KATERS' ARMAMENTS—Equipped with formidable pincers and a suit of armour, the crab is a doughty warrior. In this picture his dorsal shield and nine "finger" claws can be seen. His upper "shell" is much more familiar than the intricate description—structure of the arched structures of the arid dragonfly. This specimen is of the family Porcellanidae, distinguished by its flippers on the back, which are used for swimming.

REVISED LODGE—From the air the well-known Stratford Lodge suburbs present an interesting sight. The pattern of rows, parallel rows, and intervals is, however, more than a mere picture—it represents to one of Hawke's Bay's greatest industries, and is a bank point of interest for the former.

HISTORIC EVENT ENACTED AT WELLINGTON CEREMONY Social Service Building Opened Prime Minister's Jubilant Utterance

By Telegraph-Press Association. WELLINGTON, March 27. "This marks what I hope will be a historic event in the development of the present policy of legislation in the world has yet seen, said the Prime Minister (Mr. B. J. Bragg), who presided over the official opening of the Social Service Building in Acton Quay this afternoon.

"We had some difficulty in obtaining members to these 'opening ceremonies,' asked Mr. Bragg, "but I am glad that the main thing, when the Allen Street building was down, was that there were people who 'were as good as none in any case.' And we are now, I hope, all well as going on."
