France Actively Assisting Axis In Middle East

(United Press Association-Copyright.) (Received May 16, 10.45 p.m.)

LONDON, May 16.

VOL. IV. No. 68

The British United Press Vichy correspondent says that Marshal Petain's agreement with Hitler to permit the use of Syria as a base for offensive operations means that henceforth the whole of the French political, economic, financial and colonial policy will conform to Axis desires. This includes the placing of the African Empire at the disposal of the Axis for common development.

"The German officers and technicians in Iraq are prob ably preparing for the advent of much larger forces in Syria as the pivot for Axis strategy in the Levant, and France cannot escape the responsibility for this unfriendly action against Britain," says "The Times" in a leader. "Admiral Darlan cannot complain if aerodromes in Syria suffered from our attacks or if the grant of further facilities to the Germans compels us to take more extensive precautions.

"The whole episode calls for careful reconsideration of the basis on which our policy to Vichy has hitherto rested—the supposition that Vichy would not actively assist the Axis designs."

The British United Press Vichy The British United Press Vichy correspondent reports that all messages from Vichy relating to French-German relationship will henceforth be subject to censorship although they have been free from this for the last five months.

According to the Ankara Radio the 40,000 French troops garrisoned in Syria are pro-British.

In the last few days I have seen several unidentified 'planes, probably German, flying over Iraq. They sheered off quickly on the approach of British 'planes.

"The Iraqi army in isolated sections took the offensive spiritedly but generally they were not prepared for major engagements. They surrendered in large numbers when up against it.

Two of these Belgians, Adgard Lefebre and Marie Guerin, were condemned to death for having sheltered British subjects for seven months. Eight women and four men received various terms of imprisonment as accessories.

During last summer and the early months of last autumn these Britons were hiding in the woods at Flobecque. The Belgians helped them to remain concealed and shared their meagre rations with them. When the weather grew colder they took them into their homes and finally succeeded in removing them to Brussels. The arrest of the Britons has so far not been reported.

whether the gleat satisfies the people are making and must make is worth while.

"Let me say that German victory is composed of thousands and millions of small sacrifices. In 1918 the German people attempted to shirk the decisive hour. When we remember this, our sacrifices, sometimes heavy for the people and the Fuhrer, will be the lighter.

"Because I am resident in a town which has not been spared by British bombing I know that the people of such towns have to make a much heavier sacrifice than the people of towns not threatened from the air. If it is now more difficult to live in such towns it will be much more honourable after the war to live in them."

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has disclosed that Dr Ablert Sabih has established a new theory that the pollomyelitis virus invades the human body through the mouth rather than the nose.

The foundation said that this opens up an entirely new field for infection research which has so far baffled the medical world.

Dr Sabin also pointed out that infantile paralysis frequently followed tennis, swimming and walking in less than 24 hours. Heavy exercise apparently converted the milder form of the disease into the more persons. Persons exposed to infantile paralysis should avoid heavy exercise and guard against colds.

Attempt To Explain Away Hess Incident Fails To Convince

British Official Wireless.) (Received May 16, 9.45 p.m.)

RUGBY, May 15. The embarrassment and anxiety displayed in Germany over the sensational Hess episode has not been relieved by any further official statement. Here it is known that in the military hospital where he is confined as an ordinary prisoner of war Hess, who is in excellent spirits, has talked freely and records of his observations have been conveyed to the authorities.

Meanwhile, German propaganda is floundering hopelessly. In foreign countries speculation regarding the now historic incident is rife. Even in the Axis countries there are indications that the story of mental derangement is dismissed out of hand, and in Japan the newspaper 'Asahi Shimbun" remarks categorically that "in any case the Hess incident is taken to indicate the first crack in German morale."

There is confirmation for this There is confirmation for this view from countries neighbouring on Germany, where it is reported that perplexity and consternation prevail. These feelings have been aggravated rather than relieved by the wriggling of the Nazi leaders, as is shown in the conflicting statements they have issued in an effort to extricate themselves from the embarrassing dilemma. embarrassing dilemma.

There was a fairly heavy yarding of fat sheep and these, excepting ewes, sold at firm prices, especially prime lines. There was a good sale for store sheep, both lambs and breeding ewes.

A fair clearance was made of run cattle at prices which indicate some confidence in the future of the markets. Fat cattle prices were easy, owing to lack of quality. Purchasers were not prepared to pay first class prices for second class beef.

The dairy cattle market showed signs of awakening interest.

Mrs White, who was delegate at the Federation meeting, read her report, giving to those who had not attended, a very good idea of the day's activities. She was accorded a very hearty vote of thanks.

Members are asked to note that the institute would meet at the hall on May 27 for the purpose of packing overseas parcels. A full attendance is hoped for, as six parcels are to be packed.

Instead of the usual meeting in June, members are meeting at the Taradale Women's Institute for the purpose of hearing a talk by Miss Cocks-Johnston.

Thanks were extended to Mesdames Bitters and Bronson for donations, and a further supply of wool was handed out to be knitted into mittens.

Beach Carnival Affairs

WESTSHORE MEETING

Patriotic Funds Benefit By £248

FUTURE PLANS

Affairs arising from the successful Westshore beach carnival held in aid of the patriotic funds some months ago were concluded at a meeting of the committee, presided over by Mr C. R. Gardiner. The funds of the Hawke's Bay Patriotic Council will benefit to the extent of £248 3/11 as a result of the effort.

"I think we can attribute the think we can attribute the successful result to the fact that not one individual concerned with the carnival received a penny for his or her services," said the chairman. He ner services," said the chairman. He also expressed thanks to the public for their unfailing support of any patriotic affair such as the carnival. The chairman of the Napier committee (Mr F. W. Browne) thanked the people of Westshore for the remarkable results that such a small committee had achieved, and said that the success reflected great credit on the men and women con-cerned. A Westshore member of the committee (Mr W. Miller) in reply to Mr Browne said that while the committee appreciated his re-marks the great success of the car-nival was due in large part to the help from Napier.

Westshore people are alive to the asset that the beach is to Hawke's Bay and steps are to be taken to popularise the resort, he said.

The chairman suggested that a carnival every New Year for two days would be a great attraction and the money raised should be spent on improving the amenities at the beach. This idea received general support and it is expected that the Westshore Beach Carnival will now become an annual event. pecome an annual event.

"THEY KNEW WHAT THEY WANTED"

"They Knew What They Wanted," which is now showing at the State Theatre, Hastings, co-stars Carole Lombard and Charles Laughton in a poignant romantic screen drama f the California grapelands. T tory, told in forthright fashio marches from heart-warming ginning to bitingly dramatic e and it advances the art of scr story-telling a significantly lon way in doing so. Laughton, a happi goldeky Latin rancher, of Nap Valley, who has grown rich on hi grapes, goes to San Francisco for racation and falls in love with a clonde waitress (Miss Lombard) Through his restless foreman, Wil iam Gargan, Laughton finally per suades her to come to Napa and marry him. But on the eve of the wedding the rancher breaks both legs in an accident and the mar-riage has to be postponed, while the girl stays on to nurse him. She, lonely and dissatisfied, finds herself attracted to the moody foreman and yields herself to him.

As soon as the rancher is well enough to walk he demands an immediate wedding—but the girl, compromised, plans to run away secrety. What happens as the three find heir lives disrupted through this one mis-step makes up the emotional conclusion of this truly great film. The two stars turn in superative performances in their respective roles—roles that are exception ally sympathetic and ideally suited to them. Laughton will be long remembered for his portrayal of the ebullient Tony Patucci, as will Miss Lombard for her artistry in her memorable emotional scenes

"ELEPHANT BOY" IS FINE STORY

The famous Rudyard Kipling story of the adventures of a little Indian boy and his elephant friend has been graphically brought to the screen as a vehicle for Sabu in "Elephant Boy," which gives the young star a fine role as Kipling's "Toomai," son of a mahout. The story relates how little Toomai's father is killed, and the boy mourns with Kala Nag, his favourite elephant, a giant tusker. Kala Nag attacks his new driver and runs-riot. Fearing disaster Petersen Sahib, the white hunter, decides to shoot the huge beast. But little Toomai boldly approaches his elephant friend and soothes him.

Owing to a misunderstanding Toomai runs away with Kala Nag into the jungle that night. Petersen leads a party in search of husterd.

sen leads a party in search of them. Toomai is found utterly exhausted but he bears news of an enormous herd of elephants in the vicinity. A stockade is built, beaters are hastily assembled and there follows an exciting roundup in which more elephants are caught than have ever been known before; and the happy boy returns to camp proudly riding Kala Nag, not as little Toomai, but as Toomai of the Elephants.

WILL HAY IN HILARIOUS COMEDY

"Where's That Fire," now showing at the State Theatre, Napier, comprises some really funny detail work, bright dialogue, repartee, and hearty slapstick. Will Hay plays an excellent part as Captain Viking, head of a village fire brigade, and is ably supported by Moore Marriott and Graham Moffatt. The best sequence is when Viking decides to install a pole in the station, like the one he had seen in London, down which the men slide. He gets it wedged across the street, causing great traffic confusion. It is an nillarious sequence. The petrol store blaze lends itself to much wild slapstick and fooling, and finally leads to the capture of the villains of the piece in the Tower of London.

THIS WEEK'S RECIPES

Cooking Various Kinds Of Game Is Really Quite Simple

L AST wesk there were a variety of recipes for cooking wild duck given in the cookery corner, but there will be quite a number of housewives who will receive gifts of game other than wild duck while ever the shooting season lasts, and they will no doubt welcome while ever the shooting seasor lasts, and they will no doubt welcome a few helpful suggestions:

Here are a few hints: Whereas poultry is always plucked immediately after killing and then hung for a few days, game and hares should be hung for several days without plucking, skinning or drawing. In cold weather they should hang longer and in frosty weather 2-3 weeks. Pigeons and rabbits, however, should be prepared and eaten quite fresh. As there is little fat on game it is necessary to have ample fat and bacon to prevent them from drying up. The giblets should always be kept for the gravy.

STEWED PIGEONS

Take 4 pigeons, 1 dessertspoonful Thoroughly clean the birds and seasoned flour, 2oz. butter, 1 small steam until tender. After this flour seasoned flour, 20Z. butter, I small onlon, $1b. tomatoes, $1 pint gravy. Method: Truss the pigeons as for roasting, coat with the seasoned flour and brown quickly in the heated fat; also fry the sliced onion. Put into a casserole with the tomatoes, peeled but left whole. Pour over the well-seasoned gravy. Cover the casserole with a lid and cook in a moderate oven for 1½ hours.

Steam until tender. After this flour them well and season with pepper and baking dish with plenty of butter and bake till a nice brown, basting them well. Serve with slightly thickened gravy.

Put one ounce of butter into a stewpan, ounce of butter into a stewpan, when it bubbles, dredge the pigeons and steak with a little flour and fry a nice brown, then add a pint of hot stock, a bunch of savoury herbs, a shallot, salt and pepper and mace. Simmer gently for one hour.

When done, take off the fire and strain the gravy. Fill up the piedish with the meat, eggs and some gravy. Let it get quite cold, then cover the pie with puff pastry. Cook in a hot oven till the pastry is cooked.

ROAST GOOSE

Prepare the same as for duck and rub inside with salt and an onion cut in halves. Fill with prune stuffing and steam two hours and bake one hour, basting every 10 minutes.

Cut them in pieces and add to the above mixture with half a cup of butter, half a teaspoonful of paprika and a good pinch of cinnamon. Mix all well together and it is ready for use.

ROAST WILD TURKEY Prepare and wipe the turkey with a cold wet cloth inside and out, or wash in cold water, but do not leave it soaking in the water. The Remarkable Story Of Charles S. Chaplin

Renewed interest in Charlie Chaplin, the world's greatest comedian is, of course, stimulated by the arrival upon the screen of his newest production "THE GREAT DICTATOR." We present a brief biography of the man who has risked a fortune to poke fun at dictators.

Charles Spencer Chaplin, whose name has been translated into almost every language there is and whose cane and derby and oversized shoes have become the most familiar symbols of laughter the world has ever known, was born world has ever known, was born in London on April 16, 1889, less than a hundred hours before the birth, across the Channel in Austria, of one Adolf Hitler. It is somehow significant that it was on the fiftieth anniversary of this coincidence that Chaplin began production of "The Great Dictator," his most ambitious comedy to date, and the first all-talking motion picture he has ever

In the period between his birth in a back street rooming house and the release of his latest and probably greatest film, Charlie Chaplin has experienced the extremes of both human poverty and the fame and fortune he enjoys to-day. His father was a music hall singer, and young Charlie lived a life of almost Dickensian destitution in the slums and dingy shops of London. When his father came to town he used to stand in the wings and watch him, fascinated, and finally picked up enough of music hall routine to find occasional employment on find occasional employment on

One of his first parts was that of a page boy in a production of "Sher-lock Holmes," but before long he was in vaudeville with an act called "A Night At An English Music Hall." When the company came to America, as eventually it did, the little man with the moustache who didn't say a word throughout the performance instantly stole the show. In 1913, after he had completed his second vaudeville tour of the United States Chaplic Chaplic. the United States, Charlie Chaplin are depicted is remarkable signed his first motion picture con-tract with Mack Sennett and the Keystone Film Company of Los

That contract called for a salary of 150 dollars a week. But almost the moment the American movie public saw his figure on the screen they expressed their pleasure so unmistakably that other studios hastened to sign him up. Within the next two years he made dozens of two-reel comedies and in 1917 put his signature to the only motion picture contract specifying a salary of 1,000,000 dollars a year.

After producing "A Dog's Life" in 1918, Chaplin, along with Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, made his historic tour of the United States in which he made public speeches for war funds, called the "Third Liberty Loan Drive." He followed this trip with the production of School and the product tion of "Shoulder Arms," his hilarious war comedy which, contrary to all established notions, was a tre-mendous hit in a country still at

In 1921 Chaplin topped all pre-vious successes with his production of "The Kid" which introduced Jackie Coogan to the world. After making "The Idle Class," in which he played a dual role (as he does in "The Great Dictator") Chaplin made a triumphal grand tour of Europe, where he was received with wild enthusiasm and adulation.

Formed United Artists

When he returned to America in 1919, he formed United Artists together with Douglas Fairbanks, Mary Pickford and D. W. Griffith, and it has been under that banner that he has since released his motion pictures. Elaine Russell, Napier: Really I am very sorry indeed to tell you that Hiawatha is also taken for a penname, Elaine. Actually my Playmate, Hiawatha, is a very regular correspondent but she is away for three week's holiday so that is why you have not seen it. Will you please choose again and I hope the third time will be lucky. You forgot to enclose anything but the competition answer but send the rest later. I hope you are having a lovely holiday.

Shirley Hannah, D.S.O., Hastings: I was very pleased indeed to get your late note last week, Shirley, and to find that you did so very well in your exams. You should be enjoying your holidays all the more feeling that you accomplished splendid things at school. I was most interested to read this week of your day at Te Awanga and I should think it must have proved very far from boring.

Mexicali Rose, Mohaka: I thought that your riddle-me-ree was splendid, Mexicali Rose, and I wondered that you had not tried to work out the one in last week's Playtime Page, when you know all about them. It is such a very good way to earn more marks. Your letter reached me in quite good time so it did not matter that your brother forgot to bring you the envelopes.

PAM'S PAGE FOR PLAYMATES

Pam's Letter

Dear Girls and Boys:

At last I am going to keep my promise and tell you what I have learned about silkworms from one of our Playmates, Bub, who keeps them.

She tells me that when they come out of their eggs they are long caterpillars and at this stage they need to be fed on lettuce leaves which must be dry because they will not eat wet food

When they are about two inches long they go into the corner of their box and will not eat any more. Next they begin spinning and you can plainly see the thread of silk coming out of the silkworm. This they wind round them-selves to form a covering which is called a cocoon.

The next stage is that the silkworm turns into a beautiful white moth and flutters round the bottom of the box laying its eggs until it dies. And then from these eggs all this begins over again.

Now that our letter box has grown so much there is little space for jokes and riddles and I have such a lot here that I will ask you not to send me any more until I tell you I am ready. Also no more riddle-me-rees for a while. Instead, please send me extra good limericks, tongue twisters or short poems and I love to receive drawings and paintings to allow you marks, though I cannot include your pictures in our page. Love from:

lan.

This week we are having quite a change and I am going to give you a general knowledge competition which has been sent to me by Rose Marie. There are 10 questions, so I will give two marks for all correct and one if you can only answer half of them

Here are the questions:

Mary Parker Hastings, aged 9

Wary Parker Hastings, aged 9 Mary Parker, Hastings, aged 8 years. Shirley Bateman, Hastings, aged 7 years. Heather Pedersen, Pakowhai, aged 11 years.

Moonbeam, Napier: Yes, most certainly your poem was worth a mark, Moonbeam and as it was nice and neatly set out I thought it was worth two. I am hoping to find a little space for it but as I have had so many letters I might have to wait until next week but you will understand.

The Letterbox

Little John, Pakowhai: You too are very welcome to our Club, Little John, and I think that you have chosen a very good name for yourself. I shall be interested to hear whether you know the other Playmates from Pakowhai, Bo-Peep, and Robin Hood. It sounds to me as if Robin Hood might be a friend of yours. Do write and tell me.

Mary Parker, Hastings: I was not quite sure whether your name is Judy or Mary so perhaps you will tell me if I have made a mistake. In any case I am so pleased for you to become a member of our club and I shall be wanting to hear all about your holidays. I am sure you will have lots of fun even if you do not go away.

Shirley Bateman, Hastings: I am so glad that you like reading our Playtime Page, Shirley, and I would be very pleased indeed to have you for a member of our Playtime Club. What a lucky girl you are to be going to Wellington to see your sister, and I do hope that when you come back you will write and tell me all about it.

Bo-Peep, D.S.O., Pakowhai: I am sorry that I forgot to leave your prize money ready, Bo-Peep, but by now you have it safely and I shall be looking forward to hearing just what you do with it so don't forget to tell me. I expect you will have it all planned out. I hope you are enjoying your holidays.

Busy Bee, D.S.O., Hastings: Yes, I'm afraid I did make a mistake about the competition marks last week, Busy Bee, but as I only allowed two to everybody I decided it was best just to leave it. I am sorry to have made this mistake. I was very interested to hear about your concert and I thought it sounded splendid. I believe the Girl Guides looked very good in their parade.

Inspector Scott, D.S.O., Hastings: Just in case I should have made any mistake with your marks, Inspector Scott, you will see that I have given you extra this week. I try to be very fair and careful but you will see in Busy Bee's letter that I did make a mistake with everyone last week. I am glad you enjoyed the parade and what fun it will be when you are a Boy Scott.

Happy, D.S.O., Otane: Yes, I had noticed that you needed only two more marks, Happy, and so this week you have earned them. I would like to look carefully through the English letters and thank you for sending them. I will return them next week with your prize money. I am glad that you have begun basketball again and I hope you are having happy holidays.

Margaret Ward, Ormondville: I was very glad to get your letter this week, Margaret, because I had missed them for a little while and hoped that I had not been forgotten. Thank you for the riddles you sent me. I am glad that you are enjoying your holidays and think it is splendid that your soldier's scarf is almost finished.

Quick Silver, Hastings: I shall be most interested to see how yours and Pipkin's marks progress, Quick Silver, and who gains a badge first. Yes the competition last week really was rather hard but perhaps you will find this week's an easier one. Thank you for sending me your age and birthday, I always like to keep these.

Pipkin, Hastings: I am yery pleased you busy and I shall look forward to hearing about them.

Plain Jane, Clive: I was pleased that you had taken the trouble to think out a competition for me, Plain Jane, but I am afraid it would be too hard for most Playmates as they wouldn't know much about race horses. However I have allowed you marks and thank you for your poem.

Joy, Napier: I was pleased to receive another letter from you, Joy, and to receive your poem and little piece of prose. Your marks will soon creep up if you are keen. Will you tell Happiness when she returns that I loved her dear little drawing of Pinnochio and only wish I were able to publish it. You will see that I allowed marks for it.

Ginger, D.S.O., Whakatu: I do hope that your visit to the dentist was not as bad as you expected but it is good to get it over early in the holidays isn't it, Ginger. I was pleased to hear, that you had made clothes for the poor little children in England and I think you now deserve to have lots of time in the holidays to knit for yourself and to read.

Chris. Austin, Whakatu: Dorothy told me that you gathered some flow.

Chris. Austin, Whakatu: Dorothy told me that you gathered some flowers to be sent away to England with the baby clothes, Chris, and I think that that was very kind of you. Thank you for all the drawings you sent to me this week—all kinds of different things and they were splendid.

chings and they were splendid.

Genevieve, D.S.O., Whakatu: Yes, I hink your word building competition dea a very good one indeed, Genevieve, and I shall most cerainly use it, probably next week. Your idea for fayourite poems might also be good and I will think about it. I do hope your tests were all right but if you do not know the results at east you will be able to enjoy your notidays without worries.

Sailor Boy, Hastings: I am pleased holidays without worries.

Sailor Boy, Hastings: I am pleased to be able to tell you that you now need only three marks to reach 100. Sailor Boy, and so earn your prize and your D.S.O. I have been watching them steadily growing so try hard to earn those three next week and then you will be able to call in and collect your prize. I am so glad that you are enjoying your holidays.

Rose Marie, Hastings: Yours was a fine letter this week with lots of good things for me, Rose Marie, and you will see that you have gained live marks, so only three more before you can have your badge. Perhaps you will earn that next week. I am very pleased indeed that you are knitting for the soldiers. Though I think your idea for a bazaar splendid I do not think it would be possible because the Playmates are already working so hard.

Daffedil, D.S.O., Hastings: Your story this week was particularly interesting to me, Daffedil, because I love Taupo and have stayed many times at the Spa. I am glad that you enjoyed yourselves so much and catch many trout. I shall look forward to hearing next week how you have been passing the holidays.

Hazel Lukev, Hastings: I thought it.

Hazel Lukey, Hastings: I thought it was very good for you to write that little verse, Hazel, and you will see that I have allowed you a mark for it. I am so glad you were thoughtful on Mother's Day and I am sure your mother deserved your attention. I expect you are thoroughly enjoying your holidays even if there is nothing very special to do.

SATURDAY, MAY 17, 1941.

THE ECONOMIC FUTURE OF HAWKE'S BAY

about the economic future of New Zealand, and it is time that the people of Hawke's Bay gave a little intensive study to the matter as it affects the interests of this province in Britain for our surplus agricultural production we could sit back in the Hawke's Bay sunshine watching the wool grow and the lambs turning themselves into ready money without much thought for the morrow. Physical conditions determined the course of development here as in other parts of

New Zealand. The extra rainfall on the West Coast and in the Waikato made those districts into vast dairy farms. The alluvial plains of the South Island, with greater extremes of temperature, proved suitable for cereals and became the granary of the Dominion. The soil and climate of Hawke's Bay favoured pasturage and grasslands farming with fodder and fruit crops on the rich river flats. Once the country was broken in, Hawke's Bay grew fat and prosperous with a moderate amount of effort and became a veritable land of disconcerting to discover cracks opening up in the foundation

There are two courses open. We can shut our eyes to the position, call on the Government to reimburse at the expense of the rest of the community any loss suffered by the farming industry through the contraction of external markets, and hope that after the war, the British public or some other customers will be ready to pay good prices for our meat, butter and wool; or we can face up to the cityotics and half butter and wool; or we can face up to the situation, and look for means of creating new sources of wealth from industry.

best. The second involves careful plans for the gradual diversion of capital and labour in the direction of industrial rather than agricultural expansion. Already the movement is gaining momentum, and the question to ask ourselves is how far Hawke's Bay can participate in it, and to what extent

Bay has no coal or iron deposits, no timber resources to speak of and little mineral wealth to exploit. Geographically it is located on a side road, and the local market is rather limited.

Still, where there's a will there's a way. At the present time industrial production in New Zealand is becoming centralised in the Hutt Valley, on the shores of Auckland Harbour and in the metropolitan areas of Christchurch and Dunedin.

Napier and Hastings shops are full of the products of the clothing, boot, biscuit and chocolate factories in those centres. We even send to Dunedin for much of the beer that is poured down thirsty Hawke's Bay throats, and buy nearly everything within a reasonable time and stop the drift of many of their residents to larger centres of population, an effort must be made to establish additional factories and provide more openings in Hawke's Bay for the young people growing up in the district. The most hopeful line of advance would appear to be in the expansion of the fruit preserving and wine industries and in the tanning and leather industries, instead of being content to provide the hides and pelts for other more enterprising people to operate upon; to make our own soap;

to bake our own biscuits and make the confectionery we consume in such liberal quantities. Ready-made clothing could be just as well sewn together here as in Dunedin, and the advantage of establishing fertiliser works has already Districts like Hawke's Bay will tend to stagnate because the big cities will attract the younger generation and eventually dominate the country just as they have done in Australia.

the municipal and local body elections in Napier and Hastings, and at no stage of the campaign has any feeling risen to men who have participated in local government in past years, and we enjoy many amenities that less favoured towns would like to possess in the same measure. At the poll to-day the voters have a wide choice, and although the candidates have grouped themselves in "tickets" with party labels, it by no means follows that either has a monopoly of municipal wisdom and is entitled to be returned en bloc. There are Sir,—Some real facts seems called for in reply to Mr F. K. Wilkie's statement in your yesterday's issue. Sir,—In support of "P.B.'s" letter of May 12, I also feel you have not given the possibilities of Federal Union the consideration they war-rant. It is obvious to all that it is absolutely hopeless for the world to go on as it has in the past. We must work out a system under which there would be the minimum chance of the horrors of the present century recurring of the horrors of the present century recurring.

Federal Union is undoubtedly the best answer. In this modern age of speed, people feel they must keep right up to the times and anything new always appeals to them. Wholehearted adoption of Federal Union for at least the white races would give us something that would engive us something that would en give us something that would en-able us to step in in front of Hitler and take the "new" out of his order, thereby robbing it of its propaganda value.

It would also give us a definite war aim that would appeal to other countries outside the Empire.

Take Spain, for example. We could safely guarantee her Gibraltar and any other part of Europe where the majority of the people were Spanish, and also peace and freedom for her people guaranteed by the Federal Union which would be the most powerful nation the world has ever known. Representation on the council would be on a population basis.

Compare this with what Hitler can offer Spain, Promises of things he has not at present got and the prospect of becoming a vassal State to be dragged into all future wars that Germany might become involved in. In the meantime she suffers the hardships of a blockade.

STILL REGARDED AS NAZI CRIMINAL

NEWS DELAY

Certainty Had To Be Ensured

United Press Association—Copyright. (Received May 16, 6 p.m.) LONDON, May 15.

The Associated Press has learned from a high-placed official that the Government regards Rudolf Hess not only as a prisoner of war, but in the same category as the Nazi criminals who have been responsible for the bloodshed, suffering, and misery in Czechoslovakia, and misery in Czechoslovakia, Poland, and elsewhere. Hess is still kept in an isolated room at the hospital, with an officer in attendance and guards nearby. His condition is reported to be improving rapidly.

The Minister of Labour (the Hon.
Ernest Bevin) told a meeting in London to-day that he fully believed that Hitler knew all the time of Rudolf Hess's intentions. "For a good many years now I have had to deal with these totalitarian gentlemen and Communists," Mr Bevin said, "and I have seen this kind of stuff over and over again. I am not going to be deceived by any of them."

Questions in House

Questions were addressed to Mr Churchill in the House of Commons to-day regarding Hess. Replying to a question why the Minister of Information did not take steps to anticipate the German broadcast alleging that Hess was insane, Mr Churchill said: "It may be as well that the Minister of Information did not do so, as the suggestion has since been refuted."

Replying to further suggestions that it was unfortunate that 48 hours were allowed to elapse before the news was given and the Germans were thus allowed time to publish their version, Mr Churchill said: "It was not unfortunate, but, if it had been, it would have been unavoidable. We had established that a man had landed, but we only had evidence which, while it was most interesting, could not be considered conclusive. I immediately sent up an official who knew the deputy-Fuhrer, and who spoke to him in good German—in fluent German. While that was proceeding, the German announcement came out of the insanity of Hess and his the German announcement came out of the insanity of Hess and his flight. By that time, what had hitherto been surmised had emerged into definite certainty."

It was disclosed to-night that the Duke of Hamilton, the premier Scottish peer, whom Hess planned to see after his recent flight to Scotland, flew to London to-day to meet land, flew to London to-day to meet the British Minister of Information, Mr Duff-Cooper. British And New Zealand Troops' Escape To Crete

(From Official War Correspondent with N.Z.E.F. in Middle East.) CAIRO, May 15.

A message dated early in May states that while the Navy and the Merchant Service, in brilliant co-operation and with skill and daring, performed feats of evacuation which took whole brigades at a time to safety from the beaches and harbours of Greece, little unplanned acts of deliverance were taking place at many ports along the rugged coastline.

Scows and fishing boats carrying strange cargoes of exhausted hungry men by slow and devious routes to friendly ports have brought a different and even more dramatic side to the picture of the evacuation.

During the withdrawal from the Servia Pass, a Canterbury infantry commander remained until daylight with a few of his Bren carriers and a detachment of sappers to see the New Zealanders safely out and the last mines exploded. After both tasks were completed his little column had just cleared the Pass under bombing attacks when it ran into German medium tanks which into German medium tanks which had crossed the mountains from another sector.

Although tremendously outnumbered and outclassed in armaments, the New Zealanders engaged the enemy as if it were a matter of course, even before orders could be given.

Then, crossing to the mainland on the other side of the gulf, they reached a hospitable village where they bought sheep, and made a house-to-house canvass for bread, greens, cheese and olive oil.

After again eating as much as they could, they left the mainland for the last time.

While they sent a hail of fire at the German force from a roadside position, the crew of an Australian carrier, also in the column, sacrificed their lives in an apparent headlong charge at one tank. The "Daily Express" says that the position must be faced. Darlan has been warned and must take the consequences. "The Times" and the "Daily Telegraph" both recall the warning issued last July that Britain could not allow the Syrian bases to be used against her.

One grave statement was made in the House of Commons to-day by the Foreign Minister (the Hon. Anthony Eden) when replying to a question regarding the position in Syria. He said: "Detailed information at the disposal of the British Government shows that the French authorities in Syria are allowing German aircraft to use Syrian aerodromes as starting-posts for flights to Iran. New Critical Phase derman aircraft to use Syrian aerodromes as starting-posts for flights to Iraq. His Majesty's Government has, in consequence, given full authority for action to be taken against these German aircraft on Syrian aerodromes."

Breach of Armistice Mr Eden added: "The French Government cannot escape the re-sponsibility for this position. Its action, under German orders, in permitting these flights is a clear breach of the armistice terms, and is inconsistent with the undertakings given by the French Govern-

Replying to a supplementary question, Mr Eden said that proper action had been taken.
A further question suggested that, since the Vichy Government had left the League of Nations, the French mandate in Syria no longer existed. Mr Eden said that there was certainly force in the suggestion, and that he would look into the matter. The United States had been informed of what was taking place. ed of what was taking place.

In spite of the war conditions, more than 5000 had paid for admission to the Napier season, while the Minstrels also played to large houses in Taupo, Te Haroto, Westshore, Clive, Havelock North, Eskdale, and Taradale, at performances in aid of public objects.

It was reported that 23 members were on military service, either overseas or in camp in New Zealand, and the best wishes of the members are to be conveyed to "Frivs" overseas. During the year, the company lost the services of one of their oldest members, Mr John Benson, who died in his 85th year. Mr Benson was a favourite performer in the old Theatre Royal of forty years ago.

The music and sketches from the London agents have arrived, and rehearsals have begun for the 44th consecutive annual performance, which will be held in the Municipal Theatre later in the year. (Mr E. V. Sanderson) in a message published with the annual report of the society.

"Easily accessible cover, with ample food every week all the year round, accompanied by an efficient warden service, are the essentials for the conservation of game birds and most other birds. The same principles apply to conservation of trout. If the right conditions are present, there will be no need to worry about the welfare of the desired inhabitants of bush or stream.

"For many years past the apathy of our angler friends has been very marked with regard to the necessity for the preservation of native watershed forest in relation to fish culture. Fish, like all other wild life, need the main essentials in conservation—food all the year round and cover, and so does their food.

"Silt, following the destruction of forest, is deadly to fish; yet all too often the unfortunate shag, which has lived in association with fish for ages without exterminating them, gets the blame for poor fishing conditions in many parts, a state which it certainly helps to combat in killing its natural food, eels, which, of course, prey on water life.

"Admittedly the black shag does eat some trout. Reports, however, reach this society that bounty is being paid at times on species of shags which do not even frequent fresh water. PROPOSAL OPPOSED

Education Board's Discussion

FATIGUE QUESTION

"We had one tragedy in Hastings," said the chairman of the Hawke's Bay Education Board (Mr. G. A. Maddison), referring to the unsolved mystery surrounding the death of a child whose body was found in the Karamu Creek some years ago, when discussing a suggestion from the Senior Inspector of Schools that the school day for primers be shortened.

The senior inspector wrote stating that at the last conference of senior inspectors, the desirability of reducing the length of the school day for primers, particularly Primer 1, was discussed. He said that the department would be pleased to have the board's opinion on the question. It was asked whether the board would favour morning school only, or the present hours with rest periods.

Mr Maddison expressed the opinion that by a readjustment of hours the small children would be able to have a hot meal in the middle of the day and fatigue would be avoided. On the other hand, children attending country schools would be compelled to wait about for their older brothers and sisters. Other children would have to wait for their buses. There was danger in small children setting out for their homes unaccompanied.

Another Question

Another Question

"What are you going to do with the infant mistresses?" Mr Maddison asked the Chief Inspector (Mr J. Henry). "Are they going to get a half holiday, too?" he added.

The inspector explained that the infant teachers would be absorbed in other work.

Mr C. H. Critchley said the suggestion of rest periods seemed to be the better proposition. School conditions to-day were far more attractive than in his day, he said, and he did not think that any physical hardship was caused by the length of the school day.

"The children must be safeguarded and I do not think they will come to any harm at school," said Mr C. Lassen. "We had to sit on hard forms without any backrest, but to-day, the pupils have their chairs and their mats to sit on. They have plasticine and modelmaking classes, but although I am opposed to abolishing afternoon school, I think that provision should be made for longer rest periods if necessary."

The inspector said that he had discussed the matter with a number of infant mistresses. Rarely was there any sign of fatigue. The infant department was easily the most advanced branch of education. He expressed the opinion that if he were dealing with the matter, he would be inclined to release Standard I. in the afternoons. Mr Henry said that fatigue was noticeable in Standard I when the pupils had left

It was decided to inform the Senior Inspector that the board favoured the retention of the present hours with rest periods but was emphatically opposed to the abolition of afternoon school.

MATTER LEFT TO CHAIRMAN

An air of complete neutrality was assumed by the chairman of the Hawke's Bay Education Board (Mr G. A. Maddison), who is also chairman of the No. 7 Military Area Manpower Committee, when three teachers informed the board that they might be required for special military duties and requested leave of absence if necessary.

Mr Maddison said he could not discuss the matter because he might possibly be called on to try it.

Mr T. Rowe said that the teachers had a duty to their pupils and that they should not be released until it became compulsory.

"Military service is no longer voluntary and no man should leave his job until the Army requires him," said Mr C. R. Sainsbury.

Question of Necessity

Question of Necessity

"I don't think the board has reached a stage when it is so difficult to obtain teachers that it should frown on men who offer themselves to the Army for short periods," said Mr H. M. S. Quigley.

Mr Maddison said he knew a thing or two about the Army's requirements and he was inclined to think that the men were indispensable.

EDUCATION BOARD INDIGNANT

GRADINGS AFFECTED

Conference To Be Sought

Strong criticism of the Education Department's proposal to institute a scheme for biennial inspection in place of the present system of inspectors' visits to schools was voiced at the monthly meeting of the Hawke's Bay Education Board yesterday.

After discussing the measure at considerable length, the board decided to protest against the measure and to ask the department to call a conference of education boards to discuss the proposed change.

The country members of the board were unanimous in their opinion that country teachers would suffer a grave hardship if the measure was to be given effect.

"The department has been greatly concerned at the amount of time spent by inspectors of schools, on duties connected with the annual grading of primary school teach-ers," wrote the Education Depart-

It was stated that this necessitated the inspection of the work of every teacher, at least once a year and the writing of a confidential criticism on the work of every teacher after such visit.

Activities Restricted "The carrying out of these duties in respect of every school and every teacher not only prevents the most effective use of the inspectors' time, but also restricts their activities, many aspects of education with which inspectors should be conterned, remaining to a large extent untouched," the department's circular continued.

"In order to overcome these weak-nesses it has been decided to replace the annual grading of primary school teachers by biennial grading and to discontinue the practice of supplying written confidential criticisms except in special cases.

supplying written confidential criticisms except in special cases.

"To enable the purpose of this scheme to be achieved, one further change in current practice is necessary. The present regulations provide for an annual inspection visit and the writing of an annual report on each school. It is now proposed to substitute biennial inspection visits and biennial inspection reports: provision will be made for reports; provision will be made for the furnishing of a special report after any visit should this be deemed necessary," the circular

"The report on the public schools of a district submitted to the Director by the senior inspector and his colleagues which has been available to boards has in the past fulfilled a Cual purpose—reporting to the Director and at the same time giving advice and guidance to teachers.

It has been thought advisable to introduce a new procedure. In future, inspectors' reports to the Director will in the main related. plans for the advancement of edu-cation in their districts during the two-year cycle. Later reports will deal with the progress of these plans, with any modifications found necessary and with the general results achieved. The advice and guidance to teachers formerly included in these reports will be given by means of circulars and addresses by inspectors, who will as a result of this scheme be able to devote more time to these activities. Co-operation Sought. "It is felt that education boards will be in full agreement with a scheme of this nature which will allow inspectors of schools to give their time freely where it is most required, widen the scope of their activities and enable them more fully activities and enable them more fully to provide professional leadership in education. It is the Department's desire that boards should be fully aware of the purpose of this scheme before the projected amendments to the regulations are issued.

Mr Cuthbertson said that the infroduction of a new scheme so soon after the abolition of the proficiency contificate was hurrying matters.

after the abolition of the proficiency certificate was hurrying matters. Some country teachers just out of training college might miss their grading, he said.

In reply, the Chief Inspector (Mr J. Henry) said that the inspectors would make every effort to see teachers at least twice a year.

Young Teachers Defended Mr C. R. Sainsbury and Mr H. S. M. Quigley also spoke in defence of the country teachers who did not have the personal contact enjoyed by town teachers.

"I think that the inspectors could devote more of their time to the country teachers and save time by visiting the more experienced teachers less frequently," comment-ed Mr G. H. Cooke.

The proposal to dispense with inspectors' reports was condemned by Mr Sainsbury, who said that the board would lose many valuable "tips" about the conditions existing at various schools.

"This is the thin end of the wedge

"This is the thin end of the wedge and will probably result in centralisation," said Mr Quigley.

The Rev. R. B. Waugh said he could see difficulties in the proposal. One teacher might be working hard while another was slacking. He, too, had sympathy with young country school teachers.

"Time was when the inspector's visit was a 'holy horror'," said Mr Waugh. "As soon as the news was received that the inspectors were in the district the word would go round," he continued. "To-day the inspector's visit is an eagerly-awaited event."

Coroner Exonerates Parents

INQUEST VERDICT

The tragic story of a 17-months-old girl who fell into a pan half-full of liquid manure was related to the District Coroner (Mr J. Broad, Westshore, which was held in the Napier Courthouse.

Reviewing the evidence, Mr Miller said that the child had apparen'ly been playing about, when she tripped and fell head first into the pan. Death was due to accidental drown-

TO-DAY'S FOOTBALL AT NAPIER

Hard-Fought Games Anticipated

Three of the teams scheduled to play in the third round of the Hawke's Bay Rugby Union's cham-pionships at McLean Park, Napier, to-day, were defeated last week, and this fact should mean that the games will be close and hard-fought.

"Snuff?" said an Auckland tobacconist, in reply to a question. "Oh yes, we sell it—about three-quarters of a pound a year, I suppose. In my 'prentice days (my boss had a big tobacco business in London), we used to sell it by the barrel. It's good for the eyesight, they say. Dirty habit, snuffing, though no worse than chewing. Chewing gone west, too, bar amongst sailors. Will smoking ever go out? Never in the creation of cats! The consumption of tobacco increases by leaps and bounds every year! Why, it costs millions of money to keep the world's pipe alight! What do I smoke myself? Why, the New Zealand toasted. There's no tobacco like it—take my tip! No nicotine in it to speak of. The toasting gets the poison out. How many brands are there? Why, four—Riverhead Gold, Desert Gold, Navy Cut No. 3 (Bulldog), Cavendish and Cut Plug No. 10 (Bullshead). Some folks tell you tobacco's harmful. There's no harm in New Zealand toasted. I ought to know; I've been smoking it for a dozen years and more!" know; I've been smoking it for a dozen years and more!"

STRONG FIELDS

Battle Gain Attracts Attention

By "The Barb."

By "The Barb."

Of the three race meetings listed for to-day Waikato is the most important and will have a large following of racing folk. Many of the horses engaged at the big Ellerslie meeting next month will be seen in action at Te Rapa this afternoon.

The Waikato Hurdles, President's Handicap and the Te Rapa Steeple-chase call for most attention. In the former race there are a number of high class jumpers who are not, however, exactly tuned up for the occasion.

Jewelled Girdle is a good hurdler in heavy going but is not yet at concert pitch, the same perhaps applying to Streamline. Black Musk must be hard and galloped most impressively over a round the other morning. Aussie Ramay prefer the hurdle. All Irish is a brilliant fencer but has not raced for some months in fact he has not started this season. minimum.

A concession of 8lb. in weight has been made in favour of Baldric, who ran off at Ellerslie.

He was going easily at the time but he has taken a dislike to a particular fence at Ellerslie and he baulked in the most deliberate manner. It would be dangerous to assume that he will do it again at Te Rapa, and as he has been work.

some months in fact he has not started this season.

The Dozer is one to watch but on Egmont form Tidewaiter does not appeal. Innes Lad and Donegal will both be well backed especially the latter. Master Appellant at the weight must be given a fair chance of success, the same applying to Hesketoon who, however, is not as forward as the first mentioned. Of the lightweights Gold Spot, who will be bracketed with Jewelled Girdle, stands out on his own.

PRESIDENTS HANDICAP

PRESIDENT'S HANDICAP A very even lot have made the payment in the President's Handicap with the sprinter, Kentucky at head of affairs with 8.4. This first class sprinter is an interesting competitor. Du Maurier will not be without his supporters, the same applying to Gold Vaals, but King Rev may not be better the same applying to Gold Vaals, but King Rev may not be better the same applying to Gold Vaals, but King Rev may not be better the same applying to Gold Vaals, but King Rev may not be better the same applying to Gold Vaals, but King Rev may not be better the same applying to Gold Vaals, but King Rev may not be better the same applying to Gold Vaals, but King Rev may not be better the same applying to Gold Vaals, but King Rev may not be better the same applying to Gold Vaals, but King Rev may not be better the same applying to Gold Vaals, but King Rev may not be better the same applying to Gold Vaals, but King Rev may not be better the same applying to Gold Vaals but King Rev may not be better the same applying to Gold Vaals, but King Rev may not be better the same applying to Gold Vaals, but King Rev may not be better the same applying to Gold Vaals, but King Rev may not be be better the same applying to Gold Vaals, but King Rev may not be be better the same applying to Gold Vaals, but King Rev may not be better the same applying to Gold Vaals, but King Rev may not be better the same applying to Gold Vaals, but King Rev may not be better the same applying to Gold Vaals, but King Rev may not be better the same applying to Gold Vaals, but King Rev may not be better the same applying to Gold Vaals, but King Rev may not be better the same applying to Gold Vaals, but King Rev may not be better the same applying to Gold Vaals, but King Rev may not be better the same applying to Gold Vaals, but the same applying to Gold Vaals, but the same applying the sam

Walas, but king Rey may not yet be at his best.

Wildore won at his last time of asking and with only 8.0 on his back must be one of the hard ones. Royal Appellant has no recent form while High Delight is not fancied but on Volifox's second at Franklin to Wildore she must be seriously considered. The Cardinal reads a very dangerous lightweight but Pern is said to be galloping so well that he is expected to materialise. Venture may do best of the seven stone division.

THE STEEPLECHASE

Gar Vaals will strip as fit as anything in this afternoon's cross country event. Aussie Ra and Riotous are in the right racing order but En Tour and Bridegroom may be all the better with another race in public. Chat may not be started as she has not fully recovered from the fall suffered at Hawera. Innes Lad is also engaged in the hurdle race. Baldric is most disappointing but the fit and well Simint would enter calculations. Dozie Boy is assured of a solid Hawke's Bay following and the latest report from Waikato is that the Hastings gelding is doing well on the trip. Conflagration is on the improve and he and Kinkle may prove the best of the lightweights.

By "The Barb" The South Canterbury meeting will conclude at Washdyke to-day when the public fancies may result as fol-Pukaki Hurdles: Green Boa, Fundy Bay, Waka.

Daily Mail Special Service.

AUCKLAND, May 16.

As a preliminary to the Great Northern meeting at Ellerslie, the Waikato Racing Club's Winter Meeting, which opens on Saturday, always attracts a good deal of notice, although the jumping talent it has managed to muster for the opening day is not remarkable for numbers or quality.

One hardly expected Gar Vaals to become top-weight of the Te Rapa Steeples but that is the position today. He is to carry 5lb. less than his winning weight in the A.R.C.
Autumn Steeples, when he won easily over the three-miles course.
En Tour, the runner-up at Ellerslie, has now 10lb. less, while Conflagration, who is likely to make rapid progress this winter, is still on the minimum.

A concession of 8lb, in weight has Bay, Waka.

Southburn Hack: Lady Derby, Taxpayer, Hurry Girl.

Wal-iti Trot: Swagger Jack, Special Agent, Jack's Pae. South Canterbury Handicap: Boswell, Prudent Prince, Cymric. Pareora Handicap: Roseman, Golden Glow, Jewish Lad.

Farewell Handicap: Hearth, Secret Flight, Master Hotspur. Winchester Trot: Catalpa, Braw Lass, Great Waitaka. Temuka Hack: Eulogist, Hurry Girl,

The Acceptances

The following are the acceptances for the second day of the South Canterbury meeting:—

PUKAKI HURDLES, of £130; one mile and a half.—Dividend 11.6, Flagman 10.5, Green Boa 9.10, Fundy Bay 9.9, Astral Flame 9.8, Bonadea 8.8, Hunting Bag 9.4, Auctor 9.3, Waka 9.2, Mungatoon 9.1, Rosaleen Dhu 9.0, Crack o' Dawn 9.0, Red Dragon 9.0.

need a race if he has had an enforced let-up.

One expected to make steady improvement this winter is Dozie Boy, who raced soundly at Hawera. The outing is sure to have improved him. The two Egmont winners, Riotous (Egmont Steeples) and Aussie Ra (Adamson Steeples), have gone up respectively 3lb. and 1lb. on the lower scale. Neither has a reputation for consistency but in the case of Aussie Ra, he seems to be shaping better as a steeplechaser than he did as a hurdler. SOUTHBURN HACK HANDICAP, of £120; six furlongs.—Military Maid 8.11, Taxpayer 8.10, Lady Derry 8.8, Guilder 8.7, Treasurer 8.6, Hurry Girl 8.5, Confident 8.2, On Call 8.2, Retrogression 8.1, Tissue 8.0, Irish Lass 8.0, Anne Mie 7.9, Music Hall 7.9, Jolly Time 7.7, Enticing 7.7, Naughty Lad 7.7, Irvington 7.7.

ing better as a steeplechaser than he did as a hurdler.

Inness Lad is also in the Waikato Hurdles, and it is in this department he has done all his racing this season. The only other dually engaged is Aussie Ra. Floodlight is a good jumper but three miles may be too far for him at this stage. Kinkle won over fences in October; his last start. Smiling Thru has made one unsuccessful appearance this term. term.

After disgracing himself in a trial at Te Rapa on Tuesday, Jewelled Girdle was withdrawn from the Waikato Hurdles at 2.15 p.m.

top-weight and he received a very good report after schooling over four hurdles on Wednesday. If he is as forward as his connections believe, he will be hard to beat. It will be recalled that Streamline was second to Jewelled Girdle in the event last year, but he did not do as well on the second day, when the other won again.

Black Musk is well forward, and he was in winning form at this time last year. He won a double on the flat at Rotorua in February and he may be the hardest to beat. Done-WINCHESTER TROT, of £150; one mile and a half.—Bedrock scr. Banford scr. Great Waitaka scr. Misdeal scr. Recluse scr. Trevathan scr. Black Label 12. Catalpa 12. It is understood that the committee, if it takes a firm line on the evidence which has been placed before it, will specifically mention certain leading officials as being unsuited in some respects for the special responsibilities which are being placed on them by the war.

Particularly, it is stated, will the officials be asked to satisfy the council that every effort is being made to avoid delay in munitions production through any shortage of explosives. The situation regarding tank production also will be thoroughly investigated.

HEALTH

THROUGH CHIROPRACTIC

A Chiropractic patient states:
"During most of my 46 years I have suffered with indigestion, gall stones, stomach trouble, and during the last six years with a serious kidney and bladder ailment. I tried all the things recommended but with very little success.

"I developed high blood pressure and my heart became affected, It was nearly impossible to lie down and sleep. I grew worse steadily. Just when all hope vanished I heard about the success of a competent Chiropractor. When I learned of the relief others were getting I was determined to see what could be done for me.

"After taking a number of adjustments and being under the Chiropractor's care for a reasonable time, I can now say that I obtained so much help and relief from my troubles and suffering that to-day I feel like a new person. I can now work all day and sleep soundly at night."
