Empire co-operated continuously in the bombardment of The vulnerability of enemy communications with its advanced forces in Libya has been frequently demonstrated in the past few weeks. Apart from the necessarily limited quantity that is airborne, supplies of food, water and petrol as well as reinforcements of personnel, must be drawn from across the Mediterranean and carried forward across the desert by road. The annihilation of a convoy and its escort on the way to Tripoli last week was a heavy blow to the enemy, and the more recent destruction of a tanker by a submarine off Tripoli was another example of the constant vigilance which the British Navy exercises on this vital supply line prevented the abandonment of line.

Attempts to use Benghazi as a port have since been frustrated by R.A.F. bombardments, and British land forces have had valuable assistance from naval guns in their successful engagements with enemy forces in Western Libya.

In connection with this latest punishment dealt by the Navy to Tripoli, which is of supreme importance to enemy supplies, the terrific damage inflicted by the fleet in their daring attack on Genoa is recalled.

A. V. Alexander) described Captain Kennedy's courage as "of a piece with the heroic engagements of the great captains of history."

Mr Alexander added that it was fitting that to the glory of such men we should raise a lasting memorial for those who come after them, but the truest and most imperishable memorial they can have is in the minds and memories of those who knew them, and in the imagination of those—especially the young—who will read their story. Two Hollywood Successes

Stars Who Reached The Peak

There are two stars in Hollywood who are in a class by themselves. They are so different that their names are usually mentioned as an after-thought when the conversation turns to the players who draw the largest crowds to the box office.

One of them arrived in Hollywood in a comfortable drawing room on a fast continental train. The other walked over the nearby hills after his antiquated car had broken down. One was internationally famous at the time he arrived. The other was an unknown who had drifted south from the Pacific north west.

Astaire; the unknown one was Bing

Crosby.

Both are starring now at the same studio—Paramount. Astaire is in "SECOND CHORUS," with Paulette Goddard and Artie Shaw and his band; Crossby is in "THE ROAD TO ZANZIBAR," with Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour.

"Staying Put" Astaire and Crosby are the only wo stars in Hollywood who have lasted through the years by capital-ising upon the particular talent which brought them to the screen; which brought them to the screen; Crosby with his singing—Astaire with his dancing. Both of them made their screen debuts seven years ago, Crosby in "The Big Broadcast"—Astaire in "Flying Down to Rio."

There have been other famous crooners to try the screen. Rudy Vallee, for instance. Some have left the screen, some have turned to non-singing roles. There have been other great dancers such as Buddy Ebsen. Some have returned to the stage, while others have switched to non-dancing pictures.

have switched to hon-dathers tures.

Crosby made a short for Pathe. He was figuratively tossed out of the studios and the film thrown after him. Astaire made two pictures—"Dancing Lady" and "Flying Down to Rio," and shaking the dust of Hollywood from his feet, returned to the stage. ed to the stage.

Success For Two Crosby was in New York when he received a wire from Paramount asking him to make "The Big Broadcast." He was a hit in the asking nim to make "Ine Big Broadcast." He was a hit in the picture. Astaire was in London when "Flying Down to Rio" was released, and he received a cable requesting him to return immediately. Ever since then, both players have been among the top box-office names, but both are so much taken for granted that the following trade paper quotation is a typical one:

"Crosby's "Rhythm On the River" did the usual Crosby business, which is better than good."

They are the only two stars whose pictures set their own standards. The pictures do "Crosby business" or "Astaire business"—always better than good." And the fact remains that they are still selling the same talent which Hollywood bought, and the public is still paying to hear Crosby sing and to see Astaire dance.

Anyone who has seen Charlie Chaplin's "THE GREAT DICTATOR" will recall that a similar scene—and one of the funniest—occurs in the picture when Chaplin, in his role of Henkel, Dictator of Tomania, accompanied by his entourage, awaits the arrival of Jack Oakie, portraying Nanaloni Dictator. Oakie, portraying Napaloni, Dictator of Bacteria. Comic chaos ensues when the train fails to stop where when the train lais to stop where it is supposed to stop. Now the question is: Is this Hitler-Molotoff incident sheer coin-cidence or deliberate plagiarism?

Robert Benchley, in what is said to be the choicest role of his film career to date, will portray the part of Deanna Durbin's father in "NICE GIRL," next and ninth of Miss Dur-

The actor-humourist, in this impersonation, will be a widower and father of three daughters, two of whom will be cast later. He will be principal of the local high school, with a hobby for biology which enables him to discover a new vitamin.

Helen Broderick, distinguished character actress of stage and screen, and mother of Universal's new actor-sensation, Broderick Crawford, has also been engaged by producer Joe Pasternak for a prominent part in "Nice Girl." She will enact the role of Benchley's Nousekeeper.

Romantic male leads, as already anhounced, will be Franchot Tone and Robert Stack, with the role of the town postman and band-leader

DOMINION'S LOYALTY EXPRESSED "ON OUR SELECTION" RETURNS

St. George's Day Message

The evergreen Cinesound comedy, "On Our Selection," is now on the programme at the Municipal Theatre, Hastings. Its riotous story of life "down on the farm" in the Australian outback country has made this film one of the most popular comedies ever screened, and the fine work of the cast enhances. By Telegraph—Press Association.
AUCKLAND, April 23.
His Excellency the Governor-Gen-His Excellency the Governor-General has dispatched the following telegram to his Majesty the King:
"On this day dedicated to St. George the patron saint of England, and to the memory of Shakespeare, the Government and people of New Zealand, with whom I gladly associate myself, desire to assure your Majesty of their continued loyalty and devotion to your Majesty and the throne and to pay their whole-hearted tribute to the unconquerable spirit of the Motherland, whose epic heroism in her sore distress has stirred the whole Empire and will continue to inspire our joint effort in the noble cause of freedom until victory is won." popular comedies ever screened, and the fine work of the cast enhances its entertainment value. Bert Bailey turns in a never-to-be-forgotten performance as "Dad"; Fred MacDonald is in fine form as "Dave," and the rest of the players are well-chosen. After a lapse of years the famous "Rudd" family are still prime favourites.

on the same programme is a gay musical comedy, "Swing It, Professor," which tells how Artemis Roberts (Pinky Tomlin) resigns his professorship in the music department of a college and goes to New York, where he meets continued disappointments. THREE STARS IN "HIRED WIFE"

Fast-moving comedy of the type which depends on rituations rather which depends on cituations rather than gags for laughs is the keynote of "Hired Wife," one of the year's most hilarious pictures, which is now screening at the Regent Theatre, Hastings. Co-starring Rosalind Russell, Brian Aherne and Virginia Bruce, "Hired Wife," is a story of a girl whose heart, is broken when she marries the man she loves for business rather than romantic reasons. Miss Russell, who gives the outstanding performance of her career, plays the title role. She is Aherne's secretary, and also is very much in love with him. Aherne, at the same time, is enamoured over Miss Bruce, a beautiful model. For business reasons he is forced to get married in a hurry. Because of ousness reasons he is forced to get married in a hurry. Because of Rosalind's trickery, he can't reach Virginia and has to marry the sec-retary. Then the fun starts. As the intrigue grows more intense, the omedy becomes funnier.

All three stars are perfectly cast All three stars are perfectly cast and turn in superb performances, making their characters appear real rather than mere shadows prancing across the screen. And they are given some excellent support by Robert Benchley and John Carroll. Benchley, believe it or not, is an attorney. Carroll is a Latin Romeo who tries to help Rosalind by attempting to woo Virginia away from Brian. Much of the credit for the fast pace maintained throughout the picture must be given producer-director William Seiter. In his first assignment since directing Deanna Durbin in "It's A Date," he has come through with a real winner.

ROMANCE, "CASTLE ON THE HUDSON"

Starring John Garfield, Ann Sheridan and Pat O'Brien, "Castle On The Hudson" is now at the Cosy Theatre, Hastings. Garfield and Miss Sheridan, two of the outstanding new stars of the screen, are co-starred for the first time in a story, tailored to the measure of their nerson. red for the first time in a story, tailored to the measure of their personalities. Together they make a dynamic screen team, and "Castle On The Hudson" is an ideal vehicle for them. Telling of a young couple who risk death to be together, it is a fast-moving drama, full of suspense. Garfield portrays an egotistical young gangster, arrogant in his confidence that his luck will hold. But like most other strong characters, he has a weakness. That weakness is his love for Kay, the role played by Ann Sheridan. Beautiful and desirable, she is queen of the underworld, but her love is all for Garfield. Separated when he is finally apprehended, they cannot stay apart. He comes to her when she needs him most, and she, in return, murders another man to save his nurders another man to save his ife. It is this point on which the plot revolves.

"Penrod's Double Trouble," starring the Mauch twins—Billy and Bobby—in the most adventurous film of their careers, is the second feature. "Penrod's Double Trouble" is the third picture of the series. With Booth Tarkington's immortal character of boyhood as its central character, and it is, like its predecessors, full of touches of homely humour and nostalgic charm, but spirited action is its keynote.

'BAND WAGON" STARS ARTHUR ASKEY

Arthur Askey, the inimitable English radio comedian who made his lish radio comedian who made his first film appearance in Hastings in the title role of "Charley's (Big-Hearted) Aunt," is back again, this time in "Band Wagon," which will commence at a special 10.25 session at the State Theatre, Hastings, tonight. "Band Wagon" is the film version of the radio feature in which he has been appearing on the English stage for the past year in company with Jack Hylton and Richard ("Stinker") Murdoch, both of whom are starred with him in the film. ("Stinker") Murdoch, both of whom are starred with him in the film. One of the most spectacular scenes is the reception hall of a haunted cast's which Askey and Murdoch are inveigled into renting for the princely sum of f3. With the help of Jack Hylton, who portrays an unsuccessful impressario, the two comedians stage a big television show in this setting, in which "Boomps-a-Daisy" is the big number.

Arthur Askey, Britain's newest and most popular vaudeville radio star, was born in Liverpool. When the 1914 war clouds hovered over Europe Askey was only 13—not old enough to join the forces, and so to "do his bit" he went the rounds of various Liverpool hospitals, singing to the wounded soldiers. In 1932 Askey started broadcasting, and became much in demand for Empire broadcasting work and short-wave relays. Later the B.B.C. gave him a contract to appear as resident star comedian in "Band Wagon," in which he joined forces with Richard Murdoch. Murdoch.

Current Programme The latest "Cisco Kid" adventure is "The Gay Caballero," which Cesar Romero again in the title role. On the same programme is "Charter Pilot," story of adventure and comedy in the air. These films will be screened at the afternoon and vening assigns today.

GEORGE FORMBY IN "COME ON, GEORGE"

In "Jane Steps Out," now showing at the Regent Theatre, Napier, Fred Emney portrays a retired Army officer, the father of two charming girls, played by Jean Muir and Diana Churchill, who renders all situations in life into military terms. The comedy element in this film is enhanced by a grand piece of work from Athene Seyler.

The ever-popular comedian

BRILLIANT COMEDY 'THE GREAT PROFILE,'

"The Great Profile," now showing at the State Theatre, Napier, is the hilarious story of a famous stage Romeo whose nagging wife heckles him so persistently and fiercely that he goes berserk on the stage. He winds up by making the whole nation howl with amusement as he ad libs, burlesques and brawls his way onto the front pages.

Not content with having secured the brilliant John Barrymore for the title role, Producer Zanuck picked an impressive cast, headed by Mary Beth Hughes, blonde and beautiful young player. In her role as the great profile's nagging wife she is said to be a veritable bombshell. Others who turn in fine performances are Gregory Ratoff, John Payne, Anne Baxter and Lionel Atwill.

HEALTH

THROUGH CHIROPRACTIC

CHIROPRACTIC for many years was not understood and the public led to believe that it was a usurper in the field of health. Perhaps this was best since by virtue of so gruelling a test its true value has become more firmly established.

A Chiropractic patient states:—
To-day I am well, free from pain, and weigh more now and feel better than ever before in my life. From the day I lifted that stove until I consulted you I did not have a moment free from pain. My sciatica and other troubles got worse. After your examination and clear illustration of how the bones of my spine were rotated out of their proper alignment, I was convinced that you had located the cause of my trouble. I am thankful to state that the cause of my trouble has been removed by your skilful adjustments and that I am enjoying better health than ever before.

President's Fine Address At Annual Meeting

The annual general meeting of the Northern Hawke's Bay Federation of Women's Institutes was held in the Foresters' Hall, Napier, yesterday, when there was a large and representative gathering of members. The stage was artistically arrayed with bowls of hydrangeas, dahlias, chrysanthemums and French marigolds.

The meeting opened with the singing of "God Defend New Zealand" and the Institute song, aspiration and prayer. The meeting was presided over by the chairman, Mrs W. Bridgman and seated on the stage with her were the hon. secretary, Mrs A. E. Mardon, hon. treasurer, Mrs D. H. Stewart, Mrs B. Otene, Mrs A. McHardy, Mrs Horne, Mrs T. Johnson, Mrs Burton and Miss Kirkham.

Mrs Bridgman extended a warm welcome to those present and hoped everyone would have a very happy day. Apologies for absence were received from Mesdames J. Graham, G. Dasent, Osborne and Miss McMichael. A letter was read from Mr W. J. O'Connell, of Hawke's Bay County Council, expressing regret at being unable to speak as requested at the meeting. The writer expressed his appreciation and paid tribute to the bigger woman?" So yesterday Mrs Allan concentrated on the bigger woman? So yesterday Mrs Allan concentrated on the bigger figure, while her daughter displayed clothes for the slim figure. A fact that the speaker stressed most strongly was that pouched and tucked backs to frocks which most O.S. women avoid are really flattering and many of the gowns worn by Mrs Allan were fashioned in this style.

Another important point in the display was the fact that all clothes worn were of New Zealand manufacture, all pure wool, and all made to Mrs Allan's own design. All lines

Mrs McHardy, the Hawke's Bay delegate to the recent Dominion Conference of Federated Women's Institutes read a report of the conference and gave a resume of the activities of the conference which was heard with great interest. Mrs Allan described the parade as a "mother and daughter" parade and gave a most instructive and helpful talk to the bigger woman. "All mannequin parades are lovely" said Mrs Allan, "gorgeous clothes, models with slim figures, but what of the bigger woman?" So yesterday Mrs Allan concentrated on the bigger figure, while her daughter dis-

The roll call was called by Mrs B. This talk was followed by the lantern lecture which was one of a series prepared under the auspices of the association of New Zealand, Art Societies with the object of developing a greater understanding and appreciation of art. These lectures are written by recognised authorities and are available to art societies, schools, and colleges or any institution or club in this Dominion.

Lambs Selling On Better | Stortford Lodge Market

STORTFORD LODGE RATES

Easing Competition For Young Store Cattle

Fluctuations on the store sheep market at the weekly Stortford Lodge stock sale yesterday affected principally lambs, which brought a slightly higher scale of values. Wethers, which comprised not far short of two-thirds the yarding of 3,500 head, met a practically unchanged demand and breeding ewes met a quieter inquiry.

On the whole the sale was to vendors' satisfaction and there were not many passings. A large yarding of 280 head of fat cattle sold at rates steady on those of last week. Inevitably, in a yarding of these proportions, quality was very mixed and prices for the light lines were low; the inquiry for finished pens, how-ever, was well maintained in view of the length of the sale, which was not completed until about 1.30 p.m.

About 1000 head of store cattle were penned, the majority of the main drafts being 2½-year steers for which the market was back. There were some good prices paid for top lines of grown cattle, probably because of their early finishing possibilities, but younger lines almost invariably met with easing competition.

DEMOCRATIC LABOUR AND UNITY

The Hon. W. E. Barnard told his constituents in Napier on Tuesday night that he had grown weary of party politics and strife, and was more than ever impressed with the need for unity of purpose if the economic and social problems of New Zealand were to be solved. If that really represents his state of mind, it seems pertinent to ask why he has given a fresh impetus to party division and disunity by starting a new political organisation which can only have the effect of accentuating political differences and of promoting discord in the Dominion?

Those who know Mr Barnard best will be quite ready to acknowledge his sincerity and honesty of purpose, and the "Daily Mail" is far from suggesting that Mr Barnard and Mr Lee are not within their rights in forming a new political party—even though the Dominion is at war. One of the things we are fighting for is political liberty, which gives the Barnards and Lees of this world the right to differ on political matters from their neighbours and to try to convert others to their particular beliefs.

But the process involves serious political warfare on highly controversial issues, in the course of which much feeling and heat will be engendered. It seems rather odd that the founders of the new party, who are rolling up their sleeves for battle, should profess to be going into it sick of party politics.

Mr Lee and Mr Barnard have yet to prove that their secession has the endorsement of a majority of the electors in their respective constituencies. The forecasting of election results is a risky business for anyone who desires to preserve a reputation for political sagacity, but the "Daily Mail" is prepared to hazard the opinion that in both Napier and Grey Lynn the official Labour vote will be sufficiently solid to surprise the secessionists.

Mr Lee has told us that he can split the Labour log so effectively that Mr Fraser will be left with a chip. The prospect seems rather remote at present, but even if it were to happen that way, political unity would be farther from realisation than ever and the Dominion would be involved in the bitterest political struggle it has ever seen.

The most the Democratic Labour Party can hope to achieve is the winning of sufficient seats to put the Government in a minority and force a coalition with the Opposition. A National Ministry is likely to be formed after the elections in any event, but it will not signify a disappearance of the party spirit in politics, which never dies. It will merely represent a political truce in the face of a common danger.

When it passes with the defeat of Hitler, party warfare will flare up again as the result of fundamental differences of opinion as to the way the economic life of the country should be reconstructed in the past-war era.

FIGHTING IN ABYSSINIA

The sudden flare-up in Abyssinia, where the retreating Italians are reported to be making a belated stand in the neighbourhood of Dessie, has little significance at this stage of the war. It is plainly a part of the general Axis campaign to keep as large a British force as possible tied up in east Africa, although the Italians can have no illusions about the possibility of holding out for any length of time.

Since the first surprise attack on Benghazi the enemy advance in Cyrenaica has showed an increasing tendency to slow down. The position is likely to develop into a stalemate until British troops can be moved from Abyssinia, and that is just what the Axis is endeavouring to delay.

Wintry Weather

A keen wind and intermitten heavy rain in the early afternoon gave Hawke's Bay a reminder yesterday that winter was close at hand. Last night fires burned in most homes and all except those who could not do otherwise remained indeers.

Soil Erosion

The select committee recently set up by Parliament to look into the question of erosion is to hold a preliminary meeting in the office of the Public Works Minister (the Hon. H. T. Armstrong) on Tuesday, to discuss the fundamental principles embedied in the property by the docuss the fundamental principles embodied in the proposals by the department. Mr Armstrong, in announcing this, said that the proposals were not being put forward as the Government's decision in the matter. They might be scrapped in favour of something else, but they were the only proposals put forward were the only proposals put forward so far and would provide the basis for initial discussion. The Minister said that an invitation had been ex-tended to the local bodies concerned to give evidence later, preferably in writing, but to what extent the committee would go in taking evidence was a matter for itself to decide.—

Glut on Market?

A request that tinned meat, particularly corned beef, should not be included in overseas parcels, has been received by the Hawke's Bay Provincial Patriotic Council from the National Patriotic Fund Board. "Most tinned meats are a standard Army ration, while tinned fish is also a frequent issue," stated the letter from the board. "I am rather surprised to learn that people are sending 'bully' beef overseas," commented the chairman (Mr T. W. Hercock). The Council decided to notify all' zones of the board's request.

Remittances to Soldiers

Advice from the Minister of Finance (the Hon. W. Nash), regretting that in view of the position of overseas funds and New Zealand's heavy obligations in respect to the overseas expenditure of the Second N.Z.E.F. and of our airmen in Canada, it was not possible at the moment to make any increase in remittances to men on active service beyond the present figure of £30 per annum, was received by the Hawke's Bay Provincial Patriotic Council which met in Napier yesterday. The Minister stated that special cases, however, would be considered on their merits.

Denial Issued

When asked if the Government had given consideration to the possible need in the light of the future developments of calling upon women to register for national service, the Minister of National Service (the Hon. R. Semple) said that the matter had not been seriously considered yet. "If the occasion demands it, we will follow England's lead in the matter," Mr Semple added. The demonstration by the home defence units of Wellington on Saturday showed that already women were making a wonderful response. He was satisfied that the womanhood of New Zealand would respond 100 per cent to any call made upon them.—Press Association. A denial that the National Patriotic Fund Board had received complaints from overseas regarding the packing of parcels was received by the Hawke's Bay Provincial Patriotic Council at a meeting held in Napier yesterday. ### Relative Populations

Information that it was not the policy of the National Patriotic Fund Board to supply socks to soldiers was received by the Hawke's Bay Provincial Patriotic Council at a meeting held in Napier yesterday. The board expressed the opinion that local committees should confine their efforts to knitting scarves, balaclavas and mittens. The secretary of the Napier Women's Patriotic Service Corps (Mrs F. N. Fussell), told the council that the wool issued by the Government was unsuitable for the knitting of socks. All wool issued from Napler, was accompanied by a note containing full instructions as to the requirements of the corps. She did not, however, think that money donated could be used for any other purpose than that stipulated by the donors. Relative Populations

An interesting comparison of the relative population of the Napier and Hastings districts is provided by a table prepared by the secretary of the Hawke's Bay Provincial Patriotic Council (Mr F. R. Watters), and presented to yesterday's meeting of the Council held in Napier. According to Mr Watters's figures, the population of Napier and contiguous districts north of the Ngaruroro, is 21,190, while that of Hastings, which comprises Havelock North and the district south of the Ngaruroro, is stated to be 27,070. The capital value of the respective areas is £7,632,200 and £12,105,400. The population of Central Hawke's Bay is stated to be 10,640, while that of Southern Hawke's Bay is given as 12,800, the figures for Wairoa being 10,400, making the total population of the Hawke's Bay province about 82,100.

Details Of Pharmaceutical Benefits Released By Government

(By Telegraph—Press Association.) WELLINGTON, April 23.

Regulations making provision for pharmaceutical benefits were gazetted to-day and are to come into force on a day to be appointed by the Minister of Health.

The regulations provide that the proprietor of any pharmacy may enter into a contract with the Government to supply all or any types of drugs and medicines covered by the regulations. Payment will be made to him in accordance with the rates laid down by the Pharmacy Plan Committee and now adopted by the chemists as a pricing system, less a discount of 2½ per cent.

The scheme extends to prescriptions given by any medical practitioner, whether operating under the medical benefits scheme or not, and to a certain limited extent to prescriptions given by registered midwives and obstetric nurses.

All drugs, medicines and medicinal preparations which are described in any official pharmaceutical publication are to be supplied free with the exception of the following:

Heavy Guns Defending Dessie Prove Problem For The Attackers

(United Press Association-Copyright.) (Received April 23, 7 p.m.)

LONDON, April 23. Military circles at Cairo hinted to-day that mopping-up operations in Abyssinia might require several weeks, firstly because the Italians are making a determined stand at Dessie, and secondly because the rains in the southern areas are slowing up the British movements.

It has become clear that the Italians intend to fight on to the last. The defenders of Dessie occupy a strong position where a semicircular mountain commands a straight stretch of road crossing the plateau.

The battle has already developed into a full-scale artillery duel, the Italians showing the most stubborn resistance since Keren. The Italians' big guns in concrete emplacements on top of the mountain are pouring out a heavy barrage and cutting furrows in Mussolini's "victory way."

South Africans, who are in the forefront of the battle, have brought up guns in an attempt to silence the Italian batteries. The British advance will be difficult, because the Italians are entrenched in cleverly concealed positions in country admirably suited to a scenic railway.

The South Africans are facing up to terrible hardships. The nights are freezing and the days stifling. Native patriots are proving invaluable in patrolling and scouting the surrounding areas.

(Daily Mail Special Service) WAIPUKURAU.

The most gratifying feature as far as contributing local bodies are oncerned in the estimates of the Waipawa Hospital Board for the coming year, is that there will be no increase in the levy. This was disclosed at the annual meeting of the board held yesterday.

The finance committee reported having given all items careful consideration and after making due allowances for all increased commitallowances for all increased commitments, it was proposed that the final budget will require a call on levies of .411d in the £, which is identical with last year's rate.

"It will be noticed," said the chairman (Mr W. H. Rathbone), "that the maintenance levy rate is higher than for last year, as provision has been made for several items of increased cost as well as for interest payments on the new or interest payments on the new loans.

"Fortunately, the maintenance subsidy rate shows a considerable increase, and as on capital account the item for equipment has been substantially reduced, we have been able to reduce the capital levies sufficiently to compensate for the maintenance levy increase."

Satisfactory Position The position was one to be proud of, the chairman claimed, as the of, the chairman claimed, as the majority of hospital boards in the Dominion were finding it necessary to increase their levies. Situation Causing Concern

LAYMEN MEET

"Over the last 10 years there has been concern in the Church about the economic position of ministers on the minimum stipend, and of home missionaries," declared the convener of the Maintenance-of-the-Ministry Committee of the Presbyterian Church (the Rev. T. W. Armour), addressing a gathering of Armour), addressing a gathering of laymen representing the Church in both Napier and Hastings, in Hastings last night.

"The position is becoming progressively worse," he said.

The report presented to the last Assembly had stirred the Church to action, and a layman's executive for the whole country was nominated to arouse interest in the matter and to ensure that the minimum stipend should not be less than £330, with a proportionate increase for home missionaries.

If the minimum stipends paid 30 years ago had been increased in accordance with the rise in the cost of living, they would require to be at least £360, Mr Armour said.

Gratifying Reception

Gratifying Reception

What suffered when the economic levels of the ministry were allowed to fall were dignity, culture and leadership. He was sure, he said, that when the various facts of the report were brought before the Church there would be an adequate response. They had received a most gratifying reception so far in their efforts to educate the Church in this matter.

Mr J. B. McKinney, who is accompanying Mr Armour, said that the layman's executive was greatly impressed with Mr Armour's thorough grasp of the economic position and his lucid and forceful presentation of the facts in regard to the maintenance of the ministry, and they had therefore asked that he be relieved of all other duties in order to visit every Presentation in Many Zogland duties in order to visit every Presbytery in New Zealand.

Educational Campaign

The executive was pursuing an educational campaign and desired to have local laymen's committees which would co-operate with the Dominion executive. The ministers, while they could plead for other causes, could not like other sections of the community call attention to their own needs.

"No man goes into the ministry to make money," said Mr McKinney. "He aims to serve the Master, and it is the business of the Church to see that he is free, as far as possible, from financial cares and worries."

The layman's executive was convinced that if the members of the Church failed to provide adequate maintenance for the ministers and home missionaries they would gradually undermine the very foundations of their Church. Educational Campaign

An analysis of juvenile form for this season has already been published in the "Daily Mail" in an endeavour to arrive at which was the "King of the Kids" for the 1940-1941 season, but with no definite and the season. but with no definite result. Now the question arises: Who was the second best three-year-old for the same period as Kindergarten is the undisputed head. Only classic or weightfor-age races can be used in a survey to discover the best and for that reason a perusal of this season's three-year-old Classics and the weight-for-age races is made.

As Kindergarten was the best of four Classics he had contested up to

As Kindergarten was the best of his age for the 1940-41 season it can be accepted that of the fillies of the same age Belle Cane is fully entitled to wear her crown.

Three-year-olds this season have raced prominently in handicap events, particularly since last summer. Although a number failed to make the Classic grade, their form otherwise has been inspiring to stud-masters, who keep the standard of the Dominion thoroughbred up to the high grade it has occupied for some time. A glance through this category of young horses will season it then was never out of the money. In the Derby Sir Beau, Lambourru, 3-4—FRONTIER BOY, 72yds.

oppose the Beau Pere colt, Sir Beau, who had not raced since the summer before and, on his then temporary retirement was held to be the best juvenile of his season. In the Wanganui Guineas he stripped fit and forward and the event was thought a foregone conclusion. He won but did not do his job as comfortably as many anticipated. Going past the winning post he had to be kept up to his work to defeat Enrich who did not look quite as forward as the winner. Rich Blood, third, is to-day still a maiden, while the others who were out of a place were flattered in being allowed to go to the post in a red riband race. Sir Beau was then criticised as hardly Beau was then criticised as hardly the sort to develop into a Derby or St. Leger winner and ultimate re-sults proved that prophesy to be well founded.

AVONDALE CLASSIC

The next on the three-year-old Classic list was the Avondale Guineas, also run in September. Here a much stronger team went to the post and it also resulted better than the Wanganui event, as the former race revealed the fact that there were in the Auckland province young material that would, in the ordinary course of events, develop into three-year-olds worthy of the Classic grade.

The Great Northern Guineas, which came up for decision at the Auckland spring meeting early in October, created no little interest as it meant the meeting of the winner of the Wanganui and Avondale Guineas as well as other good young horses.

SUMMING UP THE POSITION

There appears a strong northern claim to place Lou Rosa as the one entitled to be considered the second best three-year-old of this season. Certainly he has won some handicaps impressively this autumn, but by the same rule, so has the filly, Gay Rosette, in the same territory but who was unable to stretch Belle Cane's neck at any part of the GN

SCHOOL COMMITTEE MEETS

Subjects Discussed At Clive

Daily Mail Special Service.

The Clive School Committee meet-The Clive School Committee meeting was held at Mr Burns's residence on Monday evening. Those present were Messrs Burns (chairman), J. B. Lister (secretary), H. Rean, W. McCabe, F. Powell and Mrs W. McCabe. The headmaster (Mr J. F. Bell) was also present.

Mr Burns offered to cut the grass on the playing area during the holidays.

It was decided to write to the Education Board concerning the unsuitable height of some of the chairs in the infant department, and also to ask for the repair of three of the school stoves. The tools used for school gardening are to be sharpened and a new garden barrow to be purchased.

A sub-committee comprising Messrs Burns and Lister was set up to deal with the applications for the position of caretaker.

It was decided to procure an Oxford dictionary for the school.

Accounts totalling 3/4 were passed for payment.

The headmaster reported as follows: The roll was 118, the attendance being much affected by colds and general sickness. The school was visited by the school doctor and nurses, who carried out medical examination of pupils. All dental fees have been paid. Pupils are pre-paring items for a recital to be school grounds two nights per week.
