MYSTERY FLIGHT BY DARING YOUNG AVIATOR

Emulating Colonel Lindbergh

BELIEVED TO HAVE TAKEN-OFF ON TRANSATLANTIC ATTEMPT

Flew From Los Angeles To New York

United Press Association-Copyright. (Received July 18, midnight)

NEW YORK, July 18.

New Yorkers have had an aviation mystery. They have been amazed to learn that Douglas Corrigan, aged 31, a transport pilot flying a nine-year-old single-motored Curtis Roban machine, flew non-stop from Los Angeles and was attempting a further non-stop—of necessity—flight to England in an unlicensed attempt to emulate Colonel Lindbergh, whose 'plane, the Spirit of St. Louis, Corrigan helped to assemble before its historic flight.

Corrigan's 'plane, which carries neither radio nor safety devices, arrived unheralded at New York yesterday week, when excitement was running high over the departure of Howard Hughes on his round the world flight.

It was not until the next day that Corrigan calmly announced he had flown non-stop from Los Angeles in 27 hours 50 minutes as a holiday jaunt, causing aviators to gasp, since such a flight is regarded as an achievement by a modern 'plane, and little short of a miracle by Corrigan's machine, which is so overladen with petrol tanks that the pilot cannot see out of the cockpit in front, but must flip the 'plane side on in order to make observations from the cabin windows.

A greater gasp went up at 5.17 a.m. on Sunday when Corrigan took aboard 320 gallons of petrol, estimated to be 40 hours' supply, hopped off and vanished due east.

It was then learned that he had unsuccessfully applied for a permit

It was then learned that he had unsuccessfuly applied for a permit to fly to Ireland last year, and had a long-cherished ambition to fly across the Atlantic. His friends insisted that he had no such intention.

During the first five months of the year, 2319 permits were issued for the erection of dwellings, compared with 1349 during the same area with 1349.

Risk From Bombs.

The risk of high explosive bombs liberating animals by destroying parts of houses or blowing out bars is regarded as slight, for it is believed that the shock of such explosions would kill the occupants. As a precaution, however, the zoo would have a hunting 'squad, so that any lion, tiger or other dangerous animal could be shot if it broke free. There would be great risk of the glass in front of the cages in the reptile house being shattered by explosions. These would be lowered when a raid warning was received. Shutters are also to be fitted in the insect house.

HYDRO-ELECTRICITYEXTENSIONS PLANNED

New Units To Be Added To The Existing Plant At Lake Waikaremoana

By Telegraph-Press Association. WELLINGTON, July 18.

The increasing demand for electric power throughout New Zealand was referred to this evening by the Minister of Public Works (the Hon. R. Semple).

To cope with the requirements, he said, the Government was actively pursuing a policy of the expansion of generating stations and transmission equipment in both Islands. Mr Semple said that two new units were recently ordered for extending the capacity of the Waitaki power station.

The need for this extension had been accelerated by the decision of the Government to run a main transmission line system over the Southern Alps into Westland, where large blocks of power would be taken by several gold-dredging companies. Power would also be made available in districts where previously the supply of electricity had been comparatively limited.

The shortage of power in Southland was mentioned by Mr Semple. The local generating station at Monowai, he said, was quite inadequate for the requirements of the district, and in consequence the main transmission line was being run from Dunedin to Gore to connect Southland with the main South Island network.

"All this work, on completion in "All this work, on completion in the near future," said Mr Semple, "will create such a demand on the system as to render imperative an early extension of generating stations, but the two units at Waitaki will materially assist in relieving the shortage. Each of these new units comprises a 23,000 horse-power vertical type water turbine, coupled to a 15,000 kilowatt electric generator, and on completion it will generator, and on completion it will bring the capacity of this station up to 60,000 kilowatts."

Prime Minister Believes Main Principles Have Now Been Settled

By Telegraph-Press Association.

WELLINGTON, July 18. The cabled suggestion that the completion of the Pacific shipping agreement might be nearer than was generally supposed was confirmed by the Prime Minister (the Rt. Hon. M. J. Savage) this evening.

"As far as I know the main principles have been agreed on," said Mr Savage. "It will now be mainly a matter of finding the necessary finance to build the ships."

Mr Savage said that throughout the negotiations the main consideration of the New Zealand Government was to see that the men were given decent accommodation. Two recent announcements, one that the ships were to be built to take up the run within two years, the other that Sir Earle Page had no definite knowledge that the ships were to be ordered immediately, might both be right, he added.

NEW FERRY-BOAT FOR NAVAL BASE

Built At Devonport By Permanent Staff

At a recent meeting of the Kindergarten executive it was decided to approach the Education Board to see if it would give a site to the Free Kindergarten on which to erect a new building.

As soon as a satisfactory building site has been arranged plans for the new building will be prepared. The kindergarten is being held in the Methodist schoolroom at present and the roll stands at 50 pupils unlabeled in the station notices.

9.00—3YA and 4YA—Weather and station notices.

The largest boat yet built by men of the permanent staff of the Devonport Naval base, Auckland, was launched last week for the final touches to be added. Designed primarily for ferrying ratings and hase employees to and from the city, the boat is slightly larger than one which originally came from H.M.S. New Zealand.

It is 43ft in length and 13ft in notices.

LINER

A story of mystery and romance on the Atlantic is unfolded by Para-mount's "The Princess Comes Across," to open to-day at the Municipal Theatre, Hastings, with Carole Lombard and Fred MacMurray in the stellar roles.

The picture reunites for the first time the screen sweethearts who be-came national favourites in their first feature together, "Hands first feature together, "Hands Across the Table." A balanced combination of comedy, romance, song, and mystery, it gives them a chance to show their best work.

Miss Lombard appears as a charming American girl posing as a Swedish princess, en route to New York to land a film contract Aboard the luxury liner Mammoth, setting for the entire plot she leading for the first time, Zola reaches the films. UNDERWORLD KILLER PORTRAYED

E. G. Robinson In "The Last Gangster"

Edward G. Robinson brings all of his consummate artistry to the role of Joe Krozac, gangster, killer and extortionist of "The Last Gangster," which will screen finally to-night at the Cosy Theatre, Hastings, and the result is a portrayal which for sheer power and dramatic effective-ness has not been equalled even by the actor's own "Little Caesar" of some years back.

In "The Last Gangster" we have the picture of a domineering, ruth-less, underworld czar—a man who has outsmarted rival crooks and got away with it, a man who has laughed at judges and got away with it, a man who recognises no power greater than his own. When his doom finally falls and he is ultinately sent to serve ten years in rison for income tax evasion, he is like a child in an unknown world.

It is this man whom Robinson brings to life with that unerring instinct for making a human being out of a screen shadow which has greatest character stars.

The story is given even greater emotional impact in its narrative of the wife and child who have been left behind when Joe Krozac is sent

Also of interest in connection with this film is its introduction to audiences of the lovely new Viennese "find", Rose Stradner, who plays Robinson's wife in the dramatic nar-rative and who promises to repeat the triumphs which have heralded ner as one of Europe's most popular actresses.

On the same programme "Blotto," a screamingly funny Laurel and Hardy comedy, in which the two comedians are at their best.

ROMANTIC ADVENTURE OF MARCO POLO

Story Of Life At Court Of Kublai Khan

The screen, which lately has focussed a majority of its bigger productions on biographical subjects has seen many remarkable portraits taken from the past. of characters taken from the past. Few of these historic personalities, however, enjoyed a life more signifihowever, enjoyed a life more significant and romantic than the Marco Polo so few people seem to know, whom Samuel Goldwyn has chosen as the hero of "The Adventures of Marco Polo," his rollicking adventurous romance in which Gary Cooper stars at the State Theatre, Hastings, again to-day. Marco Polo's journey to the Thirteenth Century court of the great Kublai Khan in Kambalu, Peiping, had as its object the extension o ment of new trade opportunities for the Polo brothers, Nicolo and Maffeo, Marco's father and uncle, who were important merchants in the city of Venice. Thus, as the world's first travelling salesman, Marco set out for distant Cathay a three years' journey through deserts and mountains, beset every mile or so by brigands and perils unknown to Western civilisation. Marco was then 21, a young gamecock, skilled in the use of arms, an excellent horseman and athlete, fearless and persevering in the pursuit of trouble, trade and amours. The young Polo served Kublai Khan for 17 continuous years, years of tremendous danger amongst bar-baric descendants of Ghengis Khan, the greatest and most ferocious of all conquerors. He finally left as all conquerors. He finally left as the Khan's ambassador, charged with delivering the Circassian Tartar Princess, Kogatin, over in marriage to Argon, the elderly Sha of Persia and Eastern India. It is this last and most romantic episode in Polo's career that forms the basis for much of the story filmed by Goldwyn.

All the world oves a lover, and all the world has followed these two lovers as they show new ways to romance.

When Tyrone and Loretta meet under the Miami moon for an im-pulsive kiss, their love is news once more, but this time they mean it with all their hearts. Love at first sight is romantic enough, but love at second sight! "Second Honeymoon" is their perfect picture, together as their "Reno'd" honeymoon renewed in the merriest romance of the year.

Having left Tyrone because he was mad, irresponsible and gave her no sense of security, Loretta finds she wants him back for the same reasons. But a honeymoon renewal is not so easily accomplished as ed is not so easily accomplished as a honeymoon "Reno'd," especially when Loretta's second husband is considered. Played by Lyle Talput, he is a common garden variety of spouse out-bloomed by the hardy perennial that is Tyrone's and Loretta's love.

Tyrone, so ardent, and Loretta, so gay, were exciting in "Love is News" and "Cafe Metropole," but this time they really have their hearts in it! Stuart Erwin, Claire Trevor, Marjorie Weaver, Lyle Talbot and J. Edward Bromberg are included in the cast of the film, for

A CLEVER COMEDY ROMANCE

Brilliant New Team In Amusing Story

Claudette Colbert and Gary Cooper form a brilliant new comedy team in "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," the picture of life among Europe's smart set, which will screen again to-day at the Plaza Theatre, Napier.

The story, adapted from the famous play of Alfred Savior, tells about a much-married American multi-millionaire who is subdued and put into a strait-jacket by his eighth wife, whom he marries for a new thrill. Miss Colbert is the same flip, ingenious girl who made screen history in last year's "I Met Him in Paris." Cooper, as the philandering American, plays op-posite her in a part which fits him

After becoming the bride of the much-married financier, Miss Colbert, a penniless French aristocraft starts out on a campaign to bring him to his knees and humble his pride for the first time. A score pride for the first time. A score of Europe's gay spots, including the Riviera, the Tyrol, Venice, Vienna, and Paris, form the battleground, while the bride's weapons are cool-In this Paramount comedy Cooper divorces seven wives, upon each of whom he settles an income of f10,000 a year. When his eighth wife begins to get in his hair he prepares to divorce her and give her a yearly stipend of £20,000.

Important pieces of furniture, pictures, hangings and carpets have also been borrowed from the Garde-Meuble Nationale to supplement the existing installation. The decoration of the Quai d'Orsay dates back to the second Empire, and the spirit of that period is being for example, warned bachelors some time ago not to marry any girl until she has proved she can cook, while Mrs Dobbin Crawford, a Liverpool surgeon, urged that a and the spirit of that period is being kept intact as far as is compatible with modern comfort.

Lime Green for Queen's Room

An exception has been made in the matter of the Royal bedrooms and the adjoining rooms. The Queen, it is understood, will sleep in the great canopied bed in which once slept Marie Antoinette, and which is already known to visitors to Versailles. The decoration of the bedroom will be kept in harmony with this historic relic. Lime green, one of her Majesty's favourite colours, will dominate the colour scheme for her rooms. The carpets are greygreen, the window-hangings beige, the ceiling, white picked out with gold. The same lime colour will be carried through to the Queen's bathroom, the bath itself being silver worked in a mosaic design.

It is interesting in this connection to recall that at the time of a prewar visit of Alphonse XIII, to Paris, there were no bathrooms in the Quai d'Orsay Palace, and that hot water for the royal "tub" was brought from the kitchens!

The King's chamber has been decorated in red and gold, in keeping with the heroic spirit of the historic Napoleon bed in which his Majesty will sleep. The colour scheme in the bathroom is black and gold.

Very keen interest continues in the garden circle of the Hastings Townswomen's Guild, under the enthusiastic leadership of Mrs C. Clark, and at the meeting yesterday well over 50 members were present to enjoy an especially interesting programme.

The committee of the Napier guild garden circle were the guests of the afternoon and several of them supplied the programme. The general guild committee were also the guests of the circle and all the visitors were welcomed by Mrs Clark.

It was felt that in view of this fact the occasion was a fitting one on which to pay tribute to the work of Mrs J. B. Pickering and Miss Shaw, the former leader and secretary of the circle. Mrs Clark presented to each a lovely spray of violate and and minister print cameliage.

Festive Evening

A note of hilarity was struck at A note of hilarity was struck at the fifth birthday party of the music circle of the Hastings Townswomen's Guild last evening. On entering the guild-room it was immediately evident that the occasion was a festive one, for a corded streamer was hung down the centre of the room with yellow and green balloons and silver bells, and round the walls were clusters of red and the walls were clusters of red and blue balloons, the floral decorations also being most attractive.

Napier Visitors
Bring Posies

The Napier visitors had brought attractive coat posies for the leader, Mrs Clark, and secretary, Mrs T. Prosser, the former being of celastrus dioceus, a dainty shrub which was described by Mrs C. Corner as the members expressed interest, and the latter was of double violets and fern.

The programme commenced with an unusual demonstration on the making of miniature figures and Double violets and and fern.

The programme commenced with an item from the circle orchestra, and the variety of tin whistles and drums which were played was quite amazing. Those taking part were Mesdames V. L. Westermon tall violets and J. H. Blair. Also to Mrs Bridgman for a substantial donation towards the afternoon tea.

animals for the garden, shown by Mrs F. R. Lee. She described each step most carefully. First a celluloid toy in the shape desired was purchased, preferably one without arms or legs. A whole was then cut in the bottom and either plaster of Paris or concrete poured in. Mrs Lee said that she preferred concrete, made from one part concrete to three parts sand, but that many people preferred plaster of Paris which could be bought very cheaply. In either case the mixture should be poured in when the consistency be poured in when the consistency of cream to enable it to fill the case completely. This should then be left for about a week to set thoroughly and then the celluloid could be peeled off. Mrs Lee demonstrated this with a small swan which was afterwards much admired. The figures may then be painted and varnished or left plain, either way wearing well in all weather, as Mrs Lee's figures showed.

Floral Horseshoe Demonstrated

The second demonstration by Mrs C. Hill, was of a floral horse-shoe and this was watched with much pleasure. Mrs Hill had wired firm fronds of fern into a horseshoe shape and to this she wired pink heather, daphne, violets and rosebuds. The horseshoe was then wired to a cardboard shape covered with satin to form a good background and the finished horseshoe was really lovely.

wondering flow this work is gettern along.

The contract price, I understood, was £32,000 and it was to be finished some months ago, but it seems to be still wandering to the sea. The flood made a big mess at the Karamu, just after the job had been completed at this point. Who is "carrying the baby" now—the contractor or the people of Hastings?

The course of this sewer can easily be followed, the pipes for the best part of the way are showing above ground, and at the various open drains the line is laid at water level, thereby making a solid dam across most of the open drains, which make and save the valuable farming lands of this district. But

At the Karamu there was once a beautiful field, but there is now only a hole (by the look of it mightly deep), but still the sewer must go on to the sea. Who is going to fill up this hole—the farmer or the people of Hastings? While on the subject, why not get a Government subsidy of, say, 100 per cent., and put a few of the unemployed to work, instead of sending them into Napier to work on the parade.

Supreme Court At Dunedin

QUARTERLY SESSIONS

Short List But Serious Charges

By Telegraph-Press Association. DUNEDIN, July 18.

The quarterly sessions of the Supreme Court were commenced this morning, Mr Justice Kennedy presiding. Three persons, one charged with murder and attempted suicide, and two others with several offences with a young girl, were indicted and the Grand Jury returned true bills in all instances

His Honour in his charge to the Grand Jury said that the list of charges was not a long one, but it was serious, inasmuch as it included a charge of murder. The remaining charges were of attempted suicide, carnal knowledge and independ assault decent assault.

The charge of murder was in respect of the death of a woman who was found dead in her bed with her skull apparently smashed in.

Milson Railway Deviation

WORK RECOMMENCED

Heavier Grade Of Rail To Be Used

The re-commencement of work on the Milson railway deviation at Pal-merston North is now becoming very apparent. Recently gangs of the area, and a start has been made the area, and a start has been made with the collection of plant.

Four stacks of rails are being made at Longburn as the deviation will start from there and lead over the new route to Milson. The type of rail to be used will be heavier than that previously laid down. It will weigh 85lb to the yard, instead of 70lb to the yard. This heavier rail has now been adopted as the New Zealand standard, and is being used on all construction jobs. It is used on all construction jobs. It is estimated that from three to four miles of line are already on hand at Longburn. Much of the preliminary work for the deviation was completed before the work was stopped some years ago. There was a line from Longburn to the main scene of operations, but this was removed when work ceased. A large number of cuttings were completed, and machinery will be used for the remainder to ensure that the work is completed in the shortest possible time.

not fulfilled the contract, the bulls were not killed; locked the gate on the elephant and trainer; and claimed 500 dollars rebate. The trainer just muttered a word, and: "Tusko piaced his head against the gate and took it off its hinges, lifted the trainer on to his back, and walked off to the circus lot where my agent arrived a few days later. my agent arrived a few days later and took charge of him."

At this juncture the bull men, hot in pursuit, brought up the elephant horse, which the elephants were trained to follow. The horse headed Tusko into a telegraph pole, which he promptly pushed down, wires and all. A trainer leapt for his ear to get him to kneel; Tusko threw him off, then charged a two-storey frame house and moved it several feet off its foundation! The occupants sleeping on the second floor thought it was an earthquake; possibly the end of the world. . . FOOD FOR THOUGHT

New Zealand's Budget for the year 1938-39 will, in all probability, constitute a record for the total of expenditure and the total of revenue provided.

It is rather curious, when considering the national finances of the Dominion, to note how short the memories of most people are concerning events of even eigh ago. The grim period of depression appears to have left such an impression of penury and difficulty that the more prosperous pre-depression times seem to have been forgotten.

For instance, in the year 1929 the total trade, allowing for currency adjustments, was not greatly below the total trade of the year 1937-1938. However, we find that the total revenue to the Consolidated Fund from taxation was £17,832,000 in 1929, as compared with £35,000,000 in the

When the proposed expenditure under the social security scheme is adjusted into the above figures, it is not improbable that the total revenue required will exceed £40,000,000.

During the depression years New Zealand overseas trade returned to the Dominion an average of less than £40,000,000 a year. If a depression developed during any period when the Government expenditure was as high as that at present planned, it is clear that New Zealand could not stand the

Indeed, it is questionable if the wage-earners and taxpayers generally of this country can provide the revenue required to maintain the present rate of expenditure. The margin between the Dominion's income and its expenditure is far too small to allow for rising internal costs.

It is nonsense to suppose that we can remain unaffected by economic recessions overseas. Essentially a primary producing country, we require a large external income to provide for our internal expenditure as well as our external commitments. When this external income falls below the safety line, we must fall back upon our own reserves and resources—as occurred during the depression years. In effect, to live we must draw on the surplus of our created wealth, which in the main comes off the land. When this surplus disappears, we are very much in the position of "taking in one another's washing."

The coming Budget will, no doubt, clarify the Government's attitude towards this problem. It should be pointed out in advance, however, that it is quite impossible for this country to provide for an expenditure greater than its resources to pay.

A TRUE COMMONWEALTH

It is becoming more evident with every day that passes that Mr Malcolm MacDonald, British Secretary of State for the Colonies, has inherited much of his father's ability.

Addressing the London Chamber of Commerce, he asked his hearers to look into the future with him to see a confederation of the British peoples, six nations strong, when Great Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, and Eire would be able to stand on an equal status before the world as a bulwark for peace and freedom. That such a vision is not the dream of an idealist is evidenced by Mr MacDonald's practical acceptance of the fact that the constituent parts of the Empire must be developed along sane and sound lines.

Population is needed before adequate status can be attained, and secondary industries must be developed before a full measure of national sufficiency or efficiency can be

People all over the world who are of British blood will surely thrill to the call of such a vision.

But to make the future ours so far as peace and freedom are concerned, it will be necessary to go carefully step by step along the stable lines of progress. The British peoples have the will to peace. They also have the power to achieve that great end if that power is rightly guided and applied.

In order to vary the monotony of the Imperial table, the chief of the culinary section of the Imperial Household Department has been on a long trip to the remote northern outposts of the country, where many quaint dishes are eaten.

He has come back with a truly wonderful assortment of dishes to whet the appetite of the Mikado. The astonishing thing about them is that most of the recipes are based on such strange things as flowers and seaweed. Among them are delicacies concocted from ferns and flowers, while of the most delectable combinations, one is said to consist of cod seasoned with the green buds from a certain tree.

"Cost Would Be Enormous"

Injured Men's Condition

Mr Brett Nontellar, aged 43, of Nelson Street, Hastings, who was injured in a motor accident on Saturday evening, has been discharged from hospital. His companion, Mr William Matthews, aged 50, also of Nelson Street, Hastings, is still in hospital. His condition is reported to be satisfactory. The two men were injured when the car in which they were riding, and which was driven by Mr Albert Carberry, Nelson Street, got out of control when turning into Nelson Street from St. Aubyn Street, and struck a tree. The three men were thrown from the car, but the driver was not injured.

"I have no comment to make other than that the question of a standing army has been considered, and I do know that those who have suggested it have no idea of what the cost would be," said Colonel P. H. Bell, Officer Commanding the Southern Command, when questioned reparding Mr H. S. Williams's remarks at Friday's meeting of the Canterbury Chamber of Commence. "A regular rorce," he said, "is regarded by many as a desirable form of defence. The whole thing has been thoroughly investigated more than once, but the cost is enormous. It means not only regular payment of troops but the erection of barracks and other big expenditure." "I have no comment to make

In the Balkans, where large quantities of roses are grown for making perfumes, the buds are often pickled, and the Chinese make a candied sweet with the jasmine.

A couple of years ago great excitement was roused in horticultural circles in the United States by the production of a giant nasturtium, the product of hundreds of experiments. It was exhibited at the In-ternational Flower Show, and at-tracted much admiration. But an unhappy fate befell this giant bloom, for the chefs of New York discovered the big blossom to be far more useful to eat than to admire, and the newspapers published recipes for using it in various forms, many of them very ingenious. One recipe is to remove the ous. One recipe is to remove the pistil and stamens from each flower and to fill with minced tunny fish, gherkins, parsley, and pickled nasturtium seeds.

Seaweed does not sound particularly appetising, yet it is probably true to say that this particular plant is as widely eaten as any other on the face of the globe, being highly prized in places as widely scattered as Scotland and Japan, Ireland and China. It is used in making jams, soups and meat jellies. Sea cole-wort, a seaweed much esteemed by the Chinese as food, is gathered on the coasts of Sakhalin Island and exported in large quantities.

The trial commenced in the Supreme Court this morning before Mr Justice Kennedy of Eric Sandagger Parks, aged 28, charged with the murder of Frances Amelia Lee at Henley on April 14. Accused was represented by Mr C. J. L. White, with Mr J. B. Thomson. He pleaded not guilty. The Crown Prosecutor, Mr F. B. Adams, is conducting the case.

Evidence was given by Dr. Wylie, of Outram, who was called to the scene of the tragedy, and Eric Frederick D'Ath, Professor of Pathology at Otago University, and the hearing was then adjourned till to-morrow.

The jury was empanelled after 10 challenges, the Judge then adjourning the proceedings for 10 minutes to enable jurymen to make through the police the necessary home arrangements, since they will be kept together through the trial. Opening the case for the Crown, Mr Adams said it was not for him to foretell the line the defence would take, but he anticipated that the control of the saccused then described how

Mr F. W. Stillwell, S.M., presided, and with him were Squadron-Leader Burrell and Flight-Lieutenant Allan.

Counsel were Dr. N. A. Foden, of Wellington, representing the Air Department, and associated with him were Mr J. N. Buckeridge, of Wellington, senior Assistant Comptroller of Aviation, and Mr E. F. Carpenter, of Wellington, chief inspector of aircraft. Mr H. E. Barrowclough represented Union Airways Ltd., and Mr W. L. Wiseman the relatives of the late Commander Duthic the late Commander Duthie.

Also present were the manager of Union Airways, Mrs F. Maurice Clarke, and a director of the company, Mr White. Squadron-Leader Olson, Hobsonville, who conducted made an external inspection of the engine itself.

The announcement sums up the feelings of France on the eve of the visit. All the processional routes are gay with flags and bunting. Eighty thousand roses transform the Avenue de l'Opera into a rose-lined thoroughfare. The newspapers devote pages to the significance of the visit and to descriptions of the ceremonies, which are estimated to cost £1,000,000.

Thousands of presents are arriving at the British Embassy, the most original being from 16,000 Parisian tramps. It is a clay statu.

Olson, Hobsonville, who conducted the original inquiry, was also present.

The first witness was Haddon George Smith, accountant, of New Plymouth, who said that he visited Mangere on May 10 to see the Kotare depart. "The machine had just got into the air," he said, "when it slewed to the right and was heading straight for the Auckland Aero Club's hangar. I thought that it would just hit the hangar. I saw the 'plane climb very steeply over the hangar. It was a wonderful climb to me, and the right-hand (starboard) propeller was not work-

Witness thought that a forced landing was to be made in a field. The machine nose dived, disappeared INSPECTION machine nose dived, disappeared and there was a rending crash. Herbert William Pennant, a farmer, of Mangere, who watched from an adjacent field, said that he judged from the sound of the engines that something was wrong as it passed overhead at a height of 800 feet. It was coming lower with a strong wind behind. It began to rock terribly, getting lower with each rock. Roy Andrews, farm worker, corroborated the previous witness. Mr Barrowclough asked if any expert witness was being called regarding the suggestion that the engine was missing before it left the ground. "We feel," Dr. Foden said, "that the machine was missing practically from the start." Dr. Foden said that he did not wish to make any statement of the conclusions. It was his task to call evidence.

If there was no noticeable defect the next stage would have been a test flight. If no defect was noticed after the test he would have had no option in preventing it from leaving the ground.

His actions on this occasion were influenced by the entry in the logbook. In tests the machine performed quite normally.

Commander Duthie apparently started on the flight still under the impression that it was the starboard engine that had been overhauled.

After the machine got into the air witness saw that the starboard en-

Albert Ernest Leggett, ground engineer employed by Union Airways at Mangere, denied that he had said previously that he had seen in his inspection of the 'plane that the port engine had just been overhauled. He had seen no sign of have with a newly-overhauled engine.

"What do you think caused the engine to cut out?" asked Dr.

He had learned the following day, however, that it was the port engine that had been overhauled. His assistant, Leggett, said that the right hand propeller seemed stiff.

He tapped on the window pane, and Mrs Lee answered, allowing him to go in. She was in bed.

He asked if she would allow Frances to go with him. She lost her temper completely, calling him all sorts of things. She said that Frances had broken her engagement because she made out that he was a big, jealous, overgrown schoolboy; that he would not see Frances then or at any other time.

The statement then proceeded: "She said: 'You are always trying to cause trouble and make the girl's life hell. She said that Frances would never get any pleasure in life married to a thing like me. NATIONAL PARTY NOW HAS 100,000 MEMBERS

Organiser and Candidate Speak At Hastings On Principles Of The Party

The National Party was a combination of all the forces in the country opposed to Socialism, Mr Justin Power, national organiser for the party, told a public meeting at Hastings last night. It aimed at becoming an effective fighting force against the evils of Socialism, and already had more than 100,000 financial members, he said. In the Wellington division alone there were 365 branches, and it was the people in these branches who would form the spearhead of the party's attacks.

Mr Power was introduced by Mr R. D. Brown, acting-chairman of the Hastings branch of the party, and the candidate for the Hawke's Bay electorate, Mr G. A. Maddison,

He asked the party's supporters not to allow their personal feelings to intrude into the greater question of politics. They should remember that they were supporting the principles of the National Party, the most important of which was the encouragement of private enterprise.

DREDGING WORK AT NAPIER

WHAKARIRE'S TOTAL OUTPUT

MILLION-ODD TONS

Comprehensive Report By Engineer

The "Daily Telegraph's" Haifa correspondent says that Arab leaders, hitherto content with sporadic raids, have decided to launch large-scale attacks on Jewish colonies, some of which have recently been armed with machine-guns.

This, the correspondent says, would produce a danger of serious fighting. More British troops will be essential to protect the colonies.

read as follows:—

The bucket dredger Whakarire worked double shifts throughout the period, removing 22,600 tons from the first fairway cut, which is being dredged to a low water depth of 26 feet for a width of 200 feet. The vessel's total output since coming to Napier was thus brought to 1,115,000 tons. An unusual prevalence of unfavourable weather rendered dredging difficult during the greater part of the month, six full days' dredging being lost through this and other causes and operations at other times being frequently badly hampered.

The LDO.

The J.D.O.

The grab dredger J.D.O. was laid up for three of the four weeks under consideration to allow the crew to take their annual holidays. Prior to going out of commission the vessel removed the Apiti's ladder, and, upon resuming work, concentrated on the maintenance of the inner harbour entrance channels. Dredging returns for the few days were as follows:—

The Apiti, which has for so long lain idle at the far end of West Quay, was brought round last month to within reach of the J.D.O., which removed the suction dredger's ladder the such lightening the lead ladder, thereby lightening the load and easing the strain on the work in connection with the construction of Wharf No. 3 has been mainly confined to the laying down of moulding beds in the new yard and to the manufacture of piles therein, as well as to the construction of the superstructure, the first pier of which has been concreted. Scotch Derrick

The Scotch derrick, after removing piles from the old yard, was dismantled and is now being re-erected on the Breakwater Wharf to take the place of the Browning crane in the outward loading of piles. Immediately the derrick is ready for use, wharf pile-driving will be recommenced.

Repairs and renewals to the fender piling around the Glasgow Wharf are being effected as shipping permits. During the month some of the old fender pile stumps on the western side of the wharf were pulled out by the dredger, and several new turpentine piles driven.

STRANGE STORY

CHARGE OF ASSAULT IS DISMISSED

AUCKLAND CASE

Alleged Incident in Newspaper Office

By Telegraph-Press Association. AUCKLAND, July 18. The secretary of the Auckland Trotting Club, Arthur Grosvenor Mabee, aged 63, appeared before Mr C. R. Orr-Walker, S.M., in the Police Court, charged with assaulting Fileer More Heeling on Luke on the Auckland Court, charged with assaulting the Auckland Court, charged with assaulting the Auckland Court, charged with assaulting the Auckland Court of t Eileen Mona Hacke on July 9 and behaving in an insulting manner within view of Queen Street.

Represented by Mr Finlay, the accused pleaded not guilty to both charges, which were dismissed after evidence had been called.

The complainant said that she was a single woman living at Brown's Bay. At 7.5 p.m. on Saturday, July 9, she was walking along Queen Street on the opposite side to the "Herald" office, and hesitated before crossing the road. She saw the accused trying to attract her attention, but ignored him. He followed her across the road into the vestibule of the "Herald" office and vestibule of the "Herald" office and then started singing "Of All The Queens I Ever Met I Choose You."

"Again I ignored him," witness continued, "even when he beckoned to me. He then grabbed me roughly by the shoulder and swung me round facing him, and I told him I would put him in the hands of the police. There was another man to me. He then grabbed me roughly by the shoulder and swung me round facing him, and I told him I would put him in the hands of the police. There was another man nearby and I appealed to him for assistance, before making a complaint to a constable who passed the door. When the constable accosted the accused, he said: 'I don't want a case. I don't want my name mentioned.'"

tioned."

In reply to Sub-Inspector Flanagan, witness said that she thought the accused was under the influence of liquor because he came close to her and she could smell his breath.

To Mr Finlay witness said that she was looking at photographs on the wall in the "Herald" office when she saw the accused enter the vestibule. He walked up behind her, but in passing did not touch her. When he made advances to her the other man was standing about three feet or four feet away. He sang to other man was standing about three feet or four feet away. He sang to her and also talked under his breath with the highest score of 99.25 for the evening, gained the club's ladder badge.

Individual results are as follows, andicating both the rifle and handiaps scores in the third round:—

charles Newlove, a storeman, said that he saw the accused speak to the complainant, but did not hear what he said. He heard her say something about men in New Zealand and then she requested him to take "this man" away. The accused did not touch her all the time with the same the same that the sa ness was there and the complainant seemed to be doing all the talking He did not see the accused do any thing that was in any way improper nor did he hear anyone singing.

Constable Madden said that the complainant called him in the street and told him a man was molesting her. The accused denied all her allegations and said that she stepped back and bumped into him. He refused to give his name, but did so later and refused to go to the police station to make a statement, and so witness arrested him and charged him with assault. "Something Extraordinary" "There is something extraordinary and inconsistent in the com-plainant's story," said Mr Finlay.

"She has told with melodramatic force how she was grasped by the shoulder and swung round. Yet it is significant that she made no mention of this in her complaint to the police. I submit that it is absurd to suggest that any man would pester a woman in the presence of another person, and I suggest that the scene in the office and his sing-ing to her is a little grotesque and entirely unreal.

"The accused's explanation is much more simple and natural, and he will deny the conduct alleged." The accused said that he left his office to go to the "Herald" office office to go to the "Herald" office and as he walked along the vestibule a young woman who was standing there looking at the pictures stepped back. He tried to avoid her, but brushed lightly against her. He did no more than apologise to her, when she upbraided him with, "If this is the way New Zealand men treat Australian maidens when they come over here it. ens when they come over here, it would be better if they did not come."

"She continued to protest and when she said she would give me in charge I said, 'Don't be silly' and walked into the office," the accused added. "I did not stop to annoy her nor did I sing to her or seize her by the shoulder and swing her round. She upbraided me for what was in effect a perfectly innocent round. She uppraided me for what was in effect a perfectly innocent brushing due to her stepping back into my path."

In dismissing the case the Magistrate said that the police witness did not confirm the statements made by the complainant and this went against her story. The accused's action might have been misunderstood by the complainant. understood by the complainant, causing her to imagine that certain things happened. After hearing the evidence, however, he could not think there was any intention on the part of the accused to assault the

When counsel applied for the sup-pression of the accused's name the Magistrate said that he had no power to make an order as the of fence was not punishable by im-

(By MOTUROA).

The Hawke's Bay Hunt race meeting on Saturday was the most successful the club has held since 1925. In that year the fixture was conducted in conjunction with the Hawke's Bay winter meeting and large nominations were received from outside the province for the three days' racing.

From every point of view on Saturday the meeting was one of which the Hawke's Bay Hunt could well be proud. It was admirably conducted; keen racing sustained interest; and there were no untoward incidents to mar the day's sport. There could be no doubt about the high esteem in which the Hawke's Bay Hunt is regarded by sportsmen outside the province, and Saturday's fixture will serve to strengthen that

Fine weather and the success of well-backed horses contributed towards the fifty per cent. totalisator increase, but back of it all was the splendid organisation of the secretary, Mr A. E. Wishart, while the stewards, headed by Master Pat White and the executive committee chairman, Mr G. D. Beatson, set themselves out to extend a glad hand to visitors.

The Hawke's Bay Hunt has set its house in order and the financial success of the gathering will enable it to consider putting on a more ambitious programme next year.

Skerryvore was the youngest member of the Hunt Cup field on Saturday and he left the impression that a successful jumping career is before him. Skerryvore, who is a solidly-built gelding with plenty of solidly-built gelding with plenty of good bone and room to develop, is bred from a great jumping family, coming down from the famous Mermaid through Waterwitch. He is by the China Cock horse Cokpit, from Sinella, who was never raced. She is by the Henry the First horse Cynle, who won the Great Northern Hurdles and sired a host of jumping winners, and her dam was Te Puia, by San Fran from Black Ella, by Quilt from Waiau, by Torpedo from Cascade. Sinella is a half-sister to Kohu, winner of the Great Northern Hurdles, while Rewi Poto, Whakaari, Paraoa and Prince Rufus were all bred along the same lines and all succeeded as jumpers.

Should Come Good.

There is no more consistent two-year-old in the district than Mr Harold Connop's Laughing Prince—Royal Song filly Laughing Song, whose third to Patches and Imogen on Saturday was her eighth minor. on Saturday was her eighth minor placing in ten starts. Laughing Song, who is a half-sister to Mr Connop's Parliamentary Handicap winner Mercian Prince, is bred from a good winning family, being by the good winning family, being by the Vasco horse Garance from Pastoral, by Royal Fusilier from Cantatrice, the Australian-bred daughter of Goldsborough, descendant of the Stockwell mare Rosemary, ancestress of Trafalgar, Downfall, Chantelyse and other good winners. Vasco horse Garance from Pastoral, by Royal Fusilier from Cantatrice, the Australian-bred daughter of Goldsborough, descendant of the Stockwell mare Rosemary, ancestress of Trafalgar, Downfall, Chantuge and other good winners and stayers. Laughing Song is still a bit on the "leg", but she should thicken now with a short let-up and it should be possible to place her to win some good races next season.

Bred for Speed.

Imogen, who had twice run untered the Australian-bred daughter of the Australian-bred daughter of the Beatson's gelding finished so well over seven furlongs at the Hawke's Bay Hunt meeting that his fourth left the impression that there will be more races for him in the not do distant future. Like all of Mr Beatson's horses, Soho was turned out in great order and, as he has taken quickly to hurdling, it would appear likely that really good jumping races should be won by him in the new season.

Imogen, who had twice run unsuccessfully prior to her second on Saturday is bred for early speed, but it would not surprise to find her winning races later on over longer distances. She is a half-sister to the brilliant, but unsuled Elementical brilliant, but unsound Flammarion and is by Siegfried from Lucinette, and is by Siegiffied from Lucinette, a half-sister by Martian to Star Lady, dam of that great horse, Star Stranger.
