LONDON, March 10. The Finnish-Soviet peace negotiations are understood to be reaching the final stages. The Russians apparently insist that the terms of peace be settled before the armistice; the Finns asked for an armistice last week, when negotiations were in the early stages, but this was refused.

Three Finnish delegates, the Prime Minister (M. Ryti), an envoy (M. Paasiviki) and a member of the General Staff, are reported to have gone to Moscow for discussions with the Soviet Government.

The Foreign Minister (M. Tanner) in an interview de-clared that a decision would probably be reached to-morrow He added that if the Russian proposals or the next day. He added that if the Russi were not acceptable the fighting would continue.

The spotlight is now concentrated on the Russian capital, although Herr von Ribbentrop's visit to Rome, and the probable arrival of Dr Svinhuffrud, former Finnish President, are keeping Germany and Italy to the forefront in the devel-

RUGBY, March 9. Sir Philip Lorraine, British Ambassador to Rome, visited Count Ciano on Saturday and informed him that the British Government had decided to release, together with their cargoes of coal, 13 Italian ships which were recently detained in British control bases.

Italian ships which are still at Rotterdam and other neutral ports will return in ballast to Italy without coal and no further Italian vessels will subsequently carry German coal from neutral ports.

It is true (writes Mr Vernon Bartlett in a recent article) that these officers know what is coming to them, but dare not take action against a man who still retains so much popularity.

It is true that the higher ranks of the Nazi Party are more seriously divided over the Russo-Finnish affair than they have been divided over anything since the great purge of June 30, 1934. But it is not true that we can win the war by sitting still and waiting for a fissure to turn into a breach and for the whole Nazi edifice to crumble into ruins. The greatest danger to victory to-day is our own complacency

Many New Officials

Compared with the super-bureaucracy of Germany, even our famous
Ministry of 999 civil servants would seem humble — there are 1100 new officials in Frankfurt and 1700 in Cologne, and even with their help the unfortunate citizen is reduced to all kinds of subterfuges before he can get new "ersatz" soles for his shoes, a new cake of soda and solutions on the same date the Manchester Guardian said that from Finland and from other Scandinavian countries had come many reports of unrest among the Russian armies invading Finland. It had not been possible to obtain any confirmation of these reports, which, therefore, though they came from various sources, should be treated with the reserve.

Since many food coupons are valid only for a few days, the unfortunates who do not get their rations punctually because of supply difficulties may not get them at all. But a people that has passed through the miseries of 1918 and 1928 is not going to surrender while it has too little food but too much confidence.

A BARGAIN HUNT!

"Jean do stop poking among those"

Stockholm reported that transport to Murmansk had been interrupted. As a result food supplies to Murmansk were stated to have been stopped, and a revolt was reported to have broken out in the city as a result. Gunfire and sounds of turnult behind the Flussian lines had been heard by the Finns.

Sabotage in the Ranks

Copenhagen reported discontent, revolt and sabotage in the ranks of the Red Army, according to the reports in Scandinavian newspapers. This weakening of morale had extended to the civilian population behind the lines. Since the Russian Finnish war began it had been frequently reported.

Oerivative Nouns.

Lesson XXXX

The nouns formed by the addition of a noun suffix on to a verb indicate (a) Circumstance of the action expressed by the verb. Example:

I hopukina a Hoani ki te whare herehere mo tana kohurutanga tana wahine.

John was put into jail on account of his murdering his wife. Mo tana kohurutanga indicate the circumstance of the action expressed by the verb - kohuru - mur-

Hence to make an adverbial clause of reason we have a clause containing a verbal noun expressing the reason. Further Examples:

Long Food Queues

It is scarcely to be expected, for instance that the censorship will find agreeable reading in reports of the growing food difficulties in Russia, of which even foreigners in Moscow are becoming aware. Bread is generally still available, but sugar, butter, milk, eggs, rice and tea are to be had only after long standing in queues. Other items are frequently scarce, among them.

There is a lot about which to agiltate. In the Sudetenland, whose allegedly hard lot led to the Munich surrender, the unemployed women textile workers are conscripted for farm labour. circumstances, the driver of a motor vehicle will be compelled to pay compensation in respect of any accident in which he may be involved. Strenuous Opposition.

The association has resolved strenuously to oppose the introduction of such legislation, as it is of the opinion that it will cause such a sharp rise in the compulsory third party indemnity premium that a very large proportion of cars will be forced off the road, besides placing a premium on carelessness in

A deputation has already interviewed the Minister and urgently placed the motorists' viewpoint before him, and he has agreed to the appointment of motorists' represen-tatives on the committee, on the un-derstanding that their presence is definitely for the purpose of repre-senting the motorists' viewpoint.

A MIGHTY FILM OF THE R.A.F.

Alexander Korda's "The Lion Has Wings"

London Films' "The Lion Has Wings," which is now showing at the State Theatre, Hastings, is Alexander Korda's first great Government-sponsored production, and tells the story of how Britain gradually awoke to the menace of Hitlerism, the threat to the life and liberties of all Europe which the German war machine proclaimed.

Produced with the co-operation of the Royal Air Force, it tells of the swift and efficient transformation of a nation devoted to the pursuits of peace into a people mightily armed to resist aggression. It contrasts in a sequence of fascinating shots the spirit of Britain, devoted to sport, seeking education, concerned with progress with the spirit of Nazii

In this Nancy Drew, becomes a reporter by being one of the focal points in England's war with Germany, is equipped with two giant maps of the military terrain on which all "olane positions, including those of the enemy, are plotted. "The Lady And The Mob" A Comedy

In Universal's "Missing Evidence" which opens to-morrow at the Cosy which counterfeit sweepstakes ticket racketeers operate, affords the basis for a timely and thrilling action drama. It has been estimated by the U.S. Government that 20,000,000 dollars leave the country each year through the sale of sweepstake coupons. It is not generally known, however, that probably twice the amount is paid into the hands of swindlers selling bogus tickets for the famous English and Irish sweepstakes

ROBERT DONAT'S FINE PERFORMANCE

Great School Life Story "Goodbye, Mr Chips"

Robert Donat, who gave the creen one of its finest performances as the idealistic doctor of "The ces as the idealistic doctor of the Citadel," once again reveals his consummate artistry and acting skill in "Good-bye Mr Chips," filmisation of the celebrated James Hilton novel which is now showing at the Regent Treatre, Hartings. This is the portrayal for which he won the recent Academy award. The story of "Mr Chips" is the story of the education of youth the world over. Donat plays the kindly schoolmaster who comes to a large English school as a young man and passes his entire life there. He becomes the ideal of the boys in his care, and when these boys grow up they send their sons back to "Mr Chips." He meets and falls in love with a young and beautiful girl and when she ultimately dies the tragedy leaves "Chips" with a great iman understanding and compas

To the difficult role of "Chips Robert Donat brings a forthright and sincere acting talent which four different stages in the life of the genial schoolmaster, from youth to old age, Donat makes him at once a human, breathing man, eccentric at times, but always understandable and lovable, and a symbol of the great profession of teaching. It is a performance which will live in the memory of the screen-goer for some time to come.

Although "Good-bye, Mr Chips" is dominated by Donat's powerful char acterisation, tremendous appeal i ed by Greer Garson, who has never before been seen on the screen by whose work here insures her of star dom in the near future. Lovely to look at, Miss Garson gives a warmth and intimacy to the role of the young girl whose life is cut off all too soon which makes her LEGAL DRAMA, "THE scenes with Donat among those which stand out with clarity and power. Spencer Tracy, twice winner of the Academy Award, portrays the daring Stanley, crack newspaper man of the "New York Herald." Starred with him are Nancy Kelly and Richard Greene, heading an imposing cast including Walter Brennan, also an Academy Award winner; Charles Coburn, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, as Livingstone; Henry Hull and Henry Travers.

Into the perilous wilderness of unknown Africa one white man ventured to seek another, an impossible Herculean labour marked by innumerable, nameless terrors—but nothing could stop him!

But, "discovered," Doctor Livingstone transpires not to be "lost." THRILLING PRISON

DRAMA

"Mutiny In The Big

House"

Smashing action is the keynote of "Mutiny in the Big House," a thrilling prison drama suggested by an actual prison riot, which is now showing at the Regent Theatre, Napier. It is the story of Father Joe, beloved prison chaplain, and Red Manson, the one convict who hated him, and tells how the two struggle for the confidence of

The film becomes a struggle be-tween the force of good and the force of evil, as personified by the priest and the killer, and pays tribute to "the devoted men of every creed, who work day and night often ill-paid, and seldom honoured to rebuild the lives of broken men.'

A gigantic prison break climaxes the picture and thrills abound when Father Joe, under gun fire, walks alone across the prison yard to save the lives of innocent men.

The central figure in this deftly ashioned screen play is Charles Bickford—in the role of the prison haplain—a far cry from the tough nan characterisations which have

man characterisations which have been his lot in the past.

Bickford gives, perhaps, the most outstanding performance of his entire screen career. Barton MacLane, as Red Manson, is characteristically brutal, and Dennis Moore, as John ny Gates, gives a thoroughly competent portrait. In the strong supporting cast are Pat Moriarty, Charley Foy, Nigel de Brulier, William Royle, Russell Hopton and George Cleveland.

MONDAY, MARCH 11, 1940.

A GOOD START

With the traditional ritual and ceremony of their pageantry-loving race, the Maori people have given a splendid start to the Centennial celebrations in Hastings, which will be continued this week. It is entirely fitting that at the close of a hundred years of progress in the Dominion, pride of place should be taken by those whose ancestors inhabited the country before the white man came. Events such as that on Saturday must constitute a grave problem for those peoples who believe that native races are chafing under the hard riding of British rule. The spontaneity and exuberance of the display represented an adequate reply to all such stupid or wilful misunderstanding.

The essential points made during the speeches were true to the inner significance of the occasion. The solidarity of the Maori and the pakeha was emphasised at every possible opportunity, and the care and attention exercised by our Maori friends were in themselves an indication of the genuinely friendly spirit in which the native people played their part so well.

Perhaps most significant of all in the opening celebration was the presence of the Maori battalion. No finer gesture in the cause of British Imperial unity could have been made than to parade the members of that fine fighting force in the King's uniform. It should mean to even the most casual observer that the two races in New Zealand are standing shoulder to shoulder, through thick and thin, until the great end is accomplished to which the Allies have set their hand.

The response made by various bodies and business houses in regard to this week's events has encouraged all concerned to believe that the next few days will be among the most memorable of the already memorable days concerned with the development of Hawke's Bay. A splendid spirit of co-operation has been exhibited. Much time and trouble, to say nothing of expense, have been expended on plans and preparations to make the various items worthy of their place in such a great panorama of history, and it remains for the people to lend the utmost of their support to the good work that has already been done.

As has been hinted in this column before, there is a great deal more to the matter than the enjoyment of a few nights out or a few evenings of entertainment. Such displays as are taking place all over the Dominion will not fail to be noticed overseas. It is but natural that hilarity and allround good fellowship should enter into the celebrations and that the true spirit of rejoicing and thankfulness should be jubilantly expressed. But it would be a mistake to lose sight of the more solemn aspects of the affair.

When we see reproduced the examples of ancient art and culture, when we recall the significance of the Maori-pakeha unity and when we see in procession the results of the skill and ingenuity of the various services that have been rendered to the Dominion, we should not fail to ask ourselves what would happen to all this in the case of a defeat of the Allies. The different floats which will be seen are not mere exhibits for show purposes. They represent the results of the years of planned work and enterprise which have gone to the building up of the Dominion.

There is no reason in the world why we should not be glad and rejoice for all we are worth; but neither is there any reason why we should not, in our minds, stress the thought that the great work which is represented is worthy of every effort in its defence. The past hundred years has taught us many lessons. The present happy occasion should be a new jumping-off place for an advance to still greater achievement, based on those lessons.

EVER POPULAR PANTOMIME

THE "FRIVS" AGAIN TO THE FORE

ROBINSON CRUSOE

Another Great Success

One is always chary of repeat performances, and there is always the dread, especially for the players concerned that a show will "flop."

Although there were so many attractions in Napier on Saturday evening the repeat performance of the ever popular "Robinson Crusoe" pantomime and minstrel show "Certainly not!" presented by the Napier Frivolity Minstrels was played to a packed house, and it is indeed a compliment to the players and a tribute to the public that this splendid company, which gives up so much spare time in the cause of charity, should be so faithfully patronised. The funds from this presentation will go towards sending school children to the Centennial Exhibition.

The Cast The cast of "Robinson Crusoe" was as follows: Robinson Crusoe, Bill Clothier; Friday, Len Dadson; Mrs Crusoe, Wally Ireland; Spirit of the Island, Peggy Black; Captain, George Bullivant; ship's band and hula girls By The Company; Polly, Johnny Hayes, Will Atkins, Eric Poynter, and special mention is made of Robinson Crusoe's rendering of his solos, the humour of Friday, Mrs Crusoe and Will Atkins and Peggy Black's delightful solo dance as the "Spirit of the Island." Perhaps the highlight of this first half was the Hula Dance presented by the Company. Without doubt it The Theatres: is the most amusing piece of entertainment seen for many a long day and the audience received it en thusiastically.

Second Part

Part two of the programme was made up of mi_zellaneous items and a most interesting addition was the rendering by the whole company of a new son, "Goodbye to Old New Zealand" composed by Mr Harry

Walker, of Napier.

Mr S. P. Spiller and other mem bers who assisted in making the show such a success are once more thanked for their valuable work, to gether with the orchestra which is always a major feature. It was as follows: Piano, Cicile Bromley Hill (musical directress); violins, Lilian Swann, Norman Etheridge, Maurice Daily, W. P. Mitchell; flute, Alan Clarke; clarionet, Frank Lloyd; 'cello, Jack McCarthy; bass, Mark Venables; cornet, Bert Boston; trombone, P. S. George; saxophone, W. Rogers; drums and effects, Royce Napier Girls Successful Woolworths' inter-house team, Napier, travelled by special bus to Wanganui to take part in a sports carnival held on Saturday evening. The team was successful in gaining first place for dress and second in the championship. They returned to Napier late last night.

Equipment To Be Replaced Equipment 10 be Replaced
Equipment and materials for the engineering, electrical and woodwork shops at the Napier Boys' High School, to replace that destroyed by fire last year, will be provided by a Government grant. Advice to this effect has been received by the Hon. W. E. Barnard, M.P. for Napier, from the Minister of Education, the Hon. P. Fraser.

Novel Headgear

It has been said that the Maori is a natural humorist, and this was borne out by an amusing incident which took place during the cele-prations at Nelson Park, Hastings, on Saturday night. During a masson Saturday night. During a massed poi dance two women picturesquely attired in mats danced near the Hastings Citizens' Band at the edge of the grena. The spectators were greatly amused when they took the caps from two of the bandsmen, placed them on their heads, and continued the poi.

A Second Postponement

The Raupunga sports had again to be postponed on Saturday owing to wet weather. This is the second postponement which the sports have suffered and which has caused the committee no little disappointment and no mean expense. Horses have travelled long distances on both occasions to no purpose and special trains have had to be cancelled. It is, however, the determination of the Raupunga committee to stage a first-class programme as soon as weather conditions become favourable and a suitable date has been decided.

Nelson Park, Hastings, presented a somewhat desolate appearance yesterday morning after the passage of several thousand people on the previous day. Empty food baskets, which had contained food from the hangi, littered the arena wherein the celebrations had taken place, and all the rubbish generally discarded by a large crowd bestrewed the ground. Nelson Park is to be used extensively during the celebrations, and the work of preparing it for other events is being put in hand immediately.

The Rope Broke

The Waipukurau Centennial celebrations on Saturday was delayed for some time owing to the inability of the rope to stand up to the strain imposed by two teams of burly men. After it had twice parted in the centre, and sent both the sems sprawling backwards, an official was dispatched in a car with instructions to find a more substantial piece of rope, and meanwhile other events proceeded. A stouter rope was eventually found, and the tug-o'-war continued.

It was explained that two towels were used under the saddle, which sapped the perspiration from the horse; also that the jockey, after wasting, had a drink of water just after weighing out. THE WAR MUST MEAN SACRIFICE

A Broadcast Speech By The Hon. W. Nash

HUGE COST OF FIGHTING

During a broadcast talk last night the Minister of Finance (the Hon. W. Nash) said:

On the birthday of the Prime Minister I, with my other Ministerial colleagues, visited him at his home in Northland to wish him many happy returns of the day, and in doing so handed him a cheque for one million pounds handed to me a half an hour before by the chairman of the Bank of New Zealand. The cheque was a loan from the Bank, free firerest for the total period of the war and six months after.

"At an interest rate of $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. it represents a contribution by the Bank of £25,000 per annum for the period of the war and six months after. It was a magnificent, inspiring and helpful aid to the war effort.

But no matter what the cost may e, it must be met, and with equal-

"With this background, the Prime Minister has asked me to speak to you on the subject of the war finance of New Zealand," continued Mr Nash.

"To date, the war has been a feverish preparation of mobilisation. Experience has shown that the destruction of Nazism is an essential pre-requisite to the peace of Europe.

"There is no turning back, nor must there be any slackening of effort. In the past six months spetalized in the problem with which the Government is faced and to impress upon you the increated, however, that as fas as can be ascertained, at the present time, any further taxation, any request for loan money, will be well within the capacity of the country, without causing hardship to any particular section of the community.

But no matter what the cost may fort. In the past six months special effort has been made, yet much greater efforts may be called for in the very near future. Unfortunately there is no reason to believe that our object will be easily achieved "The Government believes in the essential slogan of the "Pay as you go" policy. It will be the Government's aim to finance s much as possible of its war expense from

"As regards civil expenditure, the Government has received a great deal of ideas as to how substantial economies can be effected. Take the Public Works Department, which is the bug-bear of most critics. I should like to say that it is the aim of the Government in future to confine its expenditure to work of a useful, reproductive character. A further endeavour is being made to transfer the balance of these men to good jobs. But at the same time a well deserved tribute may be paid for the magnificent efforts made by the Public Works Department. War calls for sacrifices and I am aware that these sacrifices are being made,

For the first six months, that is to March 31, the cost of the three departments will be as follows: Navy £907,000, Army £3,650,000, Air Force £2,700,000. The display at Nelson Park, Hastings, was the best seen in this town for a decade. More than 500 natives participated in action songs, hakas, marching displays and poi dances, holding the close interest of audiences of 3000 in the afternoon and 4500 at night. None who witnessed the simple ceremonies associated with the celebrations on Saturday at the park could fail to be impressed. An unforgettable scene was presented when the leaders of the people advanced to the official party and, after addresses of welcome had been exchanged, placed a cloak about the shoulders of the Mayor of Hastings (Mr G. A. Maddison) and greeted him in the traditional nose-rubbing fashion. In the smoke of the hangi fires, with hundreds of picturesquely-attired maidens and warriors grouped about, the scene might well have been in New Zealand of 100 years ago, instead of in the heart of a modern town in the Dominion. Floats bearing the four Maori queens and their supporters paraded the town in the morning, soliciting votes and providing entertainment. Toward noon some hundreds of Maori and European people began to assemble at the railway station, awaiting the arrival of the Hawke's Bay men of the Maori Battalion. SENSATIONAL SPRINT AT RICCARTON

Density's Remarkable Half-Mile

By Telegraph—Press Association. CHRISTCHURCH, March 9. Density put up a sensational time for a half-mile on the outside of the course proper at Riccarton this morning, running the distance, with A. Messervy in the saddle, in

WAIPUKURAU ENTRIES TO-NIGHT

HAWKE'S BAY owners and trainers should give due consideration to the programme for the Waipukurau Jockey Club's autumn meeting at Waipukurau on Easter Monday, and it is refreshing in these times of reduced stakes to note that the prize-money has been in-creased by £780. This bold step is sure to be appreciated by owners and trainers, and the club should have splendid en-tries. It should not be overlook-ed that nominations for all events close with the secretary, Mr. F. A. G. Dunn, Waipukurau, at 8 o'clock to-night (Mon-

46 3-5sec. It is doubtful whether this time has ever been equalled in this time has ever been equalica in a trial on the course here.

Density, who is a candidate for the Railway Handicap at Trentham next week, appeared to do her work easily. She is a four-year-old brown mare by Pink Coat from Denise and is trained by D. E. Cotton

In the past Density has always shown great speed, but has failed to run on in many races. She looks much stronger now as a result of treatment for blood trouble.

Rehearsal's two races at Woodville were his first this season, and his big improvement the second day suggests that he will be near his best form for the Wellington meeting. This big half-brother to Chief Ranger has grown more solid as the result of the patient policy adopted with him and it will not surprise to see him run through hack ranks at short notice.

AS I will be leaving in a few days for service with the Royal New Zealand Air Force my large stock of radio parts, valves, etc., is to be sold regardless of price. As many of these parts are now unprocurable owing to import restrictions, and as the prices are soaring daily, this presents a unioue opportunity to have sets overhauled or spare valves obtained at a big saving on present or future charges.
