Finland Reviews Successes After Two Months Of War

United Press Association-Copyright. (Received February 1, 11.5 p.m.)

HELSINGFORS, Feb. 1. Twenty-seven Russian 'planes raided Rovaniemi to-day, hitting a hospital and killing 15 and injuring 60.

An intense struggle is going on north-east of Lake Ladoga. The Finns further encircled the invaders in the Kitela sector, recapturing Pitkaranta, a lakeside town 10 miles north-east of Kitela. The trapped Russians had been without food for a week.

The Russians took the offensive in the Petsamo sector and the Finns fell back and then forced the Russians to retreat to their original positions.

Fierce fighting occurred at Rasti, an important road junction south-east of Suomussalmi, where the Finns, who were outnumbered two to one, nevertheless took the offensive in two main onslaughts against the crack 54th Division, which was 20,000 strong. Already many Soviet detachments have been destroyed.

The Russians are also bringing up strong and wellequipped reinforcements to Salla, where the fighting is

As Finland enters the third month of the war an official statement estimates the Russian losses THE CAUSE OF since the outbreak at 250,000 dead, wounded and taken prisoner. The Russians have dropped 20,000 bombs on Finland, made air raids on 207 towns, villages and clusters of farms in 640 raids. The cost to Russia has been 300 'planes and 900 trained airmen, which is very serious in view of the Soviet's well- CHANGE PREDICTED known shortage of trained airmen.

Apostolic Blessing Bestowed In Speech From Study In The Vatican

United Press Association-Copyright. (Received February 2, 1 a.m.) LONDON, Feb. 1.

The Pope, broadcasting to the Eucharistic Congress in New Zealand from his Vatican study, said: "I rejoice that you are celebrating the first century of the Catholic Church New Zealand with this congress. I pray that God's peace may descend upon you in common life and mercifully protect you from the horrors of war."

He bestowed an apostolic benediction on all his beloved sons and daughters. The Pope, who spoke in English, emphasised the virtues of faith, prayer, and sacrifice, and urged his hearers to live as God-fearing, earnest Catholics. He hoped that Christ would rule over the whole life of the nation. He invoked special blessings on the Maoris, urging Church leaders to increase religious work among them so that the second century would make them one with the great family of God.

It's married life — In the raw. At least that's what one pair of newlyweds always seem to get into in "Thanks for the Memory," the first film to be shown at the Municipal Theatre, Hastings, to-day. With Bob Hope, Shirley Ross, Charles Butterworth and Roscoe Karns in the leading roles, the picture tells of two recently married people trying to pay their bills and get along in face of raids upon their household facilities by frolicsome friends.

The title of this new comedy was inspired by the song of the same name which was sung by Bob Hope

The associate feature, Paramount's "Back Door to Heaven," introduces Wallace Ford as a small town boy who asks just one chance of life and never gets it, Patricia Ellis as the girl who loves him and tries to get him that chance, and Aline Machan as the school teacher who attempts to guide him to the right path are the central characters.

Ford, who will be remembered for his performance in "Men in White" and "The Informer," unites with Patricia Ellis, Aline MacMahon and Stuart Erwin to bring a poignant story to the screen — the story of a boy who struggles to grow up like it the solid citizens in the community, by the song of the same name which was sung by Bob Hope

"Hawaiian Nights" Is Second Feature

A thrillingly dramatic story of a A thrillingly dramatic story of a psychiatrist who matched his wits against a murderer's blazing gun, "Blind Alley," which comes to the Cosy Theatre, Hastings, to-day, is a virtual bombshell of highly charged realism. Featuring Chester Morris, Ralph Bellamy and Joan Perry, "Blind Alley" is brilliantly directed and splendidly played.

"Blind Alley" swings into tense "Blind Alley" swings into tense action from its initial scenes when the summer home of a professor of psychology is invaded by an escaped prisoner whose record of killings is formidable. With his seizure of the estate all members of the household and several guests are subjected to a reign of terror. Although his life is in danger, the professor asks questions. The killer answers, and in this verbal attack the dark story of a criminal is bared.

Announced as a glamorous picure of the tropics, with melody, laughter, romance and native dancers in new swing hula routines, Universal's latest musical film "Hawaiian Nights," is the second feature.

against overwhelming odds: A lone woman finds love and peril on a primitive frontier.

Believe it or not—this is what happens in Shirley Temple's latest 20th Century-Fox picture, "Susannah of the Mounties," which is now showing at the State Theatre, Napier.

The famous story of the old North-west is a thrilling vehicle for the Number One star.

Garbed in calico and buckskin, Shirley Temple's is a real dramatic role different from anything she has done previously on the screen. Randolph Scott and Margaret Lockwood, the lovely star of "The Lady Vanishes," are featured in the romantic leads, while others in the large cast are Martin Good Rider, 13-year-old Blackfeet discovery, who makes his debut in the film, J. Farrell MacDonald, Maurice Moscovich, Moroni Olsen, Victor Jory and Lester Matthews.

If you are in the habit of using cake soap on your head instead of iquid shampoo you will find that it s much more satisfactory if you is much more satisfactory if you change your soap into a liquid. It is quite simple. Cut the soap into shavings with a knife, add water, and boil over a slow flame until a soapy pulp results. Then add enough water to make at least a quart of shampoo.

Engineers' overalls and clothes that get stained with oil should be washed before they are used and starched with thin starch. This prevents the oil from soaking into the material. Then after use if they are put to soak in warm water containing a little ammonia the grass taining a little ammonia, the grease will come out easily. The clothes should be starched each time they are washed, but the first starching the most important.

Nuptial Mass

When measuring treacle, coat the spoon or cup with flour to prevent the treacle from sticking. The same method can be used when weighing treacle, and will prevent it from sticking to the container on the scales.

At the Church of St. Michael and St. John, Dannevirke, Kathleen Minna, third daughter of Mrs. E. and the late Mr. T. G. Roberts, was married to Thomas Miles, youngest son of Mrs. S. J. and the late Mr. T. Daulton, Gisborne. The Rev. Father T. Guinane performed the ceremony and celebrated Nuptial Mass.

a charming bridesmaid in a picture frock and hat of lucerne blue cobweb lace. Soft velvet bows trimmed the ruched corsage and swathed the crinoline hat, which had a pretty underbrim of lace. The bridesmaid's sheaf of gladioli in hydrangea shades was in lovely contrast to the misty blue of her frock. A friend of the bridegroom, Mr. Jim Delany, of Wellington, carried out the duties of best man. Mrs. S. J. Daulton was unable to be present owing to illness, but at the reception the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Jim Jobson, of Gisborne, assisted Mrs. Roberts. The latter's ensemble of navy sheer had touches of fuchsia, and her smart navy hat was trimmed with a knot of flowers in dull fuchsia shades, which toned with her bouquet. Mrs. Jobson wore a hat and accessories in a lovely dahlia shade, which brought out the predominating colour in a smart figured frock.

WARRING IDEOLOGIES

The ranting mouthings of the German Fuhrer, when they are studied alongside the calmly reasoned statement made by the British Prime Minister, bring out more clearly than ever the fact that Nazi and British mentality are incommensurate. It is impossible to make a comparison. There is only contrast. With that lack of finesse characteristic of the German mind, Hitler made it perfectly clear that his hatred of Britain is based largely on the fact that the Empire controls such a large proportion of the surface of the globe. In other words, Nazism is out to take away British possessions and in the ultimate to achieve not only the old familiar "place in the sun," but to shut off the sunlight from every other race by making Old Sol a tutelary German deity.

Hitler's utterance, so far as it can be understood in the translation, was more like the shaken fist of the schoolboy who scowls at his enemy in a promise of dire penalties to come when school is out, than the reasoned declarations of a responsible leader of the people. Well may we agree with some of the British Press comments that the German people must be gullible indeed if they can be taken in any longer by such inconsequential twaddle. "You asked for a fight, and you are going to get it." So raves the Fuhrer, despite the fact that no man on the planet did more than Mr Chamberlain to avoid a conflict.

The ideals of the British and the Nazis are as far apart as the poles, and as things are it is only by the victory of one side or the other, with its consequent blood-letting, that a solution of the problem can be found. What that solution may be, no man knows, but it will be a hard blow to those who believe in "the Power, not ourselves, making for righteousness," if the brutal Nazi system should succeed in imposing its unholy will upon the world.

Hitler's cheap sneer at the "Bible-reading Chamberlain," coupled in the next sentence with the Fuhrer's opinion of what God ought to do, is nothing but sickening. The charge of British hypocrisy coming from such a source is unspeakably offensive.

On the other side of the grim and grisly argument, Mr Chamberlain could point to the fact that Britain has never sunk a neutral ship and has never wittingly taken a neutral life. That is not so much an argument as a fact which Hitler and his minions cannot possibly deny. There is more than lip-service rendered to the cause of decency and humanity by the Empire, both in regard to its conduct of the present war and to the administration of the Dominions, colonies, and dependencies in its charge.

Mr Chamberlain's stern warning to the Dominions should be kept in the forefront of the mind of every citizen of this country. When we mourn the fate of Poland and of Czechoslovakia, we should realise that that is precisely what would happen here in the event of a Nazi victory. One is reminded of the famous lines written by Burns, when he sympathised with and warned those who looked on with regret when the daisy was ploughed under in the field:

"O thou who mourn'st the daisy's fate, That fate is thine, no distant date Stern Ruin's plowshare drives elate Full on thy bloom Till, crushed beneath the furrow's weight, Shall be thy doom."

The insensate drive for world domination on the part of Nazi tyranny will stop at nothing to achieve its foul ends. The atrocity stories which have been published are too numerous and too well authenticated to be the mere imaginings of British propagandists. This war is no parlour game, nor is it a military tournament. It is a desperate struggle for the survival of all that we have ever known and loved.

Needs of Troops

The Mayor of Napier (Mr T. W. Hercock) has issued an appeal for sports gear for Hawke's Bay men in camp at Trentham. Among the requirements are boxing gloves, basketballs or soccer balls, medicine balls and two Rugby balls. A set of Scottish bagpipes is needed and a typewriter for the orderly room, the latter item having been unsuccessfully sought through the Army Department. It is realised that medicine balls may be hard to obtain in this district, but any residents having any of the items mentioned in their possession and wishing to donate them to the men are asked to notify Mr Hercock or the Town Clerk (Mr F. This was announced by the Prime Minister (the Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain) in the course of a speech at a luncheon in London at which many foreign diplomatic representatives were present, including the Ambassadors of France and

In reviewing the "prodigious efforts" of the first five months of the war, Mr Chamberlain said that Britain had upwards of 1,250,000 men under arms, including the first contingent of the British Expeditionary Force in France, with its many thousands of transport vehicles and nearly half a million tons of munitions and food.

The battle-front of the Navy, he added, covered two-thirds of the earth's surface. During the very time when Rear-Admiral Sir Henry Hardwood was figuring in the historic action against the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee in the south Atlantic, the submarine Salmon torpedoed a German cruiser in the North Sea and at the same moment the British Navy was convoying Canadian troops across the Atlantic, and yet other troops came from Bombay through the Mediterranean.

Referring to the disturbance to neutral trade, he reaffirmed the British desire to see, after the war, the restoration of freer exchange of goods and services between nations.

Britain, he said, was not indifferent to the neutral losses; nor did she intend to use the measures taken in the prosecution of the war for purposes of unfair trade advantage in peace.

"We recognise that, for the full development of international trade, it must flow along multilateral chan-

To give an idea of what was involved in the Navy's watch and ward of the seas, the Prime Minister mentioned that, since the outbreak of the war, one British battleship had covered well over 34,000 miles, while in the first 120 days of the war one British cruiser was at sea for 102 days. Eschewing figures of expansion in the air, which might be useful to the enemy, Mr Chamberlain nevertheless stated that the forces now employed in aircraft construction were seven times those of the year 1935-36 and were higher to-day than at the peak of Britain's output in the last war.

High Quality

Experience already showed that the quality of the machines and the personnel left nothing to be desired and, if Germany probably was making improvements to correct the faults disclosed in her machines. Britain was not standing still either. The Empire air training scheme promised for the future an almost intended for the future an almost inexhaustible supply of expert pilots, observers, bombers and gunners.

Mr Chamberlain said that the 67 air training scheme from the future and almost intended to the staffed by 40,000 men with the use of 80 aerodromes.

Mr Chamberlain quoted figures showing the strength of air-raid precautions civil defence. He said that there had not been air-raids yet but that Britain would be prepared if they did come. Fire services in vul-nerable areas were ten times the number employed in peacetime. He turned next to war production and equipment, which, he said, had involved a revolution in industrial involved a revolution in industrial and economic life and a vast organisation of the Imperial resources. For example, the whole output of Empire wool for the duration of the war and a year after had been bought, as well as £85,000,000 worth of textiles and leather. WELLINGTON, Jan. 1.

"Preparations are practically complete for the main national Centernial celebration at Waitangi on February 6, and the prospects are bright for very impressive ceremonies and pageantry," stated the beginning of the war. Overcoating material was being manufactured at the rate of 500,000 a month, compared with 175,000 a year on peacetime, and boots were being made at the rate of 500,000 a month, compared with 175,000 a year on peacetime, and boots were being made at the rate of 500,000 a year on peacetime, and boots were being made at the rate of 500,000 a year on peacetime, and boots were being made at the rate of 130,000 pairs a week, instead of the 120,000 a year produced in peacetime.

At home, since the war began, the output of guns of all kinds had doubled and, in some cases, increased eightfold. The output of shells also doubled since the war began, and was now ten times as great as after the first five months of the last war.

After referring to the expansion on the impressive figures he recited as follows: "You will see, from what I have said, that we are using the services of millions of men and women. We are taking steps to control tens of millions of tons of materials, and we are spending hundreds of millions of more with the steps of the steps of millions of more with the steps of millions of more with the steps of the steps of of millions of money.

"In future we expect to make still greater efforts, and yet there is not a single non-belligerent country which feels it is threatened by this enormous accumulation of power. There is not one which feels that its independence is in danger at our hands. There is not one which suspects us of coveting a square inch of its territory."

Papal Legate's Messages From Pope

By Telegraph—Press Association. WELLINGTON, Feb. 1.

The Eucharistic Congress was pened in fine weather and was attended by a large crowd which gathered on the assembly ground in front of St. Patrick's College, which had been levelled and prepared during the past six months at great expense for the occasion. Seating had been provided for many thousands before a high altar, and every seat was occupied long before mass began.

An impressive sight was the procession of clergy which preceded the Papal Legate, Archbishop Panico, and the bishops on the way to the altar. Every person on the ground heard every word of the service through an efficient loud-speaker system.

Archbishop O'Shea, as host of the Congress, delivered an address inaugurating the Congress and welcoming the Papal Legate and all the visitors.

The celebrant of Mass was Bishop Liston, of Auckland, the assistant priest Monsignor Ormond, the deacon Father Courtenay, the subdeacon Father Morin, the deacons at the throne the Rev. Dr. Buxton and the Rev. Dr. Kennedy and the master of ceremonies Father A. Robinson.

Robinson.

The legate occupied the throne by the side of the altar. The music of the Mass was magnificently sung by the Basilica male voice choir under the Rev. Dr. F. H. Walsh, the soprano of the boys blending with the baritone and bass of the men creating a truly splendid effect. The Mass sung was the Te Deum Laudamus by Perosi and the effortory motet was Jesu Dulcis Memoria by Victoria.

"One of our foremost aims in future will be the restoration of international trade, which seems to us to present the best opportunity for restoring in turn the standard of living and consuming power of the nations. That is the policy we shall have in mind when the time comes to turn once more from war to peace."

The grounds were in beautiful condition, being decorated with late summer flowers, native ferns and symbolic flags draped on pylons. The attendance was estimated at 8000.

Mayor's Casting Vote Defeats An Amendment To Appeal To The Government

By Telegraph-Press Association AUCKLAND, Feb. 1.

Sharp clashes between the Mayor of Auckland (Sir Ernest Davis) and a member of the City Council (Mr A. St. C. Brown) and others enlivened the three-hour discussion concerning street meetings of Communists and others at a meeting of the council to-night.

On more than one occasion Sir Ernest threatened to have the crowded gallery cleared as a result of applause and other

After a debate in which nearly every member took part, council decided to take no action in connection with By-Law No. 17, section 8, which deals with the conduct of street meetings.

The amendment moved by Mr Brown suggesting that the attention of the Government should be drawn to the subversive nature of recent street utterances was defeated on the casting vote of the Mayor, 11 votes being cast for the amendment and 11 against.

Mr Brown's amendment was: "That after hearing the deputation, and in view of the recent street disturbances, the council resolves that in respect of preventing at street meetings utterances treasonable, opposed to the prosecution of the war, or calculated to interfere with recruiting for the armed forces of the Crown, the responsibility rests in the first instance on the Government, and that the legislation introduced by the Government at the outbreak of hostilities enlarges its powers in this respect. The council therefore draws the attention of the Government to the subversive nature of recent street utterances.'

JEERS IN HOUSE

Hertzog's Criticism Of Prime Minister

United Press Association—Copyright. CAPE TOWN, Jan. 31.

Members of the Opposition, with General Hertzog most prominent, attempted to-day to silence the Prime Minister (General Smuts) by shouting and jeering. However, the House passed the first reading of the Indemnity Bill, all stages of which were contested.

The Bill validates the emergency regulations issued after the outoreak of war, and removes disabilities resulting from war service. The Opposition criticised the introduction of the Bill, particularly in its relation to the war regulations, as a flouting of democratic procedure.

In the benediction service which followed, the sermon was given by Father T. McCarthy, S.M., and the broadcast of the Pope was heard.

The celebrant was the American Monsignor. Assistants at the Legate's throne were a Chinese and an American Priest. The presence of the Legate (who is an Italian), Australian archbishops, bishops, monsignori and priests, a New Zealand archbishop and clergy, and clergy from other parts completed a picture of international religion.

A distinguished figure of the Catholic world, Archbishop Mannix of Melbourne, made his first appearance at the Congress.

During the Papal broadcast there was a total black-out of lights and a portrait of the Pope 15 feet by 20 feet was illuminated by a spotlight. An amendment introduced by the leader of the Boer Nationalists (Dr Malan) expressed disapproval of the Government's action, embraced refusal to introduce the Bill, and alleged that it was a cold-blooded attack on the rights of the people.

No Election.

General Smuts, replying to-day to the demand for a general election, said that South Africa's position was very different from that of Canada, where Parliament had almost completed its normal life. South Africa, he added, nad a general election a little over a year ago which led to the return of a great party. That party itself decided on September 4 that the country should join the

COLLISION IN NAPIER ROADSTEAD

Official Inquiry Will Be Held To-day

A CARGO OF EXPLOSIVES

A preliminary inquiry into the circumstances surrounding the collision between the auxiliary schooner Miro and the well-known coastal vessel Koutunui in the Napier roadstead on Wednesday night will be held by the Collector of Customs (Mr A. W. Gunson) on behalf of the Marine Department this

The Miro, a 29-ton vessel owned by Campbell Brothers, Auckland, with a cargo of explosives, the pro-perty of the Nobel Explosive Co. Ltd., was lying in the fairway wait-ing for the wind to abate so that she could berth.

The Koutunui, which had been lightering to an overseas vessel in the bay, was returning to the inner harbour at about 10 p.m. when the collision occurred.

It has been suggested that one ship did not see the other's lights against the background of many lights of Port Ahuriri, or may possibly have mistaken them for the navigation lights of another lighter ahead. The Impact.

Of course, with a tobacco crop careful cultivation is all important, but ful cultivation is all important, but in the case of our very finest New Zealand tobacco, the finishing touch is supplied by toasting, which remarkably ingenious process (the manufacturers' own) not only cleans up excess of nicotine but gives this beautiful tobacco its research flavour and farnous but gives this beautiful tobacco its renowned flavour and famous bouquet. Striking in its significance, Wairoa magnificently demonstrated the magnitude of her industrial and pastoral development by turning out her wealth of produce and quality stock at the Wairoa County Agricultural and Pastoral Society's Centennial Show on Wednesday in greater numbers than ever previously. Drawing entries that shattered all records and displaying exhibits that attained a particularly high standard, the event will go down in the history of the society as its major achievement to date.

A crowd estimated to exceed 3000 persons thronged the spacious grounds; the weather remained fine and an air of carnival predominated.

It was a happy inspiration on the part of the Wairoa Patriotic Committee, therefore, to conduct its Flag Day appeal in conjunction with the show. Kept busily occupied, members of the Wairoa interhouse teams, wearing their respective uniforms, sold small flags on the grounds, and the response exceeded all expectations.

Every detail of the show organisation was carried out by voluntary stewards, under the general direction of the president (Mr A. T. Carroll) and by the capable grounds staff under the supervision of the secretary (Mr A. H. H. Unwin). Both the trades exhibits area and the side-show alley were

Entries totalled more than 3000 compared with 2980 last year, and 2521 in 1934, a fine record. What is more, a new standard of quality was set in most classes of the different sections, according to the judges. The progressive policy adopted by the society in past years was clearly reflected in the entire presentation of the show. Thanks to the many improvements completed at the show grounds the area was in excellent condition and the exhibitors and the public alike were exhibitors and the public alike were further catered for by the increased facilities provided.

The solid suport of breeders from not only in the Wairoa but outside the area was commented on by the judges.

From early in the morning until lafe afternoon there was never a dull moment, never a lack of interlate afternoon there was never a dull moment, never a lack of interest. Even before noon there was a good crowd on the grounds, but numbers swelled in the early afternoon with the closing of shops in the town.

With horsemen present in large parties tremendous enthusiasm was roused in the jumping and riding competitions in which many creditable exhibitions were given. A further attraction was provided by the national dancing, and here too entries were particularly high. A sound system operating throughout the day kept the public fully informed of the many activities. Judge's Comment

Judge's Comment
While the standard of the Berkshires was high the Tamworths were inclined to be weak in the pedigree classes, said the judge of the pig classes (Mr W. G. Wood, Taradale). The baconers and porkers were in good numbers and gratification at the quality on show was expressed by Mr Wood. However, he suggested that in future a little more attention could be paid to improving the exhibits for display proving the exhibits for display

Mr J. Lyons, who judged the hacks, said that on the whole they were a very good type and the entries were good.

The approximation the color of the

The entries in the cob classes in cluded a number of good animals, the champion pony being outstanding, advised the judge (Mr A. G. Turnbull, Gisborne). He was of the opinion, however, that entries in the draught horses should have been reserve, A. L. Gordon Ltd.'s entry. Favourable comment on the qual ity of the beef cattle was made by the judge (Mr J. W. Morrison, Wai-

Winter.

Mr Dryden stated that it was felt that there was a big majority of the business people who desired the Saturday half-holiday. They also felt that in view of the 40-hour week it was the only logical day.

Mr Dryden mentioned that there had been no complaints from the country people. He thought he could say that Wairoa was about the only town of its size in New Zealand which did not have Saturday half-holiday. "I don't think we can offer you any better argument than that the people want it," he concluded.

The Mayor also read a petition signed on behalf of 50 business houses in Wairoa requesting that steps should be taken to have Saturday gazetted as the half-holiday. The petition pointed out that Saturday had been tried now for three months and had proved to be quite successful.

When the names of those who had signed the petition had been read out, Cr. Cook stated that there were the names of several on the petition who should not be there.

Cr. Scott said there was no doubt that Saturday would certainly benefit the shop assistants.

Cr. Cook said it had to be remembered that the country people did not vote on the question. He also mentioned that quite a number of people who had signed the petition were only managers, and he added that fruiterers, caterers and such people should be given a chance of expressing their views.

In his opinion, the move for Saturday half-holiday was against the interests of the small businessman. He also mentioned that there was a

YESTERDAY'S TRIALS

Nightcalm Impresses Watchers

SCOLD SHAPES WELL

By Telegraph—Press Association. CHRISTCHURCH, Feb. 1. Nightcalm worked in impressive style over seven furlongs on the out side of the course proper at Riccar ton this morning, when the final gal lops for the Canterbury Jockey lops for the Canterbury Jockey Club's midsummer meeting were held. After overnight rain the course provided fast going. Though he was only supposed to go six furlongs, Nightcalm ran the first furlong in 14 1-5sec., and reached three furlongs in 39 15. He came home solidly to record 1.29 3-5 for seven.

Among the most attractive workers were Paper Slipper, Scold, Great Flight, Knight Commander, Gold Flight and Nigella. Paper Slipper, after being half a length behind Counterblast until well into the straight, gradually worked to the front to win by a head over half a mile in 48sec. The same time was recorded by Great Flight, which drew out.

Sovereign Lady strode over a mile nicely to beat Great Swoop by a length, the last seven furlongs in 1.31 1.5 and the final half-mile in 52sec. The Wrecker finished well in front of In the Dark over the same ground in 1.31, while Settlement was half a length in front of Prudent Prince in 1.30 1.5, the first three taking 38 4.5sec. Settlement broke away in front, but was soon steadied up, while Prudent Prince steadied up, while Prudent Prince caught up.

Nigella, which shapes as though she will stay on better than in the past, ran right away from Drandel and Good Health over six furlongs in 1.16 2-5, the last half-mile being done in 50 2-5sec. Nigella won easing up by four lengths. Wine Card also recorded 1.16 2-5 for the six furlongs, the last half taking 51sec.

Scold's Half-Mile.

Scold went exceptionally well over half a mile in 47 4-5sec, the best of half a mile in 47 4-5sec, the best Doria was a length clear of Don't Forget at the end of five furlongs in 1.2 3.5. Night Dress, though hard ridden in the straight, was four lengths behind Willie Win over a mile in 1.44 3-5sec, the first half being run in 52 1-5sec. Willie Win did lis work nicely his work nicely.

Princess Minerva, after running a furlong in 13 3-5sec, was joined by Ageratum. They were together most of the way though Ageratum was a neck in front at the end of a mile in 1.46 2-5, the first half taking 53 1-5sec. Atreus ran half a mile in 51 4-5sec., while Concertpitch was restricted to 1.23 2-5 for last furlongs the last half in 54 4-5 tory 8.7. Neck; four lengths. Jud

Gay Hussar ran five furlongs in 1.3 3-5. Merry March was the first to work after breakfast, running half a mile in 54sec. Knight Commander and Waka, after running the first two of six furlongs in 24 4-5, were joined by Roman Son, which led them by a length for two furlongs, where Waka was in second place. Knight Commander then put in a claim and failed by a head ond place. Knight Commander then put in a claim and failed by a head to catch Roman Son, with Waka three lengths back. Knight Commander recorded 1.16, a smart effort.

Stylosa and Rus 2.

Stylosa and Rue finished on terms over half a mile in 49 4-5sec, galloping easily throughout. Tantivy was no match for Great Night over five furlongs in 1.4 3-5, finishing four lengths behind. Gold Flight ran five furlongs in 1.2 1-5, finishing on solidly. Passenger and Baldoon were well matched over half a mile in 49 4-5sec.

Gay Parade.

Gay Parade beat Metric by half a length over six furlongs in 1.16 4.5 sec, the final half being done in 50

Royal Chief and Moorsotis ran home nicely from the three-furlongs post in 36 2-5sec., the former being a neck in front. Studley Royal beat Jed Forest at the end of six furlongs in 1.19, the first three being run in 38 3-5secs. Both could have run in 38 3-5secs. Both could have

Freedom of Speech

Sir,—Two months ago Lord Noel Buxton wrote "We are too easily in every month of war because we have become habituated to it."

War is a coarsening process. Already in this war there are signs of a hardening of the sensibility, a restriction of the vision, a blinding of the eye. To the cynical it is a matter for amusement to see how n this war against the Nazis we are quickly becoming conditioned by the element against which we have constrained ourselves to work; how quickly we are absorbing their methods and their outlook.

In the "Daily Mail" we read: . . . it should be a matter for Gov-ernment action to deal with the men ernment action to deal with the men who stand up to say that the enemy system is right and that ours is wrong." Is it perverse to suggest that such an attitude of mind bears an unpleasant resemblance to that in control in Nazi Germany? To excuse it because we are at war with the Nazi menace is only to excuse Nazi suppressions because Germany is at war with British Imperialism.

partially excused because he has an equal right to the civilian to express his disapproval. At Auckland the soldiers assumed a greater right. It was the opinion of Constable McMath that the soldiers would have used violence to Mr Burton if they could have got near enough to him. Later two fights broke out in a section of the crowd. Senior-Sergeant Sparks induced the soldiers to leave, and a military official works when the merchants in every town, who have made the towns, and who are prepared to buy stuff and sell it, are unable to do so.

As for the farming community who are the backbone of the country (and if it is not a producing country it is nothing) they are absolutely unable to get suitable men to clear their country, fence, mussoldiers to leave, and a military official towns, and who are prepared to buy stuff and sell it, are unable to do so.

Senior-sergeant Sparks induced the soldiers to leave, and a military officer offered to be responsible for them. In spite of this the soldiers returned on the opposite side of the road and pushed into the crowd. No action was taken. A third speaker protested against this and was arrested.

The Senior-Sergeant himself admitted that the actions of some of the soldiers were accentuated by liquor and that they appeared determined to interrupt the speakers. Sub-Inspector Calwell added that the interjections were more or less or-ganised. Detective Brady admitted that blows were exchanged between oldiers and civilians.

In other words, although a determined interruption of a meeting (which it has not been suggested was unlawful) is admitted, action Also ran: 2 Notium 8.8, 3 Play is taken not against the interrupters but against the speakers.

Would it be unkind to suggest that about the action of the soldiers there is something familiar? The activities of Nazi Storm Troopers provide similar reading. The action of the police in Auckland suggests another Nazi phenomenon—"the rule of force." To condone wishere as a more direct and firm the rule of force as a more direct and firm the rule of the police in Auckland suggests. When the discussion of the spending of £70,000 for the new radio states. violence as a more direct and firm expression of opinion, has again a Nazi flavour. To hit a man on the Nazi flavour. To nit a man on the nose is not an expression of opinion. It is merely to hit him on the nose. There is a difference between freedom of speech and threatened assault and unintelligible noises. To sault and unintelligible noises. To excuse the soldiers because, in their judgment, a mockery was being made of their sacrifices, is as fantastic as to suggest that a public benefactor would be justified in threatening a critic of the capitalist system on the grounds that a mochant was being made of his general.

JUSTICE.

Free Speech

Sir,—Your leading article of January 27 covers this subject well and rightly calls for more than word from the Government — namely action—to deal with the open cam-paign to cripple our desire to help in the war against aggression and dictatorship.

You recall the fact that "we have Cabinet Ministers who have been in gaol for the reason that they overdid the freedom of speech business." Does not this fact make it more difficult for them to take action against similar offences to-day? I think it does do so, but I believe that Cabinet fully realises the need for our best effort in this war, that it realises the danger to this effort which comes from subversive and anti-patriotic propaganda, and I further believe that the responsibility of office and closer touch with the realities of the position has brought about a complete change of outlook as to the need for putting our whole resources behind the Empire in this struggle.

You say rightly that "The voice of the level resources of the position."

You say rightly that "The voice of the loyal people of the Dominion should be heard on the subject—and should be heard on the subject—and the subversive elements in the community should be suppressed." I quite agree, but I go further and say that the loyal people of this Dominion must get behind Cabinet and let them realise that, however difficult it may be for them to act, in view of the past, they will have whole-hearted support if they act firmly.

Never mind party politics. Let us for the moment forget our hostility

I know exactly what Mr. Baird said at the meeting, and Mr. Barley was not present. Mr. Baird particularly impressed on the chairman and the meeting that he did not Buxton wrote "We are too easily want to introduce anything of a noved by the instinctive determination political nature, but he thought in tion to win a war when once begun, and by the emotions of indignation, loyalty and hope; and we tend to underestimate the injury involved in every month of war because we have become habituated to it."

Mr. Baird has been a large and successful employer of labour for many years in Hastings, and prob-ably at the present time may be unduly worried to know where to get duly worried to know where to get imports and goods, for which he is able to pay and his staff would be sufficient to sell to the public that would require the goods. He and other merchants of any standing I know are tremendously worried to get sufficient stuff to keep their purposess going and also incident. businesses going, and also incidentally, are aware of the fact that if the stuff is not there to sell, they cannot keep full staffs behind their counters to do it.

For my own part, I am ashamed to say, I take no interest in politics, but for the life of me $\,$ I $\,$ cannot imagine why a body of people gov erning the country, some of which with the Nazi menace is only to excuse Nazi suppressions because Germany is at war with British Imperialism.

The behaviour of the soldier is partially excused because he has an analysish to the civilian to spend hundreds of thousands of pounds in absolutely useless partially excused because he has an applic works when the merchants.

solutely unable to get suitable men to clear their country, fence, mus-ter and prepare the article that is mostly required to help the country, and also to assist the Mother Country in her serious and terrible dis tress at the moment.

I believe the Hastings retailers will do the very best they can to help the present position, but it is nearly impossible to do so and feel happy about it when so much needless expenditure in chipping and straightening roads and other unproductive work is being carried out by the Government, as it is at present 1 am etc.

AN OLD RESIDENT,

A Misunderstanding

I was interested to read in Thursday's "Daily Mail" a letter by Mr Ralph Barley. It was a pity that Mr Barley did not attend the retailers' meeting. He would have known that his personal remarks were uncalled ing of £70,000 for the new radio station was in progress, I particularly mentioned that it was not a politi-cal matter, but one concerning busi-ness men of New Zealand. These business men are deprived of ster-ling funds for necessary importa-

Surely Mr Barley realises that in the spending of £70,000 a certain amount of sterling would be re-quired, and the point I made was that if business people could not get sufficient sterling for their requirements, why spend it on unnecessary work? Would Mr Barley make inquiries and find out if the advertising sec-tion of the Broadcasting Department made a loss last year? As I pointed out, it was possible a loss would be made owing to import restrictions, as advertisers would not without continuous without continuous and and a second of the product of the second of t strictions, as advertisers would not spend money without getting adequate returns. Thoughtful business men do not object to the Government using all the sterling to push on our war efforts, and would accept any sacrifices to that end.

May I ask Mr Barley if in this new era we are to have only one line of thought, or would it not be more brotherly to allow the other fellow his point of view as well as your own? Thanking you.—I am, etc.,

A message from Copenhagen states that the Danish steamer Fredenshorg (2094 tons) was mined off the total.

Contrasting with the German Admiral Doenitz's statement that neutral ships convoyed by the British would lose the "special considerations which U-boat commanders show towards neutral shipping," it is noteworthy that only one of the convoyed ships lost was a neutral. While these great Allied and neutral merchant fleets are at sea, 29 per cent. of the whole of the German Mercantile Navy still seeks shelter in neutral ports. Of 350 German vessels which were in neutral harbours at the outbreak of the war, 21, totalling 89,000 tons, have been scuttled to avoid capture.

LE TOQUET'S WAIROA CUP VICTORY To-day's Most Distinguished 10 h.p. Car!

Solidly Contested Finish HUI BEATS SPRINTERS IN ORMOND MEMORIAL

Successful Opening Of Meeting

(By MOTUROA).

Le Toquet, who has been knocking at the door for some time, scored a solid and well-deserved win in the Wairoa Cup. He took on the pacemaker, Small Boy, three furlongs from home and then held off a determined challenge that came from Happy Landing over the last furlong, fighting out every inch of the way in a gruelling finish. In view of his recent good form, he was at a surprisingly good price.

It was a good race from the rise of the barrier, and Small Boy, who held up the start for some time, ran through to the lead as soon as they settled down. He set a fast pace and was clear in the first half-mile from Le Toquet, Happy Landing, and Boldstep, with Morning Flight whipping in.

Le Toquet made his run from the half-mile, joining the leader as they ran on to the turn, while the field bunched, Happy Landing being in third place ahead of the hot favourite Boldstep, as they swung into the straight.

Le Toquet hit the front a furiong or more from home, but that gallant Siegfried horse Happy Landing made a determined bid for victory and was doing slightly better than the Hastings gelding at the post. However, Le Toquet responded well under pressure and lasted just long enough.

Happy Landing, who was at a false price when his class is considered, came into the birdcage fairly well, but he looked very tender in front shortly afterwards.

Small Boy did not appreciate being appointed to pacemaker and he weakened in the run home, but he was still doing better than Boldstep at the winning post, the latter never once flattering his admirers. He was ridden rather confidently, and may have shown up better under bustling tactics. His slight soreness, however, may have been against Te Tahinga was slow away and Red Hunting took over control as they settled down from Ace Willonyx and Diana Tetrix, who were clear to the half-mile from Show Day, Opoho, Flying Comedy and Collenso. Opoho was improving his position all the way and he looked danger as they came into the straight, but Po Atarau still had a lot in hand and she was doing even better than the favourite over the last furlong.

KEEN RACING: LARGE ATTENDANCE

BIGGER TURNOVER

Horses Perform With Distinction

The Wairoa Racing Club's annual neeting opened yesterday in perfect weather before a large attendance, the gates showing an increase on last year. The course was in fast but good order, and the recent im-provements in the installation of a modern totalisator and other ameni-ties were widely commented upon by patrons.

There was a large attendance of racegoers from Hastings and Napier who filled two railcars to capacity, and the increased patronage resulted in a handsome totalisator turnover of £9094 10% for the day, which represents an increase of £1934 on last year.

The details of the racing are:—

Shortage of Coconuts At present the shortage of desiccated coconut is very pronounced in many districts, so much so that it is almost impossible to obtain any, is almost impossible to obtain any, says a southern exchange. Coconut is used rather more extensively in the making of cakes and biscults than is generally realised, and in consequence many popular under these classifications are becoming things of the past. Certain large cake retailers have placed large cake retailers have placed notices in their stores informing that coconut goods are "off the market" in the meantime at any rat
