BELGIUM MAY AGAIN SUFFER AN INVASION

A Lightning Attack Possible

NAZIS COULD OUTFLANK THE MAGINOT LINE

Allies Ready for Major Battle

United Press Association—Copyright.
(Received September 19, 2.45 a.m.)

PARIS, Sept. 19.

The British and French armies are now prepared for a major battle.

The French expect a lightning attack, possibly through neutral countries.

Units of Nazi mechanized forces being transferred to the Rhine from Poland is believed to be a prelude for Holland and Belgium, but when Hitler's peace offer fails the German General Staff will be faced with a momentous decision whether to strike the Low Countries or attempt to outflank the Maginot Line and to ease the pressure on the Siegfried Line and save the Ruhr.

RED ARMY COLUMNS NOW NEAR LWOV

Battles in The Streets Break Out at Night

United Press Association—Copyright. (Received September 20.)

LONDON, Sept. 19. A White message stated that the Russians began to enter Wilno on Monday night. There was some street fighting between Poles and Russians. White Russian forces to enter Wilno from Poland were reported to be 10,000. The Lithuanians hope that Russia will return Wilno to Lithuania, from which Poland seized it in 1920. The Soviet General Staff, in a night communique, states that the Red Army's advance columns are approaching Lwow.
