Germany's Needs Can Not Be Supplied

FAILURE OF THE SOVIET Production Is Needed For Her Own Requirements

BERLIN'S HOPES FADING

United Press Association—Copyright. (Received November 16, 11.5 a.m.)

"Production is mostly under Russian iron requirements and Germany can count only on food, iron, manganese, and timber."

"Her hopes regarding oil are fading, while, although she has not undervalued resources of coal, copper, zinc, and tin, the Soviet is importing these basic war materials herself."

"Soviet was understood to be unable to supply Germany's liability to advance gold."

SUBMARINE LOSSES PUT AT ABOUT ONE-THIRD OF TOTAL GERMAN FLEET

DESTRUCTION RATE SHOULD REMAIN STEADY AS ALLIED WEAPONS ARE IMPROVED

British Official Writes

(Received November 15, 4.45 p.m.)
RUGBY, Nov. 15. When a U-boat goes down in deep water it leaves no trace, so it is thought that Germany started the war with 200 craft, distributed into large ocean-going, medium-size, and purely coastal types. To this fleet she can add, it is estimated, two further U-boats each week. In the first year of the war, there is good reason to believe, about one-third of the total German submarine fleet was destroyed or badly damaged. This it must be anticipated that, by the end of January, she will have about 200 craft available, less any sinkings which may occur.
