WILL RUSSIA BE NEXT?

Renewed Activity On Norway's Invasion Coast

(United Press Association—Copyright.)
(Received June 18, 11.45 p.m.)
LONDON, June 18.

The Nazi-Soviet mystery developed dramatically to-day with heightening Baltic tension, large-scale troop movements on the coast of Norway and Swedish accusations against Finland of complicity in the German plan.

Berlin-inspired sources hint that Hitler is on the eve of a momentous decision and it is widely expected that the next few days will bring unparalleled surprises.

The Swedish paper "Dagens Nyheter" declares that Finnish military call-ups and evacuation practice, coupled with reports that German transports are proceeding via Bothnia to Norway, indicate that Finland is appreciably changing her neutrality policy.

The paper adds that when the Finnish representative in Moscow was reproached for Finland's friendliness towards Germany, he is reported to have answered: "Russian-German friendship is so conditional that the Finnish neutrality policy has reached the problematical stage."

All reports indicate that the Germans are concentrating large military and naval forces on the west coast of Norway. It is stated that many troops and marines have passed westwards from Oslo and that ships, including transports, are constantly moving through the Skagerrak. The Norwegian coastal region is now a fully prohibited area.

Russia "On The Verge"

The Moscow radio announces a big scale drive for the military training of Russian youth in Bessarabia. Rumania is feeling the effects of the war of nerves. A blackout has been imposed throughout the country and the petrol restrictions tightened.

The "Daily Mail" says that Russia is "on the verge" although she may yet yield to the German economic demands. Stalin would then build up for a war of revenge while the Nazis elsewhere are faced with Britain and the United States. Germany, therefore, is possibly taking the view that it is necessary to destroy the Soviet army now.

NEW YORK, June 17.

"Canada went to war at Britain's side because she believed that she was on the right side," said the Prime Minister (the Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King), addressing associated Canadian organisations in New York.

He added that it had been asserted that Canada was demanding cash payment for aid to Britain. "We have told Britain not to worry about the shortage of Canadian dollars with the enemy at the gates," he added. "There will be time enough to reckon the costs and credits once we know whether the world is to be slave or free.

"Canada entered the war a united nation. Do not let anyone tell you that French-speaking Canada is not on the side of freedom. The ancient partnership between French and English-speaking Canadians, sealed by brotherhood, equality and freedom, is honoured to-day as an unbroken bond in the common patriotic sacrifice."

LONDON, June 18.

In a tremendous battle over the Channel and the French coast last night the R.A.F. shot down 13 enemy fighters and lost 10.

Many squadrons on each side clashed in fierce combat as the Germans sought to challenge our mastery of the Channel sky.

Our fighters were escorting big forces of bombers drawn from the Coastal and Bomber Commands, who renewed their attacks on shipping at the invasion ports.

Wartime Derby Run

LONDON, June 18.

The Wartime Derby resulted:

OWEN TUTOR	1
MOROGORO	2
FIROZEDIN	3

One length and a half; two lengths. Time, 2.12.

Interest in the second wartime Derby, run at Newmarket instead of Epsom, was apparently as worldwide as ever but transport difficulties limited the crowd, which probably did not exceed 50,000 compared with the peacetime 500,000.

There were 20 runners with Suncastle the most popular and Fairy Prince the best outsider. The latter's owner is a prisoner of war in Germany.

YUGOSLAV RIGHTS REITERATED

BRITAIN OPPOSED TO DISMEMBERMENT

VIOLATED NATION

King Peter Is Still Recognised

British Official Wireless.
(Received June 18, 6 p.m.)
RUGBY, June 17.

Following is the text of a Note, dated June 11, from the British Foreign Minister (the Hon. Anthony Eden) to the Yugoslav Minister, from whom statements expressing the Royal Yugoslav Government's concern at the attempts made by Germany and Italy to dismember territory belonging to the Yugoslav State and nation had been received.

"In the statement communicated in your Excellency's Note of May 14, it was pointed out that, after the occupation by German troops of a portion of the Banovine of Croatia, an independent Croatian State was proclaimed under the protection of the occupying armies by Anton Pavelic, together with a handful of subversive individuals who had no following among the Croats.

Government Protest.

"In the face of the proclamation of an independent Croatia imposed by the occupying Power, the Royal Yugoslav Government protested and emphasised that all the acts in connection with the establishment of this so-called independence, with the aim of partitioning Yugoslav territory and destroying Yugoslav national unity, were to be considered null and void.

"In your Note of May 16," Mr Eden's Note proceeds, "it was pointed out that an independent Croatian State transformed into a hereditary monarchy had been proclaimed in Rome on May 18 and 19, that agreements had been signed ceding to Italy large parts of the territory belonging to the Yugoslav State and nation, and that other agreements had been reached which represented a camouflaged annexation to Italy of the whole territory of the newly-created Croatian State. It was further pointed out that all these territory decisions had been made without any consultation and participation of the people whose vital rights and interests by these decisions are heavily affected, Brutal Dismemberment.

"Finally, a statement contained in your Note of June 5 recounts that the German and Italian Governments, after having occupied the territory of Yugoslavia by military force, annexed Slovakia, one part to Germany and one part to Italy, and that this brutal dismemberment of the Slovene people was contrary to ethical principles, since this territory was inhabited by a population absolutely compact and of pure Slovene origin.

"In taking formal note of these protests by the Yugoslav Government," Mr Eden adds, "I would wish to avail myself of the opportunity to inform your Excellency that these acts by the German and Italian Governments are held null and void by the British Government, which is supporting and will continue to support the Government of King Peter as being the only duly-accredited representative of Croatia and Slovania as of the other parts of the Yugoslav State.

Indignation.

"Meanwhile, I need hardly assure your Excellency that the British Government fully shares the view of the Royal Yugoslav Government as expressed in your Notes, and it desires me to place on record its sense of indignation at the shameless manner in which Yugoslavia has been mutilated and parts of her territory subjected to foreign rule in gross violation of the true feelings of the Yugoslav people in general and the Croatian and Slovene population in particular."

HUNGARIAN SHIP TRIES TO ESCAPE BLOCKADE

Arrested Off Australia When Trying To Smuggle Flour Cargo

(United Press Association—Copyright.)
(Received June 19, 2.10 a.m.)
BATAVIA, June 18.

Co-operation between the Dutch and Australian authorities and a commercial aviator brought about the arrest of the Hungarian steamer Nyugat in the Timor Sea.

It is revealed that the Nyugat disappeared with a cargo of Australian flour shipped from Freemantle for Shanghai, valued at £170,000. Captain Zoller, a pro-Nazi, ignored the course which the naval authorities had allocated for him and attempted to sail to Dilli and thence to Formosa, where he hoped to transfer the cargo to Axis interests.

The captain had the Hungarian flag painted out from the ship's sides and replaced it with extensive camouflaging.

His attempt to run the blockade, however, was shortlived and he was captured by the Dutch destroyer Kortenaer, the prize crew from which was well received by the crew, a mixture of Hungarians, Yugoslavs, four Negroes and six Chinese, but Captain Zoller appeared furious, called his crew traitors and accused them of sabotage in not making better speed.

The crew who were on the border of mutiny had nicknamed the captain Hitler and the chief engineer Mussolini.

Death Knell Of Private Motoring, Say Australians

(United Press Association—Copyright.)
(Received June 19, 1.15 a.m.)
CANBERRA, June 18.

The first major effect of the Rt. Hon. R. G. Menzies' speech was the announcement to-day by the Minister of Supply (Senator McBride) of drastic petrol cuts, chiefly affecting private motorists, whose present supply is being cut by half, limiting them to 1000 miles a year. It becomes operative in August.

Taxis and private-hire cars will be further reduced to 40 per cent of the original rationing scale. Commercial vehicles will receive only 60 per cent of the original ration. Omnibus and service cars will be cut by 15 per cent. Corresponding reductions will apply to farm and miscellaneous classes of vehicles and motor boats.

Motoring interests say that the new rationing plan will sound the death knell of private motoring.

"Coercive Measures"

Trade Union leaders expressed concern at Mr Menzies' "threatened coercive measures" against their leaders. The secretary of the New South Wales Labour Council (Mr R. King) voiced the opinion of most Labour officials when he said: "The Labour movement is not prepared to submit kindly to attacks on the liberty of trade unionists."

He added that if the workers displaced by industrial restriction were not absorbed it would be tantamount to industrial conscription.

NEW YORK, June 18.

According to the "Herald-Tribune" the Army has launched a long-range programme designed to perpetuate its superiority in the heavy-bomber field by ordering a new super-bomber which is expected to render obsolete all present aircraft in this class within two or three years.

It will have a 700-mile range and a top speed of 350 miles an hour. Construction has already begun.

(Received June 19, 2.10 a.m.)
LONDON, June 18.

Imperial and Free French forces, after capturing fresh positions on the hills overlooking Damascus, are reported to be making their way slowly to the city. The column pushing up the coast to Beirut has also further progressed beyond Sidon, where the position is described as reasonably secure.

General Dentz is attempting to relieve the Allied pressure by pushing small columns supported by one or two tanks behind our lines at various points but Vichy's claims to have recaptured Merjiyun is denied.

British military circles in Ankara estimate that the Vichy Air Force in Syria has been reinforced in the last 48 hours by between 50 and 70 machines, mostly fighters. Many are German with French markings.

General Bergert, Vichy Air Minister, is reported to have arrived at General Dentz's Beirut headquarters.

TRADE AGREEMENT WITH CANADA

Possible Extension For Duration

By Telegraph—Press Association.
WELLINGTON, June 18.

Referring to a cable concerning the possibility of extending the existing trade agreement between Canada and New Zealand for the duration, the acting-Prime Minister (the Hon. W. Nash) said that the New Zealand Government would be quite prepared to consider the proposal.

"The agreement expires in September in the normal way. It is likely that we would extend it and if there is a suggestion that it be carried on until the end of the war we shall be glad to consider it at once," said Mr Nash.

RAIDERS ALWAYS SPOTTED

AMAZING BRITISH DEVICE

CLOUD NO BARRIER

New Zealand Making Equipment

United Press Association—Copyright.
(Received June 18, 11.45 p.m.)
LONDON, June 17.

Air Marshal Sir Philip Joubert told the Australian Associated Press that it was virtually impossible for a raider to approach Britain without our knowing this, due to the war's best-kept secret and one of the most important developments in our war organisation, namely radio location.

Australia and New Zealand are already manufacturing its equipment and training personnel for its maintenance and repair.

It is no new science but the application to the war of known scientific facts. The man first applying these facts to the detection of 'planes was Mr R. A. Watson, who developed the system from meteorological methods.

Four Years' Work

Radio location was born in March, 1935, and a team of brilliant scientists worked on it most secretly until the middle of 1939. Radio location emerged as a system of sending our electric or ether waves far beyond our shores. Any solid object in the path of the waves, whether ship or 'plane, sends back a reflection. The system is unaffected by fog, cloud or darkness and keeps watch for 24 hours every day.

"Radio location eliminates the necessity for continuous patrols of fighters," added Sir Philip, "thus saving petrol, and wear and tear on engines and obviating the strain on personnel.

Personnel Needed

"It is also used by the Navy and Army, but science and manufacture have outstripped personnel. Scientists are constantly evolving improvements and the cleverest radio manufacturers have brought in all their resources to producing radio locators by mass production.

"We have mobilised every available qualified radio mechanic and have extensively used women, but we need immediately for these services 10,000 men and 4600 women. Ultimately we shall need about twice that."

Sir Philip answering a question said that the scientific facts which are the origin of radio location are known throughout the world therefore presumably the Germans are not lagging behind in its application but there is no positive evidence of this. There has been proportionately no increase in our losses over Germany. The losses are mainly due to the anti-aircraft defences and there is no evidence that they can be ascribed to radio location.

Millions Spent But Saved

The Australian Associated Press learns that millions were spent on the radio locator but the entire cost has already been saved, as its future potentialities are almost unlimited. When radio location is fully applied there need never be another shipwreck and air travel will be many times safer.

"NORMAL" RAW MATERIALS

Negotiations Ended

United Press Association—Copyright.
(Received June 19, 0.45 a.m.)
BATAVIA, June 18.

Following the discontinuance of negotiations between Japan and the Netherlands, it is understood that Japan will accept the quotas for raw materials offered by the Dutch based on what is regarded as Japan's normal requirements.

The leader of the trade delegation (Mr Yoshisawa), in the course of a statement, announced that he had been instructed to return home at the earliest opportunity owing to the impossibility of reaching an international agreement on the basis laid down by his Government.

He expressed the hope that the reasonableness of the Japanese proposals, which he said were founded upon the mutual prosperity of both countries, would be understood by the Netherlands in the future.

At Tokyo the Domei Agency confirms the decision for Mr Yoshisawa's withdrawal.

Germany has sharply protested to the United States against the closing down of the German Consulates.

President Roosevelt has declined to specify the accusations against German Consular officials, except to declare their activities subversive, which term includes many sins.

The Government has ordered Customs and immigration officials to take the necessary steps to prevent German nationals leaving the United States without proper authority.

Guenther Tonn, of the German Transocean News Agency, slashed his throat and wrist at Ellis Island while awaiting trial for failure to register as an alien agent. Tonn was sent to hospital. He was not seriously injured.

R.A.F. BOMBER IN FLAMES OVER COLOGNE

Amazing Escape With German Fighter Attacking

(British Official Wireless.)
(Received June 18, 7.45 p.m.)
RUGBY, June 17.

Their aircraft in flames, the rear gun out of action and a fighter attacking, the crew of a heavy bomber came near to bailing out over Germany on Sunday night. They had bombed Cologne and were flying away when they were attacked by a fighter.

"We were just passing through some searchlights when suddenly there was a terrific rattling and banging underneath and behind our aircraft," said the captain. "A fighter came up on our tail, firing with cannon and machine-gun, but he only bruised his skin. Our rear gunner was unable to return the enemy fire as his turret had developed a fault on the outward journey and was out of action."

The second pilot tapped the shoulder of the captain, who looked back and saw that part of the inside of the aircraft behind the main spar was on fire, the window curtains and fabric along one side of the fuselage burning and oil spurting from two punctured pipes. There was every danger of the fire spreading rapidly.

"When I looked back I thought it was all over with us," added the captain. "I never thought that we could get the flames out. To make matters worse the telephone set which links members of the crew also failed.

Fighting the Flames

"Tearing the fabric to keep the fire from spreading, stamping out the flames and smothering them with cushions snatched from a bunk, two of the crew fought the fire while the pilot flew on, doing his best by evasive action to avoid further attacks from the fighter."

The fighter closed in to within 50 yards and the rear gunner could see it plainly. Again came the thud of the enemy's fire as his bullets hit the bomber, and the captain could see tracer bullets flying past his cockpit. For the third time the fighter came in and in this attack the second pilot was wounded but was able to scramble along the fuselage and warn the rest of the crew that they would have to bale out if they could not get the flames under control.

Saved By Guide Ropes

The front and rear gunner left their turrets and on the way from the tail of the aircraft the rear gunner fell through the escape hatch in the floor. In the dark he could not see the cover of the hatch had been knocked off. Only the guide ropes which he had been holding saved him from dropping right through and out of the aircraft.

Meanwhile, the wireless operator attempted to send a signal, but the set was no longer working. It took about 10 minutes to put out the fire.

"It seemed an age," said one of the crew. "At least the Hun had sheered off after the third attack, but we had more trouble."

Losing Height

Flying on, the captain found he could not maintain height. When the bomber reached the Dutch coast searchlights picked it up and it came under the fire of ground defences, but it was not hit.

Over the North Sea the crew threw out their ammunition and flares to lighten the aircraft. Eventually they reached the English coast and found a landing ground but because the flaps had been damaged and the air-speed indicator made useless, the captain decided, since it was still dark, to fly around and wait for the dawn before attempting to land. The hydraulic system, too, had been put out of action. The crew, however, managed, by using the emergency system, to get the undercarriage down and locked.

Onto Its Nose

When the bomber landed the absence of the air-speed indicator and the flaps inevitably caused the pilot to come in too fast. The bomber raced across the aerodrome, missed a gun emplacement and a small concrete building by inches, and finally tipped up on its nose in a patch of freshly dug ground—without further injury to the crew.

India As A War Arsenal

GREAT POSSIBILITIES

Rapid Forward Moves Described

UNITY AS A SPUR

India's contributions in men and materials to Britain's war effort, and its mighty potentialities as an Empire arsenal, were described at New York by Firoz Noon, High Commissioner for India in London. Now in the United States discussing trade problems concerning India and the United States, Mr Noon added that Indian troops in considerable number were fighting in Eritrea, Ethiopia and in Libya.

India has found a new degree of unity in its wish to see the defeat of totalitarianism, and this unity is spurring the Indian war effort, Mr Noon stressed. In spite of differences between the British Government, the Moslem League and the All-India National Congress, the country is unanimous in wanting to see Hitler defeated, he said.

Three-Fold Effort

India's war usefulness to Britain is a three-fold matter, Mr Noon continued. First he stressed the ability of the country's steel industry and manufacturing plants, backed by unlimited supplies of raw materials, to turn our guns, tanks and ammunition. Second, the vast manpower of India with its potentialities for turning out soldiers. Third, India's possible assistance to the British Commonwealth of Nations in resisting Japanese demands in the Far East.

Under the first heading, the High Commissioner stressed that India to-day is producing 90 per cent of its war requirements.

In manpower categories, Mr Noon said, the Indian army has grown from 160,000 to 500,000 men since the war's inception.

Back of India's war manufactures, the High Commissioner added, is its steel mills but it is at present seeking certain machine tools for defence industries in the United States, where, he disclosed, the Indian Purchasing Company, headquartered in New York, has made large purchases of engines and other war material.

ECONOMICAL USE OF TRANSPORT

OCEAN BLOCKADE IS INTENSIFIED

DEHYDRATED MEAT

Ingenious Methods Of Saving Space

As the ocean blockade between Germany and Britain becomes fiercer, greater stringency in transport economy becomes a more prominent feature.

The announcement that the new application of the United States Lease-and-Lend Bill to foodstuffs may mean less frozen food cargoes from New Zealand and Australia, while not a statement to be taken at its face value, may have significance in relation to the policy of production in the countries concerned. Great Britain is not the only area in which the authorities have been censured for tardiness in adding to the cold storage space available.

In Victoria, Australia, it is said that the failure in this respect has forced producers to accept 1d to 1½d per lb. less for the meat produced than they would if there had been ample cold space available. In London it is stated that the Ministry of Food's slowness in its cold storage building programme has resulted so far in the new depots already opened only about equalling the amount of refrigerated space put out of commission by enemy air action.

Lessening Risk

Meanwhile every means of lessening the risk of food cargoes on the water is being explored by the Government Research workers at the Low Temperature Research Station at Cambridge have been pursuing experiments in the desiccation and dehydration of meat and already a technique in this process has been submitted for official approval, with the possible result that in the near future large supplies of imported meat may arrive in granular form, to be issued by the trade to the consumer in cartons.

The process, which is a secret one, is said to involve the use of an extremely low temperature and a vacuum.

Samples of meat thus treated were served in a canteen operated by the Ministry of Food, and it is stated that independent testers were unable to tell the difference between the dehydrated product and ordinary fresh minced beef.

The new product rapidly absorbs moisture when soaked just before use, and is especially suitable for the preparation of soups or stews and for communal feeding. It can also be used quite well in the manufacture of sausages and meat pies. It is estimated that by the adoption of this system over 75 per cent of shipping space can be saved, refrigeration not being required to preserve the product in transit.

Freezing Home Meat

As lessened imports of animal feeding-stuffs will henceforward be a feature while the war lasts, the Government is persuading home herd and flock raisers to kill off a good percentage of their stocks, which last year reached a record level.

These killings will go to replace the lessened imports, but in order that too much meat may not be thrown on to the market, the Government is contemplating the construction of at least one experimental meat freezing works in this country to deal with the surplus. This is not the first time that meat-freezing has been contemplated in England, as 30 years ago a freezing works was erected at Cantley, near Ipswich, though it was never operated.

Napoleon Admits Failure

EMPIRE DOMINATION

Confession That Force Is Not Enough

CHRISTIANITY WINS

In his message at St. Helena after his downfall, Napoleon on one occasion was delivered of the following profound utterance:—"I will tell you who Jesus Christ was. Alexander, Caesar, Charlemagne, and I have founded great empires; but upon what do these creations depend? Upon force. Jesus has founded His empire upon love, and to this very day millions would die for Him.

"I think I understand something of human nature, and I tell you that all these men were men, and I am a man. No one else is like Him. Jesus Christ was more than a man .... I have inspired multitudes with such devotion that they would have died for me, but to do this it was necessary that I should be visibly present, with the electric influence of my looks, of my words, of my voice. When I saw men and spoke to them, I lighted up the flames of self devotion in their hearts.

Demand Through the Years

"Christ alone has succeeded in so raising the mind of man towards the Unseen that it becomes insensible to the barriers of time and space. Across a chasm of eighteen hundred years Jesus Christ makes a demand which is above all others difficult to satisfy. He asks for that which a philosopher may often seek in vain at the hands of his friends or a father of his children or a bride of her spouse or a man of his brother —He asks for the human heart. He will have it entirely for Himself. He demands it unconditionally, and forthwith His demand is granted.

"Wonderful! In demand of time and space the soul of man with all its powers becomes an annexation to the empire of Christ. All who sincerely believe in Him experience that marvellous supernatural love towards Him. That phenomenon is unaccountable; it is altogether beyond the scope of man's creative power. Time, the great destroyer, is powerless to extinguish the sacred flame; time can neither exhaust its strength nor put a limit to its range. This is what strikes me most; I have often thought of it. This it is which proves to me the Divinity of Christ."

COSMOPOLITAN WORK OF SWISS RAILWAYS

Rolling Stock Which Travels All Over Europe To Seek Supplies

If Swiss freight cars could talk, they would tell of adventures in many foreign countries far away from their little Alpine republic. For Swiss rolling stock is the most widely-travelled cosmopolitan rolling stock in all Europe. Half of Switzerland's 17,000 freight cars are always under way in some foreign country under present transportation conditions.

Swiss freight cars see the blue waters of the Adriatic and feel the warm Italian sun. They get as far as Bessarabia on the Black Sea and can watch Russian troops massed along the Danube facing their German rivals in the Balkans.

Swiss freight cars are singed by blazing oil wells in Polesti and shaken by earthquakes that dislocate tracks in Rumania. They roll through the melancholy ruins of former prosperous Polish cities and crawl cautiously over makeshift bridges in Belgium and the Netherlands.

In France they help hunted refugees flee from their persecutors and see women and children cold and hungry. In Hungary they hear the clear ring of the gypsy songs on the endless plains.

National Needs Served

When they cross the Swiss borders they have to jerk along behind smoky, chugging steam locomotives instead of gliding along with the smooth, powerful electric engines which are Switzerland's pride.

They may laugh at the Balkan switchman, whose counterpart in Switzerland has long been replaced by an automatic, electric, fool-proof switch system. When Rumanian or Bulgarian engineers miss the signal so that their train jumps the track or piles up on the train ahead, Swiss freight cars remember that such accidents are impossible in Switzerland where an "automatic engineer" responds to the signals without the human element.

Important Work

The Swiss do not like to see their rolling stock go away so often and stay away as long as it does. They know, however, that it is performing an important national service.

Switzerland of all European countries is most dependent on foreign sources for raw materials for its industries and for foodstuffs to feed its 4,000,000 population. The only way for Switzerland to get these things—which are scarce because of the competition of the Axis Powers —is to send its rolling stock out to haul them home.

In normal times it is customary for the country selling the goods to deliver them in their own freight cars. War conditions, however, have made this impossible for many countries.

Held Too Long

The Swiss do not mind so much using their own cars to haul their purchases, but they have also often had the experience that their rolling stock is held by foreign countries long over the normal period and is used by them for internal traffic. In such cases a rental is paid, but the Swiss would prefer not to rent out their cars, which in view of present-day raw material shortage, are very difficult to replace.

Swiss conditions are part of a general European shortage of rolling stock, according to railway officials. Switzerland could use more freight cars, even though as a European trading centre, it has proportionately more than most other countries.

Normal Conditions Awaited

Transportation of Switzerland's citizen army, which is constantly moving back and forth from its duties on the frontier to its civilian duties on farms and in businesses, requires much space. Recent repatriation of French and Moroccan troops made ski trains into Switzerland's Alpine playground greatly overcrowded.

The Swiss could use 100 tank cars for hauling oil and gasoline from Rumania. They are not planning to construct many, because when normal conditions return and Rumania is again able to use its own rolling stock, the Swiss tanks would be superfluous.

The Swiss federal railway has ordered 1000 freight cars from Switzerland's machine shops. They do not, however, expect to get all of them finished because of an expected shortage of iron and steel.

Whatever may be Switzerland's transportation difficulties, railway officials say, "We are glad still to be able to purchase food and raw materials in Europe. We don't know how long this will last, but as long as it does we will be willing to go and get the things ourselves."

SHIRLEY TEMPLE IN "YOUNG PEOPLE"

With rollicking entertainment its keynote, "Young People" has been called Shirley Temple's most enjoyable picture. Jack Oakie and Charlotte Greenwood are co-starred with her in the 20th Century-Fox film which comes to the State Theatre, Hastings, to-morrow.

Joyfully musical, the new film also boasts an unusual story. Charlotte and Jack adopt Shirley and though they achieve success with their vaudeville act, they decide to retire on a New England farm. Their life in the small town is depicted as the film moves swiftly to the stirring conclusion.

Paced by five new and catchy tunes by Mack Gordon and Harry Warren, "Young People" has been labelled a show full of gay good time. Others featured in a fine supporting cast include Arleen Whelan, George Montgomery and Kathleen Howard. Included among the new songs, which seem destined for a long stay on the hit parade, are: "Fifth Avenue," "I Wouldn't Take a Million," "Tra-la-la-la," "The Mason-Dixon Line," "Young People."

Current Attraction

Teamed together for the first time, Cary Grant, Victor McLaglen and Douglas Fairbanks, jun., are seen as three comrade sergeants in "Gunga Din," screening finally to-day at the State Theatre, Hastings.

Regent

"STRIKE UP THE BAND"

Streamlined song hits and ancient ditties that evoke hilarious laughter, comedy, romance of youth, and heartthrobs are all combined in "Strike Up the Band," merry musical with Mickey Rooney, Judy Garland, Paul Whiteman and orchestra and clever youngsters, many of whom appeared in "Babes in Arms." It comes to the Regent Theatre, Hastings, to-morrow.

Mickey and Judy, high school pals, organise a modern swing band in the school. Paul Whiteman announces a national radio contest for school bands. They proceed to raise money to make the trip to Chicago to compete. Dramatic moments include Mickey's scenes with his mother and the episode in which Mickey and Judy find one of their pals near death and use the band money to save his life. Whiteman and his orchestra in action, the big broadcast and other thrills mark the action. Modern song hits such as "Nobody" and "Our Love Affair" contrast with June Preisser's Anna Held imitation with "I Just Can't Make My Eyes Behave" and "Ta Ra Ra Boom-de-ay."

Current Attraction

What is undoubtedly one of the funniest and most original "who-dunits" the screen has seen is "Busman's Honeymoon," screening finally to-day at the Regent Theatre.

DRAMA OF SOUTH SEA ISLANDS

A fist fight described as one of the most stirring battles ever filmed provides a stirring climax to Marlene Dietrich's new Universal picture, "Seven Sinners," opening to-morrow at the Cosy Theatre, Hastings. Miss Dietrich, John Wayne, Broderick Crawford, Mischa Auer, and Billy Gilbert take part in the fight, together with some two score players skilled in motion picture fisticuffs.

Set against a background of a tropic island, "Seven Sinners" describes the lives and loves of cafe entertainers, beachcombers, traders, and a naval officer.

The world's wildest horses are featured in "King of The Sierras," a thrilling drama of the plains of Arizona. The story describes the adventures that follow the Government's decision to exterminate the great herd of wild mustangs that are laying waste the fertile farm lands. Rex and Sheik are the names of the rival horses, and Frank Campeau and Wally Albright head the human cast.

Current Attractions

The thrilling mystery drama "House of The Arrow," based on an A. E. W. Mason story, and "She Couldn't Say No," an hilarious comedy, comprise the programme screening finally to-day at the Cosy Theatre.

The drama-packed story of Harry Faversham, who is accused of cowardice by his closest friends when he resigns from his regiment on the eve of his departure to join Kitchener's Army in the Sudan, and who redeems himself by some of the most daredevil feats on record, is unfolded in the gripping tale of "The Four Feathers," Alexander Korda's new Technicolor feature now showing at the State Theatre, Napier.

Heading the cast of "The Four Feathers," which was directed by Zoltan Korda and adapted from A. E. W. Mason's popular novel, are Ralph Richardson, John Clements, C. Aubrey Smith and June Duprez, stunning 20-year-old brunette who was discovered by Alexander Korda and awarded the leading feminine role.

The same sensational situations, the same wealth of emotional drama which made Fannie Hurst's great novel, "Back Street," one of the outstanding novels of the day, have been captured and put on the screen in the picturisation of the story, which is now screening at the Regent Theatre, Napier, according to the multitudes who have read the book and also have seen the picture. Starring Charles Boyer and Margaret Sullavan, two of the most glamorous figures of the modern screen, "Back Street" was directed by Robert Stevenson, brilliant young English novelist. The story of the picture covers the period from 1898 to 1930, with Cincinnati, Ohio, New York and Paris as backgrounds. Miss Sullavan is seen as Ray Smith, the girl who is content to live in the back street of the life of a wealthy and successful man,

AIR-RAID SHELTER IDEA

Inflated By Rubber Balloon

John H. Fraser, a Ben Avon (U.S.A.), artist, claims a method of making concrete bomb-shelters with a rubber balloon (says the "Christian Science Monitor").

"It's as easy as blowing soap bubbles," he said.

Illustrating with a model, he laid a deflated balloon on the ground and poured on concrete. To hold the concrete in shape he attached a thick rubber sheet over it.

Then he started a pump and inflated the balloon, lifting the concrete into the shape of an igloo. In a day it hardened into a small scale bomb-shelter.

Mr Fraser said the structure can be reinforced with steel by placing in the wet concrete circular hoops of different sizes, one within the other as close as desirable.

He patented the idea, but offered it to the Government free for defence needs.

A North-western farmer reports finding seven dollars under the cushion of a used sedan he bought for five. Conscience money, we have no doubt.—"Portland Oregonian."

CANADA'S RECRUITING DRIVE

Rate Of Intake Being Increased

Canada launched its first recruiting campaign of the present war last month in an appeal by Defence Minister J. L. Ralston for young men to fill up the ranks for the British Empire's stand against the new Axis threats in the Middle East.

Mr Ralston told the Dominion he had placed the Army's needs a month ago at 6000 recruits a month, but since the fall of Yugoslavia and Greece the Canadian forces now need about 32,000 more men in the next two months.

Mr Ralston disclosed also that plans are being considered for women in certain work in Canada's fighting services, but he said there "isn't any sign" of a manpower shortage in the Dominion.—"Christian Science Monitor."

WAR MAY BE ONLY BEGINNING

Test Of Mankind Is Under Way

PRETORIA, June 17.

"Probably the greatest difficulties and the heaviest ordeals are still before the Empire," said Field Marshal Smuts, Prime Minister of South Africa, to-day. "It is a terrible thing to say, but, instead of it being near the end of the war, it almost looks like the beginning.

"Mankind is always being tested. The present generation will have to decide whether it is worthy of freedom."

BRITISH LEGION HAVE SOCIAL AND DANCE

Associate Members Entertained

About 70 associate members and their friends were guests of the British Legion at a social and dance held in the bandroom, Hastings. The chairman of committees, Legionnaire R. J. Evans welcomed the guests and after explaining the aims and objects of the Legion, expressed the hope that if anyone present knew of any Imperial ex-service men or women they would tell them to come along and join the Legion where they would receive a warm welcome. Those who were ineligible for full membership could join as associate members. Many new members joined as a result of Legionnaire Evans's speech.

Music for the dancing was supplied by the McKay Orchestra and many extras were played by Mr B. Clark and Mr J. Paul (piano accordions). Legionnaire J. McKie was a capable M.C.

During the evening songs were sung by Miss Esther McKay and Mr Nolan McKay and a Monte Carlo was won by Miss B. Morten and Mr T. E. Rendle.

Supper was provided by the guests and at the close of the evening Legionnaire Evans, on behalf of the Legion committee, proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the McKay Orchestra, who had given their services voluntarily, also to Miss Esther McKay and Mr Nolan McKay who had entertained with songs, and Mr B. Clark and Mr J. Paul for playing extras.

A very pleasant evening was brought to a close with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

RED CROSS SOCIETY MEETING

Hastings Sub-Centre

INCREASED AMOUNT OF SEWING

New Secretary Elected

The monthly meeting of the executive committee of the Hastings sub-centre of the N.Z. Red Cross Society took place in the Red Cross Rooms, Heretaunga Street, Mr W. B. Hobbs being in the chair. Those present were Messrs L. A. Denton (president), E. A. Anderson, R. B. Tabley, Mesdames W. G. Stead, W. Richmond, J. B. Pickering, R. Cashmore, F. J. Hull, T. A. Hill, W. R. Stead, Misses A. McLeod, E. J. Dixon.

The chairman made feeling reference to the death of Mr M. J. Runciman, especially with reference to his long and valuable service to Red Cross, and a motion of sympathy with the relatives was passed.

Mrs J. B. Pickering reported details of the examinations held last week for the nursing division, for which there were 98 entrants. Special mention was made of the ungrudging services of Dr R. Cashmore and Dr R. L. A. Kitchen in this connection, and of the examining sisters, Mesdames Lockie, Wood, Daniels, Miss Coulson and Miss Wren (Memorial Hopital).

Mrs R. Cashmore reported that the work of the sewing section is increasing so rapidly with the ever fresh demands of the overseas hospitals and hospital ships that more stock is badly needed to keep up the required supply and to keep the workers busy. It was agreed that a larger monthly sum should be made available for the buying of necessary material.

The resignation of the honorary secretary, Mr E. D. Anderson, was received with regret, a hearty vote of thanks being passed for his many services. Mr Anderson's name was added to those of the executive committee. Mrs T. W. Lewis was appointed secretary, the office to be open from 10 a.m. to 12.30 p.m., and from 1.30 p.m. to 4 p.m. daily from Monday to Friday.

Mrs W. Richmond, Mrs J. B. Pickering, Mr W. R. Hobbs and the secretary were appointed delegates to the Napier annual meeting.

Guild Garden Circle

DEMONSTRATION AND SPLENDID TALK

Members of the Garden Circle of the Hastings Townswomen's Guild met in the Guild room yesterday afternoon. The leader, Mrs H. M. Buck, presided, and with her was the secretary, Mrs B. Baumgart.

After the business had been completed Mrs Dyer gave a very able demonstration on the making of a wire flower basket, which when completed she arranged most artistically with leaves and berries and a few flowers. The basket, which was much admired, was later sent to a sick person. It was decided that next month's competition should be for a floral wire basket and it is hoped that there will be many entries to send to the hospital.

After tea Mrs Hedley Harvey gave a very fine talk on the Chelsea Flower Show, which she attended when in England recently. Mrs Harvey gave splendid descriptions of the show and also handed round magazines and catalogues for members to see. Both she and Mrs Dyer were sincerely thanked.

The results of the competitions were: Best bloom, Mrs J. C. Kelly 1 and 3, Mrs Maher 2; a spray with three flowers, Mrs Perry 1, Mrs Taylor 2, Mrs Graham 3.

Members were reminded that next month would be the birthday meeting.

Taradale-Greenmeadows Auxiliary

The Taradale - Greenmeadows ladies' auxiliary patriotic committee held their monthly meeting in the Taradale Town Board room when Mrs Scott presided.

Word was received by the committee that soft rags were much needed and the committee members were requested to collect these if possible.

Mrs Payne and Mrs Hird were welcomed as new members.

Ways and means of raising further funds for the presentation funds were discussed and many suggestions were put forward. It was decided to forward these to the main committee.

After the business of the afternoon was concluded Mrs Scott called on Mrs Bierne, Australla, to address the members. Mrs Bierne had just returned from a tour of Canada and the United States and gave the members a very interesting outline of the war work being done there and also many incidents of interest about her trip.

The meeting concluded with a hearty vote of thanks to Mrs Bierne.

The committee is also desirous of collecting tins suitable for fruit cakes for overseas parcels; these would be gratefully received by Mrs D. Rees, Avondale Road, Greenmeadows.

DEMONSTRATION OF FLORAL BASKET

Garden Circle Members

AT WOMEN'S CLUB IN HASTINGS

Successful Sale Of Plants

A sale of plants to raise funds to purchase wool for knitting for the men in the Navy and on the minesweepers proved most successful at the monthly meeting of the Hastings Women's Community Club Garden Circle.

The leader, Mrs K. E. Crompton, introduced Miss McCorkindale, who gave a most able demonstration on how to decorate a basket. Her work, done with liquid amber leaves and other autumn tinted foliage, poinsettias, red bottle brush and lachenalia and many smaller flowers, was really beautiful, and members watched each step with interest. The finished basket was the centre of much praise and admiration.

Mrs W. J. White expressed the members' thanks and afterwards everyone adjourned to the writing room for tea.

Among those present were Mrs K. E. Crompton, Mrs Guy Baillie, Mrs W. J. White, Mrs E. V. Simpson, Mrs George Davies, Mrs F. L. Bone, Mrs Rees-Davies, Mrs J. Craig, Mrs B. Shadbolt, Mrs S. Dixon, Miss A. F. Lewis, Mrs H. W. C. Baird, Mrs W. E. Bate, Mrs C. G. Wilkinson, Mrs Guy Rochfort, Miss A. Seal, Miss Hall, Mrs D. J. Holden, Mrs H. J. Lovell-Smith, Mrs J. WARM APPRECIATION EXPRESSED

Vice-regal Visit To Napier

Warm appreciation of the reception given to their Excellencies Sir Cyril and Lady Newall during their recent visit to Hawke's Bay is expressed by Captain G. Holland-Martin, A.D.C., in a letter to the Mayor of Napier (Mr T. W. Hercock).

"The Governor-General has desired me to write and convey to you and to those who were associated with you an expression of his warmest appreciation of the excellent arrangements which were made in connection with the recent visit of Lady Newall and himself to Napier," wrote Captain Holland-Martin.

"Their Excellencies were deeply sensible of the very cordial welcome which was accorded them and of the friendliness of the people of Napier, and wish me to say that they thoroughly enjoyed their all too brief visit to your town."

A midget sun in the form of a 1000-watt mercury lamp has been announced by the General Electric Company. It is designed to shed a brilliancy equal to a fifth of the sun's surface, and yet it is no larger in size than a cigarette.

JUNE INSTITUTE MEETINGS

More Splendid Work Achieved

At the June meeting of the Wallingford Women's Institute a pantry afternoon was given for a member who was a heavy loser in the recent flood, all her fellow members making a special effort in seeing that the sufferer's pantry was fully replenished, for which they received grateful thanks. The president, Mrs J. D. Ormond, presided over a good attendance and extended a welcome to Mrs Russell and Miss Russell, the new members elected. Correspondence and business was dealt with and sub-committees for the year were elected.

An instructive demonstration and of widespread interest was given by Mrs F. D. Herrick, Tautane, on spinning. She also displayed a number of articles knitted by members of the Herbertville-Wimbledon Institute from wool spun by herself. At the conclusion a number of members looked over her spinning wheel, and in a capable way showed they had learned the art of spinning quickly from the lesson given. On the motion of Mrs R. P. Wilder, Mrs Herrick was accorded a warm vote of thanks for her useful demonstration.

Following afternoon tea dispensed by Mesdames Beaver, Jamieson, Ward and Judd sen. and Miss Ormond overseas letters were read, all present being interested to hear the latest news of relatives and friends so far away. Knitting and sewing was handed in for the Red Cross and a further supply of wool and material was given out. The sale table did a steady trade during the afternoon.

Results of the monthly competitions were: Hot water bag cover, Mrs S. Ward 1, Mrs Clarke 2, Mrs Groves 3; bowl of flowers, Mrs E. McNutt 1, Mrs J. Canning 2, Mrs P. Canning 3.

HAVELOCK NORTH

The Havelock North Women's Institute celebrated its sixteenth birthday at the June meeting and the special floral decorations carried out by the Garden Circle were much admired. Mrs H. M. Buck presided and welcomed visitors from the W.D.F.U. and the Hastings Townswomen's Guild. A particularly interesting account of the recent Federation Council meeting was given by the delegate, Mrs Toulmin.

After tea (which was served by Mesdames Bissell, Greenwood, Hantler, Hill and Leedom) everyone thoroughly enjoyed Mrs Chapman Taylor's talk on "The English Lake District." Vivid word pictures were given of the beauty of the countryside and interspersed through the talk were many songs delightfully rendered by Miss Rachael Schofield, with Miss B. McHutchon at the piano—"Trees," "I Walked Beside You," "Bird Song at Eventide," "Gloomy Woods," "John Peel," "For England," and by special request "There'll Always Be An England." All three who helped with the programme were presented with dainty posies and were warmly thanked for their help in making the birthday such a happy one.

Competitions resulted as follows: Baby's singlet, Mrs Blick 1, Mrs Bissell 2, Miss McMichael 3; best bloom, Mrs Bissell 1, Miss Elliott 2, Mrs Norwell 3.

MARAEKAKAHO

At the June meeting of the Maraekakaho Women's Institute the members spent a most enjoyable and profitable day when Mrs Howard Glazebrook placed the charming grounds of her home, "The Washpool," at the disposal of the Institute and was hostess to members for a complete day's meeting.

Mrs R. Averill presided over the meeting and introduced Miss Cocks-Johnson, the demonstrator for the day. The subject of the morning meeting was "The Garden," and this could not have been delivered in more appropriate surroundings. The talk was amply illustrated by examples from the beautiful Washpool garden.

The afternoon talk was a most interesting and instructive one on the subject of "Fruit and Vegetable Freserving and Drying."

At the conclusion of a most enjoyable day a hearty vote of thanks was passed to Mrs H. Glazebrook for her kindness in acting as hostess and to Miss Cocks-Johnson for her very instructive talks and demonstrations.

EREPETI

A new Maori Women's Institute named Erepeti was formed in Ruakituri recently by Mrs Hill, V.O., for the Wairoa H.B. Federation. Miss Spence was chosen president and Mrs Awarangi secretary. The meetings take place in the Erepeti Hall on the first Thursday in the month and great interest is being shown by the members.

Knitting has already commenced for the Red Cross and money being raised to buy material to make garments for the homeless.

The demonstration at the June meeting was a patchwork quilt filled with fleece wool and the competition "an article made from flour bag" was won by Mrs Tip Kohe with a drawn-thread afternoon tea cloth. Mrs Kohe's was the only entry for a loaf of home-made bread.

Community singing was greatly enjoyed.

Socks Not Wanted By Soldiers

PATRIOTIC COUNCIL MEETS

Overseas Parcels Appreciated

AIR RAID RELIEF

An unsolicited testimonial of soldiers' appreciation of parcels sent overseas was provided in a statement by the chairman of the Hawke's Bay Provincial Patriotic Council (Mr T. W. Hercock) when the council met in Napier yesterday.

"We have been told that the last lot of addressed parcels were grabbed by every Tom, Dick and Harry when they arrived at their destination," said Mr Hercock.

"They must have been old soldiers," commented another member dryly.

The chairman outlined the efforts made by Hawke's Bay in getting parcels overseas and referred to the standard parcel which had been arranged.

Not Required.

In spite of the fact that various women's organisations were continually receiving requests for socks from men overseas, Mr Hercock assured members of the council that they were not required.

"Soldiers are supplied with three pairs of socks by the Government, and even those men who lost everything in Greece and Crete are having their supplies replaced," said Mr Hercock.

It was stated that some soldiers being called up for overseas service were acquiring housefuls of furniture and leaving their liability to a certain fund. Mr Hercock questioned whether this class of debt could be the liability of the fund referred to.

The committee unanimously decided to remit the sum of £5000 to the National Patriotic Fund Board as its contribution to £100,000 forwarded to London for the relief of air raid distress.

Mah Jong And Bridge Drive

PATRIOTIC FUNDS

Women's War Service Auxiliary

NAPIER EVENING

Bowls of yellow jasmine, scarlet winter berries and autumn tinted leaves made a colourful decoration in the lounge and reception rooms of Messrs Blythes tea rooms, Napier, last evening when members of the Women's War Service Auxiliary held a successful bridge and mah jong drive. The rooms were cosily heated with electric fires which added much to the comfort and pleasure of the evening, and although weather conditions were not of the best, there were quite a large number playing, and all funds are to be given for patriotic purposes.

During the evening a dainty supper of hot coffee and savouries was very much enjoyed.

At the conclusion of play Miss Ruth Herrick, chairman of the Napier branch of the Women's War Service Auxiliary, thanked all present for their assistance.

Among those present were: Mesdames W. E. Northe, Fox Rogers, S. Bicknell, H. J. Bailey, H. Stephens, Rowan, K. Bryant, A. Y. McCarthy, S. Bishop, W. Fraser, C. Rathbone, E. Williams, I. McKay, F. Raven, N. Solomon, K. Lawrence, T. B. Ferguson, A. D. Lynch, C. White, A. M. Williams, J. W. Corbett, W. R. Gibson, A. Hetley; Misses R. Herrick, Everard, McDonald (2), H. Hitchings, V. Corbett, Wilson and Buckley.

USEFUL HINTS

One of the most practical of modern inventions, the paper bag, was invented by a woman.

Neothesol is a powerful and relatively new local anaesthetic. It is said that a single injection of it is strong enough to stop pain for as long as three weeks.

Experiments have shown that the human body has a 20 per cent. increase in energy after the consumption of honey, for as an energy food one pound of honey is equal to 30 eggs or six pints of milk.

HEALTH THROUGH CHIROPRACTIC

Nerve impulses that direct and time the activities of the body are essential for life. When nerve impulses are not normal, good health cannot be enjoyed. The Chiropractor gets good results because mechanical interference with nerve impulses is corrected.

A Chiropractic patient writes:

Our son had been suffering with severe attacks of headache. He would come in from school in such pain that he would lie down and cry. We considered taking him out of school for a while.

As we had a wonderful previous experience with Chiropractic when our daughter had a severe spell of sickness, we consulted our Chiropractor. After a course of adjustments he was wonderfully improved.

He is enjoying his school work now, reads constantly, and never complains with the headache, and we are glad to give our Chiropractor credit for this.

CHICK SEASON IS NEARLY HERE

Busy Time Ahead

DIFFICULTIES TO BE MET

Hatching And Rearing

BY TRAPNEST.

The poultryman's busiest period, the chick season is almost here, and it should be the aim of every poultrykeeper, both large and small to endeavour to produce and rear sound and healthy stock. A truly successful and trouble-free season is rather unusual to more than a few. Troubles of some sort or other are encountered every year, and this is commonly due to insufficient organisation and preparation prior to the hatching and rearing period.

The breeding stock is the foundation of a successful rearing season, and every step must be taken to ensure that the breeders, besides being first class specimens of their breed, are given every opportunity to reproduce strong and virile progeny. Use only the best parent stock, best in quality and not in numbers, feed a balanced breeder's ration, keep them in a perfectly sanitary condition, and above all see that sufficient succulent greens are available at all times. If this is done then a good start has been made towards a successful season.

Hatching Operations

Next comes the hatching operations. All eggs produced by the breeding birds are not necessarily suitable for hatching purposes. Eggs selected for the incubator, besides being fresh, should be of good size, sound in texture, shape, colour and porosity. One should strive to avoid using eggs of more than seven days old, and on no account use eggs failing to reach the minimum weight of 2ozs. In order to ensure regular and reliable hatches, it is imperative that the incubating equipment be in first class order before operations commence. It is best to be sure at the start than to have things going wrong half way through the hatching period.

The rearing stage is a critical time to many, and calls for more thought and planning than any other branch of the industry. Literally thousands of perfectly healthy chicks are lost every year, due in many cases to insufficient preparation and inadequate equipment. Make all preparations for the season as early as possible. Calculate the number of chicks that are to be expected, prepare brooder space accordingly, and then allow a fair working margin. Do not at any time overtax brooder space; it does not pay. Chicks grow very rapidly and at about three weeks of age they require double the brooder and floor space as at day old.

Dividing Into Groups

At this stage they should, therefore, be divided into two groups to maintain steady and even growth. Where this is not done it will invariably be found that there is a large percentage of small and eventually unthrifty chicks; in other words, good chicks ruined. This means that the actual brooder space required will exceed the day old capacity.

Chicks, from day-old to maturity, will not stand a check of any sort, so it can be readily appreciated that the equipment, housing and feeding methods must be sound. Chilling, the bugbear of rearing, must be entirely eliminated, and one of the secrets to success in this respect is the careful observation of the chicks requirements at night.

Successful Past Year Recorded

PIG MARKETING

Co-operative Association's Affairs Reviewed

BUSINESS INCREASE

In all departments of its activities the figures of the New Zealand Co-operative Pig Marketing Association record an expansion of business, the volume handled for the year being a record in all respects.

Altogether the association marketed just over 110,000 pigs, 329,000 bobby calves and 4300 cull cattle, amounting in all to a total of 443,295 carcases with an aggregate hooks weight of 26,062,510lb. These figures represent an increase of 1776 pigs, 75,001 bobby calves and 1360 cull cattle. The most pleasing feature is that an increase of 9956 pigs was sent in by suppliers on consignment.

Once again a very large proportion of the total weight of pig meat handled was disposed of direct from the producer to the retail trade through its own subsidiary curing factories. The association's turnover stands at a record figure of 609,000 which, together with that of its subsidiaries, would exceed £800,000. In spite of general increases in costs, the association's administration and collecting costs have again been held at a very low figure.

During the season over £474,203 has already been distributed to suppliers of pigs, bobby calves and cull cattle, and there is a net surplus available for final distribution to pig and cull cattle suppliers of £23,000, this amount being exclusive of share credits and other benefits on qualified supply. As usual, it is intended to distribute the surplus to suppliers towards the end of July, and this will show producers a very satisfactory total return on their pigs. A complete schedule of final payment rates will be found in the company's annual report which will be circulated to its 10,000 shareholders and suppliers about the middle of next month.

Capital Position

The association's subscribed capital now stands at £36,746, an increase of £3400 on the figure published last year, and paid up capital now stands at £12,825, an increase of £1700 on last year's figure.

Had it not been for the dislocation of killings at several of the works during March and April, when killing space was severely rationed, an even greater volume of stock would have been handled by the association.

Sheep Entry Poor, But Prices Hold

STORTFORD LODGE SALE

Fat Cattle In Less Demand; Quality Sells Well

Despite the poor quality of many of the pens, good prices ruled for store sheep at the Stortford Lodge sale yesterday. Firm prices prevailed for wethers and sound hoggets.

Store cattle were in good demand, a yarding of 430 selling readily at late rates. Quality lots in the fat cattle entry sold quite well, but competition was lacking through butchers holding supplies.

A small yarding resulted in a good sale in the fat sheep section, quality lines making firm values.

SHEEP ENTRY

The yarding of about 5000 in the store sheep section was made up chiefly of in-lamb ewes and hoggets. Wethers in good condition brought 21/- to 21/10 and medium framed two-tooth ewes in good order sold at 27/6. Lines of mixed-aged brought 23/-, four and five-year 14/6, five-year in poor order 11/6 and others in much better condition 16/9.

A pen of 126 medium grown woolly hoggets in nice order sold at 18/1.

Forty-six fairly-grown well-woolled fat and forward wether hoggets sold at 21/9.

A draft of 108 small Down-cross lambs in good order sold at 10/3.

An entry of 129 five-years from Tangoio, with good mouths and medium-framed (r.w. S.D.), sold at 16/9.

A line of 75 four and six-tooth wethers from Mt. Hassall Station, Patoka, medium framed and in forward condition, brought 20/10.

A pen of 250 medium-grown wether hoggets fromWairoa, shorn as lambs and in light condition, were passed at 11/6, 1/6 under the owner's reserve.

Aged ewes with poor mouths and carrying little wool (r.w. S.D.) brought 11/4.

An entry of 86 two, four and six-tooth ewes, with light frames and lightly framed and mixed (r.w. S.D. March 1) were passed at 17/6.

A pen of 70 Turamoe well-framed fair to low-mouthed aged ewes (r.w. S.D. March 20) brought 12/6.

An entry of 105 five and six-year ewes, well-framed, roomy and well-woolled, were passed at 16/6.

From Gisborne, 402 fairly grown wether hoggets, shorn as lambs, in good order for carrying over, were passed at 13/-.

Offered on account of Mr A. E. Hill, 169 well-woolled low-set two-tooth ewes, medium-framed and in good order (r.w. S.D. and Romneys) brought 27/6.

An entry of 120 four, six and eight-tooth ewes from Wairoa, well-woolled sorts and very early lambing (r.w. Romney) sold at 14/6.

FAT LAMBS

With a smaller yarding the fat lamb market was brighter than last week, medium ewes bringing improved prices and quality lines making firm values.

Nice-order ewes from Whanakino Station brought 10/4 to 13/-. A line of ewes from Tikokino made 9/1.

Light-weight wethers were in short supply bringing to 21/10.

Lambs brought 19/7 to 24/10.

STORE CATTLE

The yarding of 430 head of store cattle found a fairly good market. In-calf cows realised from £4 8/6 to £4 18/6, light conditioned £3 to £3 15/-. Empty cows in store condition made to £4 15/-. Two-off Hereford steers showing breeding sold at £7 10/- and three-off in forward order £8 11/-.

A line of 44 rising three-year Herefords, well-bred and in good order after several days on the road, brought £7 10/-.

A line of 30 forward empty cows, prime good beef, medium-framed, was passed at £4 15/-.

A line of 41 P.A. cows, offered for H. R. Jackson, Mangatahi, in calf to P.A. bull, well bred and in light condition, brought £4 18/-.

On account of Tauroa Station, 25 de-horned three-off Hereford steers in forward order brought £8 11/-.

An entry of 22 cows mixed in breed and condition was passed at £3.

Bred in the Wairoa district, 47 P.A. cows in nice condition sold at £4 8/6.

FAT CATTLE

High country cows slightly out of condition brought lower prices at the earlier part of the fat cattle sale, but other lines brought sound prices.

Prime heavy cows from Greenhill sold to £9 3/6, similar pens making £8 6/- to £8 16/-. Medium pens brought £6 8/6 to £7 16/-, plain and light £5 1/- to £5 18/6. Medium weight A.A. cross heifers, showing quality brought £7 16/- to £8 11/-, lighter £7 6/- to £7 11/- and small £4 18/6 to £5 11/-. Good A.A. and Hereford vealers failed to reach the reserve at £3 10/-.

Prime ox was in short supply and quality steers made £10 10/-.

Polled Bulls For Victoria

SIX BEASTS SENT

Leading Breeders Of New Zealand

NOTABLE SHIPMENT

A shipment comprising six high class Polled bulls has just been made to Victoria on account of leading breeders in the Dominion by Messrs Wright, Stephenson and Co., Ltd. A year ago a shipment of Polled Hereford bulls was made to the same breeder and it is most satisfactory to all concerned that a further order has been received from the same source.

The present consignment comprises two rising three-year-old Polled Hereford bulls bred by Mr J. M. James, Wangaehu, Masterton. These very thick, low set, great coated sires are both by Polled Bullion Success, one of Mr James's imported Polled sires. One of the bulls is from the Countess family and the other is from the Amethyst line. A very well developed rising two-year-old bull bred by Miss Bessie Donald, Papatahi, Featherston, is by the noted breeding sire, Dale Cutler Junior, imp., who has left so many prize winners in the Dominion. This bull is from the noted Gay Princess family, his dam carrying no less than three strains of the imported sire, Mansel Helmsman. The two youngest bulls in the shipment were bred by Mr J. R. Matthews, Waiorongomai.

These are very low set bulls with good heads and good coats and should develop out extremely well. One is by the noted prize winning and imported sire, High Stanway 1st, while the dam is also from the Amethyst line and is sired by Santos Junior, imp., foundation sire at Waiorongomai. The second of these bulls is by the well-known prize-winning bull, Waio High Stan 2nd, a son of High Stanway 1st, imp. The dam is the imported cow, Miss Hollywood, who is by Model Alex from Lola Pride, imp. The latter cow was one of the big shipment of stock selected in North America in 1935 by Mr C. E. Robertson. Miss Hollywood, her calf, was born at Los Angeles while awaiting shipment, hence the name.

The consignment of bulls made a very attractive picture at the port of embarkation as they were all showing in full winter coats and were in excellent order.

Along with the Polled Herefords there has also been shipped an excellent type of Polled Shorthorn bull in Allandale Chamberlain. This bull, selected from Mr Andrew Grant's well-known Allandale stud at Fairlie, is a very dark roan, thick and low set, and with an exceptionally good coat. His sire, the imported bull Elm Grove Gondolier, who was undefeated in America, has proved a noted sire in the Dominion. His dam, Windermere Princess Emblem 2nd, is by another imported sire in Stamps Emblem from Windermere Princess Rocket. This bull is going to New South Wales to a breeder who has previously imported from Mr Grant's stud.

TRIED TO SMUGGLE TOOL BITS

Japanese Arrested

FEDERAL AGENTS ACT

Defence Equipment

Federal agents arrested two Japanese for attempting to smuggle 3600 tool bits concealed in milk cartons aboard the NYK liner Asama Maru a few hours before the vessel sailed from San Francisco for the Orient (says the "Christian Science Monitor").

The men, Gizo Uyeno and Shiro Higuchi, were charged with attempting to export military equipment in violation of the National Defence Act of 1940.

United States Commissioner E. E. Williams set bail at 10,000 dollars each.

Agents said the tools were scattered inside 13 pieces of luggage which Mr Uyeno intended to take to Japan.

They quoted him as saying he bought the bits here for 1600 dollars and expected to sell them at a 2000 dollar profit in Japan.

SCHOOL PUPILS WHO ARE BALLOTED

Territorial Service

APPEALS MAY BE LODGED

Effect On Studies

The position of High School pupils, aged 18, who are called up for territorial training is explained in a circular from the Director of Education, received by Mr E. A. Murley, secretary of the Hastings High School Board of Governors.

The circular states that a pupil entering for an examination at the end of the year may have his training postponed if an appeal is made on the grounds of hardship.

This rule will apply generally to full-time pupils, but an appeal must be made in each case, accompanied by a certificate from the principal of the school stating the definite grounds of the appeal.

The position regarding part-time pupils is that each case will be considered on its merits.

THE WAR COMES NEARER

The gravity of Mr Menzies' appeal to the people of Australia needs no stressing. It is a call to action in the face of a danger that grows hourly greater. Apart from the risk of Japanese intervention, which has again loomed up as a grave development that may occur at any moment without notice, an intensified war effort to meet the German onslaught is a demand that should be promptly and speedily met.

Mr Menzies has had exceptional opportunities of studying the military and economic position in all its bearings. He returns to Australia with a first-hand knowledge of the relative strengths of the enemy and of the Imperial forces in the various theatres of the war, and he has expressed in unmistakable language the dire necessities of the situation.

It is one thing, however, to say what must be done and quite another to get it done. The Prime Minister of a democracy can act only on powers conferred upon him by Parliament, and a government can apply the principle of compulsion only to an extent that is sanctioned by public opinion. In Australia, as in New Zealand, public opinion is the deciding factor, and it has yet to be shown that the people are sufficiently conscious of personal danger to themselves to submit to the regimentation necessary for the all-in war effort we talk so glibly about.

It should not be necessary to wait till blood flows in the streets to secure support for the drastic measures which are necessary to bring in conscription of civilian labour and the further utilisation of private wealth for war purposes, but it may be. It is of little avail to continue scolding the public at large for not doing more, or for spending their substance in frivolities and pleasure. The Government must give a lead and say plainly how we are to order our lives for the duration of the war, and how it intends to enforce compliance.

If the public react unfavourably, it will be evidence that the will to win awaits the stimulus of external pressure—which may not be long delayed. The attitude of the public in Australia is very similar to the attitude of the public in New Zealand. Business and pleasure as usual are the order of the day, and in both countries there is far too much recrimination over the sins of omission committed by others.

The Chairman of the Wellington Chamber of Commerce made a very pointed reference to this aspect of the war situation on Tuesday when he said:

> I see nothing more calculated to bring about a weakening of the high pitch at which the human and material forces of this country should be employed in the present struggle for existence than the often biased and bigoted accusations that are being bandied around this country as between section and section.
> We see too much blaming of the worker for not doing his best by an employer—who then promptly leaves his desk for a mid-week golf match or an extended week-end—and too much sectional strife and resistance by a worker who seems to think that his boss is making a fat profit out of the war, a profit which taxation and the price regulations make impossible.

It is, of course, impossible to stop people from engaging in arguments of this kind, however unprofitable they may be, but if the Government, which is responsible for directing the war effort, would prepare plans for the complete mobilisation of the physical and material resources of the country, it might before long have assistance in getting the co-operation of the public from an unexpected quarter. Bombardment from hostile aircraft or warships off the coast of New Zealand would bring us all to our bearings very quickly.

CLIMAX IN EUROPE

The cablegrams received this morning bring the drama of Europe to the edge of perhaps the greatest climax of the war. But the great question—one of the greatest questions in history—remains unanswered. What has Hitler decided? Is it to be the invasion of Russia or the invasion of Great Britain?

The terrific hammering which the R.A.F. has been giving the enemy invasion ports on the Channel and the steady destruction of German shipping are sufficient indication that the British Government and the British defences are fully aware that the German manoeuvring on the Russian frontier may be nothing more than a screen behind which the enemy High Command is preparing to launch its forces on the desperate adventure against Britain. The German concentrations in Norway bear out the belief that the great assault may be made within a few days, perhaps within hours. But there is also the possibility that if Russia is to be attacked the Germans are reinforcing the entire Baltic region to prevent or to counter a British move against Scandinavia.

At the moment speculation is futile. The only known fact is that the fate of Europe and of the world depends on the events of the immediate future.

Motor Lighting Restrictions

OPERATE ON MONDAY

Areas In Hawke's Bay Defined

Regulations restricting the use of lights on vehicles in certain districts come into operation on Monday, June 23. The work of appraising motorists of their responsibilities and the erection of signs defining restricted areas has been begun. In a statement the lighting controller (Mr H. H. Wylie) reviews the restrictions.

The restrictions are confined to the Borough of Napier, the main highway from Napier to the Eskdale turnoff at Bay View, and the main highway from Napier to the turnoff at Farndon Park. The regulations refer to this area as the "headlight restriction area." This area does not at present include Westshore itself, but only the main highway in that district. However, it will be necessary for residents in that area to have their car lights altered as they are bound, sooner or later, to use their cars in the restricted area.

Within the headlight restriction area all vehicles must carry in a ready form for immediate application, should a state of emergency be declared, the required masks to fix over or inside the parking, tail, or headlights. The mask required is the equivalent of two thicknesses of newspaper, and string or rubber bands or other suitable material must be carried to affix the mask.

Garages Advised

As from Monday it will be illegal to use bright headlights within the restricted area, and vehicles must proceed with the left hand headlight dipped and the right light showing the park light, with, of course, the usual tail light. In most cases alterations will have to be made to the lighting system of cars and garages have been circularised giving the requirements.

Within the headlight restriction area certain areas have yet to be defined called "parking light areas." Within these latter areas motor vehicles must proceed with no headlights at all, but with at least two parking lights and, of course, the tail light. No vehicle is to be parked on the road, and a speed limit of 20 miles an hour is imposed. Also within the parking light area, bicycles must have rear lights, reflectors not being sufficient.

The Transport Department is attending to the matter of erecting the prescribed signs in the headlight restriction areas, and later will attend to the signs in the parking light areas.

Local & General

Golf at Waiohiki

The best score handed in in the first round of the Donnelly Vase competition of the Napier Women's Golf Club was that of Miss J. Smith, 4 down. In the first round of the President's Trophy the best cards handed in were those of Mrs Cockcroft 3 down, Miss Edgar 4 down, and Miss J. Smith 4 down.

Snow on Rimutakas

The Wellington Automobile Association strongly advises motorists not to use the Rimutaka hill road unless it is absolutely necessary. There is about 15in. of snow on the summit and the road is impassable unless chains are used. Even then it is doubtful if cars will get through until conditions improve—Press Association.

Closer Co-operation

With a view to obtaining closer co-operation between organisations concerned with farming problems, the Hawke's Bay Provincial Executive of the Farmers' Union yesterday decided to extend an invitation to the Sheepowners' Federation for two of the latter's members to attend meetings of the union executive.

R.S.A. Gift

The Dominion Executive of the New Zealand Returned Soldiers' Association has voted £1000 for dispatch by cable to members of the New Zealand Forces (sea, land and air) serving overseas. It was felt that all returned soldiers in New Zealand would wish to express in tangible form their admiration for the exploits of the New Zealand forces overseas.—Press Association.

Good Hastings Effort

Although Hawke's Bay's quota in the recent scrap metal collection was five per cent. of the Dominion total, this province actually contributed 11 per cent. or £536 of a total of £5041. From Hastings £260 was contributed, or slightly more than half of what was provided by all Hawke's Bay. The Mayor (Mr A. I. Rainbow) said yesterday that the collection of scrap metal was still proceeding in Hastings, valuable donations of brass electric lamp bases, toothpaste tubes and similar material being left at the "Dugout."

Parcels for Troops

A decision to make a grant of £50 to the Women's Division to assist in the work of sending gift parcels to troops overseas was made at yesterday' meeting of the Hawke's Bay Provincial Executive of the Farmers' Union. The original proposal had been to send a parcel from the union to every member on overseas service, but the sub-committee set up for the purpose reported that there were a number of difficulties in the way of adhering to the scheme, especially in discriminating between members and members' sons on active service.

Veterinary Surgeons

Owing to war conditions the veterinarians' scholarships had been discontinued, stated a letter from the Department of Agriculture received at yesterday's meeting of the Hawke's Bay Provincial Executive of the Farmers' Union. Members considered that in view of the serious shortage of veterinary surgeons the scholarships should be reinstated if possible, so that flocks and herds could be kept up to standard in the crucial years following the war. It was decided to urge the Government, in the absence of a full explanation of the reasons for abolishing the scholarships, to reconsider its decision.

X-Ray for Maoris

A mobile X-ray unit for use among the Maoris of Taranaki as a means of detecting tuberculosis in its early stages has been advocated by the Hawera Hospital Board and a committee has been set up to prepare a report for submission to a conference of Taranaki hospital boards. Reference was made to the number of cases of tuberculosis among the Maoris at a board meeting, and member expressed the opinion that steps should be taken to detect the disease in its early stage. One member declared that Maoris were "dying on their feet because they would not go to hospital."

A Broad Hint

"Can't you get women to do this class of work?" asked the chairman of the No. 7 Military Area Manpower Committee (Mr G. A. Maddison), addressing a witness at yesterday's meeting of the committee in Napier. "No," replied the witness. "There are so many fancy jobs that they prefer. As soon as they have been trained and become useful, girls go and get married and we have to start all over again." Mr Maddison said he thought the time was approaching when the Director of National Service would be compelled to assign employees to various industries.

Inspectors Busy

Inspectors of the Hastings Borough Council traffic department stopped hundreds of motorists in the borough yesterday in the annual check-up of licences and warrants of fitness. Drivers producing licences and warrants, or convincing the inspectors that they had renewed them, were allowed to proceed with a red square pasted on the windscreen. Drivers without them must produce them at the borough offices within the next few days or stand a chance of being prosecuted. More than 1000 motorists at Hastings have not renewed their licences this year and the inspectors expect a good "haul" in the raid.

"No Wonder"

"No wonder fish is so dear," commented the chairman of the No. 7 Military Area Manpower Committee (Mr G. A. Maddison) at a sitting of the committee in Napier yesterday, when counsel for an appellant explained the manner in which fish was marketed. It was stated that a ballotee used a vessel belonging to a Napier fishmonger and that the catch was sent to the sheds of a wholesaler from which the retailer drew his supplies. "So you catch the fish in the retailer's boat and sell it to a wholesaler and the retailer buys it from the wholesaler?" asked Mr Maddison. "That's the way it works," replied the ballotee.

The engagement ring is the symbol of beauty, grace, constancy and devotion. Where all these virtues are expressed in the engagement ring how necessary it is that the ring should be exquisite in design and flawless in beauty. McClurg's Ltd., are the oldest established jewellers in Hawke's Bay and their reputation is built on quality diamonds and fidelity of workmanship. McClurg's, Jewellers, Napier.*

The People of Great Britain

Sir,—Your issue of June 16 contained excerpts from a letter by a New Zealand member of the Fleet Air Arm. Almost the whole of them seem to me to be in bad taste, saving his reference to the climate which ill compares with that of this Dominion. However, it is puerile to grumble since countries cannot select their climates, and even Britain has its good patches. I spent a winter of the last war there. It was a "hard" one and I never felt more exhilarated or in fine fettle.

I will not enumerate any of this trainee's numerous criticisms of his hosts and his job. He is attached to the British Fleet. I say he is honoured in that and I conclude that his attitude to women is very, very far from the Navy's tradition.

"We can lick him (Hitler) and then we can all go back home again and live among civilised people...." Well, well, are we so civilised that we have forgotten whence we got our civilisation? Are we so narrow, insular, and self-satisfied that we forget that the people of Britain are in the midst of this war, that the civilians—men, women and children—are in the firing line without that God-send, the personally physical power to hit back.

These people are the sole human beings in the whole of Europe who can make the licking of Hitler possible. If the ununiformed people (and especially those who perform manual labour, or tend the worker's home and children) should crack, Hitler wins. So far their heads are bloody but unbowed (see civilian casualty lists).

My disgust with Mr Trainee is tempered by recalling the opinion of a New Zealand soldier who was not in a safe area such as harbour air training schools. He said they were all splendid and that his memory of them would always be full of admiration.—I am, etc.,

Power Conservation

Further warnings in connection with the need for economy in the use of electric power were issued by the Public Works Department and the supply authorities throughout the southern portion of the North Island last night. It was pointed out that New Zealand was one of the foremost countries in the world in the use of electricity on account of the cheap power provided by the hydro-electric generating systems. In the North Island these stations, augmented by fuel stations, are not producing sufficient to meet the demand, and consumers are requested to economise. Evidence of the difficulty was provided by a number of short "surges" which occurred in the area controlled by the Hawke's Bay Electric Power Board last night. It is understood that the cold weather has resulted in the creation of an abnormal load.

R.S.A. Open To All Services

OFFICIAL STATEMENT

Misunderstanding Is Cleared Up

EXECUTIVE'S VIEW

By Telegraph—Press Association.
WELLINGTON, June 18.

The Dominion Executive of the Returned Soldiers' Association has decided to issue a statement pointing out that it includes as members any of his Majesty's Forces (Naval, Army, Air Force, Merchant Navy, and Nursing Service).

The only provisos are that a member shall have served overseas from the place of his enlistment in any war waged by the Crown and that he has been honourably discharged.

This statement arose out of reports that men of some of the fighting services had misunderstood the reason for the decision not to alter the name of the association. The opinion had been expressed that the delegates at the council meeting had not considered the feelings of members of other branches of the service.

It is pointed out that all the 92 affiliated associations welcomed to full active membership nurses, naval men, airmen and men of the Merchant Navy as well as soldiers.

Many are already members and occupy executive positions in the associations.

The association further decided to urge upon the Government that all persons refusing to affirm their loyalty to the Crown should be debarred from employment in the Public Service.

TERRITORIAL APPEALS ARE HEARD IN NAPIER

Chairman Issues Warning To Employers And Ballotees

"Ballotees and employers alike run a grave risk of prosecution if they fail to notify the Manpower Committee of their movements," said the chairman of the No. 7 Area Manpower Committee (Mr G. A. Maddison), at a sitting in Napier yesterday.

He said that appeals were often adjourned sine die because ballotees were engaged in work essential to the Dominion's war effort. If a ballotee ceased to follow the occupation he was engaged in at the time of his appeal he was liable for service and might be guilty of evasion.

"We can't win this war by front-line fighting only; we must also fight from the rear and keep a constant flow of supplies going to the forces," said Mr Maddison stressing the need for maintaining industrial production.

Associated with Mr Maddison were Messrs F. R. Field and F. J. Steel.

Mr W. J. Turnpenny appeared for the Crown and the Director of National Service (Mr J. S. Hunter).

Bacteriologist Released.

An appeal on the grounds of public interest lodged by the Director of National Service in respect of Henry Alexander McKay, bacteriologist at the Napier Hospital, was dismissed.

Mr V. J. Langley, who appeared for the reservist, said that McKay had volunteered for the Fleet Air Arm and would probably be called up early next month.

McKay testified that there were four people on the bacteriologist's staff at the hospital. A sister who had completed her training had returned to the hospital after being married and the witness thought that she could assist in the laboratory. Another girl who had resigned on account of ill-health was also capable of filling the position.

Counsel for the Crown produced a letter from the Director-General of Health (Dr M. H. Watt), which stated that if McKay were released the hospital would have extreme difficulty in replacing him.

The Medical Superintendent of the Napier Hospital (Dr J. J. Foley) said it would be better to release McKay if he was not happy. By that he did not mean that the volunteer's work would suffer. It was necessary to have someone on call 24 hours of the day.

"It is good of you, Dr Foley, to recognise McKay's desire to get away," said Mr Maddison, in releasing the volunteer.

To Join Home Guard.

William Alexander O'Dowd, single, 44, who was drawn in the fifth Territorial ballot, appealed on the grounds of public interest and undue hardship.

Mr Langley said that the ballotee was a returned soldier and conducted a one-man farm at Taradale. O'Dowd was prepared to realise his assets if required for overseas service, but it would be very awkward for him to leave his farm for three months.

In answer to Mr Turnpenny, the ballotee said that he had engaged in shearing during the past three seasons and intended to carry on. He was not attached to the Home Guard, although there was a unit fairly close.

"The Director of National Service makes a special submission on behalf of shearers," said counsel for the Crown.

O'Dowd: Isn't there any chance of pushing me overseas?

Mr Maddison: Not unless you can lose five years of your age.

The appeal was adjourned sine die on condition that the ballotee joined the Home Guard within 14 days.

Supplied Cheese Factory.

Oscar Matthew Clark, single, 43, pleaded public interest and undue hardship. The ballotee, who was also represented by Mr Langley, said that he was a returned soldier. He was farming at Fernhill and was supplying milk to a cheese factory. It would not be economical for him to engage a manager for three months and productivity would suffer.

Mr Maddison: Do you belong to the Home Guard?

Clark: No; I belong to the Hastings Auxiliary Fire Corps.

"What rank do you hold in the Fire Corps?" asked Mr Maddison.

"Commander," replied the ballotee.

"The Fire Corps means something in the cities," commented the chairman, "but by the time you got to a fire it would be out."

The appeal was adjourned sine die so long as the appellant continued to supply milk to the cheese factory and remained commander of the Fire Corps.

Direct Fish Supplies (Watson Bros.) appealed in respect of Anthony Guy Bonica, single, 21, who was drawn in the sixth Territorial ballot. The appeal was also supported by the Director of National Service.

Bonica, who was represented by Mr Langley, said that he was the "skipper" of one of the two boats at Port Ahuriri engaged in fishing for groper. If he went into camp the boat would have to be laid up. The ballotee said that flat fish could not be sold without a proportion of "round."

To counsel for the Crown, Bonica admitted that the fishing industry experienced a slack period during the summer and that the trawlers were able to cope with the demand.

The ballotee was released for service in December, January and February and the committee also recommended that his partner serve at the same time.

Archibald Douglas Tollemache, a married man with two children, who appealed against going to a Territorial camp on the grounds of undue hardship, said he had joined the Territorial service at the outbreak of war and had attended parades regularly. His appeal was adjourned sine die.

Volunteer Released.

Hilary Arthur Martin, a volunteer for service with the Royal Navy, was ordered to remain with his employer, the Napier Woollen Mills, Ltd., until he was called up, providing that it was not before October 1.

The appeal in respect of Martin was lodged by the Director of National Service on the grounds of public interest.

David Jack Oliver, manager of the woollen mills, said he had not supported the appeal because he realised that the volunteer was particularly keen to join the Navy. Martin, who was a yarn spinner, was a good tradesman and would be difficult to replace. The witness said that he had tried to train another youth, but he was not satisfactory.

"We get the best results from boys who have just left school, because their fingers are nimble," said the witness in describing the difficulties confronting the weaving industry. "In England this work is all done by girls, but they will not look at it here."

Easy-Going Ways Ended

AUSTRALIA DECIDES

Labour Expected To Collaborate

GENERAL SUPPORT

United Press Association—Copyright.
(Received June 18, 6 p.m.)
SYDNEY, June 18.

It is expected that the programme for a more intense war effort announced last night by the Australian Prime Minister (the Rt. Hon. R. G. Menzies) will be generally acceptable to the Labour Party. The Labour leader, Mr Curtin, has withheld comment on the speech, which is likely to be reviewed by the Labour caucus.

The "Sydney Morning Herald," in a leader, says: "We have been lamentably and dangerously slow in awakening to the uncompromising realities of total war, but there need be no more vain regrets for the time wasted in the past if, regardless of party and of class, all Australians will now, at this supreme moment, rally to the call for unstinted work and sacrifice.

All Speed Wanted

"Wartime privation in all but the necessaries of living will now settle upon Australia," the "Herald" adds, "but everyone who appreciates the life-or-death nature of the struggle and the supreme effort needed to win it will ask nothing else of the Government than that it proceed with all possible speed to implement the Prime Minister's declared programme."

The "Daily Telegraph," in a leader, says: "Every Australian who believes that this war is worth winning will agree with the major principles laid down by Mr Menzies. His plans for full mobilisation of the country's industrial resources and for the concentration of the national effort and the national wealth upon war production start from the irrefutable proposition that victory will go to the nation superior in equipment. The Government has declared war on the privilege, disruption, and easy-going ways of peace. It must be a ruthless and impartial war."

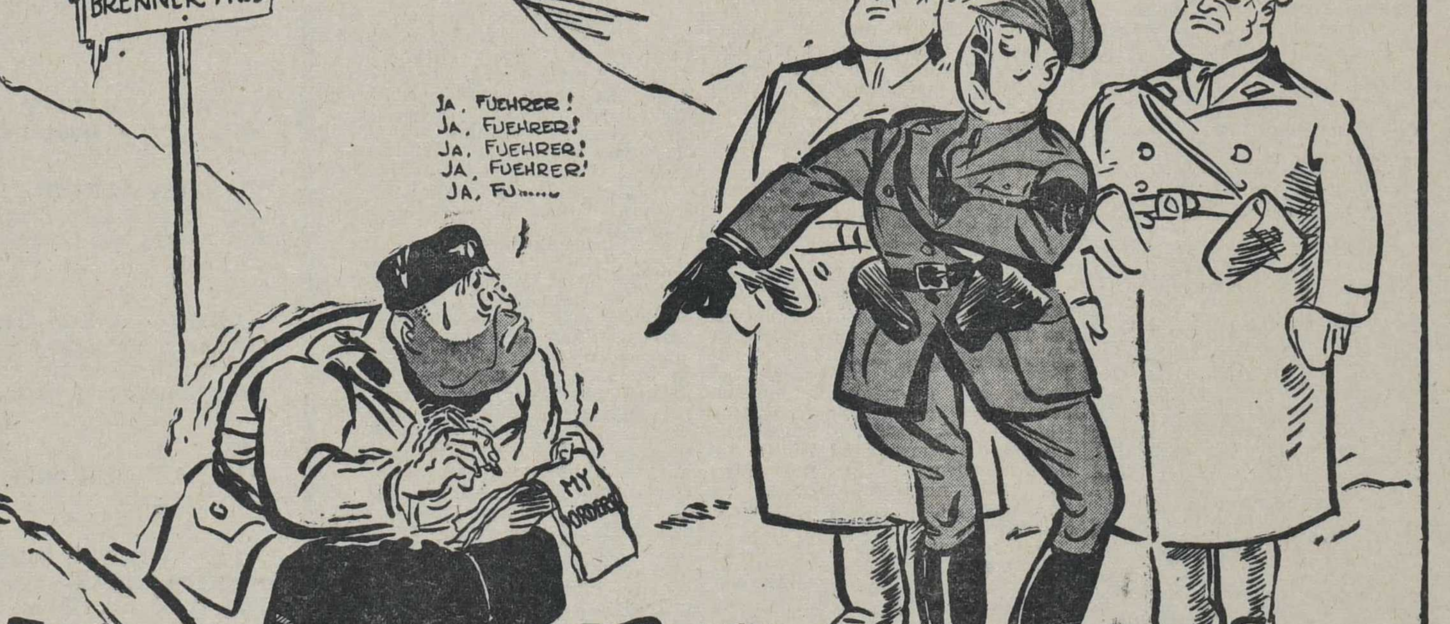
FATAL ACCIDENT AT WELLINGTON

Businessman Knocked Down In Street

By Telegraph—Press Association.
WELLINGTON, June 18.

Severe head injuries, received when he was knocked down by a motor-car last evening, were the cause of the death, three hours later, of a well-known Wellington businessman. He was Mr Joseph Henry Russell, 65, Kilbirnie.

The accident occurred at the Junction of Featherston and Whitmore Streets at 6 o'clock. Mr Russell was general manager of the Farmers' Co-operative Wholesale Fderation (N.Z.) Ltd.



TAKE DICTATION!

VITAL NEED FOR UNITY

MINISTER CONDEMNS BITTERNESS

TIME OF CRISIS

Business Conference Addressed

By Telegraph—Press Association.
WELLINGTON, June 18.

"Unfair, unreasonable and bitter criticisms and the misuse of bodies and organisations which claimed to have no concern with politics for the dissemination of political propaganda are very seriously detracting from the all-in effort New Zealand must make in the present time of grave international crisis," said the Minister of Labour (the Hon. P. C. Webb) when addressing a conference of representatives of a wide field of business and employing interests at Parliament Buildings today.

That bitterness had increased in intensity during recent months, said Mr Webb, and if continued it would defeat the one effort that must be made at present.

It must give place to a spirit of goodwill and co-operation based on a discussion of all the facts and an understanding of all the facts. A continuation of unfair and bitter criticism would undoubtedly imperil the work of the Industrial Emergency Council, a vital and essential link between employer, worker and Government.

Valuable Work.

The council, comprising representatives of both the employers and workers, and of which he was chairman, had done very valuable work for furthering the real war effort of the country.

Never had there been in its deliberations and decisions that element of disharmony so evident to-day in many other quarters. Those who comprised the council gave of their best not only of knowledge but goodwill, but that same spirit had not been evident always elsewhere.

Chambers of Commerce had been guilty, and local bodies had not acted as they should when they allowed organisations to be used for political purposes and to create disharmony which would make co-operation impossible and which imperilled the whole of the work of the council.

"40-Hour Week" Bogey.

The bogey of the 40-hour week had been raised, said the Minister. It was a bogey, for there was no law preventing 80 or even 100 hours a week if there were the need, but the law did say that if more than 40 hours were worked, they must be at overtime rates. The argument was not against the 40 hours, but against the overtime that had to be paid.

After a reference in regard to granting extensions of hours by the council, Mr Webb said that no other part of the British Commonwealth had shown the same readiness and had made the same effort to meet the war position and in no other part had hours been extended without full overtime pay.

New Zealand's Effort.

Mr Webb said that New Zealand's effort was real. It was the only part of the Commonwealth outside Britain where conscription had been introduced.

Only this week it had been stated in a cable from Canada that conscription there would split the country from end to end. Australia would not have it, nor would South Africa.

The New Zealand Government, with its past policy of strongest opposition to conscription, had felt that there must be an all-in national effort and had changed its policy. Nobody could look at the war situation and feel that anything less than the best was enough, and the best could not be achieved unless goodwill and co-operation were promoted.

No Suppression.

The Government had no wish to suppress criticism, but if the sort of bitter criticism that had recently sprung up continued and spread, the country would be fighting like Kilkenny cats, and co-operation, goodwill and effort would disappear.

Mr Webb said that perhaps he himself had been to blame on occasion. He also mentioned an instance where certain members of the Labour movement had entered a businessman's office. Such action they disowned, said Mr Webb.

Unwise and misguided speeches and remarks by either side should not be seized upon to disrupt harmony and goodwill.

Action and Results.

Following a discussion, the acting-Prime Minister (the Hon. W. Nash) said that the question was what action would give the best results. Whatever that road was they should follow it. There was no need to argue about the 40-hour week. The main argument was the rate of pay.

If by working longer hours men could be released for more important work, an extension should be considered. He was certain that if those with antagonistic views could get together more often there would be a better understanding and more goodwill in the community.

"We can find a way to unity, but don't let us force the issue; that may create greater disunity," he said.

National Committee?

Mr Gordon Fraser, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, suggested setting up a national committee to bring about greater unity.

Mr Webb said that the suggestion was sound and he would look into it, and if a committee could be set up to do the job, that would be done.

Memoranda

The Fernhill Patriotic Committee will hold a dance in the Fernhill Hall this evening, music being supplied by McKay's Orchestra. Proceeds are for the committee's funds.

Bunny Otene's specialty band will provide music for the Mangateretere W.D.F.U. dance in the Assembly Hall, Hastings, on Saturday night. Proceeds are to buy soldiers' parcels.

A meeting will be held at Te Awanga on Saturday for the formation of a Te Awanga Domain Board.

LACK OF WAR EFFORT IS "VIEWED WITH ALARM"

Farmers' Union Speaker Claims Home Guard Equipment Is Useless

A resolution "viewing with alarm the small progress being made in New Zealand's war effort" was carried without dissent at yesterday's meeting of the Hawke's Bay Provincial Executive of the Farmers' Union at Hastings.

In putting forward the resolution Mr J. H. Winter referred to the lack of adequate measures for home defence.

"Many of the members of our Home Guard have no rifles," he said, "and in any case rifles would be of no use in modern warfare. The men might as well be given running shoes."

The speaker urged that "every blast furnace in the country should be utilised for the production of such weapons as trench mortars.

"The humblest soldier knows more about war than the present Government," he continued. "They were elected on a peace-time programme and have a colossal cheek to order others to do things they will not do themselves."

Mr Winter urged the importance of holding the elections when they fall due, in order that voters might exercise their constitutional rights. There were some able men in Cabinet, but there were others who should not be there, he added.

Rights Still Exist

The chairman (Mr N. R. Jamieson, Ongaonga) said that the people's constitutional rights still existed in spite of the war, and he did not think the resolution could speed up developments.

The motion was carried without further discussion.

A previous motion by Mr Winter supporting the Upper Hutt branch of the Labour Party in calling on the Government not to form a coalition was ruled out by the chairman on a point of order raised by Mr Harris, who said that it was a direct negative to a resolution carried at a recent meeting of the executive.

Objectors And Aliens

PLAN SUGGESTED

Manufacturers Are Alarmed

By Telegraph—Press Association.
WELLINGTON, June 18.

The council of the Wellington Manufacturers' Association last night unanimously decided to support the attitude of the Christchurch branch of the Returned Soldiers' Association in urging the Government to implement the regulations for alternative service by conscientious objectors and asking for an immediate definition of the contions of service and urging that the alternative service be at soldiers' rates of pay.

It was recognised that in the case of objectors now being paid for example, £1 a day, this would cause an anomaly. It was decided to urge that the remaining 13/- be made available to patriotic funds.

The president of the association (Mr G. H. Jackson) said that there was no desire on the part of the council to be dogmatic, but the question had been brought forward purely from the commonsense viewpoint.

Aliens In Government

The retention in employment of enemy aliens, particularly in Government departments, was also discussed and the suggestion was made that they should be interned. Businessmen, it was stated, were becoming concerned at persons being left at large or working in important positions.

The feeling of the council was that no general statement of assurance by the Government was enough. It was all very well for the Attorney-General to say that such things were being investigated, but the fact remained that aliens were still working for the State.

Fatal Smash On Highway

STOCK-BUYER KILLED

By Telegraph—Press Association.
WANGANUI, June 17.

A well-known Waverley stock-buyer, Mr Henry Barker English, employed by Thomas Borthwick and Sons, was killed early this evening when the car he was driving failed to negotiate a bend in the main road near Kai Iwi, ten miles north of Wanganui.

Mr English had been attending a stock sale in Wanganui and was returning to Waverley in a three-seater coupe accompanied by two passengers.

About 50 yards north of the Kai Iwi bridge the car failed to take a corner, mounted a bank on the left hand side of the road and overturned.

Mr English was thrown through a side window and pinned by the head between the car and the bitumen. The car was lifted by jacks, but Mr English died after being placed in an ambulance.

The passengers in the car were uninjured. Mr English was married and at the time of the accident his wife was travelling ahead of him in another car.

N.Z. FEDERATION OF LABOUR

By Telegraph—Press Association.
WELLINGTON, June 18.

The quarterly meeting of the National Council of the New Zealand Federation of Labour opened in Wellington to-day.

The national secretary (Mr F. D. Cornwell) said to-night that "ordinary domestic business" had been discussed.

When asked whether any consideration had been given to the current controversy on the 40-hour week Mr Cornwell replied that the subject had not even been mentioned yet.

The meeting will continue to-morrow.

Anglo-American Gift

By Telegraph—Press Association.
WELLINGTON, June 18.

Expressing the appreciation of the Government and the people of New Zealand for the gift of an additional five ambulances from the British and American Ambulance Corps, the acting-Prime Minister (the Hon. W. Nash), to whom the ambulances were delivered by the Governor-General (Sir Cyril Newall) to-day, made comment on the American aid to the British Commonwealth.

He said that a fence at the top of a cliff was better than an ambulance below. In future he believed that America would not supply an ambulance at the bottom nor help to build the fence at the top, but would help to make a road round the cliff, so that neither the fence nor the ambulance would be needed.

PREFERENCE FOR POORER LAND

BASIS OF ALLOTTING FERTILISER

FARMERS' VIEW

Division Of Opinion Evident

A division of opinion as to the best method of allocating fertiliser supplies was revealed when the subject was discussed at yesterday's meeting of the Hawke's Bay Provincial Executive of the Farmers' Union, held at Hastings.

Mr W. H. Hartree (Puketapu) said that the farmer who had broken in second class or third class land should get preference in the allocation of supplies, since it was essential that this type of land should be top-dressed if it were to be kept in production at all.

On the other hand much of the better land would not suffer if it went without fertiliser for a year or so. Very often the owner top-dressed mainly in order to avoid taxation.

The classifying of land would be a difficult task, said the chairman (Mr N. R. Jamieson). He was given to understand that at least half the normal quantity of superphosphate would be available, and most of the country would not suffer serious effects after two or three years of rationing at this rate.

Would Go Out Of Business

Mr J. H. Winter (Tutira) agreed with Mr Hartree's view and said that if the land in his district went without fertiliser for two years it would be finished. Not only the farmers' livelihood, but large sums of public money invested in soldiers' farms would also be sacrificed, he said.

A discussion on the value of substitute manures followed, a variety of opinions being expressed.

Mr Hartree's motion to be forwarded as a remit to the head office of the union, was eventually carried.

Cheaper Meat

A remit from the Puketapu branch urged that steps be taken to have meat made available to the public at a cheaper rate, especially in the larger cities, with a view to increasing local consumption.

Mr R. E. Talbot asked how it was suggested that the loss should be made up if the meat were to be sold below cost.

"We are at war now, wool is making a good price, and we can afford a small loss on the meat," replied Mr Hartree. "We should be eternally damned if we waste good food."

Mr Talbot said he agreed with the principle expressed, but since they were trying to persuade the Government to take the surplus at market rates they did not want to undermine their position.

The Minister of Marketing was well aware of the position, and had stated that no meat would be destroyed, said the chairman.

The remit was declared lost on the voices.

Breaking-in Land

The Puketapu branch also sponsored a remit drawing attention to a statement by the former Minister of Agriculture (the Hon. F. Langstone) requesting farmers not to break in new land except in exceptional cases. The branch said that much new land was being broken in by the Government, and asked how this would affect the allotment of fertiliser. Would the Government get preference over the private farmer?

After some discussion it was decided on the suggestion of Mr Talbot to write inquiring whether the Lands Department was conforming to the Government's policy of not opening up new country.

APPRECIATION TO BE EXPRESSED

Services Of Mr And Mrs G. A. Maddison

A move for public recognition of the services of Mr and Mrs G. A. Maddison, late Mayor and Mayoress of Hastings, was made at a public meeting last night. An organisation was set up for the purpose.

"I believe we all feel that we are under some moral obligation publicly to thank Mr and Mrs Maddison for what they have done for this town of Hastings," said the Mayor (Mr A. I. Rainbow). "This is not the time for me to outline the services they have given, which are well-known to you all."

The following resolution was passed: "That this meeting, having full appreciation of the services of Mr and Mrs Maddison, considers that some suitable public acknowledgment of their long and faithful service be made."

A committee was set up as follows: Messrs J. F. Jones, W. A. Whitlock, P. J. Priest (R.S.A.), G. Roach (Rotary Club), W. C. Griffiths (Retailers' Association), A. Kirkpatrick (sports bodies), A. Lowe (Labour organisations) and Mesdames W. G. Stead (Community Club) and A. C. A. Hyde (Towns women's Guild). Mr V. A. Thomson is secretary and Mr A. J. C. Runciman is treasurer.

"It's a queer thing, but some men can't tell good tobacco from bad. Anything will do so long as it's tobacco. Most smokers, however, know what's what. The ideal tobacco should possess not only fine flavour and aroma, but admit of free indulgence without giving the smoker a raw throat or a sore tongue. And such tobaccos are not quite as common as postage stamps. But happily for New Zealand lovers of the weed, we have here, grown and manufactured within the Dominion, tobacco fully answering the requirements of even the most fastidious smoker. The fame of the true toasted brands has now spread, be it noted, far beyond the confines of New Zealand, and both for flavour and fragrance they compare favourably with any leaf coming to us from over the water, while their purity (assured by toasting) is such that they may be smoked with impunity, as freely as desired. The original and only genuine toasted tobaccos are Cut Plug No. 10 (Bullshead), Cavendish, Navy Cut No. 3 (Bulldog), Riverhead Gold and Desert Gold. Lots of imitations, though!

Man Who Saved St. Paul's

CORPORAL DECORATED

Removed Giant Bomb From Cathedral

TALK WITH THE KING

United Press Association—Copyright.
(Received June 18, 7.35 p.m.)
RUGBY, June 17.

Corporal Wyllie, of the Royal Engineers, a member of the bomb-disposal squad that removed the giant bomb from St. Paul's Cathedral, was decorated by the King with the George Cross at an investiture held this week at Buckingham Palace.

The official account of Corporal Wyllie's gallantry stated that he was of "intense energy and set an example to his comrades."

The King asked him: "How long did it take the squad to get the bomb out?"

"Three days, your Majesty," replied Corporal Wyllie.

At the same investiture the King decorated Lieutenant Richard Moore, R.N.V.R., with the George Cross for gallantry and undaunted devotion to duty.

In addition to these two men the King decorated eight women and 196 men with the George Medal. Most of these came from the civil defence services and the police but there were members of the three services and the Home Guard.

Heroism Aboard Ferry

BRAVE STEWARDESS

Boatload Of Children Guarded

British Official Wireless.
(Received June 18, 6 p.m.)
RUGBY, June 17.

Survivors from the Irish Channel steamer, St. Patrick, which was bombed and sunk by German aircraft, told of the heroism and bravery of the wireless operator and of a stewardess.

The wireless room was wrecked, but the wireless operator, Mr T. N. Campbell, after groping his way in complete darkness to the wireless emergency set, stood among the debris and sent off two messages for assistance.

Directly the ship was attacked, a stewardess, Miss Owen, at once collected women and children from their cabins and led them to the boat-deck. When the boats were launched, she took charge of a boatload of children and looked after them until they were picked up and taken to port.

WARNING GIVEN BY ENGINEER

Electrical Accidents

FAULTY WIRES' DANGER

Three Fatalities

Concern at electrical accidents involving consumers' outdoor wires and the need for a more frequent inspection of installations are expressed by the chief electrical engineer to the Public Works Department (Mr F. T. M. Kissel) in a circular letter received by local authorities in Hawke's Bay.

Reports of three recent fatal accidents, says Mr Kissel's letter, have caused the department some concern, as in all three instances the vital factor has been the hazardous condition of aerial conductors to outbuildings or consumers' premises.

"It is evident," the letter says, "that the depreciation of the covering of outdoor conductors is more rapid than that of indoor conductors.

"The circumstances contributing to the three accidents mentioned indicate that the five-yearly period for reinspection of consumers' installations does not effectively guard against the introduction of hazards in aerial conductors, and it is felt that a more frequent examination of these should be made.

"Any experienced linesman should be competent to carry out such work. It is hoped that supply authorities will immediately take appropriate steps to guard against the danger existing."

To assist in educating the public, a later circular was supplied by Mr Kissel giving a resume of the circumstances of electrical accidents notified to the department in the last 14 months. The resume covered 32 accidents, 14 fatal.

"Incidentally," Mr Kissel adds, "it is worth stressing the fact that most of the accidents were avoidable. Absent-mindedness, carelessness, and, in some instances, lack of reasonable precautions were responsible."

DANGERS OF NIGHT DRIVING

Auckland Union To Discuss Blackout

By Telegraph—Press Association.
AUCKLAND, June 18.

The executive of the Auckland Drivers' Union last night decided to call a meeting of bus and service car drivers at the Trades Hall on Sunday to consider the effect of the new lighting restrictions.

The secretary of the union (Mr L. G. Matthews) said to-day that the drivers of passenger vehicles were seriously considering suggesting that night driving be abolished in the interests of public safety.

Escape Of Two Women

BORSTAL INMATES

Sentences Imposed At Wellington

FALSE DECLARATION

By Telegraph—Press Association.
WELLINGTON, June 18.

Two women who escaped in company from the Borstal Institution at Point Howard were dealt with by Mr J. L. Stout, S.M., to-day.

One, who had theft charges attached, was sentenced to six months' hard labour. The other, Elaine Josephine Shingleton, 19, a domestic, was charged, with Ronald Edmund Shingleton, of making false declarations under the Marriage Act.

It was alleged that after she escaped she persuaded a young man to marry her, but in stating this fact, Detective Sergeant McLennan said he did not think any good purpose would be served by putting the country to the expense of sending these people for trial, and he would not call any evidence.

The charge was dismissed.

For escaping from the women's Borstal the woman's term was extended by six months.

Sentenced To Be Deported

"No Extenuating Circumstances"

WANT TO GO HOME

CHINESE FIREMEN

By Telegraph—Press Association.
WELLINGTON, June 18.

After Mr J. L. Stout, S.M., had sentenced two Chinese firemen who had deserted their ship to deportation, the interpreter said that there were extenuating circumstances.

Mr Stout: There can't be any extenuating circumstances. They have landed here without a permit.

The interpreter said that while in English waters their ship was bombed and raked with machine-gun fire, bringing home to them the danger they were in. They thought of their families and intended to get back to China as soon as they could.

Mr Stout: That is just what we want them to do.

The men, who were located working in market gardens at Levin, are to be kept in custody until deportation up to a period of six months.

The Genius Of A Pickpocket

CLEVER TECHNIQUE

Dexterity Turned In The Wrong Direction

MAGISTRATE'S LESSON

"Our gaols are filled with perverted geniuses," a famous Judge once said. He was right. Take the expert pickpocket. What couldn't he do if the dexterity of his hand and the amazing synchronisation of brain and muscle were applied to legitimate purposes with the same calm assurance with which he robs his victim!

I have unhappy reason to remember one special demonstration of the practised pickpocket's skill and cunning, writes a London magistrate. I have dealt with a number of his kind and, while deploring their crimes, cannot withhold admiration for the art and technique with which they commit them.

One day a few years ago the last in my list of cases was a clever pickpocket. I was compelled to discharge him on a technical ground. It occurred to me that I might learn something about his methods. So I had him brought to my room, and strongly advised him to give up his life of crime. But it did no good.

The Watch Vanished

I asked him to show me how he did his "work," and he agreed to do so. Near the Court was a park-like open space. We arranged that he was to go to the far end of a particular path—about a hundred yards from the entrance. When he saw me he was to intercept me and snatch my gold watch and chain.

Immediately I got inside the open space we saw each other. When I met him he whipped out my watch and chain in a jiffy. If I hadn't known he was to make an attempt to steal it, I should not have known that my watch had gone.

I turned round to speak to him, but he was running away from me as fast as he could pelt. And I am still without my watch and chain!

So much for my pickpocket. Other crooks with a touch of genius devise methods of extracting money from the public without breaking the law at all.

After 1918, for example, the British Government had immense surplus stocks of all kinds. Included in the collection were thousands of Army Bibles. An enterprising individual bought them all for a song. Then he advertised: "For two shillings only—a book that every newly-married couple should have." He sold the lot.

"Complete Blackout"

Then there was the man who advertised that he would "cure red noses for the small sum of one shilling." Many thousands of people sent their shillings for the remedy. And what they got was a printed note, which ran: "Drink more—your nose will turn blue."

Recently in a criminal charge it was disclosed that the prisoner had received a considerable sum of money from replies to an advertisement which told how householders could be informed of how to have "a complete blackout of all your house" for a modest half-crown. It proved to be—on a typewritten sheet: "Don't switch on the light."

What is and what is not a false pretence to render the maker of it amenable to the criminal law is not always easy to determine.

ECONOMIC STATUS OF GREENLAND

THE WORLD'S LARGEST ISLAND

ROLE IN STRUGGLE

Catapulted into the forefront of the present world struggle by the recent American-Danish agreement providing for its protection by the United States, Greenland has a strategic position in the North Atlantic that someday may give it a decisive role in the democratic struggle against totalitarianism. The following survey of the vast predominantly Arctic region was prepared by the United States Division of International Economy of the Commerce Department's Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce:

The Danish colony of Greenland is the largest island in the world. With a total of 850,000 square miles it is almost as large as the United States east of the Mississippi. An immense inland ice field, however, covers over 695,000 square miles. The distance from the southernmost part to the northernmost part of the island is about 1647 miles.

All Fish and Hunt

The population of Greenland is approximately 18,000 of whom some 500 are Danes and the remainder Greenlanders of predominantly Eskimo race. Approximately 25 per cent. of the population is concentrated in the Julianehaab district in south-west Greenland, about 6 per cent. on the east coast and in the far north, and the remainder along the west coast south of 74 degrees north latitude. A large percentage of the Danes speak English but the great majority of the Greenlanders know only Greenlandic, a dialect of the Eskimo language. The population is almost 100 per cent. literate.

Fishing and hunting are the principal and almost the only occupations of most Greenlanders. Food, clothing and export products, principally codfish and whale and seal blubber, are obtained from the sea. A coal mine on Disko Island in North Greenland produces some 8000 tons of low grade lignite per year. Sheep raising on a small scale is carried on in the south-west. The most important industry is the mining of cryolite, a mineral used principally as a flux in the manufacture of aluminium although some is consumed by the enamel, glass and ceramics industries.

As a Market

The principal export is cryolite, annual shipments of which for the past three years have averaged in the neighbourhood of 50,000 tons with a value of between 2,000,000 dollars and 3,000,000 dollars. Other exports which usually total some 500,000 dollars in market value, include whale and seal blubber, dried and salted codfish, hides and furs, and other fish products. Imports, averaging 1,000,000 dollars to 1,500,000 dollars in value include cereals and other food products, textiles, wood and petroleum products, iron and machinery.

United States trade statistics for 1940 show imports from Greenland valued at 1,327,500 dollars and exports valued at 759,500 dollars.

Trade in all leading articles of export and import is monopolised by the Government. Under normal conditions all exports (except a portion of the cryolite production) are sent to Denmark and imports are shipped exclusively from that country. However, under present abnormal conditions most of the foreign trade is being carried on with the United States.

First Half Of Jumping Season Completed

PROMISING HURDLERS

No Padishahs Or Clarion Calls In The Offing

(By The Barb)

The first half of the 1941 steeplechase racing season has concluded and nothing outstanding among the recruits to hurdling or 'chasing has been discovered, but with two important meetings like Trentham and Riccarton yet to be decided, there is the possibility of a new champion being found.

At Auckland Streamline was easily the best all-rounder, but as he had previously won the Great Northern Hurdles his class was already established.

Of recent years the Dominion has produced two high class performers over jumps in Padishah and Clarion Call. To-day, even the most optimistic judges of horseflesh could hardly declare that there is a horse in the country to-day to be handicapped within a stone of either or to have a chance of defeating them over a stiff course like Riccarton. Unfortunately Padishah has finished racing, through an accident, while Clarion Call, although in work, may not race again this jumping season.

It is the unanimous opinion among racing critics that Streamline is at present the best all-rounder jumped in the Dominion. Last year he won the big hurdles at Ellerslie while early this month he ran second in the same event to Esperance Bay and then on the second day he collected the Great Northern Steeplechase, from a moderate field. The writer has been told that Streamline should have won the big hurdles again this season but for his rider, G. Ridgway, not being well. It will be remembered that Ridgway was in a bad way when he weighed-in and had to have medical attention.

Streamline is a well-bred gelding of an exceptional type. His performances at the last two Auckland winter meetings show him up in a good light, but with these performances out of his list his turf career has been only mediocre. He may race at Wellington, but it is hardly probable as his owner, Mr Grigg, is very anxious to win the New Zealand Grand National Steeplechase, so Streamline may be specially prepared for this race.

BRIDEGROOM'S CLASS

Bridegroom has proved only a good second rater during his short jumping career. He has always been a good fencer, but has yet to win a race among the best class. This season, by winning at Waikato, he brought himself into prominence for the Great Northern. In the latter race he looked a winner two fences from home, but over the concluding stages Streamline outstayed the Poverty Bay-bred gelding. He is by Mimetic from Bridal Veil, so, as far as his sire is concerned, he should have staying ability, but on his dam's side there is a little doubt.

THE WANGANUI VICTRIX

The Wanganui Steeplechase winner, Lady Callaghan, may have improved this season, but prior to her win at Awapuni on May 31 she was only a good hack and hunter. The class behind her in her recent success was only ordinary but this mare, being a good fencer, will always have a chance as in many an important jumping event the most fancied have fallen to an honest jumper.

Smiling Thru' is only average, yet she collected a first prize at Ellerslie the last day when a poor field contested the June Steeplechase.

At Napier and Hastings there were seen in action over the country Cherry Plum, Anini and Birkology, all promising and any one could have won the last day at Auckland or the Wanganui Steeplechase, at least that is my opinion.

Down at Dunedin the pony, Whirr, was the outstanding 'chaser, but lack of height may tell against him as he is sure to be awarded the best part of 11st. in any cross-country event down south with the exception, of course, of the National meeting.

Taking a line through the cross-country events run so far, there is nothing outstanding but before final judgement, Trentham and Riccarton will have to be awaited.

HURDLERS BETTER

On analysing the hurdle horses they appear more likely to prove up to the standard. The Great Northern saw the well handicapped Sky Blue gelding, Esperance Bay, the winner. He has been racing for the best part of two years over hurdles prior to that win, but with the exception of when he met a poor lot on the final day in the principal hurdle event at Riccarton last August his successes were achieved only among the moderate. In the Great Northern he was always there and survived at the finish only by a nose over Streamline. He may have been lucky to win that event, as Streamline was unlucky. At the last fence both King Rey and Gold Spot fell, when just ahead of Esperance Bay, so that they might have beaten the winner. However, he survived the two and a-half miles without a mistake so, on the day, was the rightful winner. His other start at the meeting saw him brought down by another contestant so that time Dame Luck was against him.

MOST PROMISING.

Dividend (Lord Warden-Divinette) won two of the three chief hurdle races at Auckland in no half hearted manner. He is one of the most promising hurdlers out this season and will be among the favourites for the Wellington Winter Hurdles or the Grand National Hurdles. Dividend appears able to handle any type of going. He, on his distaff side, traces back to an old Te Mahanga mare, Mongonui (Carbine-Moonga), who was held on lease from the late Mr William Douglas by the well-known Hastings owner-trainer Mr J. M. Cameron, who raced her for five years about 30 years ago. Mongonui was a well-bred mare, but was only a moderate turf performer, while at the stud was no success. One of her progeny, Divinia (by the St. Leger horse Sylvia Park) eventually was purchased by a South Islander and it is from this mare that a few decent jumpers have originated. Divinia herself was a "crank" on a racecourse and it was for this reason the Te Mahanga Stud, no doubt disposed of her.

Disappointments at Auckland were King Rey and Gold Spot. The latter is a new recruit to the ranks of hurdlers and on his showings should develop into a first-class performer. For a novice he ran a capital race in the Great Northern until he fell at the last hurdle.

FOXIANA THE GOODS.

The Hunting Song gelding Foxiana outclassed the field in the Wanganui Century Hurdle race. His form previously had been promising and his ability has not yet been really tested. Excellent in the mud, he is going to be one of the toughest in the forthcoming Trentham and W.R.C. Winter Hurdle races, no matter what is pitted up against him. He, like Dividend, comes from an old Te Mahanga family as his grand-dam Tortulla (winner of the N.Z. Cup) was by Torpedo, son of Musket, from Honeysuckle, a Colonial un-numbered mare and a member of the Sharkie family. Foxiana is a splendid jumper and it will not surprise if he proves to be the Dominion's best hurdle performer.

DUNEDIN HURDLERS.

The hurdle winners at the recent Dunedin meetings were all novices prior to that fixture. The first day in the chief "batten" event the Auckland-bred gelding Mungatoon, on a heavy track, gave an attractive display to win by 20 lengths. This was a very fair effort on paper and on that he was selected the next day as a "sitter," but third was his best. On the third day he again failed to produce his first day's form. He may yet make the first grade but his form was hardly consistent at Wingatui. He is good in the mud and at Trentham may collect a stake. At present the Trentham course is very holding, a state it seldom gets into until later in June, so there is every indication that early next July the course will be, as usual, heavy.

The Balboa gelding, Half and Half, won two of the three hurdle races on the Dunedin winter programme. He is a fair sort and might go on and win one of the remaining big hurdle races this jumping season.

MINOR WINNERS.

Pertinax, who won the Greenlane Steeplechase and the Hunt Cup at the recent Auckland meeting, is promising as steeplechaser. He is only four years of age—young for a cross-country entrant—and in both his successes gave impressive displays of fencing and courage. Pertinax is a half-brother by Lord Quex, to Luna Lux. He was purchased by Dr McGregor Grant, of Auckland, with the intention of making him a 'chaser. He fell on the third day at Ellerslie, but all horses make mistakes at times.

The ten-year-old Lucullus gelding, Wharemanea, won twice at Auckland, but on the third day was surprisingly defeated by the moderate Bisquit. The former, despite his age, may have to be taken into consideration if taken to Wellington next month.

Travail (Musketoon-Bonfrill) won the Hack Hurdles at Wanganui the first day and came out on the second to secure the June Hurdles, beating Great Quex, who subsequently won the Hawke's Bay Hurdles. Here is another promising hurdler who, like Dividend and Foxiana, goes back to an old Te Mahanga family in Rivulet, a member of the famous No. 14 family, Mermaid. Travail has not yet met strong opposition but his Wanganui wins brings him into consideration for future important hurdle races.

The jumping events from now on will be interesting, especially among the hurdlers and the Trentham meeting will see opinions well divided and there is every likelihood of the Winter Hurdles being the most interesting for a few years. Esperance Bay, Dividend, Foxiana, Gold Spot, Half and Half, Mungatoon, Travail and many others should make a race well worth seeing when they clash, as the going should, on form, suit the lot.

MANAWATU WINTER FIXTURE

BATTLE GAIN FIT

Birkology Expected In Steeplechase

(By THE BARB)

Sixteen horses will probably leave here to-morrow morning for the Manawatu Racing Club's winter meeting on the Awapuni racecourse on Saturday and Monday. Included will be the Poverty Bay representative, Jungle King and Birkology, who have been quartered here since the Napier Park meeting.

Malacca ran so well in the hurdle race last Saturday at Hastings that he is being selected to run prominently this trip. He ran a creditable second to Gay Fox in the Whakatu Hurdles and should never have been deprived of first prize. The company on Saturday will not be as strong as he last met and, with the benefit of his last race it looks as if Mr G. A. Wilton's chestnut must be a serious consideration. Awapuni promises to be heavy going but that should not affect this Arausio gelding.

Son and Heir now goes back from steeplechasing to hurdling. His form last spring over hurdles was up to the average with his best effort, when he won on the second day of the Hawke's Bay spring meeting. He is not a popular selection for Saturday, but the going will not retard his action.

Jungle King when second to Rollicker the first day at Napier was lucky, after Malacca, Siegall and Royal Stuart had fallen at the second fence. However, on the second day Jungle King, with no mishaps to any others, was again second, finishing resolutely. On these two seconds, Jungle King is a light-weight possibility.

Birkology is in great order to tackle the Manawatu Steeplechase. It was unfortunate that his gear came to bits at Hastings last week, but with no accidents the robust chestnut gelding should run a great race. He is a sound if not brilliant fencer and has more than the average speed for a 'chaser on the flat. He is by Psychology (son of Tracery) from Birkarole by Birkdale from Barcarole by Martian. Backed by such stout lineage this gelding should stay all day.

Cherry Plum looks as fresh as a daisy and worked exceptionally well on Tuesday and Wednesday mornings. Usually a good jumper he will be expected to keep his end up. He has been assessed, perhaps, a little higher than he should.

Dozie Boy was walking a little tenderly yesterday morning after his pace work and it has not yet been decided whether he should race at Awapuni or not, but he will not race if not entirely to the satisfaction of G. W. B. Greene.

Laughing Song, after four mediocre showings in hack races at Napier and Hastings, has now been accepted for in the Manawatu Winter Cup. She will appreciate the drop in the weights, but it is difficult to see her having a chance against Du Maurier and company.

Limbohm has been accepted for in the hurdles but there is not much likelihood of him being present as, since pulling up lame in the Whakatu Hurdles last Saturday at Hastings, this aged Limond gelding has not been on the track.

Dainty Dell, now awarded 9.0 in the hack sprint, is a definite starter on Saturday. She is in form but an analysis of the field shows that the opposition is better than at Hastings. However, she won convincingly last Saturday.

Three from here will contest the sprint run over six furlongs—Gayest Son, Diana Tetrix and Battle Gain.

Gayest Son is considered by this writer a poor bet on anything but a firm track. Last week he galloped in company with Rhodes and Kinkajou on the Hastings track with the going soft, but not holding, yet these two moderates beat him by three or four lengths. Again on Tuesday of this week he was not impressive when galloping with Battle Gain, who could have licked him by 50 yards.

Diana Tetrix runs a merry seven furlongs and although she is not confidently recommended, will run an honest race and it would not in the least surprise if she won a race on the trip.

Battle Gain is in rare buckle and of the trio engaged in the open seven from here on Saturday is the pick. This Gainscourt horse was not raced at Hastings, but is none the worse for that as he has just returned from the Egmont-Waikato-Auckland trip. There will be support for him from this centre on Saturday.

In the seven furlongs hack race field four come from Hastings stables—Catanach, Queen Cardine, Kinkajou and Stella Lux.

Catanach has never run a poor race, but has only two races to his credit. Touched in the wind (he has been operated on) the day must be right for him to produce his best.

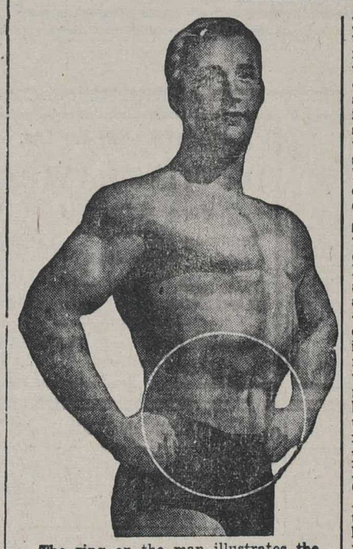
Kinkajou, after many tries, won her first race at the last Otaki meeting, but since then her form has been anything but good. She is reputed to be at her best on a holding track, so may crack it for another win at Awapuni, but she is no recommendation of this writer.

Queen Cardine was first and third at the two Hastings winter meetings, but what finished behind her could be purchased cheap. However, she fights on, and in going that might not suit all is not altogether to be discarded.

Stella Lux is an improved mare in outward appearances and may bring off a mild surprise nay day.

WHY YOU SHOULD TAKE THIS "INTERNAL BATH"

BODY POISONS SWEPT AWAY QUICKLY, SAFELY, NATURALLY



The ring on the man illustrates the Liver, Kidneys, Stomach, Intestines, Bladder and Bowels, which are all cleansed by the "internal bath" action of R.U.R.

From body poisons spring the twisting, torturing pain of rheumatism and arthritis . . . the dull eyes and muddy skin of liver troubles . . . the headaches and "half-asleep" feeling of constipation. Inner stagnation causes the "getting up nights" and pain of Kidney and Bladder troubles, the belching, gassy misery and pain of indigestion and acidosis.

Take R.U.R. as directed, and it gently reaches every eliminative organ of the body, cleaning out wastes and poisons; toning liver, kidneys, stomach, bladder and bowels to normal functions again. R.U.R. forms no habits—it is the "internal bath," different and more complete in its action than any ordinary mixture. R.U.R. does not drug the system—it detoxifies it, rids it of poisons, makes the blood alkaline, and brings back that "jumping out of skin feeling."

Because it contains a Laxative, Liver Stimulant, Kidney Cleanser, Blood Purifier and Acid Corrective, R.U.R. gets at the root cause of 19 out of 20 human disorders. No matter what you have wrong, R.U.R. is bound to do you good.

IN THE NEW LISTERINE TOOTH PASTE

At touch of saliva and brush, Luster-Foam detergent foams into an aromatic "bubble-bath" of almost unbelievable penetrating power . . . consequently it surges into and cleans hundreds of tiny pits, cracks and fissures seldom before reached . . . the very areas where, many authorities say, from 75% to 98% of decay starts.

As the Luster-Foam "bubble-bath" surges over the gums and teeth, here is what it does—(1) Sweeps away food deposits. (2) Obliterates dull, stained film. (3) Combats dangerous acid ferments. (4) Reduces the number of decay germs. What other tooth paste so thoroughly fights decay these four ways? If you want teeth with lustre that dazzles, get the New Listerine Tooth Paste.
