'PLANE CRASHES INTO CROWD

34 Killed and 150 Injured
FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT DURING SOUTH AMERICAN REVIEW

Victims Cut Down By Propellers

United Press Association—Copyright.
 (Received July 26, 12.10 a.m.)

BOGOTA (Colombia), July 25.

At least 34 were killed and 150 injured when a military plane crashed into a crowd of 50,000 during a military review at the opening of an army camp.

Physicians estimate that of those injured many are certain to die.

The plane was performing aerobatics 90 feet from the ground when it attempted to pass between the diplomatic stand and the grandstand occupied by the President (Dr. Alfonso Lopez), and the President-elect (Senor Eduardo Santos).

The tip of the wing hit the diplomatic stand, then struck the presidential stand. The steps of the latter were brushed.

Shrieks from the crowd were drowned in the noise of the plane ripping through the stand's metal roof.

There was an explosion from the petrol tanks when the ground was struck, and the plane ignited immediately.

Crowds ran in all directions, but some were powerless to escape. Those in the path of the propellers were decapitated, as they cut through the bystanders like a scythe.

Some of those injured were soaked by the spray of burning petrol and shrieked in desperation and pain.

Dr. Lopez and Senor Santos were unharmed, but the burning plane fell only a few yards from them.

The wife of Julio Minoda, the Japanese Charge d'Affaires, was slightly injured about the head.

Isabell, the daughter of the British Minister (Mr. Montague Paske-Smith) had a narrow escape.

The review marked the 155th anniversary of the birth of Simon Bolivar, the soldier-statesman hero of South America's nineteenth century struggle for independence.

RAILWAY BUSES' ROUTE

SUGGESTED CHANGE DISCUSSED

INSPECTOR'S VIEW

Demonstration To Be Requested

A long report from the traffic aspect on the question of the railway buses running down Dickens Street from the Parade to Muroe Street, returning via Emerson Street, was submitted by the borough traffic inspector, Mr. A. M. Oliver, at the meeting of the Napier Borough Council last night.

The inspector's report, which summed up his view of the situation, had been referred to the Works Committee, this body recommending to the council that the New Zealand Railway Road Services be asked to give a demonstration of the mobility of their buses through the town and that this be witnessed by councillors.

It was further recommended that the department be advised that the council was considering the removal of the bus stand and among other suggestions the following were made:—

1. Making the starting point at Munroe Street.
2. Starting at the Sound Shell, incorporating in this latter plan the provision of an area to accommodate six buses, in the hope that the department would erect the necessary building to conform with existing Parade improvements.

The committee also recommended that the Railways Department be asked to make any other suggestions and to appoint representatives to meet the Works Committee of the council.

The recommendations were adopted.

ON THE AIR IN AUGUST

NEW RADIO STATION AT DACRE

GOOD SERVICE

Tests of Transmitter Began

The installation of the transmitter for Southland's new radio station at Dacre has been completed and the station has now begun its testing period. It is expected that the new transmitter will begin regular broadcasting next month, replacing the present auxiliary Invercargill station 4YZ which has been on the air for nearly a year.

Southland programmes should be heard with clarity in most parts of New Zealand, the power of the station being five kilowatts, which is half the strength of the main stations in Dunedin, Christchurch and Auckland. It is expected to give a satisfactory service in all parts of Southland and it will augment the service provided in Central Otago where reception of other stations is not always reliable.

The work of installing the transmitter has been completed and preliminary carrier wave tests have begun. Listeners may expect to hear the station on the air occasionally outside the transmission hours of station 4YZ during the next few weeks as the tests proceed. Experts have been stationed at several points with instruments to test reception, and adjustments will be made as required. When the engineers are completely satisfied with the transmission tests the station will take over the broadcasting of the programme from the Invercargill studios.

Installing the Transmitter.

The work of installing the transmitter has been done under the direction of Mr G. G. Cookson, of Sydney, representative of Amalgamated Wireless (Australasia), Ltd., which secured the contract for the assembly and installation of the plant. The staff who will operate the station at Dacre has assisted with the work and will thus be completely familiar with the plant.

Three men will be stationed at Dacre, quarters having been specially provided for them by the National Broadcasting Service.

The alterations to the former hall of the United Friendly Societies for the new Invercargill studios of the station are proceeding and should be completed in time for the change to the new transmitter. A land line connecting the studios with the transmitter is also being erected.

No announcement has yet been made of the hours of broadcasting from the new station, but it is expected that there will be an extension of the service in Southland. At present the Southland station is on the air for only about five hours a day, and a limited schedule would probably not be economical in operation for such costly plant, estimated by the Minister in Charge of Broadcasting (the Rt. Hon. M. J. Savage) some time ago to cost £40,000.

Railways In Wartime

PRESENT CONFERENCE

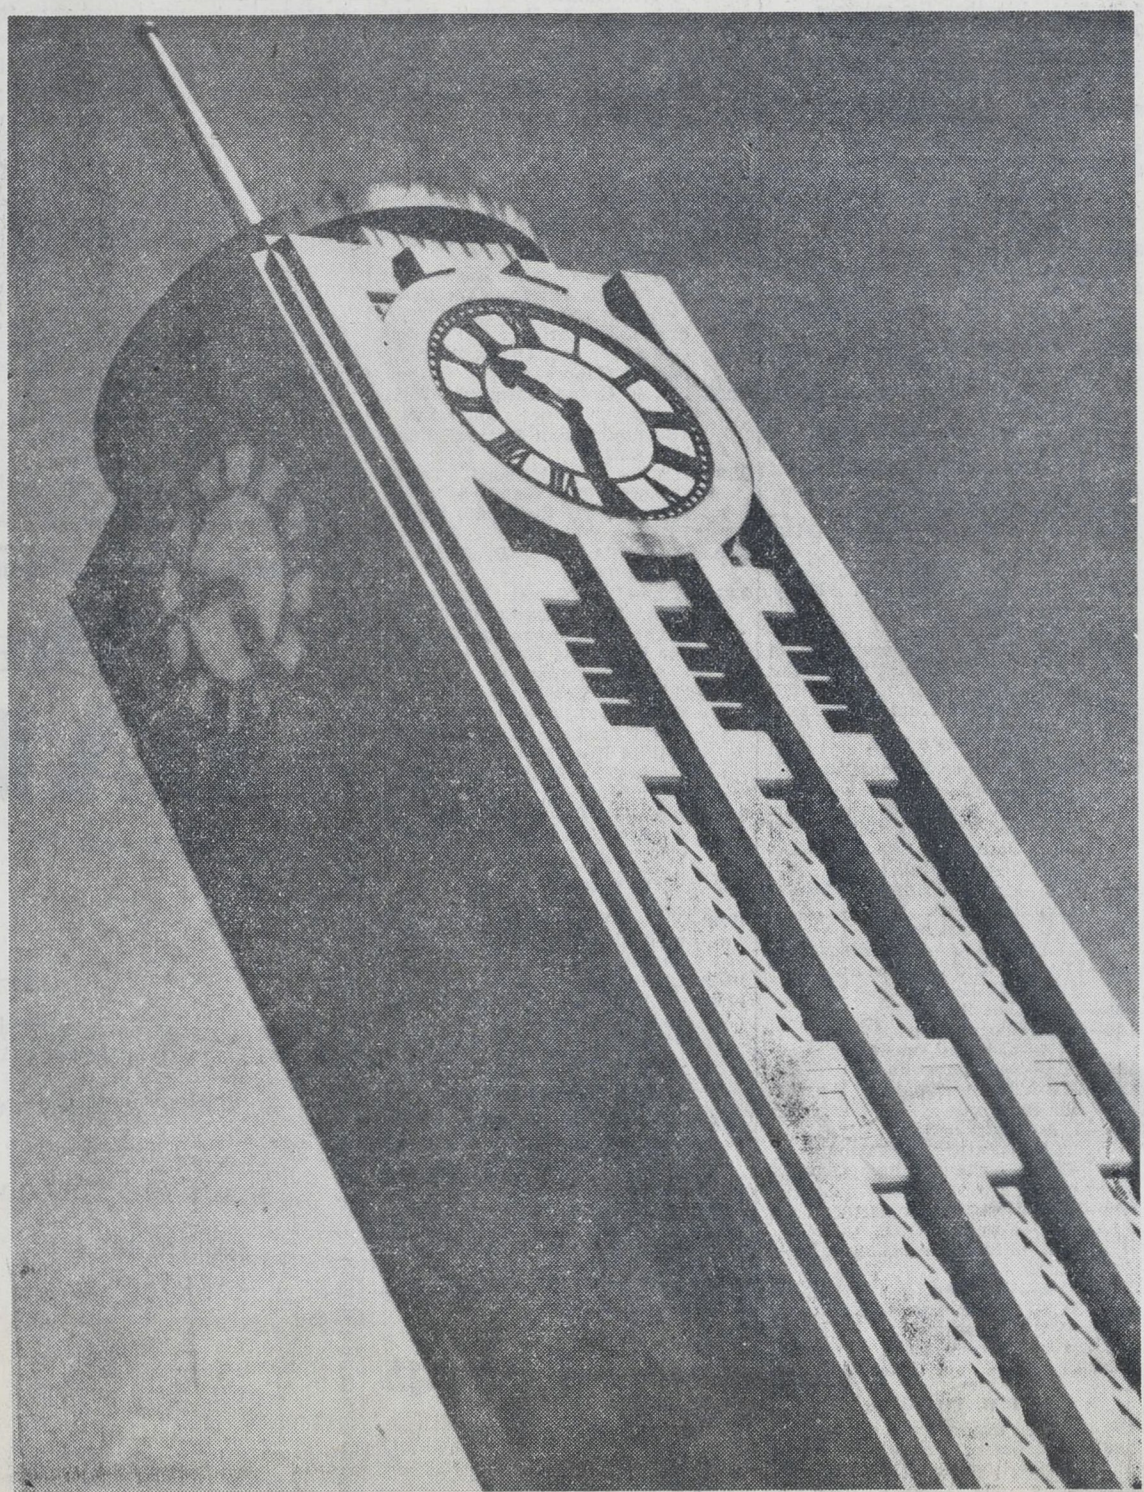

Mobilisation Schemes In Australia

Arrangements are being made in Australia by the War Railway Council to consider rail mobilisation schemes, and plans for the co-ordination of railway and defence activities in time of emergency.

The War Railway Council consists of delegates to the biennial conference of Railway Commissioners, which is now sitting in Sydney, and a number of senior officers of the navy and army.

The biennial conference of Commissioners, the object of which is to enable the Commissioners from the various States to compare departmental practices and recommendations from technical experts, has begun.

More than 200 matters ranging from fare adjustments to engineering problems, will be considered by the conference, and every subject will be considered with the need for uniformity of methods in view.

NEW GIANT BOEINGS FOR NEW ZEALAND?

U.S.A. Post Office Official And Airways Representative At Variance

By Telegraph—Press Association.

AUCKLAND, July 25.

"It is highly likely that the new 6000 horse-power Boeing Clippers, which are being built for Pan-American Airways at Seattle, will not come to New Zealand, but that two will replace those on the San Francisco-Hong Kong route, and the other four will be commissioned for the transatlantic service," stated Judge Wood, Post Office Inspector at Honolulu. Judge Wood is a through passenger on the Monterey from Sydney.

VANDALISM AT NAPIER

DAMAGE IN PARKS AND RESERVES

PALM SET ALIGHT

Report To Borough Council

The prevalence of vandalism in Napier parks and reserves was mentioned in a report made by the Superintendent of Reserves (Mr. C. W. Corner) to the Napier Borough Council at the monthly meeting last night.

Mr. Corner pointed out that Mr. Perrott, at the Botanical Gardens, was having considerable trouble in this respect on Sundays.

At Nelson Park the vandals were not satisfied with breaking down trees and shrubs. They had, on Sunday, July 10, set a Chamroy's Excelsa alight. Fortunately, it had been possible to save the palm from destruction.

The month upon which Mr. Corner was reporting was said to be, because of climatic conditions, the most unsatisfactory as far as reserves were concerned. The playing areas, by reason of their being low-lying and badly-drained, had suffered considerably, and for some periods some of the grounds had been unplayable. During the wet spell opportunity had been taken to overhaul plant generally.

Lack of adequate work-sheds was making it impossible to carry out the work of the department economically and satisfactorily. Now that it was necessary to pay the staff at a high rate for wet weather the need for suitable working facilities was acute.

The report was received.

There was a prospect, he said also, of the present China Clippers starting the American-New Zealand service at the beginning of 1939.

"The information Judge Wood has is not up-to-date, and is not in accord with advice sent to me," said Mr. Harold Gatty, special representative of Pan-American Airways in New Zealand and Australia, when the statement was referred to him.

"Has No Authority"

"He has no authority to make statements for the company, and the statement is not in agreement with the latest information to hand."

"The Martin Clippers on the China run were specially designed for that service, and there is no intention to use them on the New Zealand route," Mr. Gatty continued. "It is definitely the intention of the company to use the Boeings which are now undergoing tests, on the Auckland run."

Mr. Gatty added that it was anticipated that the New Zealand service would be resumed, not in 1939, but before the end of this year.

STOWAWAYS FROM MONTEREY

Two Men Remanded At Auckland

By Telegraph—Press Association.

AUCKLAND, July 25.

Two men who pleaded guilty in the Magistrate's Court to stowing away on the Monterey on July 8 at Auckland and who made a round trip in the vessel, were remanded until Monday next. They were Neil Alfred Seastrand, aged 22 years, and Gwynne Lindsay Oscar Johnson, also aged 22 years.

CONSECRATION OF NEW BISHOP

DATE NOT YET FIXED

OCTOBER LIKELY

Primate Has Final Decision

No date has as yet been decided upon for the consecration of the Rev. G. V. Gerard as Bishop of Waiapu, but it is thought that the ceremony will take place about the end of October.

The date will be fixed by the Primate, Archbishop Averill, with the concurrence of the Bishops who will participate, and the ceremony will coincide with the Waiapu Diocesan Synod, which is scheduled to take place at the same time as the Auckland Synod.

As the Primate will be required to take part in both synods it is probable that the Napier Synod will be postponed until October.

The Rev. Mr. Gerard will take up his residence shortly before his consecration.

Pacific Air Mail Service

REASON FOR DELAY

Resumption Hoped For Shortly

VISITOR'S VIEWS

By Telegraph—Press Association.

AUCKLAND, July 25.

"There is no doubt at all that in the reasonably near future there will be an air mail service between America and New Zealand," said Mr. J. Wood, United States Post Office inspector, of Honolulu, on arrival on the Monterey.

His personal view was that Pan-American Airways would be resuming the service to New Zealand shortly.

Soon after the loss of the Samoan Clipper, Mr. K. A. Kennedy, Pacific division traffic manager for Pan-American Airways, said he hoped to have the service to the Dominion inaugurated before the end of the year.

The difficulty of putting the service into operation at present was the shortage of machines, but new 6000 horse-power aircraft were now being built at Seattle.

Bombing Of Open Towns

PARIS CONFERENCE

Observance Of League Covenant

AGGRESSORS OPPOSED

United Press Association—Copyright.

(Received July 25, 5.5 p.m.)

PARIS, July 25.

The International Conference on the bombing of open towns was attended by 850 delegates from 30 countries, including Britain.

A resolution deplored world-wide disrespect for treaties and the existing disinclination to limit armaments.

The conference supported collective security, and urged the observance of the League Covenant.

The Roosevelt Cabinet was asked to take the initiative. The conference demanded the unhampered supply of anti-aircraft armaments and financial aid to countries which were the victims of aggression. It also urged an embargo on petroleum and metals for aggressor nations.

£2000 ART UNION PRIZE TO NAPIER

Number 139805 "Just In Time" Takes Major Prize: Draw Results

By Telegraph—Press Association.

WELLINGTON, July 25.

The first prize of £2000 in the "My Luck's In" art union, drawn in Wellington last evening, went to a Napier ticket-holder, number 139,805. "Just In Time" was the pseudonym adopted by the winner.

Apart from the fact that the address given on the butt was Napier, inquiries last evening failed to reveal anything of the identity of the lucky holder of the ticket.

The second prize of £500 went to Miss Marion Weatherhead, of Christchurch, and the third and fourth prizes to Onehunga and Tauranga respectively.

"The Three Sisters," ticket number 96,233, won a prize of £10 for Gisborne. No other Hawke's Bay or East Coast prize-winners were revealed, but the £5 prize winners are yet to come.

It is thought that the winning ticket was sold by a street seller, operating outside McGruer's shop in Emerson Street, Napier.

New Liners For The Pacific BUILDING POSTPONED

Canada Is Blamed For Costly Delays

"NOW UNECONOMIC"

United Press Association—Copyright. LONDON, July 23.

In connection with the decision not to build the Pacific liners, Sir Edward Beatty and Lord Craigmuir, in a joint statement, said that the plans and specifications of the two new ships had been submitted to selection shipbuilders.

The postponement was regretted, but the company anticipated that the discussions would be resumed.

The Australian Associated Press understands that the decision is a sequel to government procrastination and lost opportunities.

The British and Dominion Governments, excepting Canada, earlier agreed to the scheme when construction could have been achieved at £2,500,000, compared with the present estimate of £5,000,000. Canada finally acquiesced, but too late.

State MARK TWAIN'S GREAT STORY FILMED

Adventure Of Childhood Days

Again the major favourite of our childhood days comes to the screen in "Tom Sawyer," showing at the State Theatre, Napier, to-day, this time supplied in Technicolour under the expert wing of David O. Selznick.

A newcomer takes the title role and fills it with astonishing success. Tommy Kelly is Tom Sawyer just as Mark Twain surely visualised him, and he magnetises the living world of the author into flesh and blood. Ann Gillis, also new to us, is a delightful Becky Thatcher with her little childish whims and methods of allure.

Most of Tom's adventures are recorded from the classic fence painting up. And surely the pictures does give a faithful portrait of those "queer enterprises" which as Mark Twain says in the foreword, are so often entered into by children whose complex minds are beyond the conception of forgetful adults. And that is what makes this film so arresting, so attractive and reminiscent. Made apparently for children, certainly the adults will crowd just as eagerly to see it.

The State is now comfortably heated by an up-to-date central heating plant and leaves little to be desired in the comfort of the patrons. There is no need to fear the cold at the State where it is always cosy.

Plaza SINGING STAR IN A GAY COMEDY

Gladys Swarouth In Romantic Story

Frolisome comedy is not the special province of typed comedians as the romantic Gladys Swarouth and John Boles prove in the new Paramount comedy, "Romance in the Dark." The singing actors with John Barrymore head comic cast that includes Claire Dodd, Fritz Feld, Curt Bois and Carlos de Valdez in this comedy, which will screen finally to-night at the Plaza Theatre, Napier.

While the two sing their way to romance in the manner they have popularised in their previous pictures, they join heartily in the broad comedy of this story of a Hungarian stage star who makes a fake Persian princess out of his household in order to get even with his manager and ends up by falling in love with the Cinderella he created.

Sophisticated Budapest of the present day forms the background for the mad antics of the romantic trio. This setting continues the trend toward a gay, European atmosphere, already followed in "Champagne Waltz," "I Met Him in Paris," and "Angel."

Gladys Swarouth, following her belief that good singing is not enough to meet the demands of modern audiences, scampers through a number of diverse characterisations, a country bumpkin, a servant girl, a masquerading Oriental princess and a continental opera star in rapid succession.

A splendid round of entertainment is capped by the presentation of a first-class selection of supporting subjects.

Gaiety-De-Luxe KAY FRANCIS IN GREAT DRAMA

Thrilling Story Vividly Portrayed

Kay Francis has starred in many great pictures during her eight years on the screen, but in the Warner Bros.' emotional drama, "Confession," now showing at the Gaiety Theatre, Napier, she tops any performance she has ever given.

She herself has declared that her role of Vera—a once-famous opera singer who has descended to cabaret singing because of a momentary affair with a musician—is the strongest dramatic stuff she has ever been permitted to play.

In the opinion of many, her work excelled that which she did as Florence Nightingale in "The White Angel," and was even better than her unforgettable "One-Way Passage."

"Confession" was adapted from the famous Continental stage play "Mazurka." It has to do with a once-great opera singer, now reduced to cabaret jobs, who learns that the manager who had betrayed her, years previously, now has the same designs upon her young daughter.

When she sees the two of them together in the cabaret, she kills him and herself.

Basil Rathbone is the suave betrayer, and Ian Hunter is a war hero from whose arms Kay was lured by the wiles of Rathbone.

A splendid collection of "Features," including musical revue, adventure travelogue in Technicolour, an all-coloured "Merrie Melody Novelty," and others of an interest and topical nature, building up another of those greater and stronger entertainments always provided by the Gaiety management. Seats may be reserved at the Gaiety or phone 1060 without any extra charge.

Mayfair MYSTERY ON LUXURY LINER

Popular Team Reunited In Fine Story

A story of mystery and romance on the Atlantic is unfolded by Paramount's "The Princess Comes Across" to open to-day at the Gaiety Theatre, Napier, with Carole Lombard and Fred MacMurray in the stellar roles.

The pictures reunites for the first time the screen sweethearts who became national favourites in their first feature together, "Hands Across the Table." A balanced combination of comedy, romance, song, and mystery, it gives them a chance to show their best work.

Miss Lombard appears as a charming American girl posing as a Swedish princess, en route to New York to land a film contract aboard the luxury liner Mammoth, setting for the entire plot, she meets and falls in love with MacMurray, concertina-playing maestro of a "swing" band.

The second attraction on the programme is "Two Fisted," which has Lee Tracy in the leading role.

Portraying the part of a fast talking fight manager of a dim witted boxer, Tracy has one of his best roles to date in "Two Fisted," rollicking farce of two fight mugs who crash Park Avenue and brought glory to their manager.

The story centres around the hilarious adventures of Tracy and Kears who are four by Taylor, Park Avenue playboy and brought to his home. An uproarious climax brings the fun film to a romantic, exciting finish.

Additional payments on butter and cheese purchased during the 1937-38 season and exported up to June 30 have been received by Southland dairy factory companies from the Primary Products Marketing Department. The payments were in accordance with an Order-in-Council increasing the guaranteed price. The amount for distribution in Southland is estimated at £20,000.

Sophisticated Budapest of the present day forms the background for the mad antics of the romantic trio. This setting continues the trend toward a gay, European atmosphere, already followed in "Champagne Waltz," "I Met Him in Paris," and "Angel."

Gladys Swarouth, following her belief that good singing is not enough to meet the demands of modern audiences, scampers through a number of diverse characterisations, a country bumpkin, a servant girl, a masquerading Oriental princess and a continental opera star in rapid succession.

A splendid round of entertainment is capped by the presentation of a first-class selection of supporting subjects.

Plaza SINGING STAR IN A GAY COMEDY

Gladys Swarouth In Romantic Story

Frolisome comedy is not the special province of typed comedians as the romantic Gladys Swarouth and John Boles prove in the new Paramount comedy, "Romance in the Dark." The singing actors with John Barrymore head comic cast that includes Claire Dodd, Fritz Feld, Curt Bois and Carlos de Valdez in this comedy, which will screen finally to-night at the Plaza Theatre, Napier.

While the two sing their way to romance in the manner they have popularised in their previous pictures, they join heartily in the broad comedy of this story of a Hungarian stage star who makes a fake Persian princess out of his household in order to get even with his manager and ends up by falling in love with the Cinderella he created.

Traveller's Congratulations

Writing as a traveller who drove 20,000 miles a year, Mr T. G. Marsden has written congratulating the Napier Borough Council on the efficient traffic control by means of islands at the confluence of Carlyle Street, Thackery Street, and George's Drive and trusting that they would be made permanent.

South African Memorial

A letter conveying its pleasure at the council's thoughtfulness in finding a suitable site for the erection of the Memorial on the Parade, instead of relegating it to a place of seclusion, was received from the Wairoa Branch of the South African War Veterans' Association, at last night's meeting of the Napier Borough Council.

SHAVING RASH
Is your skin raw and tender too, through painful shaving rash? Apply Rexona Ointment—it soothes the irritation instantly, cools, soothes the inflamed skin and heals up those tiny painful pimples around the skin. Keep a tin of Rexona Ointment ready and apply it at the first sign of irritation.
TREATMENT—Wash the face with Rexona Medicated Soap and warm water, after shaving or before retiring. Then apply Rexona Ointment and rub gently in. Rexona Medicated Soap is strongly recommended. It contains the same soothing, healing properties as Rexona Ointment, and is particularly good for sensitive skin.
SHAVING RASH HEALED COMPLETELY!—writes Mr. J. C. Peters, 89 Baywater Road, Rushcutters Bay. "My skin is very tender, and shaving made it quite sore. The trouble got worse. I used to dread the thought of shaving. Then a chemist recommended me to try Rexona Ointment. I rubbed Rexona on my face after shaving, and before long, the skin healed completely. I keep Rexona handy always now to prevent shaving rash."

Five o'Clock Gossip

Mrs W. R. Stead and Miss Marie Stead are visitors to Wellington and return home on Wednesday.
Mrs T. J. C. Warren, Penlee, Pukehou, has left for Auckland, where she will meet her sister, Miss J. M. Rendall, of Somerset, England, who will arrive by the Rangitata, to spend a holiday with her.

Mrs L. W. Goldfinch, of Pukahu, will leave today for Wellington, where she will be the delegate from Pukahu to the Women's Institute Conference. She will be accompanied by Mrs Buck, president of the Hawke's Bay Women's Institute and Mrs Packwood, president of the Wairoa Women's Institute.

Miss A. Williams, "Ashridge", Thompson Road, Napier, has arrived in Auckland after spending two months holiday with her sisters Mrs Haggan, of Victoria, B.C.

Mr and Mrs J. J. Creagh, Bay View Road, Napier, have returned from a tour of the North Island.

Mr and Mrs Jenkins, Avenue Road, Hastings, left yesterday morning on a brief visit to Wairoa.

Little Theatre Evening
HELD IN HASTINGS

Varied Programme Much Enjoyed

FUTURE PRESENTATIONS
Mrs W. A. Whitlock and Mrs T. Kelly organised the very happy social evening for members of the Hawke's Bay Little Theatre Society and their friends which was held in the society's room in Heretaunga Street, Hastings, last evening.

A huge fire burned brightly and gave a cheery touch to the room where the floor decorations were tall vases of pink and white camelias.

In the absence of the president of the society (Mr J. D. H. Buchanan), Mr D. W. Hursthouse, spoke briefly thanking the organisers for the trouble which they had taken and also the Misses Zoe and Mitty Fryer, who had prepared the room, Mrs W. Neilson for arranging the supper, and Mr H. R. Campbell for his assistance. He said that the evening was an innovation which resulted from the desire of the committee to include social evenings in the society's activities, feeling that this would strengthen the society and possibly encourage new members who would always be most welcome.

Mr Hursthouse announced that an evening of three one-act plays would be held about the middle of August and also that the society's next three-act play was cast and in rehearsal.

The programme for the evening commenced with an excellent reading of the one-act play, "Anti-Clockwise" given by Messdames E. V. Simpson, O. C. Moller, M. Brodie, J. Wright and H. Lovell-Smith.

Value of Mime
Mrs Turner Williams spoke briefly about mime which she said is an old art really begun before the days of printed books when actors could be given a written part to learn.

"Mime is most useful for amateur actors to practise," said Mrs Turner Williams. "One often sees fussy, unnecessary gestures when the right gestures could be done if the actor had a greater knowledge of mime."

"When learning mime it is advisable to begin at the top," continued the speaker. "Head movements may show pride, arrogance or grief. The movements of the eyebrows also are most important, while the eyes are most essential. These should be windows to register every feeling behind. The hands and even the feet can express much that the actor wishes to convey. Mime, however is extremely difficult unless much practised."

Mrs Turner Williams then called upon six members from the audience to illustrate what she had said and this proved most interesting as she drew attention to their good work as well as the points in which they failed. Those taking part were Mrs E. M. Fenton, Misses Margaret Nutter and Hiraani Scott, and Messrs Guy Hardenberg, J. Kelsey and Donald Davies.

A one-act play "November Afternoon" was then splendidly presented by Miss Zoe Fryer and Mr H. R. Campbell.

Following this Mr Hardenberg gave the audience ten minutes of excellent humorous entertainment and had to respond to an encore. A mime game arranged by Mr Donald Davies caused much amusement and set the audience guessing. This was followed by an impromptu charade while supper was prepared.

During supper everyone moved about and chatted together until the very happy evening was brought to a close.

The Audience
Among those present were: Mrs W. A. Whitlock, Mrs T. Kelly, Mrs J. D. H. Buchanan, Mrs W. Neilson, Mr and Mrs D. W. Hursthouse, Mrs Guy Hardenberg, Mr and Mrs R. D. Brown, Mr and Mrs J. Kelsey, Mrs A. I. Rainbow, Mrs Turner Williams, Mrs E. M. Fenton, Mrs A. M. Brodie, Mrs Moorhouse, Mrs E. V. Simpson, Mrs H. de Denne, Mrs J. Wright, Mrs O. C. Moller, Mr and Mrs H. Lovell-Smith, Mrs J. Leggat, Mrs W. H. Maitland, Mrs G. R. Baillie, Mrs Selwyn Chambers, Mrs S. Jones.

Misses Frances and Margaret Nutter, Hiraani Scott, Lucy Cassin, J. Grantham, Cynthia Smith, Lyndall Candy, Zoe and Mitty Fryer, Jean Watters, Jean Hallett, Marie Davies, Mary Campbell, Mary Rainbow, Allison Black, Hohan, Millie Dalton, Jean Northie and Margaret Glenny; Messrs P. E. Clifton, H. R. Campbell, Donald Davies, Guy Barron, N. Nelson and Dr. H. Hardenberg.

THE WONDERS OF IRAQ AND SYRIA VIVIDLY DESCRIBED

Hastings Luncheon Club Members Are Held Spellbound

Miss Una Smith, who has travelled extensively in foreign lands, is a speaker who is always in great demand. There are three main reasons for this. Firstly, she possesses an energetic personality which enables her to miss nothing of interest during her travels; secondly, she remembers everything that she sees; and, thirdly, she has that most envied gift of all, the ability to make the picture so vivid when she speaks that her listeners forget both time and place and are transported to strange lands thousands of miles distant.

Members of the Hastings Women's Luncheon Club had been looking forward for some time past to Miss Smith's second visit to their club. Recently she described only half of her last trip to England via the East Indies, Siam, Burma, India, Iraq, Syria, Greece, Italy and France and the time permitted her to describe only a few of the sights.

At the meeting of the club in the Hawke's Bay Farmers' tearooms yesterday, Miss Smith continued this talk. She said that after leaving Bombay she sailed up the Persian Gulf to Basra, famous for the 100,000 tons of dates which were exported each year. From Basra she journeyed to the famous ruins at Ur in the Chaldees, situated in the middle of the desert. Here Sir Leonard Woolley had conducted excavations which had revealed much marvellous jewellery and other relics from the tombs, this now being seen in the Baghdad museum or the British museum in London. The speaker said that Ur was said to have been the birth place of Abraham and she visited the house in which he was reported to have lived.

"I then continued my journey across the desert to Babylon, seeing many fascinating mirages en route," continued Miss Smith. "Here I went round the ruins, these having been excavated by the Germans who have taken everything to Berlin, excepting the immense granite Lion of Babylon which, it is said, marks the spot where Daniel was thrown to the lions. I saw also the remains of the famous hanging gardens of Babylon."

"Continuing by train through the desert to Baghdad we passed through a very severe sandstorm, the train whistling continuously for half an hour. Baghdad is a noisy city and the streets are all hills and hollows, but, nevertheless, it is of much interest, especially as the River Tigris passed right through the city."

UNIQUE RIVER CRAFT
A most entertaining description of the craft, peculiar to this river, and her journey in one of them was given by the speaker. She said that they were making out against the wind with pitch and were circular in shape, the diameter and depth being between four and five feet. The river current was swift and the little boats went up and down as well as round and round, but she felt she would like to have a try. She climbed through the bridge into one, and such an interested crowd collected to watch that it was necessary for the police to separate them. However, the ride proved most entertaining.

"After leaving Baghdad I travelled 526 miles by bus across the desert to Damascus. The mirages seen while crossing the desert were perfectly wonderful. From the top of one rise we looked down into the depression to see a great shining river, the track leading down to the edge and coming out again on the other side, but when we came to it there was nothing but sand. While crossing the desert we saw numerous bedouins with their small black tents and camels and donkeys. One would wonder how they lived but their intuition seems to tell them where to dig for water.

"Damascus is a beautiful city with wonderful shops in which are sold lovely carpets, articles of rosewood, inlaid with mother of pearl, and ivory goods of all descriptions. The crystallised fruits obtainable here were quite perfect. The city is surrounded by green hills and was once termed the Garden of Eden."

THE CEDARS OF LEBANON
The speaker described many of the sights which she saw in Syria, including the mountains of Lebanon, gay with wild irises and broom, with wonderful olive groves and many waterfalls. She saw also the Cedars of Lebanon, made famous in the Bible, of which there are 400 of the original trees remaining, the largest being 40 feet in circumference.

After Damascus the journey was made to the port of Beirut, thence by a small Italian ship to Smyrna, in Turkey, calling at Cyprus and Rhodes Island. The next port of call after Smyrna was Athens, the magnificent city in Greece which is dominated by the Acropolis. The speaker told of the lovely gardens in this city, of the avenue of thorny acacias whose lovely flowers droop like wisteria and of the magnificent palm avenue, the trunks of the trees festooned with banksia roses and the feet a mass of blue forget-me-nots. She described her tours in Greece and said a difficult problem was presented by the railway stations where all the names were written in Greek.

Miss Smith gave her listeners a hearty laugh when she described a flea hunt in one of the hotels. There was no electricity and the blankets on the bed were grey so it was no easy feat to keep the light of a torch on an offender long enough to catch it.

The speaker then told of her visit to Olympia on the plain of Peloponnesus, and the original scene of the Olympic games. Here stood the great arena when the chariot races had been held and one could see the old stone sills where the athletes started. Everywhere about the countryside were mile upon mile of wild flowers in every conceivable colour. She visited also the island of Corfu, famous for its olive groves, some of the trees being 800 years old, and then continued by boat up the Dalmatian coast to Italy and thence to France and England.

Miss Smith did not speak about the three cold countries as they were frequently described but spoke a little about Norway, one of her favourite countries.

WILD FLOWERS BY THE MILE
"Norway is a land of wonderful cleanliness," said Miss Smith. "Not only do the people scrub their floors but also the walls and ceilings of their rooms. The scenery everywhere is marvellous and I have seen as many as 300 major waterfalls in one day. Wild flowers may be seen by the mile and grow all over the fields from which the hay has been cut. The hay is hung on fences to dry and looks most attractive."

"One of the most interesting places I visited in Norway was Tromso, which is within the Arctic circle and the sun never set while I was there. Beautiful photos may be taken at 12 and 1 o'clock in the morning and the very clear air makes sleep less necessary in any case there is too much to see to have time to sleep much."

The speaker told about a wonderful nursery garden which she visited where every conceivable flower was grown and in the hothouse of average size, five tons of tomatoes were grown in a season.

Before concluding a trip to Spitzbergen in a 500-ton steamer was described by Miss Smith. The journey took two and a half days and everywhere were icebergs. Each fiord had a glacier and all the small islands not covered by snow or ice were brilliant with yellow, white or magenta wild flowers. Everywhere the crystallised ducks and their nests so close together that one had to watch carefully where one trod, and seals were also seen frequently. The little hotel where Miss Smith stayed was cosy and warm as coal is easily obtainable. It is so near to the surface that it is not even necessary to mine it.

THOSE ANNOYING STAINS
GUARD THE GLORIES OF YOUR FABRICS AND FURNITURE

One of the biggest troubles encountered by the housewife during the daily round is the annoying stain which so often seems to be found in fabrics or on furniture. They have to be removed irrespective of their cause, and different methods have to be employed to obliterate the disfiguring patches. It will be found that dry flour often proves very useful in removing grease and oil marks from carpets. It is first rubbed well into the fabric and allowed to remain for some hours before brushing off. A thick layer of salt is useful in the case of ink-stains. This is allowed to remain for a few minutes to absorb the liquid, and then brushed off. More salt may be required before all the ink has been absorbed. The remainder can be rubbed with lemon juice, wiping clean with water. If the lemon cannot be applied at once, the layer of salt should be kept moist until it is available.

Most of the usual stains and discolorations, however, will respond to a lather of yellow soap applied with a cloth, although care must be taken not to be too lavish with the water. After washing, the affected parts are rinsed with a weak solution of ammonia and water.

FOR LEATHER AND MARBLE
Warm water and vinegar, applied with a clean sponge, will remove most stains from leather upholstery. The gloss can be restored by rubbing with a cloth dipped in a mixture of turpentine with the white of an egg. Petrol also proves effective. Stains on chintz curtains and coverings usually come from ordinary wear and tear. They are due to a collection of foreign matter, dust, etc., which can be removed without washing by first shaking and brushing the material, then rubbing with a clean, damp flannel, after which the fabric should be rubbed with dry breadcrumbs. The finishing is done with a clean, stiff brush.

BRUSH AND BEAT
Tapestry hangings sometimes present a little difficulty, although they can be cleaned by brushing and beating thoroughly to remove all dust. Next prepare a strong lather of castile soap and apply the lather—not the liquid—with a stiff brush, working into the texture. Rub the whole surface with a clean cloth soaked in cold water, repeatedly changing the liquid, and finish with clean water, to which some alum has been added. This brightens up all the colours.

WASH AND DRY GLOVES WITH CARE

Warm Water And Pure Soap Best

Chamois or doeskin or other washable leather gloves will harden or crack or shrink unless care is used in washing and drying them. Follow any directions which come with the gloves. A good general rule is to use pure soap, and plenty of it in warm water; a few drops of olive oil may be put into the rinse water, which should also be warm, not hot. The wearer should slip the glove on the hand as soon as it is washed and rinsed, to shape it; do not pull, squeeze hard or in other ways yank the glove out of shape. Dry at normal room temperature, not on the heater, radiator, even a hot pipe; artificial heat dries the leather and cracks or shrinks it. Rub the gloves when dry between the hands. A glove stretcher helps keep the gloves in shape.

ACQUIRE POISE AND CHARM
Such Characteristics May Be Attained by Those Who Make an Effort

Many women envy the grace and charm of mannequins and actresses, forgetting that sometimes many weary years have been spent in acquiring poise and an elegant carriage. Whilst it is hard for the average girl to do this, it is within her power to do much to correct many of her figure faults.

There is, for instance, a right and a wrong way to enter and leave a room. The same applies to sitting. Compare the girl who sits naturally and allows her legs to swing easily and gracefully to the one who sits hunched up with her legs twisted around those of the chair.

Even though it may be a sign of double joints, and you may be proud of the achievement, you have to remember that it certainly does not look nice when you are sitting in this manner, and even the most beautiful of legs will appear as if they are flattened and distorted.

But first, before worrying about the way you sit, you must learn to walk gracefully. When walking, the entire foot and ankle should be employed, and the best way to achieve this movement is by skipping exercises. Usually the cause of lack of poise and tiredness in walking and standing is caused by relaxed muscles in the soles of the feet, and this can be remedied by skipping or stationary running, taking care that the weight of the body is placed on the soles of the feet.

Not only will this help you to gain poise, but at the same time it is an excellent exercise for the prevention of flat feet.

WALK WITH GRACE.
When you are walking, cultivate a light, springy step, keeping the movement in the ankle. Carry the feet forward as though you were placing them on a definite object and swing the feet outward at an angle of 45 degrees.

Walk with the head up and the shoulders back, allowing the legs to swing freely from the hips. Remember, too, to keep the arms in a graceful position.

When entering a room, be sure that you do it correctly. If the door opens inwards, with the handle on the left, take the door knob in the right hand as you open the door, and then push it wide open with the arm extended. Then as you enter

British Legion Dance
AT HASTINGS
Delightful Monte Carlo Incident
YOUNG GIRLS WIN

A crowded hall greeted the organisers of the weekly old-time dance and social held last Saturday at the United Hall, Lyndon Road, held by the Hastings and District branch of the British Legion.

Legionaire J. P. Foddy acted as M.C. and McKay's orchestra supplied their usual excellent music. Mrs J. McKay and Mr A. Britten played the extras.

Miss Ivena Pothan gave a clever exhibition of tap-dancing. By special request, Miss Sadie Dean entertained with whistling and vocal numbers and deserved the great applause she received.

Two Monte Carlos were competed for, and prize-winners were: Monte Carlo No. 1, Miss H. Eyles and Mr J. Boswell; Monte Carlo No. 2, Misses June Pothan and Joy Thear. Clearly, one prize—a box of cigarettes—was unsuitable for one little maid, but the problem was quickly solved by Miss H. Eyles (winner of the previous contest), who handed over her prize. This graceful gesture delighted all present.

A dainty supper was prepared and served by the ladies' committee. Winners of the luck number competition were Miss D. Beaumont 1, Mrs J. McKee 2.

Your stove will only need black-leading once a month if cleaned in this way: Mix your blacklead with a little vinegar, then clean in the usual way, and polish. Take a small rag and rubs over with turpentine and polish again with a velvet pad. Polish with turpentine once or twice a week. This will keep your stove with a lovely polish.

ments as if you were a person of consequence, and in time people will think of you as such. Confidence is all that is needed. Walk along as if you owned the world and were afraid of no one, and in time you will discover that you have automatically acquired a poise and manner which is genuine and unstilted. The above exercises are quite simple, and, although you may not develop into a mannequin, you can at least improve your own carriage.

BEAUTY BAR OPENED IN PARIS
Busy Women May Renew Their Make-up

Paris has opened its first "Beauty Bar." A beauty bar is a kind of running repairs station in town, where the busy woman with a day full of engagements can get a complete new facial make-up to take her on her way rejoicing.

The bar consists of a series of individual dressing tables, lighted and equipped in the modern style, with bar-girls in attendance at the back and high barstools in front. Each dressing-table is furnished with a slide-both-ways drawer that is kept supplied with all you ever dreamed of for cleaning off the old make-up and putting on the new.

If you happen to be a client of the shop and are in the habit of buying your beauty products there, you can use the bar for nothing. If you are not a regular client, a charge of 10 francs—about 1/2—which includes creams, powders, etc., is made. Plenty of good advice is thrown in for nothing by the expert bar-girls.

Everything is most hygienic. You are given just the right amount of lotion, cream, and powder to serve you for your make-up, and between each client the miniature pots are changed and cleansed. Lip-sticks are meticulously sterilised. Further, if your appointment happens to be an evening one and there is no time to go home and dress, you can bring your evening things in a valise and change behind the scenes.

The decoration of this woman's home-from-home on the Rue Royale is as charming and feminine as its function demands, with its pale pink walls, pink and white striped chintz curtains, pink and white leather furniture. And there is a black lacquer and looking-glass screen round the door to protect clients from the curious glances of "Peeping Toms" on the side-walk.

Watercress cooked and made into a puree in the same way as spinach makes a delicious second dish.

If you will take unslaked lime in powdered form and with the aid of an apparatus like a bellows blow it on to the walls and in the crevices of your cellar, being sure to have walls damp, you will kill all mould organisms. Walls should be washed down the following day. This need not be done more often than every two years.

Party Politics In New Zealand

Sir,—According to reports the National Party claims to have 100,000 members. To this I say, "Well done." The Labour Party, I believe, claims to have 216,000 members. Again I say, "Well done." I have been asked by both parties to join, but what am I to do? I like thousands of others, am uncertain what to do. How could I become a member of a business without knowing the principles and manner of business, or become a member of a friendly society before I had studied its principles and creed and the benefits that might accrue; or become a member of a church without studying the fundamentals of its faith and make sure they agree with my outlook?

So, Sir, I think the same applies to political parties. How can I become a member of a political party until I know its future policy, for so far no policy has been put forward. Of course, we know that there has been a lot of "back chat" and that it is claimed that the Labour Party is out to grab everything and that the National Party, if returned to power, will cut wages and do away with all sorts of things, but all these statements have been denied by the leaders of the respective parties.

There is also a statement of the Prime Minister's worth mentioning. "I say definitely that such prosperity will be held only so long as the present Government is in power to maintain it and no longer"—a statement, Sir, which will have to be proved in the policy of the Labour Party.

So again, how can I become a member of a party and make the necessary promise only to find that the policy is not according to my ideals. How can a person, having joined a party and promised support, turn against it? There is an old saying, "A promise is like pie-crust. It is easily broken." Most of us, I think, would not make a promise if there was a likelihood of it being broken, so I think, and I am sure hundreds of others think likewise, that the best plan is to remain non-party until a policy is put before the people, and when it is to study it well and come to a decision. This decision will need thinking over, for it is with undisguised fear that I look to the future.

Having experienced four years of real hardship during the depression years, when I could hardly afford to buy food and rarely clothing for my wife and youngsters, has set me wondering. (Now I am back in my job). What of the future?

Without a knowledge of the past there is no vision of the future, and to have to go through that terrible ordeal again, well—

So, when I have made a decision I will join a party by voting for the candidate who is going to give the best deal, an assurance of prosperity, of security and happiness, and not a return of those bad days.—I am, etc.,
NON-PARTY.

Hastings Borough Affairs

Sir,—Hastings" expresses his indignation that men should travel to Napier to work, and rightly so. The Government offers a generous subsidy to local bodies, but evidently the Mayor of Hastings wants a bonus as well. Why should these men be compelled to pay out 7/- a week? This money would be better spent with the trades people.

I will agree with "Nemesis" anent Mr. J. A. Miller's figures in connection with borough loans and finances, and numbers of interested ratepayers are asking "why?"—I am, etc.,
"WHAFFOR?"

The Rugby Test Broadcast

Sir,—I cannot congratulate Australia on Saturday's broadcast. I know that Australia is racing mad, but, surely on such an important event some other arrangement could have been made, instead of cutting in on top of the Test game to give racing results.—I am, etc.,
N.Z.

The Economic Side Of Social Security

As the social security scheme, proposed by the Government appears to have received a fair amount of criticism, I trust that I may be permitted to add to the discussion without being accused of attempting to throw a spanner into the machinery that has been so carefully placed in position for the smooth running of the scheme.

The proposal itself seems to be a laudable one, seeing that it aims at aged and infirm, who have been impoverished in many cases, by the unselfish sacrifices they have made during the developmental stages of this great country, and as a firm believer in giving practical recognition to those who render outstanding service to the community while they are in our midst, I feel certain, that, outside Party or Political differences, such a measure will receive the support of all members of the House.

THRILLS!

Nearly everyone is looking for new THRILLS, new JOYS, new SENSATIONS. If you want the greatest thrill of all, before it is too late, you want a new love that struts you to the depths of your soul—just open your heart to receive Jesus Christ, the Saviour, who died for you. Turn from the sin that cost Him so dearly, and say from your heart, "Just as I am, without one plea, But that Thy blood was shed for me, And that Thou bid'st me come to Thee O Lamb of God, I come, I come. And that Thou bid'st me to-day and throughout eternity. For Christ NOW and you will rejoice to-day and throughout eternity.

O happy day that fixed my choice, My Saviour, my God, Well may this glowing heart rejoice, And tell its raptures all abroad.

were honest triers. Moreover, it cannot be said that the Red Hand of Moscow, or any socialist tiger had crept in upon them and confiscated their earnings, while, I am informed that they had the assistance and protection of all the trading banks throughout the Dominion. I expect I shall have to look for an answer to my query from those institutions.

Allegations of Monopoly

Sir,—During the recent elections we were supplied with some enlightening figures concerning the purchases of the Hastings Library Committee. I have been waiting for some one to ask why one stationer appears to have the monopoly? There is no need to quote the figures again. No doubt everyone remembers the marked difference. I am also very anxious to know why the Mayor gives authority to appoint one architect to do all the Borough work. Should not the other ratepaying architects share in this side of the Borough business? Does the Mayor suggest that we have only one competent architect in Hastings?

I suppose so-called professional etiquette will not allow other architects to protest against such a state of affairs but perhaps some of the ratepayers are interested enough to demand an explanation.—I am, etc.,
A.B.C.

The points raised by the correspondent were referred to the Town Clerk of Hastings (Mr N. C. Harding) who said that there was no monopoly over the sale of books to the council for the public library. The actual figures showing the number of books purchased, and the stationers from which they were purchased, had been published in the "Daily Mail". The council had purchased a larger number of books from one than from the others, but this was because the retailer concerned had a wider selection of books in stock.

The borough council did not have a special architect, Mr Harding said, and the council carried out so little construction work that the question of a monopoly did not arise. In the case of the design for the town clock tower, a competition was arranged for which entries were received from all parts of New Zealand. Apart from the library alterations, this had been the only major job undertaken by the council for many years.—Ed.

LAST LARGE MAIL VIA PACIFIC

Niagara's Equipment Dismantled

By Telegraph—Press Association. AUCKLAND, July 25. Terminating the sorting of mails on Pacific liners, the Post and Telegraph Department to-day brought ashore its agent and assistant on the Niagara, and dismantled the sorting cases and mail-bag hoppers.

In future the greater proportion of New Zealand mail will be diverted to the new Empire air service via Australia.

The Niagara's New Zealand mail was for the vessel. It totalled 3669 bags, over 500 bags more than brought in the Christmas rush.

There were also 1138 bags for Australia.

MOTOR VEHICLES IN DOMINION
MORE THAN 12 PER CENT. INCREASE

NATIONAL TOTALS
Details of Annual Relicensing

The Motor Registration Branch of the General Post Office has completed its national compilation of the results of the licensing of motor vehicles for the months of May and June, and reports that the total number of licensed vehicles as at 30th June was 234,775, representing an increase over the corresponding date last year of 25,281, or 12.07 per cent.

These figures may be regarded as the basic figures of motor use, because a certain proportion of the vehicles on the register are not immediately relicensed when the period runs out. There were 282,000 vehicles on the register at the end of May before the current licenses became operative, and new registrations during June totalled 3974.

The difference between the 1937-38 licenses plus those issued during June, viz., 51,199 vehicles, represents the number of vehicles that were not licensed at the end of last month, but most of these will be relicensed during the year.

The various types of vehicles licensed at the 30th June, and the variation in their numbers compared with the corresponding date of last year, were as follows:

Dominion Forecast

The general situation shows that an extensive and complex depression is situated in the northern Tasman. Pressure has risen considerably, however, over the southern portion of the Dominion, an anticyclone now being located to the east of the South Island.

Forecast.—Winds: Between north-east and south-east prevailing, force mainly moderate at first but freshening, especially over the North Island and gradually tending more northerly.

Seas. (N.Z. waters): Rather rough to rough on the East Coast and north of Farewell Spit, elsewhere slight to moderate. Eastern Tasman: Moderate to strong north-easterly winds and rough seas.

Cloud: Increasing over the North Island and rain gradually becoming more widespread.

PERSECUTION OF JEWS

"STORIES ARE NOT EXAGGERATED"

EXILES ARRIVE
Statement Of German At Auckland

By Telegraph—Press Association. AUCKLAND, July 25. "The stories you have heard about the persecution of Jews in Germany, particularly in the cities, are not exaggerated. Those of us who have travelled across the world to New Zealand look forward to the kindness and freedom of your democratic and beautiful country."

This statement was made by Dr. E. G. Jacoby, a distinguished German legal authority who, accompanied by his wife, was one of a contingent of 49 German and Austrian Jews who arrived by the Niagara this morning. Seventeen of the party disembarked at Auckland; others are travelling to Australia.

Dr. Jacoby, who is half-Jewish, is married to a German girl, who despite the fact that she satisfies all the Aryan requirements of Hitler's Germany, must suffer exile with her husband.

FLOODS IN CHINA.—These pictures give a vivid impression of the recent floods which swept the International Settlement in Shanghai.

NEW HASTINGS CENTRAL SCHOOL.—The construction of the new building for the Hastings Central School is now well advanced. The new block will comprise six classrooms, the administration department, library and teachers' rooms.

ALL THE WAY FROM AUCKLAND.—This contemplative group of donkeys subjected the "Daily Mail" cameraman to a steady scrutiny. They recently arrived at Hastings from Auckland and will be sold in the district.

BANNED BY HITLER.—For obscure reasons this bust of Prince Edward of Kent was included in the collection of work by German artists and sculptors recently condemned by Herr Hitler as "degenerate."

GISBORNE WEDDING.—The wedding of Miss Amy Phillip, of Gisborne, and Mr. G. W. Taylor, of Auckland, was celebrated at St. Andrew's Church, Gisborne, last week.

ALL-IN DEFENCE PRECAUTIONS

By the end of the present summer at Home, the British Government plans to provide a gas-mask for each of the 45,000,000 men, women, and children who inhabit the British Isles. According to a report recently published in the "Daily Mail", 35,000,000 of these masks are now ready for use, carefully stored in order to be readily available, and chemically treated to prevent deterioration.

It may be useful to set down the whole array of the facts relating to the ghastly business of civilian preparation (under military guidance) for the potential horrors of warfare on the modern scale.

London's five-mile-high wall of steel for the destruction of enemy aircraft has been tried out and has been found to be effective.

The balloon barrier has likewise been tested out and found satisfactory. These balloons rise to 25,000 feet and trail vicious steel cables for the entanglement of hostile aeroplanes.

A new anti-aircraft gun has taken the place of the old "Archie," and has been found to do its fell work admirably at a height of 35,000 feet. "There are hundreds of them in London," said the recent report.

Trenches and dug-outs have been constructed in public gardens, in open spaces, and in private reserves, including the allotments and plots of private people. There are 32,000,000 sandbags in use and a further 275,000,000 on order.

Governmental plans are complete for the removal of important offices to safe places.

Railways are ready to evacuate civilians.

And so the story goes on. There is more to it, but though enough has been said to prove that "war-mindedness" and all-in defence measures are very real things on the other side of the world, and that from this side the minds of British people should be directed to a serious and solemn study of the whole subject.

What is one to make of such news? Is it disquieting because of the implied assumption that another and yet more terrible war is imminent, or is it comforting because adequate defence measures are being undertaken that will stand as a shield between the civilian population and the unseparable terrors of which modern engines of war are capable?

The broad view is needed here: the power to look at both sides of the question.

The truth that ought to be thrust to the forefront of the mind in the face of such facts as have just been quoted is that all these things, grim and terrible as they may seem at first glance, are items in the British programme which is designed above all else to prevent war. They are all preventive and not provocative measures.

The facts enumerated should also be considered in relation to the British defence programme as a whole, which by no means stops at the provision of gas-masks, anti-aircraft devices, trenches, and dug-outs.

Learning the bitter lesson from her experience of a too generous gesture when she led the way for the world along the path of disarmament, Great Britain has realised the facts of the situation and has put all her energies to the task of persuading other peoples by practical means that war will not pay.

It will not pay because it will not succeed. It will not be war. It will be a holocaust of mutual destruction.

Britain's role is that of a defender of the world's peace. Leave history alone, and that is the truth as it stands at the moment.

All the gruesome details that have been recounted, plus the details belonging to the British Army, Navy, and Air Force as fighting machines, are defensive measures and nothing else.

The whole idea of war is opposed in Britain. Recent events have piled themselves up to show that the desire is to strengthen friendships and to lessen enemies. While other Powers have waxed and waned and waxed again, Great Britain has gone doggedly and steadily along the path of consistent purpose, animated by the motive that to prevent war a nation must prepare for peace by taking precautions to preserve it.

NEW ADVENTURES IN A SYRIAN INN

QUESTIONS OF BATH AND FOOD ARE VITAL PROBLEMS FOR TRAVELLERS IN THE EAST

We came upon the village suddenly. It was at the end of a track which had wandered through firs and olives for too many miles—a tiny red-roofed village with square-towered church. It clung to a little ledge in the hills, on the lower slopes of the long snow-capped ridge of the mountains of Lebanon, whence Hiram, King of Tyre, sent cedarwood to Solomon for the building of his temple in Jerusalem.

A short street, a couple of dozen houses, and that was all there was to it. One side fell sharply away, so that you looked across the red tiled downward sloping roofs and the terraces of vines and villages, to where Beirut, spread like an amphitheatre on the low hills of a cape, stood out into the vivid blue of the Mediterranean. The whole long coastline lay before us, from Tripoli in the north to Tyre and Sidon in the south, dim shadows of former greatness.

We were walking through the Lebanon, in the footsteps of those milleniums of races and conquerors who had marched across this country, from Alexander to Morton. Our bed that night should have been in Beirut, but the sun was already sinking behind the sea, sending a last clear blush over the snows above us. So we would stay in whatever inn this little hamlet could offer to weary travellers.

There was only one, a low rambling building set against the rock, shaded by fig and olive, its dust and dirt now mercifully cloaked by the fast covering dusk. Mine host, short, dark and Syrian, a veteran of a man, welcomed us with wealth of word and gesture. Most of it was unintelligible, a mixture of Arabic, French and an odd queer word of English. It poured over us, but we tried our mixture against his, our gestures too, but it was as a pebble struggling with the river. Firmly we reduced both ourselves and him to the single medium of French.

HE LIKED THE ENGLISH

We wanted a meal, to be preceded by a bath if possible, a hot bath, not a tub of icy melted snow. And for the night a bed. About that we had no hesitation, only praying that our fears be not realised. But of course, a dinner should be ready at once, an English dinner. He liked the English. Oh, why had not the English got the mandate for Syria? It should be an honour for him to receive us as guests. The house and all that he had was ours.

The bath? He had a very fine bath. Not a better bath would we find even in Beirut. And hot water? Certainly, the very hot water. But first he would show us our bedroom. It was not so bad as we had expected. The room at least was large, though the furniture was as modest as Monsieur Ahmad's language. An enormous iron double bed, ornate with brass that gleamed through the folds of a yellow, useless mosquito net, an ancient patterned armchair and pink painted chest of drawers and wash-stand. The bed looked all right, but you never can tell with beds, especially in those climates designed for the rapid procreation of the more vicious forms of insect life.

How much would Monsieur Ahmad be asking for the use of his hot hot baths, supper, the room and breakfast in the morning? Out from a bulging pocket of his jacket came a crumpled piece of paper, then from another rich storehouse a stumpy pencil. Elaborate calculations followed, to an accompaniment of muttered Arabic, and the pushing of his red tabouss hair back across his stubby grey hair.

There was no objection, with pride for the magnificent cheapness he had achieved, and satisfaction over his accurate gauging of our financial capacity.

Two hundred and thirty-five piastres each, for service 10 per cent, and the bath, they would be 25 piastres extra. Syrian piastres? Of course. We turned the piastres into Palestinian piastres, which were about five times the value of the Syrian piastre, and thence to English money. A roundabout method, but we had learnt that the shortest way is not always the most accurate. That would, therefore, be about 10/- each, plus 1/- for the bath. We started our negotiations while these mental evolutions were going on, he with the light of an approaching battle in his eyes, and we with determination that whatever the result it would be too expensive. It was, and he began, in Arabic, English, French, and we even suspected Turkish, the argument went, like twisting the tuning knob of a wireless set rapidly from station to station. We were beaten. We knew we should be, but the effort had to be made for the sake of our English rest-ige.

Monsieur Ahmad retired to the hindmost regions of the house to hasten on the preparations for the bath and the supper. For a few minutes there was a din of scuffling, shouts and screams, as he stirred the staff to action. Then peace came down again.

We unpacked our kit, gingerly tested the bed, awoke the ancient cat to irritable protest, opened the window, which then refused to stay other than wide open, and watched Beirut close itself in lights.

Down there they were still sweltering in the heat of a Syrian summer, as we had sweated all day, but up here in the hills the breeze was cool, warming of the chill night to come. We waited vainly to be told that our baths were ready, until Nature sent us out to explore the inn.

There was only a short corridor upstairs, but the doors were incredibly numerous, and none was marked. We tried to work out by deduction which was likely to be the one essential door we must know, if our discomfort was ever to end. We had no success in descending, so we tried each in turn, tentatively, ready for apology and instant flight. Some were locked, or had grown solid with age, the rest were empty bedrooms. Nothing else.

There was a faint sound from below. Downstairs we found the dining room empty and unprepared. It seemed to have been used as a nursery for young, both human and animal, for a long, long time. We could almost distinguish by smell alone the species and their generation. The lounge was dark, musty and unused. It was packed to capacity with cheap, elaborate, overdecorated furniture, with mirrors, which is produced in vast quantities to satisfy the Syrians' craving for western comforts.

Going on with our search, which had now the thrills of exploration, we reached the kitchen at the back of the house. This was all shapes and sizes, being partly built and partly natural cave, the inn having been hewn against the face of the mountain. It was some time before we could see in this dark cavern, and when we did there was still no sign of human life.

LIKE A "JUNK SHOP"

A fireplace, a kind of brick stove, was buried in one low corner, black with the smoke of years, and on it four petrol tins filled with water were heating. There, at least, was the heat we needed. Next to this primitive range, looking very modern and superior, and completely out of place, was a new oil stove, gleaming with black and blue enamel. Of our supper, not a sign. We regretted ever having seen this kitchen.

Where food is concerned, what the eye doesn't see. . . . It was like an old junk shop, there were jars and boxes, and a large iron bedstead. Most of the utensils showed obvious kinship with the ubiquitous petrol tin. Old brass coffee pots which made our mouths water, jostled ancient fruit tins, whose jagged edges were a menace to any searcher.

There was still no sign of anyone. We were getting bolder in our investigations when a thin, walling cry from a dark shelf in the rock made us jump for the door and think of murder, brigands and lonely strangers in a foreign land. Plucking up courage, we beat down, and found a minute infant lying in a pile of rags. This seemed to be its normal sleeping place, and we had wakened it by our talking. The sight of us, our white faces peering through the gloom, sent it off into shrieks of fright.

Nothing would stop its yells. We lifted it out and tried to coax it into silence, but it wriggled and twisted in our arms, and we could never see of it, to receive our frantic hushes, was a very tiny, very unwashed bottom.

But the yells brought the whole family back into the kitchen, like an avalanche. In the ensuing confusion, augmented by a countless swarm of children all screaming at the tops of their voices, we escaped into Monsieur Ahmad and appealed to him for directions.

He bubbled with apologies. They had but gone a few moments to buy our supper, and never did dream we should need. . . . We had not been far from it. It was an extension of the kitchen cave, a sort of anteroom to it, and beyond that again was the bathroom. Yet another cave. The bathing and sanitary arrangements were certainly ingenious, if distinctly chilly and draughty, and completely public. There were curtains in front of the caves, but they were very sketchy, and drew attention to their purpose rather than hid what was behinter there.

In the rocks behind the inn there was a small spring. This was trapped, and led first into the bathroom. The bath itself was cut out of the rock at the back of the cave, and was rather like an oblong shallow trough. There was neither room for you to stand upright or to sit down. The water trickled in at the kitchen, faded before a rich feeling of satisfied repletion.—J. E. V. TYZACK.

It was the most exciting bath we have ever had, and so engrossed were we in its technical difficulties that it wasn't until we were drying ourselves that we realised that the children had formed a delighted and appreciative audience. After running through the bath the water passed on next door. It was real water-born sanitation. Where it went after that we never discovered, but we prayed it was carried off into the sea.

The kitchen was now a hive of industry. Everyone was helping, or hindering, and it seemed impossible that food could ever produce itself out of this middle. The gleam of the oil stove lightened the darkness, but only to reveal the smoky oily haze which hung thick everywhere. We fled to our room to change, and thought wistfully of the fresh air of Beirut. Supper was not a mouth-watering anticipation.

After changing we sat outside. It was narrow road and from the other

GOVERNMENT'S POLICY IS STRONGLY OPPOSED

Increased Taxation Criticised By Mr A. E. Jull In An Address At Clive

"The election this year will be the most simple issue that has ever been put to the people of the Dominion," said Mr A. E. Jull, National Party candidate for the Waipawa electorate, at Clive last night.

The National Party had fixed principles that opposed the socialisation of the present Government's policy. What was more, the National Party held the belief that the freedom of private enterprise and the initiative that it built up over many years was worthy of being preserved, he said.

There was a good attendance, and Mr Jull was given an attentive hearing, though interjections were heard occasionally. The object of his address was to stimulate interest in the organisation of the branch, said Mr Jull.

Criticising the guaranteed price project, Mr Jull said that the Government had thrown aside the principle of building up a reserve against a deficit. In fact, the dairy farmers were being bribed under present conditions.

Referring to the question of salaries Mr Jull said that though the Hon. R. Semple had made a statement shortly before the last elections to the effect that no man was entitled to more than £500 a year, the Government was now paying "Uncle Scrim" and the Director of Broadcasting (Professor Shelly) £2000 a year.

Continuing, Mr Jull contended that New Zealand was the dearest country in the world in the operation of waterworks work. Watersiders were giving half the amount of work per hour only compared to what was being given in Australia.

"The producers who are doing the paying for such ridiculous wages should, in my opinion, be allowed the opportunity of expressing their opinions before such an agreement should be made," he continued.

Waterside Work Expense. Mr Jull contended that New Zealand was the dearest country in the world in the operation of waterworks work. Watersiders were giving half the amount of work per hour only compared to what was being given in Australia.

Man Killed At Auckland

ELECTRIC SHOCK Working By High Voltage Equipment

ANOTHER INJURED

By Telegraph—Press Association. AUCKLAND, July 25.

Through coming in contact with high voltage electrical equipment inside a steel transfer kiosk in West End Road, Herry Bay, this morning an employee of the Auckland Electric Power Board was electrocuted instantaneously. Another man suffered slight shock. The victims were:

Killed—Mr Wilfred Nelson Bright, foreman carpenter, married, aged 44, of Ponsonby. He had been an employee of the board since 1922.

Injured—Mr James Hedley Porteous, carpenter, married, aged about 40, of Grey Lynn. He suffered shock. His condition is not serious.

The kiosk is one of several being erected in the Herne Bay district to accommodate electrical switch gear. It was the duty of Mr Bright and Mr Porteous, as carpenters, to erect wooden barriers between the various phases in the switch apparatus, through which 6600 volts were passing at the time of the fatality.

Mr Bright accidentally came in contact with the live equipment and was killed outright. He was thrown back against Mr Porteous, who was working nearby, and who also suffered slight shock. When he recovered sufficiently Mr Porteous, who was the only witness of the accident, telephoned for help.

"A Sea-Serpent Found?"

EAST COAST BEACH

Discovery Proves To Be Only A Whale

SCIENTISTS' VISIT

By Telegraph—Press Association. WELLINGTON, July 25.

Hearing that a sea-serpent had been washed ashore at Flat Point, on the East Coast, Dominion Museum scientists made a hurried expedition at the weekend to inspect it. On arrival, however, they found that it was the carcass of a whale, probably a cachalot, deeply buried in the sand.

The find was reported by a surveyor, who informed the museum officials that some strange marine monster, possibly a fabled sea-serpent, had been stranded near Flat Point. From his description the interest of the scientists was aroused and they lost no time in visiting the scene. The creature was on the beach below Mr C. Cameron's home-stead, about 25 miles south of Castle Point.

Theorists apparently justified. The scientists were able to gain access to the place and at first glance the sea-serpent theory appeared justified, for in one place a hump of blubber protruded from the sand and some 55 feet distant a second section, as of a tapered tail, could be discerned.

Closer investigation, however, revealed the carcass of a great whale buried under the shifting sands of the shore. The whale had evidently been on the beach for some three months, for it was largely decomposed. Little remained of it but bone and blubber, the bones being deeply embedded. The carcass measured 55 feet long.

Later, when the processes of decomposition are completed, and if circumstances permit, it is hoped to recover the skeleton.

Loss Of Auckland Yacht

SAILED TO EUROPE

Wrecked Near Brindisi In Gale

GERMAN LOSES LIFE

By Telegraph—Press Association. AUCKLAND, July 25.

News of the wreck with loss of life of the well-known Auckland auxiliary yacht Vision was brought to Auckland by the Monterey to-day by Mrs H. M. Montague, wife of Commander Montague, now in Hong Kong. Mrs Montague will spend a few months with her people in New Zealand.

Last seen in Auckland where she sailed away four years ago, the Vision was chartered to a German officer when Commander and Mrs Montague reached Greece aboard her.

She was wrecked in a gale about ten months ago on the Italian coast near Brindisi and the German lost his life in an attempt to salvage his wife's jewellery. "After we left Auckland we went to Norfolk Island and then to Brisbane, travelling inside the Barrier Reef, thence to Dutch East Indies and Singapore," said Mrs Montague.

After stopping for some time at Singapore, from which I revisited New Zealand two years ago, we went to Colombo, Aden, Alexandria and Cyprus.

The Rev. H. Davies, M.A., instructor at the Canton Presbyterian Mission, who has spent the last 29 years in the South China city of Canton, is visiting Wanganui. He is staying with the Rev. A. C. McLean, of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

CHINESE DEFENCE OF KIUKIANG HOLDING

Government Departments Being Moved to Inaccessible Gorges of Yangtse

United Press Association—Copyright. (Received July 26, 12.55 a.m.) HANKOW, July 25.

The Chinese headquarters admit that a Japanese bombardment of the west bank of Poyang Lake destroyed shore fortifications and resulted in a "holy sacrifice of all our men," but the Chinese are still holding Lion Hill Fort, the key to the defence of Kiukiang.

All Government departments will by August 1 be moved to Chungking, on the Yangtse's inaccessible gorges in the upper reaches, where, according to a Chinese proverb, all wars end.

A Shanghai message states that Japanese forces are reported to be within a few miles of Kiukiang, which warships are shelling and aeroplanes are bombing in relays. A Tokyo message states that Prince Konoye is expected shortly to announce the reorganisation of Cabinet, taking in a number of Honorary Ministers in order to permit the permanent Ministers to concentrate on the war and to seek readjustment in British-Japanese and Soviet-Japanese relations.

All Black Half All Blacks Are Praised

C. K. SAXTON AUSTRALIAN CRITICS

To Leave Timaru For Invercargill

By Telegraph—Press Association. INVERCARGILL, July 25.

C. K. Saxton, the South Canterbury half-back, who is at present touring Australia with the New Zealand Rugby team, will come to Invercargill to live immediately upon his return to New Zealand.

Saxton is a warehouseman in the employ of Ross and Glendinning Ltd. He will be transferred from the Timaru branch to the Invercargill branch.

Whether Saxton will play for Southland this season is not yet known. He will probably arrive in Invercargill before the Hawke's Bay-Southland game, but he will not be able to play for Southland until he has lived in the district for three weeks.

Lopez Defeats Blomfield

BOUT AT WELLINGTON

Clever Display Pleases Large House

By Telegraph—Press Association. WELLINGTON, July 25.

Modern wrestling at its best was seen at the Wellington Town Hall to-night, when Vincent Lopez, ex-banet, travelling inside the Barrier Reef, thence to Dutch East Indies and Singapore, defeated Lofty Blomfield, New Zealand champion.

Lopez secured a fall with a Boston crab in the third round, and Blomfield evened with a flying tackle and body press in the sixth.

The end came in the seventh round, when, following a series of powerful elbow jolts and butts, Blomfield hurled the Mexican through the ropes and struck him while he was out of the ring, for which he was promptly disqualified by the referee, Mr A. Jenkins.

Difficult Climb Accomplished

MOUNT EIGER SCALED Party Of Germans Defy Authorities

ARDUOUS CONDITIONS

United Press Association—Copyright. (Received July 25, 5.5 p.m.) LONDON, July 24.

Four young Germans climbed the north wall of Mount Eiger, a 13,000-ft. peak in the Bernese Oberland. This is the first time this climb has been made.

Twelve climbers were killed on the north wall three years ago. The successful assault was made in defiance of a ban placed on the attempt by the authorities. The ascent occupied three days.

The final precipice rose for a sheer 3000ft. The men clung to the ridges on the last 120ft. for five hours in a snowstorm.

GENEROUS OFFER OF YACHTSMEN PLEASURE CRAFT AS COAST PATROL

TO HELP NAVY

Work in a National Emergency

A scheme has been inaugurated by a number of Sydney motor yachtsmen whereby owners of pleasure craft will undertake to place their yachts and their services, without reservation, at the disposal of the Navy in the event of a national emergency.

The scheme aims at going further than merely making pleasure craft, many of which are seaworthy and speedy, at the disposal of the Navy. The founders aim at arranging instruction for yacht owners in emergency patrol duties, the instruction to be carried out by ex-naval officers, or, if the organisation gains official recognition, possibly by naval officers loaned for the purpose.

It has been suggested, also, that the volunteer coastal patrol movement should be taken up by yacht owners throughout Australia. Captain M. B. R. Blackwood, R.N. (retired), has been appointed commodore, and he intends to divide the volunteers into flotillas, each with a leader. Spheres of usefulness will be found for craft of all types, and it is not proposed to limit membership to boats affiliated with the various clubs.

A further proposal is that trained Navy League cadets, particularly those who have been trained as signal school help to man the yachts. It is hoped that those who have already joined the patrol will shortly take part in manoeuvres at sea as part of their training.

CHILD SWALLOWS A TOY BICYCLE

SMALL SYDNEY BOY SURVIVES

OTHER "FEATS" Opinions of Doctors Expressed

United Press Association—Copyright. SYDNEY, July 25.

The Sydney "Morning Herald" says: "Out-generated in tactics and outclashed in play, Australia never looked like beating the All Blacks in the first Test."

"The spectators might have been disappointed with the game as a spectacle but could not have failed to appreciate the teamwork and understanding of the New Zealand team, which found the weaknesses of Australia's combination, and exploited them to the full."

The All Blacks, the paper adds, were even more superior than the scores indicated. Every New Zealand player on the field played faultlessly. Saxton, Sullivan, Taylor and McKenzie contributed most of the brightest individual items, but the All Blacks mainly owed their outstanding success to co-operation.

Sid King, writing in the "Daily Telegraph," says: "New Zealand defeated Australia because of their superiority in all departments of the game. Only in courage did the Australians match their opponents. The game suffered as a spectacle through the spilling tactics of the Australians."

"They set out to bottle up the brilliant New Zealand inside backs, who had turned the match against New South Wales into an exhibition."

"They succeeded, but the All Blacks coach, Mr McDonald, had anticipated this and had planned a counter. The attack was centred near the scrum and brought back to the forwards."

ENGLAND COLLAPSES IN SECOND INNINGS

Batsmen Go Cheaply As Bowlers Master The Wicket: All Out For 123

United Press Association—Copyright. (Received July 26, 1.15 a.m.) LONDON, July 25.

England lost four good wickets in the first hour's play in their second innings to-day. It was a remarkable collapse after a steady beginning, the procession comprising the opener, Barnett, Edrich, Hardstaff and Hammond.

The score then stood at four wickets for 73 runs. The fifth wicket, Compton's, went in the next half-hour, leaving the score five for 96.

The weather was cloudy and warm and the light was fair. The overnight shower could have had little effect on the wicket, but in view of the forecasts that it would crumble, attention was focussed on McCormick's first over.

Barnett began rather confidently. Edrich was nervous, but there was no indication at this stage that the wicket was behaving abnormally.

Barnett weakly lifted the last ball of McCormick's third over just out of reach of a fieldsman. In McCormick's fourth over Barnett tried to hook a short ball, and skied a catch to fine-leg.

His display was vastly superior to the first innings. Edrich was lucky. He played a ball in McCormick's same over which rolled to the base of the stumps, but the balls were not dislodged.

Hardstaff was unhappy facing the first over from O'Reilly, while McCormick, keeping up a high standard of accuracy and sometimes making the ball lift, continually worried Edrich. Fleetwood-Smith was called on at 62. O'Reilly took McCormick's end, and the batsmen were completely tied up.

Only three were added in 45 minutes. O'Reilly re-measured his run with great deliberation and clean-bowled Hardstaff, who was hopelessly beaten.

The bowlers now appeared to be getting something from the wicket. Hammond was out next ball, which he tried to turn gently to leg but he was beaten by the spin. Brown at short-leg taking a splendid low right-hand catch.

In the meantime three wickets had fallen in 40 minutes for the addition of only 24 runs. Bowlers on Top. In addition, Edrich was out in Fleetwood-Smith's next over, splendidly stumped off a wrong run, by Barnett, which he tried to run.

Hammond was out next ball, which he tried to turn gently to leg but he was beaten by the spin. Brown at short-leg taking a splendid low right-hand catch. In the meantime three wickets had fallen in 40 minutes for the addition of only 24 runs.

Verity came in 20 minutes before lunch, stayed a couple of overs, then was bowled next ball. Wright was caught at second slip, the ball spinning from his bat. Farnes managed to prevent Fleetwood-Smith's hat trick. It was left to O'Reilly to uproot his middle stump.

Bowles received an uproarious welcome, but was out leg-before-wicket from the first ball. At the lunch adjournment England were all out for 123.

Table with 2 columns: ENGLAND, INNINGS. Rows for First Innings and Second Innings, listing batsmen and scores.

England were all out for 123. Fall of wickets: 1 for 60, 2 for 73, 3 for 73, 4 for 115, 5 for 96, 6 for 116, 7 for 116, 8 for 116, 9 for 123. Bowling: McCormick 11 overs, 4 maidens, 18 runs, 1 wicket; Waite 2, 0, 0, 0; O'Reilly 21, 56, 5; Fleetwood-Smith 16, 4, 34, 4.

Sharp Object Dangerous. If the object lodges high up, it may interfere with breathing. A sharp object may pierce a food tract.

In all cases, doctors say, cotton wool sandwiches should be eaten at once and opening medicines avoided. Several years ago a little girl at Killara died after swallowing a golf tee.

A bone collar stud caused the death of a three-year-old Bexley boy. Hospital records reveal that dolls, forks, watches, combs and toys have all been gulped down.

An Ashfield baby swallowed portion of a doll which lodged in the appendix. An operation was necessary to remove it, and the baby recovered. Last year a boy, who had swallowed a tin soldier, was admitted to the Royal Prince Alfred Hospital. He suffered no ill effects.

It is not always an accident which brings such patients to the hospitals. Sometimes the articles are swallowed to obtain hospital accommodation, sometimes to escape responsibilities, an official stated.

Throughout the world are stocked and sold. At least a thousand cures for colds. A thousand treatments old and new. Of which the best are far and few. Select "the best" by time's tensest. Noting results in throat and chest—Your choice at last, convinced and sure.

Hopes Of Bishop Of Nelson

NATION'S REBIRTH THROUGH REVITALISED CHURCH

ADDRESS TO SYNOD

By Telegraph—Press Association. NELSON, July 25.

In the course of his presidential address to the Diocesan Synod this afternoon, the Rt. Rev. W. G. Hilliard, Bishop of Nelson, said that on May 24 we celebrated the bicentenary of that deep spiritual experience of John Wesley which marked the beginning of the great revival that swept through England 200 years ago and whose results were still to be seen, notably in the existence and achievements of the Methodist Church and in the contributions of the evangelical group to the general life of the Church of England.

"A similar experience in the hearts of churchmen to-day and similar zeal and consecration in proclaiming it, I believe, would bring about a similar uplift and transformation in the world of our time," said the Bishop.

"What better celebrating of the centenary in 1940 could be undertaken than the spiritual rebirth of the nation, brought about by the power and influence of a revitalised Church? It would mean liberate and well-organised planning during the months that intervene, and I think it would be well if a committee were set up to take the matter in hand."

"If during the next 18 months, we can revitalize our own congregations, deepen and enrich their spiritual experience, enlarge their vision, strengthen their faith, teach them again the truths of our religion, lead them to see the fullness of its implications, and train them for the work of winning others, we shall then be able to launch them in 1940 upon the community in which they live as well-trained units in an effective army, and with considerable hope of success."

"We ought to invite our brethren of the other Christian churches to co-operate with us so that as many truths of mind and experience as possible may be appealed to by the presentation of the Christian truth and fellowship with which they will find most readily a point of contact."

"The united character of the effort would impress the community and working together would bind the various bodies in a closer brotherhood."

TRINITY COLLEGE OF MUSIC

Examiners Arrive In New Zealand

By Telegraph—Press Association. AUCKLAND, July 25.

Two examiners for the Trinity College of Music, Dr. C. Edgar Ford and Dr. J. Lyon, arrived at Auckland by the Niagara from Vancouver to-day.

Dr. Ford is to examine candidates in the North Island and Dr. Lyon is to go to the South Island.

New Stamps To Be On Sale As From To-day

Old Three-Halfpennies Have Now Been Withdrawn

Fresh Issue Arrangements To Preserve Collectors' Interests

The postal authorities are putting on sale for the first time to-day several new stamps. The 1d. pictorial stamp, brown in colour, and bearing the figure of a native girl, will be taken to-day from sale, and this morning will be replaced by a stamp bearing the portrait of King George VI.

The new stamp will be similar to the 1d. and 1d. stamps recently introduced, bearing his Majesty's portrait, but the background is brown shade, and will only have one value tablet. This will be on the right side of the stamp, in the same position as on the 1d. and 1d.

The new stamps have been printed in sheets of 240 by Bradbury, Wilkinson and Company, New Malden, Surrey, England.

The Post and Telegraph Department has decided against issuing special first-day covers for the new issue, but it is announced that special cards will be taken to-day when marking envelopes bearing the new stamps, so that collectors will have a chance to secure good specimens. The cancelling will be carried out by hand, and envelopes will be marked lightly.

With the introduction of the new issue, an imprinted 24d. stamp, bearing the word "official" will be brought into use. This will be the first occasion on which an "official" stamp of this value has been used.

Although these stamps are principally for use on New Zealand Government business, it is possible to buy them at some Post Offices, and it is probable that there will be some demand for them by collectors during the day.

A New Soviet Airship IN USE SHORTLY

Soviet Russia's growing dirigible fleet will be augmented shortly by the U.S.S.R. V-11, one and a half times larger than V-6, which was the country's largest airship before it crashed last February against a mountain top, with a loss of thirteen lives, writes a correspondent in the London "Observer."

The new flagships of the Soviet dirigible fleet will have a volume of over 1,000,000 cubic feet. Its two motors will give it a maximum speed of 80 miles an hour.

According to the official announcement, the dirigible will serve to improve communication between the Red capital and the remotest regions of the U.S.S.R.

PORT DISPUTE IS NOW SETTLED

End Of A Controversy DISCUSSION BY NAPIER COUNCIL

Company's Request Acceded To

The Port Ahuriri dispute was ended at last evening's meeting of the Napier Borough Council.

A motion that a recommendation made by the special committee set up to go into the matter, to the effect that the Vacuum Oil Company be granted its request subject to certain restrictions of a territorial nature, was carried.

The Mayor (Mr T. W. Hercock) presided. The discussion was raised when petitions were called for. Two from Port Ahuriri, reading as follows, were presented:

"Petition to his Worship the Mayor and the Councillors of the Borough of Napier.

"We, the undersigned electors, residents and property-holders of Hardinge Road, protest against the proposals of the Harbour Board to extend the Dangerous Goods area further along Hardinge Road, and improve the council to exercise its full powers in the preservation of the open foreshore.

"We recognise that the reorganization of shipping facilities must lead to the utilisation of now vacant lands, and as an element of justice to all concerned, we respectfully request that the whole of these areas be brought under the provisions of the Town Planning Act, 1926, and amendments.

"The petition was signed by about 200 residents of Hardinge Road. The second petition read:

"We, the undersigned electors, residents and property-holders of Port Ahuriri, beseech the council to protect the equitable rights in the stated intentions of the Harbour Board to utilise their now vacant lands as Dangerous Goods and Heavy Industrial areas.

"The petition was signed by about 200 residents of the Port, other than of Hardinge Road.

"Special Committee's Report. The special committee, which comprised the Mayor and Councillors M. S. Spence, J. H. Oldham and J. H. Fieldhouse, reported having met the chairman and secretary of the Napier Harbour Board, who stated that the Vacuum Oil Company were making a central depot in Napier for the whole of the province, this undoubtedly meaning a saving in the price of petrol.

Further, the committee said that it had fully considered the board's request for the extension of the Dangerous Goods area west of the existing sewer tanks and also east of Lot 49.

It was recommended that the request be agreed to insofar as the extension of the Dangerous Goods area west of the existing sewer tanks and also east of Lot 49 (also to high water mark), and up to a line on the northerly extension of the western side of Stafford Street, were concerned, subject, however, to the council's proposed sewer tank extension (Lot 3) being fully extended.

Cr. P. F. Higgins moved and Cr. J. H. Oldham seconded that the recommendation be adopted.

"Powers of Council. Cr. J. H. Fieldhouse said that at the present juncture the question resolved itself round the legal powers of the council to deal with petitions. He suggested that the Town Clerk (Mr F. R. Watters) and a small committee be set up to ascertain the legal powers of the council and to communicate with the Minister of Internal Affairs for his interpretation on the subject that the petitioners had no desire to hold up the industrial expansion but pointed out that they considered their heritage. On Tuesday night a meeting would be held at the Port and an alternative would be suggested to the proposed site.

Suggestions made by the Mayor to a deputation from the Port Progressive Association would also be considered at the meeting, he said. The proposal made to the deputation was that the members should go back and consider the suggestions made by the Mayor.

Amendment Moved. Cr. E. Carrington moved an amendment that the matter be deferred until after the meeting at Port Ahuriri. This amendment was spoken by Cr. Fieldhouse.

Cr. M. S. Spence: Putting in a petition does not mean that discussion on the matter will lapse.

"We must consider what will happen if all companies are after extended property," said Cr. Fieldhouse. "It has been stated that only 33 chains are needed, and, if this is the case, all the distance to Stafford Street is enough for an administration block. It could be put elsewhere, and a fight will be put up against all companies desirous of taking up property on that foreshore."

FOR A BETTER LIBRARY

SUGGESTIONS TO NAPIER COUNCIL MORE EFFICIENCY

Report Referred To Committee

Suggestions which, in her opinion, would assist in the efficient working of the library and add to the comfort and convenience of subscribers, were advanced by the librarian, Mrs M. E. Storkley, in a report received by the Napier Borough Council at last evening's meeting.

Miss Storkley's recommendations were as follows:

That one or two small tables be purchased for the different rooms. That a student subscription rate of 5/- a year should be introduced. That a telephone should be installed.

That the picture screen should be used as an advertising medium. Mrs Storkley said that her experience had indicated that the secret of a permanent and substantial subscription list was a constant supply of new books.

The Napier Library had had during her association with it in the winter of 1936, when, with a special grant of £100, it was able to add upwards of 500 good new reports.

An immediate and excellent response, in the form of new members, had been at once evident. The report was received and the recommendations were referred to the Library Committee.

Big Increase In Membership

The National Party Clive-Mangaterere Branch reported a substantial increase in membership of the branch—about 30 per cent.—went to show that the people were realising that socialism was not a successful form of administration, said the chairman (Mr D. J. Holden) at the annual meeting of the Clive-Mangaterere branch of the New Zealand National Party at Clive last night.

There was a good attendance of members and supporters. The year had been successful from all viewpoints, said Mr Holden. Officers elected were: Chairman, Mr D. J. Holden; secretary and treasurer, Messrs E. M. Nelson; committee, Messrs J. Agnew, R. Dixon, C. Kirkman, A. Meikle, W. McCaw, C. McCarthy, E. M. Nelson, W. Raymond, W. Tucker, D. J. Holden, Priest, W. Heynes, M. Plank, W. Dean, jun., Dillon, O. Nelson, M. Plank, A. Honeyburn, F. von Dadelzen and T. Burns.

Wrestling In Napier

BRIGHT AMATEURS. Professional Match Postponed. INTERESTING BOUTS. The professional wrestling match between Herb Brinson (Hastings) and Oscar Brock (Napier) scheduled for last evening at the Municipal Theatre, Napier, under the auspices of the Hawke's Bay Wrestling Association, was postponed owing to the New Zealand Wrestling Association not allowing the bout.

Two exhibition bouts were wrestled. Brinson and Stewart wrestling a three-round no-decision match and Brock and Hartshorn wrestling a three-round no-decision match.

There was a very good attendance. The amateur bouts were lively and full of interest, reflecting the high standard of amateur wrestling in Hawke's Bay.

The results of the bouts were as follows: Peters (Hastings) 10.0 beat Morris (Napier) 10.1, by two falls to one; McDonald (Hastings) 9.6 beat Wright (Napier) 10.5 by one fall to nil; Patterson (Hastings) 11.0 drew with Murphy (Napier) 11.1, no falls; Lord (Hastings) 10.4 beat Wells (Napier) 10.2, by one fall; Dealey (Hastings) 8.0 beat Hunter (Hastings) 7.10, by one fall; Cooper (Hastings) 10.2 drew with Dunnett (Napier) 10.7, one fall each; Franklyn (Hastings) 8.10 drew with Faulkner (Napier) 9.0, one fall each; Brinson (Hastings) 13.2 drew with Stewart (Hastings) 13.0, no falls; Brock (Napier) 12.8 drew with Hartshorn (Napier), no falls.

POLICE RAID ON HOTEL

Licensee And Four Men Fined. Arising out of a raid carried out at the Crown Hotel, Port Ahuriri, on July 8, by Sergeant W. O'Donnell and Constable J. R. Williamson, the licensee, George Aeriele Graham (Mr W. A. McLeod) and four men, Thomas L. Davis, John Young, C. J. La Bruyne and F. A. McNamara, were charged before Mr J. Miller in the Magistrate's Court, Napier, yesterday.

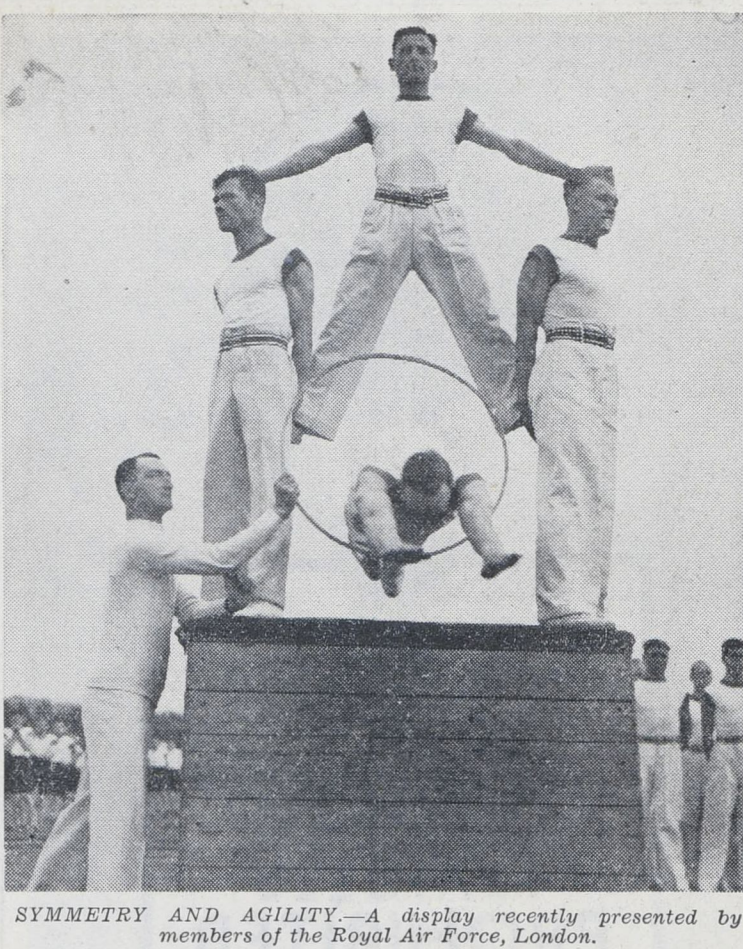

For selling liquor after hours Graham was fined £4 with 10/- costs. A charge of opening his premises for the sale of liquor was withdrawn.

The four men concerned were charged with having been found unlawfully on licensed premises and were each fined £2, with 10/- costs. Charged with being found unlawfully on the premises of the Union Hotel, Port Ahuriri, on June 5, Arthur Gorham was fined £1/10/- with 12/- costs.

A PROFITABLE YEAR

NAPIER BOWLING CLUB ANNUAL REPORT

Good Success In Competitions

A profit of £56 7/4 on the year's working is revealed to members of the Napier Bowling Club in the annual report which is to be presented to members at the annual meeting on Thursday night.

The report records that after writing off £18 4/3 from the Plant Account for depreciation the year's working shows the above profit. It is pleasing to record that the club reached its Jubilee Year, and to mark the event several social evenings were enjoyably spent.

To mark the event, Mr J. P. Williamson, the oldest continuous member, was made a life member, a well deserved honour, as he has served his club faithfully and well for nearly 40 years.

The success of the club in inter-club competition is also mentioned as is also the work of the ladies' croquet team, the efforts of this section in raising £23 by holding afternoon teas being the subject of grateful acknowledgment.

Acknowledgments. "Our very grateful thanks are due to the captain of the Ladies' Croquet Club, Mrs Kilpatrick, and her willing band of helpers, for their valued financial assistance to our ground superintendent and his assistants, Messrs F. K. Pirie, J. H. Corne, R. Fullerton and others, for voluntary labour in preparing and sowing the green for the incoming season; to Mr T. S. Kingston for trophy to winner of junior singles; and to Messrs F. K. Pirie, H. Nuttall, J. H. Corne, J. P. Williamson, Claude Fox, J. Franklin, J. A. Engelbreit, D. J. Oliver, S. L. Beer, and others for cash donations towards purchase of new electric mower," states the report of the president, Mr G. H. Cooke.

"During the season, several of our members left through transfer to other districts; nevertheless, a slight increase has taken place, and our register now shows a total membership of 75. I regret to record the passing of two of our very valued members, Messrs S. M. Galbraith and R. Sands, the relatives of whom our deepest sympathy is extended."

Third grade: H.S.O.B. v. Pirates, Nelson Park, No. 2, 1.30 p.m., Mr T. Neville; Tech. O.B. v. Taradale, Taradale, 2.30 p.m., Mr C. Lennon; Clive School ground, No. 3, 2.45 p.m., Mr E. Single; M.B.O.B. v. Pirates, McLean Park No. 1, 1.30 p.m., Mr R. McGlashan.

Fourth grade: Clive v. Tech. O.B., School ground, No. 2, 2.30 p.m., Mr H. McManamin; H.S.O.B. v. School, School ground, No. 3, 2.45 p.m., Mr E. Single; M.B.O.B. v. Pirates, McLean Park No. 1, 1.30 p.m., Mr R. McGlashan.

Fifth grade: School A v. School B, McLean Park No. 3, 1.45 p.m., Mr A. C. Bird; School D v. School C, McLean Park No. 3, 2.45 p.m., Mr H. Kidson; Intermediate a bye.

HASTINGS MAN DEAD

Mr. Felix Heighway, Of Tomoana Road. The death has occurred at his residence, Tomoana Road, Hastings, of Mr Felix Heighway.

Mr Heighway was born at Madly, Shropshire, England, in 1859, and came to New Zealand with his parents when only five years of age. The journey to New Zealand was made on the British Empire, one of the largest of the immigrant vessels at that time. He was educated at Christchurch.

Throughout his life he was a keen cricket enthusiast and in his early days was a player and later a well-known umpire in the Canterbury province. Eventually he took up farming at Malvern, where he resided until about a year ago when he moved to Hastings.

He leaves a son (Mr S. H. Heighway), a partner in the firm of Land and Heighway, in Hastings, and a daughter (Mrs F. Copeland), Auckland. There is a brother (Mr S. J. Heighway), Hastings, and two sisters (Miss S. Heighway and Mrs T. H. Stewart) both of Wairoa.

The funeral, which is to be a private one, will take place this morning.

Napier Fire Brigade Quickly On The Scene

Large House Saved By Prompt Arrival Of Fire-fighters. Furniture Lost. Silverware Melted By The Heat Of The Flames.

A blaze discovered about 10.15 a.m. yesterday nearly completely destroyed a two-storied dwelling in Napier, the house, which is the property of Mr C. D. Cox and is situated at the corner of Milton Terrace and Lambton Road, being saved by the prompt arrival of the fire brigade.

The fire originated in an incinerator in the wash-house and quickly spread through the wash-house, kitchen and a bedroom, threatening the remaining rooms on the ground floor.

Some furniture was lost in the blaze, while the remaining lower storey rooms and those on the upper floor were damaged by smoke. The heat melted silverware in cupboards in the building.

Marewa Housing Activities

ENGINEER'S REPORT

Work Of Borough Outlined

A report on work being carried out in the Housing Department's block in the Marewa Block was tabled by the engineer, Mr W. J. Corbett, at a meeting of the Napier Borough Council held last evening.

The report stated: "The metalling of Cross Road and No. 2 Road has been completed but the traffic is tearing the roads about considerably."

"Most of the footpaths in No. 1 Road have been formed and with the exception of about two chains, they have been metalled."

"Several chains of River Road have been formed to subgrade level. The sewers, rising main and assembly of pumping equipment in the new station have now been completed and the station is practically ready for use. The department has not made any arrangement about the maintenance or operation of the station, but this is a matter which should be considered at an early date."

"The sewerage contractor is carrying on with laying the sewers in the remainder of the block and is making satisfactory progress."

"All the above work is being carried out under our supervision or by our own staff."

JUDGMENT FOR THE PLAINTIFFS

Civil Cases At Napier. Judgment for plaintiff was given in the following undefended civil cases before Mr J. Miller, S.M., in the Magistrate's Court, Napier, yesterday: D. P. Ronberg v. J. Allen, £1/17/6, costs 9/-; E. Williams v. W. Corlett, £2/5/6 and £1/6/6 costs.

On a judgment summons, E. Astwood was ordered to pay M. A. Powell £8/17/- forthwith in default 10 days' bail.

MORE SERIOUS CHARGE?

ALLEGED ALTERATION OF CERTIFICATE

CASE AT NAPIER Comment Made By Magistrate

The opinion that a charge of a more serious nature should be preferred against the defendant was expressed by the Magistrate (Mr J. Miller, S.M.), when inflicting fines on Robert Lowrie Clarke at Napier yesterday.

The defendant was charged with failing to produce a warrant of fitness and also with parking his car in such a position that the left side of the vehicle was not as near as practicable to the edge of the roadway.

It was alleged that Clarke had produced a warrant of fitness on which the date of issue had been altered. The Magistrate said that this might lead to the car being used on the roads while it was unfit.

Senior-Sergeant W. Pender said that the car had been parked outside the Criterion Hotel and was more than the requisite distance from the kerb. Clarke had told the constable who had approached him that he knew the law. Asked for a warrant of fitness, he had said that he would produce his to the Hutt police.

Question of Date. When this was done it was found that figures in the warrant had been altered to make the warrant read as a current one. The defendant later stated that he had done this with another person whom he named. The latter had subsequently denied this.

Mr Miller: This man could be charged with forgery and I am asked to deal only with a minor offence. Senior-Sergeant Pender: The maximum penalty for a breach of the Motor Traffic Regulations is £50.

Fining the defendant £3 with 10/- costs on the charge of having no warrant, Mr Miller said that in his opinion some further action should be taken, as the life of other persons might be endangered if the car was not fit to be on the road.

On the charge of parking, the defendant was fined 10/- with 10/- costs.

Lengthy List Of Cases

TRAFFIC BREACHES

Napier Court Sitting

A fairly lengthy list of cases arising out of breaches of the traffic regulations was heard before Mr J. Miller, S.M., in the Napier Magistrate's Court, yesterday. Senior-Sergeant W. Pender was the prosecutor.

Two charges were preferred against L. T. Forward (Mr H. B. Lusk), one of failing to give way to traffic on his right and one of failing to have a driver's licence. Mr Lusk said that the charge, which arose out of an accident to a cyclist, was admitted and said that it was difficult to see cyclists at night.

His client had driven very slowly. Defendant was fined £2 and 10/- costs on the first charge and 10/- with costs on the second.

Four charges were preferred against John Hasketh; failing to carry a warrant of fitness; having his car in mechanical condition as to be liable to cause annoyance; failing to produce a driver's licence; driving a car without the required lights.

Senior-Sergeant Pender said that defendant had been stopped by Constable J. Ancell in Emerson Street and had told the officer that he had not bothered about a warrant of fitness for the car, which had only one headlight, and was noisy as it had no silencer.

Defendant was fined £2 and 10/- costs on the first charge, £1 and 10/- costs on the second and 10/- with 10/- costs on each of the other two. Emmanuel Scarrott, charged with having driven with due care and attention, was fined £1 with 10/- parking incorrectly.

Disobedience of Order. For disobedience of a maintenance summons Arthur Bartlett was convicted and sentenced to seven days' hard labour, and fined £1.

Better To Learn Correctly

DRIVING OF CARS

Traffic Inspector's Comments LICENCES FOR JUNE

An indication that it is better to learn to drive a car from a professional instructor in preference to learning from friends who are licence holders, was given in a section of a report made by the Borough Traffic Inspector (Mr A. M. Oliver) at the monthly meeting of the Napier Borough Council held last evening.

Mr Oliver reported that 34 tests for motor drivers' licences were dealt with during the month, nine applicants failing to pass. Of the 25 who were successful seven were undergoing their second test.

In connection with the failure of applicants to pass the test, it was noticed that invariably those who failed had been taught to drive by friends who were the holders of drivers' licences, whereas the pupils of professional teachers (of whom there were several good ones in Napier) seldom fail.

This seemed to indicate that the average driver could not, or has not the ability, to teach another person to drive, or that his own driving needed polishing up.

QUEEN CARNIVAL PROGRESS

PRIME MINISTER INVITED

TRADES UNION Crowning Ceremony In September

Good progress is being maintained with the organisation of the Hawke's Bay Trades Union carnival events. A comprehensive programme of events is being planned by the Queen and Hastings, and with the co-operation of other centres in Hawke's Bay it is expected that a substantial sum will be raised.

An invitation has been sent to the Prime Minister (the Rt. Hon. M. J. Savage) to officiate at the Queen's crowning ceremony early in September, and although he has intimated that he will make every endeavour to attend he will be unable to make a final decision until the middle of August.

In the event of Mr Savage being unable to attend, it is expected that a Cabinet Minister will perform the ceremony of crowning the successful queen.

Decision to be Made. This will take place either in Hastings or Napier and a decision as to the venue will be made at an early date.

The organising committee have decided to announce the positions to be held in the programme, probably every two weeks. The next announcement will probably be made at the end of this week.

The carnival will conclude at the end of August and it is expected that at least a week will elapse before the crowning ceremony will be held. This will enable the committee to make a thorough check of their figures and allow of sufficient time for the preparation of the grand finale.

IN SUPPORT OF A QUEEN

SUCCESSFUL DANCE HELD

TARADALE. The supporters of Miss Peggy Kavagh held a successful dance on Wednesday evening, Saturday night to further her cause in a Queen Carnival being held in Napier at present. An appreciative attendance spent a happy evening dancing to good music supplied by Harry Brown's Majestic Orchestra.

The committee had arrangements well organised. Miss K. Bellerby and Mr Cunningham were the winners of the Monte Carlo.

The members of the committee were: Mesdames Collins, Nevard, Bellerby, Ogren, Smith, Boardman, Misses Spiller and Kavanagh; and Messrs Crombie, Olsen, Bellerby, Boardman, Nevard, and the following among the dancers were: Mrs Collins, flame taffetas; Mrs Ogren, black lace; Mrs Smith, brown floral marocain; Miss P. Kavanagh, shell taffetas; Mrs Bellerby, black lace and blue; Mrs Nevard, saxe taffetas, white crushed velvet; Mrs M. Spiller, green taffetas; Miss S. Joseph, navy bolero suit; Miss N. Olsen, blue and floral; Miss M. O. Oliver, black lace; Miss Finucane, black georgette.

BALL TO RAISE FUNDS FOR THE "DIGGERS"

R.S.A. Function To Be Held At Hastings

Though 20 years have elapsed since the "Diggers" have been "Diggers" in actual fact, they are still "Diggers" in spirit, and no one need doubt that the great R.S.A. ball which will be provided for the public on August 4 will be the merriest of its kind that Hastings has ever known. They will see to it that the public are given an evening of fun that they will long remember, and that they will be entertained by characteristically novel stunts and comic touches ready to live up to the occasion.

An ambitious and novel decorative scheme will be used in the hall, on the stage, and in the supper room. Among the various ideas that will be incorporated in the scheme will be a gallery of pictures of well known parts of Gallipoli and the Western Front. These pictures have been lent by various friends of the R.S.A., and will make only one of a number of the attractive features of the evening.

The supper and the music will be of the very best and everything that is necessary to provide a joyous night will be carefully attended to.

A good committee is working to make it a success. The balls in aid of the funds of the Returned Soldiers' Association. The chairman of the committee is Mr T. O'Dowd. There will be bridge tables provided for non-dancers.

DEMONSTRATION OF SOIL SURVEY WORK

An Instructive Field Day For Farmers At Onga Onga

ONGA Onga.

An explanation of the work being carried out in the land utilisation and soil survey was given to a number of farmers who attended a field day at Mr Duncan Holden's "Forest Gate" property yesterday.

Mr R. P. Connell (who is in charge of the survey), and Mr I. J. Pohlen outlined its general aims. Mr E. A. Madden, of the Pasture Survey Department, produced maps which he explained showed the general grouping of pastures in New Zealand.

fat and store sheep country was produced, and the speaker expressed the opinion that with proper farm management sheep could be fattened much further back towards the hills than was the case at present.

This, he believed, was already being done by a few farmers who were regarded as "key men," and their methods would be carefully studied.

The investigation of pastures would also throw valuable light on this problem.

A demonstration of the method employed in examining soils in the field was given, and proved of considerable interest.

Opinions Sought.

The speakers emphasised that they were seeking constructive criticism of the maps before they were published, and invited suggestions from the audience.

Mr A. J. Parker, president of the local branch of the Farmers' Union, expressed the thanks of the gathering to the speakers, to Mr Holden for the use of his property, and to the W.D.F.U. for providing afternoon tea.

A sheep-guessing competition resulted in the prize of a fat lamb being won by Mr H. Buchanan, who donated it towards the funds of the W.D.F.U. branch.

MEMBER VISITS RAUPUNGA

MR E. L. CULLEN'S TOUR

HEARTY WELCOME

RAUPUNGA.

On Saturday last Mr E. L. Cullen, M.P., was met at the Raupunga School by a deputation of Maori settlers from the Putere Road.

In the late afternoon Mr Cullen was requested to visit Mohaka, where the Maori people from all the surrounding districts were gathered.

After addresses of welcome, Mr Cullen addressed the gathering and was applauded and thanked for his visit by Mr E. A. Mitchell, who had acted as interpreter.

What is said to be a record political meeting was held in the Raupunga School in the evening, 68 residents attending.

After a most instructive address a vote of thanks and confidence both in the member for the district and in the Government was carried unanimously by applause.

CLOSELY CONTESTED GAME

Porangahau Beat Waipukurau

PORANGAHAU.

A very closely contested football match was witnessed on Saturday at Porangahau when the home team played Old Boys of Waipukurau.

The game resulted in a win for Porangahau by 12 points to 9.

A feature of the match was the large number of penalty kicks awarded, from which each side scored nine points.

The deciding points were registered by Mr Gregor of Porangahau, who scored a try after a loose forward rush.

Old Boys' score was made by Jamieson, who kicked three penalties and had the misfortune of seeing another one disallowed through one of his team getting in front of the ball.

Pahl kicked the three penalties for Porangahau.

MINIATURE RIFLE SHOOTING

Mines Score Possible At Rissington

RISSINGTON.

Owing to inclement weather there was a poor attendance of members of the Rissington Miniature Rifle Club at the last shoot for the Pukeitiri Sports Club's trophy.

A. R. Mines, with 95, was the winner of the club's ladder badge.

Detailed results are as follows: the rifle score and the handicap score both being given: A. R. Mines, 95, 99.00; S. M. Williams, 93, 98.38; R. J. Bull, 89, 97.80; T. Sanders, 75, 97.50; R. H. Absolon, 87, 97.40; N. Ebbett, 93, 97.37; D. Egbert, 55, 97.00; N. Simpson, 88, 96.72; E. McGregory, 89, 96.70.

Following the club trophy shoot, members indulged in a five-rounds scratch sweepstake, which was won by A. R. Mines, who scored the possible.

The second round of the present trophy will be fired next Thursday.

Saturday's Results At Haumoana

HAUMOANA.

The Haumoana Miniature Rifle Club held the eleventh of its championship shoots on Wednesday evening.

Wing Pak, who is only in his second season is showing much improvement and won the weekly trophy with C. J. H. Baker filling the second place.

Mrs McCarthy and Mrs Baker tied for the ladies' ladder badge and C. J. H. Baker won the men's.

ATTACKED BY LIONESS

GIRL'S ORDEAL AT DANNEVIRKE

RESCUE IN TIME

Attempt To Draw Her Into Cage

By Telegraph—Press Association.

DANNEVIRKE, July 25. Ruth Russell, a High School girl, daughter of Mr H. T. Russell, of Dannevirke, had an unenviable experience yesterday afternoon, when visiting the Dannevirke showground, where the animals of a travelling circus are wintering.

Along with some companions, the girl went to a shed in which were lions in cages. While she was standing near the cage with her back half turned to it a lioness shot out its right paw, struck the girl on the right arm and drew her toward the cage.

Companion's Efforts: A companion of the girl was trying to pull her away when Mr G. A. Dunlop, relieving inspector of the municipal abattoirs, on hearing screams, rushed up and found the lioness with its right paw round the girl's hips trying to draw her into the cage.

Fortunately the beast was unable to get its left paw under the bar of the cage; otherwise the girl's plight would have been very serious.

Mr Dunlop, with his overcoat over one arm, startled the animal enough to make it release its grip, and the girl was pulled to safety.

Her right arm was badly lacerated, necessitating several stitches, but beyond this she was not hurt. Those who saw what happened, however, consider that she is lucky to have got off so lightly.

R.S.A. Meeting Held

WAIPUKURAU BRANCH

Successful Year Reviewed

WAIPUKURAU.

A successful year was reviewed at the annual meeting of the Waipukurau Returned Soldiers' Association last night. Mr A. O. Williams presided over an attendance of about 20 members.

The financial membership was 141, which was considered very satisfactory, stated the annual report. Over £500 had been paid towards the relief of unemployment during the past six years, but the past year had shown less need for expenditure in this direction. A sum of £145 was still available for this purpose as and when required.

Entertainments: It had been found possible to arrange entertainments for soldier patients at the Sanatorium, including a "smoke-oh" before last Christmas, and the provision of motor outings. It was hoped to extend the latter scheme during the present year.

The finances were in a particularly healthy condition, with over £138 in the general account.

Reference was made to the passing of four of the members, Messrs G. F. Annetts, P. Connell, J. Hill and S. Jones.

Officers were elected as follows: President, Mr A. O. Williams; vice-president, Mr J. L. Brathwaite; secretary, Mr W. J. Steere.

T. D. Prussing Wins The McLean Cup

PORANGAHAU.

The final of the McLean Cup competition was played over 36 holes on the Porangahau Golf Club's links during the week-end, between T. D. Prussing and J. Douglas. A very close contest resulted in a win for Prussing by 3 and 2.

The club championship has reached the final stage. In the semi-finals, A. Cochrane defeated R. Ron-pha and A. C. Lancaster defeated R. N. J. Scia Scia.

The final is to be played at an early date.

The supply of alcoholic liquor to minors at social functions was the subject of the following motion passed by the annual meeting of the New Zealand Alliance: "That the New Zealand Alliance views with alarm the growing practice of the provision through social and other functions of alcoholic liquors, especially cocktails, to young people under the age of 21, and recommends that it be made an offence under the Child Welfare Act for anyone to sell, give or supply alcoholic liquors to anyone under that age; and, further, that it be made an offence for any such person under 21 to endeavour to procure alcoholic liquors unless under the specific orders of a doctor.

YOUNG FARMERS PAY A VISIT TO NAPIER

TONE FAIRLY GOOD Excellent Apple Season For New Zealand WOOL AND BUTTER

Interesting Tour Of The Southdown Studs At Longlands

Owing to the bad weather experienced last week, the party of 60 young farmers were delayed in Gisborne for an extra day and, unfortunately, were unable to view the Esk Valley and the Ahuriri Lagoon. However, they were able to complete their schedule on Saturday morning by visits to farms at Central and Southern Hawke's Bay.

The farmers had spent Friday night in Napier, coming through from Gisborne that day; on their way through they found time to make a short visit to the Lands and Survey Department farm at Kote-moari, which is being managed by Mr J. B. Monteath. Here they saw second-class country being developed, which is now carrying pastures of subtropical clover and English grasses comparable with much of our first-class country. Mrs Monteath entertained this party to refreshments.

Southdown Stud Inspected After spending an hour in Hastings on Saturday morning, they proceeded to the farm of Mr A. F. M. Symes, at Longlands, where they were met by Mr Symes, Mrs Symes and family, and were given a tour, outlined the agricultural activities of the Heretaunga Plains, the soil fertility and the system of farming.

would be very backward in the spring. He made mention that formerly one was not able to walk on some of the areas, but now they were quite firm and did not poach.

Return to Dannevirke After this interesting afternoon the party returned to Dannevirke, where they were to spend the night. That evening the Dannevirke branch of the Young Farmers' Club entertained the visitors at a dance. Mr Quigley welcomed the party on behalf of the Farmers' Union, and also apologised for the absence of the president, Mr Bolton. A welcome was also extended by the chairman of the Dannevirke branch (Mr T. Blyth).

These welcomes were responded to by Mr Blackmore, a member of the Department of Agriculture, Christchurch, who was accompanying the young farmers on their tour. The party left Dannevirke at 9 o'clock on Sunday morning for the Wairarapa to continue their travels.

MOLE PLOUGH DRAINAGE SYSTEM BECOMING FAVOURED

By this system, one may have as many as 30 or 40 drains leading to one outlet. This outlet will entail pipe to a distance of eight or ten feet, so that actually the cost is much reduced, as so little drain has to be dug out.

MANY ADVANTAGES Reduced Cost of Irrigation

The system of mole ploughing is coming into favour throughout New Zealand, especially in Manawatu, where it was first originated.

When the mole plough is used, all the drains are drawn to a chosen outlet and finally coupled by a gathering drain which may collect six or seven auxiliary drains.

A paddock of some 32 acres was drained involving 360 drains which ultimately were coupled up to nine outlets, each outlet being tiled to nine feet. The cost of labour, fuel, depreciation of plant and cost of tiles, etc., worked out at approximately 1/6 an acre.

These drains are proving very satisfactory, and some of them have now been in use for over seven years, while other mole drains of similar types, varying only by having individual drains, have been in use for 25 to 30 years.

Even if the life of these mole drains are five to ten years, the cost an acre on a yearly basis is comparatively small, as compared with the old type of tile draining, which is today is prohibitive because of the high cost.

The cost of tiled draining to-day would be in the proximity of £70 to £80 an acre, and probably the difficulty would be experienced in getting suitable labour to do this work, as it requires a man who is skilled at this particular type of work.

Thousands of acres in Hawke's Bay could be drained and made much more productive, during the winter months. Under this treatment the land would respond more readily in the spring.

With these two features, the maximum of top-dressing would be obtained. Furthermore, it would provide a reasonably dry area for ewes at lambing time in the spring, as there is no doubt that wet conditions are detrimental.

Stamps Two For A Penny

NEW P.O. SCHEME Overcoming Halfpenny Difficulty NOVEL MACHINES

A problem associated with halfpennies has presented itself to the Post Office as one of the many readjustments connected with the new Empire air-mail service.

Stamp-vending machines were designed by New Zealanders and have been in use for approximately thirty years. They are manufactured in the Department's workshops, and the machining is done to accurate to the one-thousandth of an inch.

A special machine was designed for the purpose of preparing the rolls from ordinary sheets of stamps. The sheets are joined together, guillotined through the horizontal perforation, and the strips then wound into rolls.

On the operating drum of stamp-vending machines pins are placed and these fit into the stamp-perforations, thus controlling the delivery of the stamps when the coin is inserted. Firm pressure is needed to push in the coin, and this provides the motive power to operate the machines, which in the case of the push-type halfpenny stamps through the outlet slot, enabling them to be easily detached by the perforations.

HAWKE'S BAY RACING STILL ON UP GRADE

"Tote" Figures And Taxes Show That Real Progress Has Been Made

(By MOTUROA).

Statistics for the 1937-38 racing season, which ends this month, show that the definite and general improvement in racing begun in the 1932-33 season has been more than sustained in the period under review, and the standard of sport provided for racegoers has been better than since the boom days. It is most gratifying to note the substantial increases in the totalisator turnovers of the Hawke's Bay Jockey Club's four meetings and the Hawke's Bay Hunt one-day fixture, and the future of racing at this centre looks very sound. Comparative figures for the past few years show that the wisdom of the Hawke's Bay Jockey Club in anticipating the improving conditions by increasing prize-money has borne fruit beyond the most sanguine expectations. The totalisator increases in the past twelve months reflect the increases made in the club's stake money. That such is the case warrants provincial as well as the metropolitan clubs increasing stakes still further for the coming season to encourage more horses from outside centres, for it cannot be gainsaid that the influx of horses from the Wellington, Wairarapa, Manawatu, Wanganui, Taranaki, and South Auckland districts has very materially increased interest in Hawke's Bay meetings this season and has assured large turnovers. Where only provincial horses race—no matter their class—interest must flag, and Hawke's Bay must not drop behind in the race to be among the leaders in popularity, progress, and power when the peak period of prosperity is reached.

Government's Share.
The Treasury Department is a sure winner. Every meeting that is staged at Hastings the Treasury coffers have benefited by the improved conditions brought about by the progressive policy of the Hawke's Bay Jockey Club. For the two years under review the taxes paid by the Jockey Club have been as follows:—

	1936-37	1937-38
Tax	£ 8. d.	£ 8. d.
Dividend	3166 4 0	3587 0 0
Totalisator	2896 0 9	3280 13 4
Amusement	132 2 9	182 2 9
Stakes	33 19 4	70 17 7
Totals	£ 6564 11 9	£ 7120 11 7

The Hawke's Bay Hunt taxes were as follows:—

	1936-37	1937-38
Tax	£ 8. d.	£ 8. d.
Dividend	249 2 0	374 1 0
Totalisator	227 16 10	324 2 0
Amusement	4 8 0	5 0 0
Stakes	4 16 1	15 6 0
Totals	£ 486 2 11	£ 718 9 9

To the Hunt amusement tax there still has to be added the amount taxable on the point-to-point on Saturday and the members' subscriptions for the year.

Thus it can be seen that the Government is a sure winner all the time, and this emphasises the fact that the Government should give more consideration to racing than it does. Corner Turned. Taking everything at its face value, we are clearly shown that the major club of the Hawke's Bay province has progressed steadily in the past few years and there is no doubt that there is a tone of confidence which augurs well for the future of racing in the province. Figures indicated above show that we have made very real progress in the past 12 months and, with the progress of the clubs in Hawke's Bay towards prosperity, stakes must continue to rise proportionately for the ultimate good of the sport generally. We must not sit back on our oars and wait for the wave to take us to the crest lest we become engulfed in the surge. We must advance in line with other clubs, all the while keeping Hawke's Bay's progress well before the racing public.

Better Stakes. The Jockey Club and Hunt Club both must be congratulated upon their endeavour to popularise the meetings by increasing the prize-money and their efforts have gone a long way towards improving the position in the province. On last year's figures the total for the eight days' racing is over £200 a day greater than for the previous season, the increase being £1745. The comparative figures are as follows:—

	1936-37	1937-38
Spring	£ 710	£ 890
Summer	1290	1350
Autumn	1845	2600
Winter	1665	2075
Hunt	440	520
Totals	£ 5950	£ 7685

May Come Good. Cuisinier's fourth to Flying Ace, Shining Hours and Sporting Gift on Saturday was his best effort to date and it looks as if this Peach Brandy gelding may come good next season. He is bred from the Quarantine—Miss Detonation mare Miss Quarantine, dam of that useful hack Leo Colossus, and, as he has been running on at the end of all his races, a slightly longer distance may enable him to open his winning account.

Run Off His Feet. There was no unlicker runner at Marton than Sporting Gift, the little Hunting Song—Visible horse, owned and trained by Jim Manuel at Awapuni. Sporting Gift, who won in a canter at Foxton and has run several good races since he struck form at the Manawatu May meeting, was taken on by nearly every runner in the race and it was little wonder that, after shaking off four pacemakers, he weakened in the run home. He will keep for future reference.

Great-hearted Mare. Awapuni critics marvel at the way in which the diminutive mare Aurora's Love holds her condition. She has done a lot of hard racing and her efforts in the mud at Trentham against the best class horses would have "knocked" most jumpers. However, she is up again, bright and fresh for more racing, and her trip to Riccarton may yet eventuate.

Three-year-old Prospects. The rising three-year-olds Prediction and Great Legion have both freshened up nicely since Trentham, where the exceptionally heavy going anchored them badly. They worked along nicely at Awapuni last week, but G. New does not intend to bustle them and he proposes to have them ready for the spring fixtures. Both should be worth keeping in mind.

Gallies Fast. After being off the scene for some time, the Lackham—Merry Sarto horse Merryman is due to reappear at Awapuni this week in the back six furlongs and there is every indication that he is not far from his best. Merryman is working particularly well and went very impressively on Thursday morning. This half-brother to Manawatu has shown no signs of soreness for some time and he has only to keep right to win races.

Marton was right in the hunt with a good meeting on Saturday, and the sport was good.
Rangitikei Hunt Club's success is proverbial. It still has a Way with it.
Reversals of form on Saturday will be reflected in many bank balances.
Winners were hard to pick; losing punters easy.
Air Shot sent Ashley Jenkins sky-high in the Hunt Cup Steeplechase.
Interlocutor fell down on his job again.
There was a big slip in the Manawatu Gorge, but it was nothing to the way Manawatu has slipped.

Hanover went for the "doctor" and it is said the stable went Knapp.
Barry's Bay was all at sea under racing conditions in the Hunt Cup.
At last Leo George has put the win into Winsome Lu.
Play On was skittled again.
This is not the season for Pukeko—maybe next term.
It's just about time Pakanui packed up and went home.
Tom Tom may soon be the big noise in a maiden race.
All but one of the hurdlers at Marton followed Taillight home.
For the punters, Black Man is still a nigger in the woodpile.
An early turn of the tide is predicted for Tidewater.
Shining Hours suffered an eclipse on Saturday.
Jim Manuel will be offering an early dividend with Sporting Gift.
Advance Plane failed to act up to his name on Saturday.

SON OF A CHAMPION WON AT MARTON

Entheos Stoutly Bred Gelding ENTHUSIASM WAS THE BEST OF HER YEAR

Notes On Rangitikei Hunt Form (BY MOTUROA)

Very few great racing mares leave anything approaching their own class, and Enthusiasm is no exception to the general rule, but she has not been at the stud without reasonably good results and three of her progeny, Hunting Queen, Entheos, and Great Hope, have all been more than useful. Entheos leaving the impression on Saturday that, as a hurdler, he may be the best winner from the wonderful daughter of Panmure and Martia so far to race.
Enthusiasm was bred in 1919 by the late Mr J. Goring Johnston, but she was raced from the end of her two-year-old career by the Hunterville sportsman, Mr T. A. Duncan, and for him she won the Great Northern Derby and Oaks, the New Zealand Derby, and the Wellington Cup. She also ran a dead-heat for first with that remarkable staying mare, Gold Light, in the New Zealand Oaks.
Entheos, who is a solidly-built son of Gainscourt, showed his form two years ago as a four-year-old when he won the Haere-mai and Rimu Highweights at the Wellington autumn meeting from fairly strong fields, but he subsequently lost all form until this winter.
Although he had schooled well at Awapuni, it was not until the Marton winter meeting that he impressed as likely to make an early hurdler winner, but at that meeting his saddle slipped and he fell on the flat near the winning post when he was assured of at least second money. On Saturday he jumped like a buck from the very first hurdle and simply buried the opposition for pace and stamina over the last half-mile.
Entheos has size, conformation and breeding to advance his claims for recognition as a jumper and, as schooling has improved his physique, it would not surprise if he developed into a top class jumper next winter.

BRILEY ALMOND staged at Marton on Saturday one of the most brilliant finishing efforts seen in hack racing for a long time and it looked as if she must have gone close to first had she not swung on terms with her field. The five-year-old daughter of Lackham and Butter Scotch (Heather Mixture—Barley Sugar) was chopped back hopelessly at the start and, as it was not look as if she would take part in the race. She was still many lengths behind the last of a strung-out field when she made her run from the bottom of the straight and, in another half-dozen strides she must have been nearly won. If Briley Almond can be persuaded to reproduce the same form at Awapuni this week she will be a very hard mare to beat.
Dam Was a Good Jumper. Travall, who made his debut in the maiden race on Saturday, is likely to be the best of his family raced for some time if his showing can be taken as any criterion of his worth. He was the outsider of the field and was carrying 7lb. over the top, but he caught the eye with a good finishing effort and at the post he was in a line with Informer and Taitoa. Travall, who is a two-year-old by Musketoon, is bred from the Boniform—Bill mare, Bonifill, who was a good-class hurdler a decade ago. The last winner from the branch of the family through which Travall traces was the brilliant Colossus filly, Superior, who, unfortunately, was an accident after winning the Debutante Stakes at Wanganui.
For New Plymouth. The Hawke's Bay owner-trainer, Mr C. W. Boyd, was very pleased with the good race Tidewater ran in the Closeburn Handicap at Marton, and he is hoping to see him in the race the Tidal—Ballymoy filly gelding at New Plymouth this week. Tidewater has not won a race for just over 12 months, but he has come on very easily in the past few weeks, and the good impression he made when he won at Trentham last winter encourages the belief that there may be some good races in store for him.
Slow to Get Going. Inability to move off with the first bunch, and the subsequent crowding on the turn, was the cause of the Feilding two-year-old, Regicide, on Saturday, for he was set an impossible task to concede quite a dozen lengths to the speedy Hunting Lore over the last two furlongs. It was a good effort to reach the second place, and the extra furlong of the maiden race at Awapuni this week should give him a better chance. Regicide comes from a great winning line being a descendant of Juliet, and it would not surprise to find him winning good races in the spring.
Too Bad to Be True. After making a bold finish in his race on the flat at the Hawke's Bay Hunt meeting, it was generally thought that Manawatu was coming back to his best form again, but his showing in the Rangitikei Hunt Cup was so far below his best that it would be futile continuing his Grand National engagement. Frequent soreness has prevented Manawatu from racing in form, but there is no doubt he is a good class horse when right and, as he is yet not a really old horse, there may be a chance for him to reach his best next winter.

Is She a Rogue? Bluffer was a smart two-year-old, winning two races at that age from strong fields. However, her early form this season disappointed her connections to such an extent that she was sold during the autumn for 50gns. She proved a good buy for Mr W. G. Shannon when, at the second time of asking, she won the Novice Stakes at Trentham, impressing with a strong finishing run. That run was conspicuous by its absence on Saturday and she was the first beaten in the Closeburn Handicap, eventually finishing last. One is loath to dub this beautifully-bred filly a rogue, but she will need to show a big improvement next time out to rehabilitate herself.
Not Her Distance. Since she won at Feilding at Easter the Lackham—Homes mare Mittie has been backed with confidence in quite a few races over seven furlongs but, on every occasion, the distance has been beyond her and it was surprising to find such a strong following for the Levin mare on Saturday. Mittie is smart over short courses and, as she looks well, she should be kept in mind for a six-furlong race, but some of the country meetings during the spring.
Brigadore Well. Mr E. C. Haddock informed the writer on Saturday that his Grand National Steeplechase candidate Brigadore had done well since the Wellington meeting, where he fell when going well in the big steeplechase. Brigadore has previously shown his best form at Riccarton and, under his handy impost, he is just the sort to worry some of the more favoured candidates.
Took Time. Although Hunting Lore showed pace last season as a two-year-old and was expected to follow the footsteps of his useful brother, Old Surrey, he did not build up well as he should during the winter and he was asked to race only twice during the early part of this season. It was good policy to put him out at a further spell for since he joined the Morris stable a few months ago, he has developed all round and now looks as if he has the condition to stand up to hard racing. Hunting Lore won well on Saturday and this grandson of the New Zealand Cup winner, Tortulla, may go on now he has struck form.
Gallant Effort. Shining Hours is a bonny filly, and her effort to gain second money at Marton with 9.7 in a very fast-race emphasised the fact that she was above the average. This full-blooded filly will be doing her spring racing in open ranks, and there is no doubt that she will make the grade.
Reward of Consistency. After her consistent form at Trentham at the beginning of the month, Rotoma's success on Saturday was the reward of consistency. It was thought that the distance would be a little short for this solid Gainscourt mare, but the half-sister of Kalos and Lynn Du was backed with confidence by her party and won well. She should not be hard to place in a company around the country meetings.
Likely Hurdler. Making his debut at Marton as a hurdler, Paul Robeson was fancied by his party on the strength of some good schooling, and it appears probable that the Colossus five-year-old should not be long in winning a hurdle race. He gave a great exhibition of jumping and may have lasted longer had he not been allowed to go so fast in the first mile. He will improve with the experience and, as he has the conformation of a company, he may prove more than useful later on.
Worthy of Support. The annual meeting of the Hawke's Bay branch of the Owners' Trainers and Breeders' Association at Hastings tonight is one which should be attended as largely as possible, for the benefit of this profession being a descendant of dependent upon the strength of its membership. Although the association is barely out of the stage of being organised, it has already accomplished much to lessen racing costs and improve racing conditions, and the association is one worthy of the fullest support. There are still many racing reforms to be urged and Hawke's Bay should not be behind in helping the movement along.
Related to Good Winners. Flying Ace and Gay Seton, the winners of the last races at Marton and Matamata respectively, are closely related and belong to a good winning line. Flying Ace is by Ace from the Romeo mare Pink Page, who was bred from the Marble Arch mare Persis, dam of Lady Lois, Tuahine, Nucleus, Royal Duke, Persham and Gay Seton. Both of Saturday's winners have been showing good form in the past few weeks, but were at good prices.
Worth Waiting For. L. G. Morris has been easy on Snigger, the solidly-built half-sister to Cadland, since she made her debut at Otaki and created a favourable impression by running third. The procedure is a wise one, for this filly has grown in the matter and should be worth waiting for.
Looks a Picture. Corroboree rejoined the active ranks at Awapuni last week and although he has been spelling since December and has been emasculated, it does not look as if it would take a great deal to get him back to racing trim again. Corroboree has shown some really sound form at times and it is to be hoped that he trains on satisfactorily now.
More Solid Now. George New recommissioned both Vadano and Silver River last week and both look vastly improved horses as the result of their spells. They have thickened out and both appear to have grown in the interim. Silver River, especially, looks like making a good horse next season and may have to be taken into consideration for a race like the Manawatu Cup.

Acceptances For Taranaki IDDO ENGAGED

Good Fields Carded For Saturday ELEVEN IN STEEPLES

Splendid acceptances were received for the Taranaki Jockey Club's winter meeting at New Plymouth on Saturday, when the wind-and-place betting system will be in vogue.
Hawke's Bay interest will centre in Iddo, who has paid up for both the Waireka Hurdles and the Mahoe-tahi Handicap, and he will not lack a big following whichever race he contests.
