War In Abyssinia Nears End: Chief Garrison Surrenders

LONDON, May 19.

VOL. IV. No. 70

It is officially announced that the Duke of Aosta has accepted the British terms of surrender of the Italian forces at Amba Alagi and the troops will occupy the town to-day, taking over the garrison. It is believed that the Italians in Amba Alagi total 7000 Italian and colonial troops, mostly

The Duke, who is Viceroy of Abyssinia and Commander-in-Chief of the Italian forces in Abyssinia, asked for Britain's terms on Friday after the town had been surrounded by Indian and South African forces.

The surrender does not mean the immediate end of hostilities in Abyssinia as there are small Italian concentrations at Gondar and Jimma. Nevertheless, it is of the utmost importance as Amba Alagi was strongly defended and controls north and south communications in Abyssinia.

The terms are not indicated but they will undoubtedly include the surrender of the Duke of Aosta and his commander-in-chief, General Frusci, and the 7000 Italian troops who constitute the remaining forces in this area.

who constitute the remaining forces in this area.

The first move was made on Friday, when the duke sent an envoy to ask on what terms an armistice would be granted.

A "cease fire" hour was arranged, but what has happened since is not yet known.

The request for an armistice followed a series of brilliant operations by Indian and South African troops, closely supported by the R.A.F. and the South African Air Force and also by Abyssinian patriot forces.

Italy is preparing her people for the possible surrender. Rome Radio stated last night that the position of the Italian forces at Amba Alagi was becoming more difficult owing to the scarcity of supplies, the losses the troops had suffered, and the impossibility of evacuating the wounded.

Most of the British colony in Syria have now crossed the border into Palestine.

The Royal Air Force continued its operations in Iraq yesterday with raids on German 'planes at Raschid and Mosul. Two Messerschmitts were destroyed and others severely damaged, and motor transport was machine-gunned.

According to a message from Istanbul, the R.A.F. machine-gunned trains carrying French war materials from Syria to Iraq.

British and French troops are reported, but without confirmation, to have clashed on the Syria-Palestine border.

According to the Ankara correspondent of "The Times" the first 30 bombers sent to Iraq were mostly old-fashioned machines of French manufacture which the Germans captured last year. The French, however, are helping the Germans by facilitating the passage of Syrian volunteers for Raschid Ali's army. About 5000, who are described as disaffected riff-raff, were brought to the frontier in French military lorries and now are awaiting a favourable opportunity to cross the border. It is reported that one small detachment which crossed the border within the past few days met with a shower of bullets and bombs from British aeroplanes.

French statements on their actions almost give the impression that they have given up the responsibility for Syria. There is no evidence that the French attempted to defend their aerodromes from the British bombers, and they are sending to Iraq every day irreplacable guns and ammunition. This does not indicate any intention to resist invasion.

Big Fires Seen Belated Party Of Anzacs' Amazing Trip From Greece

(United Press Association-Copyright.) (Received May 19, 9.35 p.m.)

LONDON, May 18. "A party of Anzacs posted as missing in Greece landed at Cyprus to-day with a story more hair-raising than any thriller," says a "Daily Express" dispatch from Nicosia.

For three weeks, dodging across the Aegean from island to island, they kept one jump ahead of the Germans.

The narrator, who is now lying in a Cyprus rest camp, said: "Our story really started beyond Mount Olympus, when we got the order to retire. Dive-bombers kept driving us further into the hills, where there was no food and it was each man for himself. Some of us, however, stuck together, including half a dozen who were wounded by shrapnel.

including half a dozen who were wounded by shrapnel.

"We lay doggo for six days watching the German troop-carriers fly southwards. Once we passed within 30 yards of a German patrol. The food position was terrible and seven of us had one roasted potato between us one night. We then began to boil two tortoises but half way through the cooking the Germans began to show up. We grabbed half a cooked tortoise and bolted.

"Once we stumbled on three men and prepared for action but they were New Zealanders.

"Our party grew as other refugees joined in. Greek villagers and gave us whatever they could. Near a Greek port a peasant led us to the coast. We arrived on the shore at a spot with enemy positions northward and southward. We waited nearly a week, hiding near the shore, for boats. We then decided to pool and divide our remaining money so that we could split up into small groups.

Long Sea Trip

"Some reached a nearby island."

"We lay doggo for six days watching the German troop-carriers fly alone. After four days they hit another island, where they secured a steam yacht, with which they set out to find their mates. On one island they found the main party famished.

"Calling at islands all the way across, these had got enough food and water from fishermen to keep going. The men had cut down their heavy battledress to shorts and singlets because of the intense heat. Many were suffering from stomach complaints through eating green fruit, but there was no time to lose, because the Italians and Germans were already occupying the islands. One of our parties actually saw an Italian destroyer and two troop-ships steaming in the harbour of one island just as they left.

Through Dodecanese

"Our leaders decided to take the yacht clean through the Dodecanese islands, resting in bays and inlets at night time and hugging the coasts by day. We saw Italians ashore and they found the main party famished.

A clash in which 500 Germans were taken prisoner around Sollum, on the Egyptian border, is described by Richard McMillan, the British United Press Correspondent, in a dispatch from "Hellfire" Pass. The British, led by crack regiments, broke through the German lines on the Egyptian frontier, entered Libya, and gave the Nazis something they are more accustomed to give than to receive, he says.

The clash was briefly reported in yesterday's communique from British Germans were reassembling the forces which had been scattered by the British in the previous few days and had regained some positions, including the heights above Sollum.

Changed Hands Twice

A two-pronged drive along the Sollum escarpment brought our tanks and infantry to Fort Capuzzo, which changed hands twice in a battle lasting throughout the day, and which is now an unrecognisable heap of rubble, says Mr McMillan. British mechanised infantry units fought their way to the top of "Hellfire" Pass and caught the enemy machine-gun posts in a withering fire after making an encircling movement. The Germans fled to a driedup river bed, where they were cor-

STILL MORE SOCKS

80 Pairs Made By One Woman

NEEDED

The women of Waipukurau and district have had a busy time during the past two months knitting 312 balaclavas, scarves and mittens. Approximately 25 miles of wool have been knitted into these articles for our overseas soldiers. Miss H. Hunter and Mrs D. Urquhart ably organised this work and had helpers and women's organisations throughout the district assisting. Individual tallies in some instances were well into double figures and many good knitters turned out five and six articles. All those who assisted may feel pleasure in that their labours will provide much needed comfort for our boys in the coming winter.

Reports now to hand show that our soldiers can do with all the our soldiers can do with all the socks that can be sent to them. This appeal is not going to fall upon deaf ears for already Mesdames P. F. Wall, J. D. Ormond, D. Urquhart and C. J. Williams and Miss H. Hunter are organising to obtain 84 pairs by the end of this month.

These socks will be forwarded in the patriotic parcels which are now being prepared. The Women's Division of the Farmers' Union has undertaken to supply one half of the quota and this is a most generous offer and one greatly appreciated by the Patriotic Committee.

Every endeavour will be made to supply wool, but no doubt many knitters will wish to supply their own. A constant group of knitters is required particularly for sock knitting as all farewell parcels contain a pair of socks and it will be necessary to keep up the supply in future overseas parcels. However, it is not expected that every one will equal the record of one Waipukurau lady who has now completed 80 pairs of socks for our soldiers. lady who has now completed 80 pairs of socks for our soldiers.

Regent

"THIRD FINGER, LEFT HAND"

Myrna Loy, "perfect wife" of the screen, and Melvyn Douglas, the man who made Garbo laugh in "Ninotchka," prove a brilliant team in "Third Finger, Left Hand," which is now screening at the Regent Theatre, Hastings. The new comedy provides Miss Loy with a rampageous wife role and gives Douglas as many hilarious troubles as William Powell had in "I Love You Again." Miss Loy, a fashion magazine editor, invents a fictitious husband for business reasons, and Douglas, a landscape painter, arrives on the scene posing as the mythical spouse. She can't expose her deception, so takes it out by plunging the debonair Douglas into every comical trouble she can think of, even embarrassing him by scandalising his home-town folks with assumed vulgarity on their honeymoon.

Her attorney, Lee Bowman, conspires to get her divorced so that he can marry her himself, and amid the laughable mix-up she and Douglas suddenly discover they've been in love with each other all along Lee Bowman is a romantic figure as Suitor No. Two. Donald Meek as an eccentric art dealer adds to the comicalities, as does Felix Bressart, the elongated commissar of "Ninotchka," as Myrna's art editor and co-conspirator. Bonita Gran-ville scores in a sub-deb role. Ray-mond Walburn, Halliwell Hobbes and Ann Morriss are also effective On the same programme will be seen the latest of the "March of Time" series, "On Foreign News Fronts," which deals in striking fashion with the exploits of journalists in Europe's trouble-centres.

MUSICAL ADVENTURE, "RANCHO GRANDE"

Inspired by the song hit of the same name, "Rancho Grande," thrilling action show, starring Gene Autry, singing star of the saddle, is now at the Cosy Theatre, Hastings. Foreman of the Rancho Grande, Gene is distressed when he learns that Kay and Tom Dodge are flying to the Rancho with their younger sister Patsy. The Dodges have a nationwide reputation as madcaps and Gene dreads their arrival as he has his hands more than full saving as his hands more than full saving ne Rancho Grande from fore closure. Before his death old John Dodge mortgaged the Rancho in order to secure funds for a vast irrigation system which has to be com-pleted on a certain date. If not com-pleted by this time the Citrus Val-ley Association, holders of the mortage, will foreclose and all the odge holdings will be lost. The Dodge heirs arrive by 'plane dur-ing the annual roundup and their wild aerial antics cause the herd to wild aerial antics cause the herd to stampede. In other ways, too, the Dodge children cause Gene no end of trouble, until he finds a satisfac-tory solution to the difficulty. In addition to Gene Autry the cast in-cludes June Storey, Dick Hogan and little Mary Lee as the Dodges, Smiley Burnette as Gene's rotund off-sider.

On the same programme is the tense prison drama, "Passport to Alcatraz." Dealing with adventures centring in one of America's most famous penitentiaries, the film gives virile action star Jack Holt a fine role which he exploits to the full. Noah Beery jun. and Cecilia Callejo are also featured in the story, which deals with enemy aliens who use forged passports to enter America.

COMEDY, 'THE DIVORCE OF LADY X'

What happens when a beautiful irl walks into a strange man's otel suite, steals his bed, his pyjahotel suite, steals his bed, his pyja-mas, his book, his breakfast and, incidentally, his heart, and vanishes without leaving her name is merrily told in "The Divorce of Lady X," Alexander Korda's technicolor com-edy, starring Merle Oberon, which is now screening at the State Theatre, Hastings, for a brief return season. The film marks a double deseason. The film marks a double de-but for Merle. It is not only the star's first colour film, but also marks her entrance into the comedy field. Tall, dark and handsome Laurence Olivier plays the young rister whose suite Merle inv when a dense fog makes it impos-sible for her to leave a fancy dress ball she is attending at his hotel, and she finds it impossible to get accommodation.

Things begin happening next day when the bewildered young man believes he is the unidentified co-respondent in the divorce case he has been asked to plead by a man he assumes is Merle's husband. Binnie Barnes, Ralph Richardson and Morton Salten are also prominents. on Selten are also prominently deatured in the cast of the comed which was based on the play "Counsel's Opinion" by Lajos Biros. How to wash woollies often without spoiling them.

E VERY woman knows it's daintier to wash woollies often and yet some women, shame to say, wear their jumpers for weeks without washing them. They're afraid ... afraid of ruining the good fit, the softness or the pretty colour.

But there's nothing to fear—if you use Lux. Woollies can take countless dippings in gentle Lux suds. And come up smiling every time—as perky, as sweet as new. The big point about Lux is that it dissolves quickly in lukewarm water—the only safe temperature for woollies. And then, there's no harsh cake-soap rubbing with these rich, creamy Lux suds. Just squeeze the woollies through and rinse well. Lux your woollies often . . . they'll be safe and so will you!

INTERPRETING THE RESULT

The jubilation of Mr S. G. Holland, Leader of the Opposition, at the results of the municipal elections, is perhaps, excusable in the circumstances, even if the sweeping conclusions he draws from the figures are hardly warranted. Unquestionably there has been a reaction against Labour rule, and it has implications which will not be lost on the leaders of the party in Wellington, but it is premature to suggest that it foreshadows a political landslide which will sweep the party from power.

It may be good propaganda to suggest this, but at present it represents just so much "wishful thinking," and should not be taken seriously. Mr Holland must have been unduly elated at the turnover in his home town of Christchurch, where the ex-Mayor, Mr R. M. Macfarlane, M.P. for Christchurch South, ran him uncomfortably close in the contest for Christchurch North in 1938.

In both Christchurch and Wellington, where the Labour Party was strongly represented on all local governing bodies, Labour candidates have been decisively defeated. In looking for the reason, it cannot be found in any serious defects in the administration of municipal affairs in those cities during the past three years. Municipal government, like everything else, shows rising costs all over the country, irrespective of whether the members of the local authorities concerned got in on "Citizens'" or "Labour" tickets. But generally speaking, civic management has been reasonably efficient, and has been creditable to the men who give so much time and attention to serving the people as city and borough councillors and as members of other public bodies. It is more than likely that the defeat of the Labour candidates is due to the fact that too many of them are inclined to act as if their first duty was to their own immediate following, and to throw their weight about in a manner that alienates many of the people who voted for them although they were not members of the Labour Party.

When a man secures election to a public body, the first thing he should do is to forget that he owes his election to being selected to run on a particular ticket. He should regard himself as a trustee for all the people, irrespective of the fact that nearly half the electors may have voted against him. Possibly it is harder for a good Labour man to do this than it is for one who is more fully trusted to act in a representative capacity. The Labour organisations like to keep their nominees on a short string, and are quick to remind them of their obligations to the party machine.

In Auckland and Dunedin there is plenty of evidence to warn one against jumping to the conclusion that the municipal elections furnish a reliable pointer to the way the next general election may go. In the former city, the Labour candidate for the mayoralty by no stretch of imagination could be regarded as a strong man. Yet he was not far behind Mr J. A. C. Allum, a business man of good standing with a creditable record in municipal and local body affairs. Down in Dunedin, the retiring Mayor, Mr A. H. Allen, thoroughly deserved to be re-elected in recognition of his capable and conscientious services during the past term, but he had little enough to spare against his Labour opponent, Dr. McMillan, There is not much in these two contests to indicate that the country is ripe for a change of Government.

There is sufficient justification, however, for holding the general elections to test public opinion on the matter. It is quite possible that the representation of the Labour Party in Parliament is now disproportionate to its following in the country. The overwhelming majority Labour secured in 1938 has been interpreted by the Government as a mandate to give effect to proposals which are now regarded with a certain amount of misgiving by many who voted for them. The Ministry has acted quite within its constitutional rights in refusing offers from the Opposition to form a National coalition for the duration of the war, and the only way to determine whether this decision and the general policy in respect to the Dominion's war effort is endorsed by the country is to face the electors in the ordinary way.

FATAL FALL OVER CLIFF

Woman's Death At New Plymouth

By Telegraph—Press Association. NEW PLYMOUTH, May 19. Reported missing from her home early yesterday afternoon, Mrs A. Gillespie, 68, wife of Mr David Gillespie, New Plymouth, was found by relatives later in the day lying dead at the foot of the Woolcombe Terrace sea cliff.

Although inquiries are still being made, there is little evidence to indicate how Mrs Gillespie came to fall down the cliff unless it was by accident. It is known that she was recovering from the effects of a severe attack of influenza, and for this reason alarm was felt when her unexplained absence from her home was first noticed.

Electrified Clothesline

A burn on the hand was suffered by a South Taranaki woman who touched a clothesline which became electrified when unqualified persons altered radio equipment in such a way that the earth wires were con-nected to the live side of the apparatus. A serious view was taken of the matter when the engineer, Mr J. Lythgoe, reported the incident to the South Taranaki Electric Power Board.

Teaching Profession

"Schoolteachers are often accused of narrowness of outlook, but what are we to do? Are we to send them out to gain experience in the hard world of business?" said the Senior Inspector of Schools (Mr J. A. Henry) in his address to the Napier Rotary Club yesterday. "Our profession is a noble one; we see nothing of the sordid side of life, but only the best of humanity—the child," he continued.

Rotarians Congratulated

The scrutiny of the borough electoral rolls is now being carried out at Hastings and is expected to be completed about midday to-day, when the official recount of votes cast on Saturday will be begun. This task is expected to last until Thursday or Friday. On the following Wednesday, May 28, the Mayorelect (Mr A. I. Rainbow) will be sworn in and handed the keys of office and the mayoral chain, and until this ceremony is carried out Mr G. A. Maddison will remain in occupation of the mayoral office. When the Mayor has been duly installed the new councillors will be sworn in. Members of the Napier Rotary Members of the Napier Rotary Club took the opportunity of congratulating three fellow members on their election to the Napier Borough Council at the club's luncheon yesterday. For the first time for many years, all the jurors summoned for service were in attendance and able to answer the roll at the opening of the Napier Supreme Court yesterday, and so "save their fines." Another noticeable feature was the fact that in spite of the war and the resultant shortage of staffs, not one juror applied to his Honour for exemption from service. In the past there have always been one or two applications and at the last session of the Court the Chief Justice (Sir Michael Myers) issued a warning and pointed out the nature of the service that jurors were called upon and pointed out the nature of the service that jurors were called upon

WASHINGTON, May 18. WASHINGTON, May 18.

The Secretary of State (Mr Cordell Hull) in a broadcast address inaugurating World Trade Week, said: "There is little use talking and planning foreign trade unless the outcome of the war is favourable to the free peoples. At present, our foreign trade consists to an increasing extent of making the tools for defence and placing them in the hands of the nations which are resisting unlawful attack. This trade is futile if the goods do not reach those for whom they are intended.

Finish the Task Finish the Task

Finish the Task

"When we set ourselves a task," Mr Hull added, "we finish it. We will not permit our purpose to be frustrated. Only thus can we look forward to a brighter day.

"During the past year, we have seen ruthless aggression and enslavement. Nations too weak to resist have been crushed by unbounded military frightfulness. In the conquered territory, organised brutality and coercion have been carried out to the utmost degree.

"The safety of our nation—of every free nation—is in mortal danger. It is a mistaken assumption that two oceans plus a desire for peace will protect us from the dictators. Their paramount purpose is to secure control of the high seas, which is essential to their programme of world domination. Every consideration of our own defence and safety requires that we see that Britain receives adequate supplies to enable her to put up successful resistance.

"We must not be weakened by internal division. We must devote the whole of our energy to essential tasks and avoid delays caused by business complacency or strikes, which gravely endanger the national safety. A greater national effort must be made, or we shall find ourselves surrounded by aggressors and compelled to fight virtually alone against great odds for our national existence."

Mr Hull outlined the principles upon which the policies of the world must be based after the war, such as avoidance of extreme nationalism, no discrimination, raw materials available to all nations, international agreements protecting the interests of the consuming countries and an international finance structure facilitating essential enterprises and continuous development of all countries and permitting payment consonant with universal welfare.

Open Trade

"Unless we have a system of open trade, it will be impossible in future to buy or sell except on military terms," Mr Hull declared. "Unless the system of open trade becomes firmly established, there will be chronic political instability and recurrent economic collapse.

chronic political instability and recurrent economic collapse.

"In the final reckoning, the problem is one of establishing the foundations of an international order of independent nations co-operating freely in a world order, not new, but renewed, which liberates rather than enslaves. We cannot do this until we are free from the scourge of military menace and malign political intrigue of the basest character. Only then will foreign trade revert from cargoes of weapons and explosives to commodities that nourish, heal, and enrich.

"This nation is resolved to evade no issues and to face the harsh

Renewed World |GERMAN "ANTI-NAZI" VIEW Wider Range Of OF THE FLIGHT OF HESS

Text Of "Die Zeitung's" Editorial Of Wednesday

The unexpected and dramatic descent of Rudolf Hess on the Scottish countryside last week provided one of the greatest sensations of the war to date. The reverberations of Herr Hess's escapade are likely to be heard for some time -at least until the mystery is cleared up.

Such an incident has inevitably led to world-wide Press comment and conjecture, but among the most interesting editorials on the subject is that of "Die Zeitung," the German anti-Nazi journal published in London. Brief extracts from this article have been published in the cable news of the "Daily Mail," but it is now possible to reprint a translation in its entirety.

When Mr Churchill gave this unprecedented piece of news to the Ministry of Information it startled even the cool-headed Sir Walter Monckton. "But that's great news!" he cried. "Yes," said Mr Churchill, "the maggot's in the apple."

It is one of those Churchillian sayings which are bound to become classical. It gives the gist of the matter. Whatever details are behind Hess's film-like flight, one thing is certain: The prestige of the Nazi Reich has suffered a blow as it has

It is too early to say why Herr Hess fled to England. There are several possible applications of the product of the same of th eral possible explanations. He may have got on one of Himmler's blacklists. He may have had serious political quarrels with his "colleagues." He may, sooner than the less initiated, have got inside information about the real situation of Germany and thereupon acted as many of the lesser criminals will act when the zero hour is approaching: Try to get himself out of trouble and play the penitent sinner.

Simulated Treason?

Maybe-there is nothing the trashy phantasy of Hitler and his gang is not up to-it is that the flight of this "loyallest of the loyal" as he was styled up to yesterday, Hitler, Prime Minister Churchill and has been designed only to simulate treason and really to make a last desperate attempt at creating confusion among the one-time friends of the Nazis in England.

of the Nazis in England.

If this should be the case, one may rest assured it will be folled by the vigilance of the British Government.

But there is one thing we must earnestly warn against: That easy sentimentality of some British people which in the gossip columns tends to convey the impression that this Hess is "not so bad," and pours out moving tales of his shyness, his pleasant smile and his affection for his wife and child.

"As Bad As The Worst"

Make no mistake about it: He is as bad as the worst of them. He has—beside Roehm—been Hitler's first and closest associate, joint founder of the Storm Troopers, joint producer of their terror war inside Germany, joint author of that bible of destructive nihilism, "Mein Kampf," a cognisant of the Reich—like the solution of the solution of the story of the Reich—like to Laugh ferences. We have seen him campaigning.

He is so familiar to Washington correspondents that it is hard to realise that a century hence he will be a name in history, whatever the result of this great crisis. How did he such-and-such a thing? Historians will scan contemporary accounts for the answer.

Living up to History for a President is a good deal like keeping up with the Joneses for an ordinary person. It can be very wearing. It is better to meet it on a casual note. Woodrow Wilson had the proper flippant approach. Why worry about posterity, he asked; what has posterity ever done for us?

Mr Roosevelt is conscious of history's writing hand but he is not self-conscious about it.

"As Bad As The Worst"

Make no mistake about it: He is as bad as the worst of them. He has—beside Roehm—been Hitler's first and closest associate, joint founder of the Storm Troopers, joint producer of their terror war inside Germany, joint author of that bible of destructive nihilism, "Mein Kampf," a cognisant of the Reichstag fire, one of those mainly responsible for the slaughter of June 30.

His hands are stained with the blood of thousands of innocent people. His fanaticism and ruthlessness match that of a Himmler and a Streicher. If there is anything by which he distinguishes himself among his fellow criminals, it is the impudence which always made him specially suited to deny atrecities. specially suited to deny atrocities with an air of offended honesty. He did this all the way from the tortures in the concentration camps to the way proportion camps to the war preparations against Czechoslovakia. When this man today plays the unoffending husband and father, nobody should become his dupe. His flight is a ground for the satisfaction, not for soft-hearted pardon hearted pardon.

But for satisfaction there really is ground; and even more for propagandistic exploitation. Germany has suffered a defeat on the moral and political battlefield which is devastating and which may become decisive if the strategists of propaganda know how to make use of it.

To get its true meaning one has only to imagine what it would mean for Britain if Lord Beaverbrook or Mr Bevin were to-day to fly to Bavaria in a Spitfire to put their fate in the hands of the Fuhrer.

Would that not place a mortal weapon in the hands of Goebbels? That is exactly what has happened to Germany—with the difference that Hess is not simply an influential Minister of a democratic State, but the deputy and the designed but the deputy and the designed successor of the all-powerful Fuh-rer. The blow is terrific!

"No Manners This Time"

"No Manners This Time"

All that has now to be done is to make it resound to the remotest corner of the globe. For goodness' sake no discretion and no manners this time! This is the moment to make all the noise in the world and to turn every available searchlight on this self-revealed corruption and core-rottenness of the Nazi State.

It just so happens that Hitler is in the midst of most delicate negotiations with Inounu, Stalin, Matsuoka, Franco and Darlan. The internal bankruptcy and swindle of the German regime which have now come to the light must be so driven home even to the last Turk, the last Russian, Japanese, Spaniard and Frenchman, that it simply becomes impossible for statesmen of those countries to do business with that regime.

impossible for statesmen of those countries to do business with that regime.

Adjutant or Warder?

The Nazis have at once arrested someone for letting him escape in spite of the explicit orders by the Fuhrer. What a charming picture!

The third man of Germany, the deputy-successor of the Fuhrer, a notorious lunatic! His adjutant is in reality his warder! If that is possible—what is impossible? Are we, perhaps, to hear to-morrow that the Fuhrer himself for years has been "notorious" for being mentally deranged? Would it not perhaps be (Received May 19, 6 p.m.) RUGBY, May 18.

Operations

The widening area of operations in and around the Mediterranean can well be seen in an R.A.F. Middle East communique issued today, which describes many operations by aircraft of the Imperial and Allied forces in which 21 enemy aircraft were destroyed for the loss of three.

of three.

The communique states: "On the night of May 16-17, our heavy bombers attacked Benghazi, where considerable damage was done. A number of fires continued to burn long after our aircraft had left the target. Derna and Gazala also were raided. At Derna explosions, one of which was particularly violent, took place among buildings south of the harbour. Fires were caused on the aerodrome and landing-ground at Gazala, which was bombed and machine-gunned.

Constant Patrols caused somewhat stronger reactions in Germany than that "self-controlled" interest with which, according to the classical picture of the "Reich," the German people look at Hitler's victories. Main Street Lighting.

"It is not proposed to make any immediate alteration to main street lighting," said the Lighting Controller (Mr H. Wylie) last night. "If the glare is sufficiently reduced, nothing will be done further to diminish lighting in Heretaunga Street."

When the first regulations for reducing lighting at Hastings were introduced the mercury vapour lamps were replaced by ordinary bulbs.

Window Lighting.

The hope that shop occupiers would not increase their window lighting to offset reduced exterior lighting was expressed by Mr Wylie. It is not intended to apply regulations to reduce window lighting unless this form of illumination is considered to be excessive.

The operation of the new regulations will mean that there will be no further night football practices at Nelson Park. Along with other lights, the powerful lamps illuminating the ground will be extinguished.

Hastings Chamber Of Commerce View

"UNWELCOME TREND"

An explanation of the powers of the Attorney-General in respect of charges of subversion was read in a letter from the Associated Chambers of Commerce read at last night's meeting of the Hastings Chamber.

Officers were elected as follows: President, Mr W. A. Whitlock; vice-president, Mr G. R. Baillie; council, Messrs H. W. C. Baird, H. G. Harvey and F. E. Smith.

It was stated that the only charges on which the police needed the consent of the Attorney-General before prosecuting were those related to subversion, and the provision was necessary in this case so that the right of free speech should not be endangered.

Only where a statement was considered as really likely to create mischief was a prosecution undertaken.

Talk On Modern Education

SCHOOLS INSPECTOR

Modern Methods Fully Endorsed

PHENOMENAL CHANGE

"There have been phenomenal changes in education in recent years. With the advent of psychology we know the child better today than ever before," said the Senior Inspector of Schools (Mr J. A. Henry) in an address to the Napier Rotary Club yesterday. "You gentlemen would be amazed at the difference in methods of education since your day and mine," he continued

Mr Henry dealt with the steps

Mr Henry dealt with the steps being taken to encourage purity of speech in the modern child of school age. "Every year young teachers, who have been instructed in speech training by experts, are leaving our training colleges, and already the improvement is apparent," he said. This, along with the development of oral speaking in schools, was in marked contrast to the schooldays of members of the club. Then the sole mode of expression left open to the child was the written essay, while now the children seemed to do half the talking. This fact was considered by Mr Henry to be in the best interests of the children as ne considered that a child who cauld comment sensibly on any subject had a real grasp of the thoughts involved.

Drawing Technique

The annual meeting of the Hast-ings Chamber of Commerce last night drew the largest attendance of members for a considerable time, The trend from the "pot and pan era" of art beloved of the primary school teachers of his boyhood to school teachers of his boyhood to the present standard was discussed by Mr Henry.

"The child of to-day gets training in pastel, pencil, and crayon draw-ing as well as water colour painting, and though the efforts of some youngsters seem weird to the adult The lack of interest in the chamber among the businessmen of the town was strongly criticised by Mr F. S. Budd, who said that the meetings during the past two years had been attended by an average of only eight members out of a total of more than 80.

If there had not been a better meeting that evening he would have suggested going into recess, which would have reflected no credit on the town of Hastings, said Mr Budd. The chamber should take second place only to the Borough Council in the discussion of local affairs.

do," he said.

The high standard of work at the Napier Intermediate School in craft work came in for favourable comment by Mr Henry. Modern education held that manual training was an essential part of the subject, and he contended that intellect came from the hands as well as from the head head.

"I think we are all familiar with the itch to do manual work, as we watch children doing it, and I am equally sure that we could not do it half so well," he said.

Infant Mistresses

"Uninteresting Matter"

A lengthy discussion on ways and means of increasing the attendance at meetings followed. Mr G. H. Roach suggested that more interesting matter should be presented for discussion, and less "dry hash."

It was eventually decided to set up a committee of three, comprising Messrs J. C. Jordan, A. Grant and L. Harvey, to consider the question and confer with the executive.

The annual report and balancesheet, which showed a credit of £5 18/2, were adopted. A tribute was paid to infant mistresses by Mr Henry, who said that since the substitution of the phonetic system of reading for the alphabetical, progress had been remarkably accelerated. markably accelerated. "These women, after two years' infant work, have the kiddies read-infant work, have the kiddies reading good books and playing with toys that will exercise a valuable influence throughout their whole lives," he said.

Mr Henry also demonstrated that the concern felt by many parents about the spelling of their children was unnecessary. He attributed the apparent slump in spelling to the widening of the child's interest and yocabulary through wide reading vocabulary through wide reading with a consequently increased mar gin for spelling errors. The remedy suggested by the speaker was a greater use of the dictionary.

TAKAPAU MAN ON TRIAL BEFORE SUPREME COURT

Allegations Of An Attempt To Pervert Course Of Justice

Allegations that some of the accused's relatives had tried to persuade him to amend his evidence were made by a witness in the Napier Supreme Court yesterday, when John Lawrence Mouat, a wood merchant, Takapau, appeared before Mr Justice Smith and a jury of 12 on four indictments arising out of a fatal motor accident on the main highway south of Waipukurau on January 8.

The witness concerned, Mervyn Allan Olsen, alleged that while visiting his brother-in-law, some of Mouat's relatives had tried to persuade him to say that he heard a motor-horn sounded. This he refused to do. In answer to his Honour he said he had not discussed the case with anyone.

The case for the Crown was conducted by Mr H. B. Lusk while the accused, who pleaded not guilty, was defended by Mr C. G. E. Harker Waipawa. When the case adjourned last night, the accused was released on bail of £200 in self and two sureties of £100 or one surety of £200.

The following jury was empanelled: Foreman (Mr D. N. Moore-Wright), Messrs N. Greig, J. E. Lennie, G. Bull, E. T. Mason, C. V. Duncan, S. H. Exeter, A. J. Thornton, L. Kane, H. Baker, R. W. Parker and P. F. Ackerman.

The Crown issued two challenges and the defence three.

The Crown's Case In opening the case for the Crown Mr Lusk told the jury that four counts with which the accused stood counts with which the accused stood indicted were associated with the same set of facts arising out of an unfortunate accident on a straight road south of Waipukurau, in which a man named Palmer died.

It was alleged by the Crown that the accused was guilty of negligent or reckless driving in that he caused the car which Palmer was driving to run off the road and collide with a power pole. Corroborative evidence was given by Mervyn Olsen. In answer to Mr Harker, the witness said that he could recall a statement allegedly made at the home of some people named Green. He had not discuss-ed the accident with any of Mouat's relatives. relatives.

Re-examined by Mr Lusk, Olsen said that Mouat's relatives had tried to get him to say that his attention was drawn to the vehicles by the South of the Sanatorium hill, Waipukurau, Palmer, who was accompanied by his wife and two children, overhauled a lorry which, the Crown would ask the jury to believe, was driven by the accused. In order to pass the lorry, Palmer increased his speed to about 50 miles an hour and returned to his correct side after having accomplished his purpose.

The Crown Prosecutor said that Mrs Palmer, who was herself an expert driver, would say that they were as far to the left as it was possible to be and that when this lorry suddenly appeared she would have been able to touch it had she been seated behind the wheel of the car. As it was she was able to read: "Mouat, Takapau," on the door.

"Although she was not rendered unconscious, Mrs Palmer was unable to see the truck after she got out of the damaged car," he added. "Mouat has denied that he was involved in an accident, so that we have had to call scientific evidence to show that his truck was involved. The road itself provided excellent evidence. There were patches of oil and grease on the road and grass that closely correspond with that in the hub cap of the car which, the Crown alleges, was torn off by the the hub cap of the car which, the Crown alleges, was torn off by the impact with the rear wheel of the lorry," the Crown Prosecutor con-tinued

He said that the accused had always asserted that he was sober and the Crown had no evidence to the contrary. Evidence of how he gathered certain parts of the vehicles and showed them to experts in Wellington was given by Constable P. J. Mullins, Takapau. On his return to Takapau after the accident the witness saw the accused at the home of Mr Webb-Thomsen. He was then standing in the kitchen with a glass of liquor in his hand. The witness asked the accused to account for his movements and if he had been involved in an accident. Mouat denied that he had been involved in an accident and refused to accompany the dent and refused to accompany the witness to the police station to make a statement to that effect.

Constable's Request "Mouat went into the kitchen and I requested him not to drink the liquor," said Constable Mullins. "I could see that he had had liquor, but that is not unusual in this particular case," said the witness.

Mouat suggested that a number of shiny and recently-made marks on the rear wheel had been caused three weeks previously, when the wheel struck a stump. Cross-examined by Mr Harker, the witness said that she did not see the front part of the lorry pass the car safely. She had since seen the car and noticed that the whole side was torn out, but she had not noticed that the mudguard was undamaged.

Dr. A. G. Bell described how he found Palmer in a dying condition.

The 1941 jumping season was further advanced on Saturday when races were held at Waikato, South Canterbury and Otaki. At the former fixture two useful jumpers, Bridegroom and Streamline, won the principal races and down south a newcomer, but a promising gelding, Green Boa, followed up Thursday's success by winning the hurdles. The cross-country event was won at this meeting by the six-

ENTRIES FOR HAWKE'S

Due With The Secretary On Monday

The Taranaki jumper, Aussie Ra, was stripped for action in the steeple-chase, but not the hurdles at Te Rapa. His supporters were not long in knowing that their money had gone west. After jumping the second fence, which this gelding punched very hard, he was pulled up and when returning to the bird-cage was very lame. It may not be serious but it is unfortunate just prior to the Ellerslie meeting when the big stakes are offering. He was not accepted for yesterday's races so that this Australian-bred gelding may be under treatment. Those who have been selecting him as a likely winner for the Great Northerns would be well advised to lay off for a few days until some definite report is made. Nominations for all events at the Hawke's Bay Jockey Club's winter meeting at which the 100 guinea challenge cup will be run for, to be held on June 7 and 14, close with the secretary, Mr A. E. Wishart, Hastings, on Monday, May 26 at 8 nm

SIX YEARS' LAPSE. Recently Riotous won the Egmont Steeplechase, a race he had won seven years ago also. It is unusual for a horse to win the same race twice with such a lengthy interval. On Saturday King Rey came close to putting up a similar record when he won the President's Handicap at Waikato, a race he had won in 1935—six years ago. King Rey is reported to be in great fettle and in some quarters up north is said to be a "sitting shot" for the Great Northern. One admirer says that this Raceful aged gelding will win the race by a minute. The Cardinal, who ran second to King Rey on Saturday, is out of luck. In this handicap he struck trouble early. Turning for home he was far behind the winner, who was in front nearly all the way. This run of The Cardinal's will bring him into further favour for the A.R.C. Cornwall Handicap. MASTER CYKLON FALLS. MASTER CYKLON FALLS.

SIX YEARS' LAPSE.

TRAINER GREENE'S DUO.

The Hastings trainer, G. W. B. Greene, was responsible for an uncommon double win at Te Rapa when he took both divisions of the hack sprint with Battle Gain and Black Majesty. Battle Gain in the first division drew No. 3 at the post and was quickly in the van and never headed. With heads turned for home others began to challenge, but Battle Gain went on solidly and held the opposition at bay, stamping him as a high-class hack and one likely soon to acquit himself well in open company—prophecy that the "Daily Mail" made some months back. Black Majesty was at good odds to return his followers an acceptable double-figure dividend. He was not as fortunate as his stable-companion in the barrier draw, as he was No. 15, but he was quickly in his stride and never gave his supporters anxiety. Both these horses of trainer Greene's, with Dozie Boy, will go on to Ellerslie for the Great Northern meeting and, being in such good racing condition, will be' expected to add to their present score. With 9.11 Black Majesty again won yesterday—a first-class performance.

OWNERS RESPOND WELL

NAPIER PARK WINTER MEETING

NOMINATIONS

Saturday And Monday May 31 And June 2

Considering counter attractions on the ame days as the Napier Park Racing Club's winter meeting, May 31 and June the response of owners must be condered entirely satisfactory.

The hurdle races and steeplechases have attracted better nominations than in recent years, and a big percentage of these entries will accept, as they are not engaged elsewhere on the same dates. The club is thus assured of turnishing an attractive bill of fare. The open hack and maiden races have filled quite well and a little above expectations. pectations.

Following are the lists of horses engaged in the fourteen-race programme:

First Day

MOTEO HACK HURDLES, of £100; one mile and a half.—Rollicker, Malacca, Harbour Bar, Jungle King, Siegall, Royal
stuart, Vengeance, Lambert, Taharakau,
King Tractor, Cherry Plum, Whetu, Misurina, Boatsong, Solaria.

Bridegroom (Mimetic-Bridal) at Egmont recently fell and was reported to have suffered slightly from the effects of that mishap. However, he started and won, although he may have been a little fortunate.

Two fences from home Riotous, the stablemate of the above gelding, and Baldric, were out in front but both fell, leaving Bridegroom in front. Riotous was tiring, but Baldric was full of running and looked as though he might have won.

Bridegroom proved a very handy jumper last season and perhaps he has not yet this term reached the peak of his form, so should be worth watching in the future.

The Hastings candidate, Dozle Boy, ran a fair race and although two lengths behind the winner, was fifteen lengths in front of the third placegetter, En Tour. Dozle Boy lost none of his Great Northern admirers by his display.

UNUSUAL HAPPENING. MAIDEN SCURRY, of £85; five fur-longs.—Dai Bando, Miss Hallomet, Prov-in, Ruling Moments, Nalla, Emblem Knightsbridge, Slyana, Mynet, Tea Lord Whackie, Ira Te Kura, Singapore, Car-toonist, Siegall, Captain Star, Indiana Acre's Beauty, Midlass, Vengeance Dusky Bay, Grey Spy, Haughty Rival Loch Moigh, Parvita.

MAREWA HACK HANDICAP, oc. 100; one mile.—Goldcraft, Kobi, Support, Smiling Personality, Visibility Sity Song, Arabic, Kriemhild, Valspear Myrna Loy, Pretty Lass, Whetu, Catan

NAPIER STEEPLECHASE, of £150; about two miles and a half.—Birkology, Glenvane, Son and Heir, Harbour Bar, Master Hector, Iddo, Royal Stuart, Lu-cullus Boy, Hyderabad, Cherry Plum. LADIES' HANDICAP, of £70; one mile and a quarter,—Visibility, Makaia, Anini, Dunvegan, Pretty Lass, Golden Ridge, Misurina.

of his Great Northern admirers by his display.

Streamline (Day Comet-Sailor's Hope) winner of the Great Northern Hurdles last year, won well the Waikato Hurdles. Well situated all the way, he was fortunate in getting a clear run through on the rails, making the home bend. At that stage The Dozer and Master Appellant were in front and once again there was a gap at the last fence. The boys on both horses went for it and collided, causing Master Appellant to fall and The Dozer to lose ground, which may have helped the winner to gain the major honours.

When Streamline had passed the winning post his lead-bag fell from under rider Ridgway's saddle and was picked up by the Clerk of the Course who in turn passed it on to the assistant starter.

When Ridgway mounted the scales he was 151bs light, but he remained then he drew the right weight. Hector Grey, trainer of the runner-up, The Dozer, entered a protest, but as no breach of the Rules of Racing had cocurred the protest was dismissed.

RELATION TO LUNA LUX. Hawke's Bay sportsmen will well re-FLYING HANDICAP, of £100; six fur-longs.—Endorsement, Ringling, Raka-nui, Smiling Personality, Black Thread, Proclamation, Centrepoise, Hunting Blood, Diana Tetrix, Gay Mimic, Royal Star II, Gayest Son, Nelumbo, Solaria. Comment On Games

Results of the first day's play in the Hastings Basketball Association competition were:—
Senior A.—Havelock North 30, West End 10; H.S. Old Girls 22, Woolworths 12; Convent 0.G. 32, High School A 7. Senior B.—H.S. Old Girls 22, Wattles 15; High School B 18, Convent 12; Havelock North 15, Roach's 6; Convent 0.G. 13, Clive S.O.G. 6.
Intermediate.—H.S.C. 2 21, H.S.C. 1 15; H.S. Old Girls 14, Convent 10; Juvenile Lodge 15, Wattles 12.
Junior.—H.S.D. 1 won by default from Convent D; Convent C1 11, H.S.D. 3 6.
Reports of the senior games are as follows:—
Senior A

THE BALBOA BREED.

The Balboa breed have done well in the South Island for a number of years. At Washdyke Green Boa (Balboa-Green, Cloth) won the hurdles both days. He is not yet a proficient jumper, but is improving with experience so that he will at the least be useful in this department.

In his race on Saturday the local-bred Fundy Bay was third. This gelding is by Tidal from the same mare as Arabic and according to Mr G. G. Beatson, who has returned from South Canterbury, looked a picture and was easily the best looker of the starters in the Duke of Gloucester Cup. follows:—

Senior A

Havelock North v West End.—Havelock had the best of the whole game. Their co-operation in all thirds was excellent and their shooting was accurate. West End forwards lacked combination, but D. Swayn and J. Patterson played very well in the centre.

H.S. Old Girls v Woolworths.—Woolworths played very well throughout the game, but their play was spoilt by too much stepping and passes too long. B. Tunnicliffe played well for Woolworths. H.S.O.G. defence played well, and always passed in smartly, and their forwards and centres combined well.

Convent O.G. v High School A.—Convent O.G. were definitely on top from the start, their combination being outstanding in all thirds. M. Cassin in the centre played her usual good game. High School played very determinedly, especially the forwards against C.O.G.'s strong defence.

Senior B starters in the Duke of Gloucester Cup.
Mr Beatson's mount in the Cup race did not complete the course. From a bad start Benevolent was skittled in the jump away and was going so poorly after that he was eased up suffering from a recurrence of some old side trouble.

It came as a surprise that the Duke of Gloucester Cup, the two miniatures and the first prize won by Norse had been impounded by the South Canterbury Jockey Club. Full details were not forwarded by the Press Association, but no doubt the particulars will be known in a day or two. The owner-trainer-rider of Norse is Mr G. H. Paul, who at one time owned and raced Gold Salute, for whom Mr Allen Cooper, of Australia, gave 10,000gns. a couple of years back.

WILLEN BLISTERED.

centre played her usual good game, High School played very determinedly, especially the forwards against C.O.G.'s strong defence.

H.S. Old Girls v Wattles.—Both teams played well, H.S.O.G. shooting well in the first half. N. Cole played well for Wattles, but is inclined to be overkeen. Wattles were inclined to step too much with the bail. N. French and T. Reed played well for H.S. Old Girls.
High School B v Convent.—This was a very good match, both teams being very even. High School defence were inclined to block. J. Tacon played well for Convent, and Z. Hendry, J. Perry and C. Sommerville for High School. The players in both teams are young, and they show great promise for senior play in a year or two.

Havelock North v Roach's.—Havelock North played a good game, their outstanding players being J. Goymore and N. Gardner. Roach's would improve if they would get in front of their partners instead of standing behind.
Convent O.G. v Clive School O.G.—Both teams played well for Convent, and the Clive S.O.G. forwards show promise. In all senior B and lower grades personal contact and general lack of knowledge of the rules were evident. Players would be well advised to study their rule books. WILLEN BLISTERED.

Willen, who was expected to rejoin W. H. Corlett's team this winter, has been blistered and is to have another six months' spell before being placed into training again. The writer has learnt that this gelding is by Ollatrim (by Moutokawa) the sire of Mataroa. Previously it was said that Willen was by Moutokawa, but the mistake is easily recognised as it was one of his sons and not the Waiuku-Ngaio horse that was responsible for Willen's existence.
