Incendiary Bombs Dropped On Helsingfors

THRUST MADE BY INFANTRY IN THE FAR NORTH

Towns Just Across The Border Already In Flames

RED FLEET SIGHTED NEAR FINNISH COAST

United Press Association-Copyright. (Received December I, 1.45 a.m.)

LONDON, Nov. 30.

It is reported that Russian artillery opened fire on Finland early this morning near the border station of Terijoki. It is unconfirmedly reported that Wiipuri was bombed.

The British United Press correspondent at the Helsingfors airport says that five bombs were dropped on Helsingfors. The air raid warning was sounded at 9.25 a.m., and people went to the shelters.

One twin-engined Russian 'plane was seen. Finnish anti-aircraft guns opened fire.

Earlier six Russian 'planes circled over the harbour entrance.

The "New York Times" Copenhagen correspondent says that the first Russian troops crossed the Karelian border at 9.20 a.m. Russia launched air, land and sea attacks simultaneously. The troops crossed the frontier at 9.15 local time. Apart from air action the invasion was directed at three points: (1) Artillery fire on Suoyarvi, north of Lake Ladoga; (2) An infantry thrust in the far north and at the Rybachi and Kola peninsulas; (3) The eastern part of the Gulf of Finland was shelled by warships. Vammelsuu, across the Gulf of Finland from Leningrad, was bombarded from the sea, probably by the Kronstadt. An artillery duel is reported at Kivnebb, in Marelia.

Incendiary bombs were dropped on the Helsingfors airport and also at Wiipuri, where several fires have started.

The raiders dropped handbills urging the populace to co-operate with

UNSUCCESSFUL SEARCH

The Finnish Foreign Office spokesman announced dramatically at 9.20: "The war is on." Air raid sirens were then sounding and traffic ceased. Steel-helmeted wardens had taken control. The Moscow authorities refuse to confirm the invasion. Reports from Copenhagen state that the Soviet Fleet could be seen from the Helsingfors waterfront. Russian troops crossing the Karelian border first penetrated the strip of land which Finland had refused to yield to the Soviet during the protracted negotiations which broke down on November 13. Planes bombed the entire valley, believedly called Emso, which is near the Soviet frontier and contains many cellulose factories. No vital hits were scored, but one bomb aimed at the factory is said to have struck a nearby hospital. The Soviet troops unsuccessfully attempted to bomb the electric light plant at a town named Imtrata. A small island in Helsingfors harbour was hit by a bomb aimed at the city. The Soviet bombardment is reported to have broken telephone communications between Helsingfors and Suayarvi, where Soviet troops are believed to have occupied a strip of

The Exchange and Telegraph Agency's Helsingfors correspondent says that messages from Moscow indicate that Soviet military leaders believe that if Finland was to be prought to her knees, action must be taken without delay, beause the Gulf of Finland would be frozen within a month. The eastern section of the Gulf is already freezing.

CRUDE MENDACITY OF SOVIET

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.

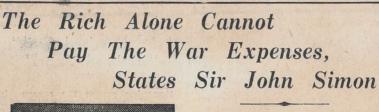

The "New York Herald-Tribune," in a leader, says: "In bold, crude and bare-faced mendacity the Soviet Government has not a peer in history. . . . It may be of little moment to the Kremlin to know that if Finland is invaded she will have the moral support of every man and woman in the United States whose opinion is worth consulting. . . The Soviet will stand self-convicted in this nation's sight of a coldly calculated crime against human decency." NEW YORK, Nov. 29.

American Offer

A VERSAILLES "ERROR"

LONDON, Nov. 30.

The Berlin correspondent of the "New York Times" (Mr Brooks Peters) said that armed conflict between Russia and Finland was seemingly inevitable. "Germany is wholly sympathetic with the aims of the Soviet," he added. "This opinion expressed at the Wilhelmstra se indicates that the Reich will maintain an attitude of benevolent neutrality, meaning that Germany will stand aside and allow Russia a free hand, since she feels morally aligned with the Soviet, whose attitude to Finland is considered comparable with the Reich's viewpoint concerning the Rhineland under the Versailles Treaty. Whether Russia and Germany will consult over the crisis in the north under their non-aggression pact has not yet been decided."

The Finnish Foreign Office spokesman earlier said: "Everything is now up to Russia. The situation is too difficult for comment.'

The Finnish reply to the Soviet Note emphasises that on the Finnish side of the frontier only frontier guards had been stationed, which does not constitute any threat against Leningrad's security, for which reason the Soviet's denunciation of the non-aggression treaty was not justified. The reply points was not justified. The reply points Russian-Finnish diplomatic relations.

"In order to refute the Soviet Government's allegations that Fin-Government's allegations that Finland has adopted a hostile attitude towards the Soviet and to prove its sincere desire for friendly agreement," adds the reply, "the Finnish Government is ready to negotiate for the withdrawal of troops from the Karelian Isthmus, with the exception of the frontier Customs of ficers, to such a distance from Leningrad that they could not even be alleged to threaten its security."

Reply Delivered
The Associated Press Moscow correspondent says: "Despite the

was not justified. The reply points out that under the treaty both parties agreed to resort exclusively to pacific means of settling any disputes, whatever their nature or origin, which arose between them. The Finnish Government, accordingly proposes that a Conciliation Commission be summoned immediately in order to examine the present controversy. Alternatively, Finland is ready to submit the dispute to neutral arbitration.

Russian-Finnish diplomatic relations.

"A variance of opinion exists as to Russia's immediate intentions," he added. "Finnish military circles believe that the eventual Russian action will start in the north, where Finland's defences are weak, and an advance to the ice-free harbours would be relatively easy. Russian military experts are understood to demand that if Finland is to be suppressed it should be now, as in any pressed it should be now, as in another month ice will form a natural coast defence.

The Tuai Women's Institute held its monthly meeting in the new Social Hall. Mrs Munro read her report on the conference she attended in Wairoa recently, and Mrs F. Hill, of Wairoa, was welcomed by the president, Mrs Eban, and presented with a shoulder spray.

Mrs Hill gave some interesting demonstrations on how to make quilted cushions, Christmas novelties, and kiddies' socks out of men's Institute in the course of home nursing lessons, which are forming part of each monthly programme. At the November meeting, Miss Grantham showed how to bandage various parts of the extremities, also two methods of head bandaging, and the correct way to use a sling. Full instructions were given as to the making of fomentations, and finally, some valuable hints and reminders about handling fractures and applying splints. Miss discarded socks.

The motto was "Never trouble trouble trouble trouble trouble you."
Roll call: "Washing Hints."
Competition winners were: Best bloom, Mrs Nicol; cooking, Madeira cake, Mrs Rosenberg; handwork, most useful workbag, Mrs McLeod.

Writing in 1891 to the late William Allison, "The Special Commissioner" in the London Sportsman, who 'published Bruce Lowe's book after the author's untimely death in London, the Australian explained his system:

he Australian explained his system:

"My dear Mr. Allison,—Without the preliminary matter (which my book will contain) leading up to a certain point, it is somewhat difficult to give in a few words a sketch of the system of breeding racehorses by the figure system. Put as briefly as possible, the figures are derived from statistical compilation of the winners of three great English classic races — Derby, Oaks and Leger. The family with the flargest number of wins is No. 1, the next No. 2, and so on to No. 34, though the figures actually run up to 43, and include families whose descendants have never won a classic race.

"By placing the figures on an ord-"By placing the figures on an ord-inary tabulated pedigree the stud-master can tell at a glance what families have been brought into the combination, and whether they hap-pen to be the high-class running families 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5, or outside ones, such as 10, 14, 15, 18, 33, and so on; also how much sire blood (i.e., members of the five great sire fam-illes, Nos. 3, 8, 11, 12 and 14) is pre-sent.

illes, Nos. 3, 8, 11, 12 and 14) is present.

"It does not follow because a stallion's pedigree is rich in running strains 1, 2, 4, and 5, that he is going to be a success at the stud. On the contrary, paradoxical as it may seem, he is likely to prove a failure, except when mated with mares from the sire families 3, 8, 11, 12, and 14. .

"To a student like you the system will open up new and most interesting phases of breeding otherwise not available. In other words, though it immensely extends the field of operations, it reduces the chances of failure to a minimum, because it is based upon the sound principles of 'Judgment by results.' Indeed, I venture to predict that it will revolutionise the present methods of mating thoroughbreds.—Yours very truly,

C. BRUCE LOWE."

C. BRUCE LOWE." The Maternal Influence The system means, of course, that the number is always taken from and passed on through the maternal side of the family. A horse's number, passed on through the material side of the family. A horse's number, therefore, is consequently and invarably the same as that of his dam. The sire does not come into this part of the question.

A horse may be by a No. 1 family sire, but that does not mean that he belongs to the No. 1 family, and, vice versa.

The Te Mahanga horse St. Boswells is a No. 1 family horse, but his sire, Solario, belongs to the No. 26 family, Gainsborough, the sire of Solario, was a No. 2 family horse, but Solario takes his number from his dam, Sun Worship, who belonged to the No. 26 family.

family.
St. Boswell's dam, Mopsa, is a
No. 1 family mare and so St.
Boswells becomes a No. 1 family horse in the Bruce Lowe figure system.

Thus we see that St. Boswells traces back to the female line established by Tregonwell's Natural Barb mare, the first of the No. 1 family.

mous for her fraudulent faith-healing "cures."

Found again by Bowman, who still wants to marry her, and by the police, the girl is plunged into thrilling situations that lead up to the engrossing climax of the picture, and bring about her own reformation.

OPENING OF REGENT THEATRE

When To-morrow Comes': Famous Stars

To-morrow the Plaza will be-come the Regent Theatre, Napier. The change from the old to the new order will be celebrated by the presentation of "When To-morrow Comes," with Charles Boyer and Irene Dunne in the leading roles.

The problem of careers versus marriage find an answer against the glamour of a back-stage romance of Hollywood in "The Ice Follies of 1939," starring Joan Crawford with James Stewart, Lew Ayres, Lewis Stone and the famous "International Ice Follies" troupe. The new picture opens to-morrow at the Regent Theatre, Hastings.

Portraying a singing role for the first time since embarking on a musical career, Miss Crawford is seen as Mary McKay, a singing skater who marries James Stewart only to find that she cannot acknowledge the union due to a "no marriage"

Both artists will be remembered for their performances in "The Near-est Thing to Heaven." Boyer, who is always a romantic figure, appears in "When To-morrow Comes" as a famous French planist. He is seen in the course of a triumphant tour. By chance he meets a waitress, young and beautiful, who is, of course, Miss Dunne. She immediately falls in love with him and the ensuing romance is handled with consummate skill.

Joseph Stahl, the film producer who has previously been associated with his successful romantic team, again successful romantic figure, appears in "When To-morrow Comes" as a famous French planist. Interesting Travels Miss Lankovsky introduced Miss Ella Wilson who gave a most inter-esting talk on her recent trip to England and her travels in America and on the Continent of Europe.

Miss Wilson described her trip across Canada from Vancouver to New York, Chicago and Toronto and gave her impressions of Canada, which she had visited in winter.

Miss' Wilson spent some time teaching at a girls' school in Redding, where she was surprised to find a great ignorance regarding New Zealand. While in Redding she often went for short sight-seeing trips on Saturdays and Sundays and spent the longer term holidays on the Continent, Spain and Russia being the only countries which she did Miss Wilson mentioned the beautiful porcelain which she had seen at Copenhagen. Speaking of Germany, Miss Wilson told how she had seen Hitler at a great gathering at Nur-emburg, and had heard him make emburg, and had heard him make one of his famous speeches.

Miss Wilson had been in Holland at the time of the Queen's Jubilee and she described the orange decorations and told how all the children she met were dressed in orange and on their way to The Hague. She concluded her talk by describing some of the air raid shelters in England, one retreat described being under a one retreat described being under a castle at Colchester where she had she got a good tip from her husband. It was: "Keep an office waste-paper basket in almost every room in the house." The system worked splendidly, and the children soon developed habits of tidiness.

I wonder if something of the fol-lowing plan would be of any assist-pens. But this is the "nigger in the wood pile." The correspondent's name and residential address must be given even if the letter is to be published anonymously.

Farm Labour

| Alongside a neighbour who used to drive around his ewes at lambing time in a Ford truck with not a good sime of your columns to have something to say on the above, from one who has been giving permanent service to the farmers for the past 22 years in different places, and under varied conditions.

Of late, I honestly believe, farmers of late, I honestly believe, farmers of a trance, as is proved by the recent committee.

I wonder if something of the following plan would be of any assistance as a land policy, and help to its neck in work, organising and arranging war emergancies, marketing, etc., we have members of the Opposition parading the country, stirring up antagonism, tated before, and if the farmhands are going to be stopped from going overseas, we would feel more like country, stirring up antagonism, the other portion for the State to settle men on, at the arrangement the other portion for the State to settle men on, at the arrangement the other portion for the State to the other when has been done in the country, stirring up antagonism, trying about losing their freedom and rights to handle their produce, and sure of a price for everything they can produce.

The Government is up to its neck in works of the Opposition parading the country, stirring up antagonism, trying about losing their freedom and rights to handle their produce, and sure of a price for everything they can produce.

The Government is up to its neck in working for the State to settle men on, at the arrangement the delen more like delen more like to derive are going to be stopped from going overseas, we would feel more like the other produce, and sure of a price for everything they can produce.

The Government is above them and takes control, but the Farmers' Union, led by Mr Mulholland, says what the next below them is to receiv well, and knows if our production falls the whole country feels the pinch, but the farmer himself alone cannot produce without the ex-perienced labour but this experienced labour can produce without the farmer, as happens on many a farm and station where the so-called farmer is away nearly half the time, knowing there is a good experienced man behind; yet when experienced man behind; yet when the returns come in he forgets who has helped to make and save for him and if a good season thinks of a new car or plans a trip abroad, while the man who has toiled all the year — well, he might as well be just a plough.

Not wanting to be an opposer, or exposer, of the farmers as I have had my living off the land, and used to be ambitious enough to look forward to owning a farm. I look forward to owning a farm, would ask to have this letter read and perhaps answered, in the true spirit. There are lots of really good farmers, but quite a few who should neither own land nor employ men.

Thanking you.—I am, etc., STILL WORKING.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1939.

RUSSO-GERMAN SCHEMING

Taking a leaf out of the Nazi book, Russia has developed the idea that after all, a powerful nation can get something for nothing. Germany's pact with Russia gave to the Soviet the idea that, having walked in to devour a nice, juicy slice of Poland, she might as well establish naval bases in Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia.

It is significant that Russia has kept on looking in the same general direction and has for the past few months concentrated on the Baltic countries. Also following the Nazi example, and despite the most careful efforts of the Finnish people to give no cause for offence, Russia has gone straight ahead in a spirit of the utmost arrogance to tear up the nonaggression pact and to manufacture excuses in regard to frontier incidents until they have been magnified into a cause for the severance of relations.

The queer fact is that Nazi Germany looks on with a benevolent grin while this breach of faith is being accomplished. The average reader of the news is forced to suspect some-Surely Germany could not look on with equanimity while Russia consolidates her position in these northern waters if there does not exist something in the nature of a quid pro quo.

It is possible that that quid pro quo may be found in the rumoured concerted action in the Black Sea regions directed against the Balkan countries—a concerted action between the Nazis and the Soviet

But even then, this stubborn idea persists: Is it possible that the Nazis can believe for one second that anything in the nature of permanent co-operation is possible as between them and Soviet Russia? What do the Nazis think at this moment of their favourite bogey of encirclement, a nightmare hitherto attributed by them to the machinations of 'perfidious Albion'? Where are the pincers now? An examination of the stretching out of the Soviet tentacles both to the north and to the south should prove to any Nazi who can read a map that the encircler of Germany is Russia and no one else.

The Nazis must realise that Russia has adopted the "scrap of paper" idea in relation to the Russo-Finnish Pact of 1934 but Russia's attitude to the proposal of Finland and Sweden early in the present year to re-militarise the Aaland Islands off the south-west coast of Finland was made an excuse for a counter-proposal to undertake a joint guarantee of the Baltic States, and that Russia has stretched her claws farther and farther along the Baltic and the Gulf of Finland in an endeavour to be master of the situation as it affects the supply of valuable ores from the northern parts of Norway and Nazi Germany, in other words, does not seem to have sufficient international psychological understanding to know that Russia is an equally competent and unscrupulous opportunist with the same kind of world aims for ultimate domination as are professed by her partner in crime. Russia has never forgotten that Finland was once a Grand Duchy under the regime of the Czars, and that Baron Mannerheim, who is at the head of the Finnish defence forces, comes from an old aristocratic stock. Russia, while the Nazis are preoccupied with the defence of their existence, will go right on with her programme of expansion and with the establishment of essential naval bases.

If the Nazis know this, it is impossible to understand their present attitude of benevolent neutrality and non-interference in the Russian movement as it affects Finland. If the Nazis do not realise this, it is just possible that a secret understanding is in existence as to Russo-German exploitation of the possibilities of the situation in the Balkans-an understanding sufficient to deceive the Nazis.

A further possibility emerges in the idea that if the Nazis do not understand the Russian aims and then suddenly discover them, the present war may not last so long as has been thought. Germany will need all her strength to repel the

After the foregoing had been written, late news arrived that Russian troops have crossed the southern border of Finland and bombed Helsingfors, simultaneously launching an infantry attack in the far north.

PUBLIC ENEMY No. 5. Hastings, Nov. 30, 1939.

Thirty-five young men have started careers in a brand-new "profession"—that of policemen and firemen to the City of New York.

Instead of pitching into the usual statute-scanning and ladder-climbing the 35, looking like ordinary college students, began studies in a new two-year course at New York University, the possible predecessor of a formal academy, the "Christian Science Monitor" states.

"The office of a patrolman and fireman is no longer merely a job," Mayor Fiorello La Guardia told them. "It is a profession which requires professional training."

MINISTER'S REPLY TO DAIRYMEN'S QUESTIONS CAUSES DISAPPOINTMENT

ALTERATION OF PRICE STANDARDS

By Telegraph—Press Association WELLINGTON, Nov. 30.

Intense disappointment and indignation at the reply given by the Minister of Marketing (the Hon. W. Nash) to the three questions put to him was expressed by the Dominion conference of the Dairy Board to-day.

The questions related to the alteration of the standards and prices recommended by the 1938 Guaranteed Prices Advisory Committee, the covering of extra costs incurred for the current season and the question as to whether it was still a principle of the scheme that farmers should receive a price which would cover the cost of production.

"Question 1: As the 1938 advisory committee unanimously recommended standards and prices to the Minister, this conference respectfully inquires on what data the Minister altered both standards and prices.

"Answer: The basis of alteration was set out in a statement made in announcing the prices for butter and cheese for the 1938-39 season. This statement was quoted in full in the annual report of the Marketing Department for the year ended July 31, 1938. The Government realised that the report of the committee was entitled to be given very careful consideration and this was done.

"In my statement announcing the prices for the 1938-39 season, I drew attention to the fact that I drew attention to the fact that the recommendation of the committee was a qualified recommendation, because in the report reference was made to certain relevant factors which had not been fully assessed by the committee but which in its opinion should be considered by the Government in the determination of prices. These factors were duly considered with the whole of the evidence on standards and prices evidence on standards and prices as given to the 1937-38 and 1938-39 committees.

"In dealing with standards, the 1937-38 committee reported that 6,250 lbs. of butterfat was the production per adult male unit of labour. The 1938-39 committee took 5,750 lbs. as its standard. The Government, after careful inquiry and examination of the evidence, considered that a fair standard was 6,000 lbs. and the price was determined accordingly. Production Costs

"Question 2: If the price for the 1938-39 season as fixed by the 1938-39 season as fixed by yourself was reasonable to cover the costs of production in your judgment, will you indicate how the farmers' increased costs incurred for the 1938-40 season are to be provided for?

"Anguer: During my address."

"Answer: During my address to the conference in April last and at subsequent conferences, I announced that the Government would, as circumstances war-ranted, fully examine the effects of major rises in costs. As stated yesterday, the Government has already been considering the costs of fertiliser with a view to covering the added costs and in particular to meet the request of the United Kingdom for maximum production.

of the United Kingdom for maximum production.

"When this examination is concluded, I will be pleased to convey to you the procedure which the Government proposes to follow. In general, the major items of increased cost should be covered in price, but in the present war conditions it is not possible to pass on all additions to costs. The Government will, however, use every possible endeavour to ensure that the effect of increased prices shall be equally shared by all sections of the community.

"It should be noted that for the 1932 30 season the average

"It should be noted that for the 1938-39 season the average payout of butter factories was .319d. per lb. of butterfat in ex-cess of the basic pay-out. The cheese factory payout was .18 per lb butterfat in excess of the basic payout basic payout.

"Costs, as you are aware, depend to a certain extent on output, and during the last season exceptional weather conditions caused lower production and consequent higher costs on farms and and in factories.

Guaranteed Prices

"Question 3: The conference desires to ask if it is still an essential principle of the guaranteed price scheme that farmers shall receive a price which will cover the cost of production

"Answer: With the essential qualification that all forms of our social and economic life may be affected by the war, there is no intention to alter the principle of section 20 of the Marketing Act. I will bring the remaining subjects raised in the various speeches before the Govarious speeches before the Government for its consideration at the earliest possible moment."

Resolutions

By Telegraph—Press Association. WELLINGTON, Nov. 30. WELLINGTON, Nov. 30.

Permission for representatives approved by the Dairy Board, in conjunction with the National Dairy Conference, to have reasonable access to the national broadcasting service for the purpose of placing before the people the present problems and difficulties of dairyfarmers is to be sought from the Government. A remit to this effect, moved by Mr. W. Harbutt, on behalf of the South Auckland Dairy Association, was carried unanimously at the Dairy Conference to-day.

"It is argued that Russia should have offered generous treatment if Finland had agreed, especially in matters of trade; but, if Finland had refused, the Soviet, in the interests of security, would have been obliged to treat the refusal as a hostile act. Though this might have been criticised as over-riding the formal independence of a small neighbour, many feel that it would have created a better impression than the methods actually used; namely, alleging frontier incidents without offering the opportunity for an impartial investigation, insisting on the correctness of its own versions, brushing aside explanations and disavowals while maintaining a campaign of vituperation in the Press, attributing incredible dreams of conquest to the Finns and organising inflammatory meetings of the Russian workers which are certain to meet with an unsympathetic reception by the outside world generally."

EXCHANGE ADVISED

The frantic efforts of Germany to develop synthetic-petrol factories, which they hope to operate by 1940, is considered to be evidence of the gravity of the situation.

The German hopes of Russian supplies are held to be baseless since Russia is pressed to fill her own needs. Russia particularly needs motor fuels, of which she imported 248,000 barrels from the United States in September. Germany's annual petrol requirements for an estimated 6000 to 8000 'planes would be 12,000,000 barrels, aside from other requirements.

SURVEY OF PROSPECTS

The very able and comprehensive address given this week to the Hastings District Primary Production Council by Mr R. P. Connell, Wellington, who is one of the Dominion's leading agriculturists, should give the necessary lead to Hawke's Bay farmers in speeding up production. If the recommendations made by Mr Connell are adopted, the men on the land will not only give vital assistance to their country during the critical period of the war, but should also benefit themselves by improving their farms and greatly increasing their own financial

An indication of the extent to which the district is developing into a producing centre is reflected in the fact that in Hastings alone this season there are over 300 acres sown in Hastings alone this season there are over 300 acres sown in peas, beans and kindred crops. Mr Connell was emphatic in stating that farmers had to be modern and adopt modern farming and harvesting methods if they were going to extend the system of intensive farming. Unfortunately, modern methods have not been utilised to the desired extent in Hawke's Bay and other centres with a resulting loss in the presentation and handling of these groups. preparation and handling of these crops.

In an interview with a "Daily Mail" representative yesterday the manager of a large Hastings business house dealing with agricultural matters, stated that all classes of production were on the increase in Hastings. He instanced the fact that up to a recent date some 1200 acres had been closed for producing pedigree ryegrass. When the total area known to be closed for seed was disclosed it would be found that the acreage would not be far short of the record year of 1934.

Growers' Association

Growers' Association
"The present is probably an opportune time to mention the growing necessity of a strong and powerful Ryegrass Growers' Association," he said. "When the wonderful revenue accruing from ryegrass growing is considered, it is remarkable that there is not a live association." An example of what could be done is the Wheat Growers' Association in the South Island. A lesson could be taken from the activities of this organisation.

When the Government had suggested abandoning certification of Growers' Association gested abandoning certification of wheat, the Wheat Growers' Association replied with an emphatic "No," and the Government abided by their wishes. Ryegrass growers might consider it worth while reforming their association.

Prospects For Crops

Prospects For Crops
In Hastings this year there are also some very large areas in grain, principally barley and oats, while there has also been a revival of wheat and linseed growing. The weather will play a big part in Hawke's Bay's harvesting results, and already many farmers are following Mr. Connell's advice and adopting modern harvesting method.

The object of the evening's enter-tainment was to assist in raising money for the school funds. Judg-ing by the numbers who were turned away from the hall, that object should have been realised ef-fectively.

At the conclusion of the concert the chairman of the school commit-tee (Mr J. Stickland) congratulated the headmaster of the school on the excellence of the programme which had been presented. He thanked those parents and friends of the school, who by their attendance, had so generously assisted it. Especially he thanked the Rev. C. H. Napier's Reply

The binding nature of English class distinctions between servant and employer was well illustrated in a one-act play entitled "Play-goers" which was presented by the Napier Catholic Dramatic Club in St. Patrick's Hall, Napier, last night. Napier replied with 203 all out. For this Stevens and Dunn in a For this Stevens and Dunn in a partnership of some 80 runs, were mainly responsible. Dyer was not content with a century and bowled consistently well for Hastings. A fastish bowler, he varies his pace and length with considerable skill. His average of four for 54 did less than justice to his quality. The standard of cricket fell in the second innings with both sides trying to score quickly in a sportsmanlike effort to force a decision. At the close of play the match had reached a vitally interesting stage with Napier, if anything, in the better position.

rick's Hall, Napier, last night.

The theme was the reaction of the servants of a household to a suggestion from their employers that they should be taken to a play selected by the mistress. One domineering matron, the cook, hated condescension. Another gave as her reason for disliking the proposal the fact that the play would be one selected to encourage thought. Another objected conscientiously to the theatre an the grounds that it dealt with "love and passion" and she was a strictly brought up girl.

With one exception, all wanted to take a friend and declined to go unless they were given the extra ticket. Finally, they all followed the cook's example and gave notice, convinced that the proposal was an ill-considered attempt on the part of master and mistress to "raise them up."

Works Manager At Swift's Reviews All Angles Of Business

"Daily Mail" Special Service

WAIROA. With the quality of both lambs and bacon exceptionally good, prospects for the meat industry in the Wairoa district appear to be bright.

Killing operations have begun for the season at the works of Messrs Swift (N.Z.) Ltd., Wairoa, and more than 100 extra men, mostly local, have been engaged for what is predicted will be an active period.

So far, lambs only had been kill ed at the works, the manager (Mr. H. Crichton) told the "Daily Mail" yesterday. These were particularly good in quality, the average being about 1½lb. heavier compared with the animals forwarded at the same period last year. The improvement is attributed mainly to the ideal spring weather experienced during the past six weeks.

However, lambs were not coming forward quite so quickly as in pre-vious years, said Mr. Crichton, but this could be understood as a result of the commandeer price being fixed for the season. It was an advantage for the season. It was an advantage for the farmer to keep his lambs longer and add extra weight to them, especially while there was ample feed available.

Heavy Killings

mas," he added.

Since it was not possible to tranship chilled beef to England during the war period, no chilled beef would be handled at the works in the meantime. This should not affect the beef killings as it was understood that the commandeer price for frozen ox beef was about the same as that paid for chilled beef last season, he said. It was not expected that a large quantity of beef would be handled before February.

High Quality Pigs Pig killings are undertaken at the works each Thursday and here again the quality of the average animal handled was excellent. As a result of the recent decision made by some of the meat companies to restrict export porkers, these could not be accepted for killing until after February 1. In the long run this move would be of marked assistance to the farmer, inasmuch as the quantity of feed now available would finish off the animals as bac. I. Canning Operations

Canning Operations
Continuing, Mr. Crichton advised that the canning and small goods department would begin operations next week. The company proposed concentrating on supplying a particularly good variety of high standard small goods. Further, a number of new varieties of canned meats would be introduced.

Facilities for canning have been improved by extensions to buildings which have been completed.

Mr. Crichton concluded by paying a tribute to the Railway Department. The rail service, he said, was proving a great assistance to the industry, more especially in receivindustry, more especially in receiving and forwarding supplies from and to the works and in transporting fat stock for killing.

Specially Designed Pattern For Army Use: Full Instructions In The Following Article

With Women's Organisations throughout New Zealand all anxious to do their bit for those in the war zone, both soldiers and refugees, there is a splendid opportunity in knitting serviceable and hardwearing socks, as literally thousands of them will be needed before these war-stricken days are over.

Following is a suitable, but simple pattern approved in London for Army use.

Four-ply wool is the most suitable. The socks should measure 16 inches around the top when stretched and 17 inches in length, from the top of the welt to the bottom of the heel; the 18 inch socks come right to the knee and are only suitable for wearing with shorts.

The leg of the socks should be shaped to give a better fit, and the welt must be ribbed and measure from 4 to 5 inches. The foot to measure 10½ to 11 inches.

No knots should be used when joining the wool; join by spicing this way: Split the two ends and, removing half the number of strands from each end for several inches place the wools together. inches, place the wools together the two ends pointing in opposite directions, rub the wool together between the hands until it forms a single thread and then continue knitting. It is essential to know your ten-It is essential to know your tension when knitting garments, and to find this cast on about 12 stitches, using the wool and needles stated in the instructions. Work about two inches, cast off, press, and count the number of stitches to the inch across the work. If you get more stitches to the inch, use one size larger needle, and if you get fewer stitches to the inch, use one size smaller needle.

These instructions have been continue without shaping until the work-measures 14 inches from the start.

The Heel

To start the heel, k 17, slip the last 17 stitches of the round on to the other end of the same needle (these 34 sts. are for the heel). Divide the remaining stitches on to two needles and leave for the instep.

you get fewer stitches to the last use one size smaller needle.

These instructions have been carefully compiled according to military requirements and will be found easy to follow.

Work another sock in the same manner. With a fairly hot iron and damp cloth, press carefully.

Grafting

Grafting is another part of sock making that seems to strike terror to the heart of a number of knitters. This is quite simple and gives a per-ect finish to the flat toe of a sock Follow these instructions and you will be pleased with the result.

To graft: With an equal number of stitches on both needles, break off the wool, leaving a length of about 12 inches. Thread on a bodkin. With the front of sock towards you, pass the healthin through the first stitch the front of sock towards you, pass the bodkin through the first stitch on the front needle as if to purl, but leave the stitch on the needle. Pass the bodkin through the first stitch on the back needle as if to purl and take it off. Pass the bodkin through the next stitch on the back needle as if to knit and leave it on. Pass the bodkin through the first stitch on the front needle as if to knit and take it off. Repeat this until althe stitches have been worked off. the stitches have been worked off Pass the needle through to wrong of sock and finish off neatly and firmly.

College Flying Courses

NEW GOVERNMENT SCHEME

Intensive Training

The United States Governmen has some 30 girls from Ohio "up in the air," and they don't care if they never come down to earth.

Flying enthusiasts all — these girls who are attending three colleges in this vicinity, have been selected as future civil pilots unselected as future civil pilots. der the new Government training der the new Government training programme and along with many men students, will spend the next few months in intensive ground school and flight training, states the 'Christian Science Monitor."

Co-Educational Colleges Two of the colleges represented by the girls in this new flight train-ing course financed by the Govern-ment are co-educational schools— Akron University and Kent State University.

The other is Lake Eric College for Women in Painesville. Lake Eric is one of two women's col-leges in the entire country which has been approved for participation in the civil pilot training pro-gramme. Mills College in Cali-framme. Willis College in cornia is the other.

Government rules and regulations require that in the two co-educational colleges only 10 per cent. of the flight training quota of 40 students to a college could be girls. Immediately there was a rush on the part of the co.eds to sign up in these institu the co-eds to sign up in these insti-tutions. Akron University and Kent State each have a half dozen girls.

"Daily Mail" Special Service

PALMERSTON NORTH, Nov. 28. Winner of the Te Awamutu Cup last season, the lightlyweighted Du Maurier ran the opposition off their feet in the Manchester Handicap at Feilding to-day to score an end to end victory after beating off all-comers.

This Surveyor gelding had his first success since winning the big race at Waipa, but was second in the Duke of Gloucester Cup earlier this season and only recently was beaten a neck by Taurangi at Stratford. His course of hurdling has worked a great improvement in him, and his recent success was a true stayer's performance.

Kaiwaka has progressed a long way since losing his maiden status at the Rangitikei Hunt meeting last winter, and is due for a win in open company at any time.

PILOTED by the Awapuni apprentice G. Williamson, who had his first success when he rode Wildflower to victory on the same course last Easter, Du Maurier stalled off a strong challenge by the favourite Kaiwaka at the finish and won by a long head long head.

Sprint to Brunhild
Hastings stables scored their second win when Brunhild led all the way in the open sprint to score by a short head from Race Call in a great finish. The Siegfried mare has definitely struck her best form again this season, and she made a great race of it after being smartest to leave the barrier.
Old Bill, Laughing Lass and Flammarion were the last away.
Three furlongs from home Sleeveless, Racecall and Flancee were the earrest attendants on the pacemaker with Amigo next. Fiancee moved up to Sleeveless approaching the straight, but Brunhild held them all off in the run home when Race Call came through for second place thromal signs of returning to form.

Fossicker Easily

Fossicker, who failed last season on the flat but has made good this term as a hurdler, scored his second success in this department when he won the Waituna Hurdles easily after leading all the way. More sea-soned than his opponents he jump-ed well and had the race won two furlongs from home.

Hethers, another Hawke's Bay horse, moved up fast half a mile from home, but could make no impression on the leader over the final stages, and finished second a length in front of Golden Ridge, whose penchant for running about was not so marked, except for a slight swerve at the last fence. However, he, too, was well beaten, but his straighter running was an improvement upon his erratic displays at Bulls and Levin.

Disturbed was the disappointment of the race. He was allowed to drift well to the rear in the early stage: and was still whipping in the field until he passed the tiring Anini at the three furlongs post. Though he made up ground in the run home to finish fourth, he obviously lacked the condition. However he jumped beautifully, and will be capable of a much better showing on Saturday.

Eurotas was practically pulled up at the finish, half a furlong behind the field. Fossicker's effort was an the field. impressive one, which augurs well for his future as a jumper.

Kilometre at Last

Kilometre, who was unplaced in six starts last season, but was third earlier this term at Stratford, finshed too strongly for the opposition in the Aorangi Trial Plate after the improving Colibri had drawn clear and looked a likely winner, half way down the running. Kilometre was well placed early but had dropped back to fourth position entering the straight. He literally pushed his way through to get clear just in time to overhaul Colibri and win

INFLATION COLT WINS

AN UNPREPOSSESSING YEARLING

CHARY MAKES GOOD

(By Moturoa.)

Chary, winner of the Juvenile Stakes at Feilding yesterday, provides a good example of not bustling a young horse, especially one that had not done well early. Chary was and not done well early. Chary was so unprepossessing as a yearling that he did not find a buyer at the National Yearling Sales last January. He was purchased privately by Mr. M. C. Gould, of Raetahi, and enables that young sportsman to make a successful and auspicious debut as an owner.

make a successful and auspicious debut as an owner.

When George New took over Chary at the beginning of the winter this colt looked an ugly duckling among that trainer's young charges, Cetewayo, King's Mark and Miss Hallomet, but New formed a good opinion of him early and informed. opinion of him early and informed me in August that he would not be me in August that he would not be surprised to see Chary prove as smart as anything in his charge. New proceeded wisely with the small Inflation youngster and concentrated on building him up before trying him seriously against the other two-year-olds in his care.

Promising Start George New opened the new season promisingly when Miss Hallomet ran third in the Debutante Stakes at Wanganui. Even though she did run second in the Wellesley Stakes, this filly did not improve as much as expected and it was left to Cetewayo to score the first two-year old win for the stable. At the same time King's Mark was twice placed at Trentham.

at Trentham. Cetewayo and King's Mark, being Cetewayo and King's Mark, being built on more generous lines, may both be better than Chary this year, but this youngster leaves the impression that he is one of the hardy type. He lacks nothing on the score of breeding and, coming from the family he does, he may develop into a good handicap horse later on. Chary gives another boost to the Colonial-bred sire Inflation, who has come into the limelight only in the come into the limelight only in the past five months as the result of the form of Duncannon, Classform and Deflation. PEATA MEETS WITH INTERFERENCE

Lindrum Savaged By Thrasos

An inquiry was held into the alleged bumping on to the rails of Peata during the venile Handicap. It was decided by the judicial committee that no rider was at fault, the field being mainly one of inexperienced horses Another inquiry was held into an incident near the finish of the Kowhai Handicap. It was found to be due to Thrasos attempting fifty yards from the post, to savage Lin-Malik Kafur, who won by a nose.

TABLEAU showed a marked improvement on her Green-meadows form when she ran second at Feilding yesterday, being Seaten only in the last few strides.

D. D. STEWART,

Leading Veterinary and Live Stock experts are unanimous that graziers frequently spend much money in the use of wrong Drenches. Recommendations are for sheepfarmers to confine their purchases to Drenches composed of: (a) Tetrachloride; (c) Nicotine and Bluestone. We specialise in the manufacture of these Drenches. Here they are:—
