ROOSEVELT ACCEPTS NOMINATION FOR THE U.S. PRESIDENCY

Retirement Postponed Until He Sees It Through

PERSONAL PREFERENCES SET ASIDE IN EMERGENCY

United Press Association-Copyright. (Received July 20, 0.15 a.m.) WASHINGTON, July 19.

President Roosevelt, addressing the Convention, accepted nomination. He said: "It is with a very full heart that I speak to-night. I must confess that I do so with mixed feelings-because I find myself, as almost everyone does sooner or later in his lifetime—in conflict between a deep personal desire for retirement on the one hand, and that quiet, invisible thing called conscience on the other.

Because there are self-appointed commentators and interpreters who will seek to misinterpret or question my motives, I speak in a somewhat personal vein, and I must trust to the good faith and common sense of the American people to accept my own good faith-and do their own

"When in 1936 I was chosen by manpower alone is insufficient for the voters for the second time as adequate defence, so also are 'planes, President, it was my firm intention guns and tanks wholly insufficient to turn over the responsibilities of unless they are implemented by the Government to other hands at the power of men trained to use them.' end of my term. That conviction remained with me for eight years in the Presidency.

"The following period of bleak depression and the covering of one world crisis after another would normally entitle any man to the relaximate of the president went on the say that nearly every American is willing to do his share to defend the United States. "Lying awake, as I have done on many nights, I have asked myself whether I have the right as ation which would come from hon-ourable retirement. During the spring of 1939, world events made it clear to all but the blind or partisan that a great war in Europe had become not merely a possibility but a probability, and that such a war would of necessity deeply affect the confronts our times, no individual future of this nation. The conflict first broke out last September.

"It was still my intention to announce clearly and simply that under no conditions would I accept real abandon normal democratic product at one point in South Wales, but there were no serious casualties." der no conditions would I accept re-election. This fact was well known to my friends and, I think, under-stood by many citizens. As soon as it became evident, however, that such a public statement on my part would be unwise from the point of view of sheer public interest, as President of the United States, it was my duty with the aid of Congress to preserve our neutrality and to shape our programme of defence to meet rapid changes, to keep our domestic affairs adjusted to shift-ing world conditions and to sustain ing world conditions and to sustain the policy of the good neighbour.

"It was my obvious duty to maintain to the utmost the influence of this mighty nation in our effort to prevent the spread of war and to sustain by all legal means those governments threatened by other governments which have rejected the principles of democracy.

"Swiftly-moving foreign events have made 'ecessary swift action at home and beyond the seas. Plans for national defence had to be expanded and adjusted to meet new forms of warfare. The welfare of American citizens had to be safe-quarded in many foreign danger

"The national unity of the United States became a crying essential in the face of developments. Unbelievable types of espionage and international treachery, every day that passed, called for the postponement of personal plans and partisan ment of personal plans and partisan debate until the last possible momen. The normal conditions under which I would have made a public declaration of my personal desires were gone.

"Thinking solely of the national good and of the international scene, I came to the reluctant conclusion that such a declaration should not be made before the National Convention. It was accordingly made within an hour after the permanent organisation of the Convention.

Not Party Call Alone

"Like any other man, I am complimented by the honour you have done me, but I know that you will understand the spirit in which I say that no call of party interest alone would prevail upon me to accept the would prevail upon me to accept the re-election. The real decision in reelection. The real decision in these circumstances is not the acceptance of nomination. It is rather the ultimate willingness to serve if chosen by the electorate. Many considerations have entered into this decision during the past few months. With Congressional approval I have been taking steps to implement the total defence of America.

"I cannot forget that in carrying out this programme I have drafted into the nation's service many men and women, taking them from important private occupations, calling them suddenly from homes and businesses. I have asked them to leave their own work and to con-leave their own work and to con-tribute their skill and experience to the cause of their nation.

Answered the Call

"As head of their Government I have asked them to do this regardless of party and personal convenience. They came, answering the Call, every single one of them, to Washington to serve, but they alone could not be enough to meet the needs of the times. Just as a system of national defence based on the League, RUGBY, July 18. The Prime Minister (Mr Churchill) made the following statement in the House of Commons to-day: "On June 24, Japan requested Britain to take measures to stop the traffic to China via Burma of war materials and certain other goods. A similar request was made in respect of Hong Kong. Continuance of the transit of these materials was represented as having a serious effect on Anglo-Japanese relations.

"Agreement has now been reached with Japan as follows:

RAILWAY REVENUE A RECORD

69½ Per Cent. Increase Shown In Minister's Survey

PHENOMENAL ADVANCE

A record revenue for the past year is revealed by the Minister of Railways (the Hon. D. G. Sullivan) in his annual statement. "The gross revenue, £10,199,070, is the highest amount ever earned in one year by the railways," he states.

"It is pleasing to observe that whereas in 1935 the gross earnings amounted to £6,600,000, the figures for the succeeding years have been £7,000,000, £7,800,000, £8,600,000, £9,300,000, and £10,200,000. An increase in railway earnings from £6,600,000 to £10,200,000 in five years would be notable under any conditions; certainly there is nothing proportionately comparable with it in any previous quinquennial period since the railways were unified under one control 70 years ago. I must say here that this phenomenal rate of increase cannot be expected to continue, as there will be a number of factors which will operate to curtail railway traffic; the chief of these will be the decrease from the peak created by the special traffic associated with Centennial year, while the war must cause a dislocation of normal trade.'

"Both revenue and expenditure to see also adversely affected during the final six weeks as a result of the final six weeks as a result of the the final six weeks as a result of the heavy floods experienced in February. Despite these setbacks, the financial results of railway operations for the year were distinctly satisfactory in that the net revenue reached to within £11,000 of the Budget estimate of £1,200,000.

Increased Charges

"Something approaching a maximum use of the department's facilijust ended is therefore £2,464,321 or 64 per cent.) in excess of 1933. These figures indicate the very heavy increase in business handled by the railways following the emerpression period.

"The increase in the general scale of charges operated for the full fin-ancial year 1939-40 and for the latter portion (16 weeks) of the year 1938-39. This had an important bearing on the increased revenue from goods traffic in 1940 as compared with 1939; nevertheless the volume of business has been very well maintained, despite a heavy decrease of 433,512 in the number of sheep carried argely counteracted by the increased cost of stores and some readjustment in wages.

"The result is a vindication of the Government's general transportation policy, which, recognising the railways as the most vital of the country's means of internal transport, made them more serviceable to the public, protected them against uneconomic competition, and improved the standing and usefulness of related auxiliary services.

The rush of foreign letters, Mr Christie explains, comes largely "Persons who appeal for aid in getting something done, as in obtaining a visa to enter America. "Persons who feel themselves the refronts who feel themselves the victims of some persecution or restriction by foreign Governments.

"Persons who want to offer advice on the conduct of foreign afficier."

Most Letters "Ask" The most general type of letter, Mr Christie says, is an "asking" one. A few are outright "begging letters." The difficult situation of many people in foreign countries has increased the number of legitimate requests, and has decreased the proportion of "crank" letters.

A few threatening letters come to the President, menacing him unless the President, menacing him unless he takes such-and-such a course. Mr Christie says more used to ar-rive in President Hoover's term. They are turned over to the Secret

No Exact Translation Though endeavouring to translate ideas with great accuracy, Mr Christie confesses "there is, in the strictly scientific sense, no such thing as an equivalent in one lan-

A GREATER OUTPUT EASILY POSSIBLE

American Aircraft

FACTORIES NOT AT FULL CAPACITY

Industry's Difficulties

The big aeroplane factories in Los Angeles, the principal western centre of the industry, are working at only about one-half or two-thirds of their present productive capacity, in spite of the urgent need for planes in Europe and elsewhere (says the "Christian Science Moni tor")

Almost without exception, they are employing only one full shift of workers, with skeleton shifts during the other hours of the day and night. They have all grown tremendously in recent months and years, and all anticipate further expansion as a result of the American defence programme now getting under way. But, with only their present equipment, they could produce many more 'planes than are rolling out of the factories to-day. Factories which are making military 'planes for the Allies are abreast, or ahead, of their schedules, but have not been urged to speed up production or deliveries by the British and French.

Norwegian Order Continues One factory which last January received an order for bombers from the Norwegian Government is proceeding with production of the model ordered. The 'planes when delivered, will presumably be taken over by the Allies.

An executive of one of the leading companies, when asked whether there had been any noticeable speed-up in operations since the Germans launched their big offensive on May 10, replied:

"I should say that there has been

"I should say that there has been a speed-up in morale, rather than in actual production figures. We might be said to be operating just now at our full economic rate of production, but at only about two-thirds of full production."

Difficulties within the industry that have been only partially overcome include shortage of certain come include shortage of certain types of skilled workers and enginand inadequate supplies of and starters. Shortage of Engines including engines, propellers

Supply of engines is admittedly the most serious bottle-neck in the industry. One company which a year ago was turning out two or three 'planes daily is now producing only one a day.

Some of the plants are turning out only military 'planes; others are building a sizable percentage of civilian and the plants.

A survey of the leading plants reveals an industry which, after a period of amazingly rapid growth, now finds itself on the threshold of an even greater expansion in view of the American rearmament and of the American rearmament and preparedness programme.

Little can be done in the way of definite preparedness for this new spurt until the nature of the United States military and naval armament is known. But everywhere there is anticipation of greatly increased activity. New plants will be added to new plants; factories on which the paint is still fresh are being made ready to receive additional floor ready to receive additional floor space. Personnel Increases

Most of the companies have been adding steadily to their personnel and will continue to do so in the measure that skilled workers can be obtained. One plant has been taking on about 75 men a month; another has added from 35 to 40

MARX BROTHERS "AT THE CIRCUS"

The "Big Top" Provides Hilarity

In the wildest and most uproarious comedy of their careers, the Marx Brothers return to the screen "At the Circter a year's absence. "At the Circter a year's absence at the large of the production, title of the production, and the large of the production, the large of the production, the large of the production, and the large of the production, the large of the production, the large of the production, the large of the production of the prod

Marx Brothers return to the screen after a year's absence. "At the Circus" is the title of the production, which will open to-day at the Regent Theatre, Hastings.

This time the Marxes invade the world of the Big Top for their riot of merriment and are assisted by the strenger aggregation ever as of merrinent and are assisted with the strangest aggregation ever assembled for a carnival of comedy. They include a gorilla, an Upside Down Girl, a midget, the strongest man in the world, a trained seal, a symphony orchestra adrift on the symphony orchestra adrift on the ocean, a herd of elephants, African lions and beautiful ballets that sing and dance atop of horses.

"Marx Bros. at the Circus" is the story of two circus roustabuts, Harpo and Chico, who engage a jobless lawyer, Groucho, to save Kenny Baker, circus owner, from losing his show. Through a series of typical lly Marxian hysterical sequences, the show is saved, Baker wins the love of Florence Rice and Groucho fades out in the arms of Margaret Du Castleton Knight—is now at the State Theatre, Hastings.

The film magnificently commemorates on the screen the greatest British naval drama in history—the Battle of the River Plate. It does more than this— it shows British merchantmen going through hell in the fight with the "Graf Spee," British prisoners rescued from the "Altmark," and introduces to film audiences the officers and men re-living the parts they so nobly played that he parts they so nobly played that repy morning when three British ruisers first sighted the German locket-battleship. It is a living nonument to the Navy—the men who fight and give their lives for reseden.

This film commences in a newsreel office in London just before Munich. Will Fyffe, as the editor,

SERVICE"

Thrilling Adventure With Gay Comedy

The United States Secret Service's

The United States Secret Service's unceasing war against counterfeiters is thrillingly depicted in "Code of the Secret Service." with Ronald Reagan featured, which is now at the Cosy Theatre, Hastings.

It is a sinister band of counterfeiters operating across the Mexican border that Reagan is assigned to round up in this exciting film. Reagan gets into some dangerous scrapes "down below the line." When a pal is killed, and the operative is accused of murder, he has to clear out, to be caught by the police.

Then, managing to break out of gaol, he and Rosella Towne are captured by the gang. They are both clotd to die, but overpower their captor and escape just as the mission in which they were held is blown up, to hide its secret from the Mexican cavalry troop on the way abroad.

Lucile and Russell Gleason. The film opens as the Higginses are about to e bark on a cruise to South America. They have been feted right and left by townspeople. Then Lil tells the insurance man, who comes to pay over the annuity that is to take them on the trip, that Joe is only 44 instead of 45. Thus the money is stopped, and so is that Joe is only 44 listed of 45. Thus the money is stopped, and so is the cruise. Too shamed to tell their friends the truth, the whole family hide in Sid's trailer and accompany him on a fishing trip. When they are wrongly reported dead, the fun becomes hilarious.

In Poland, Mr Hoover said, the situation is extremely grave. Russia took the agriculture half, Germany took the industrial half. As many took the agriculture half, Germany took the industrial half. As a consequence, there are some 15,000,000 persons in the industrial area deprived of their usual agriculture source of supply.

"Our information," said Mr Moover, "was that food stocks in German controlled Poland would be exhibited about June 1. of course, this estimate is probably too close; there is probably too close; there is probably food for a while longer, possibly to the next harvest. But soon this problem must be met, or several million people will actually starve."

Governments Must Help Mr Hoover said this is a problem that exceeds the bounds of private charity, that Governments must help. The Polish Government has

HUMAN FREEDOM

If there is one conclusion to which human experience unmistake-ably points it is that democratic ends demand democratic methods for their realisation (writes Professor John Dewey, the American thinker, in his book, "Freedom and Culture")

Authoritarian methods now offer rplus foods available to starving millions themselves to us in new guises. They come to us claiming to serve the ultimate ends of freedom and equity in a classless society. Or mexican cavarry troop on the way to capture it.

With "Renfrew On The Great White Trail"

Mayfair

An insight into the terrible conditions of life in an American women's House of Correction before the advent of a kindly superinten dent is related in "Convicted Woman," featuring Rochelle Hudson and Frieda Inescort, which is now showing at the Mayfair Theatre. Napier.

Rochelle Hudson has the role of an innocent girl who, on circumstantial evidence, is convicted and sent to the reform prison. Here literally inhuman treatment is met ed out to the prisoners by a ruth ess superintendent and matron. A newspaper reporter (Glenn Ford) who believes in the girl's innocence sets to work to clear her name and set her free. In this he is helped by Miss Inescort, who, cast as a society service worker, is eventually appointed to control the prison and reform its management.

Frieda Inescort always offers a incere performance, and here she is outstanding, while the other members of the cast are dependable in

The second attraction, "Renfrew On the Great White Trail," is a stiring adventure story of the Royal Mounted's way in the frozen North No danger is too great, no task is too big for these heroes of the snow country. "AN ENGLISHMAN'S HOME"

Thrilling And Topical Story

Thirty years ago a far-sighted Englishman, Guy du Maurier, wrote a play entitled "An Englishman's Home." The play enjoyed an exceptionally successful run. It dealt with a sudden invasion of England by an enemy who took advantage of a strike and a fog to descend on Britain from warships anchored along the coast.

It is interesting to recollect that Berlin it was hissed off the stage!

The play has been made into a The play has been made into a film, which is now screening at the State Theatre, Napier, and the story has been modernised. A British company, Aldwych Film Productions, has produced "An Englishman's Home," making of it a film that pictures aspects of the contemporary scene with startling accuracy; England's quiet preparations, and the average Englishman pretty well convinced that it can't happen here! Meanwhile the enemy is preparing his plans, and getting ready paring his plans, and getting ready for "the day." The result is a marvellously realistic production, with some tremendously impressive flying shots.

The cast is headed by Edmund Gwenn and Mary Maguire with Goeffrey Toone and Paul von Herried in the chief supporting roles.

Heading the supporting programme is a March of Time as topical as the hour. Entitled "Crisis in the Pacific," it deals in graphic fashion with Japan's policy of expansion and with the causes and development of the present strained situation. This feature is of vital interest to every New Zealander.

Thrills And Suspense In New Film

did the impossible in 1933, when Universal's "The Invisible Man" startled the world's film audiences. He does it again this year, with newer and more astounding photographic effects in "The Invisible Man Returns," now showing at the Regent Theatre, Napier.

Universal purchased "The Invisible Man" in 1933 from another studio which had given it up as impossible to film. Fulton, studio special effects expert told Universal executives that "nothing is impossible." Then he proved it.

Widespread success of the earlier film induced the studio to draft another story around the uncanny character of the Invisible Man and to recall Fulton and staff for even more ingenious effects than were contained in the previous shocker. Fulton, who puts Vincent Price, title player, through his paces this time, tries to disclaim the difficulty of his work.

Why Am I Not a Christian?

Is it because I am afraid of ridicule? "Whosoever shall be ashamed of Me and My words of him shall the Son of Man be ashamed." (Luke 9:26).

Is it because of the inconsistencies of professing Christians? "Every one of us shall give an account of HIM-SELF to God." (Rom. 14:12).

Am I not willing to give up all to Christ? "What shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul." (Mark 8:36).

Am I afraid I shall not be accepted? "Him that cometh unto Me I will in no wise cast out." (John 6:37). Is it for fear I am too great a sinner? "The blood of Jesus Christ His Son cleanseth us from all sin." (1 John

How To Knit For Men Overseas

FOLLOW THESE INSTRUCTIONS FOR KNITTING MITTENS WITH FINGERS:

If you are doubtful what to knit for men in the Army, Navy, or Air Force, there is one article which you can always choose with safety-something to keep the hands warm. No matter what country the men are in there is always a tremendous demand for knitted mittens or gloves and these are so simple and easy to make that even a beginner can try the pattern with safety.

We have already published a pattern for mittens made with a half thumb and straight piece across the hands, and another for mittens with thumb and first finger and coveredin piece for the other three fingers.

This design, however, is different still again and is one which has been specially asked for by several readers. It has a good long cuff, fitting palm section, and the thumb and four fingers in half length to enable a free use of the whole hand. It may be very simply knitted from these instructions.

Right-hand Glove.

Commence at cuff, casting 56 sts. on to 3 needles. (16, 20, 20). K. in ribbing to k. 2, p. 2 for 40 rounds.

41st round—K. 42nd round—K. 2, inc., k. to end of round. Rep. last 41st round—K. 42nd round—K. 2, cast off. Fourth Finger—Slip remaining 14 inc., k. to end of round. Rep. last 2 rounds 11 times. (28, 20, 20). St. from wool on to 2 needles, pick up 4 sts. at base of third finger. Discontinuous 4 sts. at base of third finger.

65th round—K.
66th round—K. 2, slip next 17 sts.
on to a piece of wool for thumb, cast on 5, k. to end of round. (16, 2). 20). Next 18 rounds—K. Now divide sts. for fingers. First Finger—K. 8, slip all but last 8 sts. on to a piece of wool, leaving last 8 sts. on needle, cast on 4 for inside of finger. Divide sts. thus—7, 7, 6. Next 18 rounds—K. Cast off.

Second Finger—Take 7 sts. from wool each side on to 2 needles; with another needle, pick up 4 sts. at base of first finger, cast on 4 sts. for inside of finger. Divide sts. at base of first finger, cast on 4 sts. for inside of finger. Divide sts. thus—7, 7, 8. Next 22 rounds—K.

Third Finger.—Take 6 sts. from Third Finger.—Take 6 sts. from wool on to 2 needles, pick up 4 sts. at base of first finger, cast on to a piece of wool for thumb, cast on 5, k. 2. Finish as for Right-hand Glove.

Sts. from wool on to 2 needles, pick up 4 sts. at base of third finger. Divide sts. thus—6, 6, 6. Next 12 rounds—K. Cast off.

Thumb.—Slip the 17 sts. from wool on to 2 needles, pick up 5 sts. at base. Divide sts. thus—7, 7, 8. Next 14 rounds—K. Cast off.

Work is directed for Right-hand Glove, but making thumb towards end of last needle, instead of commencement of first, working the 42nd round thus—K. till 3 rem., inc., k. 2. Continue till all increasings are finished, then the 66th round would read thus—K. till 19 rem., slip next 17 sts. on to a piece of wool for thumb, cast on 5, k. 2. Finish as for Right-hand Glove.

NAVAL OFFICER WAS NEVER IN THE NAVY

Roland Culver, the man who set a new high level of deportment for R.N. commanders to aspire to, has never been in the Senior Service, although during the war he served with the R.A.F. When you see him arrayed in the glory of gold braid, pacing his quarter deck in "FRENCH WITHOUT TEARS," you will find this hard to believe.

During the run of the stage version, hundreds of naval people came to see Culver play Commander Rogers, and his faultless performance must have impressed them. Many told him that they did not know how he could be such a perfectly "pukka" commander without having had actual naval experience.

Culver holds the record of having played "French Without Tears" 1014 times on the stage—the entire Criterion run except for one fortinght when he had a holiday and did nothing but play golf.

Until "Trench Without Tears" he had almost invariably been cast for unpleasant negole—unsympathetic.

Mrs D. Stewart passed a hearty vote of thanks to Miss Johnston for her very interesting talk.

A good collection of parcels was received for the Lady Galway Patriotic Guild appeal.

While knitting white woollen garments the work is difficult to keep perfectly clean, especially when it is picked up at odd intervals and carried about from one room to another. In the case of babies' and children's garments you may happen to be making, it is a pity to have to launder them before they are packed to send away are packed to send away.

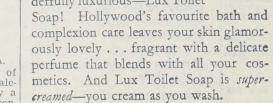

You will find this dry cleaning method successful and very easily done. Spread out the woolly on a clean sheet of paper and gently rub of J. Riggir 1, Mrs Poole 2, Mrs Vilson 3.

SATURDAY, JULY 20, 1940.

THE CHURCHILL TOUCH

Yet once more we have been given reason to be glad and proud of the man in charge of the gigantic British war effort, whose enlightened zeal and steadily glowing determination are as a beacon light to the far-scattered Empire whose guidance is in his hands. All other subjects fade into insignificance in the face of the imminent attack upon the nerve-centre of the Empire, and all other considerations must give place to a renewed expression of our appreciation of the great work that is being done. With customary British lack of bluster or fuss, Mr Churchill in the House of Commons on Thursday said: "I have asked Ministers whose duties are intimately connected with the conduct of the war to arrange to sleep in their offices at the centre of government."

Let the Nazis take an eyeful of that quietly uttered sentence and repeat their ridiculous propagandist nonsensicality that the British people are decadent, moribund, and incapable of looking after themselves. There will be no chance for Hitler's Huns to spring a surprise. They may catch the defenders napping, but they will be merely dozing with one eye open and in immediate contact with their essential duties. At the centre of government referred to, there will be those on guard and awake who will see to it that the whole of the vast British organisation springs into immediate action to meet whatever menace may come from sea, air or land, or all three in conjunction. There is no "will-be-called-togetheras-necessity-arises" policy about the British Government's wholehearted determination to put a speedy end to the evil menace which has threatened its existence and the wellbeing of the people whom it represents.

Extended hours mean nothing to the devoted men who will be on duty night and day and overtime rates have never even been thought of. Few small items of news in recent days have given us a clearer insight into the devoted will of the British legislators to leave nothing undone to make it perfectly evident to the enemy that blitzkrieg can be met by blitzkrieg and that night prowling can be countered by vigilance. The burglar of Europe will find the British archives a hard safe to crack. However he is disguised and at whatever hour of the day or night he arrives, the warm welcome is there for him, and eager men, greater in number than any ever before assembled on British soil, are altogether willing to stand between the women and children, the sick, the aged, and the infirm of the Homeland and the worst of the terrors that Nazi thwarted and twisted mentality can devise.

"Come the three corners of the world in arms And we will shock them: Naught shall make us rue If Britain to herself do rest but true.'

The enlightened and determined men at Home are standing not only in defence of the helpless civilians but of the principles of honour, justice, and freedom upon which our culture is built. This latest little incidental item of news gives to us all renewed hope and courage. The ceaseless vigilance of the wardens of our freedom is our guarantee of safety. The introduction of even a part of that strong sense of urgency would do us a great deal of good in this Dominion, where we are apt to be quite pleased that such things are being done, without worrying unduly ourselves.

Those who take a bird's-eye view of the current news will have no difficulty in realising that the welcome pause which has been experienced, so far as the Nazi attack is concerned, has had strong reasons for its eventuation. They will also note that the famous Nazi time-table of the conquering-hero programme is being altered to a quite considerable extent. It would seem that after all, Great Britain is not the same kind of victim as some of the European countries have been, and that even the "all-conquering" Germans have had to steady up to take a good look at the hurdles confronting them.

It was never more true than now that time is on our side. While we have not yet reached anything like parity in air strength so far as machines go, we have established beyond shadow of doubt that we are infinitely superior in the quality of the men who man those machines; and those who realise the importance of the air arm in the present or coming conflict will take comfort from that indisputable fact.

It is possible—it is even more than likely—that hard and dire days of trial and suffering lie ahead of the British people at Home. It is on the cards that, in view of the fact that he may reckon that no one will be left in Europe to argue with him to the point of war, Hitler may let loose all the terrorism of which his sadistic mind is capable. But even then the British square will be found intact, and the thin red line of British blood will hold its ranks despite the worst that the Germans can do.

"If You Want Us-"

The Prime Minister of Australia, Mr Menzies, summed up the spirit of the Commonwealth in a few of the Commonwealth in a few words in a national broadcast address recently. It was addressed to Germany and Italy, and was the Australian reply to the dictators' dreams of the downfall of the British Empire. "If you want us—come and take us!" The first step for the enemy is to land a quarter of a million armed men on these shores. If and when he ever succeeded in that gigantic task, his troubles would begin. Petrol Saving though it looked as if it were a gift for racehorse owners, actually it was a profit to the State. This was a clause providing for stakes that were subject to stakes duty under the Stamp Duties Act, not being regarded as income.

The Minister said that he thought it was something like a ten to one bet that the money expended in earning the stakes would be greater than the stakes won; therefore, unless the stakes were exempt from the Social Security Tax, opportunity would be afforded to deduct the expenditure incurred in winning the stake, which would work out on the wrong side for the State. wrong side for the State.

Another clause in the same bill which was the subject of some discussion was that imposing a liability on non-resident companies for taxation on income derived by them in New Zealand.

New Zealand.

The Minister, explaining this provision, said that everything that was distributed here was dependent on what was produced here, and non-resident companies had access to our own raw materials. At that point there was some justification for them paying something towards the services required in this country.

Charitable Gifts When the Finance Bill was in the committee stages (Mr E. B. K. Gordon (Rangitikei), discussing the clause abolishing the exemption of charitable gifts from death and gift duties, stressed the valuable services of charitable institutions to the community and thought that the clause

The amendment was forced to a division and defeated by 44 votes to two, only Mr Lee and Mr Atmore voting in its favour.

Two new clauses were added to the Finance Bill by Governor's message. One stipulates that contributions by Ministers to the salary pool for augmenting the statutory re-

Salary Pool

"Members of the Ministry have been paying a portion of their salaries into the salary pool for some time," he said, "and the purpose of the clause is to avoid double taxation. Transport will leave on the 40-mile journey to the ranges from the Post Office at 8.30 a.m. on Sunday, July 27. The large number of members intending to make the trip wil be presided over by Mr W. M. Murray. With a fine day the tramp stould prove most enjoyable, especially in view of the light covering of snow. To solve the problem of transport this year it is intended that the outings shall be confined to districts close to Waipawa.

Production Question Discussed At Annual Meeting

HERETAUNGA DAIRY CO.

A number of questions of importance to the dairying industry came up for discussion yesterday at the annual meeting in Hastings of the Heretaunga Co-operative Dairy Co. The chairman (Mr D. G. Begley) presided over an attendance of about 50 shareholders.

Reference to a saving of between £1500 and £2000 a year in costs as a result of the cessation of manufacturing at the Waipukurau branch factory, following upon a reduction in the output at that end of the company's district, was made by Mr Begley. This policy of the centralisation of manufacture would be continued until such time as the directors considered that production at the southern end of the district was high enough to justify the reopening of manufacturing

"You have every reason to be proud of the balance-sheet and of the company," said Mr Begley in reference to the sound position shown.

Commenting on the prudent policy of building up the company's reserves, which had been carried out, he said, by means of small appropirations, the chairman said that the serves, which had been carried out, he said, by means of small appropirations, the chairman said that the point had now been reached where the reserves were not immediately needed by the company. With this in view the company's directors had recommended that an interest free loan be made to the Government for the duration of the war. Mr Begley pointed out that Government inscribed stock would be held for that the serves where in the interests of increased at production can best be served by still further intensive development of our pig production."

opinion that this would result in an uneconomic position.

In support of this view others said that this was not a cheese producing district. Farmers had the pig business well developed, and in the event of their being forced to supply a cheese factory the cost of cans and of transport, with the resulting disorganisation of their pig production, would be a serious factor.

Although at present collections were being made once a week only, Mr Begley stated that by the end of this month, or as soon as the daily returns proved the move justified, rounds would be made twice a week. A 10,000-ton increase in baconer production was wanted and a 15,000-ton cheese increase, Mr Begley pointed out; this district, he considered, could give most satisfaction by maintaining and wherever possible increasing its pig production.

HASTINGS CASE

A charge of obtaining £25 by fraud from Cyril Valentine Barclay, garage proprietor, of Hastings, by falsely representing that the motor car which he sold him was his own property, was preferred against William Thomas Masters, 26, who stated that his correct name was stated that his correct name was Frederick Ford, in the Hastings Police Court yesterday. Messrs D. F. McLeod and D. McLeod, J.P.'s, were on the Bench.

In addition, he was charged on three counts of, at Waipukurau, forging receipts for £35 18/-, £25 10/- and £18 12/-, purporting to be signed by A. M. White.

On the defendant's plea of guilty he was committed to the Supreme Court at Napier for sentence.

Defendant's Statement

Detective H. E. Campin, who pro-secuted, read a signed statement by the defendant in which he made mention of the change of his name and in which he said he had arranged to purchase the car from Stewart Greer Motors, Waipukurau, pointed out that Government inscrioed stock would be held for that amount during the war, and the sum would be again available when the war had been successfully concluded.

Evidence Given Evidence which bore out this statement was given by John Upton, car salesman, of Waipukurau, and Cyril Barclay, garage proprietor, of Hastings, the latter stating that when the defendant came to sell the car he said he was expecting £200 compensation, but wanted ing £300 compensation, but wanted some money to carry on with.

When asked if he owned the car calves above the acceptable 52lb mark.

In the course of the meeting some the defendant said he had bought in from Mrs White, of Waipukurau and produced the receipts referred he got his compensation, provided it was available, but witness later learned that it was still covered by hire-purchase agreement with Stewart Greer Motors.

Allan M. White, solicitor, of Wai-pukurau, stated that his wife form-erly owned the car in question, but in May, 1939, she had transferred it to Stewart Greer Motors. Witness stated that he knew nothing whatever about the receipts produced and did not know the defendant.

Education Board Entitled To Some Credit For New Buildings

"When a new school is opened everyone is praised except, in most cases, the Education Board," remarked Mr G. A. Maddison in the course of a discussion at yesterday's meeting of the Hawke's Bay Education Board.

Probably it did not do much harm, he said, but it was a fact that most of the credit usually went to the member for the district or the Education Department. Actually the work was all done by the board, the approval being granted by the department. The member for the district usually knew nothing about it until he was informed that the funds had been granted.

Mr C. R. Sainsbury (Wairoa) brought up the question of members of Parliament issuing information on education activities before the board had had the opportunity of considering them.

Order papers were sent to members, and they were marked confidential. What was the use of doing this if the information had already this if the information had already been broadcast, he asked. He was not criticising the members of Par-liament, but it placed board mem-bers in an invidious position when they were asked to comment on these subjects.

Right To Information "As elected representatives of the people they no doubt have a right to be informed of important activities so far as education is concerned," said the chairman.

Mr T. Rowe suggested that the board ask the department that the various members of Parliament

STATE PRICE TOO LOW

Increasing Production Costs Aggravate The Position

"From the fruitgrower's point of view, the prices fixed (while being better than those which would have inevitably resulted from uncontrolled marketing under war conditions) are considered too low by many orchardists, and since the purchase prices were fixed, the position has been aggravated by an additional increase in costs of 5d per case," states the annual report of the Hawke's Bay Fruitgrowers' Association.

"While it may be quite true that some orchardists are finding it difficult to make both ends meet, it would not be correct to make the sweeping statement that orchardists generally will not be able to carry on under present conditions. Pear growers, however, have good grounds for complaint, and we trust that the Marketing Department will not forget its promise to consider the possibility of an increased pay-out to them at the end of the year."

"After considerable negotiation 7 9 0 loaded with the responsibility of the selling end. The work of the assembly is in the capable hands of the federation staff. The financial results of this scheme from the Government point of view will not be known until the end of the year, and whether it will be continued will 1 0 no doubt be very much a matter of 1 0 0 no doubt, be very much a matter of finance."

Hawke's Bay Horses May Do Well

(By Moturoa)

The Manawatu Hunt Club's an nual meeting at Awapuni to-day should prove an attraction to man Hawke's Bay racegoers, especially as the province will be well represented at the meeting. The locals should give a good account of them-

The weather has been brilliantly fine during the week and the tracks should be found in greatly improved order, though, of course, they will still be fairly heavy. Single pool betting will be used and the pro-gramme opens with the Spearthorn 10.7, Rewanoa 10.7. Cherry Plum has gone up 11lb. for his win at Hastings, whereas Kohika has been dropped 2lb. Lacan (second) has gone up only 4lb., with Gladium (third) up 2lb.

Huntino might have a chance in a race like this, and Moonlight Bay is a prospect, but form points to LACAN GLADIUM.

Midland ran Pekoe to a neck at Trentham and must be considered hard to beat on that form, while Segra is a winner this winter. Liberal's Mint is capable of a surprise, but the pick of the lightweights should be Patahi and Haile Selassie. However, it is hard to go far past MIDLAND

Screen Star will be a hot favourite after his splendid form at Trentham and he appears to be very leniently treated. Dainty Sheila is capable of a surprise, but Noble For raced so well last week that he will be backed to trouble the topweight. Sporting Gift goes well over this distance, and so does Fiancee, while Hunting Mint would need only to begin well to be troublesome over the concluding stages. MUCKLAND, Friday.

Hunting Song, the Hurry On horse who headed the winning sires' list in New Zealand for six consecutive years until he was displaced last year by Beau Pere, met with an accident while run-uing in a paddock early in the week and he had to be destroyed. He was nearly 22 years old.

In his 12 years at the stud Hunting Song sired few champions but many good and consistent performers, who have won in all departments of racing. From the 1928-29 season, when he was first represented on the Turf in New Zealand, until the end of last season, his progeny had won in this country £134,623

Hunting Cry was another very successful performer for Hunting Song. He won the Great Northern Derby, Railway Handicap, King's Plate, King Edward Handicap, Hawke's Bay Guineas and several other contests of like calibre. PROSPECTS TO-DAY

Master Dingle Favoured In The Hurdles

(By Moturoa.)

Single pool betting will be used at the Waimate Hunt Club's annual meeting to-day and there will be a well-balanced field for the Hunt Cup Steeplechase. El Caballo is reported to be an unlikely starter, but Baltruin ran second over country at Oamaru a fortnight ago. Frenchy is a good jumper, while Corban won well at the Birchwood Hunt point-to-point and is said to be greatly improved. Joy Boa has been racing solidly in good company, while Night Scout won at Oamaru. Golden Glow was third in the race last year and Valens has shown some jumping ability.

Taking a line through recent form the following should prove hard to beat to-day:—

STUDHOLME HURDLES: Master (By Moturoa.) Big fields are carded for the Matamata meeting to-day, but form has been fairly well disclosed and winners should not prove hard to sort out. In the period under review, Hunting Song representatives have won over 900 races and have earned in excess of 1600 places. Hunting Song has also had winners in England. One of his most notable performers in New Zealand was Pink Coat, who probably would have proved himself the best of the clan if he could have been fully trained; and who won six of his eight races, running second twice. Pink Coat himself is carrying on the line successfully, being the sire of Kinnoull, Silver Coat, Density and others of note.

Lady Middleham won the Morven Handicap at the Waimate meeting last year. The race was then run over a mile.

Makoi showed really good form at Ellerslie last month and is sure to have a big following for the Corbett Steeplechase at Matamata to-day.

With the promise of heavy going at Matamata to-day the Te Rapa winner Young Paddon should again be hard to heat.

Young Paddon promises to start a Good Recovery hot favourite for the Taihoa Handicap at Matamata to-day.

Quadroon applied way when head to heat.

Judging by the fine race he ran on the flat at the Oamaru meeting at the beginning of the month, Master Dingle will be a hot favourite if he takes on the Studholme Hurdles at Wajmata to day.

Quadroon appeared to be in a very bad way when he broke down on the eve of the Wellington winter meeting, but the Nigger Minstrel gelding has made another of his remarkable recoveries. He became so fresh in the paddock that it has been found necessary to put him back in work again and it will not surprise to see him add materially to his winning account in the new season.

The well-bred Neptune (Tidal-Marais) is just the right sort to upset calculations in the Hunters' Plate at the Waimate meeting to-day.

Hagen is reported to have made a recovery from the lameness which came on him at Woodville, but early speculators would be wise to wait awhile before backing him for the Likely Hurdles Recruit Winter Cup.

Winter Cup.

Raeburn Jumped

The big Colossus-Shuffler horse Raeburn is among the hurdling recruits at Awapuni and he shapes well for a novice. Raeburn has everything to recommend him for the jumping game and a course of jumping will possibly make him more.

Likely Hurdles Recruit

Gold Chase has been jumped at Awapuni lately and, like all the Hunting Song breed, this four-year-old son of Reasonable has taken very kindly to the game. Gold Chase is a brilliant galloper and just the right sort to go far as a hurdler. It should be possible to place him to advantage at the spring meetings and his progress in schooling will be watched with some interest.

LANG BIAN is a particularly handsome horse and closely resembles his famous sire. He was a good winner in the best class races in France.

MASSINE, Lang Blan's sire, was a high-class winner in France, and also beat the Derby winner Papyrus in the Ascot Gold Cup. He has twice headed the winning sires' list in France and he introduces a fresh strain of St. Simon blood through that great galloper La Camargo.

FOREST TRACK'S pedigree is well known. Not only is she by that great brood mare sire Tracery, but her third dam is that wonderful mare La Fleche, the third dam of Beau Pere and Gay Shield, two of the most successful sires in New Zealand in modern times.
