WHAT IS AN ASSET?

The Reserve Bank statement of assets and liabilities, published this morning, reveals the true position of the Government's finances. It also shows that there is some justification for the Prime Minister's cautious and rather obliging reference to social credit theory which has been taken for an attempt to appease the currency and credit reformers who are clamouring still in the currency room, so it is well to have a leading eye to necessary manipulation.

Included in the assets of the Reserve Bank are two items, additions to the Primary Products Marketing Department (45,158,371), and advances "for other purposes" (430,800,000) which form the chief reserve against the liabilities.

This asset, however, is such in name only as it is the liability of the taxpayers who are the State, namely, the greater the liability of taxpayers generally.

The whole situation points to a tendency to finance by means of loans from the Reserve Bank—which is an unbecomingly revealed by the ability of the taxpayer to meet demand.

Naturally there must be a limit to this process. Indeed, in the last annual statement of the Bank a note of warning was sounded that the further the issue of funds in this way the more apt it was to have any existing State borrowed.

It is more than plain that the State-to-day is spending beyond its income, and providing for the delivery by means which soon will have to be repaid.

Unfortunately, there is a considerable confusion of thought as to the meaning of the term "asset" which leads to the belief that by utilizing the Reserve Bank and the "public credit" it is possible to acquire a truly permanent source of income and to provide the proceeds in the form of other services to the community.

The people are misled by the impression that the State borrowing from the Reserve Bank may grow, as the State Treasury and the Bank is therefore the source of its own income.

Nothing could be further from the truth. The ultimate source of all revenue is the production of the goods which are sold by the State through taxation and similar means. The other source of revenue is the production of goods which are sold by the State, and if the State takes from one pocket, that is not to be regarded as a truly permanent source of income, the more the State spends, the higher taxation will be, and the more the State will have to borrow.

It is in course, possibly to delay or soften the impact of the effect of the present position. For instance, the issue of the "assets" of the Reserve Bank to the £45,158,371, which is the amount of the Primary Products Marketing Department, may be many years before we are called upon to write off the debt, and it is probable that it will be paid by a gradual process.

It may be said, of course, that there may be a possibility of the effect of the present position. For instance, the issue of the "assets" of the Reserve Bank to the £45,158,371, which is the amount of the Primary Products Marketing Department, may be many years before we are called upon to write off the debt, and it is probable that it will be paid by a gradual process.

Spending policy, in order to avoid the appearance of spending there is a constant expense of revenue, and the limits of this are controlled by the Government. For instance, a good deal could be done to apply mortgages and to stimulate production of goods, but the Government would get a fuller indication of its appreciation of the necessity to provide the means of production of goods which are sold by the State in the heavy burden laid upon taxpayers at the present time, and the Government will have to be more careful in converting its deficiencies, or rather to consider any reasonable proposals to overcome them.

PHYSICAL FITNESS IS NOW THE MAIN SLOGAN

Elaborate Programmes Arranged For The Franchise Celebrations

New Zealand has been on parade from February 18 to February 22, 1939, in the most elaborate and complete and Reveille's fitness week with the success it has achieved.

In a nationwide campaign, the Army, Navy, and Air Force are co-operating.

At the opening of the week, His Excellency the Governor, Sir G. H. W. P. Perry, the council has sent circulars to all mayors of cities and boroughs, county, district, and urban districts, and to the various clubs throughout New Zealand, and if the response is complete New Zealand should feel proud to have been the first to inaugurate this movement.

If it signified in this circular that committees should be formed in each district to coordinate the sporting activities of the town and country people.

In keeping with the view of New Zealand, the idea is being taken up with enthusiasm in Hawke's Bay, and Miss K. McCosker, in whom the work has been entrusted, is making great progress with her work.
