Only LUX is safe enough for washing baby's nappies...

BECAUSE Lux dissolves so quickly

... RINSES OUT SO COMPLETELY

Don't let your previous baby offer the discomfort and annoyance of harsh soap suds. Always wash nappies with Lux to keep them down-to-earth against baby's tender skin. It's quicker dissolving, easier rinsed out and Lux contains no soda.

For all Baby's clothes

Why Soap-Bleaching Soap Leaves Nappies Harsh

When you rub nappies with soap-dissolving soap a certain amount of the soap sticks in the weave and can't be rinsed out. This means soap left in nappies causes the baby's skin to get irritated on baby's tiny limbs — makes him fretful and cross.

Lux Rinses Right Out Easily

But the lightning solubility of Lux means quick, easy, thorough rinsing. Just two changes of water and every trace of Lux leaves in tow, no residue left behind, white and soapy — and baby is happier because he's comfortable.

IT'S FALSE ECONOMY TO USE ANYTHING BUT LUX

OLD AGE NEED NOT BE A TIME OF LONELINESS

Women Should Prepare In Younger Years For This

Who will not agree that there are few scenes so pathetic in this world as the lonely woman, forced into solitude by her advancing age?

It is subsidiary as true today as it was in unevolved times, when the aged were left to perish, that the majority of men and women who have work to do and believe themselves to be part of the scene of things, have little thought of aging or understanding the agony of mind of the lonely woman.

Yet, perhaps her loneliness may be to some extent, her own fault, and her lack of back, imagination, and preparation for the real course of her life.

USELESS EXAMINATIONS
CONDEMNED BY MINISTER

Mr Fraser's Views On The Entrance Test For Colleges

Developments and improvements made in regard to training colleges were approved by the Minister of Education (Mr. P. Fraser) at the break-up ceremony of the Southern Training College.

Mr. Fraser said that a matter of importance to the future of education was the abolition of the training college entrance examination, which was regarded as unnecessary when the students had their regular examination at the end of the year.

After receiving the views of the Senate, the Minister said up to the present had been a very good one, but it was considered as early as possible to have such a test put into force in various parts of the country.

Ronald Colman's Latest Triumph "IF I WERE KING"

The current problems of the American film critics seem to be present in their efforts to find adequate expressions of their criticisms for Ronald Colman's new picture, "IF I WERE KING," just completed at Paramount. Lengthy reviews are very frequent in the latest issue of the American press, but not all receive the impression that writers are endeavouring to be as fair as they can be in the perfect picture.

The reaction is not altogether without warning, for one has heard for many months that the whole industry was swayed with great expectancy a success production.

This widespread enthusiasm is due to the fact that the picture is a masterpiece in every respect. The director was in the hands of the famous Frank Lloyd, and the picture is a masterpiece in every respect. The picture is a masterpiece in every respect.
