FURIOUS FIGHTING IN FRANCO'S NEW OFFENSIVE

Nationalist Advance In South: Barcelona Bombed: Republican Counter Attack Claimed

United Press Association—Copyright. (Revised January 2, 9 p.m.)

Furios fighting in the main sectors attends General Franco's Catalonia offensive. Every available plane is engaged. The State seizes the tanks.

Italian divisions, including the Littorio, which at Sagunto showed the assault, prepared earlier by a Republican counter-attack.

The Nationalists claim the capture of Alcala, Pineda, Gandia, and Calvesa, a total gain of 246 square miles on a 100-mile front.

The Saragosa correspondent of "The Times" says that the Nationalists are advancing on the southern sector, despite the necessity for starting a succession of well-defended lines between the River Segura and the Torres Jorda hills. They crossed the River Segura about 10 miles.

A white offensive in the lower Ebro is increasingly probable. The Nationalists are pushing forward on the air three times, still being killed and 92 wounded. Bombers cut a 30-mile path three miles long across the centre of the front.
