British Guns Fire Salvo A Minute Across Channel

FURIOUS BATTERING OF INVASION PORTS

Rainstorm Fails To Stop Bombers

(United Press Association—Copyright.) (Received September 30, 7.35 p.m.)

LONDON, September 29. The British long-range guns, in addition to the R.A.F. furiously battered the ports of Northern France in the last 48 hours. The guns fired a salvo every minute.

At Calais and other ports warehouses were destroyed, docks put out of action, and channels blocked by sunken ships. The R.A.F. raids on invasion bases are stated to be so damaging that the Germans will find it difficult to use them.

Despite a rainstorm R.A.F. bombers to-night again delivered a smashing blow at invasion ports. Watchers on the English coast saw the flashes of bursting bombs along many miles of the French coast. They were especially numerous in the region of Boulogne.

A surprising number of place names is a feature of a detailed statement issued by the Air Ministry in a bulletin regarding R.A.F. attacks on Germany on Saturday night.

The bulletin states that power stations in Berlin, dockyards at Bremen and Wilhelmshaven, a munitions factory at Hanau, and rail-communication centres over a wide area of Germany were among the many objectives attacked. Other strong forces, operating at shorter range raided North Sea and Channel ports from Antwerp in the north to Le Havre in the south.

An Air Ministry communique, de-scribing the operations, says: "Wea-from north to south, a building ther conditions generally over North close to the tracks was set on fire. Germany were unfavourable, but numbers of our aircraft reached their objectives. Berlin and district electric-power stations and antiaircraft gun positions were bombed. "Elsewhere in North Germany the targets included important railway centres and aerodromes. The naval base at Wilhelmshaven was strongly attacked, and fires and explosions."

Close to the tracks was set on fire. A direct hit was scored on the flare path of an aerodrome near Bassenheim. Other aerodromes in Germany on which bombs were dropped during the night were those at Magdeburg, Munster and Handorf.

In Holland, the enemy-occupied air bases at Texel and Eindhoven were attacked.

Weather conditions over Germany on Saturday night were extremely bad, with low-lying clouds entirely covering many of the target areas, and downward visibility often re-stricted to an occasional glimpse through a momentary break in the cloud layer. Despite this hodiap to navigation, the raiders detailed to have been scored on merchant of casualties."

"At It Again."

The local people in North Carolina soon became used to the flying machine and took little notice of it. Typical was the attitude of an old farmer who, hearing the familiar "whirr" in the air, would merely glance upward and say: "There go them boys— at it again!" and calmly resume his work. Their achievements were ignored in other quarters, too. The Wrights got into touch with the American, French and British Governments. From the War Office they received a reply 3YA Christchurch

DANNEVIRKE.

More than sixty primary school teachers assembled at the North School, Dannevirke, for a refresher course yesterday morning. They were addressed by Mr H. S. M. Quigley, a member of the Hawke's Bay Education Board, and Mr E. K. Lomas, Inspector of Schools.

The course is the outcome of the new Education Fellowship Confernew Education Fellowship Conference held in the four centres in 1937 and is designed to give through experts a fuller appreciation of the principles laid down there, wears clothes, talks, sings and dances. As a matter of fact the Blue Fairy appoints Jiminy as Pincochio's conscience, with the result that Jiminy is led on a merry chase which includes the floor of the ocean.

"THE SHOP AROUND THE CORNER"

Margaret Sullavan And James Stewart

Margaret Sullavan, James Stewart and the famed "Ernst Lubitson uch" contribute equal shares to one of the most delightful entertainments ever filmed—"The Shop Around the Corner," which is now at the Regent Theatre, Hastings. That Lubitsch is the master of comedy in all its various phases, whether of satire as he so ably demonstrated with his direction of Greta Garbo in "Ninotchka," or of human, gentle humour in the everyday lives of everyday people, has been proven for all to see in this new picture.

It is a pleasure to see Miss Sullavan back on the screen again, and this most charming and talented of actresses is perfectly teamed with Stewart, who makes the most of another fine acting opportunity to compare with his great performance in "Mr Smith Goes to Washington." They are assistants in a little Budapest leather goods and novelty shop, both seeking romance. They look for it outside of their own small world, quarrelling constantly, and then discover that they are quarrelling because they are in love.

Sharing the plaudits with the stars is a flawless cast. Frank Morgan never has appeared to better advantage than in the role of the shop owner. Joseph Schildkraut is thoroughly dislikeable as the rascally assistant who has an affair with the wife of his kindly boss. Felix Bressart, who provided so many laughs in the role of the lanky Russian commissar in "Ninotchka," is the timid assistant, afraid of the the timid assistant, afraid of the ooss, the butcher and the doctor. Also effective in supporting roles are Sara Haden, William Tracy, Inez Courtney, Sarah Edwards, Edwin Maxwell, Charles Halton and Charles Smith.

'DANGER ON WHEELS" TENSE DRAMA

> With "My Son Is Guilty"

Topping their previous pictures for continuous action, drama and excitement, Richard Arlen and Andy Devine's new co-starring film, "Danger On Wheels," is now at the Cosy Theatre, Hastings. Played against the background of the auto race-tracks, the film is chock-full of breath taking, spills, and crashes. react-tracks, the film is chock-full of preath-taking spills and crashes. Arlen gives an outstanding portrayal as a test driver whose search for more dangerous thrills turns with the proof driving. Andy Devine nim to race driving. Andy Devine as his mechanic who is always get ng into trouble, also gives a splen-d performance. Appearing oppo-te Arlen in the romantic lead, is eggy Moran, screen newcomer whose beauty and acting talent in-licate a promising future. Other oles are ably handled by Herbert Corthell, Harry Bradley, Sandra King, Landers Stevens and Jack

Arnold.

"My Son Is Guilty," which is the second feature, is one of those all-too-rare films which combines convincing characterisations, believable continuous incident and sound and exciting incident and sound down-to-earth human values into a whirly wind of exciting entertainment. The unusual drama is played out by such personalities as Bruce Cabot, Jacqueline Wells, Harry Carey and Wynne Gibson, who have managed to extract the most out of a meaty screen morsel. The film unreels against the vivid and colourful background of Hell's Kitchen, New York's renowned slum section, and beat of warm-hearted Patrolman Tim Kerry, played by Harry Carey. The story tells how Kerry's son Ritzy (Bruce Cabot) comes out on parole after serving

"Rewi's Last Stand" has been termed by some people "a Maori film." This is not correct, and the words "A pioneer adventure" would more truthfully describe it. There have been many all Maori films pro-duced, but the production in ques-tion concerns the adventures of Robert Beaumont, a dispatch rider of Jackson's Forest Rangers, the famous corps of bushfighters, who were employed in the Waikato wars of the 'sixties in fighting the Maori in his own fashion in the heart of the bush. Beaumont's love affair with the ravishingly beautiful half-cast girl Ariana, daughter of a   Maniapoto chieftainess and a roving sea captain, forms the thread of a romance which is delicately treated Zanalannanananananan karangan mananan menangan mananan mananan menerari P

Torn by conflicting loyalties, Ariana faces a decision which confronts few women. Loyalty to her mother's people and a long line of rangatira ancestors, or loyalty to her father and her pakeha lover. This is her choice.

Heading a strong and efficient east is Miss Ramai te Miha, the cast is Miss Ramai te Miha, the Wairarapa girl who has electrified the film critics with her performance as Ariana. Another splendid portrayal is Stanley Knight's old shellback Ben Horton. Mr Knight will be remembered for the part of the tramp in "On the Friendly Road." His present performance is his best characterisation to date his best characterisation to date.

The sauciest escapade in the history of love, as gay as a Mardi Gras, with three delightful stars and merry with Gordon and Revel tunes brings Don Ameche, Simone Simon and Robert Young to the Mayfair Theatre, Napier, in "Josette," which is now screening twice daily.

It's vive l'amour in naughty New Orleans as Don and Bob chase Limone, who must think faster than Simone, who must think faster than one and run faster than the other—but not too much faster! The tantalising little coquette has talked herself into a pretty mix-up, so that there are two Josettes, one for the boys' Papa and another for the boys themselves. The three new Gordon and Revel numbers are: "May I have a Petal in Your Glass of and Revel numbers are: "May prop a Petal in Your Glass Wine?" "In Any Language" "Where in the World." FIVE OLD IDEAS TO FORGET

New Suggestions Replace Out-Of-Date Methods

A good way to treat a burn is to hold the burned part before the fire.

Scaring anyone with hiccups will cure them.

Green apples will assuredly give you a stomach-ache. Rubbing one eye will help remove a cinder from the other. A piece of ice down the back of the neck will stop a nose from bleeding.

TREATMENT OF BURNS

An ancient fallacy is that a good caused the personal way to treat a burn is to hold the burned part before the fire "to draw out the inflammation."

The trouble was that he ate the apples too hurriedly, in large, apples too hurriedly.

The notion is so frequently referred to by Shakespeare, that it appears the great dramatist probably believed it himself.

"One of those foolish superstitions and traditions that form even in these enlightened days some of the chief dangers to infancy and childhood as well as to older people."

The correct first aid for a burn is to cover it with an oily substance, because the wound is thereby soothed and the air is kept from it.

Carron oil (a mixture of equal parts of lime water and linseed oil) is the standard remedy kept at emergency stations and in ambulances. Petroleum jelly and olive oil are often used because they are frequently the most handy.

Sumded not be able to distinguish between a ripe and an unripe one.

Eating slowly and chewing well are so important because it is necessary that the fruit be thoroughly mixed with the saliva for its proper digestion.

NOSE BLEEDING REMEDIES

You'll hear lots of ways of stopping a nose from bleeding—putting a key or a piece of ice down the back of the neck, or pressing the upper lip.

The trouble is fallacies, misconceptions, and superstitions are freedom to the distinguish between a ripe and an unripe one.

The trouble is fallacies, misconceptions, and superstitions are freedom.

STOPPING HICCUPS

Don't believe either that it's a good form of treatment to scare anyone who has hiccups.

A few years ago a man hiccuped himself to death. The hiccups lasted 26 days and nights; he couldn't sleep or eat, and finally died of exhaustion. The average case of hiccups lasts only from a few minutes to a few hours.

Occasionally it can be a most

GREEN APPLE PAINS

It seems a shame to destroy the belief that if you eat green apples you will most certainly get a stomach-ache.

Unripe fruit generally is hard, coarse, and unpalatable. Because of this lack of pleasant taste and the associated hardness and coarseness, the cause of the stomach-ache is most likely to be insufficient chewing and not the unripeness of the fruit.

It seems a shame to destroy the commonly lodge.

Another way is to put a drop of castor oil into the eye; it being carried across the eye by the winking of the lids, the oil will often carry the cinder with it.

If these methods fail, the upper lid should be gently turned over on a toothpick, covered with cotton. You can see it then, and take it out with sterile cotton dipped in sterile boric acid solution. The utmost cleanliness is necessary. If the cinder is embedded in the tissues, and particularly if it is

The notion is so frequently referred to by Shakespeare, that it appears the great dramatist probably believed it himself.

It has been aptly referred to as "One of those foolish superstitions and traditions that form even in these enlightened days some of the large, apples too furtiedly, in large, then there is nothing in green apples to cause a stomach-ache in itself. If the apple is eaten slowly and sufficiently chewed the stomach would not be able to distinguish between a ripe and an unripe one.

ting a clot to form more readily.

But this doesn't work out,

Occasionally it can be a most tantalising complaint, resisting many diverse kinds of treatment.

Among the many remedies, scaring the patient is about the most useless. It is as stupid as trying to cure deafness by a fall in an aeroplane. Other supposed cures include drinking water slowly, holding one's breath, counting numbers, pressing the upper lip, electric shocks to the

Rubbing one eye when you have a cinder in the other doesn't get the Carbon dioxide gas, the gas which is used in soda water, and which we exale from our lungs, can stimulate the respiratory nerve centre, and I have found it a reliable cure for hiccups.

All you need is a paper bag.
If you have hiccups, place the bag over your nose and mouth and breathe into and out of it. As the coxygen in the bag is used up the exaled carbon dioxide gas accumulates, so that in a few minutes there is enough to produce a curative effect.

If you begin to hiccup again, repeat the treatment.

GREEN APPLE PAINS

Rubbing one eye when you have a cinder in the other doesn't get the cinder out.

Still, it has its good side, this fallacy, for it is decidedly wrong to rub the eye with the cinder.

Perhaps it has its origin in someone's desire to circumvent the natural impulse to rub the affected eye, thereby increasing the damage.

The simplest way to remove a cinder from the eye is to pull the upper lid over the lower one, so that the lashes of the latter may sweep away the cinder from beneath the upper lid, where cinders most commonly lodge.

Another way is to put a drop of ing and not the unripeness of the fruit.

While visiting a country hotel one summer I was asked to see a little lad of ten who was doubled up by severe pains in his stomach.

The boy's relatives were positive that he had eaten unripe apples. He

Deep-Rooted Distrust Of His Companions

COLLEAGUES "REMOVED"

Signor Mussolini himself has taken over a large number of the most important Italian Ministerial portfolios. He is at present head of the Government, leader of the Fascist Party, president of the Fascist Grand Council, Minister of the Interior, Minister of War, Marine and Air, and head of the Government of Italian Africa.

A very frequent "changing of the guard" constantly alters the aspect of the Government and of the Fascist High

A deep-rooted mistrust ever and again drives Signor Mussolini to remove his trusted colleagues as far as possible from Rome by "promoting" them, with the result that there are but few of the "Fascists of the first hour" still around Il Duce probably favours most his son-in-law and Foreign Minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano.

The Count, who is 38, is glib and oily, a smiling, ruthless "go-getter," with a self-assurance that nothing can shake.

Before the Abyssinian war he had, as Propaganda Minister, not much opportunity to push himself forward.

But during the war his name, as the daring leader of the La Desperiture.

Quadrumvir Cesare de Vechi, who is 56, lawyer, painter, and poet, is the author of a little volume of tender lyrics called "Spring Poems." In 1920 he headed the party which brutally wrecked the Rome office of the Socialist paper "Avanti," of which Mussolini had been chief editor a few years before.

Signor De Vecchi's monarchic sympathies remained proof against the republican tendencies among some of the Fascists.

But during the war his name, as the daring leader of the La Desperata air squadron, was so often in the headlines that his father-in-law grew sick of seeing his picture on the front pages of the papers.

Like his wife, Edda, Count Ciano was already an admirer of Hitler and Nazism, at a time when Il Duce was so far from harbouring such sympathies as to give Schuschnigg his word that he would always protect Austria from Herr Hitler.

At the end of the war he was in command of an army corps, and was one of the small groups of generals who gathered at Florence in the critical hours before the march on Rome. the march on Rome, General In the march on Rolle, General de Bono, tall, bareheaded, his chest covered with medals, and with well-trimmed white moustache and a black shirt, attracted great attention as he strode at the head of thousands of young men.

High Positions

Signor Mussolini gave him high posts, making him Director-General of Public Safety, General Commander of the Fascist Militia. As Governor of Tripolitania and Minister for Colonies, he played the leading part in the secret preparations for the war against Abyssinia. When the war started, he took over the high command in Massawa and captured Axum, Adowa and Adigrat.

But the delay occasioned by the necessity for building roads to secure communication with the rear before moving forward led Signor Mussolini's life, Signor Bocchini undertook the reorganisation of the Italian police. Since then the desire to have a try at the Duce seems to have cooled astonishingly. Signor Bocchini also purged the Fascist Party itself.

The names of a number of Fascist luminaries disappeared from the entourage of the Duce, to reappear later in prison files, the registers of those in banishment on the Lipari Islands.

Signor Bocchini had had a look at their dossiers and "informed" in the desire to have a try at the Duce seems to have caused the desire to have a try at the Duce seems to have a try at the Duce getting on nearly fast enough. He their was recalled.

CORONER'S INQUEST HELD

"Daily Mall" Special Service WAIROA.

Evidence concerning the death of a Maori child, Ida May Johnston, aged 16 months, was heard before Mr V. E. Winter at the coroner's court on Monday.

Dr. C. M. Debden Wilkins stated better the coroner message of the control of the coroner's court on Monday.

Dr. C. M. Debden Wilkins stated that he received a telephone message on Sunday morning and went to Mill Pa, Frasertown, and found the body of a well nourished child. In his opinion the child had been dead from two to three hours; he could detect no sign of suffocation. Development of the Empire training plan, in spite of delays in the receipt of training aircraft from England, has been the most remarkable He learned that the child was subject to convulsions and had been unwell the previous evening.

To the coroner he said that there was no evidence that the child died of other than natural causes.

Majory Johnston, the child's sister, told the court that her sister slept with her and on Saturday night she went to bed about 12.30

BY CASH PURCHASE

Bases From Britain Only One Of Many Acquisitions

For 137 years the United States Government has been the world's greatest cash buyer of real estate. Now it has turned to leasehold and the barter system.

Since 1803 Uncle Sam has bought nearly a quarter of North America, or, roughly, one-thirtieth of the land surface of the globe. He has bought it from France, Mexico, Russia, and Denmark. Now he has done his first land deal with Great Britain.

The United States went back to nig business in 1867 when Seward bought Alaska ("Seward's Ice-box")

Seward secured 570,000 square miles for 7,200,000 dollars (£1,-

He also negotiated for Greenland

(840,000 square miles, mostly under ice) but failed to do business with Denmark.

Still he brought American land purchases up to 1,820,000 square miles, bought for 42,200,000 dollars (£8,440,000).

When land dealing was resumed in the 20th century prices had

Future Prospects

Prices have risen steadily. The first and biggest purchase, the Louisiana territory cost 2d an acre. The latest, the Danish Virgin Islands, fatched even for an execution. By comparison with W. C. Wentworth's 1840 purchase of over 20,000,000 acres in New Zealand for £200, or 400 acres for a penny, the £200, or 400 acres for a penny, the price was high.
Wentworth's bargain was disallowed. The Louisiana purchase makes up a third of the United States to-day.

In 1850 the United States paid Mexico 10,000,000 dollars (£2,000,000) for 200,000 square miles, two-thirds the area of New South Wales. This now forms half New Mexico, part of V/yoming, and bits of Nevada, Oklahoma, and West Kansas.

Three years later James Gadsen bought from Mexico 45,535 square miles on the borders of Arizona and southern California. This patch cost the U.S.A. 10,000,000 dollars (£2,000,000). fetched over £60 an acre.

The islands were, it is true, a highly improved property. Louisiana was almost all wilderness in 1803.

President Roosevelt has secured for the United States a 99 years' lease of six naval and air bases in the Caribbean region in exchange for the transfer to the British Navy of 50 destroyers of 1200 tons each of 50 destroyers of 1200 tons each, veterans of the last war. This means 10,000 tons of destroyers for each chief.

All eatables were packed in tins and should arrive in excellent condition.

Apparently the destroyers are only a part of the payment. The British Ambassador's note clinching the "trade" states that the bases will be exchanged for "naval and military equipment and material." On the other hand the British Government was so pleased with the deal that it has thrown in four other bases, two in Newfoundland and two

Long Term Lease Not New There is nothing new in the use by one country of bases in the ter-ritory of another, or in the idea of a 90 years' lease.

Great Britain holds the Kowloon, or mainland, territory of Hong Kong under a 99 years' lease from China.

This mean £1 a head for the population of Egypt. Britain agreed, on August 4, 1938, to bear half the cost. The United States is spending £5,000,000 sterling on her new bases in British territory. Britain is spending nothing. And the £5,000,000 is only a start.

America's first land deal was easily the largest—so far. It more than doubled the area of the United States.

PERSONAL CONTACTS

It is doubtless good for the serving soldier to know that his sacrifices are appreciated by a grateful country. It may quicken the beat of his heart to realise that he is a unit in the mighty Empire force which has confronted such terrible odds with such glorious success. But what he most needs for the encouragement of his effort and the strengthening of his will is the personal link with his own friends and kindred.

To the marching soldier on parade before he leaves his home town, there are no mere massed crowds of people on the sidewalks such as he may see when he lands in some other part of the world. He watches for one face, a special smile, a familiar gesture, or listens for the tones of a well-known voice above the din. And so it is from the point of view of the sidewalk. To the great proportion of the individuals gathered to watch the troops go by, the big moment comes when one particular soldier passes.

It is likewise true that when our men have left our shores to take up their quarters in strange places and among strange people, the link with home is still all-important in their eyes. They may have the impersonal Divisional or other orders giving them praise for their services, their bearing on parade and all the rest of it, and the highest in the land may address them in terms of pride and gratitude, but these things are a drop in the bucket as compared with the arrival of the mail from home—especially if there are parcels in it.

Similarly those who have sent their menfolk overseas with willing hearts, ready to make whatever sacrifices that may be asked of them while their men are absent, have their own instinctive ways of reading the war news: and possibly the best news they have heard for many a day is that a large consignment of parcels and mail from New Zealand has safely arrived for distribution among the troops. Something, they knew, went wrong with a previous supply when the Second Echelon was diverted from its original destination. And if anyone had asked yesterday some people around these parts to comment on the news of the day, they would probably have expressed satisfaction that the tins of cakes and scones and bags of letters had successfully reached their goal.

Such news speaks clearly of more than the safe arrival of a mail and of the promise of regular deliveries in future, which will include appropriate Christmas comforts for the men; it speaks of the continued British command of the seas and of the mighty forces that are at work in conjunction to see to it that personal contacts will be maintained. It would seem, indeed, to be a definite, integral part of British policy to increase these contacts. Even the broadcasting services are being enlarged and extended so that we may be in more constant and immediate touch with the news of events as it arises. In the former days of the last war we had no such privileges of immediate intercourse across the seas, and these benefits are to be counted amongst the greatest of the boons we enjoy to-day.

Other services in their own chosen ways are endeavouring to maintain direct communications from person to person across the world. Localities are vying with each other to have their familiar names stamped upon gifts of all kinds, from soldiers' parcels to aeroplanes. The newspapers are utilising their columns to send personal messages to soldiers abroad.

It is by such means that the seven seas may be bridged by personal interest and sympathy and the pangs of separation and anxiety lessened for those who must stay at their humdrum tasks while others go out to the great adventure.

ZONING PLAN MOOTED FOR NAPIER

Orderly Development Scheme Outlined

SUGGESTIONS BY ENGINEER

A possible zoning plan for Napier, as a preliminary to a complete Town Planning scheme, was put before the Napier Borough Council last night by the engineer, Mr W. D. Corbett. The orderly development of Napier was one of the questions discussed with Mr A. G. Harper, an officer of the Internal Affairs Department specialising in local government, when the latter visited Napier earlier in the month.

It was then pointed out that once the area had been zoned, the local authority had full control and could, without payment of compensation, prevent the establishment of nonconforming premises and businesses. Otherwise it had no powers at all in the control of industry as was evidenced by the fact that certain works in Battery Road were established in a residential area without council's permission or

Mr. Corbett submitted a plan designed on broad lines, and suggested that it would serve as a basis for discussion. Six zones were set out, as follows:—

"The business area (1931) has been developed and completed; that can stand as one area," said the report.

"The business area of the Port residential area will form another distinct area, but it may need more careful consideration in view of the development of the harbour, the requirements of heavy industry and possible warehouses, cold stores, etc.

"The remaining part of the borough (east of the railway) would then form the other area.

"The business area of the Port should be defined and a schedule prepared showing businesses which cannot be established therein.

should be defined and a schedule prepared showing businesses which cannot be established therein.

"Dangerous Goods Areas: The present one has been fixed and the proposed new one near Westshore Access Road can be defined.

"Heavy Industrial Areas: Such places as Railway Workshops and yards, Holts, Manson and Clarks, Gas Works and Niven and Co., should also be defined, together with such parts of the North Pond as may be decided: I consider that the Battery Road frontage for a depth may be decided: I consider that the Battery Road frontage for a depth of not less than 2½ chains should be excluded.

"Industrial Areas: Quite a portion of the Port will be covered under this head such as wool stores, to bacco factory etc., but it will be difficult to locate any other area in general use at present and I don't think this should be attempted.

"Residential Areas: It will probably be necessary to define about six of these areas and perhaps vary the classes of buildings which are permitted in the several areas:

I. Marine Parade should be regarded as a special area.

II. Scinde Island should be treated as another area.

II. Narion South and Ta Awa can

The United States is organising for defence on two important fronts, in the building of ships, 'planes, and guns, and in the proposed compulsory registration for military service of about 12,000,000 men.

Both plans are of extreme importance, because they are designed to correct deficiencies in armaments and men, says

It is well known that the standing army of the United States was designed for an era when any attempted invasion of the country was regarded as unthinkable.

And for the same reason there is the basic weakness in certain armaments. The navy is an extremely strong and efficient service, but according to even the naval experts themselves it needs enormous increases in ships and men to bring it to the level of what they practically all agree is now necessary—a two-ocean navy.

Hence the many billions of dollars that have been voted for naval expansion. In some of the other fields of defence the United States is notably weak. Its air force is relatively small, and in guns and tanks it is very deficient.

But the greatest weakness is in anti-aircraft guns. So now the country has definitely resolved to build up the branches of armament which are inadequate, and to that end has voted such large appropriations that the limit of the national debt has been extended beyond the previous statutory figure of 45,000 million dollars (£N.Z.10,000,000,000)

Industrial Magnitude

The United States is the greatest industrial nation in the world, and has led all other countries in standardisation and mass production.

It would therefore seem to the layman that this vast industrial machine could be put to work immediately, and that in a few weeks tanks, guns, and 'planes would be emerging from assembly lines like automobiles.

But with armaments and 'planes this has not proved to be the case. President Roosevelt realised that industrial production of armaments and war materials would have to be handled by experts, and he therefore appointed a National Defence Advisory Commission, the industrial production head of which is William S. Knudsen, formerly president of

Orders Swamp Factories

At present the tool manufacturing industry is swamped with Government orders, and is doing its best to reach the production required.

President Roosevelt, in his defence speech, asked for an air for experiment orders who is a conservation of whether military service should be compulsory and whether military service should be compulsory actional policy is to encourage exports to assist in establishing credits abroad to pay for essential imports, report Winchcombe, Carson Ltd. The minority group agrees that the men in the 21 to 31 age group should register, but having set up that machinery it believes that they should wait until Congress declares a state of war exists before compelling the men to join the army. While its difficult to get reliable stimates, it is regarded as possible that by the middle of next year year production may be on a basis of the capture of compulsory registration for military service. Increased Exports

During the five months ending May, Britain's exports of woollen and worsted fabrics were 43,302,000 square yards, an increase of 3,537,000 square yards on the 1939 total for the period. Exporters have, therefore, made good use of their opportunities to increase business. They have lost their customers on the Continent but the elimination of Continental competition in other markets to some extent offsets that loss.

In December, 1939, maximum prices were fixed for British homegrown wools. By way of illustration the top figure for Lincoln wethers was 10½d per lb. English currency. Because of much increased costs, the British sheep farmer could not "make ends meet." Prices for home-grown wools have now been advanced, being subsidised by the Ministry of Agriculture. The United Kingdom clip is entirely requisitioned by the Government. THE ZONING SCHEME

"The present scheme is most unsatisfactory; it is only a half measure," said Cr. A. C. Biggs, when the recently instituted milk zoning scheme was being considered at last night's meeting of the Napier Borough Council.

Cr Biggs claimed that from a health point of view there were a number of points that required attention.

In some cases a householder who had been receiving milk in sealed bottles was now required to take milk carried in open cans, with a risk of the commodity being contaminated. "I understand there is one company which could treat all the milk in the town and deliver it in properly sealed bottles," Cr. Biggs continued. "If one van delivered the milk to the whole town it would not only save petrol but would also rectify a position whereby some purchasers get the milk in proper condition, and others do not.'

Cr. A. E. Bedford considered that all milk should be tuberculin-tested, but other councillors recalled that an attempt in this direction was made some years ago, when a bylaw was passed requiring the testing of cows on farms supplying milk to the borough.

Unfortunately the regulation had been over-ruled on a legal point.
The town clerk (Mr F. R. Watters) said that there was no completely satisfactory way of testing milk for tuberculin. The usual method was to allow a certain maximum bacteriological content.
The financial aspect of the present zoning scheme was also discussed, the mayor remarking that although a big saving had been effected for the suppliers none had been passed on to the consumers.

QUIET ENTRY OF A GENTLE STRANGER

A Tired Traveller Finds Lodgings

Finds Lodgings

There was a gentle tapping at the front door of a Hastings home last Saturday afternoon. The day was sunny and warm. When the lady of the house, who was seated near the door, looked round to find the cause of the tapping, the visitor entered with a confident, majestic, and yet enquiring gait. The visitor cocked his head this way and that, stood on the lady's foot, then on her shoulder. The visitor was a beautiful ringed pigeon, one of the birds in the Timaru-to-Levin race which all lost its way, but not its conficience in the kindness of human reatures. The ring-marking duly dentified the owner, and after a jomfortable night spent on a not too to thot-water bottle the bird was tent back home.

MORE PETROL

INCREASE FOR CARS NEXT MONTH

Indication Given By Minister

The announcement that it was expected that by the end of this month the national reserves of petrol would have reached an amount that would permit an increase in the allowance to private motor-cars and that the increase would be granted in November was made by the Minister for Supply (the Hon. D. G. Sullivan) last night, according to a Press Association message from Welling ton. At the same time the Oil Fue Controller said that petrol coupons numbered 10 and 11 would be available for use during October.

"A decision by the Government to

"A decision by the Government to grant more petrol to the private car-owner will surely save the motor industry in what is undoubtedly the greatest crisis it has ever faced in this country," said a leading Hastings garage-owner when the statement was referred to him last night. "The desperate plight of the industry is well-known and of the industry is well-known and we know that all sections of the community will be heartened by the news that the motor trade is to be given what is virtually a last-minute reprieve."

Hundreds of idle cars, empty garages and workless employees have followed in train of the restrictions which imposed a stranglehold, spelling the death-knell of the motor trade, said the garageman. If more petrol was to be granted, then this spectre would be banished and both owners and employees could look forward to a more pleasant future.

BASIC ENGLISH SOLVES A LANGUAGE PROBLEM To Be Regularly

Foreign Soldiers In Britain Can Now Easily Be Understood

A Polish airman who could not speak one word of English went to England and after a month was reading, and understanding, Fisher's "History of Europe."

Nor is this airman's experience unique. Thousands of foreigners in Britain-some of them Allied soldiers, sailors, and airmen, some of them refugees—are finding that it is easy to learn to speak English, if somebody lets you into the

The secret is the extended use of what is known as "Basic English," a self-contained but simplified version of the complicated English tongue comprising in all just 850 words.

Basic English has drawn increasing interest since it was invented some years back by Mr C. K. Ogden. He foresaw it as the universal language of the future, claiming it could be learned in a short space of the amount of work they do.

In completing the system, Mr Ogden made use of the fact that in overly language years are made use.

Basic English is a "vest-pocket language." Paradoxically, although English-proper is probably the hardest tongue in the world for a foreigner to master, this potted version is the easiest. And it is complete. A Basic version of the Bible is now in production.

As far as its transformation into As far as its transformation into a universal tongue was concerned, Basic English did not make as much early progress as was hoped, although it was adopted in several countries as a means of teaching elementary English. Now, however, the influx of a vast number of foreigners into this country, all eager to learn the language, has made the ultimate adoption of Basic English as a common second-language much more probable.

There are 1,000,000 words of Basic writing now in existence. Basic has been made part of the school system of Denmark, and is being used in Rumania, Russia, Japan, China, India, and a number of other countries.

It is in India that Basic English probably has made most headway. There it is used, not so much as a universal language as an easy road to teaching complete English. The Director of Education of Ceylon has Speculation was brisk at Foxton on Saturday, the machine handling f21,356 10/- compared with £18,410 when the meeting was held at Awapuni last year. The previous year, under the single pool system, £12,295 10/- passed through the machine at Foxton.

Sir Rabbi, who ran a good second to Sweet Anne at Foxton on Saturday, was having his first race for nearly two years.

Game Old Galloper Hunting Cat was the best of the Hawke's Bay division at Foxton on Saturday, running fourth to Pearl of Asia with 8lbs overweight. The old Hunting Song gelding retains his form wonderfully well and may secure his expenses here this week.

CUP WEIGHTS PROVIDE FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Royal Chief Rated Highly

HIGH OPINION IS HELD OF YOGI

Some Lightweights Are Likely

(By MOTUROA).

Mr W. P. Russell's published list of the weights for the New Zealand Cup has quickened interest in the Dominion's major handicap race. The racing in the next few weeks at Hastings, Ellerslie, Masterton, Dunedin and Trentham, however, will have an important bearing on the prospects of various candidates. It is possible that the approaching meetings will bring to light unexpected stamina and show up horses whose chances are little fancied at this juncture.

As was anticipated, Mr Russell again set Royal Chief to carry the maximum weight of 9.6, despite the fact that the six-year-old Chief Ruler horse raced below his top form last season. However, he looked unlucky in the last New Zealand Cup when he ran fourth to Yours Truly and then won the Canterbury Cup very easily from Beaupartir and Baran. Royal Chief did not have a good run in the Wellington Centennial Cup, and he failed by the narrowest of margins to reach his half-brother, Beau Repaire in the Wellington Racing Club Handicap. Those were his only races in New Zealand.

Royal Chief's fourth over seven furlongs at Ashburton last month suggests that Fred Jones has Mr A. K. Firth's horse fairly well forward, but there are few suitable races for him in the next few weeks. He will have to carry huge weights in any middle-distance handicaps and the only w.f.a. event before the N.Z. Cup is the Harcourt Stakes at Trentham this month. Mr Russell does not consider the 1940 N.Z. Cup field to be strong in staying talent for Willie Win, second on the list, receives 8lbs from Royal Chief and concedes from 4lbs to 12lbs to Taurangi, The Buzzer, Yogi, Royal Appellant, Peerless, Siegmund, Beau Repaire and Sly Fox, the only other horses in the field with 8.0 or over. Twenty-one are weighted between 7.12 and 7.0, while half the field has been placed on

The Hawke's Bay gelding Yogi, who failed at Avondale after winning the A.R.C. Autumn Handicap, is rated as the best horse from this province, but he has his full share of weight with 8.5. He had 5lbs less when he won at Ellerslie and any win at Trentham this month would surely mean a re-handicap.

GOOD MARE COMES

NIGHT ERUPTION made an exhibition of the sprinters at Foxton on Saturday and she was ridden very confidently over the concluding stages by Billy Broughton. The Nightmarch mare is up to the best sprinting class in the Dominion sprinting class in the Dominion and it will surprise if she does not win some good races in the next month or two. Night Eruption, who was cheaply purchased at the 1937 Sales for 40gns., is bred to run out a middle-distance as her dam is Molten, who was hy Paner Money from Leve

THIRD LAST YEAR

WILLIE WIN'S best form would give the Polazel gelding an undeniable chance in the Cup, although his 8.12 is 4lb. more than he carried last season. However, he wound up last season's racing by winning the C.J.C. Great Autumn Handicap with 8.5. His Melbourne Cup seed of stamped him as a stayer, but the fact that he is now a nine-year-old does not enhance his prospects.

A much better proposition would be the Beau Pere mare Taurangi. Taurangi won the Thompson Handicap in as a three-year-old and last season from behind to win the content of the content of the carried last season's racing by winning the carried last season's racing by winning the C.J.C. Great Autumn Handicap success last month last season's racing by winning the fact that he is now a nine-year-old does not enhance his prospects.

A much better proposition would be the Beau Pere mare Taurangi. Taurangi won the Thompson Handicap with an end-to-end win in the Duntiliant form towards the end of last summer, winding up with an end-to-end win in the Duntiliant form towards the end of last summer, winding up with an end-to-end win in the Duntiliant form towards the end of last summer, winding up with an end-to-end win in the Duntiliant form towards the end of last summer, winding up with an end-to-end win in the Duntiliant form towards the end of last summer, winding up with an end-to-end win in the Duntiliant form towards the practice of running horses into condition.

This practice is against the rules of racing, but it is not easy of developed to the career has throughout her career has throughout her career has been hard to follow, good efforts being sandwiched between very bad races, but this Bulandshar mare is certainly stoutly bred and her Ash-burnet sandwiched between very bad races, but this Bulandshar mare is certainly stoutly bred and her Ash-burnet sandwick Plate—Royal Chief 1, Mosaic 2.

NOT WANTED TO WIN

A. E. WISHART, Secretary, Box 13, Tel. 2447, Hastings.

A much better proposition would be the Beau Pere mare Taurangi. Taurangi won the Thompson Handi-cap as a three-year-old and last spring she came from behind to win the eleven-furlongs Waikato Cup. Her racing so far this season has been done over sprint distances, at which it has been impossible for her to reveal her true form, but no fault can be found with her condimund, with 8.1, has an undeniable chance. He races well at Riccarton, oo, and he won the Great Autumn Handicap there two years ago with

However, the pick of the small bunch about this mark is Royal Chief's half-brother, Beau Repaire, who seems rather lucky to get in with 13lb. below standard w.f.a. Beau Repaire impressed me last January when he battled on to beat Royal Chief over eleven furlongs at Beau Repaire impressed me last January when he battled on to beat Royal Chief over eleven furlongs at Trentham after he had finished strongly to run fourth in the Welday and, while the difference be-tween them in the N.Z. Cup is 19lb., sight must not be lost of the fact that Beau Repaire is now a four-year-old. Beau Repaire ran a wonderful race in the Avondale Cup last month and looked rather unlucky to suffer the narrowest of defeats at the hands of the lightly-weighted Clinch.

The Mitchelson Cup this month may shed further light on his chances at Riccarton, and it will 12; Captain Scott, Royal Palm, 24; Intrigue, 36; Young Pointer, 48.

His form this season, will be a big improvement on his form last season, does not suggest that his stamina has improved and he cannot be seriously regarded. he cannot be seriously regarded.

Thermidor has run fair races at times over middle distances, but a far better prospect would appear to race which should provide a very fair New Zealand Cup trial.

Capricious, who was runner-up in both the New Zealand and Dunedin Cups last season, is a fine stayer but she is still a hack and her 7.9 represents 91b. more than she car ried last November. The Dunedin and Wellington meetings may shed some light on her chances, but she has her full share of weight on this WILL IMPROVE THE TRACKS

VESTERDAY'S rain should prove a great benefit to the Hawke's Bay Jockey Club for the recent dry spell was leaving the tracks rather hard. The easier track conditions will assure bigger fields and there should be fine acceptances when the list closes at 8 o'clock tonight (Tuesday) with the secretary, Mr. A. E. Wishart.

a true stayer and was prevented by a minor injury from starting last month at Avondale when he was the ante-post favourite. A good line on his chances should be gained from the running of the Mitchelson Cup.

Little Robin is a greatly improved galloper, but a better proposition would appear to be the Wanganui winner Arcas. Not only is this gelding bred from a great family, but he looks a better horse all round this season. Settlement, Anita Foe, Serenata, Pearl of Asia, Coronation and Night Hawk are others on the minimum worthy of some consideration, but it is probable that the early favourites will include Royal Chief, Willie Win, The Buzzer, Beau Repaire, Yogi, Te Kawiti and The Cardinal.

N.Z. DOMINANCE

LAST season Dominion-bred horses won 10 of the 12 weight-for-age events decided in Sydney up to the end of the A.J.C. spring carnival. This season that supremacy over Australian rivals seems even greater.

This practice is against the rules of racing, but it is not easy of detection. However, there have been few meetings since the start of the new season at which horses have not raced when palpably not in the condition to do themselves justice. The impression gained is that this practice is growing and it is surprising the number of middle-distance and Cup horses who have been started in spring fields in which they had no show of getting into the had no show of getting into the

Many of these horses, however, have been backed confidentially by inexperienced race-goers on the form they showed last season, but they have been so unfitted to race that the unsuspecting public has been "doing its money cold." As well, it has not escaped notice that some of these unfit horses have been boring in or running out on to horses that appeared likely to have horses that appeared likely to have a great chance of winning.

SWEEPSTAKES ADVISABLE THIS pernicious practice was debated fully by the Racing Con-ference only a few years ago and, for a time, an effort was directed to putting down the growing custom. Vigilance in this direction seems to best this season as a six-year-old. Wagner is bred to stay; some of his best efforts have been really im-

Wagner is bred to stay, some his best efforts have been really impressive. Sword-stick should be held safe by the Taranaki Cup winner Trench Law, though the majority of the stock of Gascony have shown a preference for shorter distances.

The Ring, who won the Hawke's Bay Cup in very solid fashion, is not without chances. She is bred to stay, being by Siegfried from Gay stay, being by Siegfried from Gay are some horses who race well when carrying a lot of condition, but this number is very small indeed.

A far better plan would be to widen the policy of providing sweepstakes in addition to prize-money offered for races.

A sweepstake of the apparent taking advantage of the apparent taking ad

ington Centennial Cup. There were that DICTATE was a good third in the could secure from the totalisator. In N.Z. Cup last year. However, he has been placed in Auckland Cups number of low-grade horses, for and all the most important races in whom the best that can be said is the land and does not seem to be that they provide an ill-informed quite good enough to land a really section of the public something on which to bet.

Second Innings, Lockit, The Wrecker and Mishna (who ran a good race to the distance last year) do not appeal greatly at this stage and they should be held safe by The Cardinal. This Night Raid gelding with better class horses to replace won the Avandale Cur last year like the squips. won the Avondale Cup last year like the squibs.

GISBORNE JUMPER'S SUCCESS .- Small Boy, who is doing his spring racing in the Auckland province, improved on his second in the steeplechase on the first day of the Ohinemuri meeting by winning the Turua Hurdles very easily yesterday. Small Boy also won over hurdles at Avondale recently.

FIRST WIN FOR A LONG TIME

GOOD SUN, whose success in the Paiaka Hurdles at Foxthe Paiaka Hurdles at Foxton on Saturday was made easier by the fact that the ricerless Great Fair interfered with High Peer and War Lap, scored a well overdue win—it was his first win since he took the North Island Hack Plate at Awapuni in March, 1938. However, last Easter Good Sun won the Ruamahanga Highweight at Tauherenikau only to be disqualified for failing to make the weight. The race was awarded weight. The race was awarded to Gay Fox, who, strangely enough, scored his first win since that when he took the since that when he took the Awahou Handicap at Foxton on Saturday.—"Moturoa."

Arvakur is on the upgrade and High Caste's half-brother may be hard to beat at Ellerslie this month.

After a third and two seconds in as many starts this season, Airline added to his winning account at the Kurow meeting on Saturday. The Surveyor horse should win in stronger company.

Rowley Hatch, the former Manawatu trainer who has been domiciled in Australia for the past ten years; has been appointed a stipendiary steward to the Gippsland district. In his early days Hatch was one of the leading riders in New Zealand and he turned out some fine apprentices, including the late Keith Voitre.

LANG BIAN is a particularly handsome horse and closely resembles his famous sire. He was a good winner in the best class races in France.

MASSINE, Lang Blan's sire, was a high-class winner in France, and also beat the Derby winner Papyrus in the Ascot Gold Cup. He has wwice headed the winning sires' list in France and he introduces a fresh strain of St. Simon blood through that great galloper La Camargo.

FOREST TRACK'S pedigree is well known. Not only is she by that great brood mare sire Tracery, but her third dam is that wonderful mare La Fleche, the third dam of Beau Pere and Gay Shield, two of the most successful sires in New Zealand in modern times.
