LONDON, Aug. 1. The "Daily Mail" says that demobilised French soldiers returned to their homes in occupied France have been put in concentration camps as "prisoners of war," following a sudden new order by German military officers completely cancelling previous arrangements for the repatriation of refugees between occupied and unoccupied zones.

It adds that it is becoming increasingly clear that relations between the Petain Government and the German authorities are steadily becoming worse.

The Moscow radio says that the Germans have taken northern France's entire wheat, sugar and beet crops.

British Area Boards To Remove Difficulties In Way Of Production

(British Official Wireless) (Received August 2, 6 p.m.)

Explaining the Government's new plans for the fullest employment of the industrial capacity of the country in meeting war requirements, the Parliamentary Secretary of the Ministry of Supply (Mr MacMillan) described the structure and functions of the new area boards. Each of the 12 area boards has six representatives of local industry, three employers and three trade unionists, and five official members representing each of the departments mainly concerned, namely Supply, Aircraft Production, Labour, Admiralty and the Board of Trade. The chairman and vice-chairman are representative either of the employers or the trade unionists. In three instances a trade unionist is chairman.

Mr Macmillan said: "The new poards have the extremely important function of employing their knowledge of local industry to ensure that its capacity is fully employed, or if it cannot be employed as it stands, that its labour and plant be transferred to points where it can be used.

"The boards will also be available to advise contractors where is the best place for sub-contracts. One of the boards' duties will be to carry out a complete inspection of machine tools following the Ministry of Supply's recent census of machine tool working hours. "The boards will be concerned with "The boards will be concerned with the allocation of capacity in their districts as between the requirements of different Government Supply Departments, and will be able to give advice when priority questions arise. The boards will also act as controllers of war production in their areas if communications break down."

LEW AYRES IN THIRD OF FINE SERIES

"Secret Of Dr. Kildare" Is Grand Story

Young Dr Jimmy Kildare sets out to save a beautiful girl who would rather die than reveal the secret rather die than reveal the secret which would save her, in a gripping drama of mystery, romance and medical wonders in "The Secret of Dr Kildare," third of the scientific detective series, which is now screening at the Regent Theatre, Hastings, with Lew Ayres as the young doctor and Lionel Barrymore as the veteran Dr Gillespie, his scourge and mentor. The new picture deals with a weird mental malady of a beautiful heiress, which medicine fails to solve. Ayres turns detective to trail the mystery down to the machinations of a fanatical nurse and a quack doctor. Based on the popular story by Max Brand, the picture moves with rapid tempo under the direction of Harold S. Bucquet.

Bucquet.

Ayres in the title role is convincingly earnest and yet injects whimsical lightness into many of the picture's episodes. Barrymore is perfect as the irascible old diagnostician and indulges in comedy of a Mark Twainish nature when he takes part in a game of "craps" with his coloured servant. Ayres and Barrymore are given effective with his coloured servant. Ayres and Barrymore are given effective support by an excellent group of players, among them Lionel Atwill as the millionaire father of the "mystery patient," Helen Gilbert as the girl in the thrall of an unknown terror, Nat Pendleton as the brawny ambulance driver, and Laraine Day as Ayres's nurse-sweetheart who as Ayres's nurse-sweetheart who figures in an hilarious episode when Barrymore becomes ill and has to follow her orders.

Mrs H J. Lovell-Smith, the president, was in the chair, and welcomed all present, including two new members. After the singing of the National Anthem, members stood for one minute's silence, thinking of the future peace of the world.

Further garments were handed in by the members to be sent to the Lady Galway Patriotic Guild. It was announced that the guild sewing section met every Thursday afternoon at 2 p.m. in St. Barnabas's Hall and that the women of the Parkvale district were cordially invited to the sewing afternoons. If preferred sewing could be collected and sewn at home. Gifts of clothing and donations would be gratefully received.

Owing to the postponement of the annual council meeting of the Dominion Federation of Townswomen's Guilds, the delegates expenses to the conference have been donated by the Parkvale Townswomen's Guild to the "War Expense Fund."

An Inch Removed From Women's Skirts

Seventeen Inches From The Ground Is The New Length

The last war took women's skirts from ankle length up to three inches above the ankle bone; 9 months of this war have already knocked an inch off them.

Last August they were sixteen inches off the ground; seventeen inches off the ground is the new official length. And that you will find is right up to knee level. (This goes for London skirts; in Paris they are wearing them are inches and the seventeen they are wearing them. they are wearing them an inch or so

The designers have made a good job of the new clothes; difficulties of lack of staff and rising prices seem only to have sharpened their ideas. You'll find the clothes easy to look at, easy to wear. Yes, I know the two questions you are going to ask; no at, easy to wear, res, I know the two questions you are going to ask; no, they are not military; yes, they are feminine. Feminine, that is, be-cause they emphasise the lines of your figure, not because they are all frilled up. They are the kind of clothes, says Lelong, that men like to see women wear.

Mrs G. Clark, Christchurch, is on holiday at Hastings. She is the guest of Constable and Mrs E. Broadley.

Mrs M. Fenwick, Whitehead Road, Hastings, who has been staying with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr and Mrs Colin Fenwick, Marton, has returned home.

Mrs G. Clark, Christchurch, is on Most of the new story is about skirts—and not only their length. There's plenty of fulness about them still, but the bustle idea has quietened down to discreet flares, putting the flare on back or hips rather than in front. Pleats are right out; who's got time to iron in pleats these days anyway?

You may have a petersham collar on your jacket and petersham panels on your jacket and petersnam panels on your outsize hip pockets.

You will find a lot of embroidery on the clothes; fine bright embroidery as well as self-coloured stitching. This isn't only because it looks nice (though it does), but also because dressmakers are trying to employ the skilled seamstrasses.

ploy the skilled seamstresses.

Colours are strong and bold— Colours are strong and bold—
"They've got to be to compete with khaki," said one British designer. Everywhere red hits you in the eye, a real pillar-box red. The dressmakers are making the most of their possibly last chance of a big colour range. But experts say that this first rush of bright colour will tone down, and by the time you get around to buying your clothes you will find the colours fairly quiet.

The Original Team "Of "Dad And Dave"

Bert Bailey and Fred MacDonald, who play the roles of "Dad" and "Dave" respectively in "DAD RUDD, M.P.," Cinesound's merry modern comedy of the famous Rudd family, are the original "Dad" and "Dave", having played the parts in the stage version of "On Our Selection," when Steele Rudd first wrote the story. In the words of the song, "That was many years ago."

During the stage life of "Selection" they played the parts so often that both became better known as "Dad" and "Dave" than by their own names. Naturally, when "Selection" was brought to the screen by Cinesound. Bert and Fred were the obvious choice for the parts of "Dad" and "Dave" and the amazing success of that film brought them further fame and popularity.

"HAVE AT YOU!"

The speech of the British Minister of State for India (Mr L. C. M. S. Amery), well known to New Zealanders as a former successful Secretary for the Dominions, will find an immediate echo in the hearts of our people. It is becoming more evident every day that the Germans cannot understand the straightforward approach of British statesmen to their threats of conquest. There is neither bluster nor fuss about the British point of view. There is just the quiet determination to look every danger full in the face and to take the necessary steps to meet it.

Mr Amery's opinions to the contrary and notwithstanding, Hitler is no Napoleon and there is really little comparative material that can be dug up as equally applicable to both would-be conquerors. The almost insignificant common quality between the two men is the lust for aggression, but there the parallel stops. No war, in plain words, was ever just like this one. Napoleon did not arrive on the planet soon enough to work out Fifth Column possibilities, and at any rate fought for whatever victories he did gain-fought in the field, with fighting men.

Hitler, on the other hand, by careful propagandist preparation, has cleared the way for himself by back-stairs methods into the countries which he has now put in thrall. He did not fight France. He broke through like a thief and stole. He does not know how to fight a fair scrap. He hits low, hard, and often until his victim is left in a position in which protest is impossible because the foul blows have laid him low. France knows that, whatever its present Government may say, and Germany knows that France knows. Would any Frenchman admit that Hitler is a second Napoleon?

Mr Amery proceeded to say things that will be endorsed by every stout-hearted British citizen. He referred to the glorious slogan which has held the French nation together for 150 years—"Liberty, Equality, Fraternity"—the slogan upon which the most glorious national anthem in the world was based (The Marseillaise). With one of those characteristic upthrusts of British idealism and faithfulness to principle, he went on to say that if the torch had fallen from the weakened hands of France, Great Britain would snatch it up again from the mire and hold it aloft as a beacon light to the free men and women of the world. Great Britain has had to do hard things to France; but they are the kind of things which a surgeon does who hurts in order to heal. It may be said that Great Britain is fighting against the Petain Government, but nevertheless on the side of France. It will be an intolerable world in which the glorious culture of the French nation is trodden into the mire by a hob-nailed, goose-stepping boot. The principles of freedom stretch beyond the bounds of national limits and become the sacred heritage of all who are still able to fight for them.

France has gone under, but Great Britain remains. The Nazi foe is presumably going into strict training because he has learned (at Dunkirk and elsewhere) that he will have to pay a much more healthy respect to his present enemy than he did to some of the others whose internal powers of resistance were weakened by the "borers" of the Fifth Column. We have had more than enough of the posturing and attitudinising of the Nazi swashbucklers, and are now indulging in the luxury of striking a few attitudes ourselves. Unless the whole of the overseas cable news from authenticated sources in Great Britain is a pack of lies, the Empire is ready, and not only ready but eager and willing to mix it with the best of the German fighters. We can take courage from that. As to Italy, referred to by Mr Amery as "the accomplice, henchman, and cabin boy in the pirate ship," we have certainly so far had no cause for worry. Signor Mussolini, who entered the war because (again in Mr Amery's phrase) "he thought that it was all over bar the shouting and the shareout," has made a sorry showing, and we may be confident that the British will to secure real peace in the world will prevail over either Nazi brutality or Italian hysterics

Miss Shapper had been with the firm 25 years and had risen from office girl to private secretary. The occasion was celebrated and the chief said a few words:— "It is often stated that women gain posts not because of their ability but because of beauty and sex-appeal. A single glance at Miss Shapper will prove how false that statement is."

The officer of the day entered the guardroom and found it empty exrept for a private who, saripped his shirt and trousers, was lounging on a chair, smoking a clay pipe. "Where's the sergeant of the guard?" demanded the officer,

"Gone across to the sergeants' mess to have a drink, sir," replied the private.
"And the sentries?" "In the canteen, sir."

"Then, confound it, what are you doing here?"
"Me, sir?" was the reply. "I'm the prisoner."

EFFICIENCY TESTS FOR THE WAR RISK GALLANT COMMANDER PUBLIC SERVICE

Strong Objections Raised By The Association

COMMISSIONER CASTIGATED

By Telegraph-Press Association WELLINGTON, Aug. 2.

"Representatives of the association maintain that the understanding arrived at with the Prime Minister (the Rt. Hon. P. Fraser) and the Minister of Railways (the Hon. D. G. Sullivan) was that all efficiency tests were to be postponed in the meantime," said the general secretary of the New Zealand Public Service Association (Mr F. W. Millar) in a statement which he issued to-day on behalf of the executive committee

The association's statement is as follows: "The association deplores the fact that the Public Service Commissioner should have seen fit to publish such a provocative and, in some directions, misleading report concerning efficiency tests in the public service at the moment when negotiations are proceeding between the Public Service Commissioner and the association at the express request of the Prime Minister.

LOAD OF MAIL ON THE CLIPPER

"The first sign of cleavage," continues the report, "after these arrangements were agreed to, was the astonishing statement by the Public Service Commissioner that the efficiency tests for the general division had not been suspended, although neither by word nor inference had any reference been made at the interview to the exclusion from suspension of those tests.

"The general secretary immediately communicated with the Prime Minister, pointing out that any question of a section of the efficiency test in the form proposed by the commissioner. "A torrent of Press protests at the time provided abundant evidence."

Although the proceedings between the Public Service Commissioner and the association are progressing satisfactorily on the whole, the Public Service Commissioner is still persisting in proceeding with his examinations for the general division, so that the view of the Prime Minister has so far proved to be optimistic.

Exception Taken "One of the comments in the report to which the association takes strong exception is: 'It will not be unknown that the project as it concerns the clerical and professional divisions has not been without some opposition.'

"This is most misleading, and wrongly implies that our opposition has been confined only to the efficiency tests for the clerical and pro-

A factor adding to Italian difficulties in Abyssinia is that no supplies can be obtained from Italy. Unless Italy can get relief through the Sudan it is estimated that Abyssinia's supplies will be exhausted after four or five months.

This is apparently the reason for the Italians attacks from Abyssinia on Kassala, Gallabad and Kurmuk, in the eastern border of the Sudan. It is believed in London that the Italians hope to launch attacks from these points across the Sudan after

OF LOST GLORIOUS

Amazing Story Of Heroic Feat On Active Service In The Great War

When the British aircraft-carrier Glorious was lost, her commander, Captain G. D'Oyly Hughes, went down with his ship, it was officially announced in London.

D'Oyly Hughes cut his fighting-teeth as a youthful submarine lieutenant in the Great War. In the Sea of Marmora, against Turkey, he performed an amazing feat of gallantry, says an Australian correspondent.

Alone he swam ashore from a submarine with a charge of guncotton and blew up the Berlin-Bagdad railway—vital Turko-German munitions link—under the very eyes of Turkish guards. Men of "The Trade"—the Submarine Service—still speak of his exploit.

Handsome and uncannily cool, D'Oyly Hughes made his work in the Navy an art as well as a trade. The men who sailed submarines through the thickly-mined Dardanelles needed to be artists: their work was a combination of clever burglary and blitzkrieg.

Immediately the report brought the guards running at him. Calmly he took potshots at them with his revolver, and then sprinted for his life—not back to the sea, but along the coast. Had he tried to climb down to the sea the Turks would have picked him off. He chose to lead them a chase.

Three-quarters of a mile later he plunged into the sea, fully clothed. Pursuers were still panting on his track. As he swam to sea he was bitterly disappointed; he had heard no explosion. But shortly afterward debris from the culvert fell in the water about him. His roid.

Mistake in the Mist

Then he heard rifle fire from the cliff tops, realised it must be aimed at E11. To his horror he saw three rowing-boats approaching him through the mist. Back ashore went D'Oyly Hughes. As the mist cleared he found it was E11 approaching. In the murk he had mistaken the sub.'s bow, conning tower and gun for dinghies. E11 had heard his first whistle, had come down the coast to look for him. He hailed her, was picked up.

Apart from the gallantry of his exploit, it was remarkable that D'Oyly Hughes had the stamina to execute it. For months he had been cooped up in a submarine, almost completely deprived of exercise. Yet to escape the Turks he had sprinted a mile then swim as to result to the sternes within a view to holding up any light tanks which might be landed. M. Molotov added that the Russian-German pact was still operating and that all British efforts to weaken it had failed. Anglo-Russian relations had not materially changed in recent weeks. The British Government had interpreted Hitler's peace appeal of July 19 as a demand for Britain's capitu lation, and had replied that it would be continuing the war until victory was achieved, M. When Peter Anderson, a native of Denmark, appeared before Mr J. Mil-ler, S.M., in the Napier Magistrate's Court yesterday to face 16 charges of false pretences and one of obtaining credit by fraud, it was revealed that he had £1500 on fixed deposit at the Union Bank of Australia in

The charges of false pretences involved the issue of a number of valueless cheques ranging from £1 4/- to £5 10/- at Napier, Puketapu and Meeanee. All the offences were committed in May, and in each case the victim was an hotel keeper.

NEW ZEALAND CHEERS THE NAVY

When they were bidden welcome this afternoon in the name of his Majesty the King, of the British Government, of the High Commissioner for New Zealand, of General Freyberg, and of their unseen kinsfolk on shore, they were moved to repeated applause and rousing cheers. But they cheer loudest and longest of all for the ships and men of the Royal Navy, to whom they owe their safe arrival.

Toward noon we steamed through a litter of deck cargo drifting aimlessly before the tide, and almost im-

Messrs Nelson (N.Z.) Ltd. offered at 3 3/- towards the prize-money for one baconer pig, the prizes to be awarded for judgment on the hooks at Tomoana. There is to be a minimum of five exhibitors or the prizes will not be awarded. The offer was accepted with thanks, Mr Retemeyer pointing out that £17 was now available in prize-money for the class, which it was intended to call the Hawke's Bay baconer championship.

In our journey round the world we have been under the care, at different times, of the Royal Navy itself, the New Zealand Division of the Royal Navy, the Royal Australian Navy, and the Royal Canadian Navy. It is no reflection on the courage of our men to say that all of them who are not already ian Navy. It is no reflection on the courage of our men to say that all of them who are not already members would gladly join the Navy League to-night. Their admiration does not spring from thoughts of their own safety, although all resented the possibility of being put out of the war without "having a smack at Fritz!" No; they have seen what the Navy does and come to realise what it means to the life and freedom of the British Commonwealth. Was he not a famous sailor of the last war, later our Governor-General, who told us once in New Zealand, "The sea is our life?" The Royal Navy keeps the sea. We have seen it at work and know.

KEEN FOOTBALL

Once again three senior Rugby matches are set down for decision in Hastings to-day and fans at Nelson Park should enjoy some excellent sport. The early game at 1.30 p.m. will be between M.A.C. and Hastings H.S.O.B., and for the former this is a very important match which they cannot afford to lose, but in which they will have to be at their best to account for the much improved Old Boys' team.

On No. 1 ground at 3 p.m., the old rivals, Celtic and M.B.O.B. will try conclusions and this is a game which should produce plenty of bright play. The other senior attraction at 3 p.m. is between Hastings and Havelock North and here again it is quite on the cards that the Villagers may spring another of their surprise wins.

Christchurch Hunt Meeting

RECENT FORM UNDER REVIEW

The Fields For To-day

(By MOTUROA.)

Riccarton will be the cynosure of all eyes to-day where the Homeby Steeples, Brabazon Handicap, and Longbeach Hurdles find most of the favoured candidates for the Grand National treble engaged, and, though form at the Christchurch Hunt meeting has not always been found a reliable guide in the past, the meeting is one which will hold Dominion-wide interest.

Padishah is the only Hawke's Bay horse engaged, although the Gisborne gelding Black Thread tops the list in the Brabazon Handicap. Provincial interest, however, will centre in Padishah, and it should be possible to gauge whether he is as well to-day as he was when he won this race 12 months ago.

There has been rain at Christchurch in the past few days and the going is likely to be soft. Win-and-place betting will be in vogue and the programme opens with the

El Caballo 12 13 Tommy Ruff 11
Guapo 11 7 Albar 11

El Caballo's second at Washdyke last week will assure him of favouritism if he takes on this race. Golden Glow is still in the National, while Albar and Tommy Ruff have been jumping well. However, it is hard to go past

Baltruin has been racing very solidly. He dead-heated at Waimate and was second last week. El Caballo will have a following if kept for this, while Joy Boa appears to have won rather easily last week. Arctic Star and Uncle Jim are without recent form, but Waka has been racing well over hurdles and Valens dead-heated with Baltruin at Waimate. It looks as if the favourites will be

Nothing has been working better than Pleading and, with Ellis up, he looks like being favourite. Muffler, Whiphand, Blue Abbey, Alias and Gentility have been galloping well, while Don't Forget was five times placed last season as a two-year-old. He was second in the Welcome Stakes, Spring Nursery, and Motukarara Juvenile and third in the Pioneer and Spring Nursery, and Motukarara Juvenile and third in the Pioneer and Russley Handicaps. Wild Coon has run some good races, but, well drawn, the hardest to beat should be

was a good second in the Weilington Steeples.
Gold Wren goes well over this distance, but, even though he meets Flashlight on 11lbs better terms, he will have to improve to alter the placings at Washdyke. Nightbound is not without prospects, but the pick of the lightweights should be the Aucklander Dauber, who has been jumping well at Riccarton since his arrival. This should be a very interesting race but the favourites should be

Gold Don should be all the better for his recent racing, while Lord Lynn is useful when right. Moneymore has won at his last two starts and seems to be a useful sort. Streamline lost his rider the other morning, but appears to be none the worse for the mishap and this race should indicate his National chances. Recollection will be in need of a race or two and so will Courtyard, but Kaiwaka raced at Trentham. He should be held safe, however, by his stable-mate Tidewaiter, who was an impressive winner at Trentham.

Aussia Ra won this race last year than and his second in the Winter Hurdles shows that he is well forward for today's race. Dividend has been schooling well, while Colonel French is one of the most promising jumpers in the south. Turaki would have a chance there and so would Hunting Chorus, Black Thread has a big weight, but he is improving with every race and is always capable of a surprise. Disdain's best form would give her a great chance, while Kilrobe would need only to begin well to be in the picture. The distance may be a trifle short for Lockit, but The Wrecker has surprised before.

St. Cloud has been performing very solidly at southern meetings and has good form, while Nigger Boy looked a little unlucky to be beaten over this distance at Waimate. Grey Honour is not without chances, while Winning Rival may keep them all busy. She has been working well.

Wagner would be better suited by a longer trib, but Nightdress, Straightdel, The Raker (who should improve with his race last Saturday). Wardress, Rebel Star, Paper Note, and Noble Fox all have recent form to recommend them. However, it is probable that most faith will be placed in

CURRENT COMMENT

(By MOTUROA)

Nigger Boy, favourite for the Bra-bazon Handicap to-day, opened his winning account in the Maiden Stakes at the Christchurch Hunt meeting last year.

El Caballo, Padishah and Aussia Ra, engaged respectively in the Lawford Steeples, Homeby Steeples and Longbeach Hurdles, won those races at the Christchurch Hunt meeting last year.

The former Aucklander Captain Bruce was at a good price when he won the Kennels Handicap twelve months ago. His close second to Schoolgirl at Washdyke last week will assure him of a big following to-day.

Billy Broughton will ride Black Thread in the Brabazon Handicap to-day, but Bill Jenkins, who won the Winter Cup last year on Catalogue, will have the mount on the Gisborne gelding in the big mile.

Slayer has schooled well on two occasions at Riccarton this week and looks a very fit horse.

Skyrena is reported from the south to be an unlikely starter in the Bra-bazon Handicap to-day. Wardress shaped like an early winner in her race at Timaru. She is engaged in the Brabazon Handicap today.

Shocking Form

Hirangi's form at Marton was too bad to be true. On his effort in the Rangitikei Hunt Cup it would be useless taking him to the National meeting. It would seem that his hard race at Trentham got to the bottom of him.

Valiant Lady has gone into Jim Manuel's stable at Foxton. This mare shows pace and should pick up a race or two at the spring meetings.

In his last two outings Squeers has run very poor races. He has a long way to go to be in the same class as his elder brother, Top Row. Midland has been racing very con sistently and he ran a good second on Saturday after being anything but well ridden. If given a chance to freshen up now he should notch a win A likely looking Kiosk mare in Lady

RACING CONFERENCE ACTS

ERRING JOCKEYS

Conditional Licences Ad Lib.

(By MOTUROA.)
When the Hon. James McLeod, M.L.C., stated last week at the annual meeting of the Taranaki Jockey Club that "a number of prominent New Zealand jockeys would find their wings clipped when the list of licences appeared," it was asserted in some quarters that the New Plymouth sportsman had made a rather rash statement. However, Mr McLeod knew more than the general public at the time and the official list of licences for the 1940-41 season shows that most of our prominent horsemen will need to mind their P's and Q's in the next three months. (By MOTUROA.) three months.

three months.

Conditional licences for three months have been given to Larry Wiggins, Percy Atkins, Billy Broughton, Billy Jenkins, Percy Burgess, George Tattersall and the well-known southern riders A. E. Didham and J. W. Dooley.

However, I do not entirely agree with Mr McLeod's attitude of airily stating that the Racing Conference executive and the Stipendiary Stewards have felt that there has been some "particularly clever riding."

some "particularly clever riding."
That is rather public opinion when the jockeys concerned have not even been asked to explain anything viewed in doubt by those august officials and officebearers.

Mr McLeod

must be said in fairness to the jockeys whose licences have been chief offence has been their neglect to attend the tracks for riding work with the diligence expected by the authorities. Anyway, any public statement should have been made from the Racing Conference.

The conditional licences will certainly keep the erring horsemen up to the mark as far as attention to track work, and I feel confident that they will one and all be granted their full licences at the end of the three months.

WANGANUI'S DIFFICULT YEAR .

Mr Russell Grace New President

The annual meeting of the Wanganui Jockey Club was presided over by the vice-president, Mr Russell Grace. At the outset Mr Grace paid a tribute to the generosity of the Manawatu Racing Club and the Wellington Racing Club for offers to permit the Wanganui Club to hold its spring meeting on their courses. The Wellington club had offered to run the meeting on behalf of the Wanganui club, and hand over the full profits—an offer that received the unqualified appreciation of members.

One of the endeavours of the club had been to maintain the stakes, said Mr G. C. Glenn, the retiring hontreasurer, in a review of the balance sheet. Last year 19870 had been distributed in stakes, in spite of the fact that the previous year's operations had shown a loss of f3947. Depreciation to the extent of £744 had been written off. On the revenue side the gate takings showed a decrease from £2936 to £1695, which accounted for nearly £1300 of the loss for the season. The report and balance sheet were unanimously adopted.

As Mr Speed had decided not to stand for re-election as president, Mr Acameron; vice-president, Mr G. C. Glenn; hon timekeeper, Mr T. Currie; hon. surgeons, Drs. J. W. Anderson, H. Christie, H. D. Robertson and D. Wilson: committee, Messrs R. Mitchell, P. A. O'Neill, R. Russell, and F. K.

Christie, H. D. Robertson and D. Wilson; committee, Messrs R. Mitchell, P. A. O'Neill, R. Russell, and F. K. Turnbull; hon. treasurer, Mr A. McNab; auditor, Mr C. S. Swan. Returning thanks for his election. Mr Russell Grace said there appeared to be a long and difficult road ahead for the club, but he felt that such an outlook made it all the more interesting. With the co-operation of the committee and members, he felt sure that they could view the future with a certain degree of optimism.

TOTALISATOR FIGURES IMPROVE

Increase Mainly In The North Island

"Daily Mail" Special Service.

AUCKLAND, Aug. 1.

For eleven months of the racing year which closed on Wednesday the sport was conducted under the shadow of war but the season's programme was mainings held, investments at galloping meetings aggregating £5,944,255, according to figures issued officially. This amount is £141,384 greater than the 1938-39 season total, an addition of barely 2½ percent., compared with an increase of 12½ per cent. two years ago. The 1937-38 aggregate was £5,289,415, against £4,607,070 for the previous season. Although the investments for the Dominion show only a small increase, those for the principal racing centres, Auckland and Wellington, reveal substantial progress. Over 39 per cent, of totalisator business was transacted in the Auckland provincial district and close on 18 per cent, in the Wellington area, Thus the other seven racing districts contributed together 43 per cent, of the investments.

The Wellington provincial district AUCKLAND, Aug. 1.

buted together 43 per cent. of the investments.

The Wellington provincial district found the sum of £1,063,386 in totalisator turnover, and the Wellington Racing Club accounted for £843,705, or a fraction under four fifths of the whole.

The following table discloses that Auckland and Wellington, with their large betting figures, have been wholly responsible for the net increase in the Dominion racing (and excluding trotting) investments, for the remaining districts show a decline. Details are:

District 1938-39 1939-40 1938-39 1939-40

962,002 761,881 1,063,386 734,954 Canterbury

Backers should not overlook the fact that there are no penalties for the National treble for winners at the Christchurch Hunt meeting.

Jack McRae will ride Slayer in the Homeby and Grand National Steeple-chases.

Brackets

Brackets
Although the number of acceptors in the Maiden Stakes at Riccarton today exceeds the safety number by one, there is not likely to be an necessity for the race being run in two divisions but there will be brackets, comprising Don't Forget and Whiphand, Game Bird and Haughty Lad, Hurry Girl and Jolly Time, Lockheed and Muffler, Noko and Pleading, Snow Elf and Stock Exchange, and Welsh Fusilier and Wild Coon.

MASSINE, Lang Blan's sire, was a high-class winner in France, and also beat the Derby winner Papyrus in the Ascot Gold Cup. He has twice headed the winning sires' list in France and he introduces a fresh strain of St. Simon blood through that great galloper La Camargo.

FOREST TRACK'S pedigree is well known. Not only is she by that great brood mare sire Tracery, but her third dam is that wonderful mare La Fleche, the third dam of Beau Pere and Gay Shield, two of the most successful sires in New Zealand in modern times.
