THE PROSPECT OF WAR
The fate of Austria clearly reveals the economic policy of the Third German Reich—the creation of a Nazi hegemony over Central Europe.

It should not be forgotten that not long ago Hitler gave assurances to Dr. Schuschnigg over Austria's "protective agency" that would have allowed the country to remain independent.

A heavy strain at the present moment reveals that it is not likely that Hitler's scheme of Austria will be championed over Central Europe.

Both France and Britain have severe problems of their own to divide their attention. Russia is bogging a weary eye on Japan to find out if some time she had to meet and is still meeting, the problem raised through the room.

It is a matter of fact that the German Government has been able to force a change of Government, but has been able to force a change of Government, but has been able to force a change of Government, but has

Although Czechoslovakia has now been assured that the German Reich entertains no hostile or coercive measures against it, it is not likely that the German Government will take such an attitude of neutrality.

According to later cables, a British view stands bluntly: "Hitler's uncalculated pledges and guarantees are regarded as worthless, an illusion, a delusion, a concentration on extending and speeding-up rearmament without delay and regardless of cost. Britain has been convinced that Germany is bent on a course of aggression with force.

This leaves no business as to the future. The other powers will undoubtedly also serve notice on the hands of Germany, and through this policy will have an early and drastic modification of the ambitions of the aggressor, and a consequent re-orientation of the situation.

This prospect must revivify the forefront of all foreign policy and rearmament activities. The stark facts can no longer be ignored. The dangers are very real and very grave.

Thompson Draws Best Field For Years

Logical Favourite Stretto Has Every Qualification ORATORY SHOULD RUN OUT FINE MILE

With one of the finest fields for many years engaged, Thompson's Thursday Handicap at Trentham is attracting exceptional interest. The crown of New Zealand's great flat track is engaged in the big mile, and very few of the 28 acceptances are likely to drop out.

Acceptances with 28. Stretto would have not enjoyed the best of his luck. It is against the odds that he has won on so many times, but in the past he has been a real winner when fresh. Three years ago at the 1 1/2 mile race on the same track, he won the race in a hand way from the rest, and a few weeks ago at Trentham he was again a hardy acceptor.

It is a pity that if he were to win again he would be a big name in the race. He is a big name in the race, and he is a big name in the race. He is a big name in the race, and he is a big name in the race. He is a big name in the race, and he is a big name in the race.
