GENERAL STRIKE IN PARIS BROKEN Situation Worse In Provinces MILITARY AND POLICE FORCES STAND IN READINESS

Far-reaching Requisitions Made Used French Association-Copyright (Received November 20, 11.45 p.m.) PARIS, Nov. 20. Although the general strike officially started at midnight, there was little evidence of it at one end. The first hour for commuters is a lull, but the real lull will be at 7.30 a.m., when 7,000,000 of our visitors are due to enter factories, work-shops and houses. The extent to which they observe will show the actual strength of the response to the strike call. There is little doubt about the Paris commandment of "The Times" that the response will be only partial, and that if essential services will be maintained. The only question is whether or not the movement will produce serious disorder. Strong forces of police and mobile troops, everywhere standing by, will certainly be used if required. Only two meeting places have appeared thus far, "Le Matin" and "Le Journal", each of four pages. A letter message states that while the Prime Minister (M. Doumergue) appears to have the situation in hand in the Paris area, the situation in the provinces appears less satisfactory. The Doumergue Government, however, has not yet taken any steps to break the strike in the provinces.
