DISSATISFIED WITH POLICY

His Resignation

Letter Sent To Prime Minister To-day

NO DEMOCRATIC CONTROL

The following letter has been sent by the Hon. W. E. Barnard to the Prime Minister to-day:--Dear Mr Fraser,-

You will recollect that at the Easter Conference I urged that what was needed to restore the unity of the party was the restoration of democratic control to the Parliamentary caucus. I pleaded that the question should be settled then by the conference. Others did the same. It was not allowed. We were told it was a "red herring." At the recent caucus I repeated twice that the immediate adoption of democratic methods was essential to party solidarity and success, and supported my conviction by my vote. Others supported this view, but unhappily I found myself voting alone. I was in a minority of one. Nor did I vote confidence in you as leader, for you do not possess my confidence. I am reluctantly forced to the conclusion that under your leadership the Parliamentary Party will not be able to exercise its democratic rights, just as I feel that there will be no taking over of the Bank of New Zealand while Mr Nash is Minister of Finance.

Side by side with this refusal to caucus of its rights, I view with alarm the growing political domination of some five or six powerful industrial chiefs who, I am satisfied, are not representative of the rank and file of the workers. It is a very few years ago that all the Labour members of Parliament were rallied to check the pretensions of these same gentlemen. To-day-witness the recent Easter Conferenceyou and the Cabinet are in close alliance with them. Another nail in the coffin of democracy in the Labour Party.

The confirmation in office of the present Cabinet until the end of the year means that the financial policy of the party (on the basis of which we were all returned to Parliament in 1935 and in 1938) will still remain unfulfilled. I am convinced that unless and until that policy is fully implemented, this country, already in chains, will pass into a deeper bondage. The orthodox money system cannot sustain the burden of a long and costly war except at the price of loading the people of this country with a crushing and intolerable weight of debt. To this course I cannot agree. The immediate obstacle to the taking over of the Bank of New Zealand, which has more than once been affirmed by a majority of caucus, and to monetary reform, is the Minister of Finance who continues in office. I have no confidence in Mr Nash in

I also find myself at variance with you in your handling of the war situation. When Great Britain is at war we are at war, but we are entitled to fuller assurances from the British Government than the bare statement that Hitler must be defeated. As I stated publicly on February 7 last: "Victory is necessary—we won in 1918—but what happens then is at least three or four times as important to us and to the next generation or two as the victory itself . . . full and explicit reasons should be given in the Press and over the air, so that the 'common people,' upon whom everywhere the major burden falls, may not be fooled a second time." You apparently held some such view 20 odd years ago. Moreover, Cabinet has no right to commit this country to growing supplies of soldiers for overseas service without consulting Parliament or even the Party caucus. The Defence Council, of which I am a member, was never fully consulted over New Zealand's commitments; it has not been consulted at all during the past four months because it has not met since the first week in

The Minister of Defence gave the show completely away when he said ("Evening Post," February 13, 1940) that "the progress of recruiting had been handicapped because it was not until December that the Government had known that a division was to be sent overseas." Apparently Mr Chamberlain calls the tune and we are to dance to it. As a native-born New Zealander and a representative of New Zealand Labour I object to this servility. New Zealand is a self-governing Dominion and not a Crown colony. We have no returned soldier in the Cabinet. I am not satisfied with a Cabinet in which the men who fought in the last war have no representation. One man who could have inspired and directed the country in its war effort has just been cunningly ejected from the Labour Party. This war is a continuation of the war of 1914-18, and the men who served then have no penance to do in the present crisis. The returned soldiers in the Parliamentary Labour Party have been ignored during recent months.

There is much more I might say, and will say at a later stage. I deeply regret the necessity for taking up this uncompromising stand, but I feel conscientiously compelled to do it. I can no longer remain dumb or curbed when I see the prin-Cill Supplies

You will correctly understand this letter to mean that I hereby voluntarily resign for the present from the official New Zealand Labour Party.

In view of the importance of this statement to my constituents and its interest to the public generally, I am handing a copy of it to the Press

Yours truly, W. E. BARNARD.

Mr Fraser's Comment

When the letter published above was referred to Mr Fraser late last night, he said that he had no comment to make until he received the letter itself.

He expressed surprise that the letter had been sent to the Press before it was posted to him.

Mr Fraser just asked one question: "Does Mr Barnard state in his letter that he intends to pursue the logical and honest course of resigning the Napier seat and re-contesting it against the Labour Party?"

RUGBY, April 6.

The magnitude of the Supply Ministry's task was described in a speech by Dr. Leslie Burgin to-day. The Minister illustrated the work of his Ministry by asking his audience to follow in imagination a young civilian who joins the army. 'Almost all the things this young man needed before he became a soldier are useless to him after joining the colours. All the things he requires as a soldier—uniforms, arms, ammunition, special cooking utensils, vehicles, and guns of all kinds—all these are the task of the Ministry to provide."

Dr. Burgin asked his audience to consider the immense quantity this military equipment represented when there were hundreds of thousands of men ceasing to be civilians and becoming soldiers of all branches of the army. Vast organisation was necessary to supply this equipment with a staff of

Engagement Announced

During The Evening

A very pleasant evening was given at Taradale on Friday night by Mr and Mrs T. Tareha, of Waiohiki, to friends of Mr M. G. Peake, Napler, who is proceeding to the Trentham military camp this week. The announcement of the engagement of the guest of honour to the host and hostsess's daughter, Miss N. Tareha, was also made, the news being followed by hearty congratulations from all present.

Dancing, interspersed with various vocal items, Hawaiian dances, and action songs, whiled away the hours in a most enjoyable manner, and it was not until midnight than the previous sale and each lot was accorded strong competition.

"ON BORROWED TIME" IS OUTSTANDING

> Lionel Barrymore In A Great Role

This year Lionel Barrymore cele-orates the 30th anniversary of his irst motion picture role. No other star in motion pictures to-day can match the record of successes which Lione! Barrymore has to his credit on both stage and screen. Yet Lionel arrymore marks a new milestone n his career in "On Borrowed 'ime," picturisation of the great Broadway stage success which opens o-morrow at the Cosy Theatre,

"On Borrowed Time" is one of the most daring and unusual stories ever filmed. It is a thought-provoking and inspiring story, full of hearting and inspiring story, full of heartwarming humour and affection. Very briefly, it is the story of an old grandfather who is afraid to die lest the grandson whom he adores fall into the hands of a scheming and unscrupulous aunt. And at last the grandfather traps Death, traps him in the branches of an old apple tree. Nothing can die until "Gramp" speaks the word which will release this strange personification of Death, a mysterious stranger who calls himself Mr Brink.

Lionel Barrymore, as the grand-

Lionel Barrymore, as the grandfather, gives what will probably be hailed as the finest contribution he hailed as the finest contribution he has ever made to the art of motion pictures. Mr Brink is portrayed by that master craftsman of stage and screen, Sir Cedric Hardwicke. The grandson is enacted by the most talked-of youngster of the year, Bobs Watson. Beulah Bondi, Nat Pendley ton, Henry Travers, and Grant Mit chell are included in the cast.

Current Programme. "Hidden Power," a forceful Jack Holt story of a scientist who dis-covers a new explosive, and "Forgot-ten Woman," with Sigrid Gurie fea-tured, are on the programme which concludes its season to-day.

Gloria Jean In "The Under-Pup"

First visitor and also the last rirst visitor and also the last visitor to the set of 11-year-old Gloria Jean's first picture, "The Under-Pup," which is now at the Regent Theatre, Hastings, was not only one of Hollywood's most illustrious personages, but an example nd a good-luck omen for Gloria ean as well. The visitor's name is Deanna

Three years before, Deanna, then an unknown, began her first picture, "Three Smart Girls." The history of that hit and four that followed is well known. Now Gloria's embryonic career closely parallels that of Deanna.

parallels that of Deanna.

The same producer who first presented Deanna, Joe Pasternak is also introducing Gloria for the same studio, Universal. He formed a new youthful trio to follow the "Three Smart Girls." Gloria and Virginia Weidler and Ann Gillis make up the new threesome.

Gloria, who sings five numbers in "The Under-Pup," has a voice development comparable in many ways to Deanna's. And the new-comer's career will be handled with the same care and finesse that has the same care and finesse that has distinguished the Pasternak-Durbin the producer brought When When the producer brought Gloria to Hollywood from her home town, Scranton, Pennsylvania, in December, 1938, one of the first friendships the youngster formed was with her favourite star, Deanna. The latter took a leading part in introducing Gloria to Hollywood.

It was considered a good omen when Deanna proved Gloria's first visitor on the first day of production, and the last visitor on the final day's shooting.

****** LATEST FRANK CAPRA PRODUCTION

> Triumph, "Mr Smith Goes To Washington"

To improve upon perfection might seem an impossibility, but Frank Capra has been doing just that for so long 'he fact is no longer news. Director of 'It Happened One Night," "Mr Deeds Goes to Town," "Lost Horizon," and "You Can't Take it with You," Capra now brings to the Regent Theatre what has been hailed as the ultimate in screen entertainment, his stirring romantic comedy, "Mr Smith Goes to Washington," which opens today.

Critics and cinema-goers who have seen this timely new drama enjoyed it more than "You Can't Take it with You," and that film, it will be recalled won the Academy vill be recalled, won the Academ Award as the best picture of 1938.

James Stewart plays the title role in "Mr Smith Goes to Washington," and the youthful charm, earnestness and idealism with which he invests the part contribute greatly to the picture's appeal. Young Leff to the picture's appeal. Young Jeff Smith is head of the State's Boy Rangers, and when a vacancy in the United States Senate has to be filled, his name comes to the attention of the ruling political forces who want the appointee to be a harmless and inexperienced tool.

Jeff goes to Washington uncon scious of the fact that he is help scious of the fact that he is helping to betray the ideals he holds dear. Miss Arthur, his secretary, is prone to scoff at him, but she falls in love with the human, honest youth. Little by little Jeff learns that he is being victimised. Climaxing scenes in "Mr Smith Climaxing scenes in "Mr Smith Goes to Washington," flowering out of rich antecedent material reveal Capra and his cast at their best. As Stewart revolts, the party machine fights back and the whole nation takes sides in a bitter fight to the finish. The picture rises to memo-rable heights.

VICTOR McLAGLEN ACTION FILM

'The Big Guy," With "A Woman Is The Judge"

Presenting Victor McLaglen and Jackie Cooper in a story which blends fast action and thrills with heart-throbbing drama, "The Big Guy" is now showing at the Mayfair Theatre. McLagen portrays a prison warden who is trapped by the same motives he condemns in the convicts under his care. Cooper has a new and different type screen role a new and different type screen role as the youth entangled in a web of circumstantial evidence which leads him into disaster. Heading the sup-porting cast is Ona Munson, Peggy Moran, youthful screen beauty

Bridal Couple To Make Their Home In Napier

The Trinity Methodist Church, Napier, was the scene of a pretty wedding recently when Pauline Ethel, only daughter of Mrs A. E. Gorst, Napier, and the late G. T. M. Ashton, was married to Robert Sheppard, second son of Mr and Mrs T. Rowe, Napier.

The Rev. S. J. Werren was the officiating minister and Mr P. Mer- JOLLY BON VOYAGE cer presided at the organ. Hydrangeas and bella donna lilies made a pretty decoration in the church.

Entering the church with her step-brother, Mr H. J. Gorst, the bride was a charming picture in her lovely wedding gown of deep magnolia satin fashioned with a high waistline, from which fell the full panelled skirt sweeping into a long train appliqued with cream net embroidered with gold flowers. The bodice was finished with long tight-fitting sleeves and high ruched collar caught with a spray of orange blossoms. Her ivory tulle veil, lent by a friend, fell to form a second train and was held in place with a halo of cream velvet flowers. She carried a sheaf of cream asters and maidenhair fern.

The attendant 'maids were Miss Jean Berry and Miss Dorothy Bradley, who were dressed alike in frocks of sprigged Swiss organdie in shades of apricot and powder blue respectively.

The annual meeting of the Music Circle of the Hastings Townswomen's Guild was held in the Guild Room on Thursday evening. There was a good attendance of members and Mrs A. C. A. Hyde was in the chair and welcomed the members by tively. The full crinoline skirts were finished with ruched taffeta circular motifs and the bodices had full puffed seleves and square necklines finished with small sprays of flowers. They wore haloes of silver tinsel studded w'h pink rosebuds and carried baskets of flowers to tone with their freeks.

WEEK-END BOWLING RAILWAY REVENUE MANY AND VARIOUS CALENDAR REFORMS

February's Extra Day Needs Elimination, Say The Agitators

Calendar reformers hope that this year will be the last time in which February will have to bear the burden of four years' accumulated "overtime" (says a correspondent of the "Christian Science Monitor").

Not that these professional and amateur intercalators object to February "29" alone. Nor is it because their insistence upon accuracy rebels at the fact that the present system is actually "behind time."

The fact that the Gregorian calendar recognises only 365 days in the year, while astronomers record 3654, would hardly disturb them if the first day of January fell on the same day each year, and they didn't have to bring out an adding machine to find out what day Christmas will fall on in 1941.

Publicity Effort.

Placing the Blame.

But these inconsistencies cause no end of trouble to business, which may vainly try to peg its year on the highly evasive Easter holiday, or try to balance books when every three months brings up an extra ment in which the transition from the old to the new can be made.

So every four years when that So every four years when that quarter-day surplus has built up a full day and is attached to February's 28, would-be Gregorians get out their pencils and revive the campaign that was old when Julius day and related subjects as a major caesar first went to Egypt to the Caesar first went to Egypt to the court of Cleopatra.

Without seriously offending such interests as "The League for Safeguarding the Fixity of the Sabbath," and the "International Society of Maintenance of Leap-Year Day," they have devised some 500 offending which has received considerable at they have devised some 500 variations.

Many Solutions.

A plumber has compiled a 13-month record with 28 days to each month, Monday the first weekday, nd with an extra week added to the extra month every seventh year. The extra unit would be called Ruth. But apartment dwellers, who pay rent by the month have objected to this proposal.

Patriotic Funds

The Globe Perpetual Calendar system places Sunday on the first day of January, April and October, with each month having 30 days.
Four extra days are scattered throughout the year: March 31, to be called Peace Day; June 31, Children's Day; September 31 Labour Day; and December 31, Thanksgiving Day.

One Albert Bestgen has satisfied at least his own requirements by devising a calendar with a six-day week, with 60 Sundays.

Letters to the Editor

The Power of the Press

Sir,—A short time ago, in some editorial comment on a letter of mine over the above heading, you frankly admitted that "the Press has many problems." Anyone with knowledge of newspapers from the inside will readily agree An aditor. I did not some time to do so just flings down all the conflicting statements and says in effect: "There you are; believe any, all, or none, as it pleases you."

I still think that the three statements I advanced in my former inside will readily agree An aditor. inside will readily agree. An editor who is conversant with the diplomatic moves of the various nations since, say even 1919, must find his position an embarrassing one to-day —that is, if he is conscientiou enough to desire to tell the truth.

There are those skeleton cables that must be interpreted, and dethat must be interpreted, and de-cently clothed, before they are fit for the public eye. It surely must be a "problem" to know what to reveal, what to conceal, and what to inter-pret in such fashion that the reader just pays his money and takes his

And one may say that the reader of the daily Press has had plenty of that sort of "choice," particularly during the last few days.

Lord Beaverbrook, in a welter of words, only seems to make confu-sion worse confounded. Incidentally, the Press magnate gives a naughty little hint as to where a future "Trade Enemy" may be found (in the very distant future of course), and that little hint, whether let out purposely or in a fit of pique, is really one that may have to be reckoned with—some day.

The general reader, whom we call "the man in the street," not realising that this is pre-eminently a "propaganda war" on all sides, is bewildered. How has he arrived at where he is to-day—after "the war to end war", has been fought?

It seems that all the news we are handed out to-day rests on a foundation of "wishful thinking." By the way, who invented that picturesque phrase? Was it Anthony Eden, or that man of many parts and much pep, Winston Churchill?

The late C. E. Montague, the great "Manchester Guardian" journalist, writing just after the Great War, in which he took part, said:—

"The Minister of Internal Affairs has appointed the following as committee members:

Came From England.

The late Mr Hutchinson was born in York, England, from which place he came to Rissington, New Zealand, with his father at the age of 14 years, to follow up sheep farming, at which occupation he was engaged until ill health in recent years prevented him from taking a practical interest, but not from an advisory one.

Tirst-class turf for the coming season. Special thanks were due to the secretary, continued Mr Douglas, as on him' had fallen the burden of the work which had helped to make the season such an enjoyable one.

The trophies won during the season were then presented by Mr Douglas as follows:—

years prevented him from taking a practical interest, but not from an advisory one.

Rissington Romney sheep were the breed specialised in by both Mr Hutchinson and his father and their successful results with this line are widely known to all farmers.

As a natural historian Mr Hutchinson was a learned botanist, zoologist, and entomologist, very little of the works of Nature escaping his keen study. Up till recently he took great pleasure in lecturing pupils of various schools in these subjects, while the children had for him the tention is the Cotsworth Calendar, strongly publicised by the late strongly publicised by the late George Eastman.

This computation provided for 13 months of 28 days each—this establishing four even weeks a month. The extra month would fall between June and July. Like the World Calendar, it requires a year-end day, and a Leap-day every fourth year.

The League of Nations has several times taken up the question of calendar reform, but largely because of opposition from religious festivals — notably Easter — the programme was dropped in 1937.

Placing the Blame. while the children had for him the highest respect and admiration. Of the Royal Society, Mr Hutchinson was also a valued and prominent member, and his sudden death will create a vacancy that will not

The ruthless destruction of native bush in New Zealand concerned Mr Hutchinson, and with great fore-sight he purchased to save from inevitable destruction a beautiful and extensive block of native forest at Puketitiri, and to ensure its safety for future generations to admire, he made a gift of it to the Government of New Zealand to be Government for birds and bush for a sanctuary for birds and bush for the year: all time.

HOLD YOUR TONGUE

Evil may be wrought by want of thought, but when want of thought is allied to a garrulous flow of empty words the evil may be irreparably wrought. The gossip-mongering habit of many people in these islands has been and is responsible for serious embarrassment to the Allied cause. Those whose serious responsibility it is to shoulder the heavy burden of the conduct of our national affairs in war-time have made many appeals to the Press and to the general public to be careful not to give either too much credence or undue publicity to the irresponsible rumours which emanate from "nowhere" in regard to such things as the movements of troops or

Such requests are not made with any other idea than to make the Dominion's war effort more effective. By this time it must be evident to everyone that there are influences at work in this country whose design it is to thwart the efforts being made by the Dominion to help the war cause along. Some of the documents revealed by Mr Semple have given proof positive that some of those Moscow-fed fanatics are out to cause civil strife within these shores and to put everything possible in the way of the successful prosecution of the war effort. There can be no doubt that many of the scaremongering rumours so rife in the country emanate from these

The public may be assured, however, that there is nothing of truth in the wild stories that are being disseminated like thistledown, and all of us should do our duty by giving them the lie and by seeking to track the authors to their lairs. The pity of the situation is that even the most honest citizen may, all unwittingly, repeat a story of raiders in the Pacific or of absurdities of the same sort, and do damage to the general morale. The temptation to repeat what one has heard, whether the story is believed or not, is all too easily yielded to, and nothing too strong can be said by way of protesting against the pernicious habit. To the old Indian proverb, "Say nothing, see nothing, hear nothing," may now be added its British equivalent: "Repeat nothing you have heard, seen, or unwittingly said."

We are in a life and death struggle, and the world is a much smaller place than ever it has been. There is, because of the power of radio, the possibility of instantaneous communication with the enemy. That should not be forgotten. And there are many in the Dominion who would stick at nothing to ruin the British cause.

This statement is no mere rumour. It is based upon the indubitable facts of evidence. What the Dominion in this regard needs above everything else is a strong Governmental policy which will put an end to the menace. If private letters are censored, sometimes with more zeal than discretion, what of the subversive statements that are allowed to become the common property of the people? The situation is a burlesque of what things should be. In war-time, an enemy is an enemy whether he is behind the Siegfried Line or behind the clothes line next door, and he should be engaged without hesitation. In many ways the clean fighter prefers the declared enemy to the sneak who pretends to be one thing while he is another. We may not believe in the Gestapo principle, but the public of New Zealand as a whole may constitute themselves as a protective police force to stand between the safety of our people and the subversive tactics of those whose sole aim is to discredit the Dominion and to bring it down to the dust of ruin and Let everyone realise the duty involved. That duty is one of silence so far as repeating malicious rumour is concerned, coupled with a quiet determination to discover and expose the source of the danger.

Recruiting in Hawke's Bay

Sir,—"Bullseye" is quite right in his statement. Hawke's Bay has by no means done as well as the authorities would have us believe. Why, the Hastings district (Waimarama to Hatuma) has not reached the 700 mark (including Maoris).

It is also worth remembering that many of the recruits registered in Hawke's Bay are not Hawke's Bay people—they are seasonal workers Lately many have joined the local Territorials instead of the special forces. This may be considered as a shrewd move, as we have noticed a few mushroom officers come into being—men, who if attached to the special forces in camp I doubt would ever be made lance-corporals. A "frog in the throat" counts nothing in the mobilisation camps.

The question now arises, should officers of this type be allowed to be placed over our lads when they go on active service. Definitely not.—I am, etc.,

Dr. McMillan Comments On The Lee Issue

VOTING FIGURES QUERIED

By Telegraph—Press Association DUNEDIN, April 7.

Strong dissatisfaction with the procedure adopted of authorising publication of portions of the discussion on the Lee issue at the recent Labour Conference at Wellington was expressed in an interview to-night by Dr. D. G. McMillan,

M.P., vice-president of the party.

Dr. McMillan also alleged that the figures published in the Press of the voting at the caucus of the Parliamentary Party at which Mr Fraser was elected leader were not correct.

Dr. McMillan said that although it was expected that Mr Lee would be censured, his expulsion from the party had come as a surprise to many members.

Asked to reconcile Mr Lee's expulsion with his own election as vice-president, he said that it indicated that the conference favoured majority rule, but objected to the methods Mr Lee had adopted.

"Most delegates were shocked at the publication in the party's official organ, 'The Standard,' and in the daily. Press, of excerpts of the discussion on the Lee issue," Dr. Mc-Millan said. "The discussion took place in committee, with the galeries cleared of party members. Most delegates regarded this procedure as being in the best interests of the party, and were accordingly astounded when they read selected reports in the Press.

"I understand that Mr. D. Wilson, M.L.C., on behalf of the Press Committee, approved of the publication," Dr. McMillan added. "This is doubly unfortunate, because some of Mr. Wilson's remarks, which have been published in full, are not in accord with fact. Some are only half correct and some were expressed in unfortunate language."

Referring to the election of the leader, Dr. McMillan said that his only comment was that the voting figures published in the Press were not the correct ones. An uproar has been caused by an important interview with General Sir Edmund Ironside, arranged by the Ministry of Information, in which the Chief of the Imperial General Staff invites Germany to attack on the Western Front.

The interview, which is Sir Edmund's first public pronouncement since the outbreak of the war, was distributed in America by the Hearst Press and was published exclusively in the "Daily Express."

He said: "Frankly, we would welcome an attack. We are sure of ourselves and have no fears. We are now tightening up the blockade. Now we shall see what Germany will do.

Sir Edmund added: "There are a number of reasons why this great German force is kept intact and ready. He can handle every phase of troop life more efficiently when his men are kept in the battle area."

When asked about the possibility When asked about the possibility When asked about the possibility of action in the Balkans in the spring or summer, Sir Edmund said: "Certainly Germany has no real front on any of the Balkan borders at the moment. It would weaken her terrifically if she attempted to build two fronts, as in the Great War, and the Balkan armies are now better prepared."

Supply Bases Regarding the neutrals' position, he said: "Germany is almost surrounded by neutrals whom she is doing her best to use as supply bases. The contrast between New Zealand, with its freedom of worship, and other nations, where religion was thwarted and opposed by persecution and even martyrdom, was emphasised by Bishop Brodie in a sermon at the Centennial service in the Catholic Cathedral to-day, referring to the Government's exhortation that every religious body should commemorate the Centennial, and to show that Catholic hearts had been stirred by the appeal, "Pro deo et patria," Bishop Brodie said that the reason was not hard to find for the enthusiasm shown in those and in local celebrations.

About 40 clergy took part in the service. With the Archbishop, Bishop Holland, of Wellington, the dean and canons of the cathedral and the archdeacons, sisters, deaconesses and la readers, they assembled for the pro cession into the cathedral through a guard of honour consisting of boys of the Cathedral Grammar School The procession passed through the grounds and through the west door of the cathedral as the congregation sang the first hymn. When the clergy had taken their places and the hymn ended, Archbishop Averill announced the purpose of the ceremony. Dean Julius then led the congregation in prayer for God's guidance.

The Diocesan Registrar (Mr E. P. Wills) the Chancellor of the Diocese (Mr H. D. Andrews), the Bishop of Wellington, the archbishops and their chaplains, then proceeded to the chapter of the chancel steps.

Archbishop Averill exhibited the certificate of election of the new archbishop, which was read by the registrar. To-day's other important declaration of Allied trading policy was the launching by the British Minister of Food, Lord Woolton, of a food-conservation campaign for nation-wide mobilisation in the kitchen, in which he declared: "If each person wastes a slice of bread each day, we shall have lost 30 shiploads of wheat a year. CHRISTCHURCH, April 7. Bishop West-Watson of Christchurch was installed this afternoon as Primate and Archbishop of New Zealand. The ceremony was conducted by the retiring Primate, Archbishop Averill, in the presence of a congregation nearly filling the Christchurch Cathedral. This was the first formal public installation of a New Zealand Primate and Archbishop.

The first two Primates, Archbishop Julius and Archbishop Averill, entered office without special services.

The ceremony to-day therefore established a precedent. It was based upon the form for the installation of the Archbishop of Canterbury in England. There were certain essential differences, the principal of which was the absence of authority from the State.

BOWLING IN HASTINGS DURING THE WEEK-END

Close Games With Visiting Rinks: John Carr Trophy Won By National Service

Brilliant weather favoured Hastings bowlers during the week-end and with the greens of all the clubs in excellent condition some close and interesting matches were played.

In addition to their customary club games, three Hastings clubs entertained visiting rinks with whom were staged a series of exciting contests. The National Service Club held its annual tussle with Port Ahuriri for the John Carr trophy, to win a tense match in the last head of the final game. Kia Toa entertained four rinks from Waipawa, and Heretaunga welcomed rinks from Napier and also from Waipawa. In a match for the "Ship of Good Hope Shield," the Heretaunga Ladies' Club defeated the Port Ahuriri ladies.

A Happy Season. The smoke concert, he said, was usually regarded as an illustration of the feeling that existed between the players and the association. He doubted whether for many years there had been such a good attendance at a smoke concert. This reflection was a matter of pleasure to him and other members of the association.

Mr Mahoney also referred to the happy feeling which had existed between the sub-association and the Hawke's Bay Cricket Association. Without the willing co-operation which had been experienced during the past two years much that had the past two years, much that had been of inestimable benefit to Hastings cricket could not have materialised. It would not have been possible ised. It would not have materialised. It would not have been possible, for instance, to extend the inter-town competition to a junior division.

YOUNG FARMER KILLED

CAR GOES OVER BANK NEAR ORMONDVILLE

HEAD INJURIES

Discovery Yesterday: Inquest To-day

A farmer, Thomas Bennett, jun., aged 25, of Whetukura, was killed instantly early yesterday morning when a small sedan motor-car in which the search of the which he was travelling alone skidded in loose metal and somer-saulted over a bank, landing on a fence 15 feet below, on the main road near Ormondville. He received terrible head injuries.

After travelling from Dannevirke,
road near to where the dead man had lived with his father at Whetu-kura. When he went to shepherd some sheep in the vicinity at 5.30 o'clock yesterday morning, Mr Leo Selby, Ormondville, discovered Mr Bennett's body lying in the car. He

CHRISTIANITY IS THE ONLY HOPE

Bishop's Views On World Peace

TRUE FAITH NEEDED

It was only through the efforts of the Christian community that war would be banished, as he believed it eventually would be, said the Rt. Rev. C. A. Cherrington, Bishop of Waikato, in the course of a sermon broadcast last evening from St. Matthew's Anglican Church, Hastings.

"We are at war for the second time in 25 years, and only one conclusion can be drawn from this fact—we Christians have failed again," he said.

They had received letters from Britain referring to the wonderful pirit being shown by the people, vho were doing all they possibly could to support the war effort, but yet they knew in their hearts that war was not the best way to settle disputes. Now that the Empire was at war all private thoughts had to be set aside, and the people's atti-tude was that they must exert every effort so that they would emerge vic-torious from the conflict. He did not profess to be any more learned on such subjects than the next man, but it seemed that victory might come through an economic might come through an economic war rather than through a bloody one, and he hoped and prayed that such would be the case.

"It took many centuries for one blot on civilisation, that of slavery, war," said the Bishop.

"Christian" Countries.

"What of the so-called Christian countries?" he continued. "France is in part atheistic; as for Germany, I do not know what she is: you could not call Britain a Christian country.

"We cannot boast about the Christianity of New Zealand. There are true believers—a smattering of us that the believes—a smattering of distributive don't cut any ice."

The Bishop continued that whether the numbers remainer comparatively small, or whether they increased, did not affect the main point —that it was through the Christian community that war would eventually be banished and a lasting peace

With the fruit season at its height, McCutcheon's employees have been working at night, and Friday was the first day for some time on which the men left early. Residents in a nearby house heard a good deal of noise shortly after 11 o'clock, and it is assumed that it was then that the theft was committed.

Green paint from the safe on the white handrail of Karamu Bridge and the lorry left nearby provided the police with an indication of the booty's resting-place. It was located in the bed of the creek on Saturday morning, but it was not until yesterday morning that it was recovered.

The subject of the address given in the United Hall, Hastings on Sunday night was "The Origin, Nature and Destiny of Man."

The speaker (Mr A. R. Scrivener), showed from the Scriptures that man was created from the dust and though originally made "very good" had become subject to death because of sin. Death was not, as sometimes claimed, "the portal to a fuller life," of sin. Death was not, as sometimes claimed, "the portal to a fuller life," but was really the antithesis of life; a state in which man's thoughts perished, so that "the dead know not anything;" a state in which man returned to the dust whence he was taken and ceased to exist. taken and ceased to exist.

Apart from Divine intervention this would be the end of all mankind, but God had not so purposed and had made provision for the exaltation to the Divine nature of a portion of the race selected on the basis of faith and obedience. Lady Furst showed up early from Globe Trotter, but Old Surrey was taken to the front going out of the straight and he led into the back from Lady Furst, Globe Trotter, Galteemore, Classform, and Duncannon. Old Surrey had opened up a break of several lengths at the half-mile, while Lady Furst was joined by Galteemore, with Dynasty, Globe

Trotter, Rustem, and Classform following.

Old Surrey was still going well as they came into the straight, but Classform made her run immediately and she got the upper hand of Old Surrey at the distance, going on to win comfortably by two lengths. Globe Trotter finished strongly and was only a head behind Old Surrey, with Galteemore a good fourth. Then came Rustem, Hunting Cat, Dynasty, and Mataroa.

Duncannon was never going right and was well beaten at the finish.

HUNTING LORE looked to be all over a winner in the Kairanga Hurdles when he ran up to Bisquit at the last fence, but the Marton trained gelding had something in hand and he came away again in the last furlong to win decisively from the favourite. Bisquit looked improved by his race the first day and she should be in great order for the Hawke's Bay meeting.

Bisquit took over the lead in the first duy and she should be in great order for the Hawke's Bay meeting.

Over the lead in the first day and she should be in great order for great Quex and Ruling Star. Over the lead in the first day down the running.

Counter also finished well and he also got up in time to beat Veldette and take second money. Tuatara was followed home by War Lap and Ruling Star. The last-named ran a long way below the form he showed on the first day and take second money. Tautara was in command when they reached the straight, his nearest attendants being Black Majesty, Zest, Veldette (wide out). Sceptre and Counter. #### CURRENT COMMENT

(By MOTUROA).

A Solid Filly.

At Mr C. W. Boyd's dispersal sale on Friday there was a reserve of 1200gns. on the Inflation-Spearform filly Classform who was passed in at 875gns. Classform won so convincingly each day at the Manawatu meeting that it looks as if she is sure to win one of the good handicap races next season.

To Be Jumped.

position. He finished too solidly for Military Maid over the last furlong. Military Maid, Kotua, Don Quex, Kehua and Dainty Dell were the first to show up, but Minority had run into second place behind Military Maid at the half mile and the pair showed the way around the turn to Colossal Chief, Don Quex, Pitmark, and Dainty Dell. The leaders had the finish to themselves and Minority gained the upper hand half Tidewaiter, winner of the Avondale Cup Parliamentary Handicap and other races, has been acquired by Mr J. L. Bennett, of Palmerston North, and will be trained at New Plymouth by H. Dulieu. It is understood that Tidewaiter will be tried as a jumper, and, being such a great mud-lark, he should do well at that game.

Looks Improved. Bisquit, winner of the Kairanga Hurdles at Awapuni on Saturday, looks a greatly improved gelding and he might go on to greater successes over the battens. Bisquit, who is now trained by Les Jarvis at Marton, is engaged at the Hawke's Bay meeting this week and he will not be new.

ing this week and he will not be neg lected.

Lady Furst ran a long way below her right form at Awapuni and she looked a trifle sore. It is to be hoped that she will make a good recovery in view of her engagements at Hastings this week.

WELLINGTON, April 5.
The handicapper, Mr W. P. Russell, has rehandicapped Roy Bun six pounds in the Nelson Cup, making his weight 7.13 and in the Newman Handicap seven pounds, to 8.2.

Cherry Bay looked likely to be dangerous two furlongs from home in the Stonyhurst Handicap, but she weakened unaccountably. This is not the form she showed at Riccarton and it is possible that she will give a better account of herself at Hastings.

Of £300; 9 furlongs.

Nominations for all events close on FRIDAY, April 19, at 9 p.m.
