GRIM RUIN AT COVENTRY

The King Spends Four Hours With The Homeless

(United Press Association—Copyright.) (Received November 17, 9.45 p.m.)

LONDON, Nov. 16.

VICTORIA CROSS FOR CAPTAIN FEGEN

Hero Of Jervis Bay's

To-night, despite the terrific devastation, the hum of the war factories can still be heard. The city's war effort is almost unimpaired. Tens of thousands of skilled workers, both men and women, carried on throughout the day and night. Coventry's three main streets are reduced to ruins and in some places it is impossible to tell what was once roadway and what was once shops and houses. The contours of the streets are completely obliterated.

The King, accompanied by the Minister of Home Security (the Hon. Herbert Morrison) spent over four hours in Coventry to-day. The King was everywhere greeted by cheering crowds and cries of "God Save You. Thank you for coming."

The King frequently commented to the Mayor on the wonderful spirit of the people. His Majesty talked to people and saw for himself what was being done for the many hundreds who had lost their homes.

dreds who had lost their homes.

Correspondents declared that nothing at Madrid, in Finland, or even in London could compare with Coventry's devastation. All are agreed that it is impossible to describe the spirit of the people. Wardens reported no panic and no hysteria throughout the night. A cordon was drawn around the city to prevent the influx of the curious.

teria throughout the night. A cordon was drawn around the city to prevent the influx of the curious.

Coventry's casualties are reported to be 200 killed and 800 injured. The dead include five wardens and seven firemen. Eighteen were killed in one public shelter.

The spire of Coventry Cathedral to-day stood as a sentinel over a grim scene of destruction after the all-night raid. The cathedral was little more than a skeleton. It was impossible to walk the streets in the centre of the city or the suburbs this morning without seeing either damage or sheer devastation. Groups of refugees throughout the day thronged the roads leading from the town, making their way from devastated homes in the hope of reaching billets in the open country before the blackout.

Food Pours In

Mobile canteens throughout the day performed magnificent work in helping to feed the homeless. Comforts are pouring into the city from towns and villages for miles around. The firemen battled all night against tremendous odds. The rain of bombs damaged the gas, electricity and water mains. Shortage of water forced firemen to dynamite buildings to prevent the spread of the flames.

The Minister of Home Security (the Hon. Herbert Morrison) arrived a few hours after the raid and toured the wrecked city. He said that local authorities were taking full and prompt measures to deal with the emergency.

The French newspaper "L'Action Francaise" says that the R.A.F. attacks on Le Havre have caused the re-evacuation of the city.

Bombers last night directly hit an ammunition train and the resultant explosion destroyed 500 houses. It adds that oil refineries and tanks have been wiped out, all the ferries between Le Havre and Rouen sunk, and shipyards and factories forced to close down.

The Moscow radio also denies a Japanese report that Russia and Japan have agreed on spheres of influence in the Far East. No discussions have ever taken place on the subject, says the radio.

Authoritative circles in Tokyo indicate that the Japanese Government was hoping that M. Molotov's conversations in Berlin would expedite the conclusion of a Russo-Japanese pact. However, this is uncertain pending a report from Mr Tatekawa, Japanese Ambassador to Moscow, as to whether Berlin actually discussed other than Russo-German considerations in the Balkans.

LE HAVRE AGAIN Greeks Fighting On Albanian Soil Along Most Of Frontier

(United Press Association-Copyright.) (Received November 17, 9.55 p.m.) LONDON, Nov. 16.

The Greeks yesterday continued the initiative on all fronts, principally in local actions, and are reported to have thrust back the Italians to the frontier. They are now fighting on Albanian soil in the central sector with artillery dominating the Italian supply lines.

The Greeks are reported to be smashing into the Italian army west of Lake Presba. Military officials declare that the Greek moves threaten to cut the Italians in Albania into three parts. The Italians are reported to have set fire to Koritza.

The Greeks captured at bayonet point part of Mount Ivan, a 6000-foot peak north-east of Koritza, which it dominates. The Greeks took 10 Italian large-calibre guns.

Koritza is very important not only because it is the largest town in south Albania with a population of 30,000, but also because it is the centre of communications. Its capture offers the Greeks an entrance route to Elbasan, the strategic centre of Albania.

14 heavy guns, 182 heavy machine-guns. 237 light machine-guns. 36 sub-machine-guns. 8763 rifles.

239 lorries of loaded material.

"While the Greek offensive has effectively wrested the initiative from the enemy, the Greek air force as well as the R.A.F. sow confusion in the Italian ranks," adds the correspondent. He refers to the havoc caused by the R.A.F. at Valona and Durazzo and says: "The damage already inflicted by the R.A.F. to the landing field at Argyrokastron is important, as well as the damage which the Greeks and the R.A.F. have inflicted at Koritza. have inflicted at Koritza.

Italians Set Fire To Town, Which Artillery Has Badly Damaged

> (United Press Association-Copyright.) (Received November 18, 1.45 a.m.)

LONDON, Nov. 17. The latest from Athens is that fierce fighting is continuing at Koritza. A report of the capture has reached Salonika but Athens states that the Italians are still holding the mountain north-east of the town. The Greeks are so close that the officers have difficulty in restraining their men from the final assault.

The Italians set fire to the town, only completing the work of the Greek heavy mountain artillery, which for three days has been shelling houses, barracks, and supply depots. Greek columns are reported to have reached the Albanian frontier at two points where they are able to control the two main roads from Albania to Greece and prevent the sending of reinforcements and munitions for the invaders.

Fighting Forces' Needs To Be Given Preference In Britain

(Received November 17, 7.55 p.m.)

LONDON, Nov. 16.

"In the last war one munitions worker supplied two fighting men with weapons and equipment," he continued. "Now, because of the development of the Air Arm, greater fire power and mobility are required by a modern army and the number of auxiliary craft are required at sea, and it takes two workers to supply two fighting men.

"That is why we must tighten our belts. I want your view to be realistic, not alarmist. Despite the restrictions we are providing more than double the German standard of comfort." FATAL 'PLANE

The City interpreted Mr Lyttelton's earlier statement as foreshadowing a concerted Empire effort to curtail the production of goods which will not contribute directly to the war effort. While there is no suggestion of pressure on the Dominions to change their import policy, it is believed that the United Kingdom will influence the nature of inter-Empire trade through the allocation of war materials.

Dominion Balances It is stated that one financial effect will be a further accumulation of Dominion balances in London—in other words, additional Dominions credits for the United Kingdom. A secondary effect may be the diversion of interest from equities of Dominions' companies producing unessential goods.

COMPLETE AWARDS AT NUHAKA FLOWER SHOW

Judges Impressed By High Standard Of The Exhibits

Despite the fact that stormy weather prevailed, the Nuhaka annual show, held in the Unity Hall, was a great success, there being a good attendance. Owing to the weather, the entries in the flower section were fewer than most years. The judge, Mr B. Teague, Wairoa, commented highly on the flowers. The children's section was outstanding, he said, year's popular film hit, "Four Daughters"; it has the same cast, consisting of the three Lane sisters, Priscilla, Rosemary and Lola, Gale Page, Claude Rains, Jeffrey Lynn, May Robson, Frank McHugh and Dick Foran. Added to the roster of stars is Eddie Albert, comedy star of "Brother Rat."

While the story of "Four Wives" is complete in itself, it takes up the fortunes and romances of the "Four Daughters" where last year's film left off. Gale Page and Lola Lane, who play the two eldest daughters, are already married to Dick Foran and Frank McHugh, respectively, when the story opens. Rosemary, playing the romance loving middle sister, is still waiting for her dream man to come along, while Priscilla, the youngest, and a widow, is preparing to marry the young concert musician, played by Jeffrey Lynn. Already there are prospects of a new generation, too, as is seen when the girls all go to keep an appointment which one has with the doctor.

Just when this battle is reaching a peak, the Westerner, a roving cowboy named Cole Harden, drifts into town and finds himself entangled in the vicious "Law West of the Pecos." But the Westerner is a willy adventurer, fearless and bold, and when he comes to grips with will Judge Bean, he proves a shrewd opponent.

OUTSTANDING EFFORT WITH 9.12

TWO DEAD-HEATS

Gayest Son Wins In Good Style

(Daily Mail Special Service) CHRISTCHURCH, Nov. 16.

CHRISTCHURCH, Nov. 16.

Royal Chief produced one of the most brilliant efforts of his outstanding career to win the Metropolitan Handicap to-day, beating Rapine's weight-carrying record of 9.7 by shouldering his 9.12 like a real champion. Royal Chief struck his top form for he had the big twelve furlongs event won six furlongs from home and he rap past the leaders with consummate ease at the false rail to win easing up.

Appreciating the sting being out of the going, Royal Chief was never further back than sixth throughout the race and he followed Sly Fox, Trench Fight, Boswell, Capricious and Serenata past the mile. Trench Fight shortly afterwards took over, but there was little between him and Sly Fox across the top and into the straight, the pair being followed by Windsor Chief, Capricious, Serenata and the topweight. Settlement and Little Robin then put in their claims and were showing up on the outside as they came on to the course proper.

Capricious and Serenata were in outside as they came on to the course proper.

Capricious and Serenata were in command at the false rail, but they were weakening when Royal Chief drove through on the inner to take over almost in a stride. Interest was added to the finish by Little Robin's fine finishing effort, but he got to within a length of Royal Chief only on sufferance, for the topweight was full of running. Settlement did best of the others to just beat Capricious for third money. The extra weight troubled Serenata, while Trench Fight and Sly Fox failed to stay.

Never further back than fourth the Hastings gelding followed Philibun into the straight and immediately took command. Craiglea made the first challenge and then Fulgrist but in a mand. Craiglea made the first challenge and then Eulogist put in a claim a furlong from home. However, Gayest Son ran on to win nicely from Eulogist, while Craiglea was a good third from Royal Lancer, who had looked likely at the straight entrance. Retrogression and Blue Coat were prominent turning for home, but they failed to stay.

Honours Divided

stay. With all her 9.5 the Welcome Stakes winner Pay Roll put up a wonderful effort in the Pioneer Handicap to dead-heat with her stablemate Corn Prince. It was Pay Roll's second dead-heat this season, for she divided honours at Ellerslie with Nuna in the Welcome Stakes. Corn Prince and Pay Roll were always in the leading division and they fought out every inch of the last furlong, Pay Roll appearing to just weaken in the last stride. Another Dead-Heat

A desperate struggle was staged by the four-year-old mares Hearth and Harina over the last half mile of the Cressy Handicap. At the false rail Harina just held the call, but Hearth was not to be denied and she came again to cross the line on terms with the Hastings mare. Won Impressively

Despite his substantial rise in the weights Sir Amyas ran true to his form in the Otaio Plate by burying form in the Otaio Plate by burying the opposition in the run home in the Hagley Handicap. Sir Avmas had to put up a very solid performance to win for he was badly placed in the first six furlongs and had Nightsl ift, King's Toast, Gay Fox, and Metric still ahead of him at the false rail. However, his final run was irresistible. King's Toast was a good second from Gay Fox, while Dranoel made up a lot of leeway in the straight to gain fourth place. the straight to gain fourth place. Doria was at a false price for the Stonyhurst Handicap, a race for three-year-olds, but she ran true to her recent good form to worry Poutatau out of the verdict over the final furlong. Symbol had anything but a good run in the early stages, but followed up her recent good form by coming home strongly into third place from Pleading. Gold Flight stopped very badly in the last two furlongs.

THE VOTING IN WAIPAWA.

The by-election for Waipawa is over and the new Member for the district is Mr C. G. E. Harker. An untried candidate is not always successful in entering Parliament at his first attempt, and Mr Harker is to be congratulated on the fight he put up and on the decisive majority he scored over his opponent. The new Member should be an acquisition to the ranks of the Opposition. He is an effective speaker, and with more experience will develop into a vigorous debater.

Although the final returns are not yet available, the figures are sufficiently complete for analysis and for a comparison with the voting in 1938. The surprising feature of parison with the voting in 1938. The surprising feature of the election is that although the Nationalist vote is smaller than it was two years ago, the Nationalist majority has jumped from 446 to more than 1600. When all the absentee and soldiers' votes are counted it will be larger still.

Since the last election, the number of persons entitled to vote has increased from 10,300 to about 11,000. The weather was fine and there was no excuse for a light noll. Yet it would was fine and there was no excuse for a light poll. Yet it would appear that 2500 or more electors failed to record their votes. The most feasible explanation of this defection, which reduced Mr Christie's total from 4624 in 1938 to 2974 plus his share of the absentee and soldiers' votes, is that the members of the Democratic Labour Party stayed at home. Mr Lee threatened to split the Labour Party, and as far as Waipawa is concerned he has certainly made his influence felt.

The significance of Saturday's vote will not be lost on the Government, nor, for that matter, on the Opposition. Nationalists were naturally elated on Saturday night as the returns were announced, but if our interpretation of the figures is correct, there has been no serious reaction against the Socialist policy of the Government. Rather has the Government been rebuffed for not being sufficiently advanced to please the extremists in the Labour movement. It is a disquieting situation and one that must lead to considerable misgivings about the future.

The Democratic Labour party has announced its intention of contesting every seat at the next General Election. The People's Movement, which has yet to assume serious proportions, harbours a similar ambition, and it is hard to say what will be the result of four sets of candidates submitting themselves to the electors.

Having been warned, the Government will no doubt take steps to meet the position, and Parliament may be asked to amend the Electoral Act to provide for preferential voting. The system is by no means ideal, and sometimes produces unexpected complications. Bargaining for second preference votes does not add dignity or credit to the conduct of an elec-tion, but self preservation is the first law of nature, and when a political party is fighting for its life the end can easily be made to justify the means.

THE BOMBING OF COVENTRY.

Since the bombing of St. Paul's in the height of the German air onslaught on London, there has been no news from Great Britain to inspire such horror and anger as the story of the murderous attack on the Warwickshire city of Coventry. It is the old tale: the enemy 'planes were kept at a tremendous height by the defensive barrage, and so they loosed their bombs indiscriminately over the streets and houses of the city. The result is a composite picture of devastation. Streets have been wiped out; the beautiful cathedral has been destroyed; and the total number of casualties is ap-

True to their tradition in war, the German airmen seem to have been singularly successful in missing military objectives—and there are many in the Coventry area—and have created most havoc in what may be termed the civilian quarters of the city. No doubt the destruction of the Three Spires, which have made Coventry a landmark on the Midland plain for centuries, is regarded in Germany as a major war operation, but the fact remains that the most notable achievement of the Luftwaffe in the Midlands, as in London, has been the destruction of property and a tragic increase in the human suffering already caused directly by Germany's

There are several deductions to be drawn from the attack on Coventry. The most obvious is that the Axis was compelled to do something to offset the disaster suffered by Italy during the week. German air operations over London have become steadily more difficult and more costly, and therefore the Midlands, which is known the world over as a manufacturing centre, was a fairly logical choice for a fullstrength attack.

But the reasons for the move probably go deeper than this, and the simplest explanation is that the leaders of Germany, faced with the immediate approach of the second winter of a war which, as they have told the German people on innumerable occasions, has long been virtually ended, feel compelled to produce some tangible result for the enormous learners the National States of the contract o mous losses the Nazi air force has suffered since the commencement of the blitzkrieg against Britain. At the same time, the bombardment of Coventry may be taken as a German admission that the ceaseless British raids on Germany and Italy are hurting a great deal more than the dictators bargained for when they launched their total war. But retaliation is a dangerous game for the enemy to play, and Dr Goebbels will be hard put to it to prove that the bombing of Coventry cancels out the crippling of the Italian

The Home Guard

Wairoa, Nov. 16.

Sir,—I wish to make an appeal to all returned soldiers who are not in any military organisation to join up with the Home Guard. Membership is open to all between the ages of 16 and 60 but my concern is chiefly with returned soldiers who account of their previous training and experience, must necessarily be the backbone of the organisation and must certainly should give the public a lead.

Recruiting up to the present has and must certainly should give the public a lead.

Recruiting up to the present has not been as good as one would expect in the Hastings district. However, the organisation has been started in the right way. We have a capable and enthusiastic leader in Mr Dixon and he has collected a band of very able officers. This will ensure that as soon as we can get sufficient recruits matters will be promptly taken in hand and properly regulated from the commencement.

The necessity for a Home Guard is becoming more and more apparations.

The necessity for a Home Guard is becoming more and more apparent every day. The swing of world events must convince us that we should prepare to the utmost. Unpreparedness to-day is a crime against humanity. Preparation is the answer to all gangster nations with aggressive intentions.

I say that if our Empire had been prepared in September 1938 to bomb Berlin. Hamburg and elsewhere as we are now doing there would have been no war in Europe to-day. If we organise here for defence no nation is going to come thousands of miles to attack us. If we do not, then let us consider the fate of Norway, Denmark, Holland and Belgium.

The question of using the Home Guard in industrial disputes is altogether ridiculous and savours very much to me of subversion—probably Nazi propaganda.—I am, etc.

Questions

Sir,—It was interesting to read the report of the Hastings Borough Council's meeting. On their own admission, members demonstrated the need for a good all-round sports ground capable of catering for the needs of all sports bodies.

I would suggest a ground of 20 or 30 acres. Hastings has an abundance of very suitable land surrounding the town which could be made into a wonderful sports park. Ratepayers do not usually object to a little of their rate moneys being spent wisely on young people's requirements for sport development. Talk of such and-such a sports body having had the ratepayers' masy spent on it too long is in very bad taste, to say the least.

In reply to "Old Ratepayer," it is regrettable that the Hastings Council did not see fit to be represented at the funeral of its late mayor. However, these things do get overlooked somehow.

I have just read the report of a council whose work has been wonderful between the years 1926 and 1932. Amidst strong opposition, this council speaks highly of the saving council Whose work has been wonderful between the years 1926 and 1932. Amidst strong opposition, this council speaks highly of the saving to the people generally through their ownership of electric light, water, gas and transport. Most councils seem to have as their ambition the taking over of such concerns and not to part with such assets to private business.

I don't blame any mayor or council for such happenings. The ratepayers are to blame for allowing a handful of men to override the best interests of the people.—I am, etc.,

News In Brief

A Soldier's Photograph

"On page 5 of to-day's paper (Saturday's) there are three pictures of soldiers," writes a "Daily Mail" reader. "I am convinced that the man 'playing his part in the Battle of Britain' is Private Percy Ware, of Napier, and formerly of Hastings. A friend who has known Private Ware for many years agrees with me."

Breaking-up Ceremony

The Napier Intermediate School's breaking-up ceremony will be held in the Municipal Theatre on Tuesday, December 17, when the dux medal, certificates and sports trophies will be presented. The annual parents' day and gala will take place at the school on the afternoon and evening of Wednesday, December 11.

Drs. Grey and Jardine, the matron and the nursing staff are to be commended for the way they worked, regardless of the smoke and water which they had to wade through. I believe through their efforts many pounds' worth of drugs and stock was saved from damage.

The patients, too, must have appreciated the way the staff so quickly and quietly rescued them from the burning building and made them comfortable on the lawns. Thanks are also due to Mr Stan Clark, Mr A. McCorkindale, Mrs Whaanga and Miss Nicholas, who assisted the staff in the heavy task of restoring order. As one who saw with the shopkeeper and urging them to "Buy British." Later in the day Borough Council workmen arrived on the scene and removed the large white enamel lettering.

Troop Requirements

An indication of the number of troops who would be called to the colours by the end of 1941 was given by Major J. J. Abel in the course of a broadcast address last night. Major Abel was explaining the need for greater support for the Heart-to-Heart" Appeal. He said that by the end of next year between 50,000 and 55,000 men would be sent overseas and another 44,000 men would be required for Home Defence purposes, making a total of 95,000 men under arms.

Members of the Napier unit of the National Military Reserve (Class 2) commenced musketry training on Saturday with a full-day gathering on the foreshore at the southern end of the Marine Parade. After going through their preliminary training the men were keen to commence musketry and after a little groupmusketry, and after a little group-ing practice most of them showed that even after the lapse of years they were still accurate marksmen. The reserve will in future parade every week-end, and will shortly undertake full-scale musketry practice on the rifle range.

Ship Set On Fire And Scuttled To Escape Warship That Was Not British

(United Press Association-Copyright.) (Received November 17, 11.10 p.m.) TAMPICO, Nov. 16.

It is reported that a ship is burning fiercely in the Gulf of Mexico at the mouth of the Panuco River. Watchers on the shore believe it to be the freighter Phrygia (4000 tons) which was one of four German merchant ships which suddenly left Tampico to-night. The other three ships, the Orinoco. Rhein and Idawald, returned to their anchorage in the Panuco River after it had been reported that a British warship intercepted the Phrygia. Since gunfire was not heard it is believed that the burning ship was set on fire by its own crew.

RUGBY, Nov. 15.

Further reconnaissance of the Italian naval base of Taranto has established with certainty that three battleships were crippled during the attack by the Fleet Air Arm on the night of November 11-12, states an official Admiralty communique issued to-day.

Efforts are being made to salvage the battleship of the Littorio class (35,000 tons) which was previously seen to have its forecastle under water and a heavy list to starboard. Auxiliary and salvage vessels are lying alongside on both sides of the ship, and nets have been laid all round for her protection. Pumping is in progress. The bows of the ship have been raised, and she now has a list to port.

Three Battleships

Cepted that the burning ship was set on fire by its own crew.

The German captains of the Idarwald and the Rhein alleged under oath that four destroyers, presumably British or Canadian, pursued them inside Mexican territorial waters. One captain said that a destroyer signalled demanding his surrender and then chased him to within two miles of the coast. The other asserted that a warship tried to Intercept him but the Mexican gunboat Queretaro interfered.

"The vessels acted a little to hastily," commented a B.B.C. broadcast. "The vessels they presumed to be British were United States warships on neutrality patrol in the South Atlantic and the signals picked up were directed to a British merchantman."

It is thought that the German ships had a rendezvous with a raider in the Caribbean.

SOVIET RELATIONSHIP WITH NAZIS ANALYSED

Former Moscow Correspondent's Uncensored Article On "Inside Story"

In view of the visit of M. Molotov to Berlin the question of Soviet-German relations looms large in the focus of topics of interest, "What will Russia do?" is a question to which millions would like the answer. If the question is posed as, "What can Russia do?" the necessity arises to get behind the curtain which veils the conditions inside Russia

In a series of articles in the "New York Times" G. E. R. Gedye has been telling the things the censorship prevented him from telling when he was in Moscow; the "New York Times" has had to close its Moscow office, even a correspondent as favourably disposed towards Russia as Mr Gedye finding it impossible to a specific disposed towards Russia as Mr Gedye finding it impossible to a specific disposed towards Russia as Mr Gedye finding it impossible to a specific disposed towards Russia as Mr Gedye finding it impossible to a specific disposed towards Russia as Mr Gedye finding it impossible to a specific disposed towards Russia as Mr Gedye finding its impossible to a specific disposed towards Russia as Mr Gedye finding its impossible to a specific disposed towards Russia as Mr Gedye finding its impossible to a specific disposed towards Russia as Mr Gedye finding the specific disposed towards Russia ing it impossible to work under the Soviet censorship. The second Cavour-class battleship appears to have been abandoned. She is lying over to starboard, with only the forward part of her upperworks above water. The pilot of one reconnaissance aircraft has reported that four ships can be seen under the water off the entrance to the graving dock in the inner harbour.

The comparative losses sustained at sea and in the air by the British and Italians are the subject of authoritative comment in London, where it is pointed ut that, since Markey entered the war, Britain has lost only one light cruiser, the Calypso, one destroyer escort, and three submarines in engagements with Italians.

Why did the Soviet Union make such a public confession of weaks.

Arm had destroyed four enemy aircraft and damaged one other in the Mediterranean during the period from November 8 to November 10.

The communique continues: "It is now known that Faulmar aircraft of the Fleet Air Arm shot down two Can: 501 and one Cant 506 which were attempting to shadow the Fleet on November 12. The Cant 506 fell in flames close to the Fleet, On November 13 a Cant 501 which attempted to shadow the Fleet was damaged and chased away by fighters."

Why did the Soviet Union make such a public confession of weak-in microscopic form of such a public confession of weak-in microscopic form November 2. Concern at the heavy losses and reverses of the Red Army in Finland was certainly one reason. But as no foreign correspondent was ever allowed anywhere near the Soviet front (the howl of indignation in the Soviet and foreign Communist to their families in Germany.

ATTACK ON CONVOY Attracted Full Force Of Enemy Fire

SKILFUL SEAMANSHIP

British Official Wireless. (Received Nov. 16, 12.45 p.m.) RUGBY, Nov. 15.

Results Soon Known
The final result of the by-election on Saturday was known in Waipukurau at 8.35 p.m., an hour and been completed. Considering the size of the electorate, this reflected excellent organisation and co-operation on the part of the returning officers and their assistants.

The first result was placed on a board in the main street at Waipukurau a few minutes after seven o'clock, and from then on the totals from the 48 booths in the electorate were forwarded at a steady rate. A crowd of several hundred saw the results go up with the usual mingled emotions of such an audience. Progress reports within an hour of the close of voting indicated almost certain victory for Mr Harker.

Both candidates addressed the electors at Waipawa and Waipukurau when the final results came to hand.

The arrival at home ports of the ships of convoy attacked by the German raider makes it possible to give some account of how the skill and seamanship of the masters of the merchant ships made such good use of the breathing space given them by the gallant action of the armed merchant cruiser Jervis Bay in instantly attacking the enemy and concentrating attention on her self for a considerable time, although hopelessly outranged.

There were actually 37 ships in the convoy when it was first attacked. It will be remembered that an Admiralty communique stated that one ship had dropped behind. Of these 37 ships, 32 escaped, four were sunk, and one is still unaccounted for.

Sighted at 6 p.m.

On the afternoon of November 5, the convoy, homeward bound, was steaming on an easterly course in fine, clear weather. Visibility was excellent. The raider was sighted about six pm. G.M.T. between seven and ten miles away.

As soon as the hostile nature of the approaching vessel had been ascertained, the commodore in charge of the convoy made a signal for the convoy to alter course away from the raider. Practically simultaneously, the raider opened fire, and the first salvo fell in the middle of the convoy, fortunately without hitting any ship. Before the second salvo was fired, the Jervis Bay went out at her best speed towards the enemy and, although hopelessly outgunned, concentrated attention on herself.

Outraged Several of the merchant ships opened fire on the raider, but they were seriously outranged. The mas-ships did, throwing out smoke-screens and varying their move-ments in a highly effective manner which undoubtedly greatly hindered the enemy and helped the merchant-men to escape.

Seeking Fresh Victims Having finished with the Jervis Bay, the raider then worked around the convoy to search for further victims. As he did so, the masters of the ships watched him carefully and by skilful manoeuvring and making the maximum use of smoke-screens they greatly widened the distance between themselves and the enemy ship and were able to escape. ship and were able to escape.

A very gallant action much admired by the Navy was that of the Swedish ship Storeholm, which, although she had got clear of the raider, went back at great risk and picked up 65 men of the Jervis Bay.

The merchant captains are loud in their praises of the fine action of the Jervis Bay, Captain Fegen and the ship's company in tackling the raider and providing the convoy with the opportunity to escape.

Dive-Bombers Scream Down At Three-Minute Intervals

(United Press Association-Copyright.) (Received November 16, 12.45 p.m.)

LONDON, Nov. 15. It is officially stated that the city of Coventry, in the Midlands, was heavily attacked by German bombers on Thursday night. The cathedral was destroyed. The casualties may number about 1000. It is known that at least two enemy planes were shot down.

Casualties were pouring into a Midlands hospital when heavy-calibre bombs hit the building, blowing in the windows of the operating theatre. A resultant fire held up the giving of first-aid for some time.

It is revealed that squadron after squadron of German bombers, coming over at three-minute intervals, dive-bombed Coventry in formation. Whole streets were left without a house undamaged. Some streets were wiped out. There are craters in every road throughout the city. From dusk to dawn there was not more than two minutes' freedom from bombs, the raiders coming in waves of 25 and dropping bombs of all types. Bright moonlight favoured the raiders.

Many residents of Coventry are wandering aimlessly among the ruins.

The casualties included many members of the civil defence services, police, and firemen.

herd the homeless to hastily-prepared feeding centres.

It is reported that there is no danger of a food shortage. The Ministry of Food took immediate steps to replace any damaged supplies, which were not great.

A Ministry of Home Security communique, dealing with the raids on Coventry, says: "The scale of the raids was comparable with those of the largest night attacks on London. The enemy was heavily engaged by intensive anti-aircraft fire, which kept the aircraft at a great height and hindered accurate bombing of industrial targets, but the city itself suffered very seriously.

"The attack was begun by the scattering of incendiary bombs over a wide area," the communique adds.

"Fires broke out at many points, and indiscriminate bombardment of the city followed. It is feared that extensive damage was done. Many buildings were destroyed. The people of Coventry bore the ordeal with great courage."

"500 'Planes"

It is authoritatively stated in Berlin that 30,000 incendiary bombs were dropped in the attacks on Coventry. The attacks are claimed to have been the greatest in the history of air warfare.

The Berlin radio stated that more than 500 'planes participated in the attack, dropping 11,000lb. of high-explosive bombs and 66,000lb. of incendiaries. It is claimed that all the factories were set on fire.

The German radio also announced that the attack was a reprisal for the R.A.F. raid on Munich.

Coventry is an industrial city with a population of nearly 200,000. The famous Cathedral of St. Michael's, which is reported to have been destroyed, was a perpendicular structure dating from 1373-94, with conice of the city, with only here and extensive goods-yards. TEN 'PLANES MISSING

United Press Association—Copyright. (Received November 16, 12.45 p.m.)
LONDON, Nov. 15. Another blow was struck at Berlin by the R.A.F. on Thursday night. The German radio admitted that it was the heaviest yet delivered. The four main railway stations all received a severe pasting, large fires being started in all four objectives. An Air Ministry communique states: "Good weather and bright moonlight favoured a heavy attack on Berlin on Thursday night by aircraft of the Bomber Command. High-explosive bombs fell on and around the Schlesischer station and goods-yards. The ranway yards of Putlitz-strasse and Lehrter stations and the Anakleter station, in the centre of the city, and at Templehof were attacked. Fires were started.

The first aircraft of a strong force attacking the Stettiner railway station made the work of their successors even easier by setting the area on fire with heavy bombs, which in turn caused more fires and further explosions. The conflagragration could be seen 30 miles away. The pilots reported that they had left the whole area a mass of flames. The anti-aircraft fire was severe and well-aimed, but one pilot was able to come down at one point of attack to under 1000 feet.

TWO CENTURIES SCORED IN SATURDAY'S CRICKET

New Series Of Games Started In Senior And Reserve Competitions

Fairly low scoring was the rule in the senior games played at Napier and Hastings on Saturday, when a new series in the competition was begun. Two senior matches are being played at Napier and one at Hastings.

Two centuries were scored in all the grades. Hurcomb, who opened for Hastings H.S.O.B., carried his bat for 106, after a first-class innings. Curiously enough, B. Cato, playing for the same club at Hastings in the Junior A grade, compiled 114 in the game with Hastings High School.

Inter-House Teams Meet In Competition At Hastings

The Hawke's Bay women's fifth annual inter-house sports meeting at Nelson Park, Hastings, was held in perfect weather on Saturday night. The display attracted an attendance of some 1500 people, who witnessed a colourful, exciting and sometimes amusing pageant as the ten teams competing, comprising 100 girls, engaged in marching, physical drill, relays and games.

The Alexander Challenge Shield for the team securing the highest aggregate points went to Westerman's, who secured a total of 218.99. The task of the judges in differentiating between teams so evenly matched was probably the least enviable one on the field on Saturday, and it is noteworthy as illustrating the closeness of competition that even the winning team secured only two trophies, the remainder being distributed singly.

The whole programme was run off with a smoothness which was a credit to the organisers (the Hastings Amateur Athletic and Cycling Club). From start to finish there was not a hitch in the sequence of events. No estimate of the proceeds with blue and silver. Club). From start to finish there was not a hitch in the sequence of events. No estimate of the proceeds—which will be contributed to the patriotic funds—is yet available, but

The Mayor of Hastings (Mr G. A. Maddison) commented on the success of the sports in a brief address before he presented the trophies at the conclusion of the competitions.

"I am sure you will agree with me that to-night's programme by far surpasses any similar event during the past five years," he said.

Sportsmanship and Training

Congratulating the girls on their performances and on the sportsmanship shown in every event, Mr Maddison thanked them also for their substantial contribution in this manner to the partialing fund to benefit substantial contribution in this manner to the patriotic fund to benefit the men fighting overseas. The competitors, he said, had set an example of keeping fit at a time when the country wanted to keep the hospitals empty, to "dodge the doctor's fees," and in this manner to play a valuable part in the war effort.

The Mayor congratulated the Athletic Club on its efficient organisation, and thanked the Citizens' Band, which headed the Grand March and provided the music for the marching events. He expressed appreciation of the work of those who had assisted in other directions. The sale of ice cream provided by the Arctic Ice Cream Co. had realised £3 for the fund; Messrs Land and Heighway had supplied the tents necessary, and the gatekeepers had co-operated in giving their services.

"It is only by this unity of effort that we can preserve our individu-ality and carry the Empire through to a great and glorious victory," Mr Maddison concluded.

Native Song Again Beats

PERFORMANCE IMPRESSES

Kathbella Downs Vascones At Greenmeadows

By "MOTUROA"

Native Song proved himself a really good class handi-capper in winning the Waiohiki Stakes and the Gisborne gelding covered himself with glory. For the first six furlongs he was carried along at a sprinting pace by Lindrum, the pair being eight lengths clear at one stage. However, Yogi, who had the run of the race, challenged as soon as Lindrum threw in the towel and Native Song appeared to be beaten a furlong

At the distance Yogi had reached the front and had an advantage of a good neck, but young Fenton drew the whalebone on Native Song and he responded gallantly to come again. In the last 50 yards he came right away from Yogi and he left the impression that he could have gone on for a week had he been required.

Yogi ran a good race and he hit out more freely than on the first day. However, he met a better horse at the weights, especially as his preparation this spring has been interrupted. A furlong from home he looked all over a winner, but he seemed to falter at the half distance and he may have been feeling Old Hunting Cat, always in the firing line, plodded on for an unimpressive third from Lindrum, who ran his best race this season. The latter was responsible for the strong pace throughout the race and the fast time recorded, and he appears to be now on the upgrade.

KATHBELLA was always in a winning position in the Napier Handicap. Beginning more smartly than on the first day at Green-meadows the Hastings mare was in striking distance of the leader, Hunting Blood, at the end of a furlong and she tackled him as soon as Vascones made her bid at the straight entrance. Kathbella reached the front at the distance and she was just coasting along at the finish to beat Vascones by nearly a length. The impression was gained that Kathbella is right back to her best.

Beginning smartly with Burra

now he is up in the weights he is Four in a Line The Meeanee Handicap, a race for apprentice riders, was productive of a wonderful finish, the first day's winner Shani prevailing by a head from Boatsong, who was half a head in front of City Song, Royal Pageant being only a nose further off. How-ever, the honours were with Shani, would justify his favouritism when he drove through. However, he was immediately challenged by Boatsong short nose further back.

Sunny Knight again showed great early speed to take up the running from the first furlong. He was attended in the early stages by Rivertide, Kinariki, Dainty Dell and Dusky Morn, who was showing up on the outer with Lady Ex. Silvertime who support to suffer a LANG BIAN is a particularly handsome horse and closely resembles his famous sire. He was a good winner in the best class races, in France.

MASSINE. Lang Blan's sire, was a high-class winner in France, and also beat the Derby winner Papyrus in the Ascot Gold Cup. He has twice headed the winning sires' list in France and he introduces a fresh strain of St. Simon blood through that great galloper La Camargo.

FOREST TRACK'S pedigree is well known. Not only is she by that great brood mare sire Tracery, but her third dam is that wonderful mare La Fleche, the third dam of Beau Pere and Gay Shield, two of the most successful sires in New Zealand in modern times.
