SUDETENS BREAK OFF NEGOTIATIONS WITH CZECH GOVERNMENT

ALLEGED BRITISH ULTIMATUM GRAVE CRISIS EXISTS

SERIOUS INCIDENTS IN NORTH REPORTED

Following the Maharsch-Ostrau affair, Herr Henlein, despite a chill, is understood to be returning to Czechoslovakia, probably to the sense of the illness which caused concentration in political circles.

The Berlin Press with one accord displays hysterical headlines which lay the Czechs' alleged failure to conduct the police and troops.

The "Völkischer Beobachter" asks what Lord Rensington will say to the House of Commons on the occasion of independence of the Czech people.

The latest message from Prague indicates that the Sudetens are meeting Dr. Hozda to inquire what measures he is taking in satisfaction of yesterday's ultimatum. The Inner Cabinet is expected to meet later in the day.

Mr Neville Chamberlain, Lord Halifax, Sir John Simon and Sir A. Cadogan conferred at 10 Downing Street. It is doubtful whether, in view of the grave turn of the Czech situation, Lord Halifax will be able to go to Geneva tomorrow.

Germany has not yet decided upon the line. There would be serious consequences should any one party of Government announce important changes in the General Staff, including the appointment of Marshal of the General Staff, including the appointment of Marshal of the General Staff, including the appointment of Marshal of the General Staff.

British support would be withdrawn, and Britain would have to take a certain step.

On the other hand, the "Daily Mail" reports that the British press says that officials believe that the Czechs are not likely to accept the terms of the ultimatum, and that the Government is not likely to accept the terms of the ultimatum, and that the Government is not likely to accept the terms of the ultimatum.

The official version of the Czech situation is that the Czechs are not likely to accept the terms of the ultimatum, and that the Government is not likely to accept the terms of the ultimatum, and that the Government is not likely to accept the terms of the ultimatum.
