HEATED DISCUSSIONS IN TOKYO END IN COMPLETE DEADLOCK. BRITISH AND JAPANESE OFFICIALS PART IN ANGRY MOOD.

ABSOLUTE REVISION OF LONDON POLICY IS DEMANDED. CRITICAL SITUATION REVEALED.

HEATED TALKS IN TWO SESSIONS TOTALLING FIVE HOURS, THE BRITISH AMBASSADOR (Sir Robert Craigie) and the Japanese Foreign Minister (Mr Arima) completely deadlocked at 6.30 p.m. in their efforts to establish a basis for the conference on Tientsin.

It is authoritatively stated that the two parted in an angry mood, postponing a further meeting until Friday.

Mr Robert Craigie is communicating with London in view of the complete disagreement. Mr Arima was adamant, saying that it was useless to continue unless Britain revised her whole policy in the East.

The British News Agency reports that Robert Craigie informed Mr Arima that the staff attaches residing in Tientsin, had been evacuated to Shanghai because of the situation there was no reason for optimism.

It is understood that Japanese correspondents say that Japan's request that Britain should recognize partial independence of Tientsin had been refused.

According to an earlier newspaper report, Japanese negotiations have broken down because of the Japanese demand for a complete revision of the Tientsin Agreement, and it is reported that the Japanese are now insisting on a complete revision of the Tientsin Agreement.

A Japanese Army spokesman at Peking has said that the Japanese Government has decided to send a representative to London to discuss the Tientsin situation.

It is reported that a British official has visited Peking to convey the Japanese demand for a complete revision of the Tientsin Agreement.

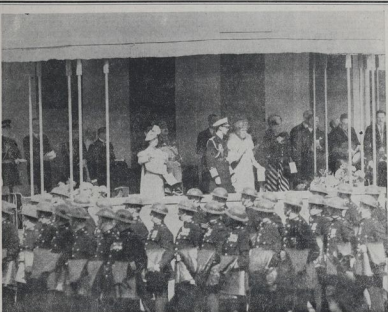

Lord Coleridge has been appointed to the post of Lord Chancellor of Great Britain. He will succeed Lord Sankey, who has been appointed to the post of Lord Chief Justice.
