SIMPLE STORY OF DARING DEEDS OVER GERMAN TERRITORY

Nazi Barrages That Shoot Up Just Like A Volcano

RAIDER'S ADVENTURES

(British Official Wireless) (Received July 30, 7.30 p.m.)

RUGBY, July 30. In a broadcast address to-day, a young Canadian pilot who has served with an R.A.F. bomber squadron since the beginning of the war said: "My last raid—a few days ago was my 34th sortie against the enemy. It is a rather remarkable thing that, in the course of all those operations, my aircraft was hit only once, and that was at Bergen, when we were after a couple of German cruisers.

"A good many times," he added,
"I would have sworn that the aircraft must have been absolutely riddled, the anti-aircraft fire was coming so close all around us, but when we got back there was not a mark on it

"On this 34th raid," the pilot said, "On this 34th raid," the pilot said, "we managed to bring off quite a decent effort. Our target was at Hamburg. We got over the city all right, but there was a lot of low cloud about, and we could not find our objective, so we went up to Wilhelmshaven. We were after the docks there docks there.

"On the way to Wilhelmshaven we increased our height. Then, when we got close enough to reach it in a glide, I gradually closed the throttle and dropped. By this time we were pretty well on the target. We dived and let go the bombs. They sailed right across the corner of the largest dock.

"They put up a heavy anti-aircraft barrage, of course. When it's concentrated, it shoots up at you as though it were out of the mouth of a volcano, but that was one of the 33 times we did not get hit.

Easy Targets

"The barrage was pretty intense, but to my mind, a target like that is relatively easy compared with locating and attacking, say, a factory in the Ruhr. For one thing, it's bigger and stands out better, 'o'lanes were accounted for some stands out better, 'o'lanes were accounted to some stands out better, 'o'lanes were accounted to some stands out better, 'o'lanes were into action, and in the terrific battle which followed and in which it is estimated that 100 'planes participated,' the cost of one British fighter missions. but to my mind, a target like that is relatively easy compared with locating and attacking, say, a factory in the Ruhr. An Air Ministry communique states: "Enemy bombers escorted by fighters, attacked a harbour on the south-east coast this morning. A

"Of the crew of six, two were Canadians and two Scotsmen, the other two Englishmen, so we were a pretty representative lot. One Scotsman had such a strong accent that at times, until I got used to him, I could not understand what he was saying. The other one was not nearly so bad, so I used to get him to interpret.

It is now confirmed that in the morning engagement at Dover two enemy bombers were shot down by anti-aircraft fire in addition to those shot down by fighters, making to-day's total 20."

"The first time we flew over enemy territory was back in the winter, when we did leaflet dropping. That seems a very long time ago now. In between there has been the Norwegian business, then followed the invasion of the Low Countries and we were operating.

So harassed were the Nazi air-Countries and we were operating there, and after that we were work-Ing in direct support of the Allied land forces in the attempt to hold up the German advance into France. More recently we have been concentrating on Germany itself, and have we given them something to think about! There is no doubt about that. "During the operations over France we had what was probably France we had what was probably our most spectacular effort. We were attacking enemy depots and troop concentrations in the area round Hirson. We saw another of our bombers getting heavily fired at from the woods, so we thought we had better go and have a look. Having spotted the machine-gun post where the fire was coming from, we silenced four of them, then we hit an ammunition store or petrol dump with a couple of bombs. That sent the whole works up. Every now and then on the up. Every now and then on the way back my windscreen was lit up by the light of another explosion. By the time the last went off we out of range,

British Official Wireless. (Received July 30, 6.30 p.m.) RUGBY, July 30. In recent weeks, newspapers have printed occasional dispatches of conditions in the countries under Ger-

"Everywhere a strict rationing system has been imposed," adds "The Times." "Everywhere exploitation of men and resources is in full swing."

Inversion of Truth.

In connection with these observations of "The Times" it is relevant to note that the serious food situation which threatens particularly Belgium and northern France will be attributed by Nazi propaganda to British contraband control. The speciousness of that claim as far as the countries seized and ravaged by German armies is concerned is well known and its inversions of truth in the particular cases of Denmark and Norway is again exposed to-day in the particular cases of Denmark and Norway is again exposed to-day in a letter in which Professor Koht, Norwegian Foreign Minister, addressed to "The Times." NEW WORLD TO BALANCE THE POWER OF THE OLD

Resources Of The Nations Put To The Test In The Present Struggle

Sixty years ago Sir John Seeley warned the British people that the day was at hand when they must meet, in peace or in war, competition based on the resources of half a continent. He told them that they could do this only, in the words that Canning used in 1826, and Mr Churchill quoted recently, by calling the new world into existence to redress the balance of the old.

He pleaded for the planned expansion of Britain, claiming that in another half-century there should be 100,000,000 white people in the Empire overseas. The prophet was not without honour save in his own country and amongst his own people.

Members of the staff of the Netherlands Legation in Berlin have arrived in England and have described the course of events in connection with the invasion of Holland as seen by them (says a correspondent of "The Times"). Trustworthy information had been received that an attack on the Low Countries was planned, in exactly the same way as n November, 1939, and January, 1940, when the Germans called off

When events showed that the occupation of the Netherlands was not going according to schedule the whole staff of the Legation were ordered to remain indoors. A somewhat similar diagrammatic effect was obtained—though with greater difficulty, I imagine—by a couple of table tennis experts who played against one another in darkness, using luminous bats to propel a luminous batl over a luminous net on a table with luminous lines marking the edges. Motoring Limited

There has been some limited motoring since the hostilities moved away, and it is interesting to note that while the presence of roving irregulars and bandits is regarded as something which must be expected for a time, actually not a single case of interference by bandits appears to have been reported. In this as in other respects, it is considered that "the quickest way to make the roads usable once more to a normal extent is to take away restrictions and permit free move."

The German War Ministry in April bore Dutch number-plates.

Billiards, Golf And Caber Tossing

Besides getting more and more variety in British sport as the war proceeds, we are also getting more and more sport in British variety The latest accession of this kind to the vaudeville stage is Joe Davis and his billiards, which you might describe as a juggling act with a difference (writes a correspondent from London to the "Christian 2YA Wellington Science Monitor").

Most of the dextrous individuals the offensive at the very last moment, first, because of the unfavourable weather, and, secondly, because their plans were discovered through the forced landing of a German aeroplane containing high officers, which lost its way over Belgium.

Timetable Upset

Most of the dextrous individuals who use billiard balls and cues on the stage throw them about in the stag Acting on this information, the Dutch mobilised their forces and to be used—on an ordinary billiard took all precautionary measures.

Dutch mobilised their forces and took all precautionary measures a few days before the invasion. They were thus able to delay the German onslaught considerably. Orders were given to the Commander-in-Chief of the German Army, which invaded the Netherlands in the early morning of Friday, May 10, to lead his troops into The Hague at 3 o'clock that afternoon. These orders were found on General von Sponeck, who was captured and later died of wounds.

The General's horse, on which the entertains his theatre audiences is therefore, in no sense an illusion, the success of Joe's act is explained by the fact that, like the disappearing lady and other offerings of that character, it is all done by mirrors. Or, at any rate, some of it is done by one mirror—a mirror measuring 21 feet by 4 feet, placed at an angle behind the old maestro's table so that people in the stalls, below the level of the table-

The last-named was rather more ingenious than genuine. For, al though the ponies were real ponies though the ponies were real ponies and the players real players, the goals were located overhead and the ball was a big inflated bladder, beaten around with wooden staves. This, if you like, was a travesty of a great game. But most of the sporting shows put on here have owed their attactiveness to the fact that they provided devotees of a sport with the opportunity to study a great exponent of it in action. Usually in a highly spectacular

CLAUDETTE COLBERT, GARY COOPER

Brilliant In "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife"

Claudette Colbert and Gary Cooper form a brilliant new comedy team, while the direction of Ernst Lubitsch brings out the punch of the French background in "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," the picture of life among Europe's smart set, which is to screen to-day and tomorrow at the Regent Theatre, Hastings.

The story, adapted from the famous play of Alfred Savior, tells about a much-married American multi-millionaire who is subdued and put into a strait-jacket by his eighth wife, whom he marries for a new thrill. Miss Colbert is the same flip, ingenious girl who made screen history in "I Met Him in Paris," and in many other gay comedies. Coo-per, as the philandering American, plays opposite her in a role that fits down to the last stripe on his ast pyjama.

After becoming the bride of the much-married financier, Miss Col bert, a penniless French aristocrat tarts out on a campaign to bring im to his knees and humble hi nim to his knees and numble his pride for the first time. A score of Europe's gay spots, including the Riviera, the Tyrol, Venice, Vienna and Paris, form the battleground, while the bride's weapons are coolness, indifference and stubbornness. No general in history used his taction to general in history used his taction to general in history and hefere ics to greater advantage, and before ne honeymoon is over, Cooper is er obedient servant. There is here a lightness of touch and spontaneity of humour which buts the picture out in front of other screen comedies of the season. An outstanding cast in support in-cludes Edward Everett Horton, David Niven and Herman Bing.

DEATH OF WAIROA RESIDENT

"Daily Mail" Special Service.

WAIROA. The death occurred at the Public Hospital, Wairoa, of Charles George Cameron, on July 29, aged 87 years.

Mr Cameron, who came to Wairoa about 27 years ago, was born at Horokiwi, Wellington.

Mr Cameron did contracting work in many parts of the Wellington and Taranaki districts before coming to Wairoa, where he continued with the same kind of work for many years.

Mr Cameron, who came to Wairoa the formation of clubs should materially assist the Y.F.C. development. There was considerable opposition to this move by some isolated delegates but in the main delegates realised that the women on the land must be vitally interested in the affairs of the soil.

APPLE CANNING AT HASTINGS

EXPERIMENTS SHOW GOOD RESULTS

> PACKING BEGUN Interesting Process

A useful portion of Hawke's Bay's surplus apple crop should be used as a result of successful experiments in the canning of the fruit, conducted by Wattie Canneries, Ltd., at ed by Wattie Canneries, Ltd., at Hastings. A start has been made with the pack and it is expected that fully a thousand bushels may be disposed of in this way although the season is now well advanced.

Although apple canning was not new to the Dominion it was a new departure for Hawke's Bay, said Mr J. Wattie yesterday. It was an attractive looking line and big quantities were sold from America to English hotels, pie stores and caterers.

American Idea

American Idea
The idea emanated from America during the Great War when large quantities were manufactured for the United States Army and later
there was a big demand from hotels, pastry-cooks and caterers.
After being peeled and cored the apples (Sturmers) are cut into eighths and compressed in the tin.
When cooked, cooled and opened,
the contents come out in the form of a jelly mould, though the eighths keep their shape in the mould. Arof a jelly mould, though the eighths keep their shape in the mould. Arrangements have been completed now, Mr Wattie said, for over 1000 bushels to be canned, and it is hoped that, with the introduction made this year, next season something like 10,000 or more bushels will be

YOUNG FARMERS' CLUB

ANNUAL MEETING AT CHRISTCHURCH

REMITS PASSED

The sixth annual general meeting of the New Zealand Federation of Young Farmers' Clubs was held in Christchurch on Wednesday, July 24, 1940. Forty delegates from all parts of the Dominion attended, including J. L. Munro (Gisborne), L. L. Griffiths (Northern Hawke's Bay), W. G. Brownlie (Northern Hawke's Bay) and C. Masters (Central Hawke's Bay). The president, Pilot Officer E. W. Barnett, occupied the chair.

The report revealed that there are over 200 clubs throughout the country with a membership of nearly 7000, twelve new clubs were formed during the past year. The member-ships in some areas were greatly depleted as a result of the enlist-ments, and although the total for the Dominion was not known at present, it was certain to be a higher percentage than generally ex-pected. Members going overseas on active service are to remain as hon-orary members of the Federation during their absence from New Zea-land

A suggestion soonsored by the Northern Hawke's Bay delegates, that the Government be urged to make available sufficient bacon and cheese to meet the extra requirements asked for by Great Britain, was adopted. It was recognised that these two commodities were not necessary to our national diet and could easily be curtailed or even eliminated from our diet while they were so essen-tial for rationing in the Mother Country.

Scholarships at the Agricultural Colleges are to be made available by the Government for Y.F.C. mem-bers. A sub-committee for each Island is to report to the next meet-ing of the Dominion Executive so that the views of the Federation may be placed before Cabinet; the scheme should be in operation be-

When Bombs are dropping .. you don't LAUGH ..!'

OR months, it seemed like years, bombs seemed to be dropping just behind me as I made my way out of Europe back to New Zealand, my Homeland. Even on the boat they took a shot at us but missed. You can't imagine the horror of it all . . . you feel as though the next bomb is sure to come down right on top of you. The fear was with me, even on the boat, and it was weeks before I could sleep properly. Then I caught a cold and developed a cough. I suppose I was rundown after my terrible experiences. The ship's doctor gave me some medicine, but it didn't do much good. However, the ship was nearing New Zealand and I ceased to worry. As soon as I landed I went straight away and bought the remedy that our family have used for years, I knew that it would quickly fix both my cough and cold. And it did. I was delighted to find that you can now buy "Heenzo" ready mixed as well as the essence with which you can make your own Cough and Cold mixture so easily and economically. I bought a bottle of both, "Heenzo" ready mixed and "Heenzo" essence to mix myself. It's a wonderful remedy, and I found it just as efficient as in the days my mother gave it to me when I was only a little girl. There's no doubt that "Heenzo" ready mixed is very convenient, particularly when you want to take it right away. It is also quite economical, being double strength. On the other hand you can't get past the fact that with a half-crown bottle of "Heenzo" Essence you make as much cough mixture as you buy for twelve and six ordinarily. Almost every Chemist and Store sells "Meenzo Ready Mixed" (double strength) as well as "Heenzo" Essence. Both are half-a-crown a bottle. ENLIGHTENED DETERMINATION

Taken from its context, a British official report published this morning is loaded with a high-voltage shock for the fastidious. It reads: "Yesterday afternoon, two German seaplanes marked with the Red Cross which approached the British coast in company with enemy fighter patrols were shot down into the sea by British fighters."

Shocking, is it not? But the biggest shock will be registered in the Nazi nervous system. What does it mean? Does it mean that Great Britain has forgotten all the humanitarian codes that refer to warfare as to all else, and has gone in for an all-in war with no holds barred, on the free-for-all principle of a gangster brawl? Nothing like that at all. It simply means that our comrades and fellow-fighters overseas are wide awake to Nazi trickery and have given a swift and decisive rejoinder to hypocrisy and lying. It means that they are no longer to be fooled or hoodwinked by the monkey tricks of the ape-like mentality of the Nazi psychological blunderers.

Those who had experience of the last war must have been for a long time aware of the absence during the present conflict of the horror stories that were so rife twenty-odd years ago. There have been no tales of crucifixions, slaughtered babies, cadaver factories, or even angels at Mons or anywhere else. It is now suspected that most of these gruesome yarns emanated from enemy sources in order to make British propaganda look stupid.

But now it would seem that the Germans are trying to build up a propaganda case to keep their own people quiet and to stiffen their determination to undergo the terrific trial that awaits them if they dare to attempt to land on British soil. Doubtless by now the controlled Press of Germany and of other parts of Europe will be howling, like dogs baying the moon, at this latest "outrage" on the part of the hated British, who have actually shot down "defenceless" Red Cross machines. But not even the most humanitarian subject of the British Empire need lose a moment's peace of mind over what has happened. On the contrary, from end to end of the Empire there will be general rejoicing that the Royal Air Force has refused to be cheated by a clumsy and cruel trick. These so-called innocent Red Cross machines were escorted by fighters. These merciful agents for the succour of the wounded and the sick carried wireless apparatus. These Florence Nightingales of the skies happened to find their route coinciding with that of British convoys close to the coast of Great Britain. They are known to have been used for reconnaissance purposes and for general purposes of salvage. They have been liaison units between infantry forces. They have made fake films for German theatres. In plain words, they are frauds, and the mask has been pulled from the grinning death's head of rapacious and unscrupulous

The British Government has made it plain that the ordinary usages of war in relation to the international symbol of mercy will be scrupulously respected; but by now the Germans realise that their little bit of bluff did not come off and that they will have to pull their thinking-caps even harder down upon their square heads if they are to break through the staunch and stalwart British anti-chicanery

This one incident should prove beyond the shadow of doubt to the most incorrigible sceptic in the British Empire that we are fighting a scoundrelism that will stick at nothing. Such events will serve but to harden the British will to victory: for such things must be destroyed.

Personal

Mr I. J. Quigley was elected deputy-chairman of the Gisborne Harbour Board, in succession to the late Mr T. Corson. His nomination was put forward by Mr M. T. Trafford, who pointed out that while Mr A. J. Nicol, chairman of the board, was unavailable through illness, it would be very necessary to have a deputy-chairman in close touch with harbour affairs. The nomination was adopted unanimously. The board recorded its sympathy with Mr Nicol in his illness.

Wool Appraisal

Over 5000 bales of crutchings will be submitted for appraisal at Port Ahuriri on Monday and Tuesday next, when the appraisers will make their first visit of the new season. Lee-Barnard Combine Asks Questions

EXPENDITURE ON THE WAR

Answers To Be Given At A Secret Session

URGENT NEED FOR STEEL

By Telegraph—Press Association PARLT. BLDGS., July 30.

"It is not proposed to discuss items of war expenditure in the ordinary course of discussion in the House, but whatever information can be provided for members will be given during the next secret session," said the Prime Minister (the Rt. Hon. P. Fraser), replying to an urgent question by Mr

J. A. Lee (Grey Lynn) when the House of Representatives met at 2.30 this afternoon. Mr Lee, on behalf of the Speaker (the Hon. W. E. Barnard) had asked if the Prime Minister would afford the House an opportunity this session to discuss items of estimated expenditure comprising the War Expenses Account, which amounted to £37,500,000. Asking another question on behalf of Mr Barnard, Mr Lee sought an explanation from the Minister of Customs (the Hon. W. Nash) of the position in regard to the importation of steel for Government buildings and other public structures, buildings for local bodies, and buildings for private individuals.

Mr Nash, in reply, said that the Minister of Supply (the Hon. D. G. Sullivan) had made arrangements with the Australian authorities for preference to be given to steel urgently required for essential needs. For other steel, licences had been issued in the ordinary way, and the only way he could suggest for expediting delivery was for those who had placed the orders to make further representations. Everything possible had been done, said Mr Nash, by

Moving the second reading of the War Pensions Amendment Bill and the War Pensions Extension Bill, both of which measures were taken simultaneously, the Minister of Defence (the Hon. F. LAST SATURDAY'S MATCH

AUCKLAND GAME

The 'Bay Backs Were Unimpressive

The Rugby match Auckland versus Hawke's Bay was decidedly interesting despite the poor playing conditions due to the weather and ground.

The game was interesting, particularly for two reasons (1) that Hawke's Bay were not playing their usual keen forward game; (2) that their play in the backs was inferior to that of Auckland. Despite the fact that Hawke's Bay secured four cotted tries to Auckland's these to that of Auckland. Despite the fact that Hawke's Bay secured four actual tries to Auckland's three, Auckland last Saturday were a superior team. Their forwards were real grafters and followed up really consistently all the time. Hawke's Bay forwards lacked sting as a pack. There were good individuals such as Brownlie, who played an inspiring game in the loose, and Reid, Callaghan, McDonald and Jackson worked hard in the tight. Admittedly, the bad conditions favoured the Northerners, but their energy and pack-work was impressive. Armour, Moffit and Priest were very valuable tight workers, but great credit must go to the side-row men Nelson and Ryan. To this pair was owing much of the disorganisation of the Hawke's Bay backline. Both men were breaking away exceptionally fast and whipping on to Clothier, (half-back) and Powdrell (first five-eighths), in a manner that continually harried these key backs.

In the Backs.

Pearman first five-eighths (Auck

Replying to a cablegram dispatched by the Mayor of Hastings, New Zealand (Mr G. A. Maddison), the Mayor of Hastings, England (Mr Ford) in a cable has expressed the hope that soldiers of the Hawke's Bay town who are in the Old Country may have the opportunity of visiting his city.

Mr Maddison received the following cablegram yesterday morning: "Hastings people gratefully acknowledge your encouraging message, and the moral and material assistance generously contributed In the Backs.

Pearman, first five-eighths (Auck land) and Clothier (Hawke's Bay), were probably the best backs on the field, with Hare, the Auckland fullback, also playing a magnificent game in the conditions. Both Pearman and Clothier were showing form enough to inspire their sides. The Auckland five-eighths was clever in his handling and showed fine judgment in his running in that he never ran too far. In this respect while Powdrell showed good combination with Clothian he have combination with Clothier, he show ed very little with his outside backs He was continually trying to beat Pearman—a difficult task at any time—and the two fast-breaking for-Mr Maddison's cablegram, sent last week, stated: "Our citizens extend most kindly greetings to our cousins in the Homeland. Our wards Nelson and Ryan, with the result that he was badly crowding cousins in the Homeland. Our result that he was badly crowding hearts are with you in all your sufferings and we stand with you, united and unflinching, in all the sacrifices and the fight for victory. Many Hastings boys are in the New Zealand forces in the Homeland today."

A clear triandship has arisen be. A close friendship has arisen be-tween the two towns of Hastings in the past two years, and messages of goodwill have frequently been exchanged in that time. It is fitting that the bond should be strengthened in this time of crisis. What About the Wingers?

Hawke's Bay wingers are increasingly becoming mere spectators of the game. When the Australians, and after them the Springboks, came to New Zealand they showed us the value of using the wingers as scoring men. The lessons learned from these two teams, particularly from Springboks, seem lost on the Hawke's Bay representative side, where the inside men attempt to do all the scoring. On Saturday against Auckland neither Little nor Palmer had a single run with the ball. Why? Callaghan, the Bay's brilliant new hooker, was securing the majority of the ball from the set scrums and Clothier was playing a great game sending on good passes and lots of What About the Wingers? That this theory is correct was proved on Saturday by the Auckland backs. Pearman ran—but too fax, and sent on very evidence. Auckland backs. Pearman ran—but not too far.—and sent on very quickly. Barlow was unselfish and sound, and Wiles, centre, gave both Colemore-Williams and Schubert more opportunity than Bligh was able to give the 'Bay wingers. The Auckland backs were handling in great style and were opening up the play whenever possible. Colemore-Williams was having more success against Little than Sherratt of the Army d.d and Palmer, who was approaching Schubert too fast on the wet ground often missed him. electrical wiring regulations because of the extreme danger involved was given by Mr J. Miller, S.M., in the Hastings Magistrate's Court yesterday morning when John Hill, Ltd., pleaded guilty to a breach of the electrical wiring regulations in that they allowed the work to be carried out without a permit.

The department looked upon the breach as serious because of the When a dock labourer appeared before a Whitechapel magistrate charged with assaulting his wife the poor woman pleaded for him. "'E's a good 'usband," she told his Worship, "as long as 'e 'as 'is pipe, but it won't always run to it, and then 'e sometimes loses 'is temper." The magistrate nodded understandingly. He evidently knows the value of difficult to meet mission obligations.

The response to the call for prayer issued by his Majesty the King had been surprising, and the Dean said he was convinced that it was more than "a flash in the pan."

WEEKLY RUGBY ECONOMIC REASONS FOR ROAD IMPROVEMENTS

Deviations Cannot Be Stopped When Almost Ready For Traffic

Described by a correspondent yesterday as "stupid deviations" and "a squandering of valuable manpower and precious petrol," the work at present being carried out on the main highway between Pakipaki and Te Hauke was the subject of some explanation by an official of the Public Works Department at Napier in conversation with a reporter.

The position at present was that it would be an economic waste to drop the work at the present time when the major part of the new formation was almost ready for use by traffic, he said. While no exact date could be given, it was expected that within the next two months the new section of road through the cutting and across the swamp would be metalled and could be turned over to traffic.

So far as the manpower was con erned, it was gathered that most of the labour used on such work was unskilled, and if not so em ployed would probably be receiving State assistance in some form of another

A provisional estimate of £10,000 for the current financial year was made for this work, and when the sum available is expended the job will have to remain as it is, at least until it is included in some future estimate. The amount of £10,000 is only half that originally set down to be spent this financial year.

Important Link

So far as the general justification for the work is concerned, it is stated that the real importance of the road is not perhaps fully realised by local residents. The Palmerston North-Napier State highway is an essential link in the arterial roads of the North Island, providing roads of the North Island, providing one of the routes between Auckland and Wellington and connecting Wellington with the whole of Hawke's Bay and Poverty Bay.

The tar-sealing put on the stretch of road near Pakipaki was laid down in 1928, and as a result of 12 years' pounding by a heavy volume of trafficis now hodly in nead of renewal fic is now badly in need of renewal.

Economic Work

To lay down a fresh coat of sealng on the present route would be quite an uneconomic proceeding, for the road was far behind modern standards of safety and convenience. The cost of the new formation was not considerable compared with that of fresh sealing work, and the mprovement in the standard of the road would be most marked.

The new route would also mean

The new route would also mean a saving of several chains of travelling distance.

It was recalled that when the stretch of road was sealed in 1928 some re-forming work was carried out, and this was also the subject of much criticism as an unnecessary piece of work. However, no one who travelled over the present winding and twisting route would claim that it was of too high a standard. sire to concentrate more on forward

NICE YOUNGSTERS IN REID'S STABLE

Classic Winners May Be Produced

(By MOTUROA) The Hastings mentor Sid Reid will have a nice team of young horses this season and, though his two-year-olds look as if they will strike their best form later on, they should not be

On the score of breeding Illumination lacks nothing. Bred from imported parents in Australia, Illumination is by Limelight, who was by the big-winning Lally (Amphion-Miss Hoyden, by Galliard) from Umbrosa (dam of four good winners), by that good Hampton horse Ayrshire (Derby) from Shade (dam of Sunset and Shadow, two good performers in France), by Bruar (a son of Blair Athol) from Foliage, by Young Melbourne from Viridis (the dam of Springfield the sire of the second dam of Limond and Martian). long in making a name for themselves.

The first on the list is Burra Sahib, a particularly attractive colt by Bulandshar from Provence. Burra Sahib shows good bone and substance, and he leaves the impression that he will grow into a big horse. There is tion, was also bred in England. She was a daughter of Speed (a good class winner), by Hampton from Lucetta, by Tibthorpe a son of Voltiquer he leaves the impression that he will grow into a big horse. There is plenty of quality about him, too, and he has shown good action in the light tasks so far apportioned him.

Burra Sahib comes from a good winning family, being bred from Provence (the dam of Le Toquet), by Arausio from the G.N. Oaks winner Hoy, the dam of Anomaly, Snatcher, Shirley. King's Folly. King's Jest and other winners. Hoy was a Birkenhead other winners. Hoy was a Birkenhead mare and a half sister to Lady Links (dam of Kinnoull), their dam being Links, by St. Andrew from Sabra, a The dam of Fleet Street was Lorna Doon, by Baliol (Blair Athol-Marigold by Teddington) from The Doon (second dam of Pearl of the Loch, a big winner in England a few seasons back), by the Rosicrucian horse Beauclerc from Bouvardia, by Galopin from Bonnie Doon, a daugh-

The Winning Hit gelding has been off the winning list since he took the January and Illumination was wasted in the early years he was at the Stud and it is only in the past five or six years that his value has become realised. The success of his stock Thorndon Handicaps at Trentham in the summer, but he is such a good class miler that his scrip will rise in connection with the Winter Cup. Haughty Win-ner failed badly in the Winter Cup twelve months ago, but he acknowledge him a valuable sire. Fortunately, he has been only lightly used and there will be several won the seven furlongs August Handicap later on at the meetnore seasons of usefulness ahead of ing .- "Moturoa."

jumper has been All Irish, whose last four starts have been for wins in the Waikato, Great Northern and Winter Steeplechases and a fine econd to Streamline in the Great Northern Hurdles.

Illuminate and Miss Dazzle were the first to be tried as jumpers and they proved instant successes. Since then Lucidus (also a good sprinter), Scotch Nation, Erination, All Irish, Loombination, Floodlight, and others have followed in quick succession. Erination, winner of the ng all the quality of her line, this grand-daughter of Desert Gold is not being hurried as it is obvious that she will take a little time. This filly may not be required to race until the summer, but it will surprise if the does not make her mark on the lift.

Great Northern Hurdles, Wellington Steeplechase and runner-up to Padishah in the last Grand National Steeplechase has won over £3000 in past two years and is one of best class jumpers in New Zea-Hastings Stakes Hope land for many years.
Or course, the stock of Illumination have the size and bone to re-ommend them for jumping, a char-cteristic which the Australian-bred orse imparts to practically all his October.

She is a half sister to three winners in Lycidas, Asset and Greek God. her dam being a sister to that good stayer Naos and Lucinette (dam of Flammarion and Kobl), being by Martian from the N.Z. Cup winner Lady Lucy (second dam of Star Stranger), by Seaton Delaval from the G.N. Guineas winner Hilda, dam of Antares and Fulmen and ancestress of Mahutonga, Kopu, Labour Day and Merry Day. Illumination is available to breeders at a very reasonable fee and, as he has come up particularly well or this new season, it is likely that ne will receive patronage from quite a few Hawke's Bay breeders. DEATH OF FAMOUS Day.

SYDNEY, July 30.

The imported stallion Pantheon, sire of the dual Melbourne Cup winner Peter Pan, died yesterday at the Kia Ora Stud.

Kilometre's third at Marton on Saturday suggests that he may not be long in crediting his new owners with a win. He is growing into a nice horse and may be very useful next season.

Winter Cup Chances Are Undeniable

(By MOTUROA)

In reviewing the past year's operations at the annual meeting of the tions at the annual meeting of the Felding Jockey Club, the chairman (Mr L. F. McLean) said the club's revenue had decreased by £943, this being brought about by the Government stopping the payment of the 1 per cent. refund on totalisator duty, this having the effect of putting the costs up by £410 8/6. In addition to this, the club had expended more than £600 on permanent improvements, while £1185 had been written off in depreciation. Notwithstanding the loss, said the chairman, the club has enjoyed a successful year, and had maintaained its high place among the clubs of New Zealand, being ninth on the list for totalisator investments.

Mr J. Graham congratulated the club on its position, stating that while it owed the bank £705, it had assets amounting to nearly £29,000. He could recall the day when the bank overdraft was £10,000 and its reduction to the present small amount reflected great credit on the careful management its affairs had received. Mr Graham advised that
