Other values varied from 15/10/-. Many of these lines were hard to choose from as far as quality was concerned, and some of the prices paid made one think that at times there is no accounting for a butcher's ideas of value. Taking everything into consideration, values for fat cattle remain on a par with late rates.

On Wednesday the commencement of the sale saw several lines of small, lightly-finished cow beef, after which there was a splendid run of really good quality sorts which brightened up the sale considerably. Competition for these good lines was brisk and bidding became very animated.

A particularly good line of extra quality Aberdeen Angus cows offered on account of Mr Selby Palmer, Maraetotara, topped the market for cow beef, the top weights of this line selling for 10/12/6.

Quality was much better than prices indicated, as the class of beast that was realising only round about 18 or 19 should be bringing nearly half as much again. Eweing cows are coming forward in larger numbers now and prices are showing a slight improvement. Most of the entries at this time of the year are showing well up in calf, and prices ranged from 15/10/- to 16/.

A particularly good line of 60 Aberdeen Angus cows in good store condition and showing well up in calf made 15/19/-, and a draft of Hereford cows in similar order ran out at 15/14/-.

For anyone that can afford to feed out these lines they were an excellent buy. Hoggets advanced. Hoggets again showed a firming tendency this week, being up in price by over 1/- a head on last week's values. As was stated in last week's review, many dairymen are speculating with hoggets as a means of making up the leeway on their losses through the unsatisfactory winter season which they have gone through.

Still another reason for the continuing firmness of the hogget market is the belief by many farmers of the district that the danger period for hoggets is over. This suggestion is very much open to dispute, as a writer has known of many cases where hoggets have died up to and past Christmas.

The class of hogget that has been brought forward at the recent sales have been a very bright and healthy lot, and should come through the rest of the winter season well. Also the wether hoggets on their condition should grow into large framed wethers, and at ruling prices should bring in a good margin of profit to the buyer.

The writer has the opinion that the commodity will show even more advancement during the next few weeks. Market Disappears. At the Wednesday sale only one line of breeding ewes came forward, and the other sales breeding ewes were also lightly represented.

The market for these has fallen away so much of late that vendors are of the opinion that it is better to hold on to their breeding ewes where possible, as the market for them will not repay for the feeding and not show any great profit. It is contended that the chances of better profit are assured by rearing the lamb, and from the fleeces of the few lines that have come forward it would appear that farmers are wise if they can hang on to them until after shearing. There is every indication of a bumper wool clip.

The breeding ewes that have come forward have been in the main of good store types and have been showing up well in the market. A feature noticed in this section has been that vendors in many cases have not been careful in the moulting of their sheep. In one instance, a line was put up as six-year-olds and with good mouths. Many of them had mouths which were not only broken but were decidedly "gummies." This has been noticed on several occasions.

The carelessness has also been noticed when it has been in favour of buyers. A case in point was a line of ewes described as six and eight tooth, which on being inspected showed a good percentage of two and four tooth. It must be understood that the younger sheep as far as the writer could see did not have anything wrong with them. They were not "undershot" and their fleeces were good, and from the point of view of wool, they were as good as the majority.

When buyers are not sure of what they are buying, it is bound to make a difference in the marketing value. Farmers would be amply repaid if they were more particular when they are having their sheep mouthed. Quality Improves. Fat sheep were well represented in the wether class, some very prime lines being noticed at this week's sales. Realisation showed a marked improvement over recent sales, good prime wethers bringing 25/-, one outstanding wether, in extra prime condition selling 28/6. This particular sheep was exceptionally heavily woolled, and would look well when hung up on the hook.

A fairly large entry of dry ewes was noticed and this seems to indicate that many farmers are going to show a smaller lambing figure this season, unless, of course, a sufficient number of twins arrive. Down ewes in prime order were fetching from 15/- to 27/-, and Romney sorts were making up to 23/-. In this section competition was more brisk than it has been for some time, and values finished firmly. Fat hoggets were not numerous, but the quality showing was high, most lines being well set up and of the nubby type; and as one auctioneer remarked, "they would look well on a plate." A summary of the week's review, is that, in all sections the tone of the market is far better, both buyers and vendors showing more confidence than has been the case at recent sales.

POETS WHO MADE RACING LIVE

Gordon, Paterson and Ogilvie FIELD OPEN FOR MODERN VERSIFIERS

Australians Set High Standard

(By MOTUROA)

There are few subjects in this mundane world which lend themselves better to the art of the poet or the versifier than incidents connected with the Sport of Kings...

And it is at a time like this—the "off season"—that one has time to stop and wonder: "What has become of our racing poets?"

That the writer who can turn ordinary, everyday incidents of the Turf into lulling rhyme is assured of a wide circle of readers, and a certain amount of pecuniary gain, is certain.

Unfortunately, the field is singularly blank at present and many of the leading sporting journals in Australia have offered liberal payment for such "copy" in vain.

Of poets and verse-makers there does not appear to be any shortage, but the subjects which appeal to their fancy are still the same old, time-worn subjects—Spring, and the grassy dells with babbling brooks, declining to the deep wells of limpid blue of some flappers' eyes.

Doubtless the loss of poetical interest in matters concerning the horse is simply a sign of the changed times. It is the age of Decadence but things, fortunately, were not always so.

ADAM LINDSAY GORDON—out-cast, mounted policeman, racing man, Member of Parliament, steeple-chase rider, recipient of a legacy, Australia's national poet, bankrupt and suicide, set the main for other sporting verse-makers to follow.

And, for a time, the harvest was rich. But only for a time. The art is now as dead as Julius Caesar, and who can revive it?

A. B. ("Banjo") Paterson, gave us some of the best racing verse since those days. And Will Ogilvie wrote of the horse, touching lightly at times on the thoroughbred and its trials of speed and endurance.

Others tried to follow, but, to use a sporting expression, they were "distanced" and quickly faded from public view. The reason, no doubt, was because they tried to write of a subject of which they knew little or nothing.

To express in prose or verse the thrills of the race track, the writer must first all understand the horse, its attributes and its failings.

And so with the horseman and everything connected with the sport.

But men like Gordon, Paterson and Ogilvie were horsemen of the first water. They loved horses and understood their qualities, both good and bad.

How, otherwise, would Gordon have written: "The wide gulf that parts us may yet be no wider."

"Than that which parts you from some being more blest; And there may be more links 'twixt the horse and his rider."

"Than ever your shallow philosophy guesses."

King Mestor Loses Race WELLINGTON VERDICT? Disqualification Of Hurdles Winner

By Telegraph—Press Association. WELLINGTON, Aug. 19. The South Auckland gelding King Mestor was today disqualified by the stewards of the Wellington Racing Club for the Corunna Hurdles, which he won on the second day of the club's winter meeting.

The disqualification was imposed under Rule 103 of the Rules of Racing, the clauses relating to a horse connected with an ineligible person.

Further inquiry will be held on September 5, the connections of the horse having been called upon to explain their connection with the circumstances.

The Appeal Judges in the U. Scott case, Mr. H. F. O'Leary (chairman), the Hon. W. Perry and Mr. J. E. August, sat in Wellington today to consider the appeal. The decision was reserved.

King Mestor, who is owned and trained by M. L. Campbell at Tatemarunui, won the Corunna Hurdles Handicap by six lengths from Southern Blood, with Chaste third, while Laggard was placed fourth.

King Mestor was practically the outsider, starting 9/1 in order of favouritism in a field of nine.

TROTTLING STAKES AT WELLINGTON Acceptors For Next Month

The following are the acceptors for the Wellington Trotting Club's three-year-old event to be run at Hutt Park on September 24:—

WELLINGTON STAKES Of £500. One mile and a half. Centaurus, S. W. Kelly's b. g., by David McElwain—Alice Dillon. Golden River, W. J. Murray's b. f., by Jack Potts—Olive Huon. Virginia Girl, A. R. McKenzie's b. f., by Great Bingen—Nyallo. Rosalind Maid, J. R. McKenzie's b. f., by Great Bingen—May Chenault.

G. Garnett's br. c., by Baron Chenault—Bonniebush. Worthy Empress, G. Rosenbaum's ch. f., by Worthy Bingen—Queen Chimes. Revision, W. H. Crozier's ch. f., by Jack Potts—Olive Turmoil. Wainoni Girl, H. H. Cook's b. f., by Grattan Loyal—Atralette. W. Hosking's br. f., by Truman Direct—Daisy Pointer. G. McKenzie's b. c., by Loch Moigh—Tin Wildwood. Zingarrino, J. Steel's b. c., by Jack Potts—Zara. Aldershot, Durbar Lodge Ltd.'s b. c., by Wrack—Trix Pointer.

There will be only one dividend here on each division, and the following horses are bracketed: Jan Ridd and Olympus, Orwerre and Gallopers, High Sea and Lighter, Hunting Maid and Jayola, Gold Eagle and Frontino, Inquisitor and Poland, Penzance and Phildale, Te Maranui and Kakarere, Paddy the Rip and Spearford, Rajanya and Tupeutu.

The Jan Ridd-Olympus bracket will be a popular choice after the form of the former at Trentham, and the several good showings Olympus made last season in two-year-old events.

Forest Acre and Erlick are smart hacks, while Fleetwind, who will be suited by the track conditions, will have a big following. High Sea and Hunting Maid will have admirers. Ringshot always races well at Ellerslie and appears likely to give a good account of himself, while Huntingmore's early pace will recommend him.

Mio Fratello and High Star do not appear as much as Gallopers Acre, but Tupeutu has more than a rough outside chance.

Well backed horses should be

JAN RIDD—OLYMPUS FLEETWIND GALLOPING ACRE 1.55—JELlicoe HANDICAP Of £400; 1 mile. Floodtide 9 2 Day Wind 7 7 Enge 8 11 Brown Lap 7 6 Kilonza 8 11 Shy 7 3 Royal 8 11 Orac 7 1 Bachelor 8 0 Kena 7 0 Prince Acre 8 0 Armacourt 7 0 Knight 8 0 Gay Sister 7 0 Australia 8 0 Horowhenua 7 0 Valmint 7 11 Gay Rebel 7 0 Floodtide cannot be left out of it even though a slightly longer journey would be in his favour. Enge is a very solid performer, but he will find Kilonza hard to beat over the distance which suits the Kilbroney mare admirably. She has been working particularly well and will strip a very fit mare.

Royal Bachelor will have many friends on the strength of his second to Royal Chief in the Avondale Guineas. Shorter distances than a mile have suited him better in the past, but his stamina may improve as he ages. He goes well when fresh, and is not unduly burdened with weight here.

Prince Acre dropped out of the sprint which signifies that his connections consider he can see out a mile. He is a well seasoned horse and will be suited by the going.

Knight of Australia can never lightly be regarded at Ellerslie, and is always liable to surprise, but he will find it hard to concede 3lbs to Valmint, who won this race last year. Valmint was narrowly beaten in the Cornwall Handicap in June, and his recent track form has been particularly good.

Day Wind goes well under winter conditions and appears nicely placed on the 7.7 mark, while Brown Lap showed greatly improved form at Gisborne.

Orac was a recent impressive winner at New Plymouth, and is in form, while there is some talk about Armacourt, who will appreciate the easy going.

This should be a very keen race and a pair who should be prominent are—

VALMINT. ROYAL BACHELOR. 2.40—PAKURANGA HUNT CUP Of £600; about 3 miles. Kahunoke 11 4 Bells 10 2 Kiriaki 10 12 King Rod 9 9 Hirangi 10 10 Roxy of Bow 9 1 Hanover 10 5 Corban 9 1 St. Masek 10 5 Floodlight 9 0 Entour 10 2 Kahunoke ran a great race under his 13.5 at Gisborne, and on his Trentham form he cannot be denied a reasonable chance of success here. A good jumper and stayer, and well seasoned for the task, Kahunoke should make a bold bid for victory. Kinkle's form at the Great Northern meeting was particularly good, while Hirangi was an impressive hurdler winner at that meeting. Hirangi has shown great jumping ability and should master the Ellerslie fences.

Hanover, who comes from the same stable as Hirangi, has won at his last two starts, scoring very decisively both at Marton and Awamoa. Hanover is a safe jumper and a stayer of the plodding type, and he is a greatly improved horse.

St. Musk has shown no form this winter, but on his last start he was a good second at his last start and is just the right type to win a race of this description. The General Latour gelding appears to have particularly good prospects.

Floodlight has been schooling well and, as he has shown promising form lately, he will be in more demand than Golden Spahi and British Banner.

A lightweight prospect is Bass, but it looks as if most faith will be placed in—

EN TOUR. KINKLE. 3.20—AUCKLAND HANDICAP Of £200; 1 mile. Loomblination 9 12 Longspan 8 0 El Meynell 9 9 Tutor 8 0 Silver Glow 9 0 Captain Bruce 8 0 Susan 8 12 Palmist 8 0 Erlick 8 10 Marston Trail 8 0 Vaaleo 8 10 Wet Pat. 8 0 Heskettown 8 2 Stega 8 0 Auro Queen 8 2 Hillman 8 0 General Riskie 8 2 Meadow Lass 8 0 Frontino 8 2 Loomblination is a very solid horse but he will find it hard to give 3lb to El Meynell, who impressed at Trentham. El Meynell will be ridden by P. Atkins, and is well attuned for his task. Silver Glow won here at the Great Northern meeting and Susan's form has been solid, while Erlick and Vaaleo are both possibilities.

None of the lightweights makes greater appeal than Captain Bruce, who has been galloping well and is highly considered by northern critics.

However, the form horses appear to be

EL MEYNELL. SILVER GLOW. 4.0—LADIES BRACELET Of £200; 11 miles. Strathire 11 12 Tate Mahotu 10 7 Hanover 11 0 Latours Last 10 7 Heskettown 10 11 Pyrenees 10 7 True 10 11 Slow Bill 10 7 Aramis 10 9 Dauber 10 7 Harbour Bridge 10 7 Strathire is the best performed horse here, but has his full share of weight. Hanover is not without prospects and neither is Heskettown, but they should be held safe by True, who will be ridden by M. H. H. Dods. True ran third to Gaiwind, the first at the Poverty Bay meeting, and then ran second to Flying Comedy in the Hack Cup. On form it is hard to go past TRUE. STRATHIRE. 4.45—ADMIRALTY HANDICAP Of £300; 6 furlongs. Crooning has upset things before, but Meoni Song, being thoroughly seasoned, makes greater appeal. He

AWAPUNI STABLES DO WELL £27,030 Won During Last Season

The transfer of L. G. Morris to Awapuni at the beginning of last season had an important bearing on the winnings. Average stakes for the 1937-38 racing season, but while he did well, other trainers also enjoyed a goodly measure of success. L. G. Morris won 25 races and £7900 in stakes, and he was followed by Mrs. W. McDonald, 13 wins and £5590; L. Knapp, 23 wins and £5063; G. New, 13 wins and £2627 10/-; and L. Wilson, 10 wins and £2025. The total of wins for the centre was 104, and stakes won aggregated £27,038/10/-.

This is the largest amount ever won from Awapuni, the next highest total being £24,030 in the 1928-29 season.

Horses who won over £1000 were: Catalogue, £2070; The Buzzer, £2015; Lady Ina, £1435; Oratory, £1345; Laughing Lass, £1315; Surmount, £1170; Quadroon, £1150; Wildflower, £1125; and Riotous, £1010.

Air Mail Services CANBERRA, August 19. The Prime Minister, Mr. J. A. Lyons, said last night that satisfactory progress had been made in the negotiations between the British, New Zealand and Australian Governments regarding the trans-Tasman air-mail service and that it was expected that a definite plan would be submitted to the respective Governments within a few days.

is now down on a handy mark and is sure to give a good account of himself. Tybalt is useful and so is the improving Young Paddon, who has three promising three-year-olds in Calorie, Milanion and Philcourt are sure to make things interesting. Philcourt may be the pick of this quartette. Form points to MAORI SONG. TRILLIARCH.
