Attack on British Commissioner

AMONG JEWS AND ARABS

United Press Association-Copyright. (Received July 10, 10 p.m.)

LONDON, July 9.

The War Office announces that the Third Infantry Brigade is going to Palestine on September 1. Meanwhile, the 11th Hussars Armoured Car Regiment is leaving for Palestine from Egypt as soon as possible.

A message from Jerusalem states that sabotage on the main Palestine-Egypt railway resulted in a derailment of a goods train. Traffic is suspended.

Brigands fired on the District Commissioner of Galilee while he was investigating an attack on a Jewish motor bus. The week's casualties are estimated at 52 Arabs and 12 Jews killed, and 145 Arabs and 18 Jews wounded.

A later message states that six Jews were wounded in affrays throughout the country on Satur-

A British policeman and six Arabs were injured in a bomb explosion in the Old City.

Arabs have declared a general strike at Amman in sympathy with the victims of the Haifa shootings. It is announced that four were killed and five injured when a bomb wrecked a bus crowded with Arab countryfolk. The Black Watch fixed bayonets and cleared the busy mar-

Three Jews have been arrested in connection with a fatal bomb-throwing.

The Black Watch has taken up stations in the streets. It is rumoured that battalions of the Irish Guards and Essex Regiment are standing by in Egypt.

A British Official Wireless message reports that H.M.S. Repulse has arrived at Haifa.

The Berlin newspapers criticise the British policy in Palestine and attack the Jews. They declare that Britain has cheated the Arabs.

NATIONALISTS' CLAIM

Rich is impossible that anyone could be concerned with such a deprayed race as the Jews.

Dr. Rosenberg says that the Reich is determined to root out the Jews, and other countries are bound to follow, for which reason the world ultimately will be confronted with 6,000,000 to 7,000,000 refugees. He suggests that Jews be granted African territory, such as Uganda and Madagascar.

"The Times" Berlin correspondent says that Dr. Rosenberg did not suggest how the Jews should leave Germany when they are unable to take capital with them. It is feared the conference will be more productive of anti-German propaganda than outlets for Jews, which explains the German hostility.

This figure compares favourably with the similar gross profit of £97. 658 earned in the previous year. I may say that the large expenditure on the new brewhouse and equipment did not account for any of the profit in the year under review. It will be in commission very soon, however, and substantial savings in all costs are then anticipated. General overhead, wages, salaries, inter-however, and substantial savings in all costs are then anticipated. General overhead, wages, salaries, interest, etc., show an increase of £8179 from £29,671 to £37,850. This sum includes provision for a bonus payment to brewery staff, store staff and office staff, and my associate, Mr Kelliher, will give you particulars of the directors' proposals in this respect. All I shall say at this juncture is that the directors are delighted to be able to recognise the services rendered by the staff.

ROBERT TAYLOR IN NEW FILM

> Brilliant Array Of Talent

The studio raided Broadway for The studio raided Broadway for most of the talent which appeared in "Broadway Melody of 1938," which is showing at the Regent Theatre, Hastings, to-day. Only Robert Taylor, who co-stars with Eleanor Powell, is strictly a product of the screen. Miss Powell, of course, scintillated on the stage long before she tapped her way to cinematic fame.

The combination appeared in "Broadway Melody of 1936," before the handsome young college boy attained the topmost rung of the Hollywood ladder. Miss Powell is positively brilliant in her dances. Sophie Tucker, Broadway perenrial for many years, now carries on in the studio; and with her in this amazing picture are George Murphy, Binnie Barnes, Buddy Ebsen, Judy Garland, Charles Igor Gorin, Raymond Walburn, Robert Benchley, Willie Howard, Charles Grapewin, Robert Wildhack and a chorus of girls that would have any stage entrance in the days when Broadway called the movies

"Submarine D-1," a melodrama dealing with the exploits of Uncle Sam's undersea boats and the gal lant lads who man them, thrilled enthusiastic audiences at the Gaiety

Theatre, Napier, on Saturday, where this Warner Bros. feature had its first local showing.

The picture is authentic as well as stirring, for it was made with the complete co-operation of the Navy, which turned over to the movie-makers all its facilities at Newport, R.I., Cocos Coco in the McHugh, Doris Weston, Regis Too-mey and Henry O'Neill.

But after all, it is the "D-1" itself
—a new Navy submarine which also bears the title of "Dolphin," that is the hero of the piece. The U-boat seems to take on almost a human personality and the audience were thrilled when it was brought to the surface safely after having been rammed and sunk in a war game. The plot has largely to do with certain devices developed by Pat O'Brien and George Brent—one for sending imprisoned men in a sunken submarine to the surface safely by means of "air lungs," and another for raising the vessel itself.

Miss Weston sustains what femnine love interest there is in the story and does it nicely, while Frank McHugh, as an ordinary "gob," provides his usual excellent brand of laugh-getting humour.

The "shorts" are excellent and were thoroughly enjoyed by all. Reserves are at the Gaiety Theatre, telephone 1060. No extra for book-

Fine Double Feature Programme

"If it's a Paramount picture it's the best show in Town," is doubly demonstrated by the grand Parademonstrated by the grand Paramount double-feature programme which will show finally to-day at the Mayfair Theatre, Napier, with two sessions. In addition to the two big pictures, there is Episode 9 of the serial, "Tim Tyler's Luck." The first Paramount full length feature is "This Way, Please," a sure fire musical, filled with hit tunes, beautiful girls and rollicking comedy. Charles ("Buddy") Rogers. Ned Sparks. ("Buddy") Rogers, Ned Sparks, Betty Grable, Porter Hall and Mary Livingstone fill the leading roles The picture concerns the love of a and leader and a theatre usherette, and the action all takes place in a huge movie house, climaxing with a stage wedding. "This Way, Please" is bright and sparkling entertainment without a dull moment.

The second full length Paramount feature is Joel McCrea, Barbara Stanwyck and Lloyd Nolan in a gripping drama, "Student Doctors Can't Take Money." It is a powerful story of a dilemma which arises when McCrea finds it impossible to take a fee from a patient which would make it possible for him to wed Miss Stanwyck and to bring happiness by reuniting her with her child by a previous marriage. Miss Stanwyck does not understand why McCrea cannot take the money feature is Joel McCrea. Barbara why McCrea cannot take the money and they part after a quarrel. The film is noteworthy for the accuracy with which it portrays hospital life.

the ordinary extras. They too work on their feet, by their feet. When a comparatively small crowd of extras is needed the film companies are not allowed to call unregistered extras. The professional extras get first call. Many of them are members of the Actors' Guild.

Many Veterans

They are strangely uniform in their appearance through uniformity of age. Ageing gentlemen who wear top hats well. Ladies of indefinite age who have preserved some distinction of carriage or ap-pearance. One thinks of them as people clinging to the edge of a profession that once might have been their freely chosen career. Many of them are veterans of the legitimate stage and early screen days.

Now they wait for calls that may supply them with work a few days a week. "I would take a steady job at £3 a week any time if I could find one," a 30-shilling-a-day extra told me, bemoaning the uncertainty of her work. A week, or even two weeks, may pass without a call from the studio. These extras must pro-vide their own costumes, from a bathing suit to evening dress or rid ing breeches. A few are luckier, of course, and can count on a regular income of about £40 a month. They are the aristocrats of extras, how ever. Above them are only the real actors and the stars.

An extra soon realises that he isn't seeing double when he tries to pick out the stars in the group around the lights. Each star has a 'stand-in" dressed exactly like the star, often strikingly similar in physical appearance. The "standn," however, doesn't relieve the star of all the strenuous work. The the time the distinction between the stars and extras is lessened. Then the "shot" is over, and the distinction comes back again with renewed force. The stars relax into comfortable chairs during the pause They rest their feet.

Food: And Not

Every once in a while an extra may have a chance to be part of a seated crowd. He may be a guest at a banquet or picnic. Food is placed before him-ice cream that is cold, mashed potatoes and cake that is real cake. He will only pretend to eat, if the scene is taken out of The food will be sprayed with flit, for flies would spoil the

The weather increases the discomfort of an extra's work. "The time is summer," says the script. The picture is being taken against a country club background. It is a boiling hot day. You are one of the lucky girls on the way to the pool clad only in a swim suit. months later the scene is retaken or its sequence filmed. It is January. First of all you stand and shiver and then, the script insisting that it is still summer, you smile and hop lown to the pool. Yet an extra will always welcome

Directors seem to have shut their eyes to the capabilities of individual xtras. Of course, there are stil naive or optimistic souls, like the lady in lavender. Her face is shriv elled but lively with the ghost of long-departed loveliness. Bright make-up and flowers on her ha strive vainly to recapture an illusion of youth, With surprising agility she wriggles her way to the from of every mob picture. TERRITORIAL BALL

Strong Committee Set Up To Beat Last Year's Record

During the week the committee elected by the members of the infantry and mounted platoons held their first meeting to make the necessary arrangements for their annual ball, which is being held in the middle of August. It will be remembered that last year the territorial ball was one of the outstanding events of the year, and it is the intention of the committee to do everything to eclipse last year's success.

Supper arrangements will be in the hands of a very capable committee and a real supper will be a feature of the evening.

The National Broadcasting Company of New York has met with great success in its special home music series, said Mr Victor Peters, who has recently returned to Christ-church from a visit to the United States, and who is very impressed with the musical progress made there. In thousands of American homes, those who are not good enough or who are too timid to join orchestras, play their instruments at home to the time of the broadcast orchestra. Music sheets are issued on application, and the difficult passages are played at a slower speed. This innovation has brought to light many dust-covered instruspeed. This innovation has brought to light many dust-covered instruments, and has united families in friendly rivalry. Father on the double bass, said Mr Peters, scratches bravely, while his youngest son gives joyous blasts on the trumpet.

FLOWERS AND FANTASIES Perfect Legs IN JEWELLERY

Curious Necklaces Made from Cork, Rubber and Shell

In prosperous Edwardian days few well-dressed women wore imitation jewellery. Every string of pearls seen was genuine, and handsome diamond brooches, in the favourite star shape or caduceus wand, decked many a stately corsage.

of their popular dances. These dances are becoming increase ingly popular, as was shown by a record attendance. Conspicuously displayed on the band rostrum was the club's insignia.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of cream silk needlerun lace-with satings played by Lew Munro and his dance band.

Messar G. I. Bickerstaff and W. V. Clothier were again responsible for the arrangements, and supper assistants were Misses E. Clarke and E. Strandbeck.

All is not gold that glitters, might be taken as the principal theme for this season's most elegant jewellery. Everywhere are dress ornaments, lapel-clips, necklaces, bracelets, and earrings to be seen made in gilt. It is a fashion that has taken not only Paris but London and New York by storm. Its effect-value, of course, is enormous. To wear with a simple black or any dark-coloured frock, nothing looks better than a pair of fantastically wrought gilt earrings or starfish clips.

Necklaces, lovely and curious in design and Egyptian in feeling, fit round the neck closely and, lying flat, are cut in the curious device of mussel-shells, the imperial bees of Exerce or guilt birds, set with tinted shells that any Hawahan beauty might envy, and single necklets of large wooden beads, bizarre and vivid. Necklaces made of cork cut in amusing shapes, and floral garlands of rubber to match bathing caps. These are all attractive accessories that the sea cannot harm but that add colour and charm to the of mussel-shells, the imperial bees of France, or quaint birds set with roses. One necklet seen recently was composed of dolphins linked together by sea-horses. Cartier's famerals of the followers, backed by gilt leaves, are also fashionable to wear with town suits. Every gay device is permissible, and the madder the better. Lately imported from India. ous blackamoor clip has given way come anklets and necklace to match, to an endless number of innocent such as worn by her dancing girls. SELECT SHOES

WITH AN EYE TO COMFORT AND STYLE

Perfect legs are so rare, even in these days of physical fitness—that in some quarters they have gained the status of insurable commodities! Foot elegance is, therefore, one of the most difficult things to achieve:

The question of style is an individual one and should be studied carefully. All kinds of questions may arise: Will a high built shoe bring out my too-thin ankles? With puffy insteps, dare I risk a broad, accentulating strap or lacings? Do I require a short or long vamp to balance the outline of my foot? The stub-toed effect is as undesirable as that of a never-ending instep.

Social Security

Sir,—I was much interested in your leading article in Thursday's "Daily Mail," headed "Budget Pro-spects." You speak of the "problematical" social security scheme, and again you "suspect that much of again you suspect that inten of the so-called progressive social leg-islation would be entirely unneces-sary if the problem of enabling the younger wage-earner to live com-fortably was first solved."

Did the younger wage-earners live more comfortably under the last Government than under the present Labour Government? Ask them. Also you say "Penury in old age usually means either thriftlessness, or inability to make ends meet duror inability to make ends meet during the earning period of life. Thrift-lessness should not be allowed to luxuriate in retirement while industry is penalised. Thus proven cases of genuine hardship should be placed on a better basis than those resulting from sheer profligacy."

We tried to do our duty by them — we fed them well, clothed them well, educated them well, and gave each a trade by which they could earn a living. We invested our savings in our children. Certainly we saved some money, for we are naturally thrifty people, but how could we possibly provide an adequate income for our provide an adequate income for our old age?" Now, this was neither thriftless-ness nor inability to make ends meet. It simply illustrates the fact, that, generally speaking, it is almost impossible for working people to save enough to provide for their old age, unless they seriously stint both their children and themselves to do it. Is it really a serious crime or hardship to pay a small weekly sum to the Government to help provide that income that makes old-age and invalidity secure from want?

However, there can be little doubt that the real crux of the problem is the great flooding which occurs from time to time. Rainbow trout in particular cannot live for long under silty water conditions, and it is possible that we shall never have really first-class fishing until

Roy Parkins, of Little Napier Street, Paddington, conductor of the tram, said he saw the boys in Driver's Avenue near the Sports Ground. He did not see them move Ground. He did not see them move towards the tram.

About 200 yards farther on a passenger drew his attention to the fact that the rear life-shield of the car was trailing. He signalled the driver to stop the tram, and got off to fasten the shield in place. He saw nothing of the accident.

Body On Rails. Denison's body was found on the rails a few minutes after the accident by Charles William Watts, driver of a following tram.

Sergeant Leslie Simpson said that he found traces of blood for 66 yards, ending in a pool of blood where the body was found.

During Simpson's evidence the boy's father, Roy Henry Denison, who sat in the court, buried his face in a handkerchief with shaking hands A finding of accidental death was Denison's two companions were warned against "scaling" by Mr Oram, the coroner. "You've seen Oram, the coroner. "You've seen what happened to your friend, and now you must realise how danger-ous it is," he said. "I hope that you will never do anything like that in the future."

Runaway Wheel. How a man was killed by the run-away wheel of a car in Pitt Street, City, was also told to the city

Robert Keir (65), retired, of Queen Street, Concord West, was on the pavement in Pitt Street on June 4 when he was injured. Without properly regaining consciousness he died in Sydney Hospital on June 8
John James Clifton, salesman, of Mooramie Avenue, Kensington, said he was driving his car when it lurch ed, and the near front wheel rolled down the hill.

About three weeks previously that wheel had been taken off while a puncture was repaired, and re-placed by a mechanic in Victoria Road, Marrickville. When he re-trieved the wheel after the accident he could not find any of the nuts which had secured it, Clifton added.

Bounced Into Air. "I saw a car wheel careering down Pitt Street towards Central Station, said Alfred Piggales, of Victoria Road, Gladesville. "It hit the kerb bounced into the air and struck Keir right in the face.

For sheer value for money there is no other car to approach the English Ford "Eight." While distinctive lines and graceful beauty have made it the undisputed style leader, it also excels on a number of important points and provides many exclusive mechanical features. This "Eight" has been designed to give MORE room, MORE comfort, MORE convenience and MORE reliability. On the road it is an outstanding performer with exceptional top-gear ability and consistent running economy of 40 to 45 miles to the gallon. Upkeep costs are correspondingly low. All these features add up to MORE solid value and make the English Ford "Eight" your logical choice as the best all-round proposition in its class.

The Ford "Eight" is a joint achievement of the English and New Zealand Ford Factories. You are cordially invited to inspect the great modern Ford Factory at Lower Hutt, Wellington, where you will see New Zealanders building the Ford "Eight." You help New Zealand when you buy Ford.

ON BEHALF OF THE PRESS

In view of the frequent attacks that have been and are being made against the Press of the Dominion, no apology should be required for a statement of the other side of the

It needs no expert—Governmental or otherwise—to tell us that the freedom of the Press is in a few instances abused in this country and that a curb should be put upon certain tendencies that make for the corruption of public morals and of decency in general. On the question of the suppression of such tendencies, the reputable newspapers of the Dominion will be prepared to vote in the same lobby with the combination of critics which has consolidated itself during the past

There is also a wider question relating to certain types of literature which are permitted to enter New Zealand from overseas; and it is a question that will seem to the whole body of average citizens to be much more urgent than any other in the same category.

To launch a general attack upon the whole field occupied by the Press is, however, another matter, and savours of as much bias as that of which the Press is accused. It is the function of a newspaper to collect, to collate, and to prepare for presentation the news of the day as it eventuates, reserving the right to make comment where necessary on the news as it is presented by the various services upon which the newspapers rely. It is a striking fact that well-informed visitors from overseas—many of them distinguished members of the journalistic profession-have been virtually unanimous in their praise of the news service as they have found it here. It is all the more curious that criticism of such an uncompromising and virulent nature should come from within the Dominion. Still more curious is it that the criticism should come from men who might justifiably be supposed to hold the balance evenly as between one type of journalism and Freedom to comment openly on current events is not an evil. To drive legitimate criticism underground is not to solve the problem, but to postpone it, and it is nothing more than a confession of weakness when such attempts at suppression are made. The truth at any time need never shy away from criticism. All history shows that truth thrives on opposition.

A legitimate Opposition is invaluable in any Parliamentary assembly. It serves as the representative of other shades of opinion not taken account of in legislation, and it renders good service to the country and the people by bringing every question under a strong searchlight of scrutiny. It is all the more strange, therefore, that what is regarded by all parliamentarians as good for a government should be held to be an evil in the wider fields of public discussion.

Even if it were true—and it is not admitted for a moment —that this Dominion is "Press-ridden," taking its views blindly and with meek acceptance at the hands of writers in the newspapers, it would be no solution of the problem to gag the Press by substituting an arbitrary tyranny of censorship. The cure would be at least as bad as the disease. One so-called evil would be supplanted by another which has no supposition

The general reader of the newspaper, if this matter is looked at in a proper light, is involved in the consequences of any attack upon a free Press. It would seem that he is not to be trusted and that his opinions must be regimented for -doled out in a form which his intellectual physicians believe to be good for him, and in no other form. Readers of this or any other newspaper or publication have the remedy entirely in their own hands so far as unwelcome reading is concerned. They may choose their own intellectual diet. And most readers prefer to take an occasional glance at the other side of a question. A reputable newspaper has nothing to fear from intelligent readers, however much they may disagree. But it will strive to preserve complete freedom of expression, and to combat any possible dictatorships.

GREY OWL-GREAT INDIAN OR FRAUD?

AMAZING STORY OF A STRANGE IDENTITY

Millions mourned Grey Owl when the news of his death came through from Canada. This great Indian writer, creator of the most beautiful modern animal stories, the self-sacrificing heroic animal friend, was the darling of all Englishspeaking peoples. A deep, striking, mysterious strangeness surrounded this interesting, darkskinned man. The charm of his language, with the indefinable but attractive accent, held audiences spellbound, both at lectures and over the radio. "Wa-Saa-Quon-Asin"—that is his Indian name had a sad-sounding, deep, melodious voice.

This attitude was not a pose. This attitude was not a pose. It was founded on a deep-rooted persuasion. Grey Owl, whatever else he may have been, was a heroic figure, who fought and sacrificed for his ideal. His little war with the B.B.C. heads of British radio, only enhanced his prestige. He was asked to talk on the radio, and as Grey Owl was always ready to speak or listen to the children and youth of the world, he accepted. The B.B.C. have a rule that all manuscripts must be submitted for approval, so Grey Owl sent his in. It was all approved, with the exception of the last line. Grey Owl wanted to finish his talk with a rousing appeal, "Now promise me, all of you, honourably and faithfully, that you will never take the life of a weak, defenceless animal." The B.B.C. did not like this. Such an appeal was out of place, they decided, in the home of fox hunting. "No appeal, no talk," grunted Grey Owl, and he meant it. He published a shattering letter givbeavers. He went back to Canada and for a year nothing was heard of him, except from his writings. Then came the news of his death, peaceful in bed following an illness. Obituary articles in the British papers spoke of his life, rich in romance and achievement, and tried to piece together, like a mosaic the life of the greatest Indian of his time.

A STCRY

FROM HASTINGS

Then, two days after his death, came sensation. A woman from Hastings, the south-coast seaside resort, appeared in the offices of a London newspaper and told an amazed reporter her version of the past of Belaney (that was the name under which Grey Owl enlisted during the war).

She said that Grey Owl was Archie Belaney, the boy she brought up in her own modest little house in Hastings. At first the reporter thought she was a little crazy, but when she said that Grey Owl was her peapley who first went to Can.

The London publisher of - Grey Owl, however, refuses to believe these stories, holding that Grey Owl was a half breed and had spent his life since his infant days with Indians. Against that there are statements by Americans of great integrity that Grey Owl as a young man know not one word of Indian, and even spoke English with a strong Cockney accent.

"I had to play at my very best from start to finish for the opposition was particularly solid," said Mr G. Koshnitzky, chess champion of New South Wales, last night, in referring to the games played at Hastings on Saturday night.

In fact, he said, he had played better chess in Hastings and Napier than in any other town so far on his New Zealand tour.

Giving a brilliant performance throughout, Mr G. Koshnitzky, chees champion of New South Wales, and regarded generally as the strongest player in Australia and New Zealand, scored 16 wins and drew in three of a total of 19 games played at Hastings on Saturday night.

The large number of players included visitors from Napier and Waipukurau.

All the games set a particularly high standard. The majority were fairly evenly contested, lasting from two to three hours each.

A number of local players obtained strong positions during the evening, but in every case Mr Koshnitzky's wide experience told on them.

No Decision Yet By Government: Opinions Of The Industry Considered

"Daily Mail" Special Service.

PARLT. BLDGS., July 10.

No decision has yet been made as to the procedure which will be adopted by the Government in fixing guaranteed prices for dairy products for the season opening on

Some weeks ago the Prime Minister (the Rt. Hon. M. J. Savage) announced that the Government would be prepared to appoint a tribunal presided over by a Supreme Court Judge and with two assessors representing the Government and the dairy industry respectively, to determine the price, but this offer was accepted only with marked reservations and variations by the National Dairy Conference which met in New Plymouth last month.

been rejected by the industry, which has put forward proposals for the setting up of a much larger tribunal with three assessors from each side, to take evidence in public regarding the various factors considered in fixing the price. The industry has also expressed a wish that the tribunal, after hearing the evidence, should recommend the price to the Government, leaving with Cabinet the final responsibility for fixing the exact figure.

Public statements made by the Prime Minister since the announcement of the decision of the Dairy Conference, suggest that the Government does not particularly favour the proposals put forward by the industry. However, a deputation from the Dairy Board and the National Dairy Council will wait on the Prime Minister and the Minister of Marketing (the Hon. W. Nash) on Thursday.

Two Competition Surprises

M.A.C. CLIMB TO TOP POSITION

Havelock North "Break Duck"

By beating Celtic by 21 points to 5 on No. 1 ground at Nelson Park, Hastings, on Saturday, M.A.C. has climbed to top place on the Rugby competition ladder, with Hastings, having a bye, one point behind.

Form in the matches generally was exceptionally good.
Scoring their first win of the season by snatching a lastminute victory from Pirates, Havelock North provided one of the surprise packets of the day. Havelock North won by 16 points to 11.

Showing inspired form after what for them had been a disappointing season so far, Napier High School Old Boys brought about one of the upsets of the competition by beating
Hastings High School Old Boys at No. 1 ground, McLean
Park, Napier, by 11 points to 8.

Marist Brothers Old Boys had little difficulty in defeating Technical Old Boys by 11 points to nil.

MANY INJURIES

Minus the services of their "star" rwards, All Blacks Dalton and owman, Technical Old Boys did not put up very serious opposition against Marist Bros. Old Boys, who received satisfaction from a first round defeat, by a comfortable victory of 11 points to nil.

One outstanding feature of the game, which was far from spectacular, was that four men, McAuslin, Parker, Younghusband (Tech.) and Hardgreaves (Marist) had to retire from the field, injured.

Twenty minues had elapsed be-fore both teams settled down to good Rugby. Faulty handling lost many opportunities, while aimless play by the forwards revealed nothing constructive. Conole and Hutchinson were the first to break through the defence but their passes strayed

Marist withstood a determined Technical siege and worked up field into the Red and Greys' territory, where Hardgreaves goaled easily from a penalty. The play was immediately returned by Marist to the Technical line, when Allsop, after a well concerted movement raced two defenders in a dive for the ball over the line. Hardgreaves added the extra points. extra points.

In the second half Marist maintained a steady attack, and a quick heel allowed the back line to get in to action for Donovan to go over in the corner. A kick by Hardgreaves narrowly missed.

Technical forwards the tightened up play, and Marists' line was threatened for a stormy session. The defenders conceded three force downs. A close call came for Technowever, when Allen, Conole and W. Benson, ball at toe, went racing to the Technical goal where a defender managed to kick the ball into the dead area. the dead area.

For some considerable time after this neither side could gain any adtage and play was confined to mid field. With the sounding of the final whistle the score remained un-

The M.A.C. forwards were bustling the Greens badly, which seemed to prevent the Celtic men from going low. Men the size of Reid (M.A.C.), Thompson, Greening and Crawford, unless tackled low, can rarely be stopped. The lack of really determined tackling was chiefly responsible for the high rush and was ably supported by fast-following Hannigan and Mataira.

Celtic were unlucky when, following a heavy ruck almost on their line, one of their players secured the ball and in carrying it behind to clear, dropped it. Kuropo, diving through, beat two Celtic men for it. Jackson converted.

There was little to choose between the rival full-backs, but Bligh, if anything, was faster in clearing. In the second spell, Walters had more to do, as the Havelock boys were going all out for their first win. In view of the fact that Pirates have had several good wins lately, the win of the Blues has given Havelock a new lease of life. De-Jackson converted.

Wellington Puts Up A Great Fight Against English Team

By Telegraph—Press Association.

WELLINGTON, July 10. On a smooth ground the English women's hockey team played a drawn game with Wellington on Saturday. No goals

England had a territorial advantage all the time, and Wellington had only one or two chances for scoring, but the local defence was so sound that they kept the formidable tourists at bay.

There was a fair attendance, and though the weather was threatening there was little rain. Spectators were treated to a fine display of hockey.

The outstanding player on the field was M. Simpson, right full-back for Wellington. She bore the brunt of the English attacks, which brunt of the English attacks, which were frequent, and not once did she fail to stem the tide. A possible explanation of the English failure to score was that they made a mistake in working the left wing too much. On the left wing was J. E. Dowling, and playing at inside left was L. I. Naylor. Miss Naylor, who usually plays in the half-back line, was obviously ill at ease in the early stages of the game, and several promising movements on the left broke down because of her failure to be in position. Universities' Sterling

A feature of the lower grade matches at Napier and Hastings was the draw in the Napier fourth grade section between M.B.O.B. and Pirates in a virtual championship line.

Lack of Co-ordination.

The Wellington full-backs did not work as well together as the English full-backs. They depended more on rugged determination rather than on positional play and covering up to the final grade section between M.B.O.B. and Pirates in a virtual championship final.

In the first half the English forwards did not seem to have the feel of the ground. After rough, wet grounds, the smooth turf at the Basin Reserve was a new experience on this tour. Their passing was inclined to be a little hard, and there was no great display of combination in attack such as might have been expected.

The best performances on the English side were given by Misses West (inside right) and Thompson (centre-half).

TWO GOALS TO ONE By Telegraph-Press Association.

DUNEDIN, July 9. The touring Indian hockey team gained a narrow victory over New Zealand Universities by two goals to one in a hockey match to-day. The attendance was upwards of 7000.

The teams were evenly matched, Universities putting up an excellent defence in the face of the Indians best attacks.

The first score, by Universities came when Hubbard on the left wing followed in when Alldred had drawn the Indian goalie.

Sultan Khan, the Indian inside right, scored both of the Indians' goals, the second being a clever shot which the goalie just failed to stop. In the second half the Indians Credit to Full-backs.

All credit for the draw should go to the Wellington full-backs and the goal-keeper. They saw more of the ball than any other players on the field, and the performance in the face of the reputable forwards was a revelation.

The best performance.

The senior Rugby talent of Central Hawke's Bay was paraded before the selector on Saturday, when a trial match between Probables and Possibles was played. After an even and exciting game, the former were successful by 19 points

The teams were:-

Probables (Red and Black): Halliday, Stapleton, Bradley, Price, R. Ross, G. Kuru, Kaanga, Tibble, Reid, Crawley, C. Wilson, Bell, Marshall, A. Wilson, Findlay.

Possibles (Black and White): Jamieson, Nathan, Northcroft, Harvey, Smith, Galgy, Rae, A. Rasmussen, L. Thompson, Mullander, Haimona, M. Ferguson, Tamahori, A. Bunn,

From the kick-off Probables attacked and were awarded a penalty kick in a handy position, Halliday narrowly missing the mark. Possibles retaliated with a forward rush from which Mullander picked up to score near the posts, Jamieson converting.

Possibles added a further three points when Rae crossed near the corner, Jamieson being unsuccessful with the kick. Shortly afterwards Marshall gained possession and scored under the posts to open the Probables' account. Halliday converted.

Possibles 8, Probables 5. Play continued at a fast pace. A penalty kick by the Reds from 30 yards out fell just short, but soon afterwards Jamieson raised the flags with a good effort from a directly angle.

From a loose rush Thompson crossed in the corner. Jamieson, who was kicking very accurately, added the extra points. Half-time came with Possibles well in the lead.

Possibles 16 Probables 5.

With the sun behind them the Reds had the advantage in the second spell. Following an exciting rush from their own twenty-five Price scored under the posts, Halliday converting. Probables added a further three points when Price capped a passing rush by scoring in the corner. Halliday could not convert.

The find of the day was undoubtedly Northcroft, who played a superb game on the wing. He ran straight and determinedly, tackled and kicked well, and his display was well up to representative standard.

Colin Wilson and Ferguson were the pick of a good set of forwards.

Possilbes 16, Probables 13.

Probables kept up the pressure and were again successful when Marshall crossed in the corner to equalise the points.

The last few r.inutes were packed with interest both sides taking the ball.

The last few r.inutes were packed with interest, both sides taking turns at attack. Possibles were unlucky to be penalised in their own territory, Price landing a neat goal to clinch the game. Probables 19, Possibles 16.

Dannevirke Harriers.—There was an excellent muster of runners at Saturday's weekly harrier run at Dannevirke, when two packs competed over a six-mile course starting at the Domain and going around the Tapuata golf links to the main Dannevirke-Woodville highway, then returning to the Domain. The first three home were J. McIntyre, W. Pascoe and L. Smith.

Rae and Kaanga, the two half-backs, both gave good displays. GOOD INCREASE

Facial Eczema May Affect Total

The interim sheep return of more than 32,000,000 head marks the record for the Dominion. As a matter of fact, the total sheep is more than 1,000,000 head in advance of the figures of last year, which were a record up to then.

The figures are to April 30 and subsequent losses in the North Island through facial eczema and the increased losses in the South Island may affect the final figures to a small extent, but in view of the com-

The feature of the South Islan return is the big increase in Canterbury, which numbers 356,900 as against 81,262 in Otago and Southland, and 72,487 in Marlborough-Westland-Nelson.

The latter increase, however, approximates 5 per cent. The comparatively small Otago and Southland increase is understandable from the fact that in Southland the increase over the last five or six years has been heavy and practically years has been heavy and practically uninterrupted, and it is reasonable to suppose that the increase in that province will now be slower.

Another factor probably in the decrease is that killings for export in Southland have been very heavy this careen which again may be at the content of the content of

LONDON REFLECTING WALL STREET

SOUND POSITION

Said to be "Advancing Sedately"

United Press Association-Copyright. LONDON, July 8. Though the improvement in business in London is to some extent still a reflection of Wall Street, there still a reflection of Wall Street, there are indisputable signs that confidence is returning. The City's chief anxiety is that the progression of values should be orderly, and, in view of this, outbursts in New York are mistrusted.

The London markets are tending the diverge codately on the perfect.

The London markets are tending the diverge codately on the perfect.

The London markets are tending to advance sedately on the perfectly sound technical position.

The fact that gilt-edged equities have risen together for nearly three weeks is producing a more confident feeling among investors. The Anglo-German debt settlement has been also a favourable influence also a favourable influence.

The bond market is firm, including New Zealand bonds, which have benefited from the categorical Government statement that default is out of the question.

Business in industrial shares quietened down at the close of the week. The outlook for textiles remains gloomy, especially in view of heavy increase in unemployment.

Base metals and rubbers are strongest amongst commodity based shares. Oils are active.

Bank credit has been expanded by way of advances by approximately f60,000,000 above the 1931 level, while in New Zealand it was only during recent months that we caught up with the 1931 figures. If Australia can expand to this extent without the dangers usually associated with inflation, New Zealand has nothing to fear from expansion in a similar ratio. What is equally important, effective safeguards must be provided to prevent unducted contraction and the disastrous effects which inevitably result therefrom.

"To maintain that the present system cannot be reformed and improved so that it will produce results less unjust and less absurd than we have witnessed during recent years is a reflection on our common sense. For it must be obscienced by the sum of th common sense. For it must be obvious to anyone who has given even a passing thought to our present financial and economic position that unless we institute such reforms we will never be able to struggle from under the mountain of debt and "I have no doubt in my own mind that it is quite practicable to effect such reforms, reforms that will enable both credit and currency to be controlled and regulated in sound ratio with the produced wealth of the country, thus ensuring stable
