FRANCO PREPARED TO ACCEPT BRITISH PLAN

Withdrawal of Volunteers from Spain: Italian Troops Retired

> United Press Association-Copyright. (Received July 5, 9.15 p.m.)

HENDAYE, July 5.

According to information from Burgos, General Franco is prepared unconditionally to accept the British plan for the withdrawal of volunteers from Spain as soon as it is presented to him.

Simultaneously, it is officially stated from Saragossa that all Italian Black Arrow brigades are being withdrawn to behind the fighting line.

There are now no foreign troops in Franco's front line

RUGBY, July 4. In the absence of the Prime Miniswas at Leeds to receive an honorary degree, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir John Simon, announced that Sir Robert Hodgson, British Agent in General Franco's Spain, had brought General Franco's reply with reference to the bombing of

"Sir Robert arrived in London on Thursday and has since been engaged in consultation with the Foreign Minister, Lord Halifax, and his advisers, and the House will not expect me to do more at the moment than give a summary of the reply from Burgos," said Sir John.

"The reply maintains that ports are legitimate military objectives, but strongly disclaims any intention to single out British ships as objectives for attack tives for attack.

"The reply goes on to make certain proposals for according immunity from attack to a port to be agreed upon, and the suggestion is made that this port might be Almeria

"Burgos asks for suitable guarantees concerning the nature of mer-chandise to be admitted through that port, and concludes by emphasising its readiness to put forward proposals which may be helpful in establishing new laws of war for the future.

"I would only add that the shipping interests concerned have been informed of the proposals in this Note and that Britain will naturally take their views into account," Sir John added.

John added.

In answering supplementary questions, Sir John suggested that they should be deferred until Mr Chamberlain was able to attend.

Meanwhile, Lord Halifax will preside over a full meeting of the Non-Intervention Committee to-morrow at which the British plan for restoring land and sea control of the ing land and sea control of the Spanish frontiers and withdrawals of non-Spanish combatants will come up for final approval.

Auckland Player Has

Measles

By Telegraph—Press Association. WELLINGTON, July 5. The Wellington Rugby football representative, A. Wright, was advised by the New Zealand Rugby Union to-day of his selection by Mr E. McKenzie for the All Black team which will leave for Australia on Thursday. He is to replace J. Dick, the Auckland All Black wing three-quarter of last year, who has contracted measles.

Though Dick would no doubt be fit to play on the team's arrival at Sydney, the risk of infection of the other members of the team is considered too great for him to be allowed to make the trip.

His loss is a blow to New Zealand side, as he is considered the best winger in the country and has been playing this season at the top of his form.

SYDNEY, July 5.

Nearly two days late on her voyage from New York, the A. and A. Line's chartered steamer Trehata reached Auckland to-day after being hove-to 100 miles eastward of Cuvier Island. On Monday a full westerly gale was met by the Trehata and guests of hurricane force were experienced. The first effect of the gale was felt on Saturday, when the steamer's daily average log of 260 miles fell to 163. On Sunday it had dropped to 143, and on Monday, when the ship was nursed ahead quietly into the face of the tempest, only 64 miles were logged. At times the ship was making progress at a rate of less than a mile a watch.

Wireless advice received from the Federal Line steamer Huntingdon stated that heavy weather had further delayed her arrival at Opua in ballast from Newcastle-on-Tyne. She is now due at Opua at six o'clock to-morrow evening, 18 hours

The Japanese steamer Shanghai Maru, en route from Milke, advised that she would arrive at Auckland to-morrow evening, six days earlier than expected. It is considered that her early arrival is the result of omitting a five days stay at Walpole Island, between Noumea and Auckland.

The Shanghai Maru was to have loaded guano from lighters at sea off the island and, as the anchorage is open and dangerous, it is probable that the rough weather prevented her calling.

Particulars of the five British battleships of the King George V class have just been published. The King George V and the Prince of Wales are expected to be launched this year at Walker-on-Tyne. They will be followed by the Anson at Clydebank, the Beatty at Govan, and the Jellicoe at Wallsend-on-Tyne. All five ships are due to be completed before March 31, 1939.

The main armament consists of 10 14in. guns mounted in two quadruple and one double turret. It is probable that there will be one quadruple turret forward, with the double turret raised above it, and a quadruple turret on the quarter.

most exciting pictures of recent months, Columbia's roaring drama,
"Devil's Squadron," starring Richard
Dix, Karen Morley and Lloyd Nolan.
There is romance too, in this actionpacked film. Richard Dix is seen in who is dishonourably discharged from the army because of a trick of fate. Dana Kirk, his friend, is sup-trintendent of a testing airport, and erintendent of a testing airport, and gives Redmond his chance to make good. "Devil's Squadron" speeds to a highly dramatic climax.

In "Meet Nero Wolfe," the second attraction, Edward Arnold is seen as Rex Stout's fat and sleepy, but highly efficient detective — Nero Wolfe. Also in the cast are Victor Jory, Joan Perry and Lionel Stander. The film's exciting action begins when Professor Barstow dies der. The film's exciting action begins when Professor Barstow dies apparently of a heart attack on the golf links in the company of Claude Roberts, young golf pro in love with the professor's daughter, a Mr Kimball, and his son Manuel. "MR MOTO" AGAIN ON SCREEN

Story of the Orient To-day

Commencing to-day at the State Theatre, Napier, with a matinee at 2.15, another of the famous "Mr Moto" films makes its first appear-

Portrayed in the inimitable manner of Peter Lorre, who again is starred in the title role, "Mr Moto" is the mystery man of the Orient. Many know him by sight, but no one knows what he is thinking, and in "Thank You, Mr Moto," he pits his oriental cunning against overwhelming odds to foil those who would plunder Genghis Khan's tomh of its hidden riches.

In keeping with the established policy of placing each "Moto" story in a colourful foreign background, "Thank You, Mr Moto" is laid in Peiping, China, and on the desert wastes of Mongolia. The plot is woven around the friendship of "Mr Moto" for an elderly dowager of who has been allowed and Brig, and back. The railway was built by a French company at a cost of £4,000,000. Its highest point, 4080ft up, lies in the middle of the Lotschberg Tunnel, which is nine miles long.

BRIDE IN SATIN

Two Maids Wear Lilac Stiffened Tulle

TAN TRAVEL SUIT

A picturesque wedding of wide interest took place recently at St. Peter's Church, Dunedin, when Mavis, only daughter of Mr and Mrs Christie C. Forno, of St. Clair, Dunedin, and granddaughter of the late Mr Charles H. King, was married to Robert Spinner, of Hastings, elder son of Mr and Mrs H. Spinner, Mornington, Dunedin. The Rev. Arthur Bywell officiated, while Miss Favell presided at the organ. During the signing of the register, Mr Roland Dunbar gave a beautiful rendering of the solo, "Because."

The decorations in the church were white roses and lilies and they made an effective setting for the bridal group.

The bride, who was escorted by her father, made a dainty picture as she entered the church to the strains of the "Wedding March." Very lovely was her gown of pure white slipper satin with honiton lace roses forming the heart-shaped neckline, and the sleeves were cut on heart-shaped lines, tapering over the wrist. The heart-shaped design was also carried out in the very long sweeping train, which was inset with a true lovers' knot of honiton lace. The long, billowy veil of cut tulle was attached to an unusual Anne Boleyn halo of finely-pleated tulle, the crown being trellised in tiny silver rosebuds. A trailing bou-quet of white lilies, roses and maidenhair fern was carried.

The Bridesmaids.

The bridesmaids, the Misses Una Carswell (Wallington) and Joyce Carswell (Wellington) wore bouffant frocks of lilac stiffened tulle mounted on lilac taffeta. The sleeves were puffed, and the corsage was trimmed with tiny violet bows, while the hemlines of the very full skirts were banded with violet taf-Art lovers from many parts of shower bouquets were of lilacthe district assembled at the Art shaded asters, chrysanthemums and

EXPERIENCED TRAVELLER TELLS OF RECENT TRIP

Miss Una Smith Speaks to Hastings Guild of Fellowship

An experienced traveller, Miss Una Smith, who has visited many far-away lands not seen by the usual tourist, told of her recent trip at the meeting of members of St. Matthew's Guild of Fellowship which was held in Hastings yesterday afternoon.

As Miss Smith misses nothing of early hours of the morning they reinterest when she travels and delves cited parts of the Koran with choruses of Allahs. and Clarence William, youngest son of Mr and Mrs S. Jackson, of Tataramoa.

"The people of Bali have a quaint belief," continued Miss Smith. "They believe that evil spirits cannot turn corners or mount steps. It is for this reason that every house has several steps at the doorway and to make doubly sure many of them have a blank wall directly inside the door to enable the house to be entered only after turning a corner."

At Java

"The people of Bali have a quaint painted with a crimson and gold tapestry design. Women predominated in the congregation, there being about eight women to one man; all were hatless and had left their shoes at the outside door. They simply crouched on their bare heels. As the service lasted for two hours each little group had a teapot and cups of tea were enjoyed every now and then.

At Java.

The traveller's next stop was made at Java, an island of great beauty. Here she visited a particularly beautiful Buddhist temple built in the Eighth Century by Hindus and Buddhists who came from India. The temple stood on a symetrical green hill and was a solid construction of brick and stone with over two miles of bas-relief on the walls, dealing with the life of Buddha, the sculpture being particularly beautiful.

"In front of the congregation were about 200,000 priests in Siam), whose gowns of Saffron yellow looked attractive against their dark skins. Beyond the priests two tall brass candelabra illuminated an immense Buddha, with calm peaceful standing in front of a black velvet background. Invisible priests recited prayers throughout the service."

Miss Smith told of the wonderful after travelling to Lower and then.

Miss Smith said that one of the main exports from Borneo was white mahogany, this being used for the decks of British ships and the cross bars of telegraph poles as the wood was exceptionally hard.

From Borneo Miss Smith went to the Philippine Islands and when returning from here to Singapore they had a strange collection of passengers, 209 pilgrims bound for Mecca, being packed like sardines on the deck where they slept and ate. At Disposing of Bodies The speaker told also about the Parsees, who do not believe in cremation, but leave their bodies to be eaten by the vultures—certainly a most hygienic idea. She described the towers in Bombay built for this purpose and said that only the pallpurpose and said that only the parbearers were allowed into the innermost parts and they afterwards have to destroy their clothes. As time would not permit the speaker to tell more about her travels she concluded by speaking briefly of her journey up the Persian Gulf to Basra and to the wonderful ruins at Ur of the 'Chaldees.

A hearty vote of thanks to Miss Smith was proposed by the guild president, Mrs Barton Hobbs.

While listening to the address the members rolled bandages for the Mission Hospitals in Melanesia and Mrs H. Nelson Fowler, the guild's missionary organiser, reminded everyone that old sheets were always required for bandages and any contributions left at Hall's Bookshop would be collected.

The secretary, Mrs W. A. Bryant, had made a lovely posy of daphne and maidenhair fern for Mrs Houston, the guild treasurer, who leaves shortly to live in Tauranga.

Mrs Hobbs announced that as a result of the recent concert and sale of work £20 had been added to the missionary quota and she expressed gratitude to all who had assisted.

The hostesses for tea were Mesdames Sharky, W. A. Bryant and Miss Smith.

GISBORNE BOXER'S SUCCESS

> Young Professional GOOD WIN AT OAMARU

Rapid Advance

In the professional boxing mate at Oamaru last week for the middle weight title of New Zealand, the young Gisborne fighter, George Allen, son of Police Constable Allen of Hastings, did not waste any time in finishing the bout, for he "K.O'd" Stan Jenkins in the first round.

Allen is the youngest professional to hold a Dominion Championship and has advanced to the fore very rapidly, as he has been boxing for a little over two years and the amateur ranks less than ten months ago.

He holds a points decision over the New Zealand heavyweight cham-pion Ern Jacobs, whom he defeated on points at Gisborne five weeks ago. After two more fights in the South Island he is returning to his home town to endeavour to win yet (d'Arlequen); "Stockrider's Song" (W. G. James); "Route the light-heavyweight championship

POLITICAL OPINIONISTS

"There are as many opinions as there are men," said a Roman philosopher, but that is one of those easily accepted sayings the ultimate truth of which cannot survive after close examination. There is such a thing as individual ideology. Witness the fact that men have arisen whose discoveries, theories, or even conjectures have revolutionised many of the long-accepted practices of human conduct.

Yet psychology is a science that deals with more than merely individual habits of mind, and no exhaustive account of our ways of thinking can omit a reference to the mental habits of men in the mass or in the groups which form part

Mental groups form factions. When people gather together, they gravitate to the group that represents a common viewpoint. It is a frequent error to suppose that the party spirit, as it may be called, is peculiar to politics. Its ramifications spread out much more widely.

In Art there are schools. In religion there are sects and denominations. In science there are "'isms" and "'osophies" that bewilder the layman. And in politics there are parties.

Is the party spirit a good thing, or is it not? If we think of religion—as affording the clearest illustration of the point at issue—it needs but a few moments of cogitation to see that it is just because beliefs are held so strongly by like-minded groups of individuals that mutually antagonistic credos are created. But these antagonisms are not mutually destructive. The very sparks arising from religious friction have illuminated men's minds and brought into sharp relief the fact that there must be something about which people are in deadly earnest, and so the blood of the martyrs has many a time been the "red rain that makes the harvest grow."

There is such a thing as a genuine difference of opinion as to ways and means and policies and methods, but the wellbeing of the State is still the motive power urging all alike to the common goal of human happiness. Mutual recriminations will never get us forward. To play the man instead of the ball will never win a satisfactory game, and to re-open old sores is useless for the purpose of maintaining or of attaining a condition of communal health and well-being.

To impugn motives, to suspect without proof, to refuse to recognise an atom of truth in the point of view of another, to be arrogant in opinion and utterly uncompromising in outlook—these are but a few of the characteristics of the man who has not learned the secret of progress, of the man who is "standing on his own foot," and of the man who is doing more harm than good to society.

It is recognised that it is impossible to find a common level of agreement on any single question of importance, just as it is impossible to find a hat that will fit everyone. But that is no reason why the ordinary characteristics of humanity should not be recognised by all.

As there are so many opinions, everyone is entitled to his own. There are enough to go round. But as there are nany common difficulties facing us all, it should be seen and acknowledged that they may be solved from many angles and not from one only. The more vehement of our political opinionists should remember this.

LETTERS FROM BARRIE AND LAWRENCE

Sales Total £2700

LONDON, May 27. On many occasions yesterday at Hodgson's rooms there was spirited bidding for the books which Thomas Hardy had left at Max Gate, Dor chester, and for the autograph let-ters which Barrie and Lawrence of Arabia had written to the second Mrs Hardy. More than £2700 was e satisfactory result. None of Hardy's own manuscripts appeared. He was a very generous friend, and the manuscripts which he gave to Clement Shorter and Edmund Gosse were sold at Sotheby's 10 years ago. Then 30 pages of "Wessex Folk" brought £740.

Question of Aiding Those Suffering Losses

Stating that the Government would not be satisfied until they got definite results, the Minister of Agriculture (the Hon. W. Lee Martin), at a large gathering of farmers at Hamilton yesterday, said that investigation and research into facial eczema would continue until results

A lengthy report on the facial eczema investigation carried out in the Waikato was considered by the meeting. The Minister of Agricul-ture, the Hon. W. Lee Martin, and the Acting-Director of Agriculture, Mr Fawcett, and departmental employment tax and income tax forms, was raised by the meeting, but the Ministar stated that farmers who suffered losses would be able to obtain loans in the same manner as in other districts where disasters had occurred. Each case would be considered on its merits.

It was pointed out during the meeting that it was impossible to gauge actual losses through the epidemic, but sheep farmers would get nothing more than 50 to 70 per cent. lambing this season, while there would be a considerable reduction in the wool cheque.

while dairy farmers had not lost so heavily as sheep farmers, there had been a big reduction in butterfat production during the months of April and May, and the New Zealand Co-operative Company alone has lost £90,000 worth of butterfat and, in view of the fact that this company handled over half of the butterfat produced in the Waithe butterfat produced in the Wai-kato, it is safe to say that the loss of butterfat because of facial eczema amounted to £150,000 to £180,000.

Mayor's Views Criticised by Mr E. L. Cullen

Position of Distress in Hawke's Bay Reviewed

Cases Quoted

"Mr Maddison Not Alone in His Concern for Needy"

Commenting on the recently-expressed view of Mr G. A. Maddison. Mayor of Hastings, that distress is just as bad now as it was three years ago, Mr E. L. Cullen, M.P. for Hawke's Bay, stated yesterday that he had gone to some trouble to a tain what he believed to be the true position.

"The official figures of persons granted indoor and outdoor relief by the Hawke's Bay Hospital Board are a good barometer of distress in its area," he said. "In 1034-35 there are 848 such cases, and in 937-38, only 370."

The number of cases in these figures where insufficient wages were ures where insufficient wages were the cause, were 71 in 1934-35 and only 30 in 1937-38, said Mr Cullen. Also, although the number of cases has fallen by half, the value of outdoor relief granted in the same year has lropped only to £6194 in 1937-38, compared with £7722 in 1934-35. So far, in fact, is distress from increasfar, in fact, is distress from increasing in Hawke's Bay that the board's estimates for next year anticipate a further fall in outdoor relief.

"These official statistics do not support the Mayor's statement that relief is as bad now as then. In any case, if he held this view, why did he, 12 months ago, agree to close the account for the relief of unemployment among women and girls. ployment among women and girls, and refund the balance in hand to the Labour Department?" added Mr

"The unemployment registrations, "The unemployment registrations, too, contradict the Layor's extraordinary statement," said Mr Cullen. "In the week ended June 15, 1935, there were 520 men on sustenance or Scheme 5. For the week ended June 18 this year, the number was only 332, of which 254 were medically classified as unfit, and would, in 1935, not have been retained on the register at all.

Many differing varieties of Socialism existed—in fact, it had been said that there were as many varieties of the ideal as there were Socialists. But each variety held certain essentials in common.

"All Began With Criticisms" They all began with certain criticisms of existing organisations. Fundamental Difference

The fundamental difference be or Socialism was, he would say, the monetary system. The case for Capitalism could be put on lines like this: There had been a very like this: There had been a very hard struggle throughout the years for freedom, and if history meant anything any impairment of freedom would bring a strong protest. Under Capitalism the world, especially in those parts where Capitalism had been most marked, had gained higher standards than had been known before. Capitalism threw responsibility for success or failure on the individual—whereas that responsibility under Socialism was sponsibility under Socialism was shifted to the State and people tended to lean on the State. If a man failed in the capitalist system he took the consequences, but if he succeeded he enjoyed the fruit of his own success of his own success.

Even under Capitalism there must be some regulating law and the position was now that the State set these regulations and the left the individual as free as possible to do all he could within those laws. Capitalism left a man free to explore every avenue for his own and the could within the could within the could within the could within the could be compared to the could be could be could be compared to the could be compared to the could be could be could be could be could be compared to the could be compared to the could be could be compared to the could be could be could be compared to the could be could be compared to the could be compared to the could be could be compared to the could be could be compared to the could be compared to exponents of Socialism took as their second step an analysis of the weaknesses of the Capitalist system—finding fault with such aspects of the system as the private ownership of property, the freedom of the individual, of private enterprise, and so on. ### INCREASED QUANTITY OF FRUIT IMPORTED

"Possible Disastrous Effect": Discussion At Canterbury Conference

The possibility of a disastrous effect on the New Zealand fruit market through increased importations under the Internal Marketing Department is suggested in the annual directors' report of the New Zealand Fruitgrowers' Federation, Ltd., presented to the Canterbury provincial conference of the association recently. "It is probably too soon to express a considered opinion," states the report, "but there is undoubtedly some apprehension in the minds of growers.

"Radical changes are taking place in the importation of fruit from other countries, particularly oranges and bananas. The control of these importations has been given to the funified control should at least permit of much more complete knowledge of the position and enable quicker action to be taken when difficulties develop. While granting this, there is no denying that if increased quantities are imported with correspondingly lower prices for the federation, the report stated, particularly in the production of fruit and the amount of business handled by the federation. It remained to be determined whether prices realised for the sale of produce would be sufficient to enable

Mr R. B. Bennett made his valedictory appearance in the House of Commons as Leader of the Opposition, by bringing the charge that Canada was "letting the Old Country down" by its alleged refusal to permit the organisation of Royal Air Force depots in the menacing routes to Hong Kong and singapore.

It is confirmed in London that France has occupied the Paracel Islands, north-east of Hainan, the island at the base of China, lying between Tongking and South China. The Parcel Islands are within flying distance of Indo-China. They are a series of reefs and lagoons suitable for a seaplane base.

The islands are not permanently settled, and it is therefore in the interests of France has notified Britain of the occupation.

A Tokyo message says that the Domei News Agency reports that Japan lacks official notification of the occupation of the islands, which is being watched with concern. Japan may make representations to France on the ground that the islands was carried out by a force of Annamite police.

The Prime Minister (Mr W. L. Mackenzie King), in denying the charge, declared that permission was never requested.

"It was laid down years ago as a fundamental principle of Canadian Government that no military organisation should permitted unless the was owned, maintained and controlled by Canada," he added.

The Minister of Defence (Mr Ian Mackenzie) read a letter from the British Air Commission praising Canadian co-operation.

SELECTORS WERE FACED WITH A DIFFICULT TASK

Detailed Comment On The Players

The climax of basketball, so far as Hastings and Napier are concerned, was reached on Saturday afternoon, when the final trial match for representative selection was held at

In the 20-minute game, Hastings again proved victorious over Napier, but it is interesting to note that Hastings forwards scored nine goals from over a score of attempts, whereas Napier were successful in six out of their nine attempts. "The only reason is the extremely high loss ratio," the insurance com-pany manager continued. "Some companies have been losing money on their motor business in New Zealand. Trivial claims have increased enormously and the claims for larger amounts have also been more frequent.

"The rise in insurance now adopted has been largely due to the increased number of vehicles on the roads, the extra insurance business not having offset the number and amount of the claims received.

Record Attendance

THREE SPEECHES AT NAPIER

The President of the Napier Debating Society (Mr J. Tattersall) expressed his gratification, when opening the Society's first evening for the 1938 season at the record

Three impromptu debates were given the subjects being:—"That instead of Parliament being as at present constituted New Zealand would be better governed by a Committee consisting of one representative from each of the 10 provinces." Mr I. D. Mackay and Mr J. Meek spoke to the affirmative, and after a keen debate during which many keen debate during which many good points were raised, Mr H. R. Moss and L. G. Mendelssohn won speaking to the negative.

"Women Police" "That it is desirable that women police should be established in New Zealand" was then moved by Mr L. C. Mendelssohn and F. H. Uren, who were opposed by Mr E. A. Worley and W. F. Bridge who were narrowly defeated.

Results:—

The third motion, "That British prestige throughout the world is on the decline". After a very interesting debate Mr P. Mayo and Mr F. R. S. Ashton were defeated by a small margin by Mr K. O'Halloran and

At the end of each debate many valuable contributions were given. The ability of some of the new and inexperienced members was particularly noteworthy.

Mr J. H. Fieldhouse in judging the speakers, said that style and subject matter were carefully analysed and he gave many valuable suggestions to the speakers. After a hearty vote of thanks was accorded him for his assistance, it was decided to hold the next meeting on Monday, July 11, when three set debates will be held.

SIEGFRIED (1)

Sire of the 1936 Melbourne Cup record-holder, Wotan, the 1937 Great Northern Derby winner, Essex, the brilliant filly, Brunhilde, Siegmund, Wagner, Maestro, Remittent, Chat, Happy Landing, Screen Star, Lady Siegfried, Sunnymorn, Count Siegfried, Bertha B, Seyfried, Son and Heir, Miracle, Felicitation, Lindrum, Sunbeam, Lady Furst, Dunstan (D.J.C. Champagne Stakes), Sigurd, Flame Queen, Mother-in-Law, etc. Siegfried has sired a remarkably high percentage of winners in his short career at the stud.

SIEGFRIED (1), whose stake winnings in England totalled £2140, won the important Bessborough Stakes, 1½ miles, at Ascot, and was beaten a short head in the Royal Standard Stakes of £3467. By that great staying sire, SON-IN-LAW (5), from FIREMIST (dam of five winners), by SUNSTAR (5), winner of the Derby and leading sire of brood mares in England in 1930, from LORGNETTE, dam of winners and half-sister to that high-class winner and sire, Fowling Piece, by ISINGLASS (3) from GALINNE, by GALOPIN (3), Siegfried descends from an own sister to the great sire, Melbourne. Siegfried is a magnificent individual, and, in addition to the high-class horses mentioned, he is the sire this season of the winners of many important two-year-old and handicap races in New Zealand.

SIEGFRIED (1) is a three-quarter-brother to Fraun, a half-brother to Blazonry, and also is very closely related to Senor. Fraun and Senor are leading performers in England at present, the former winning the Ascot Vale Stakes a few weeks ago, while Senor, after winning the St. George Stakes, was very narrowly beaten into third place in the Ascot Gold Cup. His dam, Wish Maiden, is a full-sister to Siegfried. Blazonry, who won the Champagne Stakes of £2230 at Doncaster, is now at the stud in England and had a full book for the seasons 1936 and 1937.

SIEGFRIED (1) will serve a limited number of outside mares. Owing to the large number of stallions available in New Zealand, Siegfried will stand this year at a fee of 35 guineas. Grazing: Wet mares, 10/- per week; dry mares, 5/- per week. Rail mares to Poukawa, Hawke's Bay. For further particulars, apply—
