LONGING OF PEOPLES OF WORLD FOR PEACE

Radio Appeal By Roosevelt LAW AND PERSONAL FREEDOM MUST BE MAINTAINED

Responsibility On Government

United Press Association—Copyright. (Received October 27, 11.45 p.m.)
 WASHINGTON, Oct. 26. President Roosevelt, in a radio address, said: "We who have lived through the grave hours of last month can never be lulled by the thought of the peace that is being built on the principles which are the only basis of permanent peace. There can be no peace if the desire for peace is to be replaced by the recurrent specification of their forces. There can be no peace if national policy adapts as a deliberate instrument the threat of war or the dispersion over the world of millions of helpless, persecuted wanderers without a place to call their home."
 "The peace of the world is possible if honest men and women are not few to think, their own thoughts, express their own feelings, and demand of their Government that it should be devoted to social and economic reconstruction as a direct result of the war."
 "At no time in modern history has the responsibility for the peace of the world been so clearly laid on the shoulders of the Government of the United States, which has no interest in freedom, I speak for the United States, which has no interest in freedom, and we recognize that the world today has gone to our shoulders."
 "The responsibility of the peace of the world today rests on the shoulders of the Government of the United States, which has no interest in freedom, I speak for the United States, which has no interest in freedom, and we recognize that the world today has gone to our shoulders."
