Hitler Says That War Will Be Fought To A Finish

BRITAIN AGAIN THREATENED

Intensified U-Boat And Air Offensive

INTENDED BROADCAST ABANDONED

World Fails To Hear Speech As R.A.F. Raids Munich

United Press Association—Copyright. Received November 10, 7.10 p.m.

LONDON, Nov. 8.

The R.A.F. to-night prevented Hitler broadcasting after the German wireless had widely advertised the Führer's intention to speak.

Throughout the day the radio had built up interest in the projected broadcast from a Munich beer hall on the anniversary of the 1923 "putsch," but early in the evening they were forced to admit that stations were closing down early and a recorded version would be broadcast to-morrow.

Hitler's broadcast was intended to launch a series of speeches by Nazi leaders throughout Germany. Elaborate arrangements had been made to broadcast the speech throughout the world.

Reports of the speech released in Berlin declared that Germany would fight on until she had concluded the war by victory and denounced the R.A.F.'s "cowardly assaults on civilians."

According to a revised version of the speech from various sources Hitler began after his usual plan, recalling the history of the Nazi movement. He confessed that some of his early friends had abandoned him. Some said: What does this miserable worm want? He has neither money nor army, and not even a single newspaper. Hitler proceeded to attack Jewry and to defend the Nazi attitude towards the Jews, which he described as "a battle against a Satanic Power to control the whole German nation."

He described himself as Germany's hardest man, perhaps for centuries. He threatened Britain with intensified air and submarine warfare and announced that he would finish the war without a compromise.

"The moment will come when the British have to stand up with their weapons," he said.

He declared that he had worked for peace. Germany began to flourish and this had awakened the envy of her old enemies—the Churchills and their gang—and they had immediately started their mischief.

Then there was Eden and, of course, the Jews with Hore-Belisha on top.

A long passage followed, raking up old financial grievances and claiming that despite all obstacles wages had been raised, the currency kept intact and friendship achieved with Italy and Japan, "but," he added, "we have not succeeded with England." The failure is not our fault. A few days before the war I made the biggest possible offer to Britain, but it was in vain."

Chosen by Providence
Hitler said he became aware that England wanted only to gain time and intended to go to war. "In any case," he said, "I knew it would be a very hard battle that was being forced on the German people but I believe in my success and I am sure that Providence has selected me to lead the German people in this struggle."

Hitler declared that the English planned, after the invasion of Norway, to advance into Belgium and Holland and go to the frontier and the Ruhr and become slowly the master of Germany. After that starvation would have come for the German people.

"Our enemies had no idea of the extent of our armaments," he said. "They believed I was bluffing, as they themselves have tried to bluff for years; they were convinced that the war would be relatively easy, but all the expectations of the British warmongers have been blown to pieces."

A passage followed in which Hitler glowingly dwelt on his achievements then he proceeded: "It is now declared in England that the fight to-day in a position to mobilise power and energy of greater than the whole of Europe"

Hitler claimed that the fight so far had not brought any sacrifices to the German people worth mentioning. "Our large reserve of manpower has not yet been touched; the ammunition thus far expended is only part of what we are producing in a single month; our reserve is immense," he declared.

"Australia, with between 6,000,000 and 7,000,000 people, wants to produce eight times as many planes as Germany. Canada's plans, if you believe them, are immense, and America's are astronomical. I can assure you that German production is the highest in the world. We are to-day in a position to mobilise power and energy of greater than the whole of Europe"

"When the hour for the big attack comes I hope to obtain the same results as before. Then we shall see who has made the best use of these months—or they."

"Germany is able to face any combination in the world."

In a passage referring to U-boats, Hitler called Mr Winston Churchill "this General Liar of world history" and said the day would come when there would be no Churchill, but U-boats in numbers without end.

Britain Blamed
He declared his own horror at the thought of ever bombing civilians by night. "Churchill thought of it first," he said. "Bombs were dropped in the Rhineland and Westphalia. I waited for 14 days and thought, 'This man is mad. He introduces warfare in which only England can be destroyed.'"

"They wanted to fight to the end and they shall have it. The British people can thank the General Rascal—Churchill."

Hitler concluded by saying that he himself was only too happy to work as before for the progress of the German people, "but," he added, "these international criminals are in a position to make, or the other has to be broken and it will not be Germany."

Londoner Drops Big Bomb On His Foot
Carried It From Third Floor Of Building To Street

Fined £100
Courage Praised But Police Regulations Broken

United Press Association—Copyright. (Received November 10, 8.10 p.m.) LONDON, Nov. 9.

Leighton Morris was fined £100 for carrying a 110lb. bomb from the third floor of a building contrary to police regulations.

He told the Magistrate that his sole idea was to save life. He intended to take it to the park, where it could be exploded safely.

MUNICH LIT UP BY FLARES

R.A.F. KNEW HITLER WAS THERE

SUCCESSFUL RAID

Objectives In Centre Of The City

British Official Wireless. (Received November 10, 8.15 p.m.) RUGBY, Nov. 9.

Pilots and crews who took part in last night's raids on the Munich railway traffic and marshalling yards all agree that it was one of the most successful operations of recent months.

"Our target," one pilot said, "was almost in the centre of the city. Before we started the intelligence officer who briefed us mentioned that it was the anniversary of the beer hall 'putsch' of 1923 and that Hitler would probably be in Munich."

Enormous Bomb
"I was given among my bombs an enormous bomb, and decided that we would go low to make sure of hitting the target. There was not a cloud in the sky over Munich."

"Other bombers had gone on in front of us to light up the target and we could make out the houses and streets clearly. We were stinging around for about 20 minutes before we bombed, making sure exactly where we were. Flares were lighting up the locomotive sheds—in fact, everything was absolutely clear. After we had come right down the bomber reported that our bombs had gone, and then he shouted: 'I've got it!' I don't see how we could have missed from that height; we were very low."

Fifteen Raiders Shot Down

ATTACK ON SHIPPING

Hurricanes Chase Their Prey

ONLY TWO ESCAPE

United Press Association—Copyright. (Received November 10, 7.10 p.m.) LONDON, Nov. 9.

Hurricane fighters swooped on 25 Junkers attacking shipping. Each Hurricane chose a raider and then, after shooting down one, sought another. In addition to 15 shot down, six more were probably destroyed and two damaged. Only two escaped.

An Air Ministry news bulletin describes how 25 Junkers dive-bombers were seen by a force of Hurricanes fleeing for France only 100 feet above the water, with formations of protecting fighters overhead.

THE RT. HON. NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN

GREAT CAREER CLOSED: MR CHAMBERLAIN DIES

Famous British Statesman Who Fought For Peace

(By Radio)

The Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Lord President of the Council and former Prime Minister of Great Britain, died peacefully at his country home near Birmingham on Saturday night. Mr. Chamberlain recently suffered a relapse following a serious operation.

Mr Chamberlain succeeded Lord Baldwin in May, 1937, as Prime Minister and retained the office until May, 1940, when he surrendered the reins to Mr Winston Churchill. The most spectacular event in his period of office, from the declaration of war, was the series of visits he paid to Germany in 1938 and which led to the Munich agreement. On September 15 he flew to Munich to discuss with Hitler the grave international situation arising from the threat to Czechoslovakia; the following week he visited Hitler at Godesberg, and on September 29 he flew to Munich for the conference with M. Daladier, Hitler and Mussolini, which led to the agreement that postponed war.

He was Prime Minister when war was forced on Britain and his remarkable speeches then and on following dates made it clear that while peace had been his object he was prepared to devote all his energies to prosecuting a war that could not be avoided.

Mr. Chamberlain was in his seventieth year when war broke out and was not in the best of health. When it became clear that a more forceful personality was required to lead the nation he handed over that duty to Mr Winston Churchill and loyally accepted the less onerous tasks of Lord President of the Council.

BURIED FOR SIXTY HOURS

THREE SAFE BENEATH TABLE

CHANCE RESCUE

Amazing Escape At Willsdon

United Press Association—Copyright. (Received November 10, 7.45 p.m.) LONDON, Nov. 9.

A Willsdon mother, Mrs Steptow, and her daughters aged 5 and 17, were brought out alive after being buried for 60 hours under the debris of their home. The husband was killed.

An A.R.P. worker standing on top of a pile of rubble heard a sound, made a hole in the debris, and put his mouth to it. He shouted and heard a child cry, then Mrs Steptow called out: "What day is it?" He replied: "Friday," at which Mrs Steptow exclaimed: "We have been here since Tuesday night. For God's sake get us out!"

Mrs Steptow and her daughters were dragged out five hours later. They were sleeping under the kitchen table when the house was demolished by a bomb, but the table withstood the weight of the debris and saved their lives. The husband was killed as he was only partly sheltered.

The family usually slept in a shelter, for which reason the neighbours did not believe that anyone was under the debris.

DEATH OF U.S. SENATOR

STRONG ROOSEVELT SUPPORTER

KEY PITTMAN

Staunchly Opposed Dictators

(By Radio)

The death has occurred following a heart attack of Senator Key Pittman, chairman of the United States Foreign Relations Committee and a strong supporter of President Roosevelt and his policy.

Next to the President himself and the Secretary of State (Mr Cordell Hull) Senator Pittman was probably the most quoted American on matters of foreign policy. He was a vigorous opponent of dictatorships and urged strong measures in dealing with Japan.

Senator Pittman, who was 68 years of age, represented Nevada. He began life as a lawyer and then took part in the rush to the Klondike, where he worked as a gold miner and later took up the defence of Australians there who attacked official corruption in dealing with the miners' claims.

ROAR OF TRAFFIC DROWNED

IMMENSE LONDON BARRAGE

RAIDERS SCATTERED

United Press Association—Copyright. (Received November 10, 9.10 p.m.) LONDON, Nov. 9.

A heavy barrage drowned the roar of London's home-going traffic when 50 raiders came in over the Thames Estuary on Friday evening attempting to penetrate the London area. After ten minutes' terrific barrage the raiders scattered seawards. Coastal observers reported that two bombers were seen to fall.

The barrage elsewhere was very light because the R.A.F. night fighters went up to tackle the raiders. Bombs demolished houses and also fell in a square in the London area. Twenty enemy planes were brought down on Friday by the R.A.F. when squadrons of Junkers dive-bombers escorted by large numbers of fighters, attempted to attack shipping in the Channel. The enemy planes were immediately attacked by British fighters, and one squadron alone brought down 15 machines.

The R.A.F. lost six fighters, but the pilots of two are definitely known to be safe.

The enemy bombers also attempted to draw the British fighters over the Channel, where large squadrons of Messerschmitts were waiting for them, but the British fighters would not be drawn.

Twenty-five Junkers ST's took part in one attack, and 15 of them were shot down in five minutes by one squadron of Hurricanes alone and without loss.

The figure of 20 enemy planes brought down still stands, but six more were probably destroyed.

Masses of Messerschmitts
The German bombers came over with masses of Messerschmitts above them, but the Hurricane squadron had tackled the bombers before the German fighters realised they were there. The Hurricanes had returned to their base half an hour after taking off.

The Luftwaffe opened its daylight attacks on Britain on Friday with two waves of fighter-bombers, which crossed the coast at Dungeness and headed for London. Dog-fights were seen at a tremendous height over the capital during the first and second alerts. Crowds of Londoners stood in the streets watching the air battle.

A corporal with a Bren gun shot down a Dornier bomber at Abberston to-day. The crew of six were captured.

Some London men and girls were machine-gunned while going to work. A bomb which fell in a park killed a soldier and a girl.

The Germans are believed to be restricting the use of fighter-bombers to daylight attacks and to be employing Junkers bombers, heavily loaded, at night. Many of the Junkers carry bombs of a very heavy calibre.

Two Ships Sunk Off Coast Of Australia

ENEMY MINES BLAMED

American Captain Believes His Ship Was Torpedoed

(United Press Association—Copyright.) (Received November 9, 2.45 p.m.) SYDNEY, Nov. 10.

The Minister of the Navy, (the Hon. W. M. Hughes) announced to-day that a British overseas ship and an American ship had been sunk off the Australian coast as the result of explosions due to the presence of enemy mines.

The whole of the British crew of 56, except one, reached safety in the ship's lifeboats. The vessel carried no passengers.

Mr Hughes announced that several mines had been located and destroyed in the area off the Australian coast where the two ships had been sunk.

"There is now no reason to doubt," he said, "that the sinkings were caused by mines. Any suggestion that the ships were sunk by internal explosions is entirely removed."

Mr Hughes added that all possible steps were being taken to safeguard shipping.

Following closely upon the disaster to the British ship, the American motor-ship City of Rayville blew up and sank on Saturday night off Cape Otway. This is the first United States vessel lost as a result of the war.

Naval and fishing craft assisted in the rescue of the crew of 38, but one man is missing. The crew were landed at Apollo Bay early to-day.

Stench of Gas
The crew of the City of Rayville insist that their ship was torpedoed. Soon after the explosion the decks were awash and the ship was filled with the stench of some kind of gas that made breathing difficult.

Captain A. P. Cronin, who had been 20 years on this vessel and is well known on the Australian coast, said that the ship was struck at about 7.40 p.m. on Friday, just as darkness set in. The men behaved magnificently. Some who were in pyjamas suffered severely from cold and rain in the ship's boats while awaiting the rescue launches.

A Washington message says that the United States State Department refuses to comment on the sinking of the City of Rayville but indicates that there is no cause for the extension of the combat zone to Australian waters unless the naval warfare there increases.

Navy Bags Two 'Planes

GOOD GUNFIRE

H.M.S. Winchester Damaged

ONE VESSEL SUNK

British Official Wireless. (Received Nov. 10, 9.45 p.m.) RUGBY, Nov. 8.

In addition to enemy aircraft destroyed on Friday by the Royal Air Force two were shot down by the Navy. This is stated in the following Admiralty communique: "During the course of attacks on shipping in the Thames Estuary yesterday by a large force of enemy aircraft two Junkers 87 dive-bombers were destroyed by the guns of H.M.S. Winchester and three others were hit. These enemy losses were in addition to those inflicted by fighters of the R.A.F. which were announced by the Air Ministry, totalling 15.

"H.M.S. Winchester sustained slight damage from near misses. There were no casualties.

One Ship Sunk
"One merchant ship of 1900 tons sailing in ballast was sunk and one of 1200 tons damaged. This vessel has arrived safely in port and no further damage was done to our shipping."

"On the previous day H.M.S. Egret destroyed one Junkers 87 dive-bomber and hit another in the course of this attack. A few casualties were sustained in the Egret from bomb splinters."

CHILDREN EVACUATED FROM BERLIN

United Press Association—Copyright. (Received November 10, 7.10 p.m.) BERLIN, Nov. 9.

It is officially stated that children evacuated from towns and cities thus far total 700,000, and the number is expected to reach 1,000,000. The largest evacuations are from Berlin and Hamburg.

POWERFUL DRUGS STOLEN

THEFT FROM NAPIER DOCTOR

PUBLIC WARNED

Case Taken Out Of Parked Car

Powerful drugs and precision medical instruments were stolen from Dr Thomas Gilray's car which was parked at the rear of the "Daily Mail's" Napier office on Saturday night. It is feared that the thieves may abandon the bag when they discover the contents.

The stolen equipment and supplies would be extremely dangerous if they fell into the hands of unscrupulous or ignorant people and children and for this reason the public are requested to communicate with the nearest police station, medical practitioner or dental surgeon, should the missing bag or its contents be found. In the event of the property being recovered, the finder, in his own interests, is warned against examining his discovery.

Warning to Parents
Parents, particularly are warned of the potential danger of these powerful drugs, should the contents of the bag be found by children playing in vacant streets.

Information that may lead to the discovery of the stolen property should be reported to the police without delay.

It is understood that Dr Gilray was attending a picture theatre when the theft occurred. Apparently in an attempt to steal his car, the thieves wrenched the dashboard panels in an endeavour to find the ignition key, and being unsuccessful stole the bag in the hope that it would contain readily negotiable goods.

Apart from considerations of public safety, the theft was particularly mean. The equipment which the doctor has lost must necessarily be carried in his car and it is fortunate that he was not called to an accident before he discovered the theft.

In spite of exhaustive inquiries carried out by the police the missing bag and its drugs had not been found late last night.

THE 1939 Wool Season
EFFECT OF DRYNESS
Clip Below Usual Standard
DALGETY'S REVIEW
Owing to the dry weather conditions prevailing throughout Hawke's Bay and Poverty Bay during 1939, the wool clip was below the usual standard, says the annual wool review issued by Dalgety and Co. Ltd. Although there were a number of clips of good to super style, the bulk of the offerings were poorly grown and rather dull in appearance. The effect of the unsatisfactory climatic conditions was particularly noticeable in the early shorn hogget wools, which in comparison with the previous season lacked attractiveness, and contained a big percentage of thin grown under wool. The bulk of the hogget wool was from one to two qualities finer than usual, and the average weight of wool per sheep was from one to two pounds below normal.

DEVELOPMENT OF THE WOOD PULP INDUSTRY
The pulp industry in New Zealand has developed rapidly since the war, and is now one of the leading industries of the country. The production of pulp from native timber is a process which has attracted much attention, and has led to the establishment of many new mills. The pulp industry is a vital part of the New Zealand economy, and its development is essential for the country's future.

DEVELOPMENT OF THE WOOD PULP INDUSTRY
The pulp industry in New Zealand has developed rapidly since the war, and is now one of the leading industries of the country. The production of pulp from native timber is a process which has attracted much attention, and has led to the establishment of many new mills. The pulp industry is a vital part of the New Zealand economy, and its development is essential for the country's future.

A TENTH BIRTHDAY PARTY

Eskdale Women's Institute

THE COMPETITIONS ENJOYED

Happy Afternoon Spent

The monthly meeting of the Eskdale Women's Institute was held at "Hedgeley" Eskdale, this being the 10th birthday party.

The motto read was "No one is useless in this world who lightens the burden of it for someone else."

The competition for best bloom resulted in Miss D. Kirkham (schizanthus) 1, Mrs F. Clark (rose) 2, Mrs W. Kirkham (rose) 3; pair hand knitted mittens, Mrs W. Kirkham 1, Miss D. Kirkham 2, Mrs Rodgers 3.

A beautiful hand knitted bed cape donated by Mrs J. Taylor, jun., (Napier) for competition was won by Mrs A. Brown.

Sea boots and sex were received with thanks from Mrs Amys, and another parcel of clothing sent to the Lady Galway Patriotic Guild. A box of wool was distributed for more mittens.

A very successful sales table for Women's Institute funds was held. It was unanimously decided to have a house to house collection for the £1,000,000 appeal fund.

Birthday gifts of money boxes were presented to three Women's Institute babies, Jean Robertson, Billy Rench and Arthur Blair.

A vase donated by Miss Kirkham for annual bloom points was won by Mrs F. Clark. A vase for the new year was donated by Mrs W. Kirkham.

A memory test in the flower garden was won by Mrs Rodgers, Mrs Rosely, and Miss D. Kirkham (equal).

After tea members all assembled in the sitting room for a most enjoyable moving picture show ably given by Mrs Beattie and Miss Clark.

At the president's request a silent prayer for peace, protection of fighting forces, relatives and friends in the home, remembering the Women's Institute members everywhere followed by the singing of the National Anthem closed a happy meeting.

RECTOR, DIRECTOR AND MISDIRECTOR

The Reverend Richard Harvey was Rector of Hornsey, Middlesex, from 1829 to 1880. During the later years of this long tenure his wife and daughter helped him in his labours. It was supposed that Mrs Harvey in the main guided her husband in his actions, and that Miss Harvey had much influence over her mother. So it came to pass, it was said, that the Parish was governed by these three, the Rector, the Director, and the Misdirector.

WARM SUITS AND TAILLEURS AT SATURDAY'S RACES

First Day Of Spring Meeting At Napier Park

Bright sunshine favoured the opening of the Napier Park Racing Club's Spring meeting on Saturday, but early in the day there was a decidedly old wind blowing and for this reason suits, tailleurs, warm coats and felt hats predominated, but a springlike note was provided by the occasional splashes of colour of those who had ventured out in their new outfits.

Black was as popular as ever, blues and browns being favoured for suits, and some bright colours and gay florals could be glimpsed beneath coats. Some lovely furs were worn, silver and golden fox appearing to be the first favourites.

Among those noticed on the lawn were: Mrs H. E. Troutbeck, smartly tailored suit of Harris tweed, burgundy velvet hat and golden fox furs.

Mrs Hector Smith, air-force blue tailleur, cream lace blouse, navy blue toque, fox furs.

Mrs Hylton Smith, mist blue tailleur, with cream pin stripe, blue woolly jumper, brown felt hat.

Mrs H. L. Bradley, navy blue astrachan coat with grey lapels, over navy blue frock, navy felt hat.

Mrs T. Kingston, teal blue boucle suit, blue hat and musquash coat.

Mrs V. Banks, suit of lupin blue wool georgette worn under musquash coat, small blue hat.

Mrs A. M. Williams, black wool georgette frock, fawn fur coat, small black felt hat with veil, silver fox fur.

Mrs W. D. Fitzgerald, smartly tailored black coat with Persian lamb collar, small black hat banded with Persian lamb.

Mrs G. Thorne-George, tailleur of green mixed tweed, green felt hat.

Mrs L. Ford, tailored suit of green mixed Harris tweed, green felt hat.

Miss R. Hutchinson, navy blue crepe frock under musquash coat, navy blue straw hat with petunia bow in front.

Very Fine Entertainment At Havelock North A Splendid Display Of Dancing By Hastings Pupils For Red Cross

Excellent Entertainment By Members Of Staff Of Woodford House

A most delightful entertainment, arranged by the Entertainment Committee of the Havelock North sub-centre of the Red Cross Society, of which Mrs E. A. Nimmo is the convenor, was presented in the Village Hall on Saturday evening, in aid of the Normal Activities Fund of the sub-centre.

The first half of the programme consisted of a series of dances given by the pupils of the Misses Jean Ballantyne, Constance Macdonald and Margaret Stock. From the rise of the curtain on the charming "Funny little bunnies making Easter-eggs all day," to the beautiful ballet entitled "A Tale from the Woods," the attention of the audience was held by exquisite costuming, artistry in production and evidence of a thorough training in the technique of the Terpsichorean art.

The second half of the programme was devoted to a dramatic recital of a standard rarely presented in New Zealand. The contributing artists were the Misses Day, Robins and Turner-Williams, members of Woodford House staff.

Selections were given by the Misses Day and Robins from "The Romantic Age (A. A. Milne); Will Shakespeare (Clemence Dane); Pygmalion (Bernard Shaw); Granite (Clemence Dane); Miss Turner-Williams read explanatory introductions.

A duo in verse-speaking, "A Song of Patent Medicine" evoked much mirth. Here the Misses Day and Robins brilliantly portrayed the Covent Garden cockney, the natives of Glasgow, New York, Gay Paree and the North Country.

A never-to-be-forgotten dramatic performance in which timing, rhythm, inflexion, emphasis and characterisation were at all times perfect, was brought to a close by a one-act play, "The cloak," by Clifford Box. In the imaginative play, the Angel (Miss Turner-Williams) and the spirit (Miss Day) (Miss Robins) are waiting to guide the footsteps of a woman who has died (Miss Day). The ethereal atmosphere of this play, dealing with the spirit world, after death, could only be interpreted by artists of outstanding ability and one felt that a larger and more adult audience might have taken the opportunity of seeing this controlled and masterly production.

At the conclusion of the evening, Mr J. B. Campbell, on behalf of the Red Cross sub-centre, thanked the three teachers of dancing, the Misses Ballantyne, Macdonald, and Stock and the three members of Woodford House staff, the Misses Day, Robins and Turner-Williams for the delightful entertainment and for the help given to the local Red Cross.

Cheery Dance On Saturday HELD IN NAPIER

The second of a series of dances organised by a number of Napier people was held in the Oddfellows Hall on Saturday evening. That these dances are going to prove popular is quite evident and those who attended on Saturday evening spent a most enjoyable time.

Excellent music for dancing was played by Duncan Stevenson's Orchestra.

The hostesses for the evening were Mesdames Nelson H. Law, K. Bryant, O. C. Dunnett, and C. Adams.

A delicious buffet supper was served, the wagons being decorated with sprays of wild antirrhinum.

Among those present were Mr and Mrs N. H. Law, Mr and Mrs K. Bryant, Mr and Mrs Mitford-Taylor, Mr and Mrs A. N. H. Stewart, Mr and Mrs E. Hyde, Mr and Mrs McGuinnis, Mr and Mrs K. G. Johnston, Mr and Mrs A. Nelson, Mr and Mrs N. Rolls, Mr and Mrs A. B. Hurst, Mr and Mrs H. Ballantyne, Mrs J. D. McKinley, Mr and Mrs D. Wright, Mr and Mrs D. P. Ronberg, Mr and Mrs P. Mayo, Mr and Mrs F. Parsons, Mr and Mrs C. B. Goddard, Mr and Mrs D. J. Simmonds, Mesdames O. C. Dunnett, C. Adams, D. O'Neill.

Misses M. Tuttle, M. Bryant, Mitford-Taylor (2), D. Reeves, M. McLeay, M. Hutton.

Messrs R. Pebble, J. Ennor, J. Lindsay, and N. Fearn, Mitford-Taylor, G. D. Reeves, M. Murton, R. Surgeon, Dr T. Higgins.

A MAN WHO CAN SEE IN THE DARK

There is at least one person in England who is not incommoded in the slightest degree by the black-out. Mr Harry Brown, a 32-year-old Walthamstow man, can not only see quite easily in the dark, but can see as well with his eyes shut as he can when they are open.

To be certain that there was no trickery, experts and medical men covered his eyes with thick lumps of clay, over which they placed layers of tight bandages. Brown then played golf a game of billiards, a game of table tennis, and, to finish off, rode his motor-cycle quite normally.

He can read letters while blindfolded, but one of the things he cannot do is read handwriting through a door. He can, however, see objects through a brick wall.

BOROUGH COUNCIL STAFF PARTY

Mr E. Barnes Honoured At Waipukurau

Mr and Mrs H. B. Smart entertained members of the Waipukurau Borough Council staff at their home, when the guest of honour was Mr E. Barnes, whose wedding took place during the week. The Mayor (Mr R. W. Carpenter) and the Deputy-Mayor (Mr J. McCarthy) were also present.

Following an enjoyable evening spent at cards, and prior to supper, Mr Carpenter, on behalf of the staff, handed Mr Barnes an electric toaster, at the same time expressing felicitations appropriate to the occasion.

Those present also took the opportunity to extend to Mr Barnes all good wishes for the future happiness and prosperity of himself and his wife.

VALUABLE SUGAR IN DAHLIAS

The roots, or "tubers" of dahlias contain a starch called inulin. If the tubers are heated and squeezed by a giant hydraulic press, the inulin can be recovered and converted into a syrup which yields fructose, the sugar in fruits. Since this sugar is the most easily oxidised of all sugars and twice as sweet as cane or beet sugar, it might be assimilated in small quantities by diabetics, might flavour the food of fat persons who wish to reduce. Properly cultivated, dahlias yield as much sugar, acre for acre, as do sugar beets.—Mrs Wray M. Riegar and Le Roy Samuel Weatherby, University of Southern California.

SERENATA BRILLIANT IN N.Z. CUP

Sweeps Up On Taurangi And Capricious On The Post

"Daily Mail" Special Service CHRISTCHURCH, Nov. 9.

For the second year in succession the New Zealand Cup went to a Hastings owner, though both winners were prepared by Trentham trainers. Serenata won brilliantly and she lowered the New Zealand record for two miles by 1 2-5sec. It was a remarkable effort for a hack, and a great advertisement for her sire, the Night Raid horse, Nightmarch, who followed up the Melbourne Cup by also taking the New Zealand Cup with the record weight of 9.6 ten years ago.

Serenata was ridden a perfect race by the Awapuni apprentice, S. A. Waddell. She was in about ninth place for a mile and a half, but never out of range of the leaders, and, securing a nice clear run in the last half furlong she dashed through to snatch victory just on the post just as Taurangi had wrested the lead off Capricious. It was a great victory in a wonderful finish.

Royal Chief and The Buzzard were elected staunch favourites and, whereas the topweight, feeling the hard tracks, toiled along in the rear throughout, The Buzzard was in the firing line until the false rail. The break in his preparation over the last few days then took its toll and he died away more than a furlong from home.

The Hastings apprentice Jack Mudford was a little unlucky in missing his second N.Z. Cup triumph. He made a great race on the doubted stayer Taurangi, saving every inch of ground. Three furlongs from home he drove forward and he moved into fourth place behind Capricious, Wardress and Sly Fox as they swung into the straight. Reserving his mount for the last effort, he pounced on Capricious 100 yards off the post, but Serenata had followed the Fordell mare through and had the drop on her at the death.

Little Robin staged a wonderful finishing run from the false rail and flashed up for third place, but there was a minor sensation when his rider failed to make the correct weight and third money was awarded to Capricious. The latter, however, would have been very unlucky had some of the prize-money not come her way. Her run was made possibly a trifle too soon and she had to hold off half a dozen challenges in the straight.

Wardress lasted as long as the false rail and then retired, while Sly Fox threw in the towel after being pacemaker for over a mile and a quarter. Second Innings and Sword-stick were also with him for that distance, while Te Kawit faded out of the picture after little more than a mile.

The Ring never threatened danger and, while he made up quite a lot of ground in the run home, Royal Chief never once flattered his army of backers.

All the honours of the race were with Serenata.

Enrich Too Good Backers were again astray in the Stewards' Handicap and the hot favourite, Sir Beau, was well beaten by another three-year-old in Enrich, who came through fast on the fence in the last furlong to win going away. Enrich had followed Sir Beau home in their other two meetings and he fulfilled his two-year-old promise by turning the tables like a good class sprinter.

Sir Beau ran a fine race, but he had every chance. He was handy to the pacemakers, Density and Don't Forget, to the false rail, but he could not summon up the necessary brilliance from that point of vantage.

At a false price after his fine gallop, the little-fancied Spanish Lad swept up in the last few strides to take third money off Not Out, who had challenged the leaders in the last furlong and looked likely to be in the money.

Density, Don't Forget and Doria all failed to last the distance, while Endorsement was slow to find her feet.

Regained Her Form Pay Roll, who is reported to have been suffering from seasonal troubles at Trentham, ran true to her Auckland form to score pointedly in the Wellesley Stakes. She was never far from the front and, running on strongly, she held the South Island fillies Salutation and Silver Lily at bay to win by several lengths. Pay Roll is by the Surveyor horse Crommer and is a solid type.

A good impression was created by Salutation. She had to tread her way through the tiring leaders at the false rail and she was galloping over everything, but she could not shut out Silver Lily, the judge declaring for a dead-heat for second.

Foreign Coin also received a bad run and he did well to secure fourth place, but Par Avion was disappointing. He was always prominent, but compounded badly, as did Monetary and Desert Maid.

The Minor Events Dividend was ridden a quiet race in the Spring Hurdles, but came through at the straight entrance and wore down Jewish Lad from the last hurdle. Master Dingle made up a lot of ground for third, but Recoilment was never going right.

Backed down to a short price for the Spring Plate, Enrich was handy to bring her backers home, but she had to withstand a sharp challenge from Gayest Son from the false rail. The latter was a good second and is still improving. Schoolgirl was right up in third place, with Royal Lancer and Gay Fox next to finish.

Blandisher, who missed the jump-out, looked like winning the Linwood Handicap a furlong from home, but the long-priced Pleading came from nearly last and beat him on the post. Augment came home well for third, being clear of All Night, Blue Coat and Nightglass.

Cymric led to the straight in the Apprentices' Plate, but Rue then took over, only to be beaten in the last furlong by the consistent Ferriby. Sir Amyas threatened danger at the false rail, but could make no impression on the first two. Orange and Stylis showed up early, but faded out.

PROSPECTS FOR TO-DAY (By "Moturoa")

The N.Z. Derby will be the main attraction at Riccarton today and there is promise of a great contest. W. H. Dwyer's stable holds a strong hand with Sir Beau and Capricious engaged and the stable's elect is sure to be in solid demand. Beau Leon has good winning form up to ten furlongs and must be given a great chance to improve on his recent minor placings. However, the Hastings colt, Lambourn, who finished ahead of Beau Leon on Saturday, appears to be on the upgrade and it would occasion little surprise to find him staying on better than the more favoured colts.

Middleton Handicap: Old Surrey, Dranel, Sir Frederick.

Irwell Handicap: Monetary, Desert Maid, Corn Prince.

Strovan Plate: Sweet Mystery, Myraid, Big Game.

N.Z. Derby Stakes: Lambourn, Beau Leon.

Criterion Handicap: Enrich, Spanish Lad, Poutatau.

Fendalton Handicap: Globe Trotter, Wardress, Kilometre.

Randolph Handicap: Symbol, Augment, Leighnor.

Epsom Handicap: Nigger Boy, Harina, Trench Fight.

ACROBATIC DISPLAY AT BAY VIEW

A bright display of acrobatic tumbling and spectacular balancing was given by the "Floritas," under the leadership of Miss Mavis Simmonds, Napier, at a social gathering in St. George's Hall, Bay View, on Saturday evening.

The entertainment was held in connection with the annual flower show. The hall was crowded and Miss Simmonds is to be congratulated on the excellence of her work, some of the acts being equal to anything of its kind seen in the district.

After the display supper was provided and the rest of the evening was spent in dancing.

Miss Simmonds and her troupe of four artists will appear in Napier early in December in connection with a patriotic entertainment.

BERGERS IN ACTION

Atlantic Armada

Most humans, being easy going, more neighbourly, fair-minded and decent than otherwise, take a certain amount of bullying rather than argue. But there is a point beyond which, if you press them, the result is as disastrous as poking a hornet's nest. When the Dictators threatened their so-called "decadent" America with unmentionable penalties if she supplied us with munitions, America fittingly replied by making available 50 destroyers replete not only with munitions and food but with thoughtful details ranging from binoculars to linen.

It is a matter of some pride to us that our products are so largely used by the Navy, and will, in due course, contribute their quota to protect these fine ships.

Throughout the Empire Berger factories are concentrating on production for the fighting services. But despite this, Bergers are still able to supply the paints, enamels and varnishes that have made their name famous. There has been no alteration to the rigid formula for B.P. paint—it still has the highest content of finest white lead and zinc oxide for which there is no satisfactory substitute in paint manufacture. Specify Berger B.P. the finest paint in the world.

The weather was dull and threatening for the V.R.C. races at Flemington yesterday, but there was a good attendance.

The Sydneysider Rimvell, in his first Victorian start, easily won the Batman Stakes. Stylish was a good second and Warbird finished well for third.

High Road, trained by the former New Zealander Lou Robertson, had a surprise win in the Flemington Stakes. He led over the last half mile. Spearman and Ratifier finished well. The strong fancy, Pyramus, had every show.

The N.Z.-bred horse High Caste, though last for the major part of the trip finished all over his rivals in the C. B. Fisher Plate and won brilliantly. He also scored in this race last year. The pace was slow early in the race, the first six furlongs taking 1.18, while the last four were run in 48.7.

High Caste has now won approximately £23,000 in stakes and is rapidly runner in the Williamsstown Cup. Beau Vite had every show, but Beaulivre may have beaten him in another few strides.

A muddling pace split the V.R.C. Handicap and the noted slow beginner Apustrophe acted as pacemaker. Dashing Cavalier finished well, but the Slegfrith horse Wilson hung badly in the final stages.

Won Last Year Collier finished quickly and had a narrow win in the MacLeod steeplechase. He won this race last year. Sir Balios was a good second and Tornarsuk a moderate third. Dark David spilt an excellent chance by a bad jump at the five furlongs.

Pooka, on the outside rail, led throughout for a surprise win in the Ottawa Stakes. Piccadilly Lass and Pireni, the minor place-getters, were promising. The strong fancy Silver Light was a disappointing fourth. The West Australian-owned Remarc finished brilliantly in the Final Handicap. St. Constant also put in a strong finish for second. The pacemaker, Decoration, was a good third. Gladynov had every show and finished fourth. The results are:

Batman Stakes Of £700, One mile

EIRE AND THE EMPIRE.

It is becoming difficult for people in Great Britain, Northern Ireland, and the British Dominions to retain any patience over the attitude of Eire in the present world conflict.

The statement by Mr De Valera in the Dail refusing the use of naval and air bases to Britain, and his threat that "pressure would bring bloodshed" have a tone of childish spitefulness which is incomprehensible at a time when Great Britain is fighting the battles of Eire as surely as she is fighting her own.

The reply of the Prime Minister of Northern Ireland (Viscount Craigavon) although it is inevitably tinged with the age-old bitterness existing between Ulster and the south, sums the matter up fairly in the words, "Eire clings to neutrality in the midst of a war in which the Empire is fighting for its existence, and simultaneously is creating difficulties for the Power to which she owes her immunity from attack by Germany."

The point to be emphasised is that no one wants to compel Eire to fight against her will. Although the war has meant that she has become utterly dependent on Great Britain for her economic and political existence, she is at complete liberty to erect a smokescreen of neutrality between herself and the realities of the international conflict.

Since the treaty of 1920 ended the Irish Civil War, Great Britain has made no attempt to coerce Ireland in any way. One by one the technical links binding Eire to the Empire have been severed, but beyond spasmodic comment at Westminster there has been no opposition on the part of Great Britain to Eire's achieving the status of an independent sovereign State.

But now the time has come when Eire may be compelled, not by Britain but by circumstances, to realise that there is no such thing as neutrality in a world war.

Holland and Belgium believed that they were observing a neutrality as strict in every way as that which Eire professes to maintain; so did Norway and Denmark and Greece—but each in turn has paid the penalty for seeking to maintain peace in the face of gangster nations which regard both elementary justice and common international decency with a profound and cynical disdain.

The five small neutral States were attacked in turn because the Axis Powers believed that their ports and air bases would provide jumping-off grounds for the attack on Great Britain and the Empire. Eire would have gone the same way long since had she not been protected by the strength of the British Navy and the Royal Air Force.

And yet in spite of all the lessons she might have learned, Eire persists in keeping to her obstinate course. If Mr De Valera honestly believes that the leasing of bases to Great Britain would infringe the independent neutrality of Eire, he will have hard work to explain away the commonsense working agreement which has been reached between the United States and the British Empire.

Americans are quite as much determined to avoid war as the people of Eire, but at least they see the urgent necessity for aiding in every way possible the one Power which is fighting to maintain freedom in the world.

Lastly, there is the position of the Irishmen and Irishwomen in Britain and the Dominions who are playing a loyal part in the struggle. There are thousands of Irishmen in the British forces, some of whom have crossed from Eire to England to offer their services. The attitude of such people as these emphasises the anomalies of the policy of the Eireann Government. It is not only a question of expediency and the maintenance of a mistaken situation on the part of a Government which does not choose to look beyond its prerogatives; to a certain extent it is the betrayal of a principle which that Government professes to uphold.

ARMISTICE DAY.

Twenty-two years ago, at 11 a.m. on November 11, 1918, the world believed that the war to end war had been won. Today the world has realised that the colossal struggle of 1914-1918 settled nothing, ended nothing, and achieved nothing—that it was, in fact, only the first phase of the most critical struggle in the history of mankind.

This morning the British Empire again pauses for a brief act of remembrance and expression of gratitude towards its 1,000,000 dead. Armistice Day has lost none of its significance. There will be no gathering of tens of thousands round the Cenotaph in Whitehall, but throughout the Empire the day will be marked by the two-minute silence. It is a small thing, but it is a fitting form of homage to those who led the way in the crusade which must now be carried on to a victorious conclusion.

Personal

Sergeant D. I. Gate, president of the Waikato Returned Soldiers' Association, and a member of the Army instructional staff, has been appointed a member of the Hamilton Borough Council.

Major H. C. Glendining, D.S.O., N.Z.S.C., Auckland area officer, has temporarily taken over the post of commandant of Papakura military camp. During his absence, Major G. R. Blagden, M.C., N.Z.T.S., assistant area officer, is acting for him.

Mr E. J. Kirk, who has been on the Wanganui "Chronicle" literary staff for 15 years, 12 as sub-editor, has resigned to extend his literary interests. On Friday night he was met by members of all departments and presented with a fire-side chair. In making the presentation for the staff, the editor (Mr H. C. Jenkins) said it was with regret that they parted with Mr Kirk, who was severing a long association with the "Chronicle."

Mr Peter Glasson, accountant at the Bank of Australasia, Dunedin, has been appointed manager at the bank's office at Gore. Mr Glasson will leave Dunedin to-morrow.

The Rev. Brian Kilroy, of St. Andrew's Church, Wellington, has returned after two months in Sydney, where he supplied the pulpit of Scots Church.

Mr D. T. Gardner, of the teaching staff of the primary department of the Waipukurua School, will leave at the end of this week on transfer to the Boulcott Street School, Wellington.

The editor-in-chief of the "Standard", Wellington (Mr W. J. Green) was a visitor to Hawke's Bay during the week-end.

The secretary of the national executive of the New Zealand Labour Party (Mr M. Moohan) was a visitor to Napier during the week-end.

Record Cargo of Sulphur

A record cargo of 11,900 tons of sulphur was carried by the United States steamer Warrior, which arrived at Auckland recently from Galveston, Texas. The departure of the vessel on September 26 was made an occasion for celebration.

Noumea, the Waterman Steam Ship Company, being present when the ship left with the largest shipment despatched from Galveston. The Warrior, a vessel of 7531 tons, is the first of the Waterman Line to visit New Zealand; the company's peace time routes are to Europe, Great Britain, and the Far East.

Clipper's Fast Flight

Exceptionally fast time on the last stage of her flight from San Francisco to Auckland was made yesterday by Pan-American Airways' American Clipper, which flew the 1122 miles from Noumea in 6hr. 17min. The clipper is commanded by Captain R. H. McElroy. She left Noumea at 7.55 this morning and alighted at Waitemata Harbour at 2.16 in the afternoon (both New Zealand times). A strong following wind helped the Clipper on her way and gave her an unusually high ground speed of more than 170 miles an hour. There were eight passengers as well as mails and freight.—Press Association.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Twice Lucky

At the Napier Park Racing Club's spring meeting on Saturday one patron at least wound up the day happily. After "celebrating" he became possessed of two 10/- tickets on the outsider, Shani, in the concluding event, but his good fortune did not end there. He failed to see his fancy laid home a winner and was on the point of tearing up his tickets, but he was checked in time. As the result he went home considerably richer.

Serum by Air

Urgently needed in Auckland for a medical case, a serum used in the treatment of asthmatic hay fever was brought by air over the 1,000-mile journey from Philadelphia in eight days. Use of this special serum which could not be obtained from the Auckland hospital, was decided on when a four-year-old child was threatened with the recurrence of "croupiform asthma" which nearly caused its death last year.

Supreme Court Adjourns

An unusual situation arose in the Napier Supreme Court on Friday. When the Chief Justice (Sir Michael Myers) rose to adjourn the Court was rising when he suddenly remembered that it would resume early in December, and that although the available business of the session had been completed the session was not terminated. Sir Michael came to his aid effectively and with the cry of "Silence!" the Court was able to adjourn.

Canine Intelligence?

A large brown retriever dog which left the side of its master and gravely seated itself on the stage beside the speaker caused amusement at a meeting at Clive on Saturday night when an address was given by the National Party candidate, Mr C. G. Harker. Curiously enough, the dog's owner was prominent among the interjectors, and this led to many cross-talks. The dog remained beside Mr Harker throughout his address and rejoined his master as he left the hall.

Rhubarb—"Secret Weapon"

The latest war weapon is rhubarb. Experiments initiated by Mr Selwyn Wade, a Yorkshire farmer, have led scientists to believe that rhubarb will produce a substance of great value to munitions making. The experiments have been carried out at a northern university which is on war research work. A professor there said recently: "The nature of the experiments must remain secret. It would be useful to the enemy to know what we are aiming at. I think I can say that we hope to get valuable results."

Locomotive Derailed

A huge boulder which crashed from a cliff face on the Main Trunk line some chains south of the Hihitahi railway station caused the derailment of a K locomotive and eight trucks of a goods train. The locomotive, after striking the boulder, rolled over on its side, the driver and fireman escaping injury. There is a road 50 feet below the line at the scene of the blockage, and it is feared that if the engine goes over it will block road traffic.

Petition Dismissed

After hearing long evidence and the cross-examination of both parties, a petition in divorce sought by William James McAusland Crerar (Mr E. J. W. Hallett) from Julia Josephine Crerar (Mr H. R. Banister), was dismissed by the Chief Justice (Sir Michael Myers) in the Napier Supreme Court. Although a number of allegations was made by each of the parties his Honour held that there had been no agreement as was alleged by Crerar in his petition.

Loomotive Derailed

A huge boulder which crashed from a cliff face on the Main Trunk line some chains south of the Hihitahi railway station caused the derailment of a K locomotive and eight trucks of a goods train. The locomotive, after striking the boulder, rolled over on its side, the driver and fireman escaping injury. HOTEL AND SHOPS DESTROYED FIREMAN INJURED Early Morning Blaze In Main Street

(United Press Association—Copyright.) (Received November 10, 11.55 p.m.) VICHY, Nov. 9. The French Government admits that supporters of General de Gaulle landed near Libreville, Gabon Colony and that there has been heavy fighting in Equatorial Africa, where "the situation is now difficult."

Greeks Withdraw On Coast ADVANCE IN NORTH Heavy Italian Pressure On Kalamas River KORITZA STILL STANDS

United Press Association—Copyright. (Received Nov. 9, 12.45 p.m.) LONDON, Nov. 8. A Greek communique states that, after heavy Italian pressure, Greek troops have withdrawn about 100 miles in the west (on the coastal flank), but an advance in the northern sector to Lake Prespa has been confirmed.

BALKAN STRATEGY AND INVASION OF GREECE Peninsula Has Become Theatre Of War In Axis Plans For Middle East

The Italian invasion of Greece (writes the military correspondent of the Sydney Morning Herald) poses at a stroke the whole question of Balkan strategy. It was the logical, indeed the inevitable, military corollary of the German occupation of Rumania, for it integrates Axis plans in the Middle East and in Egypt.

British Naval Aid An important part may be played by the British naval forces based on Alexandria. The Italian intrusion into Greece has not been entirely unexpected, and the British must have made preparations for the contingency.

CONCERTED ATTACK IN THE EAST Minister's Belief MR BEVIN DOUBTS AXIS SPLIT "Wishful Thinking"

United Press Association—Copyright. (Received November 10, 8.45 p.m.) LONDON, Nov. 9. Speaking at Birmingham, the Minister of National Service (the Hon. Ernest Bevin) said that there had been a lot of wishful thinking about the Axis split over the Italian declaration of war against Greece.

NAZIS CLAIM SINKING OF CONVOY Exaggerated Story, Says Admiralty

United Press Association—Copyright. (Received Nov. 10, 10.15 p.m.) LONDON, Nov. 9. To-day's German communique and the Berlin radio both claimed the destruction of a British convoy in the North Atlantic. The tonnage of the ships destroyed totalled 86,000 tons, the Germans claimed.

LONG ROAD TO VICTORY Stubborn Resistance Promised By Mr Churchill

"The outside world, which a little while ago took only a moderate view of the British prospects is now convinced that Britain will survive," said the Prime Minister (now Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill) in a speech to-day on the installation to office of the new Lord Mayor of London.

People sometimes wonder why we are not able to take the offensive against the enemy and have always to wait for some new blow which he will strike against us," said Mr Churchill. "The reason is that our production of munitions is now in the early part of the second year and the enormous factories planned and laid down shortly before the war are only now beginning to come into production."

SEA POWER ESSENTIAL "But," Mr Churchill pointed out, "there is one point which should be borne in mind. The enemy is naturally doing his utmost to cut us off from these vital supplies, and there the maintenance of sea power, of ocean routes, is absolutely necessary."

CABLE NEWS IN BRIEF

Submarines In Atlantic.—The Bremen radio has claimed that dozens of Italian submarines recently passed through the Straits of Gibraltar. "They are now co-operating with German U-boats," it added.

AFTER-CAMP TRAINING FOR THE TERRITORIAL FORCES

Minister Of Defence Outlines 1941 Programme For Dominion Units

An outline of the programme of training to be undertaken next year by men who have had their main training period in territorial camps was given by the Minister of Defence (the Hon. F. Jones) when addressing members of territorial units stationed near Dunedin yesterday.

Territorials would undergo 16 days out-of-camp training next year, the Minister said, and in addition they would do 14 days' camp training.

NATIVE SONG SHOWS THEM THE WAY HOME

Smart Win At Napier
ROYAL STAR II TOO GOOD FOR THE SPRINTERS

By "MOTUROA"

Backed as a certainty for the Park Stakes the consistent Gisborne gelding, Native Song, once more demonstrated his liking for the Greenmeadows course for he won in a common canter after taking over the lead at the end of a furlong. Native Song carried the field along at a strong pace throughout and, although Yogi looked likely when he made a forward move at the three furlongs, Native Song was still travelling well within himself and he was able to come right away in the last furlong.

Native Song is one of the most promising handicap horses on the Coast and his fine record is a tribute to his trainer, Ivan Tinsley. He goes well for young Norman Howard, who is at present the leading apprentice in New Zealand.

Yogi, whose preparation has been interrupted, ran a gallant race. He was tailed off early and was under a hard ride from the five furlongs, but he responded gamely and was unlucky in bumping up against such a good class horse as the winner.

Old Hunting Cat, who went down scratchily in his preliminary, was always in the picture and hung on well for third money from Lady Furst, who again disappointed. The Greenmeadows mare was travelling nicely in the early stages, but she threw in the towel two furlongs from home.

Lindrum and Master Cyklon were never in a position to threaten danger and whipped in the field.

QUEEN'S DREAM was ridden a confident race in the Greenmeadows Hurdles, but she proved herself a class mare by wearing down the leaders in the last quarter of a mile to win on the post from Morning Flight and the long-priced Royal Stuart, who was the unlucky horse of the race. However, Queen's Dream won solidly and her jumping was good, except for clouting the last furlong.

Morning Flight was a trifle nervous jumping in a bunched field in the early stages, but he went up fast three furlongs from home to jump past the pace-maker Son and Heir at the last fence. His ride was perhaps cramped for room in the run home as Royal Stuart came over on the challenging Queen's Dream, who in turn came over on the Hastings gelding. But for that he might have just won.

Royal Stuart, a fine big maiden by Mimetic created a good impression. He was always in the first four, but his saddle slipped two furlongs from home and he was ridden over the concluding stages without a saddle. As he was beaten by only a neck it looked as if the win was lucky to him the day.

Lucullus Boy again had every chance, but he jumped patchily and was disinclined to stretch out until the final stages. He made up some ground for fourth, but did not impress. Son and Heir clouted several

LEVIN NOMINATIONS TO-NIGHT

HAWKE'S BAY owners and trainers are making their nominations for all events at the Levin Racing Club's spring meeting at Levin on November 23 and 25 close with the secretary, Mr F. Nicholson, Levin, at 8 p.m. tonight (Monday). The Levin Racing Club is holding its first two-day meeting and the programme is a most attractive one. The two main events are the Levin Handicap (of £220) and the British Handicap (of £260). Both races are run over ten furlongs. There are two open six furlongs races, two hurdles events and a five furlongs race for two-year-olds. Maidens and hacks are well catered for and there is a Champion Hack Handicap (of £180, 1 1/2 miles) on the second day of the meeting. This programme should prove a big attraction for provincial owners and trainers.

fences hard and it was little wonder that he stepped to a walk from the last fence. He was clear of the (Lacran) (running on), Great Bramble and Colloidon.

Cherry Hunter was prominent early, but jumped badly and dropped out of the picture, while Bramble made a fast run from the five furlongs to join Son and Heir at the top. She got into the penultimate fence, however, and that cost her any chance she had.

First-up Success
Having his first start the Hastings three-year-old Sunny Knight scored impressively in the Maiden Stakes and, although he had not done a great deal of galloping in public, he showed solidness by coming right away in the straight when Haughty rival and Battle Gain challenged him. Sunny Knight appeals as being extra smart and should win in better company.

Haughty Rival ran his best race to date. He was always prominent, beginning well from an inside position, and as he is still carrying a fair amount of condition, he might improve with his race.

Battle Gain was a hot favourite despite the fact that he drew practically the outside of the field. He began fairly well, but he had to be hard ridden to get near the leaders and that left him with nothing in reserve for the run home. In fact, he was stopping badly and Royal Vision, who was always well up, nearly beat him for that position.

They were clear of Walcay (always prominent), Lively Lady, King-rid (who stopped in the run home after showing early pace), Elmola, Lady Garvagh and Support. The draw at the barrier was a deciding factor in this event.

Won All the Way
The well-seasoned Erin's Court bounded out to the front smartly in the Juvenile Handicap and was never seriously threatened, as they came into the straight with a handy lead and was easing up to score by four lengths. It was his first start in the colours of the Wellington sportsman, Mr S. Newland.

A SURPRISE PACKET.—Shani carried only £19 in the County Handicap at Greenmeadows on Saturday and her brilliant success brought joy to only a few.

INCREASED TURNOVER FOR NAPIER PARK
SPLENDID RACING

Spring Meeting Opened Auspiciously

The Napier Park Racing Club's spring meeting opened auspiciously at Greenmeadows on Saturday and, despite the boisterous morning, there was a large attendance. Racing throughout the day was particularly good and the presence of a number of Wellington and Taranaki horses at the meeting added considerable interest.

The well-performed Gisborne gelding Native Song scored a most impressive victory in the Park Stakes and justified the confident backing that came for him, while the Hastings-owned but Hawera-trained Royal Star II spread eagled a smart field in the Flying Handicap. Royal Star II proved a wonderful bargain for the Hastings sportsman Mr J. B. Fletcher, who showed great judgment in buying the Irish-bred gelding for a song when he was believed to have broken down.

WON DECISIVELY—Following up his recent good form the Gisborne gelding Native Song won practically from end to end in the Park Stakes at Greenmeadows on Saturday. He won going away from Yogi.

Royal Star II impressed. The Hawera-trained Royal Star II attended Hunting Blood to the straight, but once fairly in line he came right away to win impressively by four lengths. Sid McGreal has the Irish-bred gelding right back to the top of his form and, on this form, he would have won in metropolitan sprint company.

That consistent little mare Vascones ran a gallant race and, while she never threatened danger to the winner, she was a comfortable second. This mare has overdue for a win, but she looks well and is thriving on her racing.

Kathbella has lost her early brilliance and she had too much ground to make up from the straight entrance to have a chance, but she was finishing fast to be right up in third place.

Hunting Blood showed his former brilliant speed to set a hot pace to the straight entrance, but he cleared the fence and finished third, clear of Charing Cross. Nora Gregor, third to the straight, was last home.

Shani Pays A Price.
It was left to the last race of the day for the punters to receive their quietus and the knock-out blow came from the Hastings mare Shani, who returned her few furlongs dividend of over two score. There was no fluke about her success, however, for she came right around the field on the turn and, as the result there was quite a lot of money shut out, but, as arrangements for this medium of betting had to be carried out in a restricted time, this could not be improved. Endeavour is being made to improve this facility for the second day of the meeting on Saturday next.

The totalisator staff had a busy day, and the machine handled £826 for win-and-place betting, compared with £172,710 last year, an increase of £1098,107.

The following are the results:—

AVONDALE SUCCESS

Marshall Hall Survives Protest

LOU ROSA IN FORM

By Telegraph-Press Association. AUCKLAND, Nov. 9.

The Avondale Jockey Club's second spring meeting was held in perfect weather. The track was firm and the attendance was large. The totalisator handled £45,632 against £43,803 last year, an increase of £1,829.

A protest against Marshall Hall (the winner of the Electric Handicap) by the connections of Gaymis, was dismissed. The results are:—
