Severe Bombing Of London Area In Night Raids

(United Press Association—Copyright.) (Received November 11, 10.15 p.m.) LONDON, Nov. 10.

As has frequently happened recently, heavy gunfire to-night preceded the "alert" in London. The city received a heavy pasting from high explosive and incendiary bombs. Bright moonlight helped the raiders to find their objectives, which included shelters, public houses, shops and a hospital.

The raiders came over one district every minute and dropped bombs methodically, high explosives quickly following one another. One wrecked the rear of two houses, where two persons are believed to be dead.

Another dug a crater in the road-south-east-coast town. Several shops and houses were damaged.

No alert was sounded in London during the day on Sunday, and only limited action by the enemy was reported from other parts of the country. A communique states that enemy air activity in the morning was limited. There were raids on a number of towns on the Kent and Sussex coasts by aircraft which attacked singly or in formations of not more than three.

Although a number of high-explo-

Scilly Isles Attacked

A deliberate machine-gun attack was made in the Scilly Isles in the course of the morning, but it was ineffective, there being no damage and no casualties. A force of enemy aircraft in the afternoon crossed the aircraft in the afternoon crossed the Dorset coast. They were intercepted by strong forces of British fighters and dispersed. There were no reports up to 4 p.m. of any bombs having been dropped.

The Air Ministry states that 'planes flew over parts of England and Wales. There was no serious attack on any targets, the casualties being few and the damage small.

British Official Wireless. (Received November 11, 7.45 p.m.) RUGBY, Nov. 11.

Dr D. R. Pye, Director of Scientific Research at the Ministry of Airtific Research at the Ministry of Aircraft Production, in a broadcast revealed that the so-called "incendiary leaf" recently announced as being used in British air flights over Germany was partly due to a suggestion put forward to him a few months ago by a private inventor. Many changes have been made from the scheme originally proposed to make it practical, but the leaf as eventually used undoubtedly owed much to the suggestions of this inventor.

United Press Association-Copyright. (Received Nov. 12, 0.55 a.m.) LONDON, Nov. 11.

The German Admiralty last night announced without detail that a German warship had been sunk by a British submarine. No confirmation is available in London, but it is unofficially believed that the warship was possibly the pocket battleship which shelled the convoy in mid-Atlantic last week. It is believed that if the vessel had been a destroyer or a small ship the Germans would have mentioned the fact.

A Berlin claim to have bombed a 25,000-ton vessel presumably refers to the Empress of Japan, from which the Fushimi Maru reported that she had picked up an SOS. There is no confirmation in London The German Admiralty last night

Strange Outcome Of A Bureau Meeting

CASE IN ENGLAND

An Oxfordshire farmer has just Caterpillar Club, which consists of married the daughter of a Yorkshire men who have saved their lives by millionaire—without knowing that she was an heiress (states the "Sun. she was an heiress (states the "Sunday Chronicle," London).

The story began some months ago qualify by saving their lives with booty Australian made parachutes. No one As she explained, "is a countryman with a small income of about £300 a year. You see, I have a small income myself," she added. There were a number of men in Yorkshire, she said, who would marry her for money, but she wanted a husband who would marry her for love.

She was given a number of introductions, and finally fell in love with the Oxfordshire farmer, who had approached the bureau to help him find a wife. The marriage took place quietly, and the two shy people settled down to a simple life on the farm.

A play that enjoyed a highly successful run of almost two years on Broadway has been made into a motion picture. It is "What a Life," is now at the Cosy Theatre, Hastings, and stars Jackle Cooper. The film tells the story of one Henry Aldrich, described by every teacher as the worst boy in the school. The amazing situations the troubled and bewildered Henry gets himself into provide a maximum of laughs and a certain amount of pathos. In the midst of all his troubles, however, it is discovered that Henry's the midst of all his troubles, however, it is discovered that Henry's true talents lie in the art of caricature. After being expelled from school and later clearing himself of a theft charge, Henry ultimately finds contentment in the pursuit of an art career. Also in the cast are John Howard, Vaughan Glaser, Hedda Hopper, Betty Field and Janice Logan. Logan.
"Range War," the newest "Hopalong Cassidy" outdoor film, h ming with action, thrills and ro-mance, is the second feature. With William Boyd seen again as the hard-riding straight-shooting "Hopa-lang," and Russell Hayden as "Lucky," his saddle-mate of many nge adventure, the story deals "Hopalong's" efforts to trap a with "Hopalongs" efforts to trap a wily, wealthy landowner who is trying to prevent ranchers from building a railroad spur which would make it unnecessary for them to pay tolls for their cattle to cross his property. Woven into the action of the story is a romance involving of the story is a romance involving Russell Hayden and Betty Moran, cast as the daughter of the rancher who is in charge of the building of the railroad spur, and "Hopalong" has a new saddlemate in Britt favourite.

Striking Story Of A

Doctor's Ambitions

Following upon the striking success of its first release, "The Citadel," film from A. J. Cronin's best-selling novel of the same name, will screen for a brief return season at the Regent Theatre, Hastings, com-mencing to-morrow.

Robert Donat and Rosalind Rus-

Robert Donat and Rosalind Russell are each superb in characterisations at the head of an impressive cast. Donat plays to the full his role of the idealistic young doctor whose search for a cure for a deadly alfliction affecting miners is sidetracked into a climb up the ladder of fortune when, on moving to London he discovers how easy it can be to make money as a society practitioner. Rosalind Russell plays the part of the young schoolmistress in the Welsh mining village which is Donat's first station; after their marriage it is she who eventually brings him to a realisation of the folly of his actions.

Kalph Richardson, too, contributes a fine performance as the brilliant, erratic "Denny," Donat's firm friend in his early attempts to bring health to the miners, and powerful influence in persuading the doctor to drop his easy "get-rich-quick" city life in favour of a continued struggle to aid humanity. Richardson's portrayal of both the comedy and the dramatic elements in his role could not be bettered. The work of the principals is ably supported by a large and more than competent cast, and "The Citadel" emerges as a

"ADVENTURE IN DIAMONDS"

Thrilling Secret Service Story

George Brent and Isa Miranda are co-starred in "Adventure In Dia-monds," a thrilling drama of diamond mines and secret service, which is now screening at the Regent Theatre, Napier.

A big liner steams slowly into the beautiful harbour of Cape Town, South Africa. On board is Colonel J. W. Lansfield, of the British Secret Service, whose furlough in England has been cut short because of the mounting thefts from the great diamond mines near Cape Town. On board also is a very beautiful woman, whose constant companion is a magnificent police dog. Every man on the ship, including Colonel Lansfield, has endeavoured to make the lady's acquaintance . . . with a signal lack of success.

Among the officials boarding the liner before she docks is Captain Stephen Dennett, a debonair, charming young man in the Royal Air Force, who is anxious to hear the news from home from his good friend Lansfield. In high spirits both men repair to the ship's bar, and there Dennett sees for the first time the beautiful woman whose name, Lansfield whispers, is Felice Falcon.

Dennett makes a bet with Lansfield that he will be on speaking terms with Felice within the halfdocks. His first two attempts are ludicrous failures. Then he hears Felice tell a passport official who asks her purpose in South Africa that she would very much like to go through the diamond mines. The official warms her she is document to official warns her she is doomed to disappointment. No one is allowed within the mines except persons who have business there.

The moment Felice is alone, Dennett approaches. He will be glad to take her through the mines if she will accept his escort. Felice proyes surprisingly amenable to the suggestion.

So there begins a series of thrill-

"SOPHIE LANG GOES WEST"

Bing Crosby In "Sing You Sinners"

Sophie Lang, the girl who steals diamonds and hearts with equal ease, turns Hollywood upside down in Paramount's new adventure-mystery film, "Sophie Lang Goes West," which is now showing at the Mayfair Theatre, Napier. It's a fast, furious, and often hilarious story of jewel thieves at odds, of a huge diamond, "The Star of the World," and of the stars and studios of Hollywood. Gertrude Michael and Lee Bowman play the leads, and the cast includes Sandra Storme, Larry Crabbe, C. Henry Gordon, Barlowe Borland. When a woman who nas become

When a woman who has become the most notorious jewel thief in the most notorious jewel thief in the world wants to go straight, and when she encounters a huge diamond known as "The Star of the World" and the man she loves—all at the same time, there's bound to be trouble. There's another thief and a moving picture star and a detective mixed up in it, too, and the result is a wonderful adventure film.

For the first time in his long and colourful motion picture career, Bing Crosby fails to "get the girl" in his new comedy, Paramount's "Sing You Sinners," which is the associate feature. Instead, this is done by romantic Fred MacMurray, who will be seen as Bing's brother in this story of family life.

The fast-moving story is punctuated by a number of songs from some of Hollywood's foremost popular composers. They are: "Small Fry," a captivating novelty doing so he spoke in glowing terms of her capabilities and the fine service she had given to the hospital. For some years Miss Jenkins has been an honorary secretary of the Hastings High School Old Pupils' Association and the members of this association met at a 5 o'clock party to make her a presentation. The president, Mr N. Fippard, asked her to accept an engraved chromium clock from the association and he paid tribute to her work and help.

Several gift parties have also been given in honour of this bride-to-be. Mrs Colin Wilkinson was the hostess at a five o'clock party at her home in Havelock North, and each guest brought a gift for the pantry. Pantry gifts were also brought by those who were present at an evening given by Mrs N. Bishop.

Mrs J. Steenson was the hostess at a kitchen evening, and Miss Dulcie Howard hostessed a laundry gift tea, both parties being held in Hastings, as also was Miss J. Lassen's afternoon party to which each guest brought a handkerchief and many dainty gifts were received.

In Palmerston North Miss Jenkins was the guest of honour at a jolly party to which each guest brought a dainty gift.

SOAP AND WATER ARE GOOD AIDS TO BEAUTY

Follow This Advice When Giving Your Face A Wash

Soap is mostly froth and bubble when it's mixed with water, but those uncountable millions of tiny bubbles form one of the best cleansing and beautifying agents.

It's the one beauty treatment which is available to everybody. Daily bathing is a necessity, and it can be made a ritual for loveliness which will amply repay any extra time and care given to it.

The Danger of Acid

During these summer days care must be taken to remove every vestige of perspiration from the skin. Apart from the disagreeable odour which is sometimes associated with perspiration, it has also a beauty-lestroying effect.

The acids present will soon ruin the skin if perspiration is allowed to dry on the face. A good soap is especially needed in this case.

In the desire to feel and appear fragrant always use soap, bath-salts and talc of the same perfume. This is quite easy as most manufacturers ow make the three products. Thoose a perfume which is delicate

Mrs Dyer then demonstrated the making of a gift box of flowers in purple shades. She also showed embers how to make a wreath and now to wire the flowers and place hem in the foundations. This was them in the foundations. This was done beautifully in two colours, lemon and blue, with maidenhair fern and variegated leaves and a ribbon bow, and it and the box looked most effective. Mrs Dyer was thanked by Mrs Honeybun for giving such an interesting demonstration of floral work. It was decided to hold a competition for a gift box of flowers for the December meeting

The competition for a flower made out of old felt hats resulted in Miss Burrell gaining first prize, with Mes-dames G. Dawson and Moss second and third respectively. Points prize for best bloom resulted as follows: Mesdames W. R. Davis and A. R. Houston, equal 1; Mrs J. A. Burrell, 2; Mrs Moss, 3.

The engagement is announced of Mary Grace, second daughter of Mr and Mrs W. C. G. Price, Otane, and Geoffrey Cecil, only son of Mr and Mrs B. C. Wharton, Waterloo, Lower

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE MEETING

The Ashley Clinton Members

The monthly meeting of the Ashley Clinton Women's Institute, presided over by Mrs B. Collin, was held in the Hall, there being a fair attendance of members. Before the meeting the Rev. Blathwayt held a short service.

Business was discussed and it was decided that as no further eggs were to be sent overseas the matter should stand over for the present. Mrs T. Harvey was welcomed back after her recent illness. Mrs Persen read a report of the Federation meeting and was accorded a hearty vote of thanks. The motto for the month was read by Mrs T. Harvey.

A dainty afternoon tea was served by the hostesses, Mrs T. Severinsen and Miss A. Olsen. During after-noon tea the roll call, "A schoolboy howler," brought many amusing answers.

The competitions held during the afternoon resulted as follows:—

Removing Silverfish

There are several means of removing silverfish: (1) Mix equal parts of pure camphor and turpentine in a bottle. Soak blotting paper in solution, leave to dry, and place among garments or articles or in cupboards; (2) sprinkle shelves or floorheards, with pure parthalene cama bucket of not water, of dissolved the powdered alum in a gallon boiling water. Apply with brush or mop to flooring boards, cupboards, etc., and leave to dry. Silverfish dislike fresh air and sunlight.

Death Of Woman Pioneer

MRS E. HERBERT

Lived In Ormondville Since 1877

BORN IN SWEDEN

(Daily Mail Special Service)
ORMONDVILLE.

The funeral took place in Ormondville on Friday of Mrs Engeberg Herbert who died on Thursday, November 8, at the advanced age of 91 years. She was Ormondville's oldest resident, and in her passing one of the last of the grand old pioneers

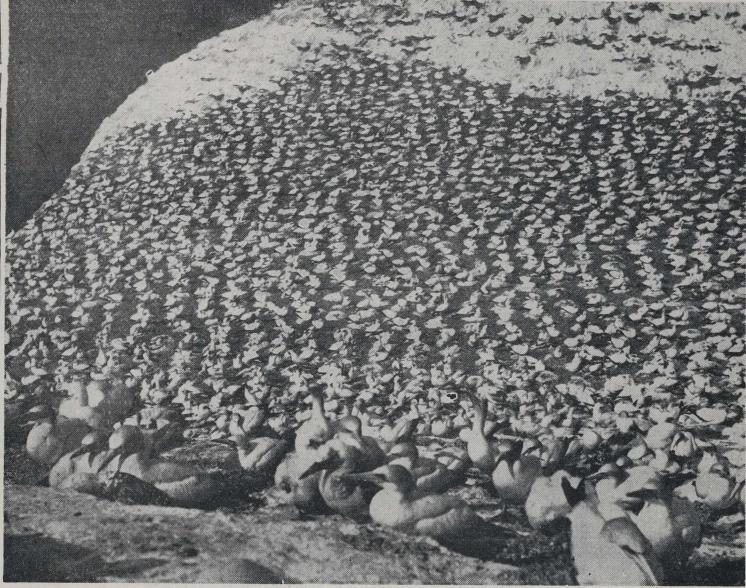

She was born in Sweden and came to New Zealand with her brothers in 1872, landing in Napier. Shortly afterwards she married Mr James Herbert, who pre-deceased her many years ago. Leaving Napier, she went to Takapau, her daughter, now Mrs E. Forward, being the first white child to be born

She settled in Ormondville about 1877 and was a great benefactress to the district during those early days of stress and toil, her skill in nursing being always at the service of any requiring it. Hospitality was her great delight and she was a most interesting hostess with her tales of early pioneering days, told with a sense of humour and a faultless memory.

Mrs Herbert's funeral was largely attended and a wealth of lovely

Mrs Herbert's funeral was largely attended and a wealth of lovely flowers were silent testimony of remembrance. The service was conducted by the Rev. F. Middlebrook, the pall-bearers being Messrs F. Forward, D. Munro, H. O. Baines, H. R. Benbow, G. S. Chapman and A. Benbow.

Mrs Herbert is survived by one son, Mr Sydney Herbert, Taihape, and two daughters, Mrs E. Forward and Mrs S. Powell, both of Ormondville. There are also six grand children and 16 great-grandchildren short footbridge and back to Western Quay.

The three entries were: Tauranga (C. Downs), Ace (B. Holder) and another boat sailed by R. McLeod.
Commencing at the Iron Pot, the three boats got away well, Bob Holder taking the lead from R. McLeod, followed by C. Downs. A good run was made to a point near the Westshore footbridge and C. Downs was first round the buoy, followed by McLeod and Holder. On the beat back two boats went aground on a bank and lost considerable time in getting under way again.

ROAD AND RAILWAY TRANSPORT.

The Canterbury Chamber of Commerce in collaboration with the Department of Economics at Canterbury College has just issued a bulletin on transport policy in New Zealand. The chief inference to be drawn from the facts collected is that the principal pre-occupation of the people of this country is the removal of themselves and their chattels from one place to another.

The authors of the bulletin assert that one-third of the national income is spent on internal transport. Perhaps this is an exaggeration; it is always very difficult to determine just what the national income amounts to, and it would be harder still to decide how much of the expenditure on transport is essential to the production of the national income, and how much is an expenditure of the income on the enjoyment of one of the amenities of life. The tone of the bulletin is mainly critical. It tells the old story of the evils incidental to political control of public utilities, and objection is taken to anomalies which have resulted from the operation of rival road and railway systems of

It is always much easier to tell the Government what it should do than to show how the thing desired can be done, and economists seldom contribute much to the solution of the difficulties they are so clever at pointing out.

Although the road and railway problem is world wide, each country has its own particular troubles due to local conditions. In New Zealand the transport revolution arrived before the completion of an arterial system of railroads. For better or for worse, it was decided to complete unfinished trunk railways. Some of these are now in operation, and on others work is still proceeding. In the meantime road transport has been inaugurated and the road services have built up a connection that is incompatible with profits for both when these unfinished railways are ready to operate.

The Government was very slow in awakening to the possibilities of road transport. In the light of subsequent experience it is now evident that the State should have been first in the field. If a State owned and controlled railway system is right in principle, it is incontestable that motor road transport should also be publicly owned. Both are necessary if the community is to be adequately served, and they can be rationalised and made truly complementary only under one controlling authority.

Gradually, and at considerable cost, the pioneer road services are being gathered in, and eventually all important services will be in Government hands. With a monopoly, it should be possible for the Government to eliminate duplication of effort and a good deal of the wasteful competition which has been going on in the past. This may not prevent the State railways from being operated at a loss, but the loss should be reduced.

Many years ago it was laid down as a matter of policy that the farming industry should receive substantial concessions from the Railway Department. The Seddon Government instituted the free carriage of lime and specially low rates were fixed for fruit and other products. Often it has been urged that the losses incurred on this unprofitable traffic should be reimbursed by a special appropriation from the Consolidated Fund—a procedure that would make no difference to the taxpayer, but would enable the Railway Department to show a better result at the end of the year. The amount of any such appropriation would be small, however, compared with the difference between the net profit shown by the Department and the interest payable on the capital invested in the railways

The New Zealand railway system is in advance of present requirements and many miles of line have been constructed through country that is incapable of producing sufficient revenue to cover operating costs. Political considerations were partly responsible for this, and the rest was mainly a matter of geography and the necessity of planning for the future. Our existing railways and paved roads would serve twice the present population, and at the present time the Dominion is like a boy growing into a suit that is two sizes too

Owing to the tardy increase in numbers, there is a danger

Damages Given By Jury

BREACH OF PROMISE

Retirement Of Two Hours

By Telegraph-Press Association. WANGANUI, Nov. 11.

After a retirement of more than two hours, the jury in the Supreme Court at Wanganui to-day awarded a Matamata girl, Zelia Margaret Fama, aged 28, £799 6s damages for breach of promise.

The defendant was a Whenuakura farmer William Samuel Cower farmer, William Samuel Gower.

The plaintiff's claim was for £2000 general and £81 11/- special damages. Of the total amount awarded by the jury, £750 was general and the balance special damages.

The plaintiff in evidence said that she met the defendant in Hawera and subsequently came to work in Wanganui. She received a presentation from the staff of the Wanganui firm when she left and went to her parents' home at Matamata.

The wedding was planned for November 25, but the defendant became ill and entered the Patea hose

Thoughts of marriage ceased for the time being, but when they re-vived, the plaintiff said she noticed a change in his manner toward her.

RUGBY, Nov. 10.

An authoritative analysis of R.A.F. raids in the first 14 months of the war shows that British aircraft bombed 261 places in Germany. 235 in occupied territory, and 17 in Italy, Berlin had 26 raids in this period, but the most frequently visited place was Hamm, the largest and most important rail centre and goods-yard in Europe, which was visited more than 80 times.

A study of the distribution of the attacks over the different kinds of military objectives gives the following result: public paid to see the end and were entitled to a straight-out decision.

Another feature will be that the referees will be announced for the first time from the ringside just prior to the start of the contest. There will be a double bill, in that the main bout will be preceded by one between Johnny Hutcheson, the American negro lightweight, and a New Zealander yet to be decided.

MORE AMERICAN AID FOR BRITAIN'S WAR CAMPAIGN

Empire Pilots Will Receive Winter Training At Texas Fields

AUCKLAND, Nov. 11. Arrangements for the transfer from Canada to the United States for the winter of a proportion of men undergoing training under the Empire Air Scheme have been completed, according to advice brought from the United States by one of the travellers on Pan American Airways' American Clipper. It was stated that this new development represented the latest aid given by the United States to Britain's war effort.

Although no official announcement has yet been made. it was stated that some men, possibly including New Zealanders under training, would transfer from Canada to air stations in Texas so that their training would not be interrupted by the heavy snow of the Canadian winter. Texas was stated to be an ideal district for the purpose, as in normal corcumstances it was possible to continue flying training throughout the winter.

Other advantages likely to result from the transfer would be the easier and more rapid delivery of training aircraft from American factories.

It was reported that an arrange The was reported that an arrangement for some of the men to go to Texas had been completed after discussions, so that there would be no interruption in the stream of fully-trained air crews which Britain would require to man her growing number of aircraft.

BIG BOMB ABOARD

Delivery From Low Altitude

British Official Wireless, (Received Nov. 11, 12.45 p.m.) RUGBY, Nov. 10. RUGBY, Nov. 10.

A New Zealand flight lieutenant whose home is in Hawke's Bay has given a broadcast account of his visit to Munich on Friday night in an R.A.F. heavy-bomber squadron. He said: "Included in my bomb load was one of the heaviest-calibre bombs we have so far carried. I talked things over with my observer, and we decided before we left that, as the station commander was kind enough to entrust us with the delivery of this heavy-calibre bomb we should go in as low as possible to make sure of getting the target.

by a chorus of interjections which prompted the chairman (Mr R. W.

An interjector, Mr J. McCarthy, deputy-Mayor of Waipukurau, challenged the chairman's ruling and said that he would leave the hall if he was given 10 minutes on the platform to repudiate what the speaker had said. This challenge was not the hall amid loud cheers.

Prior to the close of the meeting
Mr P. Wall, in the audience, asked the chairman if he (the Mayor) was

Mr Wall. This met with applause from the majority of the audience.

There was not a large attendance

PATRIOTIC CAMPAIGN

Believing that many people might be prepared to make a contribution to the £1,000,000 appeal by contributing old gold and silver, the campaign executive in Hastings has arranged for a drive to be made on Saturday week. It is on record that Italian women gave Mussolini wedding rings to carry on the fight against the Abyssinians. Such a contribution, however, is not asked in Hastings, but any old gold and silver could be utilised in the fight against the forces of Hitler and Mussolini.

Arrangements have been made for the Hastings Rotary Club to provide a number of cars to undertake the collection, and the Boy Scouts will associate themselves with the house to house canvass. PATRIOTIC DANCE

Many large parties are being arranged for the patriotic dance to be held in the Assembly Hall, Hastings, on Thursday night. Music for "Trouble you for a match, Sir?" (It was in a Wellington street car). "No!" snapped the man addressed.

Mr Churchill works by no castiron time table. Frequently he is working for 19 hours, and his daily labours are never less than 15 hours He has always done a great deal of work in his bedroom, and continues the practice at 10 Downing Street. His bell usually rings for the first time about 7.30 a.m., and half an hour later it rings again to summon his secretary.

From then onwards he toils incessantly but with easy genius. One day recently he dictated to relays of secretaries without a pause from 8.20 a.m. until 1.30 p.m. Usually, in the mornings, there are meetings of the War Cabinet.

After lunch, if he has not to be in his place on the Treasury Bench, the afternoon is full with interviews and consultations. About 4 o'clock or a little afterwards he disappears for an hour, to reappear again refreshed and reinvigorated for more concentrated work until dinner time.

War Discussions

War Discussions

There are always luncheons and dinner guests at No. 10. Friends scientists, and experts are invited to discuss the war in all its phases with the Premier. After dinner the big talks of the day begin. In his armchair, with his cigar, Mr Churchill gathers around him experts and advisers; the talk goes on for hours, problems are examined from every angle, everyone gives his views angle, everyone gives his views—sometimes it is 2 o'clock in the morning, often nearer 3, before these war talks end, and the Prime Minister's long day, too, has also ended.

Occasionally Mr Churchill goes into the country for the week-end—not to rest, but merely to concentrate on some particular phase of trate on some particular phase of the war effort. Experts in that particular phase are his guests; secretaries and staff accompany the party. It is during these brief week-ends when, with-out the interruption of callers, the Prime Minister gets through a really amazing amount of business. Yet he comes back to Downing Street ready for more. These week-ends are no for more. These week-ends are no rest cure for his secretarial staff.

the more troublesome illnesses with which the farmer has to cope. Blowfly strike arises from the presence of maggots hatched from eggs laid on the living sheep by certain types of blowfly. The flies lay clusters of light yellow eggs on carcases, wounds or soiled wool; in from eight hours to three days the maggots hatch, and begin to feed. A struck sheep usually stands with its head down, but it may be readily noticed that the animal is not feeding peacefully. It may attempt to bite the affected part, which is causing it considerable irritation, and an examination of the ritation, and an examination of the affected part will reveal a moist patch or pocket of wool, a dirty brown-green in colour.

"Jehovah's Witness" Adherents Arrested In Camp By Tutaekuri

Following a raid on their tent, which was pitched underneath some trees on the banks of the Tutaekuri at Hakowhai, about 12 miles from Napier, three youthful members of the sect known as "Jehovah's Witnesses" were arrested and brought to Napier early yesterday morning.

Setting out from Napier early on Sunday evening, a police party under the direction of Detective-Sergeant H. Nuttall reached the roadside camp about 10 p.m. There the police awaited the return of the men, who had apparently been attending a meeting in Hastings.

Shortly after 2 a.m. small bicycle lights were observed to be approaching in the direction of the camp. The police party moved in on the newcomers and they were arrested and brought to Napier at 2.20 a.m. yesterday.

Late yesterday afternoon, William Arthur Roberts, aged 21, a farmhand of no fixed abode, and Edward Douglas Ridling, aged 18 years, described as a farmhand and a native of Australia, appered before Mr J. Miller, S.M., in the Mgistrate's Court.

They were charged with being in cossession of six copies of a booket entitled "Cure" with a view to acilitating the publication of a sub-versive statement contrary to the Public Safety Emergency Regulations.

The third member of the party appeared before the Children's Court to face a similar charge.

On the application of Detective-Sergeant Nuttall the accused were remanded until Monday.

It is alleged that a large quantity of "Watch Tower" literature and a number of "Judge" Rutherford's recorded speeches were recovered from the camp.

"CARRYING ON"

By Telegraph—Press Association. CHRISTCHURCH, Nov. 11. Charged that on November 10 ney participated in the activities of a subversive organisation known as "Jehovah's Witnesses," two men ap-peared in the Magistrate's Court today. They were Brian Beresford Olivier, a preacher and draughts-man, aged 25, and Joseph George Matthew Prout, a farm labourer, Both men pleaded not guilty and were remanded to appear next Monday.

The men were quite recently interviewed by the police and they knew that the organisation had been declared to be subversive, said Detective-Sergeant J. McClung when application was made for bail. Yesterday they were found convinced.

terday they were found carrying on with their work.

Olivier came from Australia and had no fixed abode. Prout came from the North Island and they were both travelling through this island.

The Magistrate: Birds of passage, are they?
Detective-Sergeant McClung: Yes. Bail was fixed at £300 with two sureties of £300, in each case. In addition, the men were ordered to report daily to the police.

Tractors and trailers not exceeding five tons in weight would now be exempt, it was stated, and also farmers' trucks used to carry milk or whey for neighbours.

Strong opposition to the Government's policy in this respect was voiced by Mr W. Tucker, who held that the concession amounted to a subsidy to the industry. The tendency to grant subsidies on every hand was becoming very widespread and in his opinion an industry should be able to stand on its own feet. If, however, it were regarded solely as a wartime emergency move, he would not oppose it.

Outsiders Fight Out Derby Finish

ENRICH CONFOUNDS CRITICS

Kentucky And Globe Trotter Successful

"Daily Mail" Special Service CHRISTCHURCH, Nov. 11.

The result of the 1940 New Zealand Derby completely confounded the critics and was a repetition of last year's form when Beaulivre went on from success in the Stewards' Handicap to annex the classic. However, whereas Beaulivre had little real opposition in the Derby, Enrich appeared to be meeting a really high class field to-day.

There may be excuses offered for the beaten favourites, especially Belle Cane, who appeared to get on to the heels of another horse going out of the straight, but Enrich won too well for anything to detract from his triumph. His success emphasised the luck of the racing game for he was bred by the late Wm. Higgins, whose one ambition was to win a Derby with a horse of his own breeding. He bred both Beaulivre and Enrich, but they were both sold at the disposal sale of his stock after his death, Enrich being bought as a yearling for Enrich followed Don't Forget throughout and, although the Dunedin Guineas winner battled on gamely, Enrich wore him down in the last furlong to win going away. It was an impressive performance and it once more showed the liking this sale-ring bargain has for Riccarton, for he equalled the New Zealand record for five furlongs on this track last upon Don't Forget devolved the responsibility of making the running and the southern gelding made a gallant attempt to lead throughout. Momentarily, at the false rail when Enrich put in his first serious claims, it looked as if Don't Forget would come away again, but the challenger was relentless and he was forced to give way half a furlong from home.

Don't Forget led out of the straight with a break of a couple of lengths from Sir Beau and Sir Cameron, with Enrich next, but Belle Cane appears to cut in too quickly and she stumbled, nearly upsetting her rider. There was no change for the first half of the journey, but Enrich began to work forward at the six furlongs where he took second place from Sir Beau, who was then clear of Beau Leon and Sir Cameron. who was then clear of Beau Leon and Sir Cameron.

and Sir Cameron.

Lambourn began a forward move at the half mile and the field was bunched turning for home, with Belle Cane showing up wide out. Lambourn's effort was short-lived and Belle Cane dropped back again. Beau Leon looked for a while as if he might be dangerous when he ran past Sir Beau, but the dividend payers were going as well as anything at the finish.

Muffler, who commenced racin only this season, scored a stylish win in the Middleton Handicap. The Riccarton gelding was bowling along freely and nothing looked like

BRED FROM A FINE FAMILY

MUFFLER, the winner of the Middleton Handicap at Riccarton yesterday, has done very little racing, but his success was not unexpected for he finished strongly to run a good second to the consistent Cymric second to the consistent Cymric at Rangiora on Labour Day. He had previously raced thrice without getting into the money, but his work at Riccarton has shown a steady improvement. Muffler, who is raced by the Christchurch veteran Mr Murary Ayreley. ray-Aynsley, comes from a great family and his dam, Muff, is a half-sister to Silver Scorn and Disdain. These two well-performed gallopers were bred from an own-sister to the dam of the N.Z. Cup winner Chide. Muffler should hold his own in good handicap company later on. -"Moturoa"

Lord Nuffield was attended throughout by Kentucky, but Poutatau (after a slow start), Endorsement, Wild Career and Spanish Lad were handy to them. Wild Career drifted near the three furlongs and Lord Nuffield had the call over Kentucky into the straight, with Spanish Lad, Not Out and Endorsement just in behind them. Lord Nuffield led to the last furlong, but he then had to give way to Kentucky, who had appeared to have had enough at the false rail.

Endorsement, who was doing as Endorsement, who was doing as well as anything in the final furlong, was a good third, with the hot favourite Not Out next. A DVICE has been received that the Napier Park Racing Club has been able to complete arrangements for improving the totalisator service for the second day of its spring meeting on Saturday next. It will now be possible to secure win and place tickets at the same windows, while there will be £1 as well as 10% tickets Globe Trotter Again The Derby winner's brother Globe Trotter kept the family well in the limelight by adding the Fendalton Handicap to his first day's win and he justified his backing down to staunch favouritism. After having a perfect run on the rails through-out he came through at the false rail just as Wardress had taken over rail just as Wardress had taken over control and, although there was a sharp tussle between the pair for a furlong, Globe Trotter gained the upper hand and won going away.

Wardress, who had run a sound race in the Cup, again performed solidly, but met a better horse on the day and was not disgraced. The Raker, after having to cover a little extra ground as they straightened up, came home well for third, being clear of the long-priced Night Pal.

The next to finish were Settlement and Pearl of Asia, who came fast into the picture in the straight after Duck and is a half-brother to Admiral Drake and Francis Drake. He is just striking form and will be harder to beat next time out.

The Ngatarawa colt Varuna was always fairly prominent attending

An Overdue Success

Eulogist, who showed great promise last season only to disappoint in his previous races this term, fulfilled his early promise with a decisive win in the Strowan Plate. He was never far from the leaders, but was left clear at the false rail, and hung on well from that juncture to beat off the hot favourite Stylist. Eulogist comes from the famous Eulogy family and might go on with the good work.

Sham Raid made most of the early running, but gave way in the last furlong and Stylist, who had been fairly wide out on the track, ran on into second place from Omapo, who came through on the inner from the straight entrance.

Nothing in the race finished bet-

Leignnor, Nightshift and Gay Lancer as they entered the straight. He came home strongly and just failed to reach Leighnor.

Nightshift was fourth, but Pleading had anything but a good run in the straight, being checked by tiring horses when making a run, Nothing in the race finished better than Princess Minerva, who was not sighted until the last furlong and a longer race should suit this mare, who was having her first race since last winter.

He will apply under the section of the Stud Book regulations which authorises The Keeper to include horses which, in the opinion of the Stud Book committee, should be included by reason of their outstanding performances in weight-for-age or other first-class races.

"I knew about the flaw in the pedigree when I purchased him," Mr Harnett informed an Australian writer. "The trouble, I am told, lies in his ancestress, Sharkie. Two mares were brought to New Zealand and were swum ashore, their identity was mixed, and Sharkie is from one of them. It is only right that I should have the searches made and institute the application.

Golden Sheila was tender on returning to scale and Milanion apparently broke down.

Solution again there this month. Kindergarten impresses as likely to hold his own in the best handicap classes up to ten furlongs at least, and he should not be hard to place in the course of the next few months.
