President Benes Makes A Statement To British Government

United Press Association-Copyright. (Received July 26, 11.30 p.m.)

LONDON, July 26.

"The Times" states that the main negotiations between the Czech Government and the Sudeten Germans are expected to begin at Prague next week, probably in the presence of Sir Walter Runciman.

President Benes and Dr. Hodza have informed the British Government that they are prepared to go to the full limit of the advice that Sir Walter Runciman may give—as long as the sovereignty of the Czechoslovak State is safe-

"I absolutely rule out war as a means of solving the Sudeten problem," Herr Henlein told a special correspondent of the London "Daily Telegraph," at Eger. "There will be no war as far as we are concerned. We do not want our homes converted into battlefields."

Nevertheless, he could not deny that serious internal disorders would be likely if a settlement were much longer delayed.

"Wo do not ask for annexation to Germany," Herr Henlein continued. "We are not opposed to the Czech State, but we are definitely opposed to the oppression of the existing regime. We resent being treated like Africans subject to alien overseers and I repeat that nothing short of full autonomy will be acceptable to us. We are prepared to leave defence and foreign affairs in the hands of the Central Government, but everything else Government, but everything else must be left to autonomous nationality groups."

The Under-Secretary for Colonial Affairs (Lord Dufferin and Ava) in his presidential address, expressed the hope that the conjoint consideration of these two subjects by officers of the Agricultural, Veterinary and Forestry Department would be fruitful. He declared that in recent years it had been generally realised throughout the Colonial Empire that in the planning and execution of programmes of social and economic development, co-operation and collaboration between the departments of Agriculture, Veterinary ments of Agriculture, Veterinary Services, Forestry, Health and Edu-cation was essential, and from the Colonial Office efforts had been made whenever possible to stress the importance of collaboration in all matters concerned with rural de-

Dangers of Erosion

Speaking on the dangers of soil erosion, Lord Dufferin said that it was only during the past few years that the importance of soil conservation had been fully realised, largely as a result of accounts of the position in the United States. A similar state of affairs, however, had been developing in many British colonial dependencies, especially East Africa, where the faulty distribution of stock was assuming serious proportions.

The position in regard to soil ero-tion in the Colonial Empire had been viewed in a memorandum sent o all dependencies, and the Colonial Secretary had asked for an annual report on the subject from each de-pendency, with a summary of the progress made in anti-erosion meas-

HILARIOUS COMEDY TO-DAY

"On Our Selection" Returns

Coming to the Cosy Theatre, Hastings, to-day is the hilarious story of the Rudd family, "On Our Selection," with Bert Bailey, Fred Mac-Donald, and Alfreda Bevan in the leading roles

This great comedy, which has had phenomenal successes, is the story of the happy-go-lucky Rudd family. The season has been a very dry one and old man Rudd is finding it difficult to pay his debts. As a matter of fact, he is in debt to John Carey to the extent of £40, and Carey calls to inform him that he nust meet the bill or otherwise he (Carey) will distrain on Rudd's cattle. Despite their troubles, the Rudd family are happy; and as the days go by, incident after incident happens which proves their contact for head times. empt for hard times.

Kate Rudd, the eldest daughter, an attractive girl who, unlike the rest of the family, has had some education, is due to leave for the city, hoping to be able to secure a position and thus relieve her family of the responsibility of supporting her. Young Jim Carey, son of old Carey, a debonair youth who has spent much of his time in the city, tells Kate just prior to her departure that he is going to the city too, and suggests that he can "make things easier" for her. Kate receives his suggestion half-heartedly ceives his suggestion half-heartedly because she is in love with Sandy Graham, a typical young settler who lives nearby, and who has loved her almost from childhood. The manner in which the members of the family solve their various problems, and work everything round to a final happy ending, assures the very best in gay entertainment.

"Tom Sawyer," now showing at the State Theatre, Napier, is a great picture, and if you miss it you're missing one of the most warming and enjoyable films in Director Norman Taurog has wisely chosen not to tinker with Mark Twain's book, so there are no modern touches—everything is just as Twain left it. Tom still plays hookey from school to go fishing with Huck Finn; he takes his beatings regularly from Aunt Polly; he alls properly in love with Becky hatcher; he rescues Becky from the cave after a breath-taking tussle with cold-blooded Injun Joe; and he nd Huck realise every boy's drean and Huck realise every boy's dream when they uncover hidden treasure Young Tommy Kelly, making his screen debut, is Tom Sawyer come to life. His performance is really heavened to have heavened phenomenal. Another newcomer, Ann Gillis, is splendid as Becky Thatcher, and Jackie Moran is an ideal Huck Finn.

Notable also are May Robson's portrayal of Aunt Polly, David Holt as the detestable Sid, Marcia Mae Jones as Mary Sawyer, Cora Sue Collins as Tom's erstwhile love, Walter Brennan as Muff Potter, and Victor Jory as Injun Joe. Philip Hurlie, Donald Meek, Mickey Rentschler and Olin Howard are excel lent.

THRILLING STORY OF A RACKETEER

Akim Tamiroff In Great New Role

An all-star cast of some of Holly wood's best liked character players, including Anna May Wong, Akim Tamiroff, Gail Patrick, Lloyd Nolan and Roscoe Karns, will be seen in the new Paramount drama, "Dangerous to Know," opening to-day at the Plaza Theatre, Napier.

Adapted from a play by Edward Wallace, the story shows the inside private life of the political boss of one of America's major cities.

Steve Recka, a racketeer, patron of the arts, and power behind the throne in politics, rules his town and Madame Lan Ying, his beautiand Madame Lan Ying, his beautiful Oriental friend and hostess, with a hand of iron. Then he meets Margaret Van Kase, a socialite, who is impressed by neither his power nor his wealth. Struck by her beauty, Recka turns away from the loyal Lan Ying and makes frantic efforts to win the society girl.

Dramatically, this picture is one of the year's highlights, and the final frustration of the gangster and the ironical twist in the story where he knows he will hang for one of the few murders he did not commit, is thrilling beyond words.

An imposing list of varied and interesting short subjects complete a great show. The plans are at Lockyer's ('phone 526).

EXCITING JUNGLE STORY

Great Film Of African Wilds

A story of mystery and romance on the Atlantic is unfolded by Paramount's "The Princess Comes Across," to continue to-day at the Mayfair Theatre, Napier, with Carole Lombard and Fred McMurray in the stellar roles. Thrills of the wildest jungles, beasts in their struggles for life, savage tribesmen in the strange, Carole Lombard and Fred McMurray in the stellar roles.

The picture re-unites for the first time the screen sweethearts who became national favourites in their first feature together, "Hands Across the Table." A balanced combination of comedy, romance, song, and mystery, it gives them a chance to show their best work.

Miss Lombard appears as a charming American girl posing as a Swedish princess, en route to New York to land a film contract Aboard the luxury liner Mammoth, setting for the entire plot, she meets and falls in love with MacMurray, concertina-playing maestro of a "swing" band.

The second attraction on the programme is "Two Fisted," which has Lee Tracy in the leading role. Portraying the part of a fast talking fight manager of a dim witted boxer, Tracy has one of his best roles to date in "Two Fisted," rollicking farce of two fight mugs who crash Park Avenue society. Roscoe Karns, Gail Patrick, Kent Taylor, Grace Bradley and Billy Lee are featured in the film.

The story centres around the hilarious adventures of Tracy and Saturday's Attraction.

Tracing the struggles for life, savage tribesmen in the strange, fanatical and deadly rites of the jujic, crocodiles, rhino—every peril an explorer could face — these are filmed, with actual sound in "Trader Horn," M-G-M's gigantic pageant of savage Africa, which commences its season at the Gaiety Theatre, to day, at 7.45 p.m.

But it differs from anything of the kind ever seen, for its thrills and its wonders surround a dramatic story—the tale of the adventurous trader, his apprentice and the beautiful "White Goddess" of the savage live in actuality, as, in the original locales of its dramatic narrative, it is enacted in talking pictures.

Harry Carey, in the title role of Trader Horn, has a splendid part which he portrays with that facile naturalness which gives it its charm. His dialogue is often that of the author of the book, and he seems fairly imbued with its spirit. Edwina Booth, as Nina the white goddess, plays the difficult role of a savage child

Recipes for the Enterprising Housewife

Foods With Suet Provide Heat and Energy in the Winter Months

Ingredients: 1 large cup of flour,

Ingredients: 1 cup of flour with

Line a pudding basin with suet dough and fill with finely-sliced apple sprinkled well with sugar and two tablespoonfuls of water. Cover with a layer of suet dough, place the lid on the basin, and steam 2½ to 3 hours to 3 hours.

During the winter months when meals have to be planned to give more heat and energy and puddings are not quite so easy to prepare as they are in the season when fruit is plentiful every housewife must surely realise that suet is a nourishing ingredient in many recipes well liked by both children and adults. The main point to remember is that all foods made with suet must be eaten hot. Suet dough lends itself to a great variety of recipes but when making this it is most necessary that the dough should be soft and light to the touch, neither too wet nor too dry. It should be firm enough to handle, about the consistency of a good scone mixture and when once the correct amount of water has been judged the housewife should the mixture. The suet should be hard and firm like cheese and not like fat and it may always be chopped beforehand to save work when other parts of the meal have to be prepared. In fact, the dry ingredients may be all mixed together and the liquid added when ready.

try to remember this as the addition of either more water or more flour does not improve Plain Suet Pudding

Make suet dough as above. Dip a cloth in boiling water and flour well. Put the pastry in the cloth, tie firmly, and boil 13 hours. Serve with golden syrup.

Jam Roll

Make a suet dough, roll out and spread with apricot or raspberry jam. Roll up, tie in a well-floured cloth, and boil 2½ hours.

securely, and see that the cloth goes twice round the roll to prevent water from going into the mixture.

Tie the ends of the cloth very

Steamed Jam Pudding

Have ready some suet dough. Cut the pastry in three pieces. Place one piece in the bottom of the basin and then a tablespoonful of jam; then another piece of pastry and a second spoonful of jam, and on top the third piece of dough. Secure the lid and steam 2½ hours.

Family Plum Pudding

Ingredients: 1 cup flour, 1 small teaspoonful baking soda, 2 teaspoonfuls cream of tartar, 4 teaspoonful fuls cream of tartar, 1 teaspoonful salt, 1 cup chopped suet, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 large cup mixed fruit (raisins, sultanas, currants and peel), 2 eggs, a little milk.

Method: Mix together the sifted flour, rising and salt, and the suet, sugar and fruit. Make a hole in the centre, break in the eggs, and add enough milk to mix well. Take a well-floured pudding cloth, place a piece of buttered paper on the inside, and pour the mixture on to this. The paper prevents burning this. The paper prevents burning or sticking. An old saucer placed in the bottom of the saucepan in which the pudding is boiled is also a good idea. Boil the pudding for 3 hours.

"Yes I'm off again! I do a lot of travelling and I don't know how I'd stand up to the strain without the constant support my Modaire Practical Front corset gives me. I like particularly the way the inner vest of the Practical Front adjusts itself every time I put it on. And the new 1938 models include the very latest advancement; pastelcoloured ducoed busk books which are not only flatter in themselves but also lie closer to the figure than the level of the garment so that the finished lacing down the front is absolutely flat."

The Modaire Practical Front is truly an energizer for active women. It gives them the solid comfort and solid support their figures need. It rejuvenates tired and sagging muscles, and restores lost energy. The minute you are fitted in this corset you feel the difference, the relief. Its inner vest of firm overlapping bands of elastic does not depress but lifts drooping abdominal muscles back to their correct position. Thousands of women keep active happily on the go, with the Modaire Practical Front.

ENGLAND REVIVES PARLOUR GAMES

Wit and Intellect Again in Fashion

Those-who-count in England are discarding the noisy cocktail party in favour of the good, old-fashioned parlour games in a new, sophisticated guise, for entertainment purposes. The new games pander to the modern craze to be witty and intellectual, with an up-to-the-minute general knowledge.

A recent visit to the "parlour-game" section of a London depart-mental store revealed the fact that during the past few months a stag-gering number of new games had been introduced in addition to Tri-poli, Monopoly and Bingo, which can provide a game for a whole

Roulette and darts are two games that most of the young things now returning from England are bringing with them—and roulette and dart evenings, are voted enormous fun. Then the modern version of charades demands a smattering of knowledge of all the latest works of fiction, as well as of the classics, of all the films, plays and points that are in any way topical or famous, and a knowledge of well-known people and incidents in history.

A Team Game

The following game had its origin recently in America, and now England is trying it out. It is simply called "The Game." Here is how it is played. Really elegant dressing makes it all the more ludicrous and amusing.

The master of ceremonies has the task of thinking out the subjects. ("Escape Me Never," "Daniel in the Lion's Den," "Gone With the Wind," "High, Wide and Handsome," "When Did You Last See Your Father?" "Monarch of the Glen," "Trial by Jury," and "Much Ado About Nothing," are a few suggestions). The master of ceremonies divides the company into teams and each team chooses a captain. Each each team chooses a captain. Each captain is secretly given the all-important title he has to act, and it is the work of the teams (who separate, going into different corners or different rooms) to guess that title. When a team has arrived at the title, the captain must rush back to the master and get the second title on his list, to be guessed by his team.

Slang phrases, slogans, and familiar quotations may also be included on the list of subjects to be guessed.

Spelling Game

Another game that has won favour in English drawing-rooms is one connected with spelling. Here is an example, which players are required to correct:

"A harrased pedler and an embarassed cobler sat in the cemetary gazing, trying to guage the symetry of the ladies' ankle when they were seized with an unutterible extacy."

extacy."

A few of the "trick" words spelt the right way are a help in fuddling the brains of even the alert.

Quotations, followed by a list of people from whose works those quotations might have come, make another game. The competitors are asked to say which of the authors or philosophers mentioned were the inventors of the phrases. Even when well-known quotations are used, it gets rather confusing seeing a list of likely authors in front of one.

Feverish hunts are also being

Feverish hunts are also being made among overseas party-givers for logic problems . . . simple ones such as make one feel really stupid for not working out the right answer. For example:

"I have 50 black stockings and 50 white stockings in a drawer. I go up in the dark to get a pair of stockings. How many stockings must I pick out before I am sure I have a pair?"

The practically invariable answer is 51. But the correct answer is is 51. But the correct answer is three.

"Every good orphan has a good lady," said Mr Hunter, "and I take pleasure in welcoming so many good ladies."

Special mention was made of the chiefs of the Napier and Waipawa Savage Clubs and their parties. The speaker said that in both Orphan and Savage Clubs a spirit of friendship prevailed. Men were beckoned together in good fellowship with the high ideal of faith, goodwill and co-operation. He said that to yo of life was found in one's friendships and he hoped the clubs would always foster that spirit.

Politics And A World Of Change

Sir,—I sincerely believe that the name of the Rt. Hon. M. J. Savage will be written into history for generations to come. His name will shine with a radiance that will never be extinguished. Since coming into office, less than three years ago, he has written into the laws of this country measures that will be of country measures that will be of everlasting benefit to the people and workers of this country. He has told us repeatedly that he is only concerned with the welfare and happiness of the people, which come first with him. He has to stand up to severe criticism from the Tory Opposition, who will fight to the last ditch in the interests of capital.

In my opinion the worker is the backbone of this country. I know of one sheep-owner who sheared 999 bales of wool this season. What 999 bales of wool this season. What use was that to him if he had no shepherds or shearers? One Hawke's Bay squatter originally owned 97,000 acres of land. Who made it for him?—the fencers, drainers, ploughmen, shepherds and shearers. This gentleman died practically a millionaire. Did any of his workmen ever get any further up the ladder than just workmen? Very few!

Well, now, whose interest is Mr Hamilton fighting for? He is Well, now, whose interest is Mr Hamilton fighting for? He is pledged to fight for capital. His cry is "Oppose, oppose! Retrench, retrench!"

Private enterprise walks over everyone's head to gain its objective. Is he concerned for the welfare of the people, or just concerned with where the money is coming from?
Referring to Chambers's Twentieth Century Dictionary we find that the word "Tory" dates back to the year 1640. In later years it changed to Conservatism which, according to the definition, is "opposed to political changes," and now Mr Hamilton

The Napier-Wairoa Highway

Sir,—Allow me to congratulate you on your editorial of Saturday, July 23, with reference to flood damage on main highways, etc. Your comments are both timely and opportune, and in so far as it affects the highway now in use between Napier and Wairoa, may I be permitted to point out that the bugbear, during rains, is a small tributary of Pepper's Creek which overflows and has done so for years, in spite of patchwork efforts repeated edly resorted to by the Hawke's Bay County Council.

Tance before obtaining visibility.

"Secondly, there is the danger of vehicles driving into the kerb while parking and the possibility of their bumpers striking pedestrians who may be standing near the edge of the footpath. There is also the like-lihood of pedestrians injuring them selves against bumpers of cars protruding over the footpath.

"Thirdly, there is danger to people alighting from cars after parking on the south side and crossing the road to the footpath on the north side. The Boa Corbett.

To my mind the main highway will not be in use before Christmas at least, and traffic will most as-suredly be held up at Tangoio

The work presents no difficulties. There are plenty of men available, and I offer the suggestion that if the job of diversion were placed in the hands of the Public Works Department's overseer without let or hindrance, 40 men in two weeks would provide for continuous through traffic until the main highway is restored. — I am, etc.,

Against that, let us take the case of a worker, say, a young married man with a family. He has not yet been able to secure a home of his own. His wage is, say, £5 a week but with broken time he only averages £4 10/- a week. Out of that he would contribute 4/6 for his tax, plus his share of the amount payable by the State and plus a £1 a week' rent. This would leave him £3 5/6 per week by steady work to live and bring up a family, or a trifle less than the man at 60 who

Emerson Street Angle Parking

INSPECTOR'S REPORT Road Width Stated to be Insufficient

QUESTION DEFERRED

At a previous meeting of the Napier Borough Council the Bor-ough Traffic Inspector (Mr A. M. Oliver) was instructed to report upon the questions of angle parking on the southern side of Emersor Street, and the prohibition of parking on the northern side, with the exception of trade vehicles deliver of the Council. It reads as follows If you are crushed and broken by the stress Of odds too great and years by far too long,

I think their hearts are timid and more kind
Than those who win the prize that's for the strong.

If you are crushed and broken by the Countier of cars on an angle has two good features to commend it, namely, ease of access to and egress from the kerb side. As against this, however, taking into consideration the limited width of the street, there are quite a number of undesirable features.

Danger of Collision

"First, there is the possible dan-ger of collision between cars backing out from the kerb and oncoming traffic. A driver must of necessity in many cases back out some distance before obtaining visibility.

to the footpath on the north side.

The same danger would apply to persons delivering goods to the south side from trade vehicles rething to the south side. stricted to the north side.

Other Drawbacks

"Other drawbacks to the proposal at least, and trained with most assuredly be held up at Tangoio many times during wet weather in the intervening period. Therefore it is absolutely essential that something be done, in the immediate future to eliminate this everlasting source of annoyance.

With your cooperation and that of the south side; (b) Possibility of the south side; (c) Possibility of the south side; (d) Possibility of the south side; (d) Possibility of the south side; (e) Possibility of the south side; (e) Possibility of the south side; (e) Possibility of the south side; (f) Possibility of the accidents to people on the footpath arising from the inadvertent starting of a parked car while in gear, the kerb not being sufficient height to prevent a car so starting from mounting the footpath.

"Angle parking on the south side of Emerson Street between Hastings Street and Clive Square would permit of approximately 90 cars being parked. A count of the number of vehicles parked on both sides of the road in this area under ordinary traffic conditions on a recent Friday evening showed that 104 vehicles evening showed that 104 vehicles were accommodated.

"In conclusion, I am of the opinion that Emerson S', et, being only 39 feet 7 inches wide, is far too narrow to permit of angle parking and at the same time allow an easy flow of traffic using the remainder of the readway between cars parked in this manner on one side and trade vehicles parked parallel with the kerb on the other side."

that this question be deferred as it would be affected by a previous resolution dealing with the route of railway buses, and this was done.

Sixteen busy men of Middleton-in-Teesdale have spent their spare time in making a paddling pool for the children of the town. The scheme was started by Mr Ben Scraggen, and among the men who helped were a fish fryer, a wireless dealer and a commercial traveller.

£200 FOR HIM when he is 16

OULD you spare five shillings a week, sir, to ensure that your boy shall have £200, plus bonuses, when he is 16 and ready for the University or business? Of course you could, and here

For a yearly premium of £12/15/ (roughly, five shillings a week) a father aged 28 with a boy not yet a year old can arrange with the nearest A.M.P. office, or agent, that the boy shall have £200 when he is 16. Past experience suggests that that £200 will have grown, with bonuses, to £258 by the time the boy is that age.

If the father be older than 28 the premium will be a little more, but not so much more as to bother any man in work.

The father being the person assured, it can be arranged that if he should die before the boy is 16, the money will be available for the boy at his father's death, either in a lump sum or spread over three or four

This is the ideal plan for the man and woman who want to ensure that their boy (or girl) shall not be deprived of his (or her) opportunity because something has happened to Dad.

If you have a young son or daughter, don't delay a day. See the nearest A.M.P. office and make the arrangement at once.

PUBLIC WORKS EXPENDITURE

The Estimates of Public Works Expenditure for the current financial year, 1938-1939, are more than usually interesting. The spending involved, and the proposed borrowing of over £14,000,000, suggests a frame of mind on the part of the Government that does not accord with its previously expressed sentiments concerning such expenditure and methods of finance. More than usually interesting, in this connection, is the annual report of the Reserve Bank of New Zealand, which conveys more than a subtle hint concerning the policy being pursued

The principle of slowing down Public Works during periods of prosperity and of speeding them up during times of depression appears to be approved by the Board of the Reserve Bank. "The Board regard it as highly desirable on financial grounds that the extent of such works should be regulated as far as practicable according to the state of employment in other directions, a slowing-down being arranged when the demand for labour in other directions is relatively satisfactory, and an acceleration during periods of comparative business inactivity," states the report.

This statement would indicate that the Board is possibly a little concerned at the present trend, and by this method it appears to be conveying a delicate hint to the Government. Much stronger is the warning concerning the methods of finance. "The Board would stress the importance of avoiding any undue expansion of credit when the trade position of the Dominion is favourable, for in the ordinary course, unless overseas funds were allowed to accumulate when the proceeds of exports (and consequently the national income) were at a high level, it would be difficult to maintain purchasing power. This would involve a strain on the overseas position if, and when, the Dominion's overseas trade position materially deteriorated."

In other words, internal borrowing and drawing upon the Reserve Bank for Public Works must be undertaken with caution, for any undue strain during a possible future economic recession might find the Dominion in a serious plight as far as its overseas credits and exchanges were concerned. This is a point which it is hoped the Government is watching closely. A future depression could conceivably result in New Zealand being stranded high and dry on a peak of inflation, with its purchasing power seriously impaired.

On the other hand, a study of the Estimates reveals that a good proportion of the expenditure is both necessary and justifiable. Allocations for the Gisborne, East Coast, and Hawke's Bay area will prove this point. Indeed, the decision not to proceed with the building of a new railway station at Hastings may be strongly questioned.

The whole question of Public Works is sometimes a little difficult to consider without parochial bias. One will unhesitatingly condemn expenditure in another part of the country as extravagant waste, while greeting with approval local works which might equally be condemned by others.

Broadly speaking, it may be suggested that a good deal of the works contemplated by the Government should have been spread over a longer period, which would provide some form of reserve against a future depression. No one can argue that Public Works should cease altogether, but at the same time there is much to be said for the principle of rationing.

The highlight of the present policy is the record levels to be attained by both borrowing and spending, and it is sincerely to be hoped that the Government will heed the advice of the Board of the Reserve Bank in its future plans. It is not yet too late for a modification, and nothing but approval would be heard if the Government decided to spread its available resources over a longer period. It is difficult to see what would happen if, next year, we experienced a slump in overseas prices for our products. One cannot say that the Government has undertaken any particular scheme which could be termed "a squandering of public money." The general criticism must be that it is undertaking too much in too short a time. However, it is possible-indeed, likely-that there will be modifications in the policy in the immediate future as the present economic trends and uncertainty make their influence felt.

Too Many Factories The opinion that under the Government's farm instruction scheme Mr R. Croad had been allotted too many dairy factories to supervise was expressed by Mr Guy Bell at the annual meeting of the Omata Dairy Coy. at New Plymouth. Mr Croad, who has the North Taranaki Coastal (No. 5) District, will have 17 companies under his care, and Mr Bell said that was too many for "Stoker's Dream," "White Hot Music, having been awarded stractions in the Coal Club at the coal pavilion at the Empire Exhibition at Glasgow. Aero clubs had 58 machines in service at the end of March, with 18 in commercial flying.

Hastings Fruit Supply

Hastings is at present enjoying a plentiful supply of island fruit, principally bananas and oranges. Prices are comparatively low, and the condition of the fruit excellent. The Wanganella, which reached Auckland last Tuesday, carried a large quantity of pineapples from Queensland, but these have not reached Hastings markets yet. The Niagara arrived at Auckland on Monday, with Fiji bananas, and the Matua is due to-day with a shipment of Cook Island fruit, principally oranges.

PARLT. BLDGS., July 26.

Some bright exchanges marked the continuation of the Budget debate in the House of Representatives last night. Although the proceedings were mostly good-humoured, occasional heated passages between members enlivened what is usually a drab debate.

Opposition members occupied the majority of the time, though Government members were not altogether silent.

When the House of Representa-tives met at 2.30 this afternoon the Public Works Estimates were introduced by Governor-General's message.

Replying to an urgent question asked by Mr A. G. Hultquist (Govt., Bay of Plenty), who asked on behalf of the Speaker (the Hon. W. E. Barnard) whether all necessary farm labour had been made available for the settlers of Eskdale and other flooded areas, the Minister of Public Works (the Hon. R. Semple) on behalf of the Minister of Labour (the Hon. H. T. Armstrong) stated that adequate steps had been taken by his department to ensure that sufficient labour was made available to farmers for the purpose of restoring flood damage in the areas referred to.

After outlining the procedure adopted in providing such labour, the Minister stated that no work had been held up on account of the lack of suitable labour, and of the 243 applications for labour dealt with, only three had been declined, for the reason that the applicants' financial position did not warrant State assistance.

At the present time some 300 men were employed on flood damage restoration work, of whom approximately 70 were farmers working on their own holdings.

The debate on the Budget was

The debate on the Budget was continued throughout the afternoon, the first speaker being Mr W. M. C. Denham (Govt., Invercargill), who stated that the Budget was giving effect to Labour's policy of increasing the speaking power of the people.

He was a sproxim mechanical engineer.

"These officers will be attached to the Department of Industries and Commerce," the Minister said, "and their particular duties will be to investigate, in conjunction with the department's economic advisers and cost accountants, the development of new industries and the development of new industries and the speaking power of the people. Denham (Govt., Invercargill), who stated that the Budget was giving effect to Labour's policy of increasing the spending power of the people. He wanted to draw attention to the fact, he said, that the press of the Dominion had attacked the Government consistently with a given and was a formatical experience.

Root Vegetables Are Popular

The shortage of green vegetables which was experienced in the district earlier in the season is still being felt in Napier, where vegetables such as cabbages, Brussels sprouts and other greens are in very short supply.

short supply.

Discussing the shortage with a "Daily Mail" representative yesterday, a Napier provision dealer said that the past season had been one of the worst on record for green vegetables. Early in the season the prospect of a good supply of cabbage and cauliflowers had been checked by the activities of the white butterfly, and later rains and flooding had completely destroyed any hope of even an average crop being gathered. being gathered.

As a result, merchants and retailers were obtaining supplies from garden areas in the Main Trunk area, it being found that the shop-keepers were buying direct from the growers.

This latter step was being taken as a result of the high prices ruling, the retailers preferring to keep their costs as low as possible and avoid the payments of commission, etc. Spinach, silver beet, cabbages, and cauliflowers were all being imported to the district. Lettuce, too, were being procured from outside sources.

A branch of the New Zealand
Labour Party was formed at Papatawa on Monday, July 8, at a public meeting attended by between 30 and 40 people. Mr Rossiter, chairman of the Pahiatua Labour Representative Committee, was in the chair.
The election of officers resulted:
Chairman, Mr Dickens; vice-chairman, Mr McLean; secretary, Mr Gledow.

The chairman extended a wel-come to Mr G. A. Hansen, Labour candidate for Pahiatua, who adcandidate for Pahiatua, who addressed the meeting, pointing out that the party was made up of people of every walk of life. For anyone to say that the party was run by one section of the people was incorrect, he said.

Quite a number of farmers were members of the House at present, and at the coming election quite a number of the candidates would be farmers.

Mr W. H. Oliver, the organiser, reported that Mr Hansen and himself had covered a lot of ground in the Ballance and Mangatainoka district, with encouraging results. In the near future it was intended to cover the Weber and Herbertville districts.

ANNUAL RUGBY MATCH BETWEEN SCHOOLBOYS

New Plymouth Beat Te Aute On Home Ground By 11 Points To 8

The annual match between Te Aute College and New Plymouth High Schools was played at New Plymouth Rugby Park on Saturday before a large attendance of the public. The weather was perfect. The game was one of the best seen for several years, being hard, fast and exciting. The final score was: New Plymouth 11, Te Aute 8. New Plymouth won the toss and Te Aute kicked off into a slight breeze with the sun at their backs.

In the second half, from a loose scrum McCallum sent Self away on the blind side. Running infield he drew Christie and with another drew Christie an

From a scrum, play of a scrambling nature was shifted to half way by the Te Aute forwards. McCullum gained possession and started his backs up. The ball went along to the winger Self who, with a burst of speed went over in the corner. The kick missed. The blind side. Running infield he drew Christie and with another change of direction, was in position, backed up by Kjestrup, for a runaway score. Obstruction, however, gave New Plymouth a penalty try and Allen had no trouble in converting. New Plymouth 8 Te Aute 3

MEET ANNUAL CONFERENCE

HELD TWO NEW MEMBERS

North And South To Amalgamate

"One of the most important matters dealt with last year was the fixing of the award for employees of rabbit boards," said Mr K. W. Dalrymple, president of the North Island Rabbit Boards' Association, at the annual meeting held at Hamilton recently. "It is pleasing to report that it was possible to come to a complete agreement in the Conciliation Council without the necessity of referring the matter to the Court of Arbitration," said Mr Dal-

The executive felt that the award, while fair to the employees, does not unduly hamper the working of rabbit boards.

Difficulties.

Out of the negotiations in connection with the award various points have arisen which show there are great difficulties at present in the election and Mr Bruce McLeod was elected in his place.

The executive wish to place on 'e-bit Board's Industrial Union of Employers, was carried on the voices.

The West Waikato Rabbit Board's delegate moved a remit that, in view the fact that the Minister of Labour is applying to local bodies to utilise unemployed labour, the Department of Labour be asked to reinstate scheme No. 13 in respect of rabbit destruction by rabbit boards. This remit was carried after the word "re-instate" had been altered to "continue" remit from the Hawke's Bay Rabbit Board that the annual conference for 1939 be held in Hawke's Bay was carried unanimously. Officers Elected.

The election of officers for the coming year was as follows:-

President, Mr K. W. Dalrymple; vice-president, Mr J. S. Allen; execu-tive, Messrs J. W. Batchelor, C. E. Johnston and Bruce McLeod as for the previous year. Messrs McCul-loch, Butler and Spence, of Hastings, were appointed the association's Two delegates being required to

NEW INSTRUMENT FOR TESTING OF FLEECES

The Card System Considered To Be Most Suitable Method

First undertaken some years ago in a small way, fleecetesting activities at Massey Agricultural College have continued to extend rapidly under the direction of Mr R. Waters, lecturer in micro-biology, until now there is hardly a part of New Zealand, except the Blenheim district, untapped by this important service.

Activities of the current season are well advanced, and it is estimated that when the work is completed for this year 20,000 fleece samples, or double the number dealt with last year, will have been tested.

Ten fleece-testers, four of them being men constantly engaged in outside activities, and six of them young women, are carrying out the work. These young women at the college operate the medullameter and associated apparatus, but oc. casionally, when pressure from flock owners is heavy, they don overalls and go out into the field to take samples from the sheep.

Several changes are noted in the executive since the conference held at Fielding last year.

In November last the resignation was received of Mr W. L. Grice and Mr J. W. Batchelor was appointed in his place. In May of this year Mr B. N. Sandilands did not seek released in the samples from the Taranaki and processing and Mr Bruce Mel cod week.

Two new members have been elected this year, the Mangapiko rabbit board and the Pahia'aa rabbit board. This brings the total membership to 37.

The Card System.

With its emphasis on genetics.

With its emphasis on genetics, An amended remit from the Manawatu Rabbit Board, that the conference agrees to the formation of the proposed New Zealand Rabbit Board's Industrial Union of Embedding Strategies on genetics, and on the intensification of production by research correlated with instructional services, a card index system is an entirely new feature evolved by the fleece-testing department of the college for the records of registered and unregistered stud

This will reveal blood relation ships on the same lines as for the breeding of thoroughbred horses and dairy cattle.

The card system is highly plastic and is considered to be the most suitable method for simple presen-tation of the somewhat complex operations of a breeder.

Numerous requests have been made for advice as to the best method of recording the characters and the performances of sheep, a method that would keep the blood lines distinct, and assemble for quick reference all information necessary to successful culling, selection meting of tion, mating, etc.
Some breeders have kept no records in the past, others realise that the records they have kept are incomplete or are assembled in a manner that does not readily yield

There is, in fact, probably nothing that would serve to place sheep breeding in New Zealand on a better footing than the adoption of a really simple and efficient means attend the South Island conference not only of recording the individual to finalise matters with regard to the proposed Industrial Union, Messrs Dalrymple and Kelly were records in a manner that discloses records in a manner that discloses at once the performance or hereditary features of each sheep, or rather of each family of sheep, with-

Recording Improvement.

The starting point for all improvement is better recording. Memory and guesswork will not suffice.
Whatever may be the object, be it stronger constitution, improve-ment in fertility, greater disease re-sistance, better meat or better wool, the starting point is a better sysem of recording.

By this means alone, it is considered, can be retained and eventually passed on the valuable experience gained in the past.

Recording is as indispensable to the breeder as book-keeping to the accountant. For this reason the card index system has been introduced, and already 2000 cards have

More Races Needed For Them

WEAKNESS EMPHASISED BY STANDARD OF RIDING

"Refresher Courses" Suggested

(By MOTUROA).

Much is being made—and rightly so—about the scant attention the New Zealand Racing Conference this month gave to the remit which urged more numerous races for aprentices, and trainers approached in the Manawatu and Hawke's Bay districts deplore the lack of interest the governing body shows in this most important matter. It would almost seem that the Racing Conference has overlooked the fact that the apprentices of to-day are to be the jockeys of to-morrow.

It is all very well to sit back in conference chairs and say that trainers should give the lads apprenticed to them proper training in riding horses, but anyone who has ridden under racing conditions, even in amateur events, soon realises that there is a world of difference between riding in track work

Under racing conditions a rider has to cope with a hundred and one contingencies that would not arise in the ordinary course of his work on the training tracks and the raw apprentice is at a fearful disadvantage with the silks up-a danger to himself and to every other rider in the event. There are certainly a few races restricted to apprentices.

but they are shamefully few—a mere half-dozen in the 1750 races decided each season—and, if the leading clubs are not prepared to make some effort off their own bat to help these lads it is up to the Conference to enforce these clubs to stage a certain number of apprentice races, according to the number of days' racing they are allotted.

Apprentice races will help a lot in giving practical experience, but the Racing Conference should not stop there, and it should be possible at least to arrange for "refresher" courses for the lads apprenticed to trainers.

Instruction in race riding has been urged for years by owners, trainers and some of the progressive racing bodies, but the matter has been shelved year after year by the Racing Conference, and the apathy of the governing body in this direction passes all understanding. Indeed, one finds it difficult to reconcile the action of the conference in cile the action of the conference in many petty matters when such a vital question makes itself obvious.

Observations made in the past season, and for a number of seasons past, convince all racegoers that the need for action in this direction is a very pressing one very pressing one.

Seldom does a day's racing pass without the stipendiary steward having to warn or advise a young horseman about his riding, and, while this comes within the wide scope of his duties as stipendiary stewards, it is not actually his function to do so very pressing one.

Many Disqualifications

Disqualifications have been meted out at such a number of meetings this season that it is obvious that there is something wrong. No racing man can blind himself to that fact, and the sooner action is taken the better it will be for the sport in Much older racing countries than New Zealand—England and Australia, for instance—have seen the Sometiming more than the mere sticking on a horse can be learned.

The present state of racing, though definitely improving, precludes the possibility of anything on such a scale being attempted here, but a start should be made somewhere. And, as trainers would naturally benefit from any improvement in the standard of riding, it would be reasonable to expect them to assume some of the responsibility of any scheme decided upon by the sticking on a horse can be learned.

It should be possible to introduce something in the nature of provincial schooling centres—Hastings for Hawke's Bay, Awapuni for Manawatu and Rangitikei, Te Rapa for South Auckland, Hawera for Taranaki, and so on—where an instructor could attend quarterly or half-yearly refresher courses and tutor groups of apprentices.

Such a scheme would have to be a compulsory one. It would be a start.

The meeting was attended by about 16 members of the branch, the

The president, in his annual report, stated that, since the formation of the Hawke's Bay branch progress, in comparison with other branches had not been very rapid, but good work had been done in conjunction with the New Zealand Executive in matters concerning the Owners, Breeders, and Trainers' Association, and the New Zealand Racing Conference had adopted several of the remits sent forward by the executive.

Iddo (Stowe) bowled along with the Hastings winner Trailer (Forsyth) from the five furlongs in 1.10, the first two in 28 1-5. They ran an easy five later to finish their work out and both horses look fit and well.

ELECTRICITY SUPPLY

Service to Freezing Works at Waitara

Negotiations have been completed with the Taranaki Electric Power Board for the supply of electricity to the freezing works at Waitara of Thomas Borthwick and Sons (A/sia.) Ltd. The estimated demand for power required by the company will exceed the present demand of the Stratford Borough and will result in the total load on the Board's sult in the total load on the Board's generating plant reaching the plant's full capacity.

"The contract is for a period of 10 years, and the estimated nett return to the power board will fully justify the expenditure of £10,000 which the board will have to face to enable the supply to be given," said the chairman, Mr N. H. Moss, at a meeting of the board at Elham. When the northern area in the When the northern area in the Clifton district was reticulated, it was expected that the main transmission line from the power station to Tikorangi would sooner or later have to be duplicated.
