(By MOTURAJ.)

Although he failed in the Metropolitan Handicap, Royal Chief's form at the A.S. Cup meeting at Randwick was good enough to draw marked attention to the prospects of Royal Chief's bid to repeat his success at next month's and it appears likely that he will become a strong contender for the Cup.

Royal Chief de-batched for first time with Monks in the Collins Cup and finished at the head of the field to win the Randwick Plate on Saturday. That race was certainly not at a very slow pace but Royal Chief finished with the former dash and the effect indicated that he was improving with his form.

Royal Chief could finish only sixth in the Metropolitan Handicap, in which he led, but he drops to 3.6 in the Metropolitan Handicap, which he led to finish up before the two-mile at Riccarton. The win, too, does New Zealand Cup prospects, as the New Zealand Cup next month, and it appears likely that he will become a strong contender for the Cup.

Royal Chief has the benefit of two months racing over his rivals and will be a strong contender for the Cup. He will have only the Wellington meeting to show before his difficult task. If he can make the grade on that day he will be a very good chance to win the Cup.

New Zealand Cup candidates at Centropoise and Haurangi Cup were entered for the first time at the Royal Hunt Cup. They were entered for the first time at the Royal Hunt Cup. They were entered for the first time at the Royal Hunt Cup.
