MR FRASER AS DEPUTY

By Telegraph-Press Association WELLINGTON, March 26.

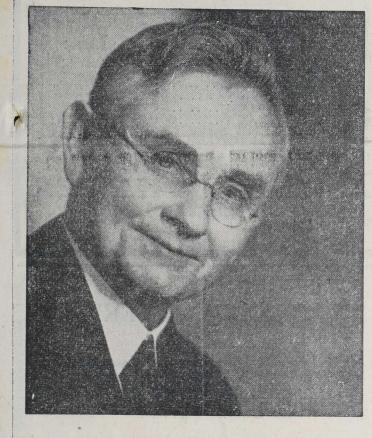

"We are accused by some people of being too cautious and of going too slowly. Others say that we have gone too far and too fast," said the Hon. P. Fraser, when he read to the annual conference of the New Zealand Labour Party to-day the report of the Parliamentary Party.

This report would have been presented by Mr Savage had his health permitted. The statement, though read by Mr Fraser, is that of Mr Savage.

Secondary Industries

"In the field of secondary industries we have undertaken steps which are probably of greater significance than any other measures taken in the history of manufacturing in this country. In order to redress the balance of our economy, we have undertaken to promote in an effective way the growth of manufacturing in New Zealand. The most outstanding measures in this regard have been the import restrictions imposed in 1938. Statistics of manufacturing leave no doubt about the results of our policy. Today there are 876 more factories than in 1935, an increase of 16 percent. They produce goods worth fill4,000,000, which is 44 per cent. more in value than they produced four years ago. Employment is found for over 23,000 more workers in our factories, as compared with 1935. Factory wages have increased of from £13,000,000 to £22,000,000, a 68 per cent. increase. Capital invested as represented by the value of fixed assets has increased by £9,250,000. Of this, £3,750,000 occurred last year.

Mr Savage's Report HOW TO SAVE TENSE SCENES AS LEE CASE DEBATED LABOUR PARTY

HASTINGS, N.Z., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 27, 1940.

Expulsion Motion Carried By 546 Votes To 344

SPEECH IN DEFENCE

WELLINGTON, March 26. In the most dramatically debated and ballotted issue ever faced by the party, the New Zealand Labour Party at last night's session of the conference expelled Mr J. A. Lee, M.P. for Grey Lynn, by 546 votes to 344.

With his wife standing at his side, Mr Lee made a brilliant defence of his motives, and with characteristic iconoclasm he said that if he had to go he would paraphrase the words of the song and "blow them a kiss as he waved them good-bye.'

The air was electric throughout the long debate, which began in the afternoon and ended at 10.30 p.m. Before the counting of the votes there was disorder and after the result was announced the decision of the conference was vehemently denounced by some groups.

The Lee case was debated in strict committee, all accredited visitors in the public gallery being requested to leave before the Prime Minister's special report on party oyalty was read at the end of the norning session. In this Mr Sav age particularly referred to Mr Lee and, in passing, Dr D. G. McMillan M.F. for Dunedin Central. No other members of the "left-wing" of the party were named.

The report by the national exe cutive, giving full details of discus sions with Mr Lee was taken in conjunction with the Prime Minister's address on party loyalty.

Many Speakers on Each Side Full batteries of speakers were produced on either side. Ministers who spoke were the Hon. W. Nash, the Hon. P. Fraser, the Hon. auguration next Sunday of the "new Chinese regime to be styled the National Government of China under the rule of Wang Ching-Wei and the control of Japan."

The editorial describes how "a conference of delegates from the occupied provinces of China and Inner Mongolia, with Wang himself and the heads of the 'reformed' administrations of Peking and Ninking, met last week at the latter city to organise the new Government," and adds that they were naturally well guarded for it is clear that the Japanese Government and the Army are entirely committed to this experiment.

the Army are entirely committed to this experiment.

Tracing the obstacles which have had to be met in answering the stage of what—citing the words of its own correspondent—it calls "a carefully planned peace move," which the Japanese Government believes will completely change the situation for it in China." "The Times" says: "Chief among the many difficulties of Wang himself was and is the reluctance of many many difficulties of Wang himself was and is the reluctance of many Chinese to regard him as anything but a deserter. But he had also to reckon with the usual divisions of opinion between the Japanese Army and the Japanese Government."

Army and the Japanese Government."

Commenting on Admiral Yonai's recent statement on the new administration, "The Times" thinks that from the point of view of foreign nations which have important commercial interests in China and are unable to exercise any direct influence in favour of a just peace in the Far East, the omissions from this statement are more significant than its contents. It calls attention to the manifesto which Wang Cring-Wei recently issued at Shanghai, in which he stated that foreign rights and interests would be respected and protected by the Government, which he proposed to form and that foreign capital would be invited to China and it finds it significant that there is no reference to this in Admiral Yonai's remarks.

A SUBSTANTIAL FALL IN EXPORT KILLINGS

Fat Pig Production Shows A Marked Decline: Serious Aspect Stressed

The serious decline in fat pig killings was indicated by Mr W. A. Phillips, chairman of directors of the New Zealand Co-operative Pig Marketing Association, Ltd., in a recent

"For the season to the end of February," said Mr Phillips, "porker killings have declined by 127,000, although baconers have shown an increase of 32,000. Against the corresponding period for last year these figures represent a deficit of 95,000 pigs or a fall of 32 per cent. "Although in terms of weight," continued Mr Phillips, "this loss would be reduced to about 20 per cent., the continued substantial fall in the Dominion's export killings is a matter calling for the serious attention of all concerned in the industry. Over the last three years the decline in pig production has meant a financial loss to the country's dairy industry of nearly three-quarters of a million sterling.

"Quite apart from the patriotic appeal for increased production of this highly-rated food for the fighting forces, there is nothing which offers the dairy-farmer quicker and greater profit for his labour and capital investment."

crease this season, said Mr Phillips. This might be due to the limited commandeer market for porkers and the correspondingly fewer sows which are needed to be kept for baconer production. However, far too many of these had been disposed of for slaughter because of the erroneous impression created by the flat rate f.o.b. price for any kind of pig up to 180lbs.

Had a differential price for quality and weight in accordance with normal practice been maintained, a greater number of pigs could have been reared of a higher average quality with a correspondingly greater return to the producer.

Hed and Upsala, Sweden, and carved in 1050, showing a warrior on "snow-skates" carrying a bow and arrow. Exhibited is a photograph of the stone.

Ancient skis, apparently, bore little resemblance to the ones now used. As shown by an illustration in a volume printed in 1555, they were then about three to four feet long, and cut off sharply a few inches behind the skier's heel. Toes were long, tapering, and sharp, with only a slight elevation of the point. Nevertheless, they were even then effective military equipment; the army wearing them in the illustration is obviously putting to flight its opponents, not so equipped.

A later book, "History of Lapland," 1674, describes "shoes ... made of broad planks extremely smooth" and called "skidder." They were about 12 inches wide, the author states, and in any pair "one must be longer than the other by a foot."

GEORGE FORMBY IN A GRAND COMEDY

"Come On, George" Is Gay Story

Unanimously acclaimed by film reviewers as George Formby's best and funniest picture to date, "Come On, George," which is now at the Regent Theatre, Hastings, is also a film into the making of which George Formby put all his heart. It is, he has said, the film he had always wanted to make since he left the racing stables to become a screen, stage and radio star.

In addition to Formby, the film boasts a strong cast, which includes such notable performers as Patricia Kirkwood, Joss Ambler, Meriel Forbes and Jimmy Taylor.

In the new film George Formby is seen as a goofy lad with an ambition to become a great jockey. The story, packed with hilarious incidental comedy, shows how he achieved this by being blissfully unaware that the horse he is friendly with hea killed more jockeys then with has killed more jockeys than our from the countless impossible situations into which he is ineviably thrown.

Apart from the irresistible com-dy scenes, there is a wealth of rol-eking music which cannot fail to licking music which cannot fail to appeal to every taste. Among the hit numbers featured in "Come On George," are "Good-night, Little Fellow, Good-night," "Pardon Me," "Could Not Let the Stable Down, and "I'm Making Headway Now." All are presented with the infectious "Formby" lilt and rhythm situation, wit pointed against wit, and with surprises all the time. This is excellent comedy and perfect holiday fare. There can be little doubt that early booking will be essential.

THRILLING ACTION AND ADVENTURE

"Frontier Marshal," With Mystery Story

Blood-tingling action is the order of the day in "Frontier Marshal," which is now at the State Theatre, Hastings, with Randolph Scott and Nancy Kelly in the leading roles.

Although Edgar Wallace wrote an eminently successful series of detective stories in which the central charactr was a lovable old gentleman, J. G. Will Fyffe has the support of Kay Walsh as his pretty sec etary, George Curzon, John War vick and Chili Bouchier, and a cast of well-known names and experien red players, which make "The Mind of Mr Reeder" a picture that "picks tself" when it comes to outstanding

HAWKE'S BAY RIFLE SHOOTING

Well On The Target At Roy's Hill

CHAMPIONSHIP TO H. HUNT

Teams Match Results In Win For Okawa

GOOD SHOOTING WEATHER

The Hawke's Bay Association's Centennial rifle meeting was held at Roy's Hill range during the Easter week-end. Record entries were received from clubs representative of Gisborne, Hawke's Bay, Wairarapa, Wanganui, New Plymouth and Wellington, and the meeting itself was favoured, generally, by ideal shooting conditions.

The championship produced marksmanship of a brilliant standard and resulted in a most popular and meritorious victory for Rifleman Harold Hunt, of the Suburbs Club, Wellington. At the conclusion of the first day's programme, when the short ranges were completed, Rifleman Hunt had a point lead from L. E. Brathwaite (Okawa), and in the final match at 900yds. he proved his sterling ability by recording an outstanding score of 49 out of the possible 50. This performance was all the more meritorious because Hunt shot in the most difficult conditions which prevailed during the match. Rifleman Hunt virtually "scooped the pool" and his brilliant performance establishes a new record for the association's championship. He annexed the Lane Champion Belt, the Bone Cup (for the highest score at short ranges), and the McFarlane Cup (for the highest score at long ranges).

Young Competitor.

A young competitor, Rifleman O. L. Whiteman, also of the Suburbs club, distinguished himself by heading the list in the tyro class at the short ranges, where he carried off both the A. A. George Cup and the Campbell Cup. The remaining tyro trophy was the McLeod and Rivers Cup, which was allotted to Elgar, A. R., Okato ..... 47 0 Macdonald, J. H., Alfredton 47 0 Burton, W. Opaki).

A feature of the meeting was the keen and exciting competition which was produced when the teams' match was in progress. Throughout this match the conditions were ideal with the result that scoring was of a high order. The match eventually developed into a duel between the local club, Okawa, and the Gisborne team, and it was not until each team had fired its last shot that the issue was decided. Okawa triumphed in the end by the small margin of two points.

WAIROA. The sheepdog trials held by the Opoho Collie Club on Mr G. Pow drell's property were an outstand ing success. The entries numbered 116, an increase of 40 over those for last year.

The crowd that attended was also a record, and the day's trials will result in a substantial donation be ing made to the patriotic funds. The management of the events, under the president (Mr W. T. Taylor) and the secretary (Mr G. D. Taylor) left nothing to be desired.

Competitors were present from as far south as Hastings and from the East Cc-st. Owing to the large number of entries, the experiment of judging two events concurrently was tried, and this proved successful, the programme being run off much more speedily.

LABOUR PARTY PURGE

The proceedings of the Labour Party's annual conference in Wellington have made bright reading. No doubt whatever is left that the party is in deadly earnest to keep its members true to label. The most serious and solemn warnings have been issued as to what members may or may not do, and an extraordinary example has been made of Mr J. A. Lee, the member for Grey Lynn, whose typically facetious rejoinder does nothing to minimise the severity of the chastisement meted out to him or the hardness of the blow delivered to his political prospects.

. The Labour Party in conference has exemplified the Labour method of government in a manner that cannot be misunderstood. It will brook no interference with its principles and will throw the disruptive elements to the scrapheap. Credentials will require to endure the closest microscopical examination before admission to the party will be allowed or even continuance of membership tolerated.

At the moment we are not much concerned with Mr Lee. He asked for it and he got it. He has been the bad boy of the family for a long time, assuming a quizzical attitude of flippant defiance in the face of the grave warnings given to him and in spite of at least one very narrow escape from expulsion. The incorrigible Mr Lee may go his way. Possibly some may go with him and he will have the satisfaction of having vindicated the opinion that the Labour Party even yet and after the purgings is not the unified and concerted body which it is supposed to be. The present party of one with Mr Lee at its head may be slightly augmented, but it is problematical whether in war time the people of the Dominion will be bothered to take much interest in what happens to him, so long as the Government pursues its important aims with vigour and unity.

Some time ago we ventured to head an article "Exit Mr Lee," and the heading did not meet with the approval of Mr Barnard. Now it could be repeated, and no one knows when it may be repeated again. There are so many doors, and Mr Lee seems to be in process of establishing a habit to move out of them rather than in. This stormy petrel may go to roost when he pleases, and it will be at least interesting to observe the full extent of his influence on the others who still remain in the party and who have up till now given their full support to him and even gone far out of their way to champion him in certain controversial issues.

It is all to the good that the Labour conference has got down to real business in this way, firstly by getting rid of the subversive influences which threaten to split the party, and secondly by giving a clear exposition of its war aims. Although Labour has all along and consistently opposed war as an instrument of national policy, it has now declared its firm conviction that the principles for which it stands are worth fighting for. The pressure of external events has made that declaration possible, and so far as the Empire war aims are concerned the Labour Government is co-operating in accordance with its own expressed views.

There are only two main issues in the case of which many of the people of the Dominion feel that more could be done. One is in the way of enlisting the help and co-operation of other members of the House of Representatives who are not of the Labour persuasion, and the other is in the way of assuring the people that the voluntary system of military service will be sufficient to meet the national needs. Despite the recent declaration that there will be no conscription while Labour is in power, the feeling of uncertainty is felt that in a national emergency when everything we have is at stake, it is not sufficient to rely on the impulses of individuals for

If Thistle-Down Were All Pennies

Would Be Enough To Pay National Debt Of New Zealand

Minor Menace

Fertile New Soil Will Provide A Haven For The Seeds

This is thistle-time. They are everywhere in Hawke's Bay, delicate white down clinging to fences, telegraph wires, tracing frost-like pat-terns in the grass. In some ways these thistle-downs are possessed of a certain poetic beauty. In others they are grim little harbingers of the shape of things to come.

The increased-production cry is heard on every hand. More land than ever is being brought into use, being ploughed and broken in for the new season's crops. This has been a phenomenal season for thistles, as the countless millions of thistledowns most eloquently testify.

National Debt Borne on the gales which have characterised this autumn, the thistle-downs have found fertile resting places in the tilled soil of Hawke's Bay's broad acres. With thistle-downs have resting places in the tilled son of Hawke's Bay's broad acres. With wheat and lucerne the young thistle plants will break the soil in the warmth of the new spring, to flour ish and develop into healthy plants, the offspring of the thistles which have given birth to the down this season.

Said that if each thistledown was a penny, New Zealand's national debt would be paid thrice over. The tiny will-o'-the-wisp ob-national debt would be paid thrice aver. The tiny will-o'-the-wisp objects are everywhere, each carrying the seed that represents a new thistle plant next year. Taking into account the enormous propagation rate of the thistle, it is reasonable to assume that in some districts the countryside will be clothed with purple-flowered, dark-green plants. It is true that the thistle does not constitute a menace such as gorse, blackberry or ragwort, but it is obvious that if an area of an acre on each farm were allowed to bear thistles alone, primary production must be robbed of much valuable land. Scotland venerates the thistle as a plant of national pride; New York as Inited States. as a plant of national pride; New Zealand regards it much in the light of the Biblical reference: "Can you grow grapes from thorns or figs from thistles?"

Challenges were continually given and accepted, and the finals proved a fitting climax to the

In his singles match with Max Ferkins, H. Elliott was at the top of his form. In spite of an early lead by Ferkins, Elliott had levelled at three games all. Not content with this, he proceeded with astonishing consistency, to take the next three games in a row and win the first from Watson which took the first was fast and determined. games in a row and win the first set 6—3.

This was admirable tennis, the daemon supplied by Ferkins and the finishing touch by Elliott. Ferkins is a delightful player to watchcreative, courageous, resourceful and not infrequently reckless. He is never satisfied with a negative win, the point gained by his opponent's mistake in a purely defensive rally. He must make his own winning shot, position himself for it by play, and when possible outblace his opponent.

Now Wilson came up to the net, and with Elliott safe at back court, imitated his opponents' strategms. He took a game, 2-1.

Again Watson and Ferkins started in earnest. Both swooped on the net like vultures and Elliott drove out. Watson volleyed backhand, hard across court, and another game had been won.

The first set was won 6-2, and the second. Ferkins returned everything and made Wilson's fiercest at

He tried to do this in the first set and Elliott refused to allow him. Ferkins could not find his touch and Elliott could not lose his own. The seventh game was Elliott's on Ferkins's mistakes. In the next, ferkins's mistakes. In the positive season outlated his a vicious smash or a volley well out of reach.

To the same end he exploited his sliced shot continually. When points were not won by positive stroke play of dazzling order, they were won by the moral effect of the persistently hungry presence of both players at the net.

The Hawke's Bay Rugby Union has experienced a very heavy season as far as injuries amongst the players is concerned, and at the end of last season, the insurance fund

In this connection the annual report comments:—"A very heavy season was experienced with injuries and in spite of the contributions from sub-union and representative games being £16 in excess of the previous year, the account shows a loss of £15 against a profit of £30 in the preceding season. # BOIL-OVER IN THE GREAT AUTUMN Riverton Meeting

Willie Win Won Brilliantly

FAVOURITES FAIL BADLY AT RICCARTON

Shikari Just Beats Duncannon

("Daily Mail" Special Service.) CHRISTCHURCH, March 26.

Willie Win ran his best race since his second to The Trump in the Melbourne Cup in 1937 when he took over the running a mile from home in the Great Autumn Handicap. From that stage he was never really in danger of defeat and he eventually came away from his challengers in the straight. The contest was remarkable, however, for the collapse of the favoured division, and the placed horses-Willie Win, Sword-stick, and The Wrecker-were all at long prices. Willie Win has never looked better than he has done this season and his success in the Midsummer Handicap and his third in the Dunedin Cup showed that he was by no means a spent light. He was not produced yesterday, but he had been galloping well before the meeting and his price was really a false one.

The consistent Swordstick ran his best race to date and bore out the merit of his fourth yesterday to Wild Talk, while The Wrecker was caught in a galloping mood and hung on really gamely for third.

Thermidor, always in a prominent position, was quite a good fourth, but Capricious ran a long way below her form at Riccarton in November. She was well up early, but drifted a little in the middle stages. She came again in the straight and momentarily threatened danger, but her effort was short-lived. Trench Law made a forward move in the straight, but he seemed to be hampered by the leading bunch coming back on him. Lockit and Knight Commander faded out below the false rail, and so did Sovereign Lady. Siegmund was never going like a winner and was always at the tail of the field with Settlement and Norseman.

WILLIE WIN was troublesome at the start and twice broke through the barrier, but a good start was effected and Lockit, Thermidor, The Wrecker, Capricious, Swordstick and Trench Law led past the stands, with Swordstick going into the lead a mile and a guarter from the lead a mile and a quarter from Swordstick was clear in front when the back stretch was reached and his nearest attendants were The Wrecker, Thermidor, Lockit, Capricious, Trench Law and Willie Win The leader was attempting to slow down the field so Cyril Wilson hunt-ed Willie Win along past the leading bunch to take over at the mile. Willie Win was forcing the pace at the six furlongs from Sword-stick, The Wrecker, Lockit, Thermidor, Knight Commander and Capricious, who was drifting at this stage.

Lockit ran up fast at the half-mile Lockit ran up fast at the half-mile to join Willie Win and the pair led to the straight from Sword-stick, The Wrecker, Knight Commander, Thermidor and Capricious. Trench Law, who had lost his position at the five furlongs, was also coming up into the picture. Willie Win, however, threw them all off at the false rail and he went on to win by several lengths. several lengths.

gelding is right up at the top of the weights now, he will have to be considered at the coming meetings, especially if the perance Bay jumped away to a clear Master Dingle, who was well back early, then made a fast forward move in second place, but he hit hard about six furlongs from home, losing his rider. Ruling Star then went into second place, but the field bunched across the top and Esperance Bay just held the call over Ruling Star, Flashlight and Roseman.

Esperance Bay jumped best at the last fence and, though Ruling Star disputed the issue all the way up the straight, Esperance Bay was never really in danger of defeat.

Flashlight was a fair third, clear of Roseman, whose jumping throughout was poor. Duncannon Defeated.

Backed down to a very short price for the 48th Challenge Stakes, the Trentham colt Duncannon had to bow to the two-year-old Shikari in the last few strides and be yet an-other three-year-old to fail to conother three-year-old to fall to concede two stone to a younger horse. However, while Shikari certainly proved himself a high-class colt, Jimmy Ellis rode a perfectly-judged race. He delayed his run until past the false rail and he was seen at his very best in the last few telling. very best in the last few telling

Night Glass was slow to move, but quickly ran up to Duncannon and the pair were nearly two lengths ahead of Shikari at the end of a fur-pressure to gain a nose victory, while Eulogist was right up in line with them.

Duncannon was not disgraced, for two-year-olds have a preponderance of successes in this event.

Vascones was chopped out at the start of her race at Waipukurau and was never in a winning position thereafter. She looks an improved filiy and she should be seen to better advantage before long.

Laughing Lass was just headed by Race Call in the Johnston Memorial at Awapuni last year and, as the roan mare looks greatly improved by her racing at recent meetings, she may again be in the picture at the coming fighting Hugme (Bulandshar-Fondle) and Loch Moigh (Kincardine-White Polly) were sprinted down the straight at Waipukurau on Monday and both hit out very attractively. Gueen's Dream is not a boy's horse and her apprentice rider was not able to get the best out of her. The Gisborne mare, however, looks particularly well just at present and that race will bring her along nicely in view of her engagements in the hurdles events at Awapuni next week.
