WHERE'S THE Wash-house?

TODAY, many new home builders are glancing back without wash-houses. And, in place of the old-fashioned wash-house, a handsome H.M.V. Electric Washer does all the work of wash-boards, copper and wringers, calico and more efficiency and without soap-suds and tiring heat. The H.M.V. washer saves time, effort, money and space, and handles heavy woolens or dainty silks with the same gentle care. A convincing free home demonstration is available on request.

RAILWAYS MINISTER VISITS
ESK VALLEY

Keenly Interested in Damage
EAST COAST TIME-TABLE IS OUTLINED
New Service to Operate in November

A short but thorough inspection of the devastated Esk Valley was made yesterday morning by the Minister of Railways, the Hon. H. D. Sullivan, who was accompanied by the General Manager of the New Zealand Railways Corporation, Mr. Markham, the member for Hawke's Bay (Mr. E. Cullen), and the member for Tairāhema (Mr. J. E. Horwood). The party travelled by road to Eildon, where the railway party headquarters were established. Mr. E. Horwood, the Wellington railway agent, held views were made of other parts of the valley, and the Minister expressed interest in the damage done to the farms and the railway line. A party of a "City Mail" representative who travelled with the party, Mr. Sullivan said that he was surprised to find that the railway line had been so badly damaged, and that it was possible to walk down to assist the farmers who had suffered.

It was pleased with the work done by the Public Works Department, and was of opinion that the machines had proved their value.

The destructive floods of April 1937, which did not return until the middle of May, did not do much damage to the Esk Valley, though on a few of the districts, such as the Esk, the Esk, and the Esk, the damage was not so bad as in other parts of New Zealand.

Mr. Sullivan said that the Esk Valley was one of the worst damaged in the country, and that the damage was not only to the railway line, but also to the farms and the Esk Valley. He said that the Esk Valley was one of the worst damaged in the country, and that the damage was not only to the railway line, but also to the farms and the Esk Valley.

OTHER WORKS

The Hon. Mr. Sullivan's party were highly interested in the work being done at the Esk Valley, and in particular in the work being done at the Esk Valley. HAWKES BAY'S
CONTRIBUTION

The part played by the railways in the development of the Esk Valley has been a most important one, and it is expected that the Esk Valley will be one of the worst damaged in the country, and that the damage was not only to the railway line, but also to the farms and the Esk Valley.

SERVICE ON THE ROADS

Speaking of the road services, the Minister said that the Esk Valley was one of the worst damaged in the country, and that the damage was not only to the railway line, but also to the farms and the Esk Valley.
