JAPAN'S OCCUPATION OF HAINAN CAUSES GRAVEST CONCERN

POSSIBLE MENACE TO HONG KONG AND SINGAPORE

INTERNATIONAL SITUATION IN PACIFIC

United Press Association—Copyright. (Independent Cable Service)

It is reported that the Japanese have conscripted civilians on Hainan Island and are building aerodromes and developing the harbour at Haikow to take bigger warships.

The "Puck" magazine in Tokyo, according to another message states that the occupation in Hainan will be permanent. Japan and Britain must find it impossible to reach any compromise which would ally them to the disadvantage of the Pacific.

REHEARSING AT LEADES PARK, NANTWICH. A remarkable scene showing the progress of approaching and clearing a hurdle. The day in the middle of the park, with spectators back, came to grief at a hurdle at a moment after the camera shutter had closed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The Secretary of State (Mr. Cordell Hull) in a world-wide broadcast, indignantly rejected proposals that President Roosevelt call an international disarmament conference. He emphasized that the basic causes underlying war are not purely economic and must be worked out before there can be a realistic solution of the problem.

MANY DEFECTS IN THE MATRICULATION SYSTEM

Flaws in Marking Methods Are Revealed By Principal Of High School

Although not entirely approving the principles of accrediting in school examinations, Mr. W. A. Pennington, the principal of the Hastings High School, recently criticised the matriculation examinations as being defective in New Zealand when speaking to the "Daily Mail" yesterday.

The principle of accrediting in the granting of University Entrance is not approved by the majority of the matriculation examination as a fair and equitable system. Mr. Pennington said that the matriculation examination is not a fair test of a student's general knowledge and ability.

He was not generally in agreement with the present system, but he pointed out that a pupil was fitted to go on to a university course if he had passed the matriculation examination. He said that the present system was not a fair test of a student's general knowledge and ability.

THE DOMINION'S NEED For More Nurse Nurses

Hospital Board's Effort To Arouse Public Interest In The Subject

"That the Hospital Board's conference held recently in New Plymouth had not achieved anything further towards clearing up the shortage of nurses in New Zealand was the opinion of the Minister of Health, Mr. H. S. G. Stewart, at his monthly meeting yesterday.

He reported from the conference that if the position did not improve in the near future, the Minister of Health would appeal to the young women of New Zealand who were not nurses to be trained as nurses.

Mr. H. S. G. Stewart said that the shortage of nurses is a serious problem. He called for more public interest in the subject.

ARCHERY IS AN HISTORIC SPORT

Forty Pounds Pull For a Woman To Draw A Bow

Archers from all over the Continent and from America shot in their bows at the historic Artillery Company's ground at Flanders Square, London.

Among them were Mrs Inge Simon, woman world champion, who is English, and Mr. Georges de Belin, of Belgium.

Captain Higgs, captain of the English team, said that when a man draws his bow he is using power equivalent to raising half a hundredweight.

'The longest distance at which the man shot is 150 yards and the woman's longest distance is 70 yards,' he said.

'They will have pulled thirty stone weight, having shot 100 times, and the woman who draws with this much weight we are sure will be a fully trained archer.'

They were all bowmen and had been so since they were children. They were all bowmen and had been so since they were children.

So few really high class stallions make anything approaching the value in the first generation it is remarkable that more attention is not paid by breeders to making their good stallions appear to come from the best blood.

It is an exception for a good class stallion to come from a good female, and almost without exception, our best racehorses today are bred from mares that were of little account on the track. More especially does this rule apply to mares who have done very little racing and were retired to the stud before any great strain had been placed on their constitution by hard racing.

This should be the general rule to a rather good thing for the sport for it means that often a well-made mare is dropped because her owner has found that she shows little liability for racing and it is thus possible for the stallion breeder to secure a foundation for a second or third crop.

As far as much as the best breeder is needed in the industry to import high class stock, the smaller player a very important part in keeping the supply of mares to keep racing going in the Dominion. Few of the small breeders are fitly to the fashionable taste to fill their requirements.

It is in no sense that during the early years of the Dominion the mare was not bred in any way to the same extent as the stallion. In fact, the mare was bred in a much greater number than the stallion, and it was only in the latter part of the century that the mare was bred in a much greater number than the stallion.
