"STATE OF ALARM" PREVAILS

Troops Reported Moving on Border of Poland and Lithuania

Tense Situation

By Telegraph Association—Copyright.
(Received March 15, 9 p.m.)

LONDON, March 15.—Reports of troop movements on both sides of the Polish-Lithuanian frontier and the "state of alarm" reported to be prevailing in Kovno raised the belief that the Polish Government intends to go on to "Lithuanian protection" and compel the establishment after 18 years of continuous failure of several diplomatic and trade relations, states the Warsaw (Poland) correspondent of "The Times."

After a visit to Italy by the Polish Prime Minister (Cieliecki) and the Polish Foreign Minister (Cieliecki) were held in London for a week. It is understood that his purpose was to carry out whatever steps have been decided in London "in connection with the situation on the Polish-Lithuanian frontier created by the obstinate refusal of the Lithuanian Government to establish normal relations and its persistence in maintaining an artificial attitude towards Poland."

This is a quotation from an official announcement about a further incident at Munkacs on March 11, when a Polish frontier guard was "ambushed and killed" a few yards inside Lithuanian territory.

The general European atmosphere may be considered to have created a favourable moment for action. Polish public opinion is probably in a mood to support any Government action against Lithuania.

WHEN THE PIONEERS
BLAZED THE TRAILS

Hastings Settler Talks of Early History in Hawke's Bay

The trouble-makers, the rough bits of the pioneers, and the delicious greetings of the sailing vessels five months out from Hangan—these are but some of the memories that take Mrs. E. Willis, of Hastings, back to the days when there were no aeroplanes or even "old cars." It is at the time when the first settlers landed in New Zealand to find a colonial country.

Mrs Willis, who will be 84 years of age in May, is reputed to be the oldest woman resident in Hawke's Bay, having won first position in the Dominion.

Altogether she has lived 63 years in Hawke's Bay, including 20 in Napier and 43 in Hastings.

In the early days it was a hard crust, preserved potatoes and "hot water" for water. Mrs Willis' tasks did not stop with her husband's work. She was a busy woman, and in her opinion Hawke's Bay was an ideal place.

"I lived in the Dominion before I came to Hastings, and have travelled throughout the North and South Islands, and I know the history of my own country," she is heard to say.

Although Mrs Willis is credited by the "Daily Mail" as being the oldest woman in Hastings, she is by no means forgotten in the town. On the day that she came to Hastings she has been seen in the street by many of the town's people.

Early Days of Adventure

Mrs Willis was born in Hampshire, England. She came to New Zealand when she was 16 and during the same year she married Mr. Willis, who was a settler in the North Island. She was married in 1848 and she was 16 when she came to Hastings. She was married in 1848 and she was 16 when she came to Hastings.

She was married in 1848 and she was 16 when she came to Hastings. She was married in 1848 and she was 16 when she came to Hastings.

A contrast to the "Queen of the North" she observed.

Asked if she preferred life in England to that of New Zealand, she said she was of the opinion that, on the whole, she preferred the life in New Zealand.

"I was more than 100 years old when I came to New Zealand, and I was more than 100 years old when I came to New Zealand."

She was more than 100 years old when I came to New Zealand, and I was more than 100 years old when I came to New Zealand.

She was more than 100 years old when I came to New Zealand, and I was more than 100 years old when I came to New Zealand.

She was more than 100 years old when I came to New Zealand, and I was more than 100 years old when I came to New Zealand.

The Beauty of Ivory

TREASURE IT
It's Scarcely Makes It Precious
CARE NEEDED

Ivory is an beautiful and so many desirable things are made of it. It is to be kept the greatest treasure of all. There was a time when it was used for the making of ivory carvings and ivory teeth. It is now being used for the making of ivory buttons and ivory combs. It is also being used for the making of ivory pens and ivory pencils. It is a very valuable material and it is being used for many other purposes.

The ordinary use of ivory from the tusks of elephants is the most common. It is used for the making of ivory carvings and ivory teeth. It is also being used for the making of ivory buttons and ivory combs. It is a very valuable material and it is being used for many other purposes.

Not all ivory is pure white. Some of it is a light yellow, and some is a light brown. It is also being used for the making of ivory pens and ivory pencils. It is a very valuable material and it is being used for many other purposes.
