Arras Recaptured After 24 Hours Of Heavy Fighting

FRENCH TROOPS BAR THE WAY TO PARIS

Great Melee On Somme, Where Allies Try To Stem German Attack

THREE ARMIES GRAPPLE IN VAST BATTLEFIELD

United Press Association-Copyright. (Received May 23, 10.10 p.m.)

LONDON, May 23.

The thirteenth day of the great German offensive finds the Allied armies fighting back sternly and joined in battle at all points.

A strong current of restrained optimism swept through Britain and France when the recapture of Abbeville (at the mouth of the Somme) and Arras was announced, but the peoples of both countries have taken their cue from their leaders and stand ready for more sombre develop-

It is authoritatively learned that the British Expeditionary Force's front was held everywhere during the day and the casualties were not heavy. The British counter-attacked between Arras and Douai. The Belgians also successfully counter-attacked against the Germans who had crossed the Schelde in two places.

The French battle line along the Somme and the Aisne bars the way to Paris and the French who are driving towards Amiens have reached the outskirts of that town.

The Allied attack on Cambrai was maintained. Important fighting is also reported between Cambrai and Valenciennes (to the north-east).

Behind the furthermost limit reached by the German light tank units the British, French, and Belgian armies are grappling with the Germans in a vast theatre stretching 130 miles from northern Belgium to the Somme and about 150 miles from Montmedy to Abbeville, embracing Amiens. Fierce battles raged all day around the Schelde, Somme, and Scarpe Rivers and the Allied situation has slightly improved.

Arras was recaptured after 24 hours of continuous fighting between mechanised units. Northward of Arras to northern Belgium there was more desperate fighting and the heaviest German tanks and the strongest British motorised forces are swaying back and forth in furious conflict.

Southwards of Arras to the Somme there was a huge melee, the Allies trying to break the German advance in this sector, from which light German forces earlier broke through to Abbeville.

Eastward along the Somme and the Aisne, to the south-west of Sedan, the German attack was less violent and the Allies are firmly holding their positions.

The Germans appear to have abandoned their efforts to pierce the Maginot Line proper with heavy artillery and infantry rushes. Meanwhile, the Germans are flogging on their tired infantry divisions in an effort to reach Abbeville before the Allied jaws close. German light units operating in the Amiens-Abbeville area are working backwards and forwards along roads, being unable to occupy the territory they have raided.

The London "Daily Telegraph" says: "It is learned on reliable authority that the morale of the German infantry is not good. A number are disgusted at the ruthlessness with which the Germans are treating the wounded. They say that the tanks prefer to run over the wounded rather than stop and remove them. Their orders are to advance at all costs."

General Weygand, after his return from the front, expressed satisfaction with the high morale and fighting spirit of the troops. The War Ministry spokesman quotes him as saying: "I am really satisfied with the situation."

Heavy bomber squadrons of the were engaged throughout Tuesday night in a series of widespread raids over an area extending from Prussia to southern Belgium. The raiding force, which was one of the largest ever employed in a single night's operations, consisted of Wellington, Whitley and Hampden bombers carrying full loads of high-explosive bombs.

The threefold object of the night's operations was to attack roads and bridges across the Meuse at Namur and Dinant, derail trains on railway lines west of the Rhine, and destroy or damage railway centres, destroy or damage railway centres, junctions and marshalling yards west of the Ruhr.

Specific targets in the areas were allocated to bombers which, in three main forces, carried out simultaneous attacks over the area to which they had been detailed. Weather conditions favoured the raiders and most of the objectives were easily located and bombed. Opposition by anti-aircraft batteries was of great intensity.

Track Wrecked

In the course of numerous attacks on the enemy's railway system a supply train on the Aachen-Krefeld line was bombed four times within a few minutes by a Hampden, whose first salvo wrecked the track ahead, bringing the train to a standstill. Subsequent bombing raids were interspersed with low-level machine-gun attacks carried out by the light of slowly-descending parachute flares.

In the same area a direct hit was scored on a train near Kerkade, a boomb bursting one-third of the way down the line of trucks.

Another hit was registered from 800 feet on the main railway track south of Giesenkirchen.

Near Bonn a salvo from a Wellington aircraft resulted in a blinding blue flash. At Euskirchen petrol fires were started by bombs dropped in the railway marshalling yards. The fires were seen to be still burning 45 minutes later. Wagons Blown Up

WOMEN IN INDUSTRY

United Press Association-Copyright. (Received May 23, 7.55 p.m.) LONDON, May 23.

The Trades Union Council and the employers have established a committee of 14 to advise the Minister of Labour. It is hoped that the committee will have plenipotentiary powers and will not be required to refer matters back.

Regional committees, local industrialists, and operating engineering unions have already agreed with the employers on the vexed question of women workers; fully qualified women will replace men at the same wages and the others will receive the same wages after probation. The Labour Minister (Mr Ernest Bevin) has vast powers which even a week ago would have been unthinkable. Labour will be compulsorily transferred not only to arms work but also to the land and mines. The control of agriculture includes implements, the dictation of what crops shall be grown, requisitioning and distribution. The overtime regulations will generally be relaxed and the dilution of skilled industries will be widespread.

Wages and profits will be under Government control. There will be no interference at present with purely personal private property, but the Government can seize without notice motor-cars and houses, including furniture, and stocks and shares. Land can be requisitioned for food production; civilians can be compulsorily evacuated wholesale Simultaneously, the aliens control is tightened and the

A.R.P. measures are being polished up. The recapture of Arras by the French and the driving of German advanced units out of Abbeville, near the coast on the mouth of the Somme, are the two features of to-day's news from the Western Front, Observers see in these develop-ments the beginning of an Allied counter-offensive.

The French military spokesman stated that German advance guards had been "chased out" of Abbeville, near the mouth of the Somme.

The spokesman also said that fighting was progressing in the fighting was progressing in the region of Neufchatel, some 40 miles due west of Amiens and about 30 miles south-east of Dieppe.

The disclosure that General Weygand, the Allied Commander in Chief, had conferred with the chiefs of the Belgian and Allied armies in the north indicated that communications were not severed between the main French army and the Allies operating in Belgium.

The French military spokesman stressed to night that the Allies had not yet met large enemy units, and that, in the confusion, light German motor-cycle units were continuing to rush to the sea.

Reuter's military correspondent

Reuter's military correspondent says that only a limited number of troops are resisting the German thrust at Cambrai. The remainder are prepared for a counter-attack.
Reuter's Paris correspondent said that a military spokesman said that combats between the Allies and the Germans were continuing near Camard we have opened the door for the first success of his attempt to at least 20 'planes each.

Those standing around the boats were either swept overboard or trapped between the two decks; those of us who were still on our feet struggled up the companionway and down on to the port deck.

I staggered to the side on watery legs, straddled the taffrail, and looked down. There was a boat in the water and several ropes ledding into it. These were the life-lines and were fastened above to the boat deck. Halfway down one of these mirth and melody. 11.0: Daventry

GREAT DRAMATIC PRODUCTION

'On The Night Of The Fire"

"On the Night of the Fire," to be released at the State Theatre, Hastness, to-day, is an emotional, melo-iramatic story revealing how one rime descends to another, the rials, tribulations and agonies of a conscience-stricken man, suspected, vatched, hunted and chased — the rdinary human being who reaps what he sows. This role is ably what he sows. This role is ably portrayed by Ralph Richardson, who most successfully maintains the suspense and interest throughout the drama. He is partnered by Diana Wynyard, who renders a remarkable perferomance.

Henry Oscar plays the black-nailer who threatens to expose Richardson to the police for a theft he has previously committed. The theft amounted to £100 and was the ssue of a hum-drum existence and a discontented life. With this money he had hoped to give up his barber shop and start life afresh in a dreamed Utopia, but the gods de-creed otherwise. A triumphant hour became a torment of agonised weeks culminating in a finale of life itself.

BRILLIANT REALITY ACHIEVED

'Each Dawn | Die' Is A Powerful Film

Aprison picture which achieves a brilliant reality far and away from a drama of this type ever to reach the screen is the film "Each Dawn I Die," which is to begin a season at the Cosy Theatre, Hastings, today. James Cagney and George Raft appear in the leading roles. Not only has each contributed a character portrayal that compares more than favourably with anything along the same line that he has ever done before, but jointly they present a rarely achieved welding of great talents. Both are tough, both are hard, and yet both are distinctive. And that is just as it should be, for the story the picture demands that they

In the fine screen play based by Norman Reilly Raine and Warren Duff on Jerome Odlum's novel of the same name, Cagney at the outset is anything but the almost animalistic convict that he becomes later on, whereas Raft is from the first a criminal account and cardiagues. first a criminal, a cruel and callous killer and yet a man of principle, insocial though his ideas may have

Sent to gaol as the result of a frame-up, Cagney is naturally rebel-lious. His attitude is met with prutality by the prison authorities and that results in a degeneration which makes of him, on the surface at least, as tough and vicious a man as any convict in the place.

This is but a sketchy narration of the story, for it is also filled with a succession of stirring incidents of life and death in the great prison where the two men are incarcerated.

"The Women" Stars Three 🖈 Great Actresses

With star honours divided three ways, among Norma Shearer, Joan Crawford and Rosalind Russell, "The Women" will begin to-morrow at the Regent Theatre, Hastings. Unat the Regent Theatre, Hastings. Unusual in its premise of presenting one of the strongest love stories to come out of Hollywood in months, and yet never showing before the camera the masculine objects of the various women's affections, "The Women" may well be nominated as the most unusual production of any year. It is decidedly top entertainment from every angle, with sharp, snappy dialogue, thrilling situations and sets of eye-filling beauty.

Not since "Riptide" has Norma Shearer appeared in a similar role and her return to a drawing-room comedy is heralded by her many fans. Joan Crawford, portraying a "heavy" for the first time in her

'heavy'' for the first time in her screen career, scores a decided triumph, as does Rosalind Russell, who is proving one of Hollywood's most versatile actresses. Phyllis Povah, imported from New York to create her stage role in the picture, is a happy addition to the roster of Hollywood players, and Mary Boland and Paulette Goddard garner more than a generous share of the plaudits.

Incidentally, those who witnessed the stage play will find that the drama lost nothing in being transferred to the screen. The broader scope offered by the celluloid provides many more spectacular moments than would be possible on the stage, outstanding among these being the beauty shop sequence and "Renfrew"

Renfrew's gallant, red-coated figure is to be seen on the screen in the scenes of action and adventure, which have already made his character a household word. As a typical member of the famous police organisation of the Northwest and the sole representative of the Government in the primeval Canadian wilderness, Renfrew maintains law and order, keeps down crime, traps dangerous and resourceful criminals and brings them to justice.

A FINE DRAMATIC FILM

Douglas Fairbanks, Jun. In "Green Hell"

Hollywood has made a jungle picture in which the jungle is not the star, but rather the background for magnificent acting. It is a story of seven men and one woman pitted against Nature and, at times, even against each other.

That is "Green Hell," Famous Productions' new Douglas Fair-banks, jun.-Joan Bennett picture, commencing to-morrow at the Reg-ent Theatre, Napier.

Fairbanks comes through with an intensely sympathetic, restrained and yet forceful characterisation of the woman-hating bachelor who battles with himself to keep from battles with filmself to keep from falling in love at the same time he is battling the jungle to keep alive. The annual meeting of the Omarunui Croquet Club, held in the club rooms, Taradale, revealed that a year, successful in all ways, had

In the report and balance sheet presented it was seen that the harmonious spirit that had prevailed in the past between the Omarunui Bowling Club (in a sense the parent body) and the Omarunui Croquet Club, had been maintained.

RAILWAY HOUSES

Complaint At Street Lighting

"Daily Mail" Special Service. WAIROA.

A deputation representing the oc cupiers of the railway houses in Wairoa was received by the Borough Council at the monthly meeting concerning the forming of a foot path from Carroll Street along Rua taniwha Street to Mackley Street. Mr. Carney, who spoke on behalf of the deputation, pointed out that as there were no footpaths along this street school children and wo men had to use the road, which was unsuitable and unsafe for foot traf fic on account of the potholes and the number of cars and lorries

Also, he said, the drains in front of the houses were wide and deep and a serious accident might result The lighting of this portion of the town was referred to and the deputation urged that something be done to give adequate lighting to the

The Mayor (Mr. H. L. Harker), in discussing the question, said that something must be done for the protection of the people and moved that the request of the deputation be gone on with as speedily as possible and that the works committee go into the matter.

COUNTY DECISION

Previous Motion Now Rescinded

"Daily Mail" Special Service.

WAIPAWA. At the meeting of the Waipawa County Council a letter was re-ceived from the Farmers' Union ceived from the Farmers' Union asking whether the council was prepared to consider applications for loans under the Rural Housing Act. The chairman (Mr N. M. Paulsen) said that the matter had previously been before the council, when it was decided to take no action for 12 months.

Cr Butler said that at a special meeting of the Tikokino branch of the Farmers' Union a suggestion was made that several houses should be erected at, say, Tikokino and Ongaonga, for workers on farms adjacent to the townships, and it was decided to recommend that the Act be amended in this direction. The chairman inquired whether the meeting considered the question of the county's liability in the case of default. Cr Butler replied that this had divided the meeting for the first. question of the county's liability in the case of default. The chairman pointed out that both the Patangata and Waipuku- Mr H. G. Bennett both the Patangata and Walpurdinary Counties had turned the proposal down on the ground that counties should not be asked to undertake any liability. He did not approve Mr Jull's statement at the Farmers' Union meeting that certain local bodies were using the liability of the proposed ility issue as an excuse for not Smaller amounts adopting the Act.

He pointed out that workers' houses could not be erected for much under £700, and that a loan of £10,000 was not going to go far if he need was as urgent as was made out.

A motion moved by Cr Parker that the council's previous intention to defer the matter for 12 months be rescinded and that the council be willing to undertake co-operation in the administration of the Act, vas carried by five votes to one

Enjoy luxurious protection from "B.O." (Body Odour)

NEW LIFEBUOY'S smooth, coral pink tablet is so very attractive - the cleansmelling perfume so tangy and refreshing. But most important of all is the richer, billowy lather that, together with the famous Lifebuoy health ingredient, makes certain you cannot offend with unpleasant "B.O." (Body Odour). Lifebuoy lather, too, is mild - extra mild. And when it has done its refreshing work, New Lifebuoy's own clean scent vanishes as you rinse, yet its trustworthy protection remains.

How SUPER-MILLING makes Lifebuoy a super-soap

Thanks to the expensive refining process of Super-milling, New Lifebuoy is a sleek s-m-o-o-t-h soap—smart in the bathroom nice and firm to hold. The new lather is amazing-so generously creamy and quickly foaming. Buy a tablet and see for yourself.

*Economy note for these times: Lifebuoy, as always, is a really big tablet—gives you more luxurious baths for your money.

QUICK AND BUSY

Who said that the tawny old British lion was asleep, too slow and lethargic, even when awake, to deal with the swiftly moving menace of aggression? Who said that democracies cannot move swiftly in an emergency, however much time they may take to thrash out their legitimate problems? The old lion was merely recumbent, head on paws, with one eye open. The amazingly thorough and sweeping change that was made within three hours in the whole of British constitutional practice should afford abundant proof that there is no need to fear that Great Britain will leave anything undone to ensure that the desperate struggle now being waged will be carried to a successful conclusion.

With lightning speed, to meet the grave emergency, the British Government has assumed complete control of person and property throughout the kingdom. The lives and destinies of the people of the Homeland are now completely in the hands of the men whose grave duty it is to preserve the Empire and all that it stands for. In the Old Country, there is a Government which governs.

Look at the contrast as between the attitude of our British legislators and that of New Zealand politicians. Great Britain established a national War Cabinet, i.e., a Cabinet representative of the nation. (That word "national" has always to be explained to the disgruntled people here who smell party politics in it.) As a result of that action, the Old Country has made a clean break with tradition. It is as though Mr Fraser were to adopt the Reform or Nationalist (political) policy in running the war for New Zealand. Such a thing is almost inconceivable here, and yet Great Britain does it with one sweep of the arm and without a squeal.

Public opinion in this country is slowly but surely being roused to fever pitch because of the lackadaisacal attitude of the men whom the people placed in power. It is questionable in the highest degree if they represent any longer the majority of the people of the country. Despite the requests that have been pouring in from all quarters in relation to a more vigorous prosecution of the war effort in New Zealand, we are being put off by pettifogging "schemes" of one sort and another. And the people are sick and tired of the continual pandering to the powerful unions who think in terms of award rates and who are not pulling their weight in the real war service of the nation.

One can readily understand that the example of the Old Country in its virtual commandeering of person and property may constitute a temptation to any Labour Government to go and do likewise, but our legislators should be told that before taking that step the Old Country had a full measure of conscription in operation and had established a truly representative War Cabinet.

The old Biblical saying regarding "sheep without a shepherd" is becoming more and more applicable to the people of New Zealand, who are calling for a lead without any real leadership being forthcoming. But the people, after all, are made of better stuff than to regard themselves as sheep with no initiative, and they have had sufficient stamina to say to the Government that if the dog is too lazy or too content or too greatly wrapped up in party self-interest to wag its tail, then the tail must perforce wag the dog.

The real government of this country at the moment is being thwarted because the will of the people is not being carried out. No true citizen cares "two hoots" about party prestige so long as the Dominion is preserved and its heritage held inviolate. Party considerations have gone by the board at Home. The democratic people of this country have the God-given right to demand that the best brains, whatever their political leanings, should be utilised to see us through our dire trouble.

A HARDENING OF RESOLVE

Demands For Government Action Increasing

WAR CABINET ADVOCATED

By Telegraph-Press Association HAWERA, May 23.

Seldom has calm mass resolve been more strikingly demonstrated in South Taranaki than at Hawera this afternoon, when 1100 citizens in the Opera House made a unanimous request to the Government for the immediate assembly of Parliament and the formation of a non-party War Cabinet. In the streets, an overflow greater than the number in the theatre listened to the addresses relayed through amplifiers.

Party politics were divorced from the main tenor of the speeches, which urged that the whole of the economic and other resources of the Dominion be organised to ensure New Zealand's maximum contribution towards winning the war. About 70 returned soldiers were in the audience.

On Tuesday night there originated in Hawera a campaign of public action which yesterday spread with lightning speed throughout the whole of Taranaki, with the result that similar meetings to that at Hawera are to be held to-morrow in Waverley, Paea, Manaia, Opunake, Kaponga, Eltham, Stratford, Inglewood, Waitara, and New Plymouth. Like action is to be taken in Wanganui and Palmerston

Drastic Measure Put Into Action Immediately

United Press Association Convright. (Received May 23, 0.45 p.m.)

LONDON, May 22.

Drastic powers to mobilise persons and property are taken in a Bill which was put through all stages in the House of Commons and the House of Lords to-day.

The Bill is an extension of the Emergency Powers Act passed last year.

In the House of Commons, the Lord Privy Seal (Mr C. R. Attlee), referring to the Government plans to control all property and persons, said: "Some firms may be closed; there may be destruction of property here and there. Difficult questions of compensation will arise. There will be control of the country's finances—the banks—and this will be done under the Government's orders.

"Victory is our goal. We must and shall attain it!"

"A great battle is now proceeding," continued Mr. Attlee. "Our men are fighting on the sea, on the land, and in the air with splendid courage, devotion, and spirit. The result of that battle we cannot know, but it must be clear to all that the next few weeks are critical. Our ruthless enemy is restrained by no considerations of international the community.

"We cannot know what the next few weeks or even days may bring forth, but, whatever may come, we shall meet it as the British people in the past have met dangers and overcome them. But it is necessary that the Government should be given complete control over persons and property—not just some persons or some particular class of the community, but all persons, rich and community, but all persons, rich and poor, men and women."

No Spirit of Panic Mr. Attlee continued: "I do not ask for these powers in any spirit of panic, There is no need for panic."

Six Power Hamis (Liberal), said:

Mr. Attlee immediately moved the second reading of the Emergency Powers Defence Bill, the operative part of which, he explained, was an extension of the Emergency Powers Defence Act, 1939.

"The powers conferred by the Bill," he said, "include provisions requiring persons to place themselves and their services and property at the State's disposal. The Minister of Labour will be empowered to direct any person to perform any

The Senate passed and sent to the House of Representatives the 1,823,000,000 dollars Army Bill.

The Senate over-rode Republican efforts to modify President Roosevelt's recommendations, approving an allotment of 132,000,000 do.lars, half in cash and half in contract authority, for expenditure at Mr Rooseveit's discretion, and rejecting Senator Danaher's amendment to the scope of the Act, Mr. Attlee said that businesses engaged on munitions, aircraft, and other industries essential for carrying on the war would be controlled. The essential thing at the moment was that industry should be carried on for the community in effect and not for private profit.

TOKYO, May 23.

The European developments have resulted in a great increase in the activities of the elements favouring Japan's participation on Germany's side, with the East Indies as the desired reward. The vernacular Press continues to urge reconsideration of the non-involvement policy and the giving of Japan "power of attorney and a free hand" regarding the East Indies. These new spapers also assert that Germany would uphold Japan whatever action she took in the south. Mr Toshio Shiratori, in an interview, said: "Our place is with the totalitarians. I do not favour military action, but advocate the fullest diplomatic and economic efforts on behalf of Germany. There is a growing demand to join Germany, which will be intensified in the event of Italy participating.'

Whole Resources

"The Government," Mr. Attlee added, "is convinced that now is the time we must mobilise to the full the whole resources of this country. We must throw all our weight into the struggle. Every private interest must be given to the urgent need of the departments, and he proposed at once to set up a production council consisting of representatives of the chief Government departments concerned with munitions supplies—the Admiralty, the Ministry of Supply. the Ministry of Labour, the Ministry of Agriculture, and the Ministry of Mines, which would be presided over by Mr. Arthur Greenwood, Minister without portfolio. EMPIRE DAY MESSAGE from

THE VISCOUNT BLEDISLOE

P.C., G.C.M.G., K.B.E.

President of the Empire Day Movement

"The Empire is at war, not only with Germany, but through Germany, with those evil forces of ruthless brutality, oppression of the weak, falsehood and injustice, against which the British race has throughout the centuries proved itself to be the champion of humanity. In the course of last year we strove hard, long, and earnestly for Peace. To our sorrow we failed, but through no fault of our Empire statesmen and still less through any doubt as to the righteousness of our cause. Upon the issue of this war rest the future happiness, contentment, and prosperity of the peoples of the world, of every nation, race, colour, and class. These blessings can only flow from freedom of speech, freedom of the Press, freedom of self-determination without dictation from foreign aggressors, and, above all, freedom to worship God, to whatever religious community we may belong. This freedom, so dear to the heart of all his Majesty's subjects, is in grave peril to-day. In face of savage cruelty to helpless nations and defenceless human beings, of lying slander, of derision at our alleged weakness, and of the violent threats of self-seeking dictators, the British Empire has stood firm as a rock, trusting in Providence and with quiet confidence in her cause and in her vast inherent resources, at the same time demonstrating in the air, on the sea, and on land that, amid the perils of modern warfare, her gallant sons have lost none of the courage, fearlessness, and skill which distinguished their forefathers. The remarkable solidarity of the Empire is its main bulwark against defeat.

"Under these conditions, as President of the Empire Day Movement, I greet you warmly on the birthday of the great and good Queen Victoria, chosen by its founder to remind us all of the true meaning, the privileges, and the obligations of Empire citizenship, and I would earnestly ask you to remember the inspiring words which our present gracious Sovereign quoted in his broadcast to his people last Christmas: 'Go out into the darkness and put your hand into the hand of God.' Thus guided, we shall press forward with the grim task which lies before us, confidently assured of victory for our arms and also for those noble ideals upon which the British Empire has been built up. Let our battle cry be: 'For God, the Empire, and justice between nation and nation and between man and man,' and all that is best and truest in mankind will re-echo to it.' BLEDISLOE

Now, sir, this "free-for-all" is applicable to the economic system in this country. At present, all sections of the community have to look after themselves and each tries to get as much money as it can for after themselves and each tries to get as much money as it can for as little goods and service as possible. Would not a capable Government end this state of affairs in war time, by stating that no manufacturer, workman or farmer is to enrich himself? Diversion Of Effort Wanted

War workers all over the Dominion have been asked by the organisers of the sick, wounded and distress fund appeal to give up their knitting and sewing for the duration of the campaign and concentrate on the collection of money. The reason for this diversion of effort was explained by one platform speaker when launching the appeal in the south last week.

speaker when launching the appeal in the south last week.

The British Red Cross had been sending three parcels a fortnight to prisoners of war, he said, and those parcels comprised foods, towels, underclothing, soap, shaving gear, socks, gloves, and their safe delivery to prisoners of war is guaranteed by the International League of Red Cross Societies. Practically the only articles that had been made by Cross Societies. Practically the only articles that had been made by voluntary workers in New Zealand were socks and gloves, so that obviously the need was for money so that the other articles could be sup-

Another reason why rather than goods is asked for is that the tremendous international organisation through which the Red Cross operates has it fingers on the pulse of soldiers' requirements, and can direct money through the most appropriate channels, and in the founder of the modern hospital and nursing system, whose efforts paved the way for the world-wide activi-ties of the Red Cross. In writing from the battlefield at the Crimea from the battlefield at the Crimea 86 years ago to a friend in England, she said: "There is not a small town or parish in England from which we have not received contributions; not any of these contributions is worth its freight. A good parcel contains perhaps 14lb of arrowroot, three pairs of muffetees, old rags, a few flannel bands, three dozen comforters and some Welsh wigs. If I had all the money these freights have cost. I could build a freights have cost, I could build a hospital with it."

The purpose behind the sick, wounded and distress fund appeal to-day is the same as that of Florence Nightingale's letter of threequarters of a century ago—to divert all patriotic efforts through bodies which have the organisation and the knowledge to dispose of the gifts in 5 5 0 the most practical and useful man-

MONEY NEEDED, MASS MEETING AT RECRUITING STIMULATED THROUGHOUT HAWKE'S BAY

Public Begin To Realise Gravity Of Present Position

A marked stimulus to recruiting has been noted throughout the No. 7 Military Area, no doubt as a direct result of the German successes in Holland, Belgium, and France.

The steady average of about 12 men a day which had obtained for a good period has been doubled during the past week. Nearly 100 have enrolled during the past four days. The public appeared to take several days to realise the true gravity of the situation following the invasion of Holland and Belgium, and then the rush began. On one day alone there were 60 enlistments from the area, which embraces Hawke's Bay, Poverty Bay, and the Wairarapa.

During the past few weeks, while the members of the Third Echelon have been in process of dispatch, no sittings of medical boards have taken place. A start with this work has now been made in various dis-

Clashes With Stablemate

GOLD MEDALLIST MORE BRILLIANT

Multiform The Better Stayer

(By MOTUROA).

The late Mr G. G. Stead had many horses over a long stretch of years, as the records of the classics and important handicaps eloquently testify. In more than one season this stable produced several that ranked in the champion class, and such was the case when Multiform's fine record was

In the late '90's the wearers of the gold jacket with the black cap were carrying all before them, and in the 1896-97 season Gold Medallist and Multiform played havoc with the two-year-old races. Though Gold Medallist downed his stablemate on each of the three occasions they met that season, Multiform was the bigger winner and later proved the better of the pair, being unbeaten at three and four years.

But for his brilliant stablemate Multiform would probably have gone to the stud with an unbeaten record in his 19 races. Gold Medallist did not once suffer defeat at two years, but he won only two races as a three-year-old, though he was placed in every other outing.

Both were great horses. Multiform won from four furlongs to two and a quarter miles and against a particularly strong class all through. Brilliance was the forte of Gold Medallist and his only race past a mile was his Great Northern Derby engagement when he ran second to the St. Leger colt St. Crispin. Between them the pair won for Mr Stead over £9000 in their very brief racing careers.

Multiform, after his third success in the Challenge Stakes at Riccarton, scored in 1899, was purchased for racing in England, but unfortunately he contracted a cold on the voyage Home which unfitted him for further training. He was then returned to New Zealand, and his success at the stud was as pronounced as his Turf career. In his first few seasons he begat Noctuiform, Golden Lily, Isolt, Sungod, Boniform, and Multifid. The latter pair kept his memory warm by in turn occupying a high position on the winning sires' list.

And so Multiform, a generous and brilliant performer himself, left his mark indelibly on the Turf in New Zealand and in Australia, and the influences of this blood are potent

MULTIFORM was undoubtedly the best of the sons of Hotchkiss although the Musket horse begat other good ones in Machine Gun, Screw Gun, Siege Gun, Battle Axe, Uniform, etc. He was bred from the Sterlingworth mare Formo, who was bred from the imported Rosi the Sterlingworth mare Formo, who was bred from the imported Rosicrucian mare Pulchra.

Formo first went to Nordenfeldt, dropping that brilliant filly Forme (dam of Cruciform). Then in three successive years she was mated with Hotchkiss, producing Formo, Uniform and then Multiform.

The first public appearance of Multiform was in the C.J.C. Welcome Stakes, where he impressed favourably by dead-heating with Sir WEIGHTS, Second Meeting: MONDAY, JUNE 10, 1940 (Morning Papers). HASTINGS ENTRIES ON MONDAY

THE attention of owners and trainers is drawn to the fact that nominations for all events at the Hawke's Bay on June 8 and 15 close with the on June 8 and 15 close with the Secretary, Mr A. E. Wishart, Hastings, at 8 p.m. on Monday next (May 27). The programme is a comprehensive one, catering for all classes of horses and it is anticipated that provincial owners and trainers will exert the

GOLD MEDALLIST'S THREE

THE late Mr Stead then tried Multiform out against the unraced Gold Medallist in the Great Northern Foal Stakes. The Medallion colt won by half a length and continued through the meeting to win the Midsummer: Handicap in a canter by four lengths, and the Royal Stakes by a length and a half from St. Paul and Sir Lancelot.

Multiform was then put away for the late autumn, appearing next at Wingatui. He had to lower his colours to Gold Medallist was fortunate in having had a race just prior, having won the Middle Park Plate.

Plate.

Multiform was beaten by a length in the Dunedin Champagne Stakes and again over that distance by Gold Medallist in the First Eclipse Stakes. But from that stage he was unbeatable over all distances.

He annexed the Hawke's Bay Stakes easily from Sir Lancelot as a prelude to the C.J.C. meeting. In the Champagne Stakes Multiform was never out of a canter, and as nothing was backed to beat him his supporters lost 2/- in each f1. In the Challenge Stakes he experienced no difficulty in disposing of Daunt and Goldleaf.

DERBY SUCCESSES

BEGINNING his three-year-old season with an easy win in the Hawke's Bay Guineas from Daunt, Multiform went on to Riccarton to win the New Zealand Derby by three lengths from Mountebank and two others. In the Canterbury Cup he won by a good length and a half from that good horse Waiuku and Dayton.

He did not race during the summer, but at Easter he came out to carry 9.4 in the C.J.C. Challenge Stakes and turn the tables on Gold Medallist (8.13), in spite of the fact that he had had the benefit of the summer racing. Gold Medallist had won the Royal Stakes by eight lengths, and the C.J.C. Champion Plate. He had also run Daunt to a head in the Hawke's Bay Stakes and his stablemate Conqueror to a narrow margin in the D.J.C. Eclipse

In the Challenge, Multiform and Gold Medallist were not bracketed.
