The good physique and general health of Hawke's Bay school children and the condition of the school buildings they occupy have very favorably impressed Dr. Elizabeth Gunn, Director of School Hygiene, who will leave by the Wellington express this morning at the expectation of her first official visit to the province.

On Friday she came to attend the Hastings High School, where Dr. Catherine Anderson and Dr. Betty Beecher were medically examining the pupils.

"I was delighted with the school buildings and especially with the playgrounds," she said. "I had good views of the province, and especially the coast. I was very impressed with the school buildings and especially with the playgrounds. I was very impressed with the school buildings and especially with the playgrounds."

Baron Von Cramm Faces Investigation

Police Action Shows German Sporting Circles

United Press Association—Copyright. (Received March 8, 9 p.m.)
BERLIN, March 8. The police have taken steps to investigate Baron von Cramm, on suspicion of violating paragraph 175 of the Criminal Code, dealing with sexual offences.

Von Cramm and Henkel returned last week from Australia. It is authoritatively stated that investigation is proceeding to decide whether von Cramm still has further duties.

A German Lawer Tennis Federation official says that von Cramm was sent to hospital suffering from heart trouble and that he cannot be visited.

The allegations against von Cramm have deeply shocked German sporting circles. Von Cramm, Henkel and Kluge, who returned to Germany on March 4, von Cramm left three days after the opening of his home at Hildesheim, near Hannover.

His relatives, owing to his non-return, began inquiries, and established the fact that he had been arrested. The fact that he has been arrested by the criminal police, not the Secret Police, renders it probable that he will appear in court upon his release to clear himself without trial.

Army Purge is Extensive
The purge being in Germany on February 4 is much more extensive than generally supposed, says the German correspondent of the "Manchester Guardian".

It is said that more than 100,000 officers have been dismissed, including highly competent representatives of the upper middle ranks. At least 500 officers have been dismissed, including highly competent representatives of the upper middle ranks.

REPUBLICANS' VIEWS
Roosevelt's Methods Fared

United Press Association—Copyright. (Received March 8, 11 p.m.)
WASHINGTON, March 8. Republican members of the House Committee filed a minority report on the issue between Roosevelt and the foreign press.

They asserted their willingness to vote against the defense bill, but would not do so until the foreign press had been "made secure".

The measure said that it is the policy of the United States to support the foreign press, but would not do so until the foreign press had been "made secure".

Life Imprisonment for Arundel Murderer on Grounds of Insanity

(From Our Own Parliamentary Representative).
WELLINGTON, March 8. An announcement that at today's meeting of the Executive Council the sentence of death recently imposed on Rowland Brundell David Smith for the murder of William Galy, Arundel murderer, was commuted to imprisonment for life, was made this evening by the Minister of Justice (the Hon. H. G. Mason).

The Minister said that although the prisoner's mental condition was probably not such as to cause him to be entitled to acquittal on the ground of insanity and consequently the evidence of insanity was submitted at the trial, the prisoner had in fact been confined in mental hospitals at intervals for many years.

Mental experts advised that without doubt the prisoner was insane.

AMERICAN POLICY AND PEACE

There is such concentration on affairs in Great Britain, Europe and the Far East that many are apt to overlook the importance of United States relations...

According to the official announcements of the United States policy it is obvious that the vast significance of an Anglo-American trade agreement lies in its importance as a major step in the international trade agreement...

The disastres of the 1929-32 period have taught lessons to those guiding the commercial policy of the United States. There has been the trade blockade...

The United States policy of endeavoring to find increased markets for its goods by means of international trade agreements is a policy which has been followed since the beginning of the present century...

The practical step to secure increased markets is not to shut out all imports so as to obtain 100 per cent. protection for the domestic market...

"No modern industrial nation can survive economically unless it enjoys a proportionately large exportable surplus."

Strong words and bold statement will be worthy of our nation's leaders if they are backed up by a sound policy of international trade...

BRITAIN MAY NOT BE ABLE TO DEFEND THE DOMINIONS

Prime Minister Says Cost of Rearing May Exceed Huge Sum Voted

United Press Association.—LONDON, March 7. The Prime Minister (Mr. Neville Chamberlain) advised the objects of Great Britain's defence policy as— First, protection of Great Britain itself. Secondly, preservation of the trade routes on which Britain depends for food and raw materials. Thirdly, protection of British territories overseas, including the Empire, and the dominions. Fourthly, preservation in the defence of territories of the right of way of communications.

He added that if failed to re-establish confidence the Government would not be able to secure the necessary rate of acceleration, being essential of the support of the country's wholesale and retail trade.

"Our duty for now," Mr. Chamberlain said, "is to get the nation to purchase more food and raw materials than we are able to produce at home. It is in this sense that we are rearing up a new defence force. It is in this sense that we are rearing up a new defence force. It is in this sense that we are rearing up a new defence force."

The Government, Mr. Chamberlain said, "is not going to be able to do more than to do what it can do. It is not going to be able to do more than to do what it can do. It is not going to be able to do more than to do what it can do."

HIGHER LAMBING PERCENTAGES

Flock Management This Month Will Aid Later Farm Returns

Those who read yesterday's "Daily Mail" will be interested in this article by "Veterinarian" on the methods of increasing lambing percentages. These have been discussed in an article which was published in the "Journal" last week, and which was written by the same author.

It is well known that the sheep which are bred for the purpose of producing lambs for the market should be bred for the purpose of producing lambs which are of a high quality and which are of a high percentage.
