His Majesty's Government in a statement recalling the declaration of July 1, 1940, that it would not allow a hostile Power to occupy Syria and the Lebanon, reviewed Vichy's latest actions, which his Majesty's Government cannot be expected to tolerate. The Government associates itself with General de Gaulle's promise of independence for Syria and Lebanon, which was issued simultaneously with the entry.

"His Majesty's Government," continues the statement, "could not be expected to tolerate Vichy's actions, which go far beyond anything laid down in the terms of the French armistice and are in flagrant conflict with the recent declaration of Marshal Petain that honour forbade France to undertake anything against her former allies.

"A declaration has simultaneously been issued by General Catroux on behalf of General de Gaulle guaranteeing the liberty and independence of Syria and Lebanon and undertaking to negotiate a treaty to ensure these objects. His Majesty's Government supports and associates itself with this promise of independence.

"In spite of the British Government's warning the Vichy Government, in pursuance of its policy of collaboration with the Axis Powers, has placed air bases in Syria and Lebanon at the disposal of Germany and Italy and has supplied war material to the rebel forces in Iraq. German infiltration into Syria has begun and the Vichy Government is continuing to take measures whose effect must be to bring Syria and Lebanon under full German control."

"Drive Out the Germans" The Allied and Free French forces, which are commanded by Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, crossed the frontier at 2 a.m. after 'planes had dropped leaflets urging the French Army and Syrian authorities to collaborate in driving out the Germans.

The operation is proceeding according to plan. It is primarily intended to prevent the Germans using Syria as a base for operations. The British United Press Cairo correspondent says it is hoped that the British advance will not develop into a military operation but this depends on the attitude of the French.

Tailored costumes of fine tweed were chosen by many, and grey was a popular colour especially when worn with a fine wool jumper in periwinkle blue, sage green or cherry. Others preferred the coarser Harris tweeds and in these many lovely blues and greens or checked mixtures were very becom-

"BROTHER RAT AND A BABY

Heading the cast of "Brother Rat and a Baby," the comedy now screening at the Cosy Theatre, Hastings, are Priscilla Lane, Wayne Morris, Jane Bryan, Eddie Albert, Jane Wyman, Ronald Reagan and 14-months-old Peter B. Good, who plays the "baby" part of the title. Also featured in the cast are Arthur Treacher, Moroni Olsen, Jessie Busley, Larry Williams, and many others. The story takes up the adventures of the "Brother Rat" characters just one year after gradua acters just one year after gradua-tion from Military College. One of the three erstwhile cadets is already the three erstwhile cadets is already a family man, the other two are just having girl trouble. "Commencement," the baby, is the real troublemaker, and his exploits land his mother and father and the other two couples into an hilarious series of adventures and misadventures.

A technical device used by the playwright and carried out to perfection in the film production is that of the "cutback." The picture opens in a courtroom, where John Litel is "On Trial" for murder of a business associate. As each witness comes to the stand and tells his or her story, the scene changes abruptly and the testimony of the witness is reenacted graphically for the spectator. It is an engrossing tale of mystery, pathos and stark drama, and ery, pathos and stark drama, and he screen version keeps the solution f the mystery well masked until of the mystery well masked until the final denouement.

BARRYMORE IN "THE GREAT PROFILE"

When Darryl F. Zanuck, re-nowned 20th Century-Fox producer, lecided to film "The Great Profile" the comedy about a great actor beet by complications of all kinds, he ebullient and versatile John arrymore was considered a "natral" for the role—and a happy iece of casting it was.

Always a master of repartee and ightning fast with the "quip," sarrymore has been widely aclaimed as the champion among adclaimed as the champion among ad-libbers. Theatre-goers who have been curious to hear the famous Barrymore ad lib and mirth-pro-voking remarks will have that op-portunity in "The Great Profile," for the script was made flexible enough to include many of his sparkling aphorisms.

"The Great Profile," opening at the State Theatre, Hastings, to-morrow, is the hilarious story of a famous stage Romeo whose nagging wife heckles him so persistently and flercely that he goes berserk on the stage. He winds up by making the whole nation howl with amusement as he ad libs, burlesques and brawls his way on to the nation's front pages.

and brawls his way on to the nation's front pages.

A serious problem presented with deft overlay of light comedy is a dramatic pattern perfectly suited to the skilful talents and scintillating personality of Kay Francis. Such a picture is "Play Girl," now screening at the State Theatre, Hastings, a highly entertaining drama of a hard and glittering lady of adventure who is finally redeemed by an unsuspected soft spot. The story is concerned with the reckless exploits of a fascinating woman of the world who lives lavishly and luxuriously by the simple method of bewitching by the simple method of bewitchir men with her charm then col bloodedly dissecting their bankrolls.

'DR EHRLICH'S MAGIC BULLET"

Not since the advent of talking pictures has such a radical departure in film technique been made as in Warner Bros. film "The Story of Dr Ehrlich's Magic Bullet," opening to-morrow at the Regent Theatre, Hastings. Now they have shattered every precedent for dramatic frankness in telling the true story of mankind's strangest weapon. It is a tense, completely absorbing pic-mankind's strangest weapon. It is a tense, completely absorbing picture, flawlessly produced.

"The Story of Dr Ehrlich's Magic Bullet," marks a turning point in Edward G. Robinson's career. In a role utterly different from anything he has done before, he gives a performance so superb that it ranks with the finest portraits in screen history. He lives the role in a thoroughly impressive performance covhistory. He lives the role in a thoroughly impressive performance covering the span of years from young manhood to grey old age in a constant battle for the humanities. His make-up throughout the picture is a triumph in itself and his interpretation of the Ehrlich character leaves nothing to be desired.

The same sensational situations, the same wealth of emotional drama which made Fannie Hurst's great which made Fannie Hurst's great novel, "Back Street," one of the out-standing novels of the day, have been captured and put on the screen in the picturisation of the story, which is now screening at the Regent Theatre, Hastings, according to the multitudes who have read the 3YA CHRISTCHURCH book and also have seen the picture.

Mayfair

DRAMA OF NEWSREEL CAMERAMEN

Described as a rollicking comedy drama, "Lucky Devils," now showing at the Mayfair Theatre, Napier, involves Richard Arlen and Andy Devine in a series of perilous and humorous adventures. An hilarious climax in which the two stars overpower foreign saboteurs with the aid of model aeroplanes is said to highlight the film.

Dorothy Lovett appears romantically opposite Arlen. Devine is also provided with a "love interest" in the person of Janet Shaw, shapely blonde actress who portrays a lisping beauty contestant.

Richard Dix is appointed United States Marshal for the town to restore law and order in "Indian Nation." He cleans it up after many exciting experiences ending in a decrea with External with the states of the sta

'BRIGHAM YOUNG," A FINE STORY

Set against the turbulent background of the great Mormon trek in "Brigham Young," opening tomorrow at the State Theatre, Napier, is one of the most appealing love stories the screen has ever told—that of Jonathan Kent, Mormon scout, and Zina Webb, "the outsider," played by Tyrone Power and Linda Darnell.

Deeply in love, they are forced to forego their romance during the harrowing trials of the trek. Even when the permanent Mormon community is founded at Great Salt Lake and it seems that, at last, they can belong to each other, it is necessary for the leader to send his scout back to Council Bluffs to bring on the main body of Mormons. Only after the historic plague of crickets and the "miracle of sea gulls" are they able to plan on a home together.

DEANNA DURBIN IN "NICE GIRL?"

America's nice girl has grown up nto a glamorous young woman. Deanna Durbin is no longer the screen's favourite "little girl" of screen's favourite "little girl" of motion pictures. Instead, Deanna is an even more potentially popular young lady who steps out in all her glamour in "Nice Girl?" comedy showing at the Regent Theatre, Napier. The story presents Deanna as a typical small town "nice girl" who tires of being one—so she escapes through a romantic escapade with a young New Yorker, played by Franchot Tone. Deanna thereby becomes subject of a town scandai which is quelled only after her "engagement" to Tone is announced. Tone reappears, to complicate a which is quelled only after her "engagement" to Tone is announced. Tone reappears, to complicate a situation which provides much hilarity before the story reaches its surprise finish.

Deanna sings numbers, including Stephen Foster's "Old Folks At Home" and four new songs: "Perhaps," "Love at Last," "Beneath the Lights of Home," "Thank You, America," and "There'll Always Be An England."

MORE ABOUT PARTY POLITICS

A good deal of confused thinking continues to prevail in regard to the composition of the Government which should be administering the country under war conditions.

The South Island Dairy Association, which represents a section of the farming industry, is calling for "a truly national Government, freed from all considerations of a party nature," but the association seems to have small faith in the efficiency or usefulness of such a Government, because it also demands "the establishment of a council consisting of persons with the necessary qualifications for the purpose of advising the Govment," etc., etc.

Under our constitution which we are fighting to preserve, the people elect their own Government. It is hard to get elected to Parliament, and still harder to become a Minister of the Crown, and when a man attains this eminence and is vested with the responsibility of administering a Department of State, it is not exactly complimentary to tell him that he is unfit for the position and must defer to advisers who will tell

The difficulty about the appointment of advisory councils is that the selection must be made by the men who are to be the recipients of their advice, and if Ministers of the Crown are incompetent to discharge the duties of their office it seems rather futile to expect them to put themselves into the hands of an extra-Parliamentary body which would have power without responsibility.

A national Government consisting of men of outstanding ability would be very desirable at the present time, but there is no hope of getting it, and the country will have to put up with a Ministry consisting of elected representatives of the people. In England it is possible for a Prime Minister, who wishes to co-opt the services of a man of acknowledged capacity, to appoint him a Minister and find him a seat in Parliament afterwards. It is hardly practicable in New Zealand.

Not unnaturally, the demand for a Coalition Government comes chiefly from quarters where party antagonism to the Government is strongest. Supporters of the Labour movement have a pretty shrewd idea that if the position were reversed and the Nationalists were 55 strong in the present Parliament, they would not be displaying the same enthusiasm for a coalition, and rightly so. The Labour Party have some reason to be afraid of coalitions, because whenever Labour men have gone into a coalition government in England or in Australia, it has had a disrupting influence, resulting in some of them leaving the party for good.

The lesson has been learned, and the Federal Labour Party has resisted all the overtures of Mr Menzies to share the portfolios in an All-Australian Government; because of the fear that the ultimate effect on the Federal Labour Party organisation would be disastrous.

Should Mr Holland be successful at the forthcoming general election in New Zealand and carry out his promise to offer portfolios to members of the Labour Party it is most unlikely that the National Executive of the Labour Party would allow them to accept. Disobedience would probably mean expulsion from the party.

Some will regard this as a serious indictment of the party system and few will deny it, but government by political parties in turn, must necessarily be inseparable from the system of deciding everything by a vote of the majority. Like all human institutions, it is very far from perfect, but we have to put up with it in default of a better way.

THE WAITEMATA BY-ELECTION

The seat rendered vacant by the death on active service of the late Captain W. J. Lyon, M.P., is to be contested by the official Labour Party and the rebel group led by Mr J. A. Lee.

Democratic Labour is alleged to have a substantial following, although this is scouted in official Labour circles, Certainly Messrs Barnard and Lee have been very active during the past twelve months. They have held meetings all over the country, and have formed branches in a majority of the electorates. Candidates are said to be forthcoming in some 60-odd constituencies and it is quite possible that the movement is causing the Government more anxiety than it cares to admit.

It is always difficult to gauge the strength of a new political movement, but it is very seldom that a new party achieves a striking success when it makes its first appeal for supporters. Further, there is little in the Democratic Labour programme to seduce Labour supporters from their allegiance to a party which has conferred such tangible benefits upon Political parties usually build up slowly from small beginnings, and take years to become an effective political force. On present appearances the Democratic Labourites look more like wreckers than builders.

This by-election should provide a very interesting trial of strength, and the result will be eagerly studied in all its bearings by members of the Government and Opposition alike.

It is reported that Nazi incendiary bombs frequently fall into the Thames. But we fear Hitler will never set the Thames on fire.

Whatever happens now, Mr De Valera has attained his ambition. He will go down in history as the man who was still neutral in 1941.

Twenty-four years ago on Saturday the battle of Messines, the most methodical offensive undertaken by the Allies against the Germans in three years of war, was commenced. Fully-equipped for perhaps the first time, the Imperial troops took Germany by surprise in the actual time of the assault, though the enemy were aware of the preparations being made for it. though the enemy were aware of the preparations being made for it. New Zealand troops carried Messines village and Fanny's Farm, beyond it. They dug in along the whole position taken, and the Australians went through to carry the ridge beyond. New Zealand casualties in the Messines battle totalled 3633, of whom 473 were killed, 2726 wounded and 434 missing.

Valuable Discovery Six ingots of tin weighing about 1½cwt. have been found in the hulk of the old French frigate Eure, which has been broken up at Sulphur Bay by Mr F. Appleton, an Auckland machinery merchant. In addition to the tin, large quantities of copper, teak and other useful material have been salvaged from the old ship, which was rigged in 1841. Little more than the keel now remains. The Eure, which was last in commission as a man-of-war at Noumea, was sent to Sydney in 1912 by the French Government to be disposed of. It was bought as a hulk at Sydney after being dismantled at Sydney after being dismantled for the Northern Steamship Com-pany, and towed across the Tasman by the Lamb steamer Omana, which now belongs to the Union Steam Ship Company.

P. and T. Men Serve

"Out of a total Post and Telegraph Department permanent staff of nearly 12,000 members, over 3000 trained men and technicians have been released for service overseas, or for Territorial training," said the Postmaster-General (the Hon. P. C. Webb) in Auckland. The Minister said he had recently visited many post offices in different parts of the Dominion, and he expressed pleasure at the service being maintained in spite of reduced staffs. "In many cases the places of men on service have been filled by women or inexperienced men, but the great bulk of the work falls heavily on the experienced officers." Mr Webb added. "They have risen to the occasion magnificently, and maintained a service that is a real credit to them and a great advantage to the general public."

"Cobber" Kain

"Cobber" Kain

The first anniversary of the death of Flying-Officer Edgar ("Cobber") Kain, brilliant New Zealand air ace, occurred on Saturday. Born in Hastings, Flying-Officer Kain studied at Christ's College, Christ-church, and at the age of 18 he joined the R.A.F. in England. His greatest single-handed combat was against a Dornier, the most powerful Nazi reconnaissance machine, at a height of 26,000 feet, alleged to be the highest altitude at which any air encounter has been fought. The New Zealander shot down his opponent after a desperate struggle. Before his death, "Cobber" Kain was credited with having shot down more than 40 enemy aircraft and was awarded the D.F.C. This courageous pilot, who captured the admiration of the Empire with his coolness and daring, will be remembered in New Zealand history as the Dominion's first air ace. Dominion's first air ace.

GASMASK TYPE Success Of New System

OPTICIANS' SUPPORT

Hundreds of pairs of gasmask spectacles have been issued free to Expeditionary Force soldiers since the beginning of this year. They are made of the finest nickel obtainable and the side pieces or temples are so flexible that they yield to the fit of the gasmask and do not, as would ordinary civilian frames, leave gas entry spaces on each side. The issue of these spectacles is part of a service which was initiated at the beginning of the year by the Army authorities, and given full support and assistance by the Institute of Opticians. The service has resulted in a very considerable improvement in eye examinations for the Army, and it is estimated that the country is being saved thousands of pounds in the attention or pensions that otherwise would have to be given through allowing men to enter the Army who have not the required standard of vision.

Colour.Blind Recruits

Colour-Blind Recruits

How easy this can be is shown by the fact that numbers of men who entered the Army before the new system was started had no suspicion that their eyesight was faulty until they were taken to the rifle range and could not see the target. The entry of colour-blind recruits has also become impossible under the new system.

Since it was started, about 400 Ex-Since it was started, about 400 Expeditionary Force soldiers have had eye examinations at Papakura camp, and about 300 pairs of spectacles have been made. About 60 of these have been for men who previously did not wear glasses and who would otherwise have gone overseas without suspecting that their eyesight could place themselves or their comrades in positions of danger.

Best Lenses Obtainable

Best Lenses Obtainable

The lenses are stated to be the best obtainable, while the frames are made to a British pattern that was specially designed for the use of gasmasks. It is also stated that the professional attention given is of the highest standard, and in Auckland the opticians who examine the recruits at the drill hall and who regularly visit Papakura camp four days every week are all well known and highly qualified experts.

Records which are kept enable the Army to be sure that the soldiers leave the country with the necessary standard of natural or corrected vision. Thus it will be possible to discover whether subsequent eyesight failure is or is not due to a man's war service.

Chambers Of Commerce Criticised

By Telegraph—Press Association.

WELLINGTON, June 7.

A statement in regard to the attitude of the unions towards the 40-hour week being observed in wartime was made to-day by Mr F. P. Walsh, president of the Wellington Trades Council, the affiliated body to the New Zealand Federation of Labour.

Labour.

"The unjust attacks made by the Wellington Chamber of Commerce on workers employed in industries on a 40-hour week is receiving the attention of the Wellington Trades Council," he said.

"My executive has called a special meeting of representatives of its affiliations, which number over 36,000 trade unionists, for Monday evening to consider taking appropriate action against those who, in the opinion of my executive, are active Fifth Column agents of Hitler in this country.

"My executive is also consulting its solicitors respecting the state-its solicitors respecting the state-ment made by Mr McCaul at the Wellington Chamber of Commerce meeting, but until such time as the executive gets their opinion, it does not at this juncture wish to say anything further on this matter other than to say that the last has not been heard of it."

scribed as unscrupulous and misleading attacks on the 40-hour week and the part that has been and is being played by trade unionists in New Zealand to bring the war to a successful conclusion.

For the benefit of the Wellington Chamber of Commerce and others who are attacking trade unionists in New Zealand, Mr Walsh said it was desired to reaffirm the decision of the conference of the Federation of Labour pledging themselves to do all in their power to assist the Government to bring about the total destruction of the foul forces of reaction let loose in Europe by Hitler and Mussolini.

Seizure Of Ships Authorised

AMERICAN BILL SIGNED

United Press Association—Copyright, (Received June 8, 6 p.m.) WASHINGTON, June 6.

President Roosevelt at 11 o'clock this morning signed the Bill author-ising the Government of the United States to take over all foreign ship-ping lying idle in United States ports. The shipping affected by the order aggregates more than 500,000 tons.

Eighty-four foreign vessels in all, including 30 either German or Italian, are involved in the seizure contemplated in the Bill. They include the crack 84,000-ton French liner Normandie, which has been lying idle in New York harbour since the outbreak of war. The shipping taken over under the provisions of the Bill will be transferred to services most useful for the national defence.

Prime Minister Promises Adequate Air Support

(From Official War Correspondent with N.Z.E.F. in Middle East.)

The voice of a nation proud in the midst of its mourning for its lost sons spoke to-day to the New Zealanders newly settled in a desert camp after returning from the campaigns in Greece and Crete.

The New Zealanders' defeat of the actual paratroops, said the Prime Minister (the Rt. Hon. P. Fraser), addressing the men, minimised the likelihood of such an attack ever being made on the United Kingdom. This achievement was of great importance to the Motherland.

Mr Fraser promised that every-thing would be done to see that the fighting troops had adequate air sup-port next time.

Freshly clothed and already much rested, the troops assembled at a ceremonial parade in honour of the visit of the Prime Minister, who yesterday spent all the day with the sick and wounded men.

He was impressed by the bearing and excellent spirits of the parading soldiers as he moved among them and later, as they marched past in the salute.

At the end of the address General Freyberg led the force in rousing cheers for the Prime Minister. Unprecedented Attack.

Unprecedented Attack.

Mr Fraser said that while a fortnight ago he was expressing to the troops back from Greece the admiration of the Dominion for the wonderful rearguard action carried out there, the remaining New Zealand fighting men were confronting in Crete what turned out to be an unprecedented attack.

They underwent experiences unparalleled in battle.

"You returned after deeds of courage, valour and daring that have never been surpassed. When you left Greece along with your comrades it was reported to me on all sides that while all the British and Greek troops there had done well and had fought bravely, there were none who surpassed the New Zealand Division in all respects.

"I was informed on the best authity that in initiative, discipline and co-operation you men and your comrades stood supreme.

Old and New Names.

"Since then you have again added a bright page of courageous achievements to the history of the Dominion. In Greece, the ancient names of Olympus, Thermopylae, Corinth and Piraeus became intertwined with Gallipoli, Messines, the Somme and Passchendaele, and now Malemi, Galatos, Suda Bay and Sphakia will shine as brightly in New Zealand history.

"You left many of your comrades in Greece and Crete, and our hearts go out to the relatives of those who fell and those whose fate is uncertain. Old and New Names.

CANBERRA, June 7.
Australia's defence expenditure in 1941-42 is likely to be in the vicinity of £250,000,000 and additional taxation seems inevitable. In stating this on Saturday, the Federal Treasurer (the Hon. A. W. Fadden) indicated that in planning the eral Treasurer (the Hon. A. W. Fadden) indicated that in planning the Budget he would consider adopting in some form Professor J. M. Mr Fadden emphasised that the basic principles of the Budget which would be brought down in July were, first, maximum taxation without disturbance to the economic system; secondly, voluntary loans for war purposes; thirdly, judicious use of bank credit.

The "Voelkischer Beobachter" says: "Three American ships of the action against the Bismarck. They were so close to the scene that one of them, the Modoc, was nearly hit by shells from the Bismarck. The Prime Minister said that one of the brightest aspects of the evacuation was the fact that the first thought of the returning officers and men as they landed was for their comrades still behind them.

"I appreciate, and the country appreciates, what you men have faced, endured and achieved. WARM GRATITUDE Tribute By Prime

(From the Official War Correspondent with the N.Z.E.F.)
CAIRO, June 7.
The Prime Minister (the Rt. Hon. P. Fraser) to-day expressed the admiration which lies deep in every New Zealand heart for the efficiency, dependability and friendliness of the British Navy.
Addressing the Crete campaigners, the Prime Minister declared:
"I wish to pay a tribute—and, you will all agree—a well-deserved tribute to the fleet under Admiral Cunningham.

and stood up to an air attack which has never been equalled and whose extent and violence were not foreseen.

Blasted Out?

"You were not defeated because of any superiority in the Nazi personnel or morale, nor because of any weakening in your own ranks in fighting determination or spirit. You were literally blasted out of Crete by an air attack which no flesh and blood could stand.

"You proved beyond doubt that parachute troops can be defeated. By doing that you achieved a great try, but also for the Motherland.

Will all agree—a well-teserved tribute for the fleet under Admiral Cunningham.

"I was engaged on behalf of New Zealand in frequent discussions with the Admiral and his staff with regard to the evacuation. I can say that the risks taken by him and by the men of the navy were unprecedented, and everything humanly possible was done to get the maximum number of our men away.

"From what I heard at the hospital from men suffering from wounds and sickness at that time, the kindness, consideration, efficiency of treatment, and warmth of reception aboard the warships really are beyond praise or thanks."

LONDON, June 6.

The recently-formed New Zealand Spitfire Squadron has gained its first blood, its squadron leader, a 24-year-old airman from Dannevirke, shooting down a Junkers 88 discovered attacking shipping.

The squadron was at first disappointed because the Junkers was not seen to crash, and it could not be claimed as destroyed, but there was rejoicing in the mess next day when the Navy reported that the Junkers had crashed into the sea a few minutes after the combat.

The squadron-leader worked his passage to England to join the R.A.F. He was formerly an air flying instructor. His pupils included "Cobber" Kain, the famous New Zealand ace

NEW TYPE OF WARFARE

BOMBING REPLACES SHELL FIRE

MORAL EFFECT Colonel R. A. Row's Observations

By Telegraph—Press Association.
AUCKLAND, June 7.
"This war is totally different from the last war, in that it is moving faster, and the casualties in killed and wounded are nothing like as heavy. It is a war of nerves," said Colonel R. A. Row, formerly officer commanding the Northern Field Force, Auckland, who has returned from Greece, Crete, and the Middle East after completing a special investigation into modern warfare. He left New Zealand in January, and is proceeding to Wellington to report to the Government.
"This war," he said, "demands a much higher standard of training for senior commanders. The enemy is relying largely on bombing and machine-gun fire from the air, but the material effect is very small indeed. There is, however, a considerable moral effect as the result of bombing. This is due to its slowness, as compared with shellfire, which was so destructive in the last war."

Bombs made a lot of noise and threw up a lot of dirt, but did little actual damage.

Colonel Row said he witnessed the main battles the New Zealanders participated in in Greece, and finally the evacuation. He paid a warm tribute to the Navy.

"The Maori Battalion fought galgantly at Katarini Pass, showing great spirit and were very good under discipline," continued Colonel Row. "Man to man the New Zealanders are superior even against odds. It was just sheer weight of numbers and material which drove them back."

Colonel Row was in Crete until about 10 days before the main enemy attack commenced, then he toured the Egyptian front. Our troops, he said, require aeroplanes and tanks in large numbers.
Colonel Row expressed admiration of what had been done by the Prime Minister. New Zealanders were very pleased that the Rt. Hon. P. Fraser was with them. The colonel also paid tribute to the New Zealand war correspondent (Mr R. T. Miller), who had been right up in the front line of fighting, doing an excellent job of work in his official capacity.

WASHINGTON, June 6.

German Propaganda
Two orders, the President asserted, had been issued by the official German propaganda agency in Berlin to Nazis and Fascists in the United States. The first told them to stress the idea that Germany had no thought of ever doing anything against any country in the entire Western Hemisphere; the second ordered Nazi and Fascist sympathisers, as soon as Mr Winant arrived back in the United States, to spread the story that he was bringing a scarehead report that Britain was all in and was talking peace.

President Roosevelt said he could give a virtually complete account of Mr Winant's mission. "The Ambassador," he said, "came to report on many major topics relating to Britain's conduct of the war. He also came to get information relating to defence to take to England." German Propaganda

DANNEVIRKE Only one senior match was played at Dannevirke on Saturday in the Rugby competition, Camp B forfeiting to Camp A, but the game between Old Boys and Ruahine provided the most exciting and brilliant play seen on the park this season.

HASTINGS V. CELTIC

Hastings gained a narrow win over Celtic in a match played at Nelson Park, Hastings. Celtic had the better of things in the first spell, but Hastings hung on better and appeared to have a little more dash in the closing stages of the game.

A penalty goal kicked by Waikare opened Celtic's account, but Hastings equalised a few minutes later when Duff landed a penalty from a handy position.

Celtic attacked with a clean passing rush, from which were controlled in the board read.

The problem of night calls for medical assistance from the less favourably situated centres of population was discussed by the Napier Labour Representation Committee. which met under the chairmanship of Mr C. W. Nash.

The 27 delegates representing affiliated organisations expressed concern at the lack of public telephonic communication between Napier South and Onepoto Gully and Napier. In deciding to make further representations to the Post and Telegraph Department, it was felt that such installations should be regarded as social amenities without regard to the question of profitearning, as are roads and bridges.

Interest Maintained Several new members were admitted to the meeting, the attendance at which indicated a consistently maintained interest in the affairs of the party.

Hawke's Bay Jockey Club's Opening Day

FIRST WINTER MEETING

Disappointing Fields Contest The Jumping Events

By THE BARB.

The Hawke's Bay Jockey Club held the first of its two winter meetings on Saturday when a glorious winter's day was experienced, which attracted an attendance right up to past winter standards.

The going was not fast, but the track was in capital order for this time of the season. Two small fields of four limited speculation on the totalisator and a decline was recorded. The racing throughout was interesting, but in the majority of cases the margins were clear. Authoress was the only straight-out favourite to win. The amount passed through the totalisator was £10,774, as against £10,953 10/- for the corresponding meeting last year, a decrease of £179 10/-.

After the running of the Winter Hack Handicap an inquiry was held, under Rule 289 of the Rules of Racing, into interference suffered by Katesbridge. The committee found that "the interference to Katesbridge was caused by Arabic hanging out from the rails, despite the efforts of his jockey during the race to keep him in, and that no blame be attachable to any of the riders."

In the above race Katesbridge was not the only one to meet with interference. Birkology also got some of the backwash. However, this mishap made no difference to the place-getters.

The principal event of the day, the Great Quex who with ease went to the front with a round to go and, always doing it well, never looked like defeat once he assumed command. For a novice, Siegall ran quite a creditable race. Seven furlongs from home she was slightly checked to drop back last but sticking to her work resolutely battled on well for second. Whetu, over-burdened with 11.8, was in front for six furlongs when the pace was not on but once Great Quex took over command to set a reasonable pace Whetu was done with.

DISAPPOINTING NUMBER

There was a disappointing number of starters in the June Steeplechase and only four went to the post. Cherry Plum carried more monetary support than the other three put together. The big fellow the first time past the stand was seen not to be going in his right manner, and all the way through the race he was saving one of his forelegs slightly.

When Lord made an effort a mile from home the response from his mount was not there and he just plugged on to end second.

The winner, Anini, fenced beautifully. The race last Monday had improved her considerably. She practically led all the way and five furlongs from home was going and jumping well. Anini won by the official verdict of 15 lengths but she was over 100 yards ahead of Cherry Plum passing the finishing post.

Lucullus Boy made play with Anini for half of the journey, but gradually began to weaken and, passing the finial post, was well licked and a long way behind the winner. Iddo was going so well until his rider hurt himself when his mount dipped ten furlongs from home, that he would, in the writer's opinion, have been second at least.

Rangi Marsh on Flying Spy at the home turn tried to get within striking distance of Sunny Knight, thinking distance of Sunny Knight, thinking that once he caught Mr Jimmie Paul's galding the pret would be over the end of the open flat race on Saturday.

Rangi Marsh on Flying Spy at the home turn tried to get within striking distance of Sunny Knight, thinking that once he caught Mr Jimmie Paul's gelding the rest would be easy but he had little chance to get near the Gainscourt three-year-old, who disposed of this good field just as easily as he has been doing with the hacks. This marked six wins on end for this gelding.

Black Thread again ran an honest race to finish third just ahead of Diana Tetrix. Rakanui found the early pace too hot for him thus he ran below expectations.

Two-year-olds filled the first four places in the Maiden Plate when the favourite, Flying Spray, who was third, appeared a certainty beaten. She drew No. 1 at the barrier and when the tape was released jumped back and was immediately squeezed back to near the rear of the field but was within a length of the winner at the finish. Ruling Moment was always here and, finishing strongly, held on to win by half a length.

Siyana was not as well favoured in the running as the winner. However, she ran a creditable race for second with Flying Spray third, a long neck ahead of Condole, who was always in the lead until tackled at the finish. After the placed horses came Iretekura (a leader for five furlongs with Condole), Loch Moigh, and Midlass. Mynet was last.

FIRST OUT FIRST HOME

FIRST OUT FIRST HOME Queen Cardine was first out and first home in the Woodlands Hack. In the run home she was challenged hotly for a few strides by Dark Water but when her rider sat down and gave her the works she responded well to win by the best part of three lengths from Dark Water, with a big gap back to the straight out favourite, Support, who never really flattered her 468 supporters. Earlscourt, who showed early speed, and then dropped back at the home turn came again to weigh in fourth.

WINS SOLIDLY

WINS SOLIDLY Authoress won the ten furlong hack race very solidly. Bert Morris rode his usual good race on the big chestnut and three furlongs from home was going so easily in behind two others that it could easily be seen that she was the best of good things. Malacca ran an honest race to collect second money, finding the winner too good at 3lb difference. Arabic, the early pace maker, gained the third money. Kinkajou was fourth.
