Scenes Of Wildest Enthusiam Among The Russian People

LONDON, June 24.

A great stirring-up throughout Russia is indicated from various sources. Crowds cheer departing soldiers from the stations, and rousing marches are played. The people of Moscow see companies marching along the wide boulevards, and men, including those over age, are rushing to enlist.

Anti-Nazi films banned since the Russo-German non-aggression pact reappearing in the cinemas include "The Soldier Returns," which is the story of the revolution campaign against the Germans in the Ukraine in 1918-1919; also the famous story of "Professor Mamlock," a brilliant Aryan surgeon who leaves Germany because he is sickened at seeing Jewish surgeons in his clinic expelled and ill-treated.

The newspaper "Pravda" stirs up the workers, saying: "It is well known that Hitler's New Order consists of oppression of the working masses of whole countries, while Germany herself is a great concentration camp."

Russiam Claims

A Moscow communique says that during yesterday, the enemy unsuccessfully directed his main effort towards Siaulai, Kaunas, Grodno, Wolkows, Kobryn, Vladimir Volynsk, Ravarusska and Brody. The enemy this morning pierced Russiar territory in the Siaulai and Ravarusska directions, but were driven back beyond the State frontier.

"Our artillery fire in the Siaulai area destroyed 300 tanks," continues the Moscow communique. "The enemy forced our covering units in the Bialystok and Brest Litovsk directions to withdraw after severe fighting and occupied Kolno, Lomza and Brest Litovsk.

"Our air force and anti-aircraft guns shot down 51 German 'planes. We took prisoner 5000 officers and men, and 76 'planes were shot down on Sunday."

All the towns mentioned in the Moscow communiue from Siaulai to Brody are on a line from Lithuania to South Poland.

Armoured Drive

While hundreds of R.A.F. 'planes bilitzed German bases and industrial centres in the west, the Reichswehr in the east threw in all types of tanks and armoured vehicles in a vigorous drive to breach the Russian main lines. According to the Ankara correspondent of the London "Evening Standard," the Russians are extensively using parachutists, many of whom have been dropped at various points for the purpose of sabotage behind the German lines.

The German High Command's latest communique claims that operations against the Red Army are progressing favourably and according to plan, and adds: "German E-boats (motor torpedo-boats) penetrated Soviet coastal waters in the Eastern Baltic, sinking one patrol boat and four merchant ships."

General Marshall said that Congress would be asked for funds to add 100,000 more men to the regular army,making a total of 1,800,000.

The idea widely put about by Dr Goebbels that Britain is on the verge of starvation is ridiculed by an American girl, Miss Jacqueline Cochrane, the first woman pilot to bring a bomber across the Atlantic. Soon after her arrival in Britain she said: "I'm not a heavy eater, but I can use a bit of food, and I must say I've had all I want here. AMERICA RECOGNISES Soviet Prepared To Pay For All Assistance From Britain

(United Press Association-Copyright.) (Received June 24, 9.30 p.m.)

LONDON, June 24.

Any help will be gladly accepted on a business basis, with payment for goods and services, was the Soviet's reply to the British offer of help which the Russian Ambassador (M. Maisky) gave the Hon. Anthony Eden, says the diplomatic correspondent of "The Times."

Britain has learned more than any other country about the German methods of warfare, and the pooling of information quickly is the best preparation for more practical help. It would not be surprising, therefore, to see a technical mission going to Moscow.

Russia chiefly lacks machine tools and oil drilling apparatus, which America might supply, but clearly the fighting in the next fortnight will determine the nature and scope of the help, and whether it should be given on a long-term or a short term hasis

The political correspondent of the "Daily Express" says that when the British Ambassador (Sir Stafford Cripps) went to Moscow last year he carried a letter from the Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill to Stalin pointing out the peril of the growing German strength and urging the cooperation of Russia with the Allies Stalin then expressed the conviction that Hitler would turn on Russia when it suited him.

Sir Stafford Cripps recently formed the impression that an attack against Russia was imminent, and consequently returned to London with his report.

Favourable Turn

LONDON, June 24.

(Received June 24, 11.30 p.m.)

The Russians, in addition to using troop-carrying aircraft, which were yesterday reported to be over 40 points in Germany and German-occupied territory, are employing amphibian tanks.

A German correspondent describing the crossing of the River Bug said: "We did not know what the strange shaped monsters were until we knocked out three and found that they were fitted with propellers. They were a very light type, which our anti-tank guns easily pierced, and killed the crews."

The Germans claim that in addition to capturing Brest Litovsk they destroyed Russian forts around the town.

Another German report says that one German column has been advancing at 2½ miles an hour since the crossing of the Bug. It found the Russians had left bridges intact because they were not strong enough to carry heavy vehicles. Future of Russia

Berlin radio broadcast an article by Herr Rosenberg, the Nazi cul-tural leader, who said: "Military vic-tory over Russia will solve the prob-lem of many nationalities which the Bolsheviks have ensalved. The prob-

NEW AIRCRAFT BEING SENT

> Four-engined Patrol Bombers

MASS FLIGHT

The Hawaiian Command of the U.S. Army Air Force was strengthened during May by 21 of the latest type of four-motored bombers, and it was announced that further reinforcements would follow later.

The big bombers reached the Pacific outpost after a secret mass flight from California which took them over some 2400 miles of open water. Lieutenant-general Delos Emmons, Commander of the Army's General Headquarters Air Force, was in the leading 'plane, says the "Christian Science Monitor."

The bombers, described by the Army as the latest B-17 D model, were equipped with protective armour, leak-proof fuel tanks and the greatly increased fire-power found necessary in the European war. Their maximum speed was said to be in excess of 300 miles an hour and their operating range "in excess" and their operating range "in excess of 1000 miles at sea."

Officials said the flight was the largest on record for heavy bombers, though smaller numbers of the same type craft have flown repeatedly to South America on goodwill Because the bombers are not equipped to light on the sea in case of emergency the Navy provided destroyers at three stations along the

The heavy bombers normally carry crews of seven or eight, so upwards of 150 men were involved in the transfer. in the transfer.

The War Department has been reticent in recent months about plane and troop movements to off-shore outposts, but on this occasion presumably with an eye to the effect abroad, it was quick to proclaim success of the flight and to stress that Hawaii's air defences were being strengthened substantially

In less than three months, it was learned, several squadrons of new type fighter 'planes as well as the bombers, have been transferred to the islands to safeguard the Navy's principal offshore operating base.

The range of the latest arrivals enables them to operate, if deemed advisable, to Midway, Wake and other islands in the string of bases being built by the Navy, or to cross the Pacific via the island stepping stones used by the commercial clipper flying boats.

RESISTANCE TO THE VERY END IS MOTTO

French Secret Societies Work And Hope For Victory: American Letters

Resistance "jusqu'au bout"—to the very end—is becoming the motto of French secret societies as determination to hinder the German war effort is born of new hope for victory and eventual freedom.

Heartened by British successes, overjoyed by American action, the French people are beginning to look away from bombed homes, broken families, hunger and cold, and write hopeful letters.

Typical examples read like this:
"Dear friends in America, do not think we are unhappy. We are present at the rebirth of France."

All tion of France. And so, in silence, we are resisting and praying for you,
Right From the Heart

Or like this:

"We need an antidote to political corruption, and we have it. It is bitter, no doubt of that. But does that matter? We shall soon eliminate this counter-poison." Waiting to Cast the Burden Little by little there slip past the German censor suggestions of the way the new determination to re-sist is beginning to find expression way the new determination to resist is beginning to find expression in action.

"Our burden is heavy, but we will bear it," one man writes. "And we are preparing to throw it down at the least signal. You will understand what we mean."

Another writes:

"My friend, Mr A—, is in prison for six months. So are many of our neighbours. The telephone lines around our district (near Paris) are now constantly guarded."

Much is explained by the spirit of courage and resolution to be found in the letters which have been arriving in Boston during the past few weeks.

"The French people, you may be sure," one typical writer explains, "have bent neither their heads nor their hearts before the enemy. Some men may have made doormats of themselves, but the rest of the Nation has the faith and hope that move mountains, and they will move the landslide of evil on our land." Comment Elicits Replies

"Mama tells all her customers to listen to your sendings. I am only 15 and I can't explain myself more clearly, all that I can say is, from the bottom of my heart: please take courage, we are all depending on you."

"Shortly afterwards," the B.B.C. said, "the German submarine which had towneded the survivors.

And in a postscript she begs the reader not to "find this absurd."

American aid for fighting Britain has won the hearts of the French, who remain stoutly loyal to their former ally, and in almost every letter reaching Boston there is an expression of affection for the States.

States.

One writer thanks "all America from New Mexico to Illinois and from Maine to the West Coast including Alaska." Another begins, "We would not be much without you —your great country, and our allies, would we? All the French know this, and that is why we love you more and more.

more and more. Thanks for Help to Allies

"Our joy is great in knowing that thanks to you, our allies possess formidable armament; and every time you announce ever greater help, our hearts overflow with joy."

This appeal for help in the battle for freedom is unselfish.

"Dear friends, it is not necessary to think of sending us food," one man writes, signing his letter "78" to signify "the number of people who greet you." "Only help our allies and our Free French brothers. As for us, we will support our pri-

Spanish Captain ORDERED TO GIVE UP CREW

British Survivors

How the captain of a Spanish ship detoured 300 miles to rescue survivors from a torpedoed British vessel and then defied a German sub-marine commander's order to surrender them was disclosed recently, in a Spanish radiocast quoted by the British Broadcasting Corporation, says a London message published in

'gentlemen.'"
Through all their misfortunes, the French have apparently not lost their sense of humour.

"The traitor of the Stuttgart (German propaganda) radio," a letter from Brittany recalls, "used to say to us, 'You have butter, we have cannons.' I say to him, 'We no cannons.' I say to him, 'We no longer have butter; but we have Greece.'"

Decorating the graves of World War soldiers, they arrangd wreaths in the Bleu-Blanc-Rouge, defying a German ban on the tricolour insignia. He adds:

"There were English flags placed into the wreaths, and in the cemetary, veterans stood guard over the tombs of two English soldiers. It was simple, beautiful, French.

"In all French hearts hope is germinating—hope which trusts, hardy and tenacious, full of resolve and pride.

Magic melodies of Vienna amid a dramatic story of the musician who was the voice of the gayest city in the world, bring Luise Rainer, Fernand Gravet and Miliza Korjus, Viennese opera star, to the screen in "The Great Waltz," drama of the life of Johann Strauss, now screening for a brief return season at the Regent Theatre, Hastings. Thrills are provided by the Revolution in the day of Metternich. Romance abounds.

Gravet, French star, plays Strauss, appearing throughout the story as a young man until the final scenes, where he appears during old age, the Strauss best known to the world. BRITISH SUCCESS

Apart from the ravaging of West-Apart from the ravaging of West-minster Abbey, priceless heritage of the English-speaking family, the re-cord Nazi bombing of London had a highly important result. Thirty-three enemy 'planes were destroyed, says the London correspondent of the "Christian Science Monitor." The big bag of German craft represents about 10 per cent of the total number employed, which was estimated at between 300 and 400. And this isn't the first time the And this isn't the first time the British have achieved such a percentage of destruction recently.

Observers have been waiting for this figure of 10 per cent to crop up, because British air authorities have held that when it was reached they would have made night raiding unprofitable for the Hitlerites. Five per cent was reached long ago, but cent was reached long ago, but higher bracket evaded the de-Adequate defence against night bombings is a problem which neither side has solved up to this juncture, and only time will tell whether the present British success is a flash in the pan or the real thing. The improvement would ap-pear to lie in the Royal Air Force fighter 'planes, since they were mainly responsible for the slaughter. This presumably is due to the fact that more warplanes are available, and that the efficacy of the fighter ships has been improved.

The heaviest loss to the Germans has not been in the machines, but in the airmen, whose training is long and arduous. The British claim that during the first nine days of the speeded-up air conflict this month the enemy have suffered between 850 and 400 casualties—a grave loss to the Nazi Air Force.

"STRANGER ON THE THIRD FLOOR"

That many innocent men have been executed after they were convicted on circumstantial evidence is the basis of the unusual screen offering, "Stranger on the Third Floor," now showing at the State Theatre, Napier.

Pointing up this theme with a vivid example, the picture plots its action around the weird experiences of a young newspaperman who testifies in a murder case. His evidence, which is honest but misleading, serves to convict the wrong man; and while he is worrying about it, the reporter finds himself the suspect in another killing, under circumstances which indicate that a similar fate is in store for him.

There is yet something else, largely unnoticed, which has steeled our nerves. I come back to the truism with which I started. People will behave as they are expected to. Praise a man for fine he will seek to deserve that praise.

DRY HAIR, ROUGH HANDS, AND EYELASHES

Remove Your Beauty Blemishes With Olive Oil

Olive oil is a beauty aid of many years' standing, and it is surprising the number of uses to which it can be put.

Rough, red hands, swollen knuckles, thin arms, dandruff, chilblains, and many other beauty blemishes will all respond to olive oil treatments.

When your hair is very dry and you desire to give it a gloss without making it greasy, try adding a few drops of clive oil to the last rinsing water when washing your head. This will allow the oil to spread very thinly throughout the hair and all fear of greasiness can be dispelled.

I most of the dirt and grime has been removed.

And then there are chilblains. Massage the hands and feet every night with a little warm clive oil, and you will find that it will prevent chilblains.

Hair Treatment

When your hands are very dirty and grimy from housework, before washing them apply a little olive oil, rub the hands together as if washing them, then wash with soap and water, and you will find that all fear of greasiness can be dispelled.

Rough, red hands can be softened and whitened by giving them a warm olive bath each night before going to bed. Massage the oil well into the skin, then slip on a pair of loose gloves, and allow the oil to remain on all night. In the morning, after washing the hands, massage with a little cold cream.

When your hands are very dirty was a nuisance. Dandruff is always a nuisance to shoulders, but if neglected it will cause the hair to fall, with the consequent result that we suffer from baldness. Have your chemist make you a lotion of olive oil, rose mary and cantharides, and massage it well into the scalp every night. Even the most stubborn cases of dandruff will respond to this treatment.

Tea hostesses for this week are darked will respond to this treatment.

Thin elbows can be made beautifully soft and white and much rounder in appearance if you massage them every night with warm olive oil. Spend a few minutes working the oil into the skin. The easiest way to carry out this treatment is to pour a little of the oil into the cupped palm of the hand, then place the hand under the opposite elbow and rub the oil into the skin.

Arms which are very thin can be fattened out by carrying out a combined exercise and olive oil treatment. First massage the arms every night with olive oil, carrying out the movement gently but firmly from the wrist upwards. Then sit on the floor and carry out movements with the arms as if you were rowing.

Naturally, you will have to persevere with the treatment before any noticeable difference is apparent. If your skin has a tendency to darken with the application of oil, add a little milk to the mixture, and this will effectively kill all darkening tendencies.

Skin Redness

Skin Redness While we are discussing the subject of arms, it may be just as well to tell you about an alive oil recipe which will remove all redness from the skin. Mix together: Olive oil, 3oz.; glycerine, 2oz.; juice of two lemons.

into the skin.

Perhaps your fingers are not as slender as you desire. The knuckles may be enlarged and spreading. If this is the case, rub the enlarged joint every night with warm olive oil. If the skin is lined and coarse, soak a pad of absorbent cotton-wool in the oil, bind it loosely around each finger, and allow it to remain on all night.

And there is also your neck. Per-

And there is also your neck. Perhaps it is just a trifle too thin. If so, add a little milk to some warm olive oil and massage it well into the skin every night. At the same time carry out neck exercises. To Improve Your Neck

When salt-cellars are apparent they will very often respond to the following treatment. First sponge the neck with warm water and a good soap, then dab on a generous supply of olive oil. Massage this into the skin for a few minutes, and into the skin for a few minutes, and then remove by patting with a soft towel. Then, before going to bed, slightly warm some cocca butter, apply it to the skin, and allow it to remain on all night. Cocca butter is not expensive to buy, and can be procured from practically every themist.

If you live in a district where the water is hard, and it is difficult to obtain a lather with the soap, add a drop or two of olive oil to the water and you will then find that not only will the water feel softer, but the soap will lather better, and the skin will not become rough and coarsa will not become rough and coarse.

Thick Eyelashes

When the eyelashes or eyebrows are scraggy, slight applications of the oil every night and morning will soon increase their growth.

And, as a final hint, there is nothing to compare with olive oil for relieving tired and aching feet, First bathe your feet in hot water, then warm a little olive oil and massage it into the feet with a circular movement of the hands. Allow the oil to remain on the skin for about five ment of the hands. Allow the oil to remain on the skin for about five minutes, so that as much as possible will be absorbed, then dry lightly with a soft towel, finally dusting with talc-powder.

There is not the slightest excuse for neglecting any of the above treatments, as olive oil is in every home and is inexpensive to procure the procure of the most futile things in the world is argument. If you want to persuade anybody, suggest; do not argue.

The building of the ships is spread over a vast organisation. Parts are made in the gigantic German arsenals; and by mass production methods one batch of 8000 men, split in various places can build eight 10,000-ton ships simultaneously. These methods will surely be applied to occupied countries.

The most important works on the engineering side is the Rotterdam Dockyard Company which can produce engines with an aggregate of 120,000 horse-power a year. Several others are nearly as big.

MISPLACED ENTHUSIASM FOR RUSSIA

In the excitement caused by the dramatic change in the war situation which has been brought about by the German invasion of Russia there is a danger that many people will make the mistake of regarding Russia as an ally of the democracies. Already there is irresponsible talk of an Anglo-Russian-American Alliance despite the fact that the democracies have as little in common with the Russian dictatorship as they have with the more odious German variety.

The right view to take has been put very clearly by Mr Churchill. Russia is but another victim of aggression and the best we can hope for is that the fight she will put up will be sufficient to diminish Hitler's capacity to attack Great Britain successfully in turn. There is no ground whatever for the foolish optimism of Bernard Shaw, who has announced that Hitler "has not a dog's chance" against Stalin, and that we can sit back and smile while Stalin smashes Germany.

The smashing is more likely to be done by Germany, but it remains to be seen whether Hitler will be able to hold and occupy the Russian territory he is out to seize and exploit. The Russians can lose many battles without being conquered, and just as the Japanese find themselves bogged in China, the Germans can advance into Russia with ever-lengthening lines of communication to guard, and still be unable to overcome Russian resistance.

Great Britain has nothing in common with Russia except a joint interest in the destruction of Hitlerism. Stalin has no love for Great Britain. He cannot have forgotten that Mr Churchill shares the responsibility for the Allied intervention in Russia when the Bolshevist revolution destroyed the former Russian government. The internal affairs of Russia were no concern of ours and the old government of the Czars was not worth trying to save and re-establish. The expedition to Russia merely prolonged the agony of the revolution and led to a great deal of unnecessary bloodshed.

The Communist dictatorship of Stalin will still be a menace to democracy and civilisation even if Hitler is destroyed. The fate of Finland is still fresh in the public mind. The Finns had won their freedom from Russian tyranny and were living a peaceful, ordered life under one of the most democratic constitutions in the world. They were a danger to none and an example to the rest of Europe. Stalin made an unprovoked attack on them and seized a slice of territory. Poland and the Baltic States, which were given their independence by the Treaty of Versailles, shared Finland's fate.

It is now revealed by Hitler that Stalin had designs on Turkey and aimed at control of the Bosporus to obtain an outlet to the Mediterranean. There is no reason for supposing that these schemes of conquest and expansion will be abandoned when Germany is defeated. Turkey and the Balkan States will be no safer from a victorious Russia than they are from Hitler, and when a peace treaty has to be negotiated after the war the same old problem of providing for the independence and security of the small European States will present itself all over again.

The only reason for mentioning these things at this stage is to try to get people to look at the facts in their true perspective and to prevent them from losing their heads over Russia. If the war between Russia and Germany contributes to the downfall of Hitler, that is so much to the good. It is to the immediate interest of the British Empire to help Russia to avoid defeat, but we need be under no illusions as to any contribution Russia is likely to make to the reconstruction of Europe or to a new order of peace and security for the small

NO BLIND LEAPING

As soon as Germany launched the attack against Russia the British Government offered the Government of the Soviet Union a substantial measure of help in the new war which Hitler has created in eastern Europe. The Soviet has seen fit graciously to accept the offer, and it may be presumed that Moscow will also make use of such aid as is provided by the United States under the American policy of assisting every victim of Axis aggression. At the same time there is a marked atmosphere of caution about the Anglo-American offers. No one outside Russia knows what is the full strength of the Soviet's western defences or whether the Russians are prepared to engage in a full-scale battle with the Germans. Until the smoke clears off the frontiers it will not be known to what extent the democracies will commit themselves.

WAR MOBILISATION

By Telegraph—Press Association. WELLINGTON, June 24.

"The fundamental principle I discussed with the men I met at the head of vast industrial organisations and also with the War Cabinet was that the defence of New Zealand was the defence of Australia, that our success was their success, our failure their failure, and that consequently it was imperative that we should be united, pool our resources, and mobilise our manpower, first of all to give the maximum help we can to Great Britain, and secondly so to exert ourselves as to build up our own home defences."

This statement was made to-day by the Minister of National Service (the Hon. R. Semple) in an interview on his return to Wellington from a six weeks' visit to Australia on Government business.

Air Veteran in Hospital

Winston Churchill laid down in his broadcast yesterday in reference to the German attack against Russia. New Zealand, he said, was glad to associate itself with it.

Mr Fraser spent his first weekend in England as Mr Churchill's guest. Other guests included the Foreign Minister (Mr Anthony Eden), the British Ambassador to Moscow (Sir Stafford Cripps), the Secretary of State for the Dominions (Lord Cranborne) and the Minister of State (Lord Beaverbrook).

Mr Fraser was actually present when Mr Churchill was broadcasting on the German invasion of Russia. Advice has been received by Air Headquarters, Wellington, that Leading-aircraftman William John Nesbitt, D.C.M., M.M., Croix de Guerre, has been admitted to the Auckland Public Hospital suffering from pneumonia. His condition is serious. Leading-aircraftman Nesbitt served for 12 years with the Irish Guards and received his decorations in the Great War. SYMPATHETIC VIEW

But Comintern Still

PRESS COMMENT

(Received June 24, 6 p.m.)

Following the Rt, Hon, Winston Churchill's broadcast regarding possible aid to Russia, a sympathetic view is taken in authoritative circles in London of a statement by the United States Assistant Secretary of State (Mr Sumner Welles) on behalf of President Roosevelt, Mr Welles said: "While all forms of dictatorship are inimical to the American way of life, the immediate issue is to halt Hitlerism."

While no decision of America on the question of extending lend-and lease aid to Russia has yet been announced, Mr Welles's statement leaves the impression that the Russian situation is to receive sympathetic consideration.

Americans regard the bringing of Following the Rt. Hon. Winston thetic consideration.

Americans regard the bringing of Russia into the war with satisfaction, many simply because they hope Russia and Britain may now finish off Germany without direct intervention by the United States.

Mr Churchill's statement that he has been a lifelong opponent of Communism is considered to be an expression of good faith which gives point to his words that assistance to Russia will fall into the category of assistance to any nation, democracy or not, that fights Hitler. This is expected to sway public opinion in the United States, where dislike and fear of the Comintern will die hard.

will die hard.

The "New York Daily News" says: "It will take a lot of selling to sell the majority of Americans the proposition that we should line up with the Soviet to lick Hitler."

DEPUTATION TO MINISTRY

United Press Association—Copyright, (Received June 24, 7.30 p.m.)

LONDON, June 23.

A deputation from the Institute of Journalists protested to the Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Information (Mr Harold Nicholson) against preferential treatment accorded the B.B.C. in the issue of public statements and important news.

The deputation submitted recent examples described as "instances of deliberate discrimination against the newspapers," adding that it was impossible to resist the conclusion that the frequent release of important news items in time for B.B.C. news bulletins was more than a coincidence," and asked "for a fair thance against a monopolistic unlertaking which would be no less iffective in its own sphere if a measure of common justice were given the newspapers."

Mr Nicholson, who received the leputation on behalf of the Minister (Mr Duff Cooper), denied alegations of favouritism for the interval of the Australasian medical conference held at Auckland in 1913. His wife died during his absence at the war in 1916. Three sons survive him.

The appeal filed by Roy Neale Bidlake, a railway porter, was dismissed subject to the performance of non-combatant services.

The appellant told the board that he was a member of the Opostolic Church of New Zealand and was opposed to war. He had undergone territorial training while at school. Since reading the Word, the appellant said, he had realised that his duty to his fellow men was not so much of a social nature as a spiritlual one.

The appellant said he was not prepared to perform works of mercy under military control and admitted that the church allowed its adherents complete liberty of conscience on war matters.

Although, said Mr Hayden, it was unfortunate that this mistake should have occurred, the balance had been restored to some extent by the fact that some of the tobacco and cigar-ettes intended for sale had been actually distributed free, The only difference between two categories was that with the free cigarettes and tobacco there was a card advising the soldier that they were given with the compliments of the people of New Zealand.

While it was to be regretted that this mistake in some way had been made in Egypt, Mr Hayden added it, had to be realised that lately the work there had to be carried out under exceptional difficulties. This had been indicated by Lieutenant-icolonel F. Waite, the board's commissioner, in a recent dispatch. missioner, in a recent dispatch.

INTERESTING WORK YESTERDAY

FUTURE EVENTS

Many Horses Work On The Plough

(By THE BARB) Yesterday morning many horses were out doing various exercises on the Hastings tracks, but it was only those with engagements in immediate future events that were sent out against the watch. Conditions were ideal for this time of the season, and with the plough in capital order it was the most popular track, in fact very few worked on the grass.

Siegall (L. Barnett) did a couple of rounds, being allowed to come home the last three-quarters of a mile in even time. She is booked to participate in the Oringi Hurdles next Saturday, and as long as she is assisted with an experienced hurdle horseman on top, will run prominently. Lacking the experience herself as yet cannot be expected to perform well with a rider that has to be taught himself.

Halley (G. Phelps) was sent five furlongs alone to register 65½ for this distance. Never was he doing his best, and coming down the straight was quite unconcerned. One more gallop on Thursday should see him cherry ripe for his Woodville engagement.

On the No. 1 inside grass Prince Chad (L. Lewis) and the Siegfried-Allowance gelding (B. Stowe), from W. C. Griffith's stable, were striding out in bold fashion over a short sprint which was not timed. They were accompanied by Vandangle Lambourn (B. Stowe) and Tashi Lama (P. Atkins) were associated in a once-round gallop. At the finish Lambourn was going the better but the time recorded, 1.43½, was quite fair and creditable to the novice, Tashi Lama. This gelding is in the right condition, and is an outside shot for next Saturday's hack cup race at Woodville.

Master Cyklon (W. L. Aitken) who has practically recovered from his injured knee was galloped once round to run the last five furlongs in 68sec. He appeared to be tiring at the finish, but being alone may have had an effect.

Greek Dancer (S. Pell) was sprinted three furlongs alone to register a shade better than 40sec. This rising three-year-old Phaleron Bay colt has grown and developed into a very useful type of thoroughbred and may prove up to classic grade in the forthcoming season grade in the forthcoming season among those of his age. among those of his age.

Black Majesty was not sent beyond slow half-pace. He is a picture of fitness, and only requires an odd sprint to keep him in the best of nick. It is hardly worth saying he is booked for Trentham, as everyone appears to be aware of this arrangement.

Cherry Hunter (W. J. Mudford) was sprinted three furlongs twice to record 38½sec, on the first occasion. He has speed, but speculators have not much time for horses who are

Silver Ball (T. Kilgour) and Sunny Knight (B. H. Morris), both of whom are booked for the Well-

On the grass Cyprine (A. Weaver), Burma (G. Stowe), Cheddington (P.

were in that order at the end of a 53sec. run half-mile, but little notice was taken in the finishing order, as they appeared to go in pairs, there hardly being sufficient room for four "green" horses to gallop between the outside rail and the trestles.

Dozle Boy was out doing light work, but was not asked anything of a serious nature. He hardly looks the gelding he did prior to leaving here for the Hawera-Ellerslie trip, and there is no mistaking that the two falls at Auckland have taken some toll of his health and bloom. the may be a starter at Trentham in the Wellington Steeplechase, but present prospects do not lead this writer to opine that he will be at writer to opine that he was that fixture.

Centrepoise (P. Atkins) was galloped once round on his own, which he left behind in the same time as Lambourn, 1.43½. He ran the first short half-mile in 50sec (equivalent to about 54½) and came home the last in 53½. This gelding, who is still on the pretty side and needs at least one more solid race, finished most pleasingly at the end of yesterday's task. He will race in the W. R. C. Whyte Handicap as part of his final preparation for the Parliamentary.

Soho (R. Marsh) was restricted to slow pace work twice round. This gelding has not won a race for just on three years, yet he has been awarded 12.1 in the Dannevirke Hunt Steeplechase. He was never a high class hurdler as far as performances went, yet he was handicapped as one. And now off the winning list for such a time as mentioned, he still retains his position high up on the handicap.

Darag (Bulandshar-Thornproof) was another that was only given pace work. He has shown speed far above the average, but has done practically no racing. At present he cannot be described as racing Misurina (S. Pell) was sent out for a school, but coming to the first hurdle appeared to put in a short stride to catch his jockey unprepared, and he was shot up in the air. After a short delay the horse was caught and Pell legged on again, but this time neither horse nor jockey made any errors. With a short breather Misurina then ran three furlongs alone on the plough in 393. He is engaged in the Ladies' Bracelet at Woodville on Saturday.

Charing Cross (F. Dunn) went

THE HURDLERS

A very fair field will be seen contesting the hurdle race. The list is headed by Baron Bold, who won a similar event at Hastings last July. He likes the going soft and wet. Colibri and Haile Selassie have shown pace and winning form. Selkirk is another that has been in the money, while War Lap has won more than once over the battens and now, down in the weights, is due to score another surprise.

Charing Cross (F. Dunn) went

HASTINGS TRACK | Point-to-Point Steeplechase | Tribute Paid To Meeting

TO-DAY'S ATTRACTION

Dannevirke Hunt At Woodville Next Saturday

By THE BARB.

The Hawke's Bay Hunt have been staging Point-to-point steeplechases for many years in this district, but this in the first time that the Hastings racecourse has been the venue for one of these gatherings. This afternoon the bill o' fare will be most interesting, comprising a mixed variety of events, but since so many of the district's young sporting folk are away the nominations and competitors have not shown the numbers of past years, which was only to be expected.

Point-to-point steeplechasing originated many years ago in the north of England, when races across country from one point to another were run among the sporting folk and as church steeples were usually the given points the name steeplechase originated.

The Hawke's Bay Hunt is one of the oldest hunts in the Dominion, and it is well over 60 years since the first pack of beagles roved the countryside in this district followed by Hawke's Bay's earliest sportsmen. In those days they were much more particular in their hunting attire than to-day, and with the men in their red coats, black plush riding hats etc., and the women riding side-saddle, with long habits, the sport was more picturesque than it is to-day.

It is not 30 years ago that hunts were held close in to Hastings at Karamu, Whakatu, Crissoge, Flaxmere, Paki Paki, Twyford, Havelock North and other convenient points. Then it was easy to go a huntling, but with closer settlement further.

North and other convenient points. Then it was easy to go a-hunting, but with closer settlement, further from the centres have the meets become. This has not damped the ardour of the hunting fraternity, and to-day (or at least in normal times) the membership is larger than ever.

TO-DAY'S EVENTS

TO-DAY'S EVENTS

The sport this afternoon commences at 1.30 with a hack flat race of five furlongs run on the Inside No. 2 grass on the Hastings training tracks. This event has not attracted a very large entry, but the four starters will furnish a race, and probably a very good one.

In this five furlong flat the starters will be Lambert (Tidal-Wristlet), Gay Rona (Nightmarch-Gay Helen), Master Solway (Black Ronald-Missmald) and the unraced two-year-old filly, Cantala, full sister to Kadina (Croupier-Carolina), the property of Mrs Keith Watson of Maraetotara.

of whom are booked for the well ington meeting early next month, ran a leisurely six furlongs, being timed to run the last five furlongs in 68½, but they were not allowed their heads.

On the grass Cyprine (A. Weaver), Burma (G. Stowe), Cheddington (P. Atkins) and Gay Rona (L. Cullen)

The other starter in this race will handicap is yet another be Indiscreet, an aged mare by Tribulation, tracing back to that great producing Merry Roe family. Here we will see a race with owners up, no doubt, and something really well worth witnessing. These amateurs have been training hard, particularly Mr Neill Gillies, owner of Dunvegan.

The Ladies' Bracelet is a flat event run over six furlongs, but In-discreet and Summons are the only known entrants. It is not suggested for a moment that there are any "rings in" but it is whispered that there is a dark horse or two contained and the contained the conta tained among the unknowns. THE OPEN 'CHASE

The Open Point-to-Point steeple-chase is the fourth event on the programme, and should furnish an interesting race. Raasay is No. 1 on the card, and this name brings back to memory a useful Lord Quex gal-loper of a few years back. Soho will loper of a few years back. Soho will be the popular pick but he is no 'cert' as he has not the hard condition of his opponents, who have been chasing the hounds all the season.

Reserved for this, Dunvegan will have his barrackers, and two races in the one afternoon is nothing to hunters, who are not kept in cotton wool and glass cases like some horses. Hence Indiscreet will also be out again to lay down the gauntlet to the best. Vengeance is coming over with the full confidence of the Taradale-Greenmeadows populace, and as she is reputed to have beaten Anini twice round over the country yesterday there is sure to be a yesterday there is sure to be a "packet" for Mr Henry Sterling Greene's Tractor-Repay mare.

HUNTERS' TRIALS The Hunters' Trials are really a test of jumping ability over whatever course the stewards may decide. This event is always a most interesting one, and will be appreciated by the spectators.

All the prizes are trophies, so with no "professionals" taking part the fixture is purely an amateur one, and as sporting as one would wish

THE DAY'S CHIEF HANDICAP

The Kaitoki Handicap is the chief flat race of the day, with Royal Star II No. 1. The question being asked filly, Cantala, full sister to Kadina (Croupier-Carolina), the property of Mrs Keith Watson of Maraetotara.

HUNTERS CROSS-COUNTRY EVENTS

The first of the Hunters' Steeplechases comes second on the programme, and will be run over two rounds of the inside schooling and cross-country schooling fences on the Hastings track. Wallace is a newcomer and is one that the writer is unacquainted with. Dunvegan is a fine big brown gelding by Arausio from the same mare as Lady Stella and Skerryvore, both proved useful 'chasers. Dunvegan was fourth at Hastings recently in the Corinthian Plate, and if he can jump there will be money for him this afternoon.

But where are you going to get in Summons is down to compete in Summons in the day. Star and Gay Mimica are the day? Aurora's Star and

But where are you going to get set?

Summons is down to compete in the Dannevirke Hunt Cup on Saturday at Woodville, so must have shown some possibilities. Bowyang is a well-known hunter and show ring performer in this district, being by Garter Blue and the property of Mr Jim Lowry.

The other states have set to be the former event sees Soho given a very hard task when asked to concede Ruenzori the best part of two stone over the two-mile and a-half course. The Other starter in this race will handicap is yet another Hastings.

The Cadies' Bracelet is also an even field, and on the top of the handicap is yet another Hastings.

BIRKOLOGY'S FITNESS

Wattie Wilson Praised By Sportsmen

WELLINGTON NEXT

By The Barb A tribute to trainer Wattle Wilson

A tribute to trainer Wattle Wilson was made by many sportsmen when that mentor won the two steeple-chases at the just concluded Manawatu Racing Club's winter meeting with Birkology.

Known as "Wattle" throughout the whole of the North Island for some years now in racing circles, Mr W. Wilson of Gisborne has been for most of that time an owner, but has been connected all his life with horses and at one time was one of the biggest horse dealers in the Poverty Bay district. At various times he has trained his own horses, and has been quite successful too, but with farming pursuits and his horse dealing to attend to, has never been able to afford the time to give his whole attention to the training profession.

It is only in this last 12 months hat this sportsman decided to apply for a trainer's licence, but it was his promising material, so that this particular race has every appearance of being one of the best of its kind staged by the Dannevirke Hunt for years.

MAIDENS AND HACKS

There are quite a few among the maidens that are of unknown quantity but more of these later on in the week when their "dossiers" have been gone through.

The "hack" class is well represented. Tea Lord, a very promising young performer, is in both the six and ten furlong races, and will have friends whatever he contests.

Halley looks a picture, and should soon secure a first place for his owner. Silverhope at one time had a reputation. Deflation, first and second at Awapuni will make it tough in the hack six. Ringling is being backed and beaten, and may any day now be dropped by her friends.

The Hack Cup is sure to provide a good race, with Laughing Song on to good the list. She was fourth both days in the big race at Awapuniform that may mislead one next Saturday. This trophy race is going to

A Very Fit Horse Both days at Manawatu Birkology passed the winning post as though he had just joined in the hunt and could easily have gone another round or two, which is some proof of his fitness. Returning to the birdcage one could hardly credit last Saturday that the chestnut son of Psychology had just jumped 23 fences over country and galloped three miles. This points to his being
