Hint From Moscow That Reprisals May Result

United Press Association-Copyright. (Received December 12, 10.45 p.m.)

LONDON, Dec. 12.

A period of 24 hours has been given the Soviet to reply to the League of Nations Note proposing an immediate cessation of hostilities and the opening of negotiations under the auspices of the Assembly. A stipulation was made that Russia must withdraw her troops from Finland.

A similar proposal was made to the Finnish Government and was immediately accepted.

The proposal for a 24-hour time limit was made by Britain, but the British delegate (Mr R. A. Butler) later declared: "We have no illusions regarding the outcome.

The League Committee appointed to consider the dispute continued its deliberations far into the night after sending the proposals to Moscow. It is motivated by two considerations--to help Finland and to express its condemnation of the Soviet Government's action. However, it fears that the mediation offer will be rejected.

The Latin American countries, including Colombia, agreed that if mediation fails they will support the strongest measures against Russia. Expulsion, however, would directly affect a number of States, including Turkey, Iran and China, including Turkey, Iran and China, since the Russian representatives who boycotted the Assembly Council indicated that they would regard abstention from voting as tantamount to support for the League's condemnation or for expulsion. It was also plainly hinted that there would be reprisals, which would possibly be directed against India.

Mr Butler expressed the opinion that sentiment was crystallising against expulsion, adding that Britain would support whatever action the majority might decide.

If Russia does not reply to the League's mediation pro-posal Britain and France are expected to supply Finland with war materials via Sweden.

A Latin American country which is most insistent that Russia should be expelled has promised the Finns nitrates and

The Assembly handed over the Finnish appeal to a committee, which met immediately after the Assembly adjourned and decided to propose to Russia and Finland an immediate truce to enable the opening of negotiation. The committee includes representatives of England, France, Sweden, Norway, India, Canada, Egypt, Portugal, Venezuela, Bolivia, Uruguay and Siam.

M. Hambro announced before the adjournment of the Assembly that Lithuania had withdrawn her candidature for the League Council. M. REVOLUTIONARY STEP IN DESIGN OF MUSEUM

New Section Of Hawke's Bay Art Gallery Officially Opened

A revolutionary development in the design and administration of museums in New Zealand was revealed in Napier last night when the new section of the Hawke's Bay Art Gallery and Museum was officially opened by the president of the Hawke's Bay Art Society (Mr N. Kettle). This is the direct result of the recent visit to the United States on a Carnegie Trust grant by the director (Mr Leo D. Bestall).

An original use of light and colour gives maximum effect to the new arrangement of inset cases and exhibits which now occupy the basement of the buildings. Imagination in

"We are striving to broaden the public interest in the scientific and historical value of the museum," declared Dr. K. E. Crompton in his introductory remarks. "Our aim has been to break the monotony which has prejudiced a proper estimation of the cultural wealth and popular appeal of this valuable institution of research.'

Bestall stated that early in the new year they hoped to start similar work in the central hall, where four large cases would be constructed on the lines of those in the basement. This would need support, and while some donations had already been received, much more money would be required.

Hawke's Bay should not take its museum for granted. It should be the duty of every citizen to inspect the work already accomplished. This done, there can be little doubt that the necessary response will be forthcoming to further the present scheme and provide the province with a museum which will take its rightful place as an integral part in the

DESCENDANT OF EARLY PIONEERS

Death Of Mrs J. Grant, Hatuma

The death occurred suddenly on December 8 of Mrs Grant, wife of Mr J. A. Grant, a well-known settler

A descendant of one of the early pioneer families, who came to New Zealand in 1841, Mrs Grant was held in respect for her generosity and willingness to assist all who needed help. Mrs Grant was buried at the Hastings cemetery, where the Rev. A. Gow, of Waipukurau, conducted the service.

Members of the family include a sister and a brother, Mrs J. Collinge and Mr H. W. Collins, both of Hastings; two sons, Mr Gordon Grant, Wellington, and Mr Ray Grant, and a daughter, Miss Edie Grant, who devotedly nursed her mother during her illness.

"THE FOUR JUST MEN" A SPY DRAMA

Story Of International Intrigue

It is seldom that a picture com-It is seldom that a picture combines so many aspects of interest, so many unusual angles of appeal, as does the drama, "The Four Just Men," which is now screening at the Regent Theatre, Hastings. Because of this, it is one of those rare productions which entertain and thrill at the actual time of screening, and which live in the memory long afterwards.

On analysis it will be found that the reason for this enduring value is that the drama has the unique quality of revealing deeper meanings and wider aspects of appeal the move the mind penders upon it. more the mind ponders upon it.

This means that the film has ar actuality, a vitality, not at first easy to explain, but unmistakable in its influence. In brief, "The Four Just Men" is a highly intriguing piece of entertainment.

One powerful reason for its deep appeal is that it deals so vividly with what is convering in greater or less.

what is occurring, in greater or less legree, all over the world. It is in-stinct with implied fact, although is obviously not a statement of fact.

To New Zealand "The Four Just Men" has particular application, because it bases its action on a supposed plan to block the Suez Canal and to cut the oil line of Iraq, thereby severing communication between Britain and the East, inclusive of Australia and New Zea. ourse, of Australia and New Zea-

Such a plot is obviously within the realms of possibility and it is in the circumventing and folling of it that the action of the story unfolds, maintaining a tense interest from the dramatic scene to the last emotional moment. Moving on the level of a play that is frankly a thriller, this unique screen-drama establishes itself in the memory as a work of deep patriotic purpose, instilled with significance for the Empire and its people.

HONEY MINCEMENT Honey mincemeat has a delicious and unusual flavour, and introduces figs as well as the more usual ingredients. Take ½lb dried figs, 6ozs. candied peel, 1lb cooking apples, 1lb seeded raisins, 1lb clear honey, ½oz. mixed spice, 2 lemons.

mixed spice, 2 lemons.

Method: Chop the raisins, thoroughly wash and chop the figs, and mix with the shredded peel. Peel, core and chop the apples, add them with the spice, and stir until the ingredients are thoroughly blended. Three parts fill the jar with this mixture.

Put the honey into a double sauce-pan, and add to it the grated rind of one lemon and the strained juice of two. Bring almost to the boil, stirring and pour while hot into the ars, filling them to the top. Cover

Many people complain that their mincemeat ferments a short time after it has been made. This usually after it has been made. This usually means that the mixture is too wet, or has been kept in too warm a place. Using too many apples is a common fault. They contain a great amount of water, and are apt to make the mixture work if you have been too generous with them. If you ration the amount of apples, and use both lemon juice and brandy, mincemeat should keep almost indefinitely.

dessertspoonful of butter.

Method: Boil the sugar and milk for five minutes, add the coconut and butter and boil again for three minutes. Take off the fire, beat until it begins to thicken and pour into a well buttered dish. Too much beating will make the coconut ice sugary. This quantity may be divided when cooked and half coloured chocolate with cocoa, and pink with chocolate with cocoa, and pink with cochineal. What better Xmas

Gift than new Sight?

Spectacles will constantly remind of your kind thoughts.

Like plum puddings, mincemeat is best made in advance of Christmas, so it is not too soon to start chopping and stirring and preparing this most delectable of fillings.

Many people wonder why this sweet delicacy has such a strange name, but this is explained by the recipe given in an old cookery book. In addition to raisins, currants, suet, apples, peel, and all the other usual ingredients, minced ox tongue and sirloin of beef were used in the mixture—an addition which we would consider rather heavy these days, when food tends to be so much lighter and less overwhelming.

There are quite a lot of variations from a standard recipe though, which give piquancy without making the mixture too rich. Country people often add a sprig of rosemary, ground to a fine powder; others favour the addition of a small amount of crushed macaroons, or a little preserved ginger.

Whatever mixture you favour, do buy only the very best ingredients. It is waste of time and money to make mincement at home with any but the fattest and sleekest of currants, the plumpest raisins. Here are several recipes to choose from and in addition one or two recipes for other Christmas delicacies.

Be sure and watch next week's recipes, the last before Christmas, for very helpful ad-vice for your Christmas dinner.

OLD ENGLISH MINCEMEAT

Ingredients: ½lb. apples, 1lb. raisins, ½lb. currants, ½lb. candied peel, grated rind and juice of a lemon, ½lb brown sugar, ½lb grated suct, ½ teaspoonful ground ginger, 1 teaspoonful ground cinnamon, 1 wineglass of brandy or rum.

FRUIT MINCEMEAT

Ingredients: 1lb each of butter, currants, sultanas, seeded raisins and brown sugar, ½lb each of apples and pears, ½lb each of dried apricots and peaches, a little grated nutmeg, ½oz. allspice, 4ozs. candied citron peel, the rind and juice of one lemon peet, the rind and juice of one lemon and one orange, a wineglass of whisky or brandy, a small teaspoonful salt, ½lb blanched almonds. Keep back ½lb currants to be added whole after the other ingredients have been put through a coarse mincer and mixed thoroughly.

THREE-ACT PLAY AT

"The Middle Watch," by Ian Hay and Stephen King-Hall, a humorous romance of the navy, was presented last evening at Iona College, Havelock North, to an appreciative audience of parents, old girls and friends. The choice of the play, in comparison with more dramatic plays produced in recent years at land.

The standard of the performance was high, the repose and restraint in the many humorous situations be-

Large mixed bowls of honey-suckle, roses, broom and delphiniums were used in the main room as decoration, and looked most effective. The informal opening ceremony was performed by Mr N. Kettle, president of the Society, who spoke of the high standard of work

Marine Ogg, a stoiid sentry who took a large part, was admirably portrayed by Jean Bishop.

A particularly difficult piece of acting which drew appreciation from the audience was the eating of a meal alone on the stage by the Admiral, played by Heather Baird. The breakfast was eaten in an atmosphere of disapproving silence, reflecting credit on the young player, who betrayed no nervousness in this somewhat difficult piece. The cast, who must be congratulated on a fine performance, was as follows: Marine Ogg, Jean Bishost, Ah Fieldhouse, Ar Tattersall, R. Bestall.

LITTLE SUPPORT FOR PROPOSAL

NAPIER COMMERCIAL AERODROME

TOO FAR DISTANT

Patangata County's Attitude

"Daily Mail" Special Service. WAIPUKURAU.

The proposal to establish a commercial aerodrome in Hawke's Bay received little support when it was brought before the Patangata County Council yesterday morning. The chairman (Mr C. Pattison) remarked that there was a move afoot to suggest an allocation of the cost of the scheme among the local bodies which had been invited to attend the meeting at Napier. Although the Patangata County was not represented at the meeting, they were presumably included in the suggested sharing of the costs.

The scheme did not interest them, said Cr. C. R. Edgecombe.

Cr A. W. S. Longley observed that the Waipawa County appeared to be changing its attitude, and to be more interested at the scheme among the local bodies was as 10 lows:—

changing its attitude, and to be more or less in favour of the idea.

On the motion of Cr. G. F. Mc-Hardy the Council reaffirmed its opinion as it was too far away from Napier to be interested.

On the motion of Cr. Longley, Cr. J. D. W. Ormond was granted leave of absence until the end of the financial year. The chairman said that Cr. Ormond had offered to resign, but he did not like the idea that a man should lose his seat on the Council immediately on going into military camp. Provided that Cr. H. Parsons could attend the meetings, the Eparaima Riding would not be without representation on the Council in the representation of the

A CODE FOR HIGHWAYMEN

This column will not be at all popular this morning, for it will consist of nothing but good advice. This commodity is more easy to give than to receive, its supply exceeds the demand, and, like some of the Commandments, its tenets are more often honoured in the breach than in the observance. But as often as we approach Christmas this unpleasant duty

This advice is for motorists, who fall naturally into the categories of highwaymen and users of the highways-a distinction with a very big difference. The counsel will take the form of some pithy and elementary statements which will be easily understood by all who know how to sit behind a wheel and which should be drummed into the minds of all who have not yet learned the ethics of road courtesy or the principles that must be applied to save their own necks and the necks of others. The following are the simple propositions that should be learned off by heart by everyone who is unwilling to peruse the monotonous annual repetition of road accidents and fatalities that are such a grim and consistent accompaniment to the festive season. Here they are:-

Although the motive power of a car is spirit, it is never intoxicated. It gives instant obedience to commands (always allowing for warrants of fitness and so forth). Whatever the mental, spiritual, or spirituous exaltation of the driver, the car will go faster when certain things are done and slower when certain other things are done. Petrol in the carburettor and whisky behind the driving wheel do not mix.

When the holiday break comes, there are certain little but important things that all drivers should remember. For instance: There is a car around every corner. Those who take their minds off that legitimate likelihood are possibly writing their own premature obituary notices or those of other people. The "other fellow" can always be depended upon to do the wrong thing, so that no one behind the wheel should ever imagine that the "other fellow" is half so good a driver. Many mutual curses have been broadcast at sixty miles an hour due to this simple fact of lack of understanding on both sides. Many corpses have also resulted.

On every sharp corner lurks a potential skid, either on shingle, on wet bitumen, or on back wheels that are revolving too quickly. When one driver dims his lights, he loses visibility only if the other fails to do so. Pedestrians are human beings with as much right to use their legs as motorists have to use their wheels. Every pedestrian should be regarded from the motorist's point of view as blind and deaf, even if he is not always dumb. There is a train on every level crossing, whether the "wig-wag" works or not. There are such things as the dust nuisance and the splash nuisance. These things fray tempers and put raw edges on nerves.

The highways are not race-tracks, whatever the tempting competition offering. "On ne passe pas" was not written of the roads. Let the other one pass, and give him in his smirk of satisfaction. The race may be to the swift, but so also may be the cemetery. Lingering may be as great a crime and as great a danger as speeding. The golden mean is a steady pace guided by a steady eye and regulated not only by the written but by the unwritten laws of good conduct on the highways.

It may be possible to escape the law or those who enforce it when conditions are favourable, such as in the case of darkness or of blinding rain, but there can be no escape from the laws of mechanics or from the laws of courtesy and consideration, neglect of which may lead to equally serious

It is now with a slightly easier conscience, having fulfilled a necessary duty, that the "Daily Mail" may wish for a happy festive season for all concerned in these remarks.

Rotary's Vacation

Yesterday's meeting of the Hastings Rotary Club will be the last for this year. The president (Mr E. T. Gifford) mentioned this in wishing members the season's greetings. The next meeting will be on Tuesday, February 6, 1940.

"Grasshoppers"

"Like grasshoppers" was how Mr J. J. Nimon described the British "Spitfire" fighting 'planes to members of the Hastings Rotary Club yesterday. They seemed literally to hop off the ground, said Mr Nimon, who added that he had never seen anything like this type for take-off and climbing ability. and climbing ability.

Harvey) extended seasonal felicitations to his fellow Board members, the secretary-manager (Mr H. H. Wylie) and his staff, and representatives of the Press. On behalf of the Board, the deputy-chairman (Mr T. E. Crosse) reciprocated the chairman's greetings and Mr Wylie returned the compliments of the season on behalf of the members of the staff.

Welcome to Mr Nimon

A warm welcome home was extended to Mr J. J. Nimon, Havelock North, when he attended a meeting of the Hawke's Bay Electric Power Board in Hastings yesterday afternoon. The chairman (Mr W. Harvey) said that members of the Board were glad to see Mr Nimon back from his tour, and expressed the hope that he had had an enjoyable holiday. "Under the present circumstances, I am particularly glad to take my place at the Board table once again and renew my happy associations with you all," declared Mr Nimon, in thanking the members for their welcome. members for their welcome.

A Thought of Overseas A note of sincerity was struck by the member for Hawke's Bay (Mr. E. L. Cullen) when he wished the pupils of the Hastings Central School a happy Christmas at the annual parents' day held yesterday afternoon. He suggested that at the festive season they should not forget those children in Europe and the Mother Country who had lost their parents or who had been parted from them for an indefinite period as the result of war conditions. To those children less fortunately placed than themselves he felt they should send their heartfelt wishes for happiness at Christmas time.

A Display of Drill In addition to the usual exhibitions of work of the various classes of the school, parents and friends who attended the annual Parents' Day at the Hastings Central Schoo yesterday were given the opportunity to see a number of the classes engaged in drill. A marked feature of this display was the wide variety of exercises included in it. It would seem that no muscle of the body could remain undeveloped. A fine or seem that no muscle of the body could remain undeveloped. A fine exhibition of life-saving was given by the senior boys and excitement was added to the general proceedings by a "Spry Ball" race among the senior girls. It was found that as many as seven men were required to carry a stretcher at some points. The entire exercises were regarded as being most beneficial to the unit, giving them valuable experience in operating under practical conditions.

Mr Barnard's Humour

The Member for Napier (the Hon. W. E. Barnard) was in humorous, as well as serious, vein at the annual parents' day at the Hastings Central School yesterday. In his speech he mentioned that the chair man of the school committee had asked him to be brief. This was hardly necessary, he said. An Appeal to Parents

An appeal to parents for their assistance in furthering the swimming activities of pupils attending the Hastings Central School was made by the chairman of the School Committee (Mr W. S. As an example of how parents might give their help, Mr Bennett mentioned that pupils had been asked to secure season tickets for the ed to secure season tickets for the baths. The Heretaunga Swimming Club had offered to give additional and advanced instruction to likely swimmers in the school. The interview had been of a confidential nature and Mr Wylie's report was taken in committee, but it was stated in open meeting that while the Board would be looking some four or five years ahead, it was essential that draft arrangements should be made so that the Board's feeder lines and switches could be designed accordingly.

There was no Government restriction on the import of parts and the assembly factory was being enlarged to cope with the new situation. The total number of consumers the necessary import licences had during November was 8673, an in-

AMAZING VOYAGE

Vessel Arrives In England

British Official Wireless. RUGBY, Dec. 11.

RUGBY, Dec. 11.

Details of the amazing voyage from Gydnia, Polish port on the Baltic, to England of the Polish submarine Orzel after the German invasion of Poland are now revealed. The submarine left Gydnia on September 1, eluding a German submarine cordon strung across the gulf, and made for the Baltic. After a fortnight, the captain became so ill that he had to be landed at Tallinn, Estonia.

Here they found an oil-tanker, an Guards Landed.

Next day the captain brought the submarine to the surface, charged the batteries, and later landed the Estonian guards on an island and made a wireless signal announcing the guards' safety.

For a fortnight they cruised in the Baltic, hunted the whole time, and frequently running into rocks. They made for the Swedish coast when they sighted a flotilla of German destroyers, but the water was too shallow to attack with any chance of escape. At night they rose to periscope depth and went ahead, but soon afterwards they grounded.

ahead, but soon afterwards they grounded.

After getting afloat again and several times again grounding and extricating themselves, they grounded on the surface. A searchlight from a destroyer time after time swung past within a few yards. They realised that they had floundered into a channel so shallow that the Germans did not bother to search it.

Chased Again

In desperation they blew all their tanks and refloated. They attempted to creep away, but were discovered, and destroyers were after them. They submerged and lay quiet at the bottom, and next day—the fortieth—they decided to try to set their course for England.

With their wireless apparatus damaged and no recognition of signals, they were prey for attack by every nation.

One of the officers, however, knew English, and on October 6 a faint message on imperfect transmission reached a British wireless station. A few hours later a British destroyer found them and led them into harbour.

Consequent upon these retirements, the following changes, which will take effect early in the New Year, have been announced.

Mr W. H. D. Coltman, district manager at Invercarill to be district manager at Hamilton; Mr V. J.

Wise, district manager at Whangarei to be district manager at Invercar.

Laxation is now greater than ever before in British history, the burden into harbour.

They had only three requests—to land their sick cook, replenish their water supplies, and be given breechblocks for their guns. They were then prepared to go to sea forthwith on whatever patrol it pleased the British Navy to employ them.

DAMAGE IN THE HUTT VALLEY

WELLINGTON, Dec. 12.

Receding to-day as rapidly as it had risen, the Hutt River left many hundreds of acres in the upper part of the valley covered with shingle, silt, and driftwood. An accurate estimate of the damage is not possible, but it will run into thousands of pounds.

Golf clubs in particular have suffered severely, and farmers have lost much stock. Valuable feed has been

The Hutt River began to fall after reaching its peak at 5.30 p.m. on Monday, when it was 14 feet above normal, and continued to fall steadily all to-day. By eight o'clock to-night it had gone down about eight feet. The secretary of the Hutt River Board said to-night that if there was no further heavy rain the river might be back to normal by to-morrow evening.

A large area at the northern end of the course was covered to a depth of about a foot with shingle, boulders and silt, and driftwood was everywhere. The floor of the clubhouse was covered with an inch of silt and a window had been broken by a log thrown against it by the raging water.

The course is to be closed for the next two weeks, and after that only nine holes will be in use. The damage is worse than in 1931, and it is doubtful whether the full 18 holes will be ready for play again by next winter.

Slips on the Rimutaka Hill have been cleared sufficiently to allow cars to pass, but care is needed.

The Akatarawa road connecting Upper Hutt with Waikanae will be closed until further notice.

The Moonshine road connecting Trentham with Pahautanui is blocked.

The Whakatiki links at Upper Hutt also suffered severely and will not be playable for a long time.

The Hutt links and the Wellington Club's links at Heretaunga were also flooded, but not so seriously. The Deep Creek and Fluxs Road bridges have been washed away and Cooley's Creek bridge, a big concrete structure, has been left high and dry.

Apart from work trains, no regular services were operated between Cross Creek and Upper Hutt on the Wairarapa line to-day, and it was stated to-night that no indication could be given as to when the line would again be open for traffic. A series of slips and washouts on the Wellington side of the Rimutaka incline occurred during the height of the rainstorm on Monday and caused serious damage to the permanent way. The major blockage is to the north of Mangaroa, where the approach to the bridge was completely washed away by the flood waters. At this point the track is impassable, and since Monday all available men have been engaged on the line. Men

The creek has changed its course and washed away 15 chains of fence.

Farmers at Mangaroa—which is an important source of Wellington's milk supply—clubbed together today and got the milk over the creeks in carts. All the milk reached Wellington.

Serious erosion occurred in the Taita Gorge, where the Public Works Department built a huge groyne a few years ago. The river apparently got under a stone groyne which collapsed. Once the groyne had gone there was nothing to protect the road.

At two places the river has cut several feet into the road for about 20 yards. The road was open for a time to-day but was closed again.

Water flowing over the road on the northern approach to the Silverstream bridge did some damage, souring the bitumen in several places, but traffic was able to get through from early this morning.

Traffic on the Wairarapa line was again dislocated to-day and the express from Woodville to Wellington did not travel beyond Cross Creek.

Passenger and freight traffic between Wellington and Wairarapa was diverted to the Manawatu line, and many people who intended leaving Wellington on Monday when the Wairarapa services were cancelled Mairarapa services were cancelled left Wellington at 8.30 a.m. to-day for Palmerston North, where the connection with the train from Woodville to Cross Creek was ar-

The Railways Department advised to-night that no further trouble had occurred on the Hutt Valley lines and normal services were operated between Wellington and Upper Hutt to-day.

Main Road Closed

The main road route from Wellington to Wairarapa has been closed because of a collapse of the Te Marua bridge over the Mangaroa River.

The Taita Gorge also remains closed, but other main routes are open. The condition of the side roads is much the same as was reported this morning. The concrete Te Marua bridge having collapsed, it is quite impassable, but between and normal services were operated between Wellington and Upper Hutt to-day.

Air Services

Despite weather conditions, the staff at Rongotai was at work at 4 a.m., and a Union Airways 'plane got away for Auckland at five o'clock. 'Planes for Nelson and Blenheim also got away to time. The weather is evidently clearing. There is a light southerly still, with some it is quite impassable, but between

MEMORIAL GATES FOR LIVED UNDER SIX TO-DAY'S YOUTH MUST HASTINGS SCHOOL

The Official Opening Ceremony Yesterday

CITADEL OF CITIZENSHIP

The significance of the opening of the Jubilee Memorial Gates at the Hastings Central School in the development of education in Hawke's Bay and the Dominion as a whole was stressed by the member for Napier (the Hon. W. E. Barnard) at the annual parents' day of the school held yesterday

It was fitting, said Mr Barnard, that the memorial gates should be opened at this time. The near approach of the Centennial year suggested vividly that New Zealand was acquiring an historical perspective. Such an occasion as this would scarcely have been imagined in his school days, he said, and it impelled the realisation that New Zealand was making history.

For this and future generations the new school would be a seat of learning and a citadel of citizenship which could not fail to have its influence on those who would control the future destinies of Hawke's Bay and probably the Dominion.

From Napier Mr Barnard brought congratulations to Hastings on the magnificent new school it had erected. The memorial gates gave a finishing touch to the whole and provided an excellent setting for a fine modern building. The School and Jubilee Committees' use of the surplus funds which had accrued from Jubilee celebrations deserved the Much was implied in later life, Mr Barnard continued, by citizens having entered school under the same portal.

The National Anthem

Mr Barnard expressed his pleasure at the singing of the New Zealand national anthem before the opening of ceremonies. The words had been written by the New Zealand poet, Thomas Bracken. Writing 50 years ago, he had anticipated the future achievements of the country he had admired so much. It was particularly pleasing that his anthem should be sung when an expression of what he had expected of the country was receiving its official recognition.

A Good Future

In his introductory remarks the chairman of the school committee (Mr W. S. Bennett) gave a warm welcome to the distinguished guests of the school on the occasion of parents' day — Mr Maddison, Mr Barnard, Mr Cullen, the past president of the jubilee committee (Mr G. Ebbett) and the in spector.

"You must find better use for aeroplanes than for bombing women and children; you must find better jobs for our machines than we have now," the Assistant Director of Education (Dr. C. E. Beeby) told pupils of the Napier Intermediate School at the annual prize-giving ceremony in the Napier Municipal Theatre last night. TRAILER USERS WARNED

BLUE LIGHT NEEDED ON CARS

SAFETY DEVICES

Defining The Load On Lorries

The new regulations compelling motorists using trailers to install blue lights on the highest forward point of their cars were referred to by the chief automobile patrol officer for Hawke's Bay (Mr M. O. Lock) when approached by a "Daily Mail" reporter at Napier yesterday. This summer it was expected that increasing numbers of drivers would be using trailer caravans, he said, and the regulations had been framed to provide safety for all road traffic.

All vehicles which are used to

All vehicles which are used to draw trailers must have a blue light, irrespective of the width of the trailers. This light must not be less than three inches square, and must be fitted as high as practicable in the front of the vehicle.

Dear Sirs,

I have been a sufferer from violent Headaches over a period of years and have always found instant relief in your 'ASPRO' tablets. I've tried numerous other kinds of tablets but always find no other sort gives the same satisfaction as 'ASPRO.' I also find 'ASPRO' tablets relieve Toothache and Earache and from my own experience regard 'ASPRO' as an essential in the home. Thanking you,

BEAUPARTIR PLEASES CUP ADMIRERS

Favours Ellerslie Track

MILLAMENT IN QUEEN'S PLATE

Manawatu Cup Hopes In Action stock event, of the year.

(By MOTUROA).

Beaupartir's success in the Railway Handicap at Woodville on Monday was one of the most impressive performances at the Woodville meeting, and the Okawa four-year-old will advance in favour for the Auckland Cup on Tuesday week as the result of his brilliant effort. It was his first win at six furlongs.

The track was very greasy and cut up by the time Beaupartir's race came round and the conditions were night against him. He slipped and slid around the turn and was last when the field had straightened up. Broughton then wisely pulled him to the outside to come down the middle of the track, which provided better going. Once balanced and straightened up for the run home. Beaupartir Once balanced and straightened up for the run home, Beaupartin simply buried the opposition.

Much interest will be invested in Beaupartir's progress in the course of the next ten days. While he certainly looked improved by his racing at Trentham and Riccarton, the Beau Pere horse left the impression that he can still lose a lot of his middle-piece before he is really ready to show his best form over two miles, even though he is built on rather stocky lines. However, that race will do him a vast amount of good and it should be possible to put the finishing touches on him with track work.

Mr T. H. Lowry has enjoyed a large amount of success at Ellerslie in the past and it can be regarded as one of his lucky courses. That remarkable gelding Bobrikoff won the Auckland Cup for the Squire of Okawa in 1912, and that fine horse Balboa registered a further success under the gold and blue livery in this big race three years later.

This would be unfortunate as Fossicker has shown definite promise as a jumper and looked likely to do well in the next few months.

sired an Auckland Cup winner in Cheval de Volee, while her dam, Aurora Borealis, was a rare stayer. She was by Day Comet from Rangitata, by California or Aberbrothock from Elusion, a Vanguard mare who traced back to the Wanganui Derby winner Fame, a sister to Foam who also won that event, and ancestress to Rangitero and Achilledes.

In the Manawatu Cup, Aurora's Star will have the services of W. J. Mudford, who is riding with great confidence at present and, as she is one of the most honest mares racing, she can be depended upon for a grand effort.

ANOTHER CUP HOPE

ANOTHER CUP HOPE

THE BUZZER was another Manawatu Cup candidate who pleased last week at Woodville and his forward showing in the Oete Handicap on Saturday came as a surprise to the majority as he had never previously shown early pace. He finished right up behind a smart sprint field.

The Buzzer, who won the Auckland Cup in 1937 and appeared a little unlucky to suffer a head defeat in the New Zealand Cup thirteen months ago, is a rare stayer and, as he was having his first race for more than eleven months, it is reasonable to expect that he will be greatly improved by this outing. He was to have raced on Monday, but the bad track conditions decided his connections to withdraw him.

The twelve furlongs on the Manawatu Cup will suit The Buzzer nicely, especially as he has a liking for his home track and was successful there over ten furlongs in 1937 when he beat Haut Monde in a fast-run race. The Buzzer is an Australian-bred gelding by The Buzzer from Eastern Belle, by Syee from Culture, by Boniform from Culroy, by Wallace.

HAWKE'S BAY ENTRIES TO-NIGHT

HAWKE'S BAY owners and trainers now have to consider the programme for the Hawke's Bay Jockey Club's summer meeting at Hastings on December 30 and January 1, and a final reminder is given that nominations for all events close with the secretary, Mr A. E. Wishart, Hastings, at 8 o'clock to-night (Wednesday). The programme caters for all classes of horses and, with the tracks now in wonderful order after the recent rain, there is every rea-son to believe that there will be record entries.

Sleeveless temporarily lost form during the New Zealand Cup meeting and again at Feilding, but she leaves the impression that she has come right once more. She looked unlucky to be beaten in the sprint on Saturday at Woodville and she has only to maintain this improvement to add materially to her winning account during the holidays.

The heavy rain experienced this week will play into the hands of Amigo in the A.R.C. Railway Handicap and, though his admirers would have liked to have seen him have a further race at Woodville, there is little doubt that the Wanganui gelding will continue in favour for the big sprint at Ellerslie. Amigo's fine win under 9.11 at Trentham in the mud in July will not be overlooked by backers if the going is heavy at Ellerslie.
