The "Daily News" learns exclusively that German troops are poising for a drive across Persia and Syria to Egypt and are already moving through to the Black Sea and Russian

This step signals the completion of the Japanese-Russian-German deal whereby the Reich bought the entrance to the Near East and Africa for the promise to construct a giant new system of railways in Southern Russia.

The details of a secret tripartite agreement which gives Sweden to Germany and Finland and Manchukuo to Russia were submitted to the State Department spokesman, who said it was in harmony with the department's own reports and authorised its publication.

All Aboard Now Safe

United Press Association—Copyright. (Received June 17, 6 p.m.) NEW YORK, June 16,

President Roosevelt is to make an important foreign policy announcement on Thursday, says the Washington correspondent of the "New York Times." This is expected to be America's reply to the sinking of the United States ship Robin Moor by a German submarine. A decision to arm United States merchant ships and to use United States warships in convoys may be announced.

A British steamer has arrived at Cape Town with 35 survivors from the Robin Moor. This means that all persons aboard the vessel when she was sunk are now safe. Earlier, it was thought that these remaining 35 persons had perished. President Roosevelt is to make an Captain Meyers said he had no faith in the submarine commander's promise to send rescue ships; therefore he advised the lifeboats to leave the scene of the sinking.

Chief Officer Munday was given German marked bandages from the submarine.

American officials state that those rescued confirmed that the submarine was German. None of the survivors was seriously injured.

RUGBY, June 16.

An Air Ministry communique issued early on Tuesday morning said: "Yesterday evening a squadron of the Fighter Command shot down three enemy fighters and one seaplane. One of our fighters was lost but the pilot is safe. "This brings the total enemy losses in yesterday's operations up to 11 aircraft and our losses to two bombers and four fighters, the pilots of two of which are safe."

Prime Minister Announces His Decisions For Industry And Transport

LONDON, June 17.

The Australian Prime Minister (the Rt. Hon. R. G. Menzies) announced sweeping measures to increase Australia's war effort, in a nationwide broadcast to-night. They included the creation of Ministers of Supply, Air Raid Precautions and Aircraft Production with full Cabinet rank. In this connection, said Mr Menzies, the Commonwealth Constitution would be amended in order to permit the Cabinet to be

He also announced the necessity for further petrol restrictions on account of the tanker shortage.

Shipping, road and rail transport is also to come under the direct control of the Government, although the management of the services will necessarily not be removed from the existing State control. an American-wide broadcast. "The United States must make a choice similar to Canada's," he declared. "I know you feel now, as most of us in the United States felt in your time of choosing—sure that the decision, when made, will be on the side of human liberty and its defence, come what may.

Colonel Knox said that the recent left no doubt that the United States was determined to travel the same self respecting route in relation to the war as Canada was travelling.

"President Roosevelt meant just what he said," added Colonel Knox, 'that the United States will not stand idly by while Germany defeats Condemning Isolationists for comolete lack of understanding, Colonel Knox said: "Supposing the United States withdrew itself and obtained a sort of temporary safety, how could we look Britain in the face, how could we retain the slightest vestige of self-respect if we saved ourselves at the cost of every other people's liberty? That has never been the American way and I hope it never will."

Aircraft-carrier Defied Wave After Wave Of Bombers

(British Official Wireless.) (Received June 17, 7.45 p.m.)

RUGBY, June 16. The story of the brilliant organisation, seamanship and gunnery which saved the aircraft-carrier Illustrious when she was subjected to a series of air attacks in the Mediterranean on January 10 is now made public by the Admiralty. Within a few hours this ship was the main target for six air attacks, in which nearly 100 German and Italian 'planes took part.

Both bombs and torpedoes were aimed at her but only a very small proportion of the scores of bombs dropped registered hits. The Illustrious was sailing with the battle fleet when the early attacks were made.

the early attacks were made.

The first attack was made by a couple of torpedo-bombers. Both launched their torpedoes at her, but the aircraft-carrier altered course in good time and they missed. Naval aircraft from the carrier chased these bombers back to shore.

Soon afterwards, however, German dive-bombers launched the worst attack of the day. In wave after wave, some 40 of them dived on the fleet, concentrating on the Illustrious despite fierce fire from the anti-aircraft guns of the Illustrious. Avoiding action was taken by her commanding officer and a fight made by the carrier's aircraft against heavy odds but several heavy bombs struck here. These not only but some of the anti-aircraft guns out of action and did damage between decks, but they also started several fires, both fore and aft.

Barrage Kept Up.

Still the gun crews kept up their the witches and the rilets and cuprars.

Still the gun crews kept up their barriage and the pilots and gunners of the Fleet Air Arm smashed at the Junkers dive-bombers overhead. While the ship took avoiding action two British naval pilots who had exhausted their ammunition in an earlier fight made dummy attacks on the German dive-bombers and put them off their aim. It was then that the high degree of efficiency achieved in the centralisation of the damage control organisation of the ship was manifested. Most of the numerous small fires which had been started by bombs in various parts of the ship were quickly put out and the damage done below decks was soon shored up.

PLUNKET SOCIETY ANNUAL MEETING

Successful Year's Work Shown By Hastings Branch

At the annual meeting of the Hastings branch of the Plunket Society held at the Plunket Rooms yesterday afternoon, Mr George Ebbett was the chairman and with him was the president, Miss Elsie Williams and hon, secretary, Mrs Howard Glazebrook, as well as a good number of members from Hastings and Napier.

In his opening remarks the chairman explained that with all societies and companies a general meeting was held every year, the object of this meeting being to give the executive committee an opportunity to place before the members a report of the year's activities and a statement of the finances. It was the occasion when officers were elected and all members were given an opportunity to make suggestions and proposals or to air any grievances.

As each member had a copy of the | be more than gratified at the results As each member had a copy of the annual report it was not necessary to read this but Mr Ebbett commented upon its contents mentioning that the report showed a continuance of good work throughout the past year—very fine and great work done for the betterment of the community with a wonderful number of width the past year and about the past year work done for the betterment of the community with a wonderful number of width the past year work done for the betterment of the community with a wonderful number of width that all officers of the society were deserving of praise and thanks for they had given their than gratified at the results of their efforts and he considered that it would be very difficult, if not impossible, to find any branch of the plunket. the preservation of the infant life of the community, was of more importance than ever before. He added that it was unnecessary to eulogise the society because the facts and figures had already proved the value of the society beyond all doubt.

The honorary treasurer, Mr E. V. Simpson, explained the financial statement and made comparisons with that of last year. Mr Ebbett commented upon the favourable position but stressed the fact that with higher costs and more work the need for further financial assistance was always increasing. Both Mr Ebbett and Miss Williams paid a tribute to Mr Simpson's splendid work.

Mayor of Hastings he had worked to have built the Mothers' Rest building and to have one room set aside for the Plunket Society, the Mothers' Rest being organised by members of the W.C.T.U. Since this time the Mayor and Borough Councillors had helped in many ways, but the original idea of combining the two was Mr Ebbett's and it had since been adopted in many of the smaller towns in New Zealand.

Miss Williams also spoke of the Hospital Board. She considered this a step in the right direction, but hoped there would be at least three women elected next time.

Mrs E. V. Simpson's Talk

Mrs E. V. Simpson's Talk

The speaker for the afternoon was Mrs E. V. Simpson, who gave a very fine and able address on Sir Truby King, the man who possessed such wonderful vision, and without whom there would never have been a Plunket Society.

Mrs Simpson told of his brilliant career at Edinburgh University, his return to New Zealand, where after a short time at the Wellington Hos-pital he became the superintendent at the Seacliff Mental Hospital. The at the Seacliff Mental Hospital. The speaker described in detail the early years of his work to overcome infant malnutrition and to lower infant mortality. She said that New Zealand now has the lowest infant mortality of any country in the world and we owe this to the steady vision and huming seal of one and world and we owe this to the steady vision and burning zeal of one man. Always in his work, Sir Truby King found his wife his strongest ally and his work with the babies commenced in his own home, where he paid all the expenses. It was in 1907 that Sir Truby King called a public meeting in the Dunedin Town Hall and from this meeting dates the formation of the Royal New Zealand Society for the Health of Women and Children, that is the Plunket Society.

Women and Children, that is the Plunket Society, Mrs Simpson spoke of his visits to London to found similar work in England and also of visits to the Continent in connection with his work. He died in 1938 but lived to see how wonderfully his work had grown and expanded.

of all to be admired was Sir Truby King's courage to overcome all difficulties. It is this courage we all need to-day and we members of the committee must put our hearts into this great work" was introduced to the gathering by Mrs Mason. The subject chosen, "The Cultivation and Preservation of Vegetables," was then ably dealt of Vegetables," was then ably dear with by the speaker, members showing their interest by the numerous and varied questions they asked. At the conclusion of a most instructive address Mrs Boyd thanked the speaker for so ably assisting with a war-time problem that is so important a factor in every home—the vegetable garden. vegetable garden.

Afternoon tea was then enjoyed, the hostesses being Mesdames Irvine, Whyte, and the Misses Margaret Mason, Kathleen and Pat Beamish.

SUCCESSFUL DANCE AT SHERENDEN

Mr J. Fitzgerald The Guest Of Honour

Once again the Sherenden Hall was the scene of a very gay and successful dance when the local people gathered together to entertain a gathered together to entertain a popular young member of the district who was home on leave from the Air Force training camp at Levin. There were many well-wishers and a varied programme of dancing was enjoyed to excellent music supplied by Gordon Redward's Orchestra. Mr J. Wedd made a very nopular and capable M.C.

As usual the presentation to the guest of honour, Leading Aircraftman J. Fitzgerald, consisted of three man J. Fitzgerald, consisted of three separate gifts, one from the district, one from the Women's Division of the Farmers' Union and the third from the Patriotic County Zone. In presenting the first, a handsome engraved silver wristlet watch, Mr J. Wedd expressed the sentiments of all present all present.

Mrs G. Mason, the president of the Women's Division of the Farmers' Union, made the next presentation and in a very charming speech wished the guest of honour all the best in the future. Mr E. Beamish presented the County Zone parcel, commended Leading Aircraftman Fitzgerald on his choice of vocation and in doing so, quoted the Prime Minister of Britain's famous words . . "Never have so many owed so much to so few," and ended by wishing him good hunting, straight shooting, and happy landing.

Mr J, Fitzgerald suitably responded to all the speeches and thanked everyone sincerely for the gifts. The presentations concluded with the singing of "For They are Jolly Good Fellows" in honour of Leading Aircraftman Fitzgerald and his mother, Mrs N. Fitzgerald.

After a delicious home-made supper the dancing continued till a late hour to finish with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and "God Save the King." During the evening Miss R. Beamish delighted everyone with her singing of "A Nightingale Sang in Berkeley Square" accompanied by piano and violin.

Second B.M.S. Concert

GOOD PROGRAMME ENJOYED

Wellington Musicians

At the recent concert given by the Hastings branch of the British Music Society at the Hawke's Bay Farmers', a large audience enjoyed a delightful programme of the characteristic songs from different countries, the performers being the Bijou Party from Wellington. Songs of the British Isles, Spain, North American Indian and negro spirituals were given American Indian and negro spirituals were given.

The performers were Mrs MacDonald (pianist), Vivien Blamires and Olga Burton (violins) and Ormi Reid ('cello'). Their playing and singing of these old songs was artistic and sympathetic and showed careful study. They lifted them out of the commonplace and showed all the beauty that was in them.

Vivien Blamires gave delightful explanations of the origin of the compositions they performed and with Olga Burton she sang delightfully in solos and duets, the negro with Olga Burton she sang delightfully in solos and duets, the negro spirituals being especially fine.

It was a concert that brought back days when life did not move as fast as now.; when there was no mechanical music, American jazz or pictures, and people loved the composition because they were melodious. These performers are doing good work in reviving these old melodies and they are showing a younger generation what is really beautiful in music.

CLEVER MYSTERY STORY

What is undoubtedly one of the funniest and most original "whodunits" the screen has seen in some dunits" the screen has seen in some time comes to the Regent Theatre, Hastings, to-day in "Busman's Honeymoon," film version of Dorothy L. Sayer's entertaining narrative of a pair of honeymooners, both previously associated with the business of crime, who go to the English countryside to "get away from it all" only to discover themselves in possession of the corpse of a murdered man.

With Robert Montgomery as Lord Peter Wimsey, debonair amateur de-

With Robert Montgomery as Lord Peter Wimsey, debonair amateur detective, and Constance Cummings as his mystery fiction-writer wife, filling the leads, the action runs along at a merry pace with any number of suspects seeming to fit the picture as the guilty men, and an innocent-looking unwatered plant forming a pivotal clue in the final solving of the crime.

Montgomery shifts with agility from his neurotic gangster nobleman of "The Earl of Chicago" to the suave top-hat-and-tails crime detector of his present vehicle.

"THE HOUSE OF THE ARROW"

Madame Harlow dies during the night in her French villa and poison is the cause. All her family and household were not exactly mournhousehold were not exactly mourning her. The library shows that someone has been taking a keen interest in curare, the poison used on arrows by South American natives. This is the opening situation of "The House of the Arrow," the A. E. W. Mason thriller now showing at the Cosy Theatre, Hastings. Keneth Kent is the cheerful foodloving Inspector Hanaud and we have an opportunity of seeing some have an opportunity of seeing some brilliant work by Diana Churchill.

A young lady who finds lies so much more fun than dull truth is the cause of a great deal of trouble in the associate feature, "She Couldn't Say No," and Tommy Trinder, radio and variety star, is one of those on whom the trouble falls. The laughs begin from the first few seconds when Tommy wakes up after a night out and says he "feels ike a taster in a castor oil factory.

THRILLS IN "GUNGA DIN"

Teamed together for the first time, Cary Grant, Victor McLaglen and Douglas Fairbanks, jun., are seen as three comrade sergeants whose adventures form the basis of the stirring screen version of the famous ballad by Rudyard Kipling, "Gunga Din," now screening at the State Theatre, Hastings.

The three stars, each of whom has soared to new fame in recent months, portray a trio of British soldiers stationed at an army post in northern India. Their exciting experiences while trying to quell an uprising among a band of religious fanatics, who commit wholesale murder according to religious rites, provide the dramatic action of the story.

story. Grant has recently achieved added copularity in a number of successful pictures.

Joan Fontaine has the leading feminine part in "Gunga Din," the title role of which is portrayed by Sam Jaffe. Other players are Eduardo Ciannelli, Montagu Love, Robert Coote and Abner Biberman.

Regent "BACK STREET," FINE ROMANCE

The same sensational situations, the same wealth of emotional drama which made Fannie Hurst's great novel, "Back Street," one of the outstanding novels of the day, have been captured and put on the screen in the picturisation of the story, which is now screening at the Regent Theatre, Napier, according to the multitudes who have read the book and also have seen the picture. Starring Charles Boyer and Margaret Sullavan, two of the most glamorous figures of the modern screen, "Back Street" was directed by Robert Stevenson, brilliant young English novelist. The story of the picture covers the period from 1898 to 1930, with Cincinnati, Ohio, New York and Paris as backgrounds. Miss Sullavan is seen as Ray Smith, the girl who is content to live in the back street of the life of a wealthy and successful man, of a wealthy and successful man,

Mayfair,

"WHILE NEW YORK SLEEPS"

A mystery so bewildering that it has to be solved twice is the situ-ation facing the Roving Reporters, Michael Whalen and Chick Chandler, in their latest escapade, "While New York Sleeps," now showing at the Mayfair Theatre, Napier. The action starts out innocently enough with Michael Whalen and Chick with Michael Whalen and Chick Chandler starting a month's vacation in the country. They're hardly inside the cottage door when the city editor of the newspaper breaks the news that Steve Martin, insurance detective and friend of Whalen's, has committed suicide. They discover he has been murdered in a thrilling climax.

"Ask a Policeman," stars Will Hay and Moore Marriott in another hilarious farce, this time as guardians of the law.

SOVIET DILEMMA

In the days of diplomatic courtliness, when suave ambassadors exchanged deadly Notes and conducted negotiations in polished phrases and with stately formality, the manoeuvres which have been going on along the Russo-German frontier would have been accepted as a virtual declaration of war. To-day no one outside the Foreign Offices of the world's capitals knows whether Russia and Germany are on the brink of war, whether one of them is bluffing the other, or whether they are both bluffing the

But if it is true that Germany is making sweeping demands at the point of the bayonet, the Soviet is in a dilemma which can be regarded only as the direct result of Stalin's wait-and-see policy throughout the war. There is a very decided conflict of evidence in the matter of Russian relations with the belligerent Powers. Shortly before the outbreak of war an Anglo-French mission went to Moscow apparently with high hopes of winning Soviet support in the inevitable conflict with Germany. In August, 1939, the Soviet-German Pact was announced, Ribbentrop returned to Berlin with the evidence of a resounding diplomatic triumph in his pocket, Hitler set about erasing all the anti-Russian tirades in "Mein Kampf," and the Anglo-French delegation in Moscow packed up and went home with as good a grace as might be mustered. In return for the Russian guarantee of her eastern frontier, Germany permitted the Soviet to absorb the Baltic States and tossed over a large slice of Poland as makeweight. Russia, having promised to maintain a flow of vital supplies for the German war-machine, pushed her western frontier forward almost to the pre-1914 limits, went to war with Finland on her own account, and ultimately emerged a winner in more ways than one, for the promised supplies to Germany failed to materialise.

On the other hand, there is no reason whatever to assume that the Soviet is in the least likely to befriend Great Britain in the present struggle. Russian policy, of which the pact with Germany was an important part, has been and is being directed solely with the object of keeping the war as far as possible from the Soviet's frontiers. On very few occasions has the Kremlin committed itself to deliberate action in the course of the war. These occasions were the Russo-German diplomatic battle before the occupation of Bulgaria, the lastminute treaty which the Soviet signed with Yugoslavia, the Russian reports of German troop movements in Finland, and the ban on military traffic across the Soviet Union-a move which nullified the unannounced but widely-suspected barter agreement by which German aeroplanes and tanks were to be traded for the use of Japanese warships as raiders.

All these moves might reasonably be construed as anti-German. But on the other side of the ledger there have been the Soviet recognition of Rashid Ali even before the been the Soviet recognition of Rashid Ali even before the anti-British revolt in Iraq had assumed serious proportions, the reports that Russian "volunteers" were joining the rebels, the report that the Red Army was concentrating on the frontier of Iran and, above all, the Stalin-Matsuoka treaty. Such developments could quite logically be interpreted as indicating a strong Soviet swing towards the Axis.

If Germany is really demanding vast and humiliating concessions from the Soviet, there are only wto courses open concessions from the Soviet, there are only two courses open the country at the disposal of Germany in much the same way as Mussolini has sold out in Italy, or he may fight. In the event of war, the situation would hardly be to the benefit of Great Britain, for it is extremely unlikely that the Red of Great Britain, for it is extremely unlikely that the Red Army would be able to do what no other army has yet been able to do-stop the advance and repel the attack of the tremendous mechanised forces which Germany can employ. From the British point of view a "neutral" Russia sufficiently strong to immobilise dozens of Germans divisions along the Soviet frontier is preferable to an uncertain ally which, as in the last war, would almost certainly need assistance that could not be supplied.

SPRING-CLEANING IN AMERICA

Once again, the United States Secretary of the Navy (Colonel Frank Knox) has made a straightforward statement on the war situation as it affects America. Colonel Knox's declaration is particularly impressive as a follow-up to the drastic action taken against the German consulates in the United States.

It has been no secret that long before the outbreak of war in Europe German organisations, including certain consulates, in America were being used for the purposes of insidious propaganda. Occasionally the activities became so widespread and the breaches of international usage so flagrant that independent American opinion flared up in protest. It has become to be accepted that the most peaceable (apparently) of German organisations are those which pour out the subtlest propaganda, but, except in the cases of New Orleans and San Francisco, the consulates have hitherto been fairly immune from popular suspicion. The order to quit is an indication that Washington is fully aware of the danger.

Mighty Campaign Has Begun

United Press Association—Copyright. (Received June 17, 6 p.m.) LONDON, June 16.

More than 1000 tons of high-ex-plosive bombs and tens of thousands of incendiary bombs were dropped on the Ruhr in the first three of the five latest night raids by the R.A.F., says the aeronautical correspondent of the "Daily Express." Thus Britain is implementing her promise that June would see the beginning of a mighty bombing campaign over Germany.

of a mighty bombing campaign over Germany.

For the fifth night in succession, powerful forces of the Bomber Command were over western Germany last night. A great weight of heavy bombs was rained on the Ruhr, Cologne, and Hanover.

Shipping Raided

Shipping Raided

During daylight the R.A.F. continued its policy of seeking out and attacking enemy shipping. A 1000-ton cargo boat received a direct hit, and the crew were seen abandoning ship, a 4000-ton vessel in convoy was hit and set on fire, an E-boat was successfully bombed and a 6000-ton vessel was hit and damaged.

Aerodromes in occupied France were successfully raided.

Seven German fighters were shot down in R.A.F. attacks on military targets in northern France to-day. Early this evening an R.A.F. squadron destroyed a further three enemy fighters and one seaplane.

The device is extremely simple, and is capable of mass production. Tests showed that 60 per cent of attacking armoured units were knocked out and that total annihilation of an enemy force would be certain if the weapon were available in quantity.

The Army and Home Guard have already used the weapon in one area, and its adoption after further tests is likely.

In the south, Australian and British forces from Sidon and Jezzin are within sight of Beirut, chief port of Syria, and Rayak, some miles farther east, where there is an important air base. They are meeting trouble from French tanks and artillery, but the Navy is replying effectively. Its shelling completely halted one column, which then retreated in disorder.

The eastern wing of the coastal drive has reached the heights above Hasbeiya, which is reported to have been evacuated. The shelling of Merjiyun from Hasbeiya has ceased, and this seems to confirm the Vichy forces' withdrawal northwards.

Vichy's Claims.

The Vichy authorities claim that their troops have attacked in the regions of Merjiyun and El Kuneitra, but the Allies from El Kuneitra have crossed the Nahrawaj and are moving on towards Sassa.

It is authoritatively stated in Jerusalem that very powerful Allied forces are now outside Damascus, the capital, but owing to the terrain to the south and east, it may be necessary to encircle the city and enter from the north.

As a result of a flanking movement the Allied forces have occupied Lahta, seven miles east northeast of Kiswe, which itself is ten miles south of Damascus.

Vichy supporters say that the defenders of Damascus are carrying out an offensive in three directions. They admit the fall of Kiswe, but claim that a counter-attack regained some of the ground in that area. The opposition to the Allied advance in Syria appears to have stiffened in the last few days, and heavy fighting is said to be taking place. The bombardment of the Damascus road by Vichy 'planes, which has gone on continuously, has slackened to-day.

EFFECT OF BLOCKADE

Anxiety Concerning People's Health Expressed By Authorities

"We believe that a point has been reached where the effects of our blockade are beginning to be felt by Germany, and that it is not only desirable for Germany to break out, but essential. This is probably the explanation of a good many recent events," said Mr Dingle Foot, Under-secretary to the Ministry of Economic Warfare, in an interview.

The Germans' plan was apparently to make greater use looted.

Apparently Germany had "overdone" the looting, and she was now in a dilemma. To secure industrial production from the looted countries she had to provide their work people with food. Germany had now either to return footstuffs to the overrun countries, or to get other countries to supply them.

This, Mr Foot said, was the significance of the "food relief agitation" of which so much was being heard, Short Rations The Ministry was again receiving reports that the Germans were in need of fats, which were of vital importance for maintaining vitality and morale. There was no foundation for reports that the Germans were increasing their stocks of oil, Mr Foot continued. They could get more oil from Rumania only by increasing the rate of transport by railway. this year.

A special correspondent of the "Sunday Times" has stated that intensified war conditions in Germany are leading to a rapid deterioration in the state of the nation's health.

Official statistics show, he said, that the position since serious bombing began last year is worse than during 1939. There has been an alarming increase in cases of dysening began last year is worse than during 1939. There has been an alarming increase in cases of dysentery and whooping cough, and other diseases showing signs of increasing steadily are typhoid, tuberculosis, scarlet fever and diphtheria. The main reason for the spread of dysentery is the deterioration in sanitary conditions and the less careful preparation of foodstuffs. The "Kolnische Zeitung" recently had a front-page article which dealt with spotted fever and its prevention in the German Army. In the last war the loss in life in Germany through spotted fever was tremendous. The same danger exists today, especially for German garrisons stationed in Poland and living in temporary billets without proper sanitary arrangements. In recognition of this danger the German High Command decided to establish a research institute for spotted fever.

The German Minister of Health The German Minister of Health (Dr Conti) recently urged Germans to refrain from using drugs. The "Stuttgarter Nachrichten" quotes speeches made at the Doctors' Congress in Stuttgart dealing with the same theme. Delegates to the congress were concerned with the abuse of intoxicants and tobacco and with gress were concerned with the aduse of intoxicants and tobacco, and with the fact that the percentage of young people who drank was high.

The shortage of doctors, too, is becoming serious. Patients frequently have to wait from 4 to 10 hours for treatment.

SHOOTING ACCIDENT

Man Fired Near Party YEAR'S PROBATION

By Telegraph—Press Association. WELLINGTON, June 17. Sentence was passed by Mr Jus-ice Johnston in the Supreme Court Wellington, on a young man who fired a rifle in the direction of a shooting party, without intending to hit any of them, but whose bullet struck one.

He was Bernarr Dooling, 20, a cycle mechanic. He had pleaded guilty in Masterton to a charge of causing actual bodily harm so that if death had resulted he would have been guilty of manslaughter.

Mr S. V. Gooding, Masterton, who appeared for the prisoner, said his client had frankly admitted what had happened.

"Warning Off."

The board has been advised that all the food requirements of the New Zealand Forces overseas are given priority of loading. The sending of beer to the troops has nothing whatever to do with the National Patriotic Fund or the Provincial Patriotic Councils. It is purely a private matter between the brewery companies and the canteen authorities in Egypt.

Conference Discussion "Warning Off."

He and a friend were shooting near a river bank and some bullets ricochetted dangerously close to them. Dooling was seized with the foolish impulse to warn off the persons responsible for the shots, and fired toward them. A bullet that was taken from the arm of a member of the other party was flattened, and that supported the theory that it had ricochetted and was consistent with the prisoner's statement that he had not fired at the party. Remarking that the prisoner was lucky not to have had to answer a more serious charge, his Honour said that while the prisoner's character was good, his conduct in this instance had been criminally stupid. "Warning Off."

The prisoner was admitted to pro bation for 12 months, was prohibited from possessing a firearm, and was ordered to pay £2 1/- costs.

PRESIDENT

By Telegraph—Press Association.
WELLINGTON, June 17.
In the Arbitration Court yesterday afternoon Mr F. P. Walsh, president of the New Zealand Seamen's Union, of the New Zealand Seamen's Union, asked permission to make a statement. His Honour, Mr Justice Tyndall, asked its nature and Mr Walsh explained that to his astonishment he had seen in the Press a report of a statement of Mr H. Bishop reflecting on Mr Walsh's conduct towards the court. His Honour said that the court would hear Mr Walsh provided he made no reference to the subject matter of the appeal last Friday, because Mr Walsh had had his opportunity to appear them. The court must not be used as a vehicle for the furtherance of any private dis-

Mr Bishop said that he might be able to shorten the proceedings and explained that his remarks on Friday were made without any consultation with the employers he was representing. He was expressing to the court what he felt was a discourtesy from Mr Walsh. He wanted to dissociate the employers from the statement.

Mr Walsh said the last thing he desired was that the impression should go abroad that he had held the court up to ridicule. He felt hurt that he should be charged with holding the court in disrespect.

Mr Timbs stated that the Comptroller of Primary Production had decided to send to England as soon as possible a trial shipment of lambs representative of three processes: (1) Telescoped; (2) trimmed; (3) boned. This was a comprehensive way of meeting the situation, said Mr Timbs, who added that he had congratulated Dr Cockayne upon his move, as it would enable the Home authorities to decide by actual experimentation the method best suited to war-time conditions.

a courageous one, going further than I ever dared to ask.

"I desired to have the surplus fat removed, thus eliminating about 20 per cent. of waste, and thereby experienced the adamant opposition of the Meat Producers' Board, but Dr Cockayne has gone further, eliminating another 15 per cent. of waste. As Comptroller of Primary Production, he can call for this to be done. As a method of wartime processing, it is an advance on the trimming process which I have been advocating. I sincerely trust that Dr Cockayne5s method proves to be acceptable to all concerned.

"The trial shipment which was held in store at the Ngahauranga works, opened up in excellent condition, and I was quite satisfied with the condition of the carcases which I had trimmed," added Mr Timbs.

"The Minister of Marketing made it quite clear that, if I desired it, this trial shipment of ewes which had been processed as an experiment would be sent Home, but as the export of ewe mutton had been stopped in favour of the meat of higher value, no point was to be served in going on with the experiment in view of Dr Cockayne's enterprise."

A series of articles by the supervisor of the Tairawhaiti District Pig Council (Mr I, H, Owtram) on the care of pigs will appear in the "Daily Mail." Following is the first article:—

The principal routine work for the Tairawhaiting in June should be the completion of preparations for the spring litter. Sows that are due to farrow towards the end of the month ought to be moved into their farrowing quarters as soon as possible to allow them time to settle down.

Any alterations or repairs required to Any alterations or repairs required to Council for the search of the condition of these aerials and steps to check the danger would be taken. Good Winter Start

The extraordinarily fine weather experienced during May has given stock a good start for the whater. However, it is rather too much to expect that the weather will continue fine indefinitely and a turn must be expected. A little attention given to pig nouses and sleeping quarters will be of great value. Try to prevent draughts and see that bedding is provided to keep the pigs warm at night, and keep it dry and clean. In other words, do not neglect to clean out the pig houses.

The keeping of pigs warm and dry, at night particularly, is a matter of great importance as it actually economises in food, in addition to preventing disease and loss. Pigs that are cold require more food for maintenance than pigs that are kept warm, and in consequence do not make good progress.

With regard to the actual feeding of pigs at this time of the year, no difficulty should be experienced in the Gisborne district. Crops of pumpkins, sugar beet and maize are all good, and plenty of feed is available. One cannot stress too greatly the advantage accruing from the use of concentrates, as well as bulk food. The concentrates that are most easily available here are, of course, being wintered on pumpkins the advantages of giving them up to 21b, of maize a day are enormous and no harm will be done to the carcase quality by this amount.

Absorbing Skim Milk

The object of wintering pigs other than breeding stock is to have a supply of pigs in hand to deal with the skim milk directly the cows come in. Litters farrowed in June and July will not be able to deal with it all, but these pigs must be got away quickly, otherwise, if they are still in hand in October, the spring litters will have to go short of milk.

To achieve the quick getaway in the spring, pigs must be done well in the winter, hence the necessity to use concentrates. This applies particularly to pigs under four months old. At least half these pig rations should be in the form of concentrates. In this district maize and meat meal could be used, 1½ to 21b, of maize and ½lb, of meat meal There are distinct advantages in using crushed maize, and soaking it for 24 hours before feeding. Better results in the way of digestion are achieved by this means. Meat meal can be mixed with it.

Views On Suggestion To Enlist Service Of Auxiliary Constables

The opinion that the blackout was encouraging offences of the larrikin type was expressed to a "Daily Mail" reporter yesterday by a well-known Napier medical man.

"Within the past few days offences of this kind have been reported both in Napier and Hastings," he said, "and when the ruffian element of the community realises the opportunities afforded by the restriction of lighting, I am afraid we can expect even more trouble.'

The suggestion was made that a number of auxiliary police should be recruited to assist the regular force in their untiring efforts for the preservation of law and order.

There was a precedent for such action in that a special force was recruited after the 1931 earthquake and performed excellent service in those critical days, the doctor add-

Further Decision.

"The Comptroller of Primary Production has also decided that, for the duration of the war he will put unforeseen difficulties, and would be a very different matter from the employment of special constables in time of emergency, as was envisaged by the local bodies' scheme.

The main problem would be that of payment, for no one could be expected to assist in patrolling the town regularly without some remuneration. This was a problem which had cropped up early in the war when the question of guarding important points was being considered and it was not settled without a great deal of discussion.

The training and instruction of the men would also be a major task, and he did not consider there was sufficient evidence that the scheme was warranted.

Public Nervousness.

ness on the part of women in venturing out at night, and said the result had been reflected in Friday night takings. They were, however, doubtful whether the appointment of special police would have much effect in allaying the anxiety. The regular police force, though small, was efficient and reliable.

One retailer considered that the public was gradually becoming accustomed to the new conditions, and quoted the fact that entertainments held recently had invariably been well attended. Any falling-off was due more to the cold weather than to the blackout, he said.

PLAN UNDER WAY

By Telegraph—Press Association. WELLINGTON, July 17. The Minister of Supply and Munitions (the Hon. D. G. Sullivan) advises that a contract has been placed with Stevenson and Cook, in association with several other Dunedin firms, for building four minesweepers

ers.

These minesweepers are being built to plans which have been supplied by the British Admiralty and will be complete in every respect.

Mr Sullivan stated that during his visit to Australia some months ago proposals for the supply of materials had been submitted to various Australian manufacturers, and arrangements have now been satisfactorily completed which will ensure a supply of the necessary materials.

an excellent site adjacent to the wharves, ship repair work has been carried out for many years by Stevenson and Cook, whose engineering shops are specially equipped to handle such work.

Tenders are being invited within the next few days for the erection of certain necessary shops, gantries and slipways, and it is anticipated that these will be erected ready to commence operations as soon as the commence operations as soon as the first material arrives from Australia, which will be in about eight weeks' time.

Question of Labour.

The question of the labour shortage is one that must of necessity be recognised, but from information received, Mr Sullivan was confident that it could be overcome. In New Zealand to-day there are a large number of retired engineers, many of whom have had actual experience in shipbuilding. As soon as facilities are available and a call is made for labour, it is felt that many of these retired engineers will respond. The building of these minesweepers will probably constitute. Britain to-day is desperately in need of ships and more ships, and anything this country can do to make good the losses suffered in tonnage will be a contribution that will be appreciated by those in authority in England.

JUDGE'S DECISION

Native Drainage Rates

NO COSTS ALLOWED

Politically-minded South Islanders have some reason to be gratified in the knowledge that if a general election is held this year it will be conducted on the same basis of representation as the last one in 1938. This means that the South Island will retain its present quota of 28 out of 76 European seats in the House of Representatives until 1946, whereas if representation were re-Judgment in favour of the Minister of Lands (Mr L. W. Willis) on an originating summons brought to determine whether certain claims for certain special drainage rates and charging orders were harred bewhereas if representation were re-whereas it representation were beviewed now it would in all probaability lose at least one seat to the North Island.

The Electoral Act provides that after every census a representation commission shall be set up for each island. The two commissions first sit together to determine the allocation of European Parliamentary seats as between the islands, and when this has been done each commission proceeds to adjust and redefine boundaries of electorates within its own domain. This procedure cannot be gone through in 1941 because the quinquennial census which would normally be held this year has been dropped, as it was in 1931, for reasons of economy.

was made that the Minister's claims for rates were out of time and therefore unenforceable," said Mr Justice Smith. "The ground submitted was that the special rate was levied under the Swamp Drainage Amendment Act, 1928, when it was made on March 30, 1933, and that the Rating Act required that a claim for rates shall be lodged not later than two years after the rate is levied, and that claims lodged on April 13, 1940, were therefore, out of time After the census of 1901 the North and South Islands had equal representation—38 seats each. "The duty of collection arises when the rate becomes due. A general rate becomes due on the date which is duly fixed for its payment. I think the same is true of each annually recurring special rate," said his Honour. "It becomes due on the date fixed for its payment."

If it were correct, rates which became due more than two years after the resolution could never be recovered and the whole object of the annually recurring special rate for the repayment of loan moneys over a long period of years would be frustrated. Little cigars for ladies! From London it is reported that tiny havanas, about the size of a cigarette, are being introduced in the hope that they may tempt lady smokers. Well, well!—and there was a time when ladies simply abominated smoking in every shape or form! That, however, is another story, as Kipling would say. But cigars, little or large, will never supplant cigarettes with lady devotees of the weed—especially in New Zealand, where cigarettes of Riverhead Gold (the finest cigarette tobacco as yet manufacture. cigarette tobacco as yet manufac-tured) are so tremendously popular with smokers of both sexes. Proud Fox Inquiries

Proud Fox Inquiries

Proud Fox has been the subject of considerable inquiry since his winning efforts at Randwick, and his New Zealand owner, Mr S. J. Woods will have no difficulty in selling him. So far the intending buyers, and there are several, have not been able to do business, for F. McGrath, who has charge of Proud Fox in Sydney, has not been able to discover the selling price. It is fairly safe to assume, however, that the horse will be sold at a satisfactory figure.

Australian breeders were disappointed that they did not secure Battle Song. Not only did Mr Ken Austin outbid their representatives but Mr James Fletcher, who is building up a stud at Alton Lodge, Te Kauwhata, in the Waikato, also outbid the Australians. Both Mr W. J. Smith, the owner of the St. Alban's stud in Australia who bought Beau Pere at the Westmere dispersal sale, and Mr Herbert Thomson, one of the part-owners in Heroic, had representatives bidding for the horse, and have expressed their disappointment in not securing him. Mr Smith paid 3300 guineas for Beau Pere, and apparently he did not expect that Battle Song would exceed that price.

The weights for this year's Mel-

Enced that price.

The weights for this year's Melbourne Cup will have special interest for New Zealanders, with Beau Vite, High Caste, Beaulivre and Kindergarten (not to mention Gold Salute) engaged. Mosaic, top weight last year with 9.10, will be missing, but New Zealanders will head the list. In some quarters it has been predicted that Kindergarten will be No. 1, but that is unlikely. At weight-for-age he would receive 5lb. from Beau Vite, Beaulivre and High a tremendous compliment if Kindergarten were rated that much superior to Beau Vite. This horse finished fourth last year with 9.7, and as he is a year older he will not receive less this time.

Birkology, with Rangi Marsh in the saddle, was given strong pace work and brushed home over the last two furlongs. He is in great order and as long as there is no more gear accidents this chestnut will test them all at Awapuni on Saturday over the tall timber.

Dainty Dell (H. J. Callahan) looking last three of her work in 38s. She is one of four that trainer G. W. B. Greene will take to Palmerston North this week.

Battle Gain (H. J. Callahan) and Gayest Son (L. Cullen) were associated in a five-furlong gallop, the former having the better of it in 63s. Coming down the straight Gayest Son made three errors and impressed the writer as definitely not a winter track galloper.

The two-year-old full sister to Kadina (H. Lunn) had the better of acre's Beauty (C. Eley) over half a mid brushed home over the last two furlongs. He is in great order and as dents this chestnut will test them all at Awapuni on Saturday over the tall the better for recent racing, ran the last three of four that trainer G. W. B. Lambourn (B. Stowe) sharpened by Saturday's race, put more ginr into his work yesterday morning, then comfortably running six furings in 1.20. He will be nomited for the Wellington winter the story of the world on the setting but will make the trip only build the ground conditions be satactory.

nated for the Wellington winter meeting but will make the trip only should the ground conditions be satisfactory.

Diana Tetrix (L. Barnett) was once again responsible for one of the best efforts of the morning, running six furlongs in 1.16½, the first three in 36½ and the last three in 40secs She is making the Manakatu trip this week-end.

Laughing Song (L. Barnett), a stable mate of the above mare, registered the same time over a similar distance but her effort, in one sense was better as she ran the first three in 40 and the last three in 36½, thus she came home the better of the pair. However, this mare raced disappointingly recently in this district.

Prince Chad (L. Lewis) and the Siegfried-Allowance gelding (G. Phelps) were against the bit all the way when running three furlongs in 42. Prince Chad, who is a three-year-old Paper Money gelding in H. Griffith's stable, is the property of the South Island sportsman, Mr Christie. Cherry Plum (J. Forsyth) was galloped on the plough against the bit to record 1.22 for three-quarters of a mile. The big fellow went well within himself and finished strongly. He is to contest the Manawatu Steeple chase on Saturday.

Sunny Knight (B. H. Morris) was given an easy task, twice round at a slow pace on the sand. All going well-he is to race at Trentham next month. Lindrum (S. Parramore), who is in W. D. Young's stable, was given his first introduction to hurdling. He made one or two errors, but nothing serious. His jumping impressed and he shows promise of making good. He has a good idea of this department and has a quick getaway after landing. The few of the Siegfried breed that have been jumped have been successful.

Birkology, with Rangi Marsh in the saddle, was given strong pace work and brushed home over the last two furlongs. He is in great order and as long as there is no more gear accidents this chestnut will test them all at Awapuni on Saturday over the tall timber.

made three errors and impressed and writer as definitely not a winter track galloper.

The two-year-old full sister to Kadina (H. Lunn) had the better of Acre's Beauty (C. Eley) over half a mile run in 51, but the latter was giving away the best part of three stone.

Master Solway (S. Pell) was given a school over the hurdle in the middle of the course and, for a beginner, did not do so badly. He is not the type for a jumper but there has been any amount of small horses successful over country and hurdles. One is Whirr (Tractor-Megan), who is only fourteen three and in heavy going he recently won both the principal cross country events at the Dunedin Jockey Club's winter meeting.

Catanach (H. J. Callahan) has the measure of Stella Lux (S. Pell) over five furlongs in 65½ but Stella Lux continues to show improvement in speed and condition. It will not be long before she figures on the winning list.

Theatre (W. J. Mudford) and Bonnie Scot (L. Cullen) were not flat out when running three furlongs in a shade better than 39 with the latter doing it best. Bonnie Scot is a promising rising four year old Kincardine gelding, the property of Mr E. W. Symes, and who is predicted to develop into a useful stake earner.
