"LIBERATION IS APPROACHING"

(From Press Association-Copyright. Received September 19, 9 p.m.)

LONDON, Sept. 19. - Tension in Danubian Europe is increasing. Anxiety is kept at fever-heat by German wireless propaganda.

The Budapest correspondent of "The Times" says that the Hungarian Government has promised support for the demands of the Hungarian minority in Czechoslovakia for a plebiscite.

The London "Daily Telegraph's" Warsaw correspondent says that it is officially announced that Berlin has resigned from the League Council.

The Warsaw correspondent of "The Times" says that the Czechs have liberated citizens from going to Poland without permission.

One hundred thousand Polish troops with many tanks and aeroplanes are engaged in thousands of manoeuvres at Volhynia, says the "Daily Telegraph." Manoeuvres have not previously been held on this scale on the Russo-Polish frontier.

The British Press correspondent in Berlin says that an official agency is circulating Polish Herr Henlein's manifesto addressed to the German people, declaring that the hour of liberation is approaching. It adds that hundreds of thousands of Sudetens who are joining the volunteer corps are ready to start their lives to deliver their homeland.

Herr Hitler conferred with the Minister of Foreign Affairs Herr Ribbentrop regarding the west-end and received several high army officers who were summoned to the Reichstag.

A Vienna report states that Czechs, who are "doubtless" in the most acute and dangerous position, stating whether they are Czech or German origin. It adds that a plan is being prepared for the Sudetens who are protesting against the frontier.

Nowhere Else But Here! The Implications of War

The kaleidoscope situation in Europe, with its swift and bewildering changes, has become the average observer's personal regard for a disaster.

As he looks across the seas he is aware of the conflict of national cultures, of the clash of ideologies, of the struggle to dominate the world.

A glance over the world reveals the various cleavages that have been formed, the lines of demarcation, the lines of conflict.

In order of merit the traditional British attitude may be placed first. It is an attitude that can be generally expressed as a desire for peace, and for any kind of war at all—an attitude that is not based on pessimism but on a realistic view of the world.

Whether he has knowledge of the present world, or whether he is a student of history, he will find that the British attitude is the only one that is based on a realistic view of the world.

Between these extremes are all kinds and gradations of opinion, but the British attitude is the only one that is based on a realistic view of the world.

It is a fact that there are 200,000 people in New Zealand who are not needed here, and that the country is in need of more people.

WILL STONHURK'S COLOURS STILL FLY?

Family Tradition was Carried On By Sir Chas. Clifford: Geraldine Prospects

"Daily Mail" Special Correspondent, CHRISTCHURCH, Sept. 16.

What will happen to the famous Stonhurk Shield following the death of Sir Charles Clifford? This is the main topic of conversation at present, and it is not at all surprising to find that many have expressed freely of all kind.

It is well known that Sir Charles Clifford will be the owner of Clifford will continue to run meetings, if it is possible to do so in the past.

SIR CHARLES Clifford, who has spent his splendid work started by his father, is the only one of the family who has been able to carry on the tradition of the shield. It is a fact that has been treated by it as a matter of course. The fact that has been treated by it as a matter of course. The fact that has been treated by it as a matter of course.

For Gordon. The late Mr. Gordon, who is engaged at Auckland will be the one to carry on the tradition of the shield. It is a fact that has been treated by it as a matter of course.

THE NATIONAL LEADER

A Message From Mr Hamilton to the People

THE ELECTIONS

The Menace of Socialism

New Zealand has now arrived at one of the most critical stages in its history. The Labour Party is pledged to establish Socialisation of the means of Production, Distribution and Exchange. If this pledge is carried out it means for us the end of those institutions which have been built up in Britain and in this country over the centuries. It means that the State will become the sole employer and the sole owner of nearly everything.

Such a state of affairs is so alien to the character of the people of this country that one would expect New Zealand to be the last country in the world to adopt it. Mr Baldwin once said that you can not move craft Communism, or anything like Communism, on to the British character than you can graft a Siberian crab on to an oak. I agree with him. I believe Socialism, which in its objective is the same as Communism, is not acceptable to the people of this country.

THE LABOUR PARTY OBJECTIVE

The difficulty is that the people do not know that Socialism is the end objective of the Labour Party. Everyone should study the objective and platform of the Labour Party, and they will find that Socialism is precisely what the Labour Party intends to bring about.

I feel confident that the New Zealander has not so far departed from the principles of his forefathers, as to accept Socialism. This country was founded by people who came half way round the world, who braved all the discomforts of travel and the dangers of colonisation of those seas, and who bore out their homes in the bush. They came so that they might own their own land and provide for their own future and that of their children. From their efforts, and the work of those who came after them, this country enjoys a standard of living which is second to none in the world, and has always been famous for its humanitarian legislation.

THE POLICY OF SEDDON

The Labour Party is responsible for neither the standard of living nor the legislation. Both date from the policy of the Rt. Hon. Richard J. Seddon and were fostered by their anti-Socialist administration. When the Labour Party came as followers of Seddon, they forgot their origin. The Labour Party was formed in opposition to Mr Seddon. His policy was to provide a Socialist policy. It was directly the opposite. His object was to provide the best opportunity for every man to carve out his own future. Nobody in Seddon's day thought people should leave the land for anything. The State helped only those who through no fault of their own were unable to help themselves.

LAND OF OPPORTUNITY

New Zealand is a land of opportunity. Two of our successful men were born of wealthy parents. If the Labour Party succeeds in its objective, all opportunity will be gone. Under Socialism the Trade Ring might never have been heard of. Under Socialism the world must be that the most enterprising members of our community will go elsewhere in search of opportunity. We cannot afford to lose these men.

THE WORKER UNDER SOCIALISM

For the wage and salary earner Socialism means more than just a change of employer. It means that all the advantages which industry has at present will have gone. There will be only one employer—the State. Under Socialism the man who does not like his work cannot change to another employer, for there will be no other employer. He cannot even choose his occupation. There can be no equal working conditions, hours or pay.

LOWERED STANDARDS OF LIVING

There are in the world to-day countries which have adopted this system involving complete suppression of the State, Germany and Russia are examples. In Germany they have National Socialism, and in Russia International Socialism. The standards of living in these countries are far lower than in democratic countries, while there is no one who simply does not eat.

There have been enough examples of the effect of State ownership of industries in New Zealand. Australia and elsewhere to show to everyone that State ownership, far from bringing greater efficiency, brings inefficiency, and that losses take the place of profits hitherto derived by private enterprise. These losses fall on the community as a whole, and the worker in particular, and the standard of living of all classes in the community must fall.

NATIONAL PARTY AND THE WORKING MAN

The lot of the working man and woman very closely concerns me. I approve and support labor unions and the rights of workers to form, support and join their unions. I would unquestionably retain the compulsory Arbitration Court which would fix the hours and wages of industrial workers. I will maintain the wages of public servants. The National Party does not call itself a Labour Party, but it is the best Party for the working man.

I find it most encouraging that many people who were not interested in politics prior to the last election are realising the danger of Socialism and are coming forward willing and anxious to help. The support we are receiving from men and women of all shades of opinion and conditions in life is magnificent. It would like to pay a special tribute to the work of the women. In fact, most of the active work for the National Party is being done by folk who are less capable than many members of the Labour Party. I invite everybody to join in the great work of defeating the country from Socialism and maintaining our British institutions. Will you help?
