CHRISTCHURCH, Jan. 29.

A denial of reports that the drawing of a second ballot for overseas services was to be made shortly was given in an interview to-day by the Minister of National Service (the Hon. R. Semple). The first overseas ballot was gazetted on December 4 and only a few of the men drawn have so far entered camp.

Replying to a question as to whether a second ballot was to be drawn soon, Mr Semple said that the subject had not been discussed by him with the Director of Nationof Service (Mr J. S. Hunter) and no instructions had been issued by the Government that a ballot was to take place.

United Press Association-Copyright (Received January 30, 0.15 a.m.) LONDON, Jan. 29.

The Athens Radio reports that "Greeks smashed two big Italian attacks in the central sector. Greek artillery laid down a deadly barrage under which the Italians broke and fled, four tanks being destroyed.

It is now established that the Italians' desperate attempt to secure a tardy success in Albania completely failed, the Greeks using blankets soaked in petrol to stem surprise tank attacks. The Greeks hide behind rocks and bushes until the tanks are almost on top of them, then rush out and throw the blankets, which become entangled in the caterpillar tracks and set fire to the tanks.

Hospital Bombed

It is officially stated in Athens that Italian aircraft bombed a military hospital at Salonika on Tuesday, killing a member of the staff and injuring ten others, including four patients.

The Athens correspondent of "The Times" in an earlier message said that, with a slight improvement in the weather, operations on the Albanian front are losing their predominantly local character. This especially applies to the central sector. Although actions in this region remain formally local, yet the fact that they are chiefly centred on certain key points of wide strategic significance suggests that they will presently lead to results sufficiently important to be publicly revealed.

The Navy gunboat Charleston has rescued 47 passengers and members of the crew from the Kvichak. Three persons are unaccounted for and believed lost, while 13 persons remained aboard the Kvichak.

MAJORITY FAVOUR AID TO BRITAIN

LONDON, Jan. 28.

In a graphic dispatch sent by courier to a cable station from somewhere in Eritrea, the special correspondent of the British United Press describes the quick British penetration of Eritrea, particularly emphasising the effectiveness of the two-prong drive.

The British, he says, split into two forces after crossing the frontier, and met again at a point 35 miles from Agordat, near Bisha.

All along the line the British are advancing inexorably, he adds. Indian troops with fixed bayonets are playing a prominent part, although the Italians have resisted at only three points. DEADLY AERIAL

General John Metaxas was responsible for the brilliant military strategy that led ultimately to Italy's defeat on Greek soil after being led on by apparent weaknesses in the defence.

He had a long and varied career in the politics of his nation.

In 1926 he was Minister of Communications, and in 1935 was appointed Secretary of State. He had a hand in the return of King George II., who had been in exile from 1924 to 1935 in England.

Strange Position Strange Position

Strange Position

Following the arrival of King George, the Grecian elections resulted in a curious position, the Venezelists, together with some smaller parties, having 142 seats and their opponents 143.

M. Demerdjis formed a Cabinet, but within a month both M. Venezelos and M. Demerdjis were dead, and General Metaxas, then Minister of War, became Premier.

and General Metaxas, then Minister of War, became Premier.

Early in August, 1936, martial law was proclaimed. The Chamber was dissolved and with the King's approval General Metaxas became a miniature dictator in Greece. He was ardently patriotic, and before the Italian invasion of Greece in October of last year had maintained strict neutrality.

Integrity Defended Integrity Detended

It will be recalled that it was on the snap decision of Metaxas that Greece decided to defend her integrity in defiance of Mussolini's military might. The success of the Greek campaign in Albania is due in no small measure to the inspiration provided by the beloved dictator.

tator.

Typical of the devotion and loyalty accorded Metaxas by his people was the comment of the Hawke's Bay Greek community when they learnt of his death last night. "Heaven help the Greeks" commented one of his countrymen who explained that under Metaxas's regiment the nation has been united for the first time in its history.

Wellington Education Authority

By Telegraph—Press Association
WELLINGTON, Jan. 29.
The Wellington Education Board, at its monthly meeting to-day, received legal advice to the effect that the action of its officers in paying into the public account £51,000 received from the Wellington City Council for the board's Mercer Street property was an error of law for which the officers responsible for the payment might possibly be held legally responsible to the board. The money would not be recoverable if the Education Department liked to make use of the technical defences open to it, it was said. or the payment might possibly be held legally responsible to the board. The money would not be recoverable if the Education Department liked to make use of the technical defences open to it, it was said.

The matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

On April 5, 1938, the board sold its Mercer Street property to the City Council for £51,000, and the board paid the money into the public account on April 7 of that year. The bank receipt was posted to the Director of Education.

Request For Refund

At a sequest For Refund

The payment might possibly be to the to the possible to the pright time, as any delay would spoil the element of surprise, and so high navigational skill was entailed.

Dive-bombing is used by naval aircraft when torpedo work is impossible, and here again a long period of training was needed to develop this technique. The main reason for the naval use of divebombing is that the expectation of hits is greater than from high altitude bombing.

Formidable Craft

Request For Refund
At a meeting of the board in December last Colonel T. W. McDonald submitted that the board had erred in handing over the £51,000 to the Education Department, and moved that the board call on the Department to refund the amount, less the cost of a new office building, site and equipment in Abel Smith Street, and any moneys which the board had spent on technical education since the Legislation Act, 1928, was passed.

Act, 1928, was passed.

An amendment moved by Mr C.

H. Nicholls that the board obtain its solicitors' opinion on the matter was carried.

In many other instances aircraft torpedo attack proved its worth. The naval officer instanced the phenomenal success of the attack by three naval aircraft on Italian ships in the Cretian roadstead, when three torpedoes were fired and four enemy craft destroyed. The "New York Times" Belgrade correspondent says that a traveller from Italy has reported additional serious disturbances at Milan and Turin. He said that a huge crowd demonstrated at the Milan railway station, where German guards were posted on January 25.

Another traveller from Italy confirmed the incident and said that the crowd was armed with knives and pistols. The militia blocked off adjacent streets and battered the demonstrators. It is understood that a similar crowd marched and demonstrated at a Milan aircraft factory at the same time.

Fascist militia fired on striking workmen who were demonstrating and caused casualties, continues the correspondent. According to high correspondent. Casualties at Trieste

Numerous sources carry reports of rioting in Italy. The Fascist police are reported to have been forced to fire on demonstrators at Trieste, causing a number of casualties including two killed. The demonstrators are stated to have carried slogars demanding pages denouging gans demanding peace, denouncing the Fascist regime and condemning

Similar demonstrations are reported from many smaller towns in the Po valley. "The Times" Belgrade correspondent says that the rioting at Trieste was followed by the arrest of workers in the Lloyd and Triestino factories for anti-rioting at Trieste was followed by the arrest of workers in the Lloyd and Triestino factories for anti-Fascist demonstrations.

The "Daily Telegraph" Belgrade correspondent says that German intervention in Milan is reported to have caused much bitterness and anti-Mussolini feeling.

The Rumanian Prime Minister, General Antonescu, in a statement to-day, reaffirmed that Rumania would "march without hesitation at the side of the great Fuhrer and Duce. Rumania's loyalty to the Axis is not a political attitude but a state of conscience from which she cannot depart."

The success of the Taranto attack might be mainly attributed to perfecting the technique over two decades. All naval aircraft are designed as dive-bombers, and Skuas exclusively so, but Swordfish are also excellent for the purpose. The latter also carry a heavy load of bombs and their ease of manoeuvrability makes them almost equal to the Skuas. Skuas.

Skuas.
All British naval dive-bombing types are superior to the German Stuka. Dive-bombing was carried out by Swordfish craft against German troops in the spring, and they recently obtained highly successful results against Italian aerodromes in Sardinia, Sicily and the Dodcanese. Dodecanese.

He recalled that the first occasion in history when a major unit of an enemy fleet was destroyed by aircraft attacks was when Skuas gained a success against the German cruiser of the Konigsberg class at Bergen.

Britain Superior.

After an honest, careful analysis of statistics it was fair to say that British naval aircraft's dive-bombing was far ahead of the German. Speaking of future dive-bombing the naval officer said that although Britain had been very lucky in suffering few casualties as a whole when using this method as compared with the high Stuka losses, dive-bombing might become very expensive as a result of improved methods of defence and—although it seemed a long way off—it might become unprofitable in naval warfare.

The high standard of exhibits in the pig section was favourably commented upon by the judge, Mr E. Wall, Hastings. He said that the general standard in all classes was exceptionally good and greatly improved on the last Wairoa Show.

"The Berkshire bears were outproved on the last Wairoa Show.

"The Berkshire boars were outstanding and would compete with credit to their exhibitors in any company," said Mr Wall. "The Berkshire sow, winner of the award for a pig most suitable for breeding baconers, was of the true English type."

The Tamworths were a splendid type."

The Tamworths were a splendid type brought out in excellent condition, said Mr Wall. The porkers and baconers were pigs ideal for export trade, and would compete favourably in any show in the Dominion

YOUTHS CONVICTED

Socks And Tobacco Stolen

PLEAS OF GUILTY Two youths, Keith Eustace Burton, 18, and George Moore, 19, appeared before Messrs J. Stickland, J.P., and A. Dysart, J.P., in the Hastings Police Court yesterday to plead guilty to three charges of theft. Both were convicted and ordered to come up for sentence if called on within 12 months.

They were charged with the theft

They were charged with the theft of one pair of socks valued at 5/-, the property of L. W. Maulstead, one pair of socks valued at 3/6, the property of A. A. Lean, and 4lb. of tobacco valued at 4/4, the property of S. Dillon the opinion that the income should certainly be spent.

The main difficulty seemed to be that funds could not be expended without relieving the contributory boards of their obligations, and this was expressly forbidden in the deed of trust

NEW PROVISIONS EXPLAINED

EXAMINING ROLL

Declaration Votes To vote by declaration, an elector would have to certify that he had good reason to believe that his name was not on the roll and that his name was entitled to be on the roll. Any elector making a false declaration was liable to a fine of

"When an elector arrives at a polling booth and discovers that his name is not on the roll," continued Mr O'Connell, "he usually questions the Deputy-Returning Officer's pronouncement, and this causes a great deal of inconvenience and loss of time. The Deputy-Returning Officer is not responsible for the roll and must follow it without question."

The Returning Officer said that all the usual disruptions on election day could be obviated if every ratepayer made a point of examining the roll before it closed on February 15.

Purging Roll

Note-Taking Is Permitted

APPEAL BOARDS

Ruling Given At Wellington By Telegraph-Press Association WELLINGTON, Jan. 29. Following the incident yesterday arising from the discovery of representatives of pacifist organisations taking notes at the first sitting of the Armed Forces Board, the board decided to-day that note-taking be permitted.

decided to-day that note-taking be permitted.

The chairman (Mr. W. F. Stilwell) said that the provisions under the Commissions of Inquiry Act applied to the proceedings, and it was provided by regulation that appeals should be heard in public and in appropriate cases might be held in private.

It seemed clear, he said, that in the absence of an express provision to the contrary, the course adopted in civil courts should be followed, and the taking of notes by a member of the public should be permitted.

"This privilege may be suspended where in individual cases it is so decided or where the conduct of those taking notes interferes with the proper exercise of the board's functions," said the chairman. "This opinion must in no sense be regarded as a protection or authority for the improper use of such notes when taken."

There have been many exciting films of the air, such as "Ceiling Zero," "Wings" and "Dawn Patrol," but never before has the screen told the story of the career girls of the sky. Virginia Bruce plays the role of a charming and efficient hostess. She persuades Dennis Morgan, who plays the part of an ace pilot, to take a job as teacher in a school for hostesses when he is grounded because his eyesight is failing. Everything goes along smoothly until Morgan learns that the army is going to test a stratosphere 'plane that he and Wayne Morris, in the role of his co-pilot, have designed. Dennis makes the test flight in an exciting aviation scene. exciting aviation scene.

BETTE DAVIS WITH ERROLL FLYNN

"Elizabeth And Essex" Stirring Story

"The Private Lives of Elizabeth and Sssex," the new Technicolour production starring Bette Davis and Errol Flynn, will open to morrow at the Regent Theatre, Hastings, car-rying to still greater heights the parade of new season hits.

A two year-old boy, Alan Lees, whose parents live at 88 Richmond Terrace, Woolston, was drowned in parade of new season hits.

Bette Davis, of course, is cast as the self-willed, vain and domineering Queen Elizabeth, torn between her love of England and its people and her overwhelming love for the handsome and dashing young Earl of Essex. Flynn as Essex has precisely the type of role in which he has endeared himself to audiences the world over—that of a handsome, swash-buckling hero, as victorious swash-buckling hero, as victorious in love as he is in war. But his victory over Elizabeth is shortlived in the film; for loving him, she sends him the the transfer of the state of the st nim to the executioner's block, be nim to the executioner's block, be-cause she realises that if England is to live, Essex must die. Played against the spectacular background of the pomp and pageantry of the Elizabethan court, the love story is still the all-important theme on which the film is focussed.

which the film is focussed.

The brilliant supporting cast for the two stars includes Olivia de Havilland, Donald Crisp, Vincent Price, Henry Stephenson, Alan Hale, Ralph Forbes, Henry Daniell, James Stephenson, Nanette Fabares, Robert Warwick and Leo G. with a canvas crammed with high-geared thrills, desperate adventures, resounding naval encounters, pulsating acts of individual heroism, and adorned with the bluff, sardonic humour of the British bluejacket and men of the merchant service, this large-scale production fulfils up to the hilt every demand for a topical drama extolling Britain's command of the seas. Its direct, unadorned acting serves to throw into greater relief the reality of the subject matter, while a human story effectively serves to give the otherwise individual naval battles complete unity.

A flagship, expecting leave, is ordered to sea without a breathing space, to convoy a fleet of merchantmen. Among the latter is a tough old skipper who thinks he can do better away from the convoind takes his ship, packed with refugees, on a course of his own.

Tomato Juice Substituted For Orange Juice For Babies

(Contributed by the Department of Health.)

Evidence proves that there is a close relation between general health, both bodily and mental, and diet, and that to a large extent "we are what we eat." In this question scientific observation and daily experience agree in giving fruit an important place in the dietary and in this connection tomatoes are of such a value that it is advisable to make tury A.D.

A few years ago a child's sandal knitted in coloured wool by the same method as we employ to-day was found on the site of the town of Antince in Egypt. Also found was a sample of fine knitting in cotton yarn in a diamond pattern worked in plain and purl, suitable for a fancy gauntlet for a glove.

Both articles now repose in the City of Leicester's Museum.

The first recorded mention of hand knitting is by Hermbstadt in "Grundiss der Technologic." who this connection tomatoes are of such a value that it is advisable to make as much use of them as possible. Their value lies not only in their fine flavour for forming the basis of soups, for drinks, for egg and tomato dishes, for macaroni, etc., thus promoting digestion and indirectly affecting nutrition, but they also have an important direct nutritional value — they are rich sources of Vitamin C. This vitamin is supplied by raw fruits and vegetables, and is inclined to be in short supply in our New Zealand dietary, particularly in winter time.

hand knitting is by Hermbstadt in "Grundiss der Technologic," who states that knitting was known in Italy in the thirteenth century, as the hands of the corpse of Pope Innocent IV. were clother in silk knitted gloves.

During King Henry IV.'s reign knitting was known to his subjects, and when the Normans invaded Britain the peasants of Scotland and England wore woven woollen caps.

These knitted caps came into general use among the poorer classes.

Knitting performed by machinery originated, it is said, through the romance of the Rev. William Lee, of St. John's College, Cambridge.

He was very much in love with a young woman who caused him much concern because she always seemed more interested in her knitting than himself.

So he determined to invent a machine that would eliminate hand knitting. He accomplished his task about the year 1589, and taught his rela-

Eventually his invention was shown to Queen Elizabeth, who showed much interest; but was very disappointed that it could only produce the course were to the course were the course were to the course were the course were to the course were the course

Lambs On Firm Market PROBLEMS OF N.Z. Yesterday

STORTFORD LODGE SALE

Slack Demand For Most Store Cattle

Some 6000 head of store sheep came on to a firm market at Stortford Lodge yesterday, with competition evident at steady rates for all top lines of lambs.

Other classes of sheep were not always in such demand but averaged out at reasonable rates according to quality. More than 600 head of store cattle met with very little inquiry, much of the offering, especially in the opening stages, being passed in. Later, however, bidding for some of the top quality lines improved slightly to meet with vendors' approval. Empty cows were not in demand.

A good average quality yarding of 150 head of beef sold, on the whole, to an easier demand. There were a number of bullocks penned, which sold to competition, but the inquiry for cows and heifers was below that of last week. Selling was again inclined to be erratic.

Mr W. A. Iorns Reviews Questions

By Telegraph—Press Association CARTERTON, Jan. 29. Commenting on farmers' prob-lems, Mr W. A. Iorns, Martinbor-ough, ex-chairman of the Pairy Board, stated that he had lately been in Auckland and while there he had noticed in a newspaper a cable from London referring to the shortage of wool in England and stating that substitutes were being used and were surprisingly satisfactory.

"I have been shown, while in Auckland, by one of the biggest soft goods firms, very large stocks of wearing apparel made from this artificial wool and manufactured in Bradford," said Mr Iorns. "It certicible is heaviful but here is the tainly is beautiful, but here is the point: This artificial product is allowed into New Zealand duty free, but should similar articles contain but should similar articles contain one fibre only or a little more of pure wool, twenty per cent. duty would be imposed. On figures taken from the last statistics of world returns of production of artificial wool, the output is three times the amount of real wool produced in Australia in one wear.

ed the grading, particularly in the Hawke's Bay and Auckland pro-vinces, that the farmers lost a very vinces, that the farmers lost a very considerable amount of money. The extra Southdown grade asked for by the Imperial Government was strongly advocated by Mr Forsyth, the Meat Board's London manager, when he addressed a meeting in Carterton on his last visit to New Zealand. One member of the Meat Board strongly opposed this, although he had no London experience.

"Farmer Penalised"

"Whether it is correct or not, I am not able to say, but it appears to me that the farmer is badly penalised by the price he had to pay for fencing wire," said Mr Iorns. "Before the war the importer's profit was based at £2 a ton, but now, though the wire comes through only one channel, that channel is allowed a profit of £6 a ton. Why? Surely it will not be necessary for the farmers to build up another organisation to see that the Farmers' Union, the New Zealand Wool Council, the Agricultural The Phote, 132 nicely-grown wether lambs 187, 2 187, 4 187, 5 187

AN UNOFFICIAL VISIT

The visit of Mr Wendell Willkie to Great Britain has set a historic precedent. The opponent of Mr Roosevelt in the presidential election has gone to Britain to see how the last great democracy in Europe is withstanding the full fury of totalitarian attack, and he has gone with the support and encouragement of the President.

During the election campaign Mr Willkie made no secret of his whole-hearted sympathy with Great Britain. He pledged the Republicans to the fullest possible measure of support—as usual, "short of war"— and he repeatedly accused President Roosevelt of niggardliness in the volume of assistance which the Democratic candidate proposed to give Britain in her struggle.

Mr Willkie's visit is a "gesture" in the fullest sense of that expressive and overworked word. Further, as the "Observer" pointed out the other day, there is a certain symbolism in the visit which has not been lost in Berlin.

There is no diplomatic intrigue about Mr Willkie's mission, but the welcome he has received from the British people makes it plain that the significance of his visit has not been overlooked. He represents the ordinary citizen of the United States, the man who is capable of seeing past the narrow isolationist theories to which a few-including a number in Mr Willkie's own party-still cling, and his arrival in England is regarded as a tangible demonstration of the essential unity of the English-speaking peoples in the face of a common danger.

There is no question of Mr Willkie's failing to be profoundly impressed by what he sees in Britain. Fortunately or unfortunately—it depends on the point of view—he has so far been spared an illustration of the highest manifestation of Nazi culture, the "total" air attack by night, but he can see the evidence of what has happened in Britain and what will most assuredly come to the United States if Britain should

Mr Willkie's mission is the logical outcome of the demand of the American people for a speeding-up of American aid to

Months ago the United States began to realise that it could not live in a totalitarian world. Instinctively and immediately, when the surrender of France left Great Britain as the only surviving outpost of democracy in Europe, the American people knew that they must resist, but, like the people of Britain in the years before the war, they have been more ready than their leaders to face the implications of full support for one of the belligerents in the European conflict. The re-election of President Roosevelt for a third term was a logical outcome of this wave of national determination, and Mr Roosevelt has set about the business without loss of time. In his own picturesque phraseology, the American people have realised that "there is now no world fire department, and when your neighbour's house is burning under such unfortunate circumstances you lend him the garden hose without worrying about a price or an exchange.'

The President is following out his plan, and the enlistment of Mr Willkie in the common cause is a political masterstroke.

ITALIAN UNREST

Sooner or later a great upheaval must come in Italy. It may take the form of a popular movement to establish a constitutional monarchy, or it may be an out-and-out revolution brought about by a national reaction against the Fascist system which has led the Italian people to disaster.

It is possible that it is yet too soon to look for any revolt on a national scale, but there can be little doubt that the outbreaks in Milan and Turin are the first signs of the storm that is coming.

The reports that German troops are pouring into Italy are a plain enough indication that the situation, from the Axis viewpoint, is sufficiently desperate to warrant a virtual military occupation by Germany. This move may bolster up the Fascist system for a time, but it is difficult to see how Germany can save anything from the wreck of the Italian Empire in Africa. The position in Libya is hopeless, while in Eritrea, Italian Somaliland, and Abyssinia the complete collapse of the Italian defences is only a matter of time .

On the other hand, while the transfer of considerable German forces to Italy may keep the Italians in check, it must not be forgotten that any further liabilities undertaken by Hitler must weaken his attack on the principal objective—

The temperature at Marble Bar, Western Australia, for the past 102 days has exceeded 102 degrees, and Australia's hottest town may break its 18 years old record of 106 days at more than 100 degrees, says a "Daily Mail" special service message from Sydney dated January 24. The temperature at noon on January 23 was 109 degrees. The highest temperature ever recorded in Marble Bar is 120.5 degrees,

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Although, under the Transport Act the Minister of Transport ranks as the sole appeal authority, it is not the Hon. R. Semple's intention to act in that capacity any longer in any appeals in which the Railway Department is concerned, in view of the fact that he has now taken over the portfolio of Railways. He will, however, continue to determine appeals as between road operators. He said yesterday that a change in the procedure would require an amendment to the Act.—Press Association.

New House Name

Maori names are given to many houses in New Zealand, but some of them are most unsuitable when translated into English. Happily, most of the householders who proudly mis-name their homes are ignorant of the errors they commit. In Forfar Street, St. Albans, Christ-church, a resident has run no risks with the Maori tongue, and has evolved an original name—"Emoh Ruo." Anyone who has heard the tale of the hotel guest in Wales who asked the meaning of the "Welsh" inscription "tam htab" on the bath-room floor, will soon translate the house's name. house's name.

The late-comer to a London concert hall, who imagined he was visiting a variety entertainment, arrived in time to hear a performance not at all to his taste.

The visiting bishop, after a very cold winter's drive, arrived just a few minutes before evensong at an out-of-the-way church to find a steaming hot whisky toddy thoughtfully left for him in the vestry. Without touching this, however, he proceeded to robe himself and called for the verger.

"My friend," he said, beaming at his would-be benefactor, "I do sincerely appreciate your kindness and thoughtfulness in providing for me a hot drink that would appear to be a —er—a stimulant. But I must gratefully decline for three reasons. In the first place I am a lifelong teetotaller; secondly, I am making Temperance the subject of my sermon this evening; and, thirdly, I've had one already."

Heckler (to candidate at election meeting): As far as I am concerngoing in at one ear and out at the other. Candidate: Well, and what's to prevent it?

Cricket Alteration

Cricketers in the reserve grade are advised of an alteration in the draw for Saturday's games in Hastings, the teams affected being Whakatu-Mahora v Rugby, and Fruitworkers v Midland. The game between the first-mentioned teams will be played on No. 1 ground Nelson Park, not Cornwall Park as announced in the draw, while the latter teams' ground is changed from Nelson Park No. 1 to Cornwall Park No. 1.

League of Nations Union

League of Nations Union

The annual conference of the New Zealand League of Nations Union was opened at Wellington yesterday by the Bishop of Wellington. The president (Mr T. C. Brash) said that lasting peace could be established only if there were a desire for it. He believed there was a sincere desire that destruction, suffering, bitterness and hate should cease. To be successful a League of Nations would have to be backed by public opinion. Some form of league would have to be evolved in the future and because they believed that they were keeping their organisation alive.—Press Association.

Auckland Anniversary

The anniversary of Auckland Province was celebrated yesterday in occasional scattered showers, with frequent bursts of sunshine. The annual regatta on Waitemata Harbour provided picturesque yachting scenes. The sailing craft made fast times before a stiff westerly breeze. The popular beaches were crowded with picnickers. Ellerslie racecourse was thronged for the concluding day of the midsummer meeting. The Auckland lawn tennis championships were continued, despite the early showers, and the bowling clubs held open and club tournaments. A large number travelled to Hamilton for the regatta and carnival, and to Papakura and Ngarauwhia military camps, both of The anniversary of Auckland Pro-

RESTRICTED SCHEME TO GO ON

MR SEMPLE'S VIEW

Hydro-Electricity And Railways

By Telegraph—Press Association CHRISTCHURCH, Jan. 29. Under the change made in the administration of Public Works resulting from the transfer of the administration of Public Works resulting from the transfer of the portfolio of Public Works from the Hon. R. Semple, who had held it since Labour's accession to power in 1935, to the Hon. H. T. Armstrong, the restricted programme put into operation by Mr. Semple after the outbreak of war will be continued.

This is confined to essential lines nearing completion.

Essential Jobs.

In an interview to day Mr. Semple said the Government intended to restrict public works to a programme of really essential jobs. Employees on these jobs were now down to 9,000, as compared with 25,000 when the work was at its peak before the war.

Although work on the construction of railways had been slowed down, it would have to go on until the lines were completed. This work could not be stopped, and it would be a sheer waste to stop it.

Hydro-electric development was essential because of the rising demand for light and power. The Government intended to keep on raising the demand because it was planning New Zealand's future. Many jobs had been slowed down through war necessity, but it would be fatal to stop them.

"It is specifically provided in the regulations that any person who becomes a member of an enrolled class of the Reserve must forthwith apply for enrolment (that is, he must furnish a duly completed registration form) if he does not, within 28 days of becoming a member, receive a certificate of enrolment from the Director of National Service.

strong) as the Dominion's most essential building needs.

Explaining the linking of the portfolios of Housing and Public Works, Mr Armstrong said to-day that the Government had to control building. The Direction of Housing was the controller of building, and his job was to decide which class of building was most essential and to concentrate on those jobs.

In some parts of New Zealand, Mr Armstrong said, the housing shortage was most acute and the Housing Department had to concentrate on centres where the work of home building was most essential.

It is readily conceded that the broadcasting of British news in present circumstances must be given wide scope, but specially because of the immense time advantage of radio transmission it is maintained that scrupulous equality of official treatment should be accorded to the Press. This B.B.C. advantage is in addition to the benefit of the instantaneous transmissions of news by radio into the homes of overseas newspaper readers without the normal time lag due to cabling, sub-diting, etc.

He said that so far £15,380,000 had been spent, while revenue amounted to about £18,000,000. Of the latter figure, £9,000,000 had been found by loan and £8,000,000 by taxation, including £3,580,000 from the national security tax

MEN COMPLIMENTED

By Telegraph—Press Association CHRISTCHURCH, Jan. 29. An early investigation into the operation of the Railway Department will be made by the new Minister (the Hon. R. Semple).

"I shall be on the look out for leakages and weak links in the chain," said Mr. Semple. "If any are found, I shall not hesitate to do my duty as a Minister of the Crown irrespective of individuals.

irrespective of individuals.

"I am taking over at a time when the country is fighting for its existence," he said, "and I want efficiency. My policy has been service and still more service; efficiency and still more efficiency. That will be applied now in the Railway Department at the outset.

Majority are Loyal.

"I know that the great majority of railway servants are good, loyal and efficient men; they have given the country good service in the past and they will do so in the future. In taking over this department, I am pleased and delighted to be associated with these men. I am looking forward to a pleasant time.

"We will face the facts squarely," continued Mr. Semple. "Our most sacred possession—liberty—is at stake. We will have to work for its preservation as much as we have to fight for it. There can be no slacking on the job. This is not the time for taking things easy. We want service up to the maximum. Slacking to-day is nothing short of a crime. Any Minister who condones offences of that sort is more guilty than the individual. I shall condone none."

"Day for Economy."

Asked if he would look into economies, the Minister replied: "Certainly I shall. To-day is a day for economy; it is a day of save. Waste will be cut out. We want the maximum effort, and we are entitled to expect a fair spin from everyone—in other words, everyone must pull his weight. There is no other way out in the position before us to-day. We have to ensure that every individual plays his or her part." "Day for Economy."

part."

Mr. Semple said that he had not yet had time to formulate any detailed policy, and it was too early yet to say whether any changes of administration would be effected. He could not get down to detail until he had the opportunity of making a survey of the operations of his new department.

MINISTER'S VIEW

Socialisation Not Intended

By Telegraph—Press Association CHRISTCHURCH, Jan. 29.

The real job, as visualised by the Hon. R. Semple, who now holds the portfolios of Railways, Transport and Marine, is to bring about the measure of co-ordination necessary to give the highest degree of effi-ciency in the transport system. After he had made this declara-tion in an interview to-day, the Minister reaffirmed that it was not his intention to socialise the trans-port industry, and he gave an emphatic disavowal that socialisation had ever been contemplated by the had ever been contemplated by the Government.

The principle of co-ordination for service had prompted the Prime Minister to bring the transport systems of the Dominion under one control, Mr Semple said.

"As soon as I can gather up threads and bits, and have time to have a really good look at things, the necessary steps will be taken.

A reduction of petrol consumption should appeal to every businessman at a time like this, unless he has a mind full of political prejudice and unwarranted superficial fears. PRECAUTIONS TAKEN BY BROADCASTING SERVICE

Deputy-Controller Is Convinced That Information Leakage Is Now Impossible

(By Telegraph—Press Association) WELLINGTON, Jan. 29.

Precautions taken to prevent the National Commercial Broadcasting Service from being used to convey information to the enemy were explained to-day by the deputy-Controller of the Service (Mr B. Shiel).

Mr Shiel said he was convinced that these precautions made such use of the service impossible. No casual advertisements were broadcast until the form in which they were written was altered.

"You can't come in, say that you are Jones, a tailor, present an advertisement, and have it put on the air as it stands," said Mr. Shiel. "The advertisement would be rewritten by our own staff and submitted to you. If you did not approve of it in that form it would be declined."

Mr. Shiel was asked how long this procedure had been in operation. He replied: "In varying stages and at varying times."

Permanent Advertising.

Permanent Advertising.

Permanent contract advertising was not rewritten. "Copy for the big national advertisers is prepared six months in advance, and cannot contain any information of value to the enemy," said Mr. Shiel.

The broadcast of personal messages, such as birthday greetings, had been stopped. How long ago? Mr. Shiel was asked. He replied: "A month to six weeks ago."

Announcements about missing cars were accepted only from the police. This had been so for at least four years.

Once passed, they could not be departed from.

"What steps, if any, are taken to check the bona fides of members of the service who may be announcing, arranging programmes, censoring scripts, or rewriting copy?"
Mr Shiel was asked.

Coupons For January And February FORGERS ACTIVE

The fact that the 25 per cent. increase in the petrol allowance originally granted for November and December now extends over January and February does not appear to have been fully appreciated by many Hawke's Bay motorists, judging by the experience of petrol resellers.

It has surprised such motorists

It has surprised such motorists that any of the coupons for the two months numbered 17 to 21 (both inclusive) can be used in either month. The actual allowance for the two months is 10 gallons for small cars, 15 gallons for medium-sized cars, and 20 gallons for large models.

Sales lagged in November and were heavy in December, as people had saved coupons for holiday trips, but apparently many holidays will be taken in February, for purchases for January are so far normal for this month.

LONDON, Jan. 28.

In a dramatic dash across the desert, a flying column of Free French forces has delivered a swift sword thrust into yet another Italian front. Consisting of some hundreds of French troops from Equatorial Africa, the column set out some time ago on a 300-mile drive to Murzuk, a strongly-held Italian position in the far south of Libya. The column consisted of light tanks and motorised units, and it moved swiftly across the desert to Murzuk, which is one of the oases in the Fezzan area.

After travelling 100 miles a day, carrying complete supplies, the column reached its objective under cover of darkness.

The graves of a few Italian pilots, the burnt-out wreckage of seven seaplanes, and the twisted girders of two destroyed workshops are all that remain of the Italian seaplane base of Bomba, states the Air Ministry news service.

Two of the triple-engined aircraft are lying in shallow water bulletriddled at their moorings, just as they were destroyed a short while ago by R.A.F. bombers.

Bomba was the most important seaplane base on the Cyrenaica coast, and had been a constant threat to British shipping.

The decisive manner in which R.A.F. bombers eliminated this threat is seen from the craters on the slipways. RUGBY, Jan. 28.

Wairoa's County Carnival Race Meeting

TO-DAY'S FIELDS REVIEWED

Racing Of Metropolitan Class CORNISH EARNS WIN Anticipated

The stage is all set for one of the best meetings ever staged by the Wairoa County Racing Club.

Acceptances constitute practically a record in number and a certain record in class, and with the racing track in exceptionally good order it is anticipated that racing right up to metropolitan standard will be witnessed to-day and Saturday. The single pool betting system will be in operation.

roa to-day:-

The secretary of the Wairoa Racing Club notifies the "Daily Mail" that everything is in readiness for a record meeting, as all the events have filled exceptionally well with a better class of horse engaged than has ever been seen on a Wairoa racecourse, proof positive of the continued and growing popularity of this country club.

this country club.

recent rains have been most beneficial to the racing tracks, lawns and surroundings.

Transport arrangements have been made to the utmost convenience of racing patrons, To-day a rail car leaves Hastings at 8.15 a.m. and Napier at 8.45, arriving at Wairoa at 10.55. On return the rail car this evening leaves Wairoa at 7.45. Refreshments are available on the course on arrival of the train also before its departure. However, after the last race this afternoon there will be ample time to go into Wairoa for a brush-up and care for the inner man before departing.

The first race each day starts at 12.45 p.m.

Following is a review of the seven carded events commencing with the

No. 1 on the card is the five-year-old Commandant horse, Plenteous, who won this same race last year. He races well fresh, so looks like being a source of annoyance again this afternoon. Lady Ex has given promise of making a higher grade than "hack." Third at her last attempt in good class hack company, Mr Arthur Meikle's Lord Qu'x mare with B. H. Morris in the saddle should be one of the fancied candidates. Dusky Morn races in the same colours as Kindergarten and is by the same sire. His performances to date are only average, but he is said to have made a vast improvement since last raced. When winning last November at Greenmeadows Centennial made a very favourable impression. His track work of late has been such to draw marked attention to his prospects in this race. Catanach has yet to win a race, but his last three efforts resulted in as many seconds so a win would just reward him for this consistency.

No Wonder has only one race to old Commandant horse, Plenteous, who won this same race last year. He races well fresh, so looks like being a source of annoyance again this afternoon. Lady Ex has given promise of making a higher grade than "hack." Third at her last attempt in good class hack company. Mr Arthur Meikle's Lord Qucx mare with B. H. Morris in the saddle should be one of the fancied candidates. Dusky Morn races in the same colours as Kindergarten and is by the same sire. His performances to date are only average, but he is said to have made a vast improvement since last raced. When winning last November at Greenmeadows Centennial made a very favourable impression. His track work of late has been such to draw marked attention to his prospects in this race. Catanach has yet to win a race, but his last three efforts resulted in as many seconds so awin would just reward him for this consistency.

No Wonder has only one race to her credit. However, she always races creditably which gives her an average chance of succeeding. Waits as new-comer, being a fivey year-old mare by Hunting Song from an un-named Finland mare—

A preliminary, or dress rehears al, for Saturday's Hack Cup. Queen's Dream in all probability may start in the previous race, but if reserved for this mile probability may start in the previous race, but if reserved for this mile ack will enter calculations. Shani ran a nail into her foot the other day but should be fully recovered by now—with a track to her liking will have to be considered. Doctor Defoe has not been shaping too well of late, but now in weaker company may show improvement. Catanach was second both days at Hastings, earlier in the month over a mile and a quarter, so should see this mile out from end to end. Arabic was to reproduce that form to collect this stake. Opoho, if saddled up again, would have to be considered. The Ashaboy—Whetu bracket is a consideration without being a recommendation. Elminola is not making the trip, while Chablis is, I understand, starting in the rexerval the previous race, but kawa is a new-comer, being a five-year-old mare by Hunting Song from an un-named Finland mare no performances here to give a guide. Support, on her second at Ashhurst, enters calculations with a reasonable chance of winning—she has improved with recent experience. Final is being reserved for the District event. Ririwai, on form, cannot be recommended with any confidence. On her third to Hugme, early this month, Walcony is entitled to respect here, more so as she appears to have improved since that outing. Versatile, although wanting a race, is not without possibilities. Black Frost looks like being the outsider of the field. The best backed may be

Of £100; six furlongs.
Smiling Battlegain Personality 9 8 Isis
Roeon 9 2 Indian Sun
Flying Spy 8 10 Silver Bat
Proclamation 8 5 No Wonder
Plenteous 8 5 Ashaboy
Lady Ex 8 4 Black Frost
Quilb 8 2

When right, Smiling Personality is a smart hack sprinter, so despite her 9st 8lb will have to be considered as the track will be to her liking. Roeon 9st 2lb left here a very fit mare, a factor that will materially help her to win through. Flying Spy will not be without support, the same applying to Plenteous. Proclamation on track but not public form has a chance. Lady Ext is starting in the first race on the programme. Quilp has not raced for 18 months but is just the kind to pop up and surprise. Battlegain returned from Wellington sore, so may not start. Should he contest this race he will have solid backing as he will be suited with the sting out of the going. Isis has been scratched, while Indian Sun may want a race, but that is not to count him out of the probables for a place in this race. Silver Bat, No Wonder and Ashaboy have previous engagements, while Black Frost has been

NEW YEAR RACING

Ex-Lightweight On Four Winners

SMALL STAKES

(By THE BARB)

In a private letter to the well known Hastings trainer, W. H. Corlett, a former Hastings professional horseman has some interesting observations to impart in racing where he is now garrisoned "somewhere-on-an-island-in-the-Pacific."

The meeting he attended on New Year's Day was held on a right-handed racecourse known as Brighton Park. The correspondent himself participated in one race, the gooditions height hardself.

A former well known New Zealand lightweight jockey is in the same "crowd" as the writer of the letter and at the Brighton Park races he won no less than four of the six events, defeating the champion native horseman on each occapion native horseman on each occa sion. Knowing what a quiet, sub-dued man he is The Barb can well dued man he is The Barb can well imagine the manner in which he would receive the plaudits of the crowd, particularly that of his brother soldiers. Yes, it would be a free canteen that night with "Little Eric" perched on a barrel relating how he won the Auckland Cup on Tenadees and the many winners he rode when in Canada.

A Classy Field A Classy Field

The race in which the former Hastings rider rode was the Visitors' Special (bareback) of £5 run over seven furlongs, and it contained a very "classy" field. Here are the runners: Beau Vite, Beaulivre, Catalogue, Royal Chief, Saccone, Old Rowley, Maikai and Tidal Wave. The previously mentioned lightweight won on Catalogue while the correspondent's mount, Maikai, also started.

And the lady guessed wrong. But can you blame her? Take a look yourself at Courtenay "Mere" - the 5 valve broadcast mantel radio - at its dignified cabinet beauty. Take a turn at the controls and hear that faithful tone, find its power, test its range. And just see whether you would guess right - the low price of £14.15.0. A price and a radio that set a new standard of value - thanks to ever increasing Courtenay sales which have made cuts in production costs possible. And none of Courtenay's reputation for radio quality has been sacrificed. See and hear this smart radio at a short price.
